To the KING.

SIR, No People under Heaven can say what we can, no Nation whatsoever enjoys so great a Happiness as we do; Peace accosts us on one side, Plenty on the other, a pleasant Land, a fruitful Soil; Justice flows like a River, and Judgment like a stream, all things conspire to render us superlatively happy, yet nothing so much as your Majesties bounty towards us.

But our Felicity is bound up in your Majesties, our Prosperity is involved in yours; and unless you please to cast your Favourable Aspect upon us, We can be no less miserable. It is by your Name and Power only that we possess our Fortunes and Estates; Become, Sir! the Patron of our Lives too.

You have giv'n us Laws whereby to hold the one; Indulge us, Great SIR! with Priviledges to preserve the other: THAT, as an Antidote against all Infection, will prove the Conservator of Our Healths: In order to the performance of this, your Majesties Countenance alone is enough. Your Benign Smile will add Life to these Undertakings, and give Breath and Spirit to my poor En-

WORK (first design'd by the Colledge in Latin, by them revis'd) I have made to speak English, translated the same not only with the Virtues and Uses several Medicaments therein contained, but have added several others, together with the Choice of Spagy-Preparations, and a Rational Introductive Discourse of the whole Praxis of CHYMISTRY; wherein I have added and unfolded the whole Chymical Processes, and giv'd Demonstrations as are consentaneous both to Na-

The DEDICATION.

I have accommodated it to the Necessity both of Court and Camp; Consider'd it for the Military Chyrurgian both by Sea, and Land, and universally fitted it to the whole Art of Healing.

The Design thus Complicated, as it is intended for the Benefit of your Majesties Subjects, so it is humbly presented to your Royal Self: with hopes that Your Majesty will not so much reflect upon the poorness of the Offering, as upon the Sincerity and Affections of the Author thereof.

God has made you PATER PATRIÆ of the British Kingdoms, given Your Majesty a large Portion of Blessings from Heaven, and Design'd you to be the Guardian of their Fossilities: You are, SIR, the Balm which has heal'd the Bleeding Wounds of these Nations, and conferr'd the Health of the whole: so that we cannot doubt that any particular Member should be hurt without Hope of Recovery, or perish for want of Remedy.

He who has made your Majesty the miraculous Wonder of this Age, who has been with you in all Dangers, and preserv'd you through the Immensity of Troubles, who supported you in the day of Adversity, and in the Evil Times stood between You and Fear, who saved you from manifold Deaths, and made you to triumph over all Your Enemies, Even the God of all Mercies give You Majesty, a long Life and a Prosperous Reign, impia with Health, Happiness and Glory: These are the Prayers

The PREFACE

WE here present the world with a Translation of the London Dispensatory, lately Reformed by the Fellows, now living, of the Colledge of Physicians: being a Compendious Collection of the choicest Medicaments, whether Gallenical or Chymical yet known or in Request. To which we have added certain Animadversions upon their Preparations, with their severall Virtues and Uses, Collected from multitude of Observations; to the end that all the Sons of Art and Lovers of Learning may receive something of satisfaction from Experience itself, upon which as some suppose (and not without great Probability) all the Rules and Precepts of Medicine are founded and built.

As it is not our Design to bind or constrain any Man to our particular Mode or Way of Preparing Medicaments, or to introduce new and fantastick Methods to the World; so it is as far from us to prostitute the Oracles of Apollo, or sacred Reliques of Esculapius to prophane and Unworthy Hands. For it requires discretion to unravel the very manifest powers and forces of Medicaments, and a good proficiency in Medical and Hermetick Knowledge, to make a proper Deduction, and to draw forth a natural Consequence from their Essentiall Virtues, and Ultimate Effects; without which it is impossible to Read with profit to the Mind, or to understand the depth of those things, which (in few words) we have couched together: all which lye clouded under the formalities of General Notions.

Without understanding the Method of the Praxis of Physick, it is impossible but to run into gross Errors and Absurdities. A man may read all his life long, and the very choicest of all Authors; but if he has not the Practick part, be at a Loss when he comes to a Patient: Whereas the Practicall Physician knows immediately what to do, what Medicament is best first to be applyed, and the reason of that Application: He knows experimentally the power of his Medicaments, what he dares trust to, and what his Patient may expect from them: Whereas the other can't act at all: or if he does, it is with great fears and doubts and many revolutions in his own mind, as being ignorant of Practicall Indications and Experimental Assurance.

If what we here present the world with be kindly accepted, we may be encouraged hereafter to present to the publick View a Rational Method of preparing of Medicaments, grounded upon Truth and sensible Demonstration, wherein the Excellency of that our Hypothesis shall plainly appear: which although it may seem strange at first, it can only be to such as believe that no body knows more of themselves, who think that the universality of all Learning is lockt up within their Microcosm, and that if they be ignorant of it, so must all the rest of the World be besides: such there are in the World, and from such, I can expect nothing but Slander and Calumny. But the best is, That not my portion alone, therein I may be a Companion of the best of men: It was always the Fate of the first Authors of any Invention (though never so good) to meet with Opprobry and Contempt: And I yet know no reason why I alone should be exempt from the Common Destiny or general Fate.

Those persons are such as Envy Glory to all except themselves; and generally their Malice arises (not from the matter invented, for that they greedily cover, but) because of the Person inventing: because They were not the Original of it, or cannot obtain the Glory, therefore it is either false, incongruous, unnecessary, useles, or impossible. Or, if the matter be too Laudable to be branded with those Epithites, the Fate of that Worthy man Dr. Harvey, about his circulation of the Blood is unavoidable, viz. That it is an old thing, they knew as much before : Hypocrates and Galen found it out ; it is contained in such a Book, such a Chapter, such an Aphorism : although the words by them there cited, contain no more discovery of the thing in dispute (though strained by all the Tropes and Figures of Rhetorick) than the Alcoran does of the Bible.

In the first three Books of the following Work, we have given you the Virtues and Uses, together with the choicest Preparations (both according to the Old and Paracelsian Methods) of the whole Materia Medica, whether Vegetable, Animal or Mineral. You have the Natures and Properties of all sorts of Roots, Barks, Woods, Herbs, Flowers, Fruits, Seeds, Gums, and Juices, in the first Book : the Qualities and Virtues of all sorts of living Creatures, taken from Man, Beasts, Fowls, Fish, Serpents, Insects, and their several parts, in the Second Book. The Preparation, Powers, and Operations of all sorts of Minerals, as Metals, Semi-metals, Salts, Sulphur, Stones, Earths and Waters, in the Third Book.

In the Fourth and Fifth Books are contained the chief Compound officinal Medicaments both Internal and External, comprehended under the Title of I. Waters, Spirits, Oyls distilled, Balsams distilled, Quintessences, Essences, Tinctures, Extracts, Magisteries, Liquors, Salts, Wines, Vinegars, Decoctions, Infusions, Syrups, Quiddonies, Labochs, Preserves, Sugars, Pouders, Electuaries, Pills, and Troches. II. Of Lotions, Oyls, Balsams, Oynments, Cerecloths, Emplasters, Cataplasms and Clysters. Wherein we have corrected the mistakes and Errors of the Vulgar Prescription : Given you the several Virtues, various Doses, and particular dangers of each Compositum, together with the manner of their Exhibition or use to the Ends designed. To which through the whole we have added several other Eminent and Excellent Preparations, out of great and approved Authors, of General use throughout all Europe, and therefore in order to the Compleating of this Design you ways to be pratermitted.

THE PREFACE.

In the Sixth and Last Book we have added the Praxis Chymica, or Modus Medicamentorum Preparandi: Wherein, in few words, we have delivered the Sum and Substance of great Volumes, and as in a glass represented to your View, the Reduction of Hercules his Labours.

Here you have the Choicest things in the Augustane Dispensatory, and the Eternally renowned Paracelsus; you have the great and learned Horstius, the faithful Faber, the ingenious Sala, the laborious Quercetan, the profound Hartman, the concise Schroder, the exquisite Mynsicht, and in a Word, the Sum of all the most excellent Designations invented by the greatest Scholars, the profoundest Wits, the most Learned men, and the most Wise, Industrious and Experienced Physicians through the Series of all times to this day, whether Greek, Latin or English: thereby rendering this work the most compleat of any thing Extant of the same kind.

But there are some half-witted Animals abroad, who (envying our Reputation) would persuade the World, that all our Works are only Collections out of others, and that we have done nothing but what was done before: to which we Answer;

1. That no man can be an able Physician, but he that (besides the Practick part) has read well, that has turn'd over the leaves of Antiquity; and with great diligence has Scrutiniz'd the Opinions of both Ancient and Modern Professors: Which none can be supposed so well to have done as he that has made the greatest and best Collections. And therefore we esteem all those Allegations against us, rather a very great Honour, than any thing of Scandal or Infamy.

2. That in the very best Authors Extant, a great part are Collections, and I think that it is the Duty and Prudence of every Artist to Collect and gather together the best things. Arts longa, Vita brevis, says Hippocrates that Prince of Physicians, Arts and Sciences are not perfected in a day, or a year, but are rather the Product of Eternity. So that that it is necessary (for him that will be a Proficient in any Art,) to glean and gather from the Experiences and Observations of all Ages.

3. That if we have been Guilty of the supposed Crime, which they tax us with: yet therein we have followed the footsteps of the best and wisest men, and the most renowned Physicians in all preceeding times.

4. That nothing but Envy and Malice would raise those things as Objections against us, which are generally brought as the Trophies of Praise to another.

5. That those idle Drones are beholden to us for our Labour and Pains herein, and ought rather to give us Thanks for our Care and Trouble, than to Carp against us; for that which their crasy Pates, can neither mend nor imitate. All the hurt we have done them, is, to gather much into little, and to save them the charge of buying, and the labour of reading (if they have learning enough to read) the many and Vast Volumns of the Ancients: thereby giving them more time to spend in their Cups, and greater Leisure to fortify their Empty Noddles, against the prevailing forces of Sloth and Ignorance.

6. That it shews as much of skill and judgment in an Artist to Collect or Cull the best things out of heaps of Authors, where good and bad, are promiscuously jumbled together; as it shews of Learning and Wisdom in the investigation of new Inventions: but infinitely more than it does of honesty in those that despise and Undervalue them.

7. That notwithstanding all the Clamours of our Adversaries, they have not yet proved the thing they object against us. 1. Our Synopsis Medicinæ, (tis true,) has some Collections; (and where is there a Book which has not?) Yet in that whole work above two third parts are clearly our own. 2. Our Polygraphice sufficiently clears it self; and has already given a commendation to the World above all Elogiums, and in spite of all gain sayers; therein both Matter and Method forc't us to do what we did. 3. Our

THE PREFACE.

Horæ Mathematicæ, the whole work (setting aside only a very few things) is intirely our own, being (the greatest part of it) a new Invention. 4. Our Pharmacopœia, here published, we hope will speak more for it self than we can; yet we are bold to say, That therein we have published things of the greatest Import in the Art of Physick, which were never divulged or known before.

8. Lastly, That in a work of this nature, 'tis only a Compleat and chaise Collection, which renders it Creditable, and gives it an Estimation and Authority in the World: Was it wholly mine, it would be invallid, acceptable but to a few, and of Authority to none: It is the great and Eternal Names of its several Authors which gives it being and life now, and will make it live hereafter as a Grand Exemplar, and inexhaustible Treasury of Medical Store; and that in spite of what Scorn, Reproach, Envy or Tyranny can do.

Let therefore those dull Souls, who envy the rays of Light which spring from others, and wish all to be in darkness with themselves, whose Skulls are filled with Ignorance, their Hearts with Malice, and their Mouths with Clamour, Out-do what we have done (or for ever hereafter hold their Babling and Malicious Tongues :) and we profess that we shall be so far from envying of Their Glory, or reviling of Their Persons, that we shall heartily rejoyce for the same, and Vail to them, in a large acknowledgment of their transcendent Abilities.

We solemnly profess that the common good was the only Motive which induced us to this Publication. We have no aims nor ends farther therein, then to serve our Prince and Country: And therefore, whosoever shall give an evil Construction to this our Work, or abuse its Author for his good Intentions, declares himself not only void of Charity to us in particular, but a real Enemy to the Health, Welfare and Happiness of Mankind in General.

In this Edition of Our Dispensatory, we have added nothing thing material, however we have taken some pains in Revising it, in many places Corrected it, and reformed some Errors; some obscure Passages we have explicated, and made plain to the meanest Capacity; a few things we have obliterated, inserting others of the same kind, more intelligible and excellent in their places: The Weights, Measures and Proportions, in some places before mistaken, are now Rectified and reduced to their just standard.

But because we saw many things indeed wanting (of most excellent use) which ought to have been here and there disposed, according to their respective Heads and Titles, to make this Our Work the more full and compleat in all its parts. For this cause, we designed all the Additions (by way of Supplement) to be Collected under the same Clasis or Order of Chapters; which is now made Publick under the Title of Doron Medicum, or, a Supplement to the new London Dispensatory.

This Doron contains, 1. Additions to the Materia Medica. 2. Additions to the Internal Compound Medicaments. 3. Additions to the External Compound Medicaments. Wherein you will find the Art of Compounding Medicines; Examples in making Emeticks and Anti Emeticks, Catharticks and Anti Catharticks, Sudorificks, Opiates, Cordials and Antidotes, Diureticks and Ischureticks, for various Intentions and Purposes: The various Compositions of the Strong-Waters made by the vulgar Distillers: The Exemplification of the Art of Chymistry: An IDEA of the Process of the universal Medicine of Paracelsus, taken from an Original Manuscript, together with many rare Secrets in the Medical Art, not yet vulgarly known to the World, attained to by much Labour, Care, Pains and Industry: For the particular Account of which we shall now refer you to the Work it self.

Not long since, we have emitted into the World, a second Edition of Our Synopsis Medicinæ, being a Compendium of Physick, Chyrurgery, and Anatomy; in IV. Books; shewing the Signs, Causes, Judgments, and Various ways of Curing the all Diseases, whether External or Internal, hapning to the Bodies of Humane kind: performed Astrologically, Galenically, and Chymically. Illustrated with Cœlestial Observations, the Judgments of Urines and Pulses; The presages of Hypocrites from the Body of the Sick; The manner of performing all kinds of Chirurgick Operations; The ART of Embalming of dead Bodies, both Antient and Modern; The Chyrurgians Chest, fitted both for Sea and Land, The Explication and use of all sorts of Chyrurgick Instruments, with their various Figures cut in Copper; The Cure of all manner of Tumors, Wounds, Ulcers Fractures and Dislocations, with many other things of excellent use; and a compleat Anatomical IDEA of the whole humane Frame, representing to the Intellect the Compleat and absolute Structure of Mans Body through all its parts: Enlarged with above two thousand several Additions, and Adorned with twenty four Copper Plates or Sculptures.

We have now also finished (and sent into the World) Our I A T R I C A, seu Praxis Medendi: The practise of Curing: being a Medicinal History of above Three Thousand Observations in the Cure of Diseases, performed by the Author thereof. Together with several of the choicest Observations of other famous Men taken from Crato, Forestus, Hildanus, Horstius, Skenkius, Rulandus, Valeriolus, Faber, Zacutus, Platerus, Riverius, Willis, and several others, which are fallen into the Authors Hands in Manuscript, all of them digested under their proper Heads. Wherein for the most part you will find, 1. The Constitution of the Body of the Sick. 2. The Symptoms Predominant. 3. The Cause of the Disease what? 4. Whether Curable or no? 5. The exact Method which was taken in the Cure. 6. An exact account of the Medicines exhibited, with the order of their Exhibition, various Doses, and success thereupon. 7. A Compleat Theory of the Practise of Physick, wherein the Names, Definition, Signs, Causes, Prognosticks, and rational Methods of Curing are exposed. A Work of singular use to all the Practisers of the Art

The PREFACE.

Art of Phylick and Chyrurgery, whether Physicians, Chyrurgians, Apothecaries, or Charitable and well disposed Gentlemen and Ladies, who have espoused the Afflictions of the Poor and Needy.

What remains Now, but that the honest Physician may seek after Fame and Glory in the Management of his Profession: That, relinquishing the Principles of Covetousness, he may become Charitable to the Poor and Needy, just to himself, and kind to all. That is the way, (if you will believe Johannis Prevotius an Eminent and Excellent Physician) to have a perdurable Estimation in the World. Quicunque Medendi arte claruerunt atque ex humanæ salutis custodia, Magnam sibi apud omnes gratiam compararunt, prima existimationis suæ fundamenta in pauperum tabernis jecisse videntur; All those who have grown famous in the Art of Healing, and by the preservation of the Health of Mankind, have got to themselves a great Renown in the World, laid the first Foundations of their Reputation or Practice, in the Cottages of poor People.

Of Simple V E G E T A B L E Medicaments:

LIBER PRIMUS.

Cap. I. Of R O O T S.

A Cetose, Oxalidis; Roots of Sorrel. They dry and cool, and are good against the Jaundice and Stone: They quench thirst, and are helpful in Feavers.

2. Acori veri, of Aromatick reed. It is hot and dry in the third degree, and of subtil parts; the decoction provokes Urine, helps the Colick, pains in the Side, Liver and Spleen; being boyled in Wine stamped, and applied to the secret parts, helps swelling and hardness thereof: It resists poyson, warms a cold Stomach, and provokes the terms. The Chymical Oyl helps the Memory, Head-achs, Cold, Catarrhs, Melancholy, and suffocation of the Womb. Chuse the Root which is white within, solid, bitter and sharp.

3. Acori Adulterini, Pseudacori, of yellow Flower-de-luce, or Waterflag, hot and dry, in 2°. It binds, strengthens, dries, heats, and attenuates; it stops fluxes, and the flowing of the terms: It strengthens the head and brain, dose ʒi, in red wine every morning.

4. Allii, of Garlick. It is hot and dry in 4°. made into an Electuary with honey; it cuts open obstructions, and resists poyson: it kills Worms, helps the Colick, provokes Urine, expels Wind, and helps the biting of all venomous Beasts, inwardly taken, and outwardly applied. It helps Coughs, Cramps, Piles, and cold Diseases.

5. Altheae, of Marsh-mallows, hot in 2°, and moist in 1°. It ripens swellings, softens and allays pains: excellent in Pleuritis, Colick, Bloody-flux, griping of the Guts, Stone and Gravel in Reins and Bladder, boiled in milk and drunk.

6. Anchuse, of Alkanet. Cold and dry in 1°. It binds and strengthens: made into a pessary it extracts the dead child; boyled with wine and sweet-butter, it helps bruises: but the decoction in Wine helps Measles and Smallpox, helps the Jaundice, diseases of the Kidneys, Spleen and Agues.

Angelice, of Angelica, hot and dry in 3°. a dram in powder, in a Glass of Canary in a morning cheers and comforts the heart, and revives the spirits. It is a great Cordial and a Counterpoyson. It opens, attenuates, and causeth sweat, expelling the Plague, Pestilential Feavers, and all infection from the heart.

provokes the terms, and expels both birth and after-birth.

8. Anthora, Napellii, of Helmet flower, hot and dry in 4°. given from half a dram to ʒj it heats and dries, and comforts the heart; it resists Poyson, expels Wind, and helps the Colick: It is good in all venomous diseases, Plague, Poyson, &c. ʒj will purge water very well.

9. Apii Palustris, Eleoselinii; of Smallege, hot and dry in 2°. Its Essence opens all obstructions, helps Agues, yellow Jaundice, and cacoethick Ulcers; it provokes Urine, and the terms, and expels sand, gravel and stone.

10. Ari, of Wake-Robin or Cookopins, hot and dry in 4°. in Oyl or Balsome; it clears the skin, and takes away scurf, morpheu and freckles, and easeth pains of the Gout: the root steeped in Vinegar, dried and beaten to powder and given from ʒss to ʒj. provokes the terms, and expels both birth and after-birth, and cures Agues. The sæcula is a good Cosmetick, and excellent against the biting of mad Dogs.

11. Aristolochie longæ. Of long Birthwort, hot and dry in 3°. A dram of the powder with a little Myrrh, provokes Urine and the terms, and brings forth both birth and after-birth. 84. Lapathi acuti, Oxylapathi, of sharp pointed dock. Temperate and dry in 3°. The Roots boiled till they become a Pulp, and beaten with axungia, are good against the Itch, Scabs, and Manginess.

85. Levisiaci, Ligustici, of Lovage; hot and dry in 3°. They help all inward cold Diseases, and expel Wind: they ease pain, and provoke Urine.

86. Lilii albi, of white Lilies, hot in 2°, and dry in 1°. An Essence thereof drunk for 3 or 4 days together, expels Poyson, Venom, the Plague, and all malign and pestilential Diseases: It is given successfully in Dropxies. A Cataplasme made with it and honey, conglutinates sinews cut asunder; stamped with Vinegar, and leaves of Henbane, or barley-meal, it helps the Gout, and tumors in the Privities. Roasted in embers and stamped with leaven of Rye-bread and hogs lard, it ripens and breaks pestilential botches and venereal buboes.

87. Malva, of Mallows, temperate and moist in 1°. They are digestive, and help gnawings and corrosions of the bowels. They mollifie tumors, are vulnerary, help Ulcers in the bladder.

88. Mecoacanthe albae, of Mechacanth, or Rhubarb of Peru: It comes from the Island Mecoacanthe, and from Nicaragua; that which is fresh, white within, not rotten, and outwardly of an Ash-colour is best. Temperate and dry in 1°. It purgeth flegm and water from the Joynts, Head, Nerves and Breast; It is good in the Rickets, Scurvy, King's Evil, Catarrhs, Dropxies, Jaundice, Gout and French Pox; it is good against Coughs, and pains of the Reins; but ought not to be given to hot, dry, and cholerick Constitutions. To an Infant you may give ℥j. or less, as they are in age and strength, to Men from ʒj. to ʒij. In infusion to ʒss. It is a good purge for Infants; you may correct it with Cinnamon and Carraways. I make an extract of it with Whitewine, to be used in all the cases aforesaid: of which I give ʒss. it works pleasantly and without pain: Some make it with Spirit of Wine, Juice of Lemmon, or Vinegar; but then it is not so good, because those menstruum's, in some measure, destroy the purging quality: the Powder is better than the Extract, make it which way you will.

89. Mandragora, of Mandrake, cold in 4°. dry in 1°. It is extreme soporifick, and narcotick, seldom used inwardly. Outwardly in Oyl or Balsom it is good against hot pains, red and sore eyes, Epilepsies, hard tumors and Strumae.

90. Mel, Aeti tortuof, of Spiguel, hot in 3°. dry in 2°. The Essence thereof opens obstructions, attenuates and dissolveth Wind, provokes Urine and the Terms, helps the Strangury, suffocation of the Womb, and brings away both Gravel and Stones, from the Kidneys and Bladder: taken with Honey, it helps the Colick, Belly-ach, all Catarrhs, Rhumes, Joynt-aches, and the like: too great a Dose causeth Head-ach; you may take a spoonful of it.

91. Morsus diaboli, Succise, of Devils-bit; hot and dry in 2°. It has the same Vertues with Scabious, being A'exipharmick, Cardiack, and Vulnerary. It is excellent against Epilepsies, Convulsions, Plague, Pestilential Fevers, poyson, biting of venomous Beasts, pain of the Womb, congealed blood, inward Imposthumes, French-Pox, Venereal Ulcers, Green Wounds: In Gargarisms and Lotions: it helps the Quinsie, old swellings of the Almonds and Throat, that are hard to suppurate.

92. Mori, of the Mulberry tree, hot and dry in 1°. The bark of the Root is bitter, opening and scouring; it purgeth the Liver, Spleen and Belly, and driveth forth broad Worms.

93. Napi dulcis, Burradis, of sweet Navew, temperate: it is of the nature of the Turney, yet not so soon concocted (being somewhat drier) but less windy: it is of good nutriment, and provokes Urine.

94. Nardi Celtice, of Celtick Nard, or Spike, hot and dry in 1°. Chuse the fresh sweet-scented, with many small fibres, that is strong, not bitter and full: it has all the Vertues of the Indian Spike, but weaker, only this more powerful provokes Urine, and helps to dissolve the Stone.

95. Nardi Indice Spicenardi, of the true Spikenard, or Indian Spike, hot in 1°. dry in 2°. This Root comes from India to Alexandria, thence to Venice, thence to Us. It is called Spica, because it resembles an Ear of Corn. Chuse the fresh, smooth, with long hair or Fibres, a sharp spike, yellow, sweet-scented like Cypress, bitter, and arrastrating the Tongue: it binds, attenuates, opens obstructions of the Stomach, Liver, Reins, Bladder and Ureters; it provokes Urine and the Terms, dries up Catarrhs, helps the Jaundice, stops fluxes of the Belly; and used as a pessary, Fluxes of the Womb, and inflammation thereof: it expels Wind, resisteth Plague, Poyson, and all Pestilential distempers; strengthens the Stomach, helps nauiseousness; and is a singular good Cephalick and Cardiack: the bastard Spikenard is our English Lavender.

96. Nymphaea, Nenupharis, of Water-lily: the great white Water-lily is best, cold and dry in 3°. It is good against Fluxes of the Belly, nocturnal pollutions, sharpness of Seed, hear and shin.

thinness of Blood, that with yellow flowers stoppeth the Lask, Bloody Flux and Gonorrhoea: but the white flowered Lilly is strongest, and is powerful in stopping the Whites drunk in Red Wine.

97. Ononidis Arestæ boris, Of Rest-harrow or Cammock, hot and dry in 3°. It cleanses, attenuates, dissolves; it provokes Urine, and brings away Gravel: It breaks the Stone and expels it; it opens obstructions of Liver and Gall, and cures the Jaundice. Matthioli saith, it helps the Falling Sickness: the Powder or Essence often taken, is good to consume the fleshy Rupture called Hernia Carnosa, and the blind Hemorrhoids or Piles: outwardly in a Bath it is used for the whole Body against the Itch. Use the Bark.

98. Pastinacæ Hortensis, Of Garden Carrots, Temperate; both yellow and red are usually boyled with flesh (in England) and eaten for food, they excite Venery.

99. Pastinacæ latifoliae, Elaphoglossi sativi, Of Garden Parsnips, temperate: they are boyled and eaten with us as Carrots; they nourish above all Roots, being of thick and good juice. An Essence or extract of them cures Consumptions: eaten the ordinary way, they provoke Urine, and cause Venery, strengthening the Stomack, Lungs, Kidnies and Bladder. The Roots serve to make good Bread withal.

100. Pastinacæ Sylvestris, Spondillii, of wild Parsnip, hot and dry in 3°. It attenuates and opens the Liver, Spleen and Ureters, provokes Urine and the Terms, expels the Mola or Dead Child: it is good against Suffocation of the Womb, and provokes Venery; it is used in Coughs, Pleurisy, Stranguria, and the like. See Dauci Cretici, which may be used for it. With this our Spondillii the Polonians make Drink, by decocting of it in water, and fermenting it with Leven.

101. Pastinacæ Aquaticæ, Of Water-Parsnip, hot and dry in 2°. It digests, provokes Urine and the Courses, expels the Stone and Birth.

102. Pœonia maris & semine, Of Peony Male and Female, hot and dry in 2°. Dig it up the Sun in Aries or Leo, and the Moon in Trine with him. This Root is a great Cephalick, and is eminent against most Diseases of the head, as Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Nightmare, Convulsions, &c. And in diseases of the Womb, as Suffocation, Obstruction of the Terms, &c. It opens Obstructions of the Reins and Bladder, and provokes Urine: give from ℥j. to 3j. in Powder.

103. Pentastilli, Quinquesfoliæ, Of Cinkfoil, or five-leav'd Grass; temperate and dry in 3°. It is good against all Fluxes, stops bleeding in any part of the Body; strengthens the Lungs, opens obstructions of Liver and Spleen, helps Ulcers, fretting Sores, and Shingles: the juyce is good against Poyson, if drunk with Mead; Coughs, Jaundice, Tertian and Quartan Agues. if drunk thirty days together: you may use the Extract to the intention aforesaid.

It is prepared by baking of it in Dough, and drying of it, of which is made Vinegar, Wine, Oyl, &c. It provokes Urine, opens the Spleen and Liver, helps Jaundice, Dropsie, and wringing of the Guts, as also the Cough, Asthma, and biting of Venomous Creatures: it kills worms, expels Poyson, and caseth pains of the head, stomach, and heart: it clears the sight, and is beneficial to dry up running sores, and fortifies the Body against all manner of malign and Pessilential Diseases, &c.

127. Scorzonere nostratis & Hispanicæ, of Vipers grass, English and Spanish: hot and moist in 1°. They are Alexipharmick, and strongly prevail against poyson, Plague, and all manner of Infectious Diseases, biting of mad Dogs, and other Venemous Creatures: as Vipers, Adders, Serpents, &c. They are good in swoounding fits, Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Convulsions and Vertigo's they exhilarate the heart, and remove sorrow and Melancholy, easing the Megrim, and helping the Suffocation of the Womb. This they do, eaten sodden, roasted, or raw: But the Essence is much more prevalent in all the aforesaid cases; as also in Tertians, Quartans, Cachexy, Dropsie, and French Pox.

128. Sisyeris, of Skirrets, hot in 2°. and moist in 1°. They are of good nutriment, and used as food or Sallet in the Kitchen. The juice drunk with Goats milk stops the Lask; they strengthen the stomach, stir up the Appetite, and provoke Urine.

129. Spatulæ sativæ, of stinking Gladdon, hot and dry in 3°. It is a kind of Flower-de-luce or Iris. The powder causeth sneezing, thereby purging the head, and easing it of Pain, and cold gross humours. Inwardly the Essence is Cephalick and Pulmonick, and helps Coughs, Wheezings and shortness of Breath, purging gross humours, Cholera and Flegm, and provokes the terms, used as an Errhine, it attracts filthy humors out of the head; and taken in the morning fasting in Rhenish-wine, it prevails against the Cachexia, Dropsie, King's Evil: Outwardly it helps Bubo's, schrophulous tumours, draws forth broken bones, splinters and thorns, and covers bare bones with flesh, healing fractures, and chiefly of the head: as a pessary it hastens the Birth.

130. Thapsie, of Spanish scorching fennel, hot and dry in 3°. The bark thereof, being given in ℞ij. or the Juyce in ʒss. in Mead, strongly purgeth choler upwards and downwards, and helps the Asthma. Outwardly it digests and draws, easeth pains of the Joynts, and helps blemishes of the skin.

131. Tormentille, of Tormentil, hot in 10. dry in 3°. It is a kind of Cinquefoil, and of like vertues, but of much greater power; it is of thin parts, alexipharmick and binding. It is sudorifick, and potently resists poyson, plague, and all manner of pestilential Diseases; and brings forth the Small-pox and Measles in Children, stays vomiting, and cheers the heart; being more especially beneficial in the Small-pox, if there be a flux in the Belly. It specifically stopps all Fluxes, is Vulnerary, and an Alexipharmacum against the French-Pox.

132. Turbith, Turpethi, of Turbith, hot and dry in 3°. It draws & purgeth gross and clammy humors, chiefly flegm, strongly, from the Joynts and remotest parts; it is eminent against Chronick Diseases, as Gouts, Sciatica, Dropsie, Jaundice, French-Pox, Scabs, Elephantiasis, and other breakings out. The Powder with honey, helps Gangreens: given alone it is a slow Purger, and causeth loathing and vomiting, and therefore is corrected with Pepper, Ginger, Cinamon, Mastick, Caraways, &c. give in Powder from ℞ij. to ℞iiij. in infusion from ʒj. to ʒiiij. It is dangerous for Children, or Women with Child.

133. Verbena, of Vervain; hot and dry in 10. It is astringent, Cephalick, Hysterick, and Vulnerary. Marcellus says it cures Struma's by way of Amulet, hanging the lower part of the Root (being cut transverse) about the Neck.

sing, resisting corruption and putrefaction of the humors, thereby becoming prevalent against Plague, Poyson, and the like. You may make a Confect thereof after you have a while steeped it in water, and cut it into slices, and dry'd it.

Cap. II. Of BARKS.

Colledge) Of Hazel, Oranges, Barbary-tree, Birch-tree, Capper-roots, Cassia Lignea, Chestnuts, Cinnamon, Citrons, Dâne-wort, Roots of Spurge, Black Alder-tree, Ash-tree, Pomegranats, Pock-wood, Walnut-tree, Green walnuts, Laurel, Bay tree, Lemons, Mace, Mandrake-root, Mezereon, Mulberry roots, Of Peru, Sloe-tree, Pine-nuts, Fiftick-nuts, Poplar-tree, Oak, Elder, Sassafras, Cork, Tamaris, Lime-tree, Frankincense, Elme, Captain Winters Cinnamon.

SALMON's Comment.

1. Avellanarum, Of Hazel-nuts. I suppose the College intends them before they are thoroughly ripe; and if so, they are an excellent astringent, and stop Fluxes of all sorts, and the Whites in Women: if they intend the Cups, they are of the same nature, but more effectual to the purposes aforesaid.

2. Aurantiorum, of Oranges. The outward rind is very hot and dry, bitter, and of very thin parts; it is alexipharmick, expels wind, and defends the heart from all manner of Poyson and malign Diseases, warming and comforting a cold Stomach; you may make an Essence thereof to the intentions specified.

3. Verberis, Oxyacantha Galeni, Of the Barbary-tree. It opens obstructions of both Liver and Spleen, is of subtil parts, purgeth Choler, and is of singular use in the yellow jaundice.

4. Betule, Of Birch-tree; if they mean not Anagalis aquatica or Brooklime here: but if the first, it is of excellent use to break the Stone, and dissolve it in both reins and bladder.

5. Capparis rad. Of the roots of Cappers. It is hot and dry, opens obstructions of Liver Spleen and Gall; it is sharp, bitter and sour, cutting, cleansing, and binding, good in Melancholy and Arthritic pains.

6. Cassia Lignea, of Cassia, Lignea. It has the same virtues and temperature with Cinnamon.

7. Cinnamomi, Of Cinnamon, it is hot and dry in 2^d. of thin piercing parts, and astringent; it comforts a cold weak stomach, is good against all manner of Poyson, is Analeprick, and is a great comforter of the whole or Universal frame; it provokes the terms, and facilitates the travel. It cures distempers of the Lungs.

comforteth the heart, fortifies nature, and revives all the Spirits, Natural, Vital, and Animal: It is Cephalick and Hysterick, and strengthens the Brain, Stomach, Liver and Womb. The Oyl of Cinnamon is most effectual in all the aforementioned cases; so also the Essence and Water: where note that ℥ij. of the bark yields not above ʒij. or ʒij. of oyl.

8. Citrii, of Citrons: they have the Vertues of Orange-peels, but more temperate and pleasing.

9. Ebuli, of Dwarf-Elder. The inward Bark, chiefly of the Root, purgeth water both upwards and downwards from the whole body, dries, discuteth, and provokes Urine admirably. I commend it as a most admirable thing for those who are troubled with an Hydropick or Watery humour. Schroder says, that a distilled water hereof, taken ʒij. at a time, for 30 days together, cures the Dropsie.

10. Espule Rad. of Spurge. By the juyce thereof impudent Beggars ulcerate the skin. See the Root in chap. 1. sect. 66.

11. Frangule, Alni nigre, of the black Alder-tree. The inner bark purgeth both Flegm and Choler by stool and vomit; an Infusion of it taken for some mornings together, helps the Rickets, Cachexia, Dropsie, Jaundice, Itch or Mange, causing a good Appetite, and a healthful Constitution.

12. Fraxini, of the Ash-tree. It is Alexipharmick, opens obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, helps the Rickets, is diuretick, breaks the Stone, and stops Vomiting.

13. Granatorum immaturorum, malicorum, of Pomegranates: the peel cools and binds in an extreme manner, and is good against all manner of Fluxes, Whites in Women, and Gonorrhoeas, being 10 days infused in Rhenish-wine, and the Wine drunk every morning fasting for some certain time. It strengthens and comforts the Head, Stomach and Womb, fastens loose Teeth, and stops the Terms in Women.

14. Gnajakati, Ligni Sanki, of Pock-Wood. It is good in the French-Pox, Gout, Dropsie, &c. It is not so hot as the Wood: you may make the Decoction thus: ℞. of the bruised Bark ℥ij. Water ℥viij. Infuse two days, then boil it to ℥vj. you may make it pleasant with Liquorice, Raisins, Figs, Amiseeds, &c. See the wood.

15. Juglandis arboris, of the Walnut-tree: The inward Bark dried is a strong Vomit, purging Choler and Flegm from the extreme parts: give from ʒβ. to ʒj.

16. Juglandium nucum viridum, of green Walnuts: they are hot in 10. and dry in 2. they offend the Stomach, afflict the Lungs, and cause head-achs: but being preserv'd, they are more grateful, stop fluxes, comfort the stomach, and potently resist Poyson and Plague. Gather them before they be shell'd at all.

17. Laureole, of the Laurel shrub. The vertues are doubtful yet it is said to provoke Vomit, and bring down the Menfes, if this and that of Discorides be the same.

18. Lauri, of the Bay-tree. It is bitter, astringent, and binding.

19. Limonium, of Lemmons. These have the virtues of Orange and Citron peels, but not so hot; for which they are the better: they are all exceeding good Cephalicks; and an Essence made of either of them, will be a rarity in its kind.

20. Mace, of Mace. This is that which incloses the Nutmeg: It is hot and dry in 30. It is Cephalick, Stomachical, and Uterine: it expels wind, warms a cold stomach, comforts the nerves, and is of good use in Paralytick bodies; it helps concoction, stinking breath, fainting and palpitation of the heart, is alexipharmick, and stronger and more piercing than the Nutmeg.

21. Maceris, of the Barbary-bark. Several Physicians confound this with Mace; but it is a bark of Wood, thick and red, which comes out of Barbary; though some think it to be the bark of the Nutmeg-tree. It is bitter and binding, and stops Fluxes and spitting of blood.

22. Mandragora, of Mandrakes. I suppose they mean the bark of the root: if so, see the root in Chap. 1. Sect. 89.

23. Mezerai, of Mezerion. Some think this to be the Lanreola before mentioned, others not. We can scarce believe when the Colledge named that, they intended this; because it is here named without difference of the Character. It is fiery sharp, biting and exulcerating, causing fevers, fainting and swooning fits: it is a very dangerous purge, yet given with discretion, it purgeth strongly Choler, flegm, and watery humors. It is corrected by steeping of it in Mucilage of flea-bane seeds, in Vinegar, or Juycce of Lemons for 24 hours: dose prepared and corrected from gr. vi. to gr. xii. but it is so malign and dangerous, that it is not often used.

24. Peruvians: If the Colledge mean the Peruvian bark, of which the Jesuites powder is made, it is an excellent thing against all sorts of Agues: of which the Learned Boyl has given ample Testimony; My own Experience confirms it, for the cure of the Rickets: Some suppose it the bark of the Sassafras-tree.

25. Prunelli Silvestris, of the Sloe-tree: the bark of it helps pissing a bed.

26. Pineorum nucleorum, of the Pine-nuts: whether of the fruit or of the tree, they are binding and stop fluxes.

27. Pistacheorum nucleorum exterioris, the outward skin of the Pistach-nut; it is drying and binding like the former.

28. Quercus, of the Oak: both of the tree, and the Acorn-cups, dry, and bind to excess: They stop all manner of fluxes, whites, terms, Gonorrhœas, and desfluxions of Rheum, violently; and therefore ought not to be given till due purging and cleansing be first done: they heal Ulcers, and help spitting of blood.

29. Sambuci, of Elder, both roots and trees, purge water, help the Cachexia, Dropsie, Jaundice, and Green-sickness.

30. Sassafras ligni, of Sassafras wood or root. It is hot and dry dry in 3°. It attenuates, opens, discusses, and is Sudorifick: It helps most diseases proceeding from Obstructions, and is of singular use in diets in the French Pox: it strengthens the whole Body, and cures barrenness: and is a kind of Panacea or Universal remedy against defluxions of Rheum.

31. Suberis, of Cork. It dries and binds much, and is of use in Compositions against the Bloody Flux; in which case the Ashes are prevalent.

32. Tamarisci, Of the Tamaris-tree, the middle bark is excellent against the Rickets in Children, and to open obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, thereby helping the Cachexia. Jaundice, Hypochondriack Melancholy, &c. it cleanseth, and is Diuretick.

33. Tille. Of the Line-tree, dries, repels, provokes Urine and the Terms; and outwardly applied cures burns.

34. Thuris, Thymiana, Of Frankincense, or Jews Frankincense, because they used it for fumes: The thick, fat, sweet, new and smooth is best; It is brought from India, and is used in fumes to open obstructions of the Matrix, &c.

35. Ulm, Of the Elm-tree:
it is hot and cleansing, and drunk in Wine or Water, it purgeth flegm: outwardly it helps the Gout, broken Bones, and shrunk Sinews.

36. Wintevanus Cortex, Winter-Cinamen, half a dram of it in powder taken in a morning in any convenient vehicle, is a good remedy for the Cachexia and Scurvy, and for old surfeited bodies:
snuffed up the nostrils it cleanses
the head of Rheum.

37. Mori rad. of the Root of Mulberry-tree. It is bitter, hot, and dry, and of a scouring and cleansing property; it opens the Liver and Spleen, Purgeth the Belly, and kills Worms: steeped in Vinegar it helps the Tooth-ach.

Chap. III. Of WOODS.

The COLLEDGE.

Of Fir, Wood of Aloes, Rho-denum, Brasil, Box, Hazel, Cypress, Ebony, Guaiacum, Juniper, Lentisk, Nephriticum, Rosemary, Sanders, white, yellow, and red,
Sassafras, Tamaris.

SALMON's Comment.

1. A Bietis, of the Fir-tree. A decoction of the Wood, cleanseth the Reins and Kidneys, and provokes Urine, expelling sand and gravel from both reins and bladder.

2. Agalochum, Lignum Aloës; It fortifies the heart, and cheers the spirits, and strengthens a cold Stomach: it is an excellent perfume. It comforts the Brain and animal faculty. It comes to us in chips which are heavy, bitter, of a Blackish purple-colour with ash-colour'd veins, of a sweet scent and if they be good, they will swim when put into water. Sala makes an Extract thereof with Spirit of Wine (℔j. to ℔vj. of Spirit of Wine) digesting of it three days in Balneo; then decants and adds Rose Water ℔j. then abstracts with a gentle heat, washing and drying the Extract to form it into Troches, of which he gives from gr. iij. to gr. x.

3. Aspalathi, Rhodium, Rose-wood-Alpine; it is purple coloured, and of the colour of Box, being hot, dry and binding, stopping all Fluxes of the Belly, and heals Ulcers of the Mouth and Privities, though never so foul. The oyl of Rhodium is an excellent perfume, comforts the head and brain, and is good against Apoplexia's, and Falling Sickness, dose gut. ij. or iij. in any convenient Vehicle.

4. Brasiliūm, Brasil, It makes red Ink, with Alom, which will make a good fucus for the face, and serves to make Juleps of a pleasant colour to the Eye.

5. Buxi, of Box-tree. An Extract of the Wood is Sudorifick, and good against Epilepsies, Palsies, Worms and Putrefaction. Quercetan says the wood is full of a Narcotick Sulphur: but there is an Oyl made of the wood which is a very great Narcotick, of great force to kill worms against the Falling Sickness, and Tooth-ach, which is supposed to be the Heracleon Oyl of Kulandus.

6. Coryli, of the Hazel-tree: the Heracine Oyl of the Wood kills Worms, caeth all manner of Pains, and the Epilepsy; outwardly it cleanses and heals Wounds.

7. Cupressi, of the Cypress-tree; it is of a drying binding property.

8. Ebenum, Ebony. Paracelsus commends the Oyl thereof against the Gout and Palsie, French Pox, and Pustles, outwardly used; and the Salt inwardly for the same purpose.

9. Gnajakum, The Pock-wood; It is of a healing drying quality, and strongly Sudorifick, resisting Poyson and Venom, and cleansing the Flesh, Blood, and humors of all manner of Putrefaction, thereby freeing the Body from Rheumatisms, Gours, Dropsies, and all other cold and moist Diseases, proceeding from Flegm, Water, corruption or Wind; but above all, it is a peculiar specifick in the French Pox: chuse heavy Wood that is juicy, or being laid on the coals will smoak, which is reddish, yellowish and blew mixt together. There is made out of it rectified Oyl by Distillation, which is very admirable in the Pox, &c. given from three drops to five. The decoction is thus made: R. chips of the Wood ℔j. Water ℔xij. Infuse two days, then put thereto Liquorice bruised, Raisins sliced, Aniseeds, of each ℥vj. boyl all till the water is but ℔vj. then strain it for a Dyer: that done, boyl all the things over again in as much more water for ordinary drink.

drink. This is the common way: but 'tis much better to make an infusion of the things 8 or 10 days in a strong Lime-water, &c.

10. Juniperinum, Juniper: It is hot and dry in 3°. Cephalick, and a good Perfume of it is made an Oyl by descent or in a Retort, or by a Vesica or Glas Body; as also an Extract: they are both excellent Sudorificks, Alexipharmicks and Cordials, strengthening the brain and nerves, curing Epilepsies, and resisting Poyson, Plague and Pettilential Diseases.

11. Lentiscinum, Mastick-wood; distil'd as juniper-wood, it yields an Oyl of equal Vertues with that of Mastick. See Mastick, the Wood boyled in water is profitable against Coughs, Vomiting, loathing, Fluxes and spitting of Blood.

12. Nephriticum, Nephritic, Wood; it is so called because it is a Specifick against Diseases of the Reins and Bladder. It is hot and dry in 1°. It opens all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Reins, Ureters and Bladder, there being for those intentions scarce a better Medicine in the World. It is a thick wood without knots, making by infusion in water a sky coloured liquor, it being scarcely used any other way: they that use it much may mix wine with it.

13. Rosmarini, of Rosemary; It is Cephalick, and opens obstructions: you may distil a Cephalick oyl good against Epilepsies out of it, as you do out of Juniper. But the Oyl of the leaves and flowers is much better.

14. Santalum Album, citrinum, rubrum, Saunders White, Yellow and Red; they are Exoticks brought from the Indies: the yellow is best, and sweet-scented; the white next, the red last, and without any scent: The yellow which is well scented, heavy, knotty, and hath much Pitch, is good. They are cold in 3°. dry in 2°. opening and Cordial, reviving the heart in faintings, strengthening the Stomack, and cooling the Liver: they are often given in Powder: but Quercetan makes a gummy Extract with Spirit of Wine, &c.

15. Sassafras, the Ague-tree; It is hot and dry in 2°. opening, attenuating, dissolving, and causing sweat: it is chiefly used in such Diseases as proceed from obstructions, weakness, and the like: it is ordinarily used against the French Disease.

16. Tamarisci, of Tamarisk; It is temperate, and very good against Scabs, Itch, Black Jaundice, Whites, Fluxes, &c. See the Bark, Chap. 2. Self. 32.

Chap. IV. Of HERBS.

Note, That in this Chapter, this whole Book, we shall have occasion to use several Terms of Art

Art, for brevity sake (comprehending many things under one word) which to the Vulgar had need of some explication; therefore that our meaning may be the better understood, we shall here do it once for all, that in the following Chapters of this Work we might not often repeat the same things in vain.

I. If therefore we say a Medicament is

1. Emollient, understand that it relaxes and softens all manner of tumors and hardness.
2. Aperient, that it is subtil, and an opener, and takes away all obstructions, especially in the principal parts.
3. Absterfivē, that it is of a cleansing, mundifying property, resisting putrefaction.
4. Lyptrick, that it is of subtil parts, and attenuates and makes thin the humours.
5. Segnotick, that it is of a drying, binding quality, and good in general against all manner of fluxes.
6. Discussive, that it is of a dissolving nature, by transpiration: these are Diaphoreticks.
7. Repercussive, that it is of a repelling force, and drives back the humours to other parts.
8. Carminative, that it is of a nature to expel wind lodg'd in any part of the Body.
9. Anodyne, that it is an easer of pain, by its thin and heating quality.
10. Narcotick, that it is an easer of pain (not by removing the cause) but by stupefaction of cold.
11. Hypnotick, that it causeth sleep and rest, a Somnolentick.

II. When we say a Medicine is

1. Traumatick or Vulnerary, we mean that it conduces to the Cure of all manner of Wounds and Ulcers internal and external.
2. Incarnative, that it generates flesh in a Wound or Ulcer.
3. Cosmetick, that it takes away scab, itch, tetters, freckles, morpew, pimples, redness, and all deformities of the skin.
4. Diuretick, that it opens obstructions in the Reins and Bladder, purges and provokes Urine, and helps the Strangury.
5. Lithontriprick, that it dissolves and brings away the Stone and Gravel, in both Reins and Bladder.
6. Emmenagogick, that it provokes the Terms, and brings away both Birth and afterbirth.
7. Analeptick, that it is a great strengthener of the Body, and restores in Consumptions, and decays of Nature.
8. Alexipharmick, that it resists Poyson, Plague, Small Pox, and all venemous Diseases, &c.
9. Sudorifick or Hydrotick, that it provokes sweat strongly, expelling Water by Transpiration.
10. Cathartick, that it purges Flegm, Cholera, or Melancholy, or all of them, by stool.
11. Emetick, that it purges by Vomiting.

III. When we say a Medicament is

1. Cephalick, then we mean that it comforts and strengthens the head, and is good against all the Diseases afflicting it; as Head-

Head-aches, Apoplexy, Epilepsie, Vertigo's, &c.

2. Pectoral, that it strengthens the Lungs, and helps Coughs, Asthma's, Wheezing, Ulcers, Spitting Blood, &c.
3. Cardiack, that it strengthens the Heart, helps swooning Fits, and Palpitation, and revives the Spirits.
4. Stomachick, that it fortifies the stomach, resists vomiting, expels Wind, and causeth a good appetite.
5. Hepatick, that it opens obstructions of the Liver, strengthens it, helps the Rickets, Scurvy, Cachexia, &c.
6. Splenetick, that it strengthens the Spleen, opens it, and is good against Hypochondriack Melancholy.
7. Nephritick, that it provokes Urine, dissolves and brings away the Stone and Gravel in the Reins and Bladder.
8. Uterine, or Hysterick, that it comforts the womb, and helps Fits of the Mother.
9. Arthritick, that it is good against the Gout, Sciatica, Rheumatism, all manner of pains of the Joints, comforts and strengthens them.

These few things being premised (for Intelligence sake) we now proceed.

1. Abies, 'Ελάτη, Fir-tree; hot and dry in 20. the buds bind much, and are effectual against obstructions of the Liver: a water made thereof is good against Warts and Corns.

2. Abroethnum, Καθισμ, 'Αρότονος, Southernwood, hot and dry in 3. It cuts, opens, binds, cleanseth, dissolveth, resists putrefaction, on, is Alexipharmick Uterine, and Hysterick; kills Worms, warms a cold Stomach, and cures the Jaundice. Outwardly it strengthens weak limbs, and stays the hair from falling: this is the male kind, there is a female which is called Cypressus, or Chamæcyparissus, of which see in what follows.

3. Absinthium Latifolium vulgare, 'Αψιθιον, Βαδύτανγον, Common Wormwood, hot and dry in 20. Absterfivè, Segnotick, and Analeptick; it strengthens and fortifies the Stomach, cleanseth and purgeth: it prevents and helps Surfeits, and Feavers, chiefly Tertians, removeth obstructions of the Liver, and purgeth by Urine: It kills Worms, evacuates Choler, resists putrefaction and helps stinking breath. It is Sudorifick, expels Wind, easeth Pains of the Stomach and Belly; it is Alexipharmick, and beneficial in the Dropsie and Jaundice. The same received into the Ears, helps Deafness; externally it is a good Vulnerary.

4. Absinthium Ponticum vel Romanum, Pontick or Roman Wormwood, hot in 1°. dry in 20. of a nitrous, purging, terrene and styptick quality; it is stomachick, Splenetick, Hepatick, opening, attenuating, Astringent, discutient, sudorifick, antifebrile, and hypnotick: Riverius says that 3j. of the Sale in a spoonful of juyce of Lemons, helps vomiting in malignant feavers: this is better for the Liver than the former, because not so bitter.

5. Absinthium Marinum, Σερπιθιον, Marsh Wormwood, hot and dry in 10. Dioscorides saith that it kills Worms, and loosens the Belly: the juyce drunk with Wine resists the Poyson of Hemlock, and Henbane; the leaves stamped with Figs, Saltpeter, Darnel-meal and Mustard seed, and applied to the Belly or Sides, help the pain thereof, and all inflammation of both Stomach and Liver.

6. Acacia vera, Ἀκανία, Egyptian Thorn. The juyce of the unripe seed is simply called by this name, being the true Acacia, of the Ancient, and that which is put into Treacle; the best is of a sweet scent, and of a reddish yellow colour: it is of a cooling, drying, binding, and glutinizing quality.

7. Acanthus, Βranca Ursine, Ἀκανθίδιον. Bears breech: temperate, mollifying and digesting: It is one of the five Emollients, dries and opens: it is used in Clysters: in a Pultise with Axungia, it helps cold Aposthumes, and pain of the Spleen.

8. Aceto'a Oxalis, Ἀνέμοιν. Sorrel cold and dry in 2°. It cuts, cools and opens a hot and obstructed Stomach and Liver, causing a good Appetite, quenching thirst in Feavers, and cooling their heat, being Cordial, Hepatick and Stomachick.

9. Acetofella, Lajula, Ὀξυέριον. Wood-sorrel of the same Temperature and Virtue with the former, save that this is better in Feavers, especially Pestilential: outwardly it ripens tumors.

10. Acorus, Calamus Aromaticus, Ἀκόριον. Aromatick reed, hot and dry in 3°. It is subtil, of thin parts, and opening. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 2. Chuse the white, bitter and sharp.

11. Acorus palustris Gladiolus, Iris palustris lutea, yellow water-flag, Ἐγίλον Ἰαυδάκον, hot and dry in 2°. Its Essence helps watering Eyes, and is Cosmetick, helps Cancers, and foul Ulcers of the Privities. It dries, heats, and attenuates, is Segnotick and Cephalick: it cures Dysenteries, and all other Fluxes of the Belly and Womb.

12. Adiantum Vulgare, Capillus Veneris, Polytrichum, Ἄδριαντον, Maidenhair, temperate. It dries, attenuates, opens, and is Pectoral. It is Hepatick, Splenetick, Lithontriprick, Emmenagogue, and loosening; it wasts the Kings-evil, and other hard tumors.

13. Aconitum, Luparia, Ἀκόνιτον, Wolfs bane, hot and dry in 4°. It is the most poysonous of all Vegetables, exceeding Napellus: those that are wounded with any weapon dip herein, are said to perish without remedy, within half an hour after: insomuch that it scarce hath an Antidote; if it has its counterpoyson, it is Worm-wood-wine, Rue, Virginian snake-root, Organy, long birth-wort and Mithridate with Vomiting, or the decoction of dill with butter: an Unguent of the juyce kills Lice.

14. Adiantum Aureum, Polytrichum aureum, Golden Maidenhair, temperate. It rarifies, digests, and causes Expectoration, being Pectoral: it is Diuretick, Lithontriprick, Splenetick, and Cephalick, helping the Falling-sickness, and other Diseases of the brain: the lye of it bathed upon bald places, causeth the hair to grow again. Carrichter wears wears it against inchantments.

15. Agaricus, Agarick, hot in 10. dry in 20. It is Male or Female, the latter is only used, which has streight Veins which is like a comb, or as it were Partitions, being first sweet in taste, then becoming bitter: that which is white, light, thin, brittle, binding, and in taste as aforesaid, is good; the sticky, brown, reddish, long, hard or heavy, is naught. It is a white Mushroom that grows to the stalks of the Larix-tree: that which grows on the Fir and Pitch-trees is not used inwardly. It is an exceeding good purger of Flegm and watery humors, as also of a thick, tough and viscons slime, and that from the whole body, chiefly from the Head, Mesentery and Lungs: it cures, cleanses and opens, being profitable in the Jaundice, Cachexia, Agues and cold shakings, which come of gross, thick, cold, clammy humors: It provokes Urine and the Terms, kills Worms, and helps those that are bit by Poysonous Beasts. It is given in substance from ʒj. to ʒij. in an infusion from ʒj. to ʒv. It purgeth slow, and is a little nauseous, and therefore is quickned with Salgem, Crystals of Tartar, and corrected with Ginger, Daucus seed, Cloves or Cinnamon. Sala's Extract of Agarick is made of Spirit of Wine: some use Waters or Wine; but because it has a little Rosin in it, Spirit of Wine does best. Troches of Agarick. R. Scrapings of Agarick ʒj. Salgem ʒj. Oyl of Cinnamon gut. xx. with Oxymel make Troches: dose of Extract and Troches from ʒβ. to ʒj.

16. Ageratum, costus hortorum minor, Eupatorium Meluë, Az- parum. Maudlin, or Costmarie, hot and dry in 20. It is Cephalick, appetitive, Diuretick, and of thin parts; it cleanses, resists putrefaction, is Emmenagogueick, and rectifies the indisposition of the Liver. The Essence serves to all the uses aforesaid, being a present help in the Tormina or Bloody-flux.

17. Agnus Castus, ay ay ay, Chast-tree: hot and dry in 3. It is also called Vitex, and Salix Marina. It is of thin parts, and wasting Wind, causing chastity by exsiccation of the Sperm, & therefore is good for such as desire to live single lives, for Widows and Maids, vexed with the fury or madness of the Womb, and acrimony of seed, being prevalent against spitting of blood, bleeding at Nose, the Whites, and Defluxions of thin salt rheums.

18. Agrimonia, Eutamion, (Græcorum) Agrimony; temperate. It is an Hepatick, Splenetic and Traumatick, of subtil parts, cutting and cleansing: it strongly fortifies the Liver, helps pissing of Blood, and the biting or stinging of Serpents, as also Dropsies, Catarrhs, and Fluxes.

19. Alcea, Vervain mallow: Temperate, it is glutinative, exceeding the common mallow, something of a nourishing nature, and loosning the Belly: externally, it mollifies Tumors, and hard swellings of the Mother: In Clysters the roughness, and fretting of the Guts, Bladder, and Fundament; the Root in Red Wine is good against the Bloody-flux, and inward burstings.

20. Alchimilla, Stellaria, Stellaria major, Ladies mantle, temperate and dry in 1^o. It is a noble traumatick, being in its operation much like to small Sanicle. It stops bleeding, vomiting, fluxes, courses, and the whites: it keeps down the breasts of Virgins, if too great or flaggy, making them lesser and harder; and is of great force in bruises and ruptures: the Essence taken 30 days together, causeth fruitfulness in Women.

21. Alkekengi, Solanum Vesicarium, haliacabum, Ἀλκεκίγγον, Winter-Cherries, cold and dry in 2^o. of subtil parts, diuretick and nephritick. See the Fruit.

22. Alliaria, Alliastrum, Pes Asininus, Jack by the Hedge, hot and dry in 2^o. The leaves are a good sauce for salt fish: In Clysters they ease pains of the Colick, Stone, and Sciatica, and expel Wind. The Essence inwardly resists Plague and Pestilence, warms the Stomach, causeth Digestion, is Carminative, and a good Pectoral.

23. Allium, Theriaca rustica, Σκόρδον, Garlick, hot and dry in 4^o. of the nature of Onions. It exulcerates the skin, by raising blisters, cuts open, discusseth, and is alexipharmick, carminative, cephalick, pectoral, diuretick, and lithontriprick: externally it helps the Itch, and is a good cosmetick. The Essence is powerful to all the uses aforesaid, warming a cold Stomach, provoking the terms, and bringing away the secundine. See Chap. 1. Stiff. 4.

24. Allium Silvestre, Wild Garlick: it has the same temperature and vertues with the former, but more powerful, being helpful in the Jaundice, Convulsions, Palsies, and cold Diseases.

25. Alnus Κανθεα, Alder-tree, cold and dry. It purgeth all bad humours, chiefly melancholy, by stool and vomit, and that violently; it is proficiale in Dropsies, Gout, Jaundice, and the like, dose is ʒij. corrected with Cinamon, Ginger, Anise or Fennel-seeds; outwardly it is a cosmetick. See Cap. 2. for the bark which is principally used: but it is to be noted, that the Alder here intended, is that which is called Frangula, or the black Alder.

26. Aloë, Sempervivum, Sedum, Ἀλόη, Aloes, hot in 2^o. dry in 1^o. We mean not here the Horse-Aloes, nor Aloes Hepatica, which look like Liver; but the Aloes Succotrina. The herb is two fold, 1. Vulgar, out of which comes the Aloes we mean. 2. with a long pointed leaf a kind of Spear-pointed Houseleek, which hung up will be long green, if you bind Clay about the root, and sometimes water it, or wrap it about with Woolen cloaths dipt in Oyl: this is the American Sempervivum. See the vertues among the Gums.

27. Alfne, Hippago, Hippia, Marsus Galline (Hen-bit) Ἀλφιν, Chick-weed. Cold and moist in 2^o. Inwardly it restores in Consumptions, and abates the unnatural heat of Feavers: externally it asswageth tumors, comforts the Sinews, and is an exceeding good Vulnerary.

28. Althea, Bismalva, Ibisus, Marsh-mallow: hot and moist in 1. It is emollient, discussive, nodyac and nephritick. It ripe tumors, abates Acrimony, and is profitable in Pleurifies and Pains of the Sides: as also in foreness of the Lungs. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 5.

29. Amara Dulcis, Solanum Lig-nosum, γλυκύπικρον, Bitter-sweet: hot and dry in 2°. the leaves and fruit are absterfive, opening obstructions of Liver and Gall, helping the Dropsies and Yellow Jaundice, and dissolves clotted blood. The Essence helps bruises and falls from high places, and gently purgeth by Urine and Stool: ʒj. of the fruit drunk in a quarter of a Pint of Rhenish Wine for 40 or 50 days together, cures the Rickets, removes obstructions of the Spleen and Dyspnœa, cleanseth Women in Child-bed, and perfectly roots out Hypochondriack Melancholy. The aforesaid Essence is a notable Specifick against putrid Feavers and Agues, and a good Vulnerary.

30. Amaranthus, Ἀμαράνθος, Flower gentle; cold and dry in 1°. It is good in all Fluxes, Lasks, and bleeding, spitting of Blood, &c.

31. Amni Ameos, Ἀμνιον, Bishop's weed, or Ethiopian Cummin, hot and dry in 3°. It is of subtil and thin parts, being Anodyne, Diuretick and Emmenagogick. See the seed.

32. Anomum, Tree night-shade; In the shops two seeds are called by this name, the 1. is black and round like Pepper, or Cubebs, not sharp, the old Sinon; the 2. small and pale, referred to the Guinny Pepper: they are seldom used, for Acorns supply the place.

33. Amygdalus, Ἀμυγδαλὴν, the Almond tree, See the Nut which is only in Use. Chap. 6.

34. Anacardium, Bean of M-laca; See the Fruit in Chap. 6.

35. Anagallis terrestris, Ἀναγallis, Pimpernel, hot in 2°, dry in 3°. It is attractive, Anodyne, Vulnerary and Alexipharmick; it draws things out of the Flesh, helps the Kings Evil, biting of Venemous Beasts, defects of the Liver and Kidneys, and stops Fluxes, as an Errhine; it helps the tooth-ach and dimness of sight.

36. Anagallis aquatica, βεκαβυγία, Ἀναγallis ἑνὸς θύ. Brooklime; hot and dry in 2°. it is Specifick against the Scurvy, Dropsie and Jaundice; It is Diuretick, Lithonriptick and Emmenagogick, brings away the dead Child and secundine. Outwardly it is Vulnerary, and is excellent against all manner of Tumours, discussive and Cosmetick.

37. Anagyris, Bean Trefoil, hot and dry in 1°. A dram of it in Powder drunk in Rhenish Wine, helps the stuffing of the Birth and Lungs, brings down the Courses, and facilitates the Birth; The Essence doth the same, also digests and ripens tumors.

38. Anchusa Orchanet, Ἀγκίστρον, Alkanet; cold and dry in 1°. It is nephritick, good against the yellow Jaundice and Agues; outwardly applied with hony, Bean Flower and the white of an Egg, is good against Luxations. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 6. which is stronger.

39. Androsæmum, Ἀνδρῶσαμον, Tutsan or Park Leaves: hot and dry in 2°. It helps burning, stancheth Blood, heals Wounds, Scabs, and old Sores, being absterfive.

sterfivē. The Seed in Powder drunk ʒij. at a time, purgeth water, and helps the Sciatica, the Patient drinking Water a day after it.

40. Anemone, Herba venti, 'Anemone, hot and dry in 3°. The Essence snuffed up the nose strongly purgeth the head: In Collyries it helps inflamed Eyes; and applied to corrosive Ulcers cleanseth them; inwardly it provokes the Terms, and increaseth Milk.

41. Anethum, Anetum, 'Anethon, Dill, hot and dry in 2°. It digests, discusseth, ripens, and is carminative, and increaseth Milk in Nurses: it strengthens and fortifies the Stomach to a wonder, and resisteth Vomiting: it is prevalent against fits of the Mother; is diuretick, and an easer of pain: See the Seed.

42. Angelica, 'Angelica, Angelica, hot and dry in 3°. It is Cordial, Alexipharmick, and a potent resister of the Infection of the Plague, Pestilential Fevers. It expels wind, is vulnery, nephritick, Emmenagogick, and Sudorifick; it opens obstructions, attenuates humors, expels the birth, and helps fits of the Mother: you may take of the Powder ʒj. in Sack: or a Spoonful of the Essence, which is infinitely better, in a morning fasting.

43. Anisum, 'Anisum, Anise, hot and dry in 3°. It is Anodyne, nephritick, diuretick, pectoral and carminative, attenuating and discussing humors, and breeding Milk in Nurses. See the Seed.

44. Anonis, Areska bonis, Re- noya anisi, 'Anonis, Rest-harrow or Cammock; hot and dry in 3°. It is nephritick, diuretick, and Cephalick; and opens all obstructions: the tender sprigs pickled with Salt and Vinegar make a good Sallet. See the root which is chiefly used, Chap. I. Sect. 97.

45. Antirrhinum, Orontium, 'Antirrhion, Snap-Drum, hot and dry in 2°. The Plant is much like a Calves snout or head. It is seldom used, yet it is good against fits of the Mother: Externally it helps the Pin and Web, being applied to the forehead; is cosmetick, and sometimes used against Ghosts and Inchantments, being worn about the neck, and causing it to fume by burning in the place where they haunt, if Carrichter speaks true.

46. Antithora, Antihora, Wholsom Helmet-flower, hot and dry in 4°. It is a great Antidote against Poyson, called by some the German contra-yerva, and the Arabian Zedoary of Avicēn: It is Cordial, Absterfivē, opening and attenuating: The Root is chiefly used, being a Hydragogon. See Chap. I. Sect. 9.

47. Aparine, Asparago, 'Aparine, Goosegrass, or Cliver, hot and dry in 1°. of thin parts, and cleansing. It helps the biting of the Phalangia, Vipers, and other venomous Creatures: In a Balsam it is good against Struma, consolidates Wounds, and heals old Ulcers: Inwardly it is reported to make lean, help the yellow Jaundice, and stop Fluxes.

48. Apium, Sin. or. Parsly, hot in 2°. dry in 3°. An Essence made of the whole Plant is pectoral, hepatick, Splenetick, and diuretick; it attenuates, cleanses, and opens all obstructions in the middle and inferior Ventricle: expels strong poison. It is prevalent against the Jaundice, Cachexia (vulgarly the Green-sickness) Stone, Gravel, Wind, and Stoppage of the Terms: It is Traumatick, and Vulnerary. Outwardly it dissolves Tumors, and keeps the hair from falling.

49. Apocynum, Ἀπόκυνον Dogsbane: hot in 4°. but said to be without driness (and that I think is impossible.) It is of the poisonous nature of Thora (which is a kind of Wolf-bane) so that it kills whatsoever Creature eats it, except preserved by the use of Anthora: the leaves mixed with bread, and given to Dogs, presently take away the use of their Limbs, and procure a sudden death.

50. Aquilegia, aquilina, Aquileta, Columbine (we mean those of the single blue Flower) hot and dry in 1°. They open obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Gall: their Essence mixt with Tincture of Saffron, cures the Yellow-Jaundice, if the Patient sweat upon it: in a Gargle it cures sore Throats and Ulcers in the Uvula.

51. Argentina, Potentilla, Wild Tansie, cold in 1°. dry in 2°. Its Essence heals the Bloody-flux, and stops all Lasks and Fluxes whatsoever; it cleanseth Ulcers in the Mouth, and heals them, if a little Alom be dissolved therein. It is a singular good wound-herb, and profitably used against the Stone, and good against the Stone and Gravel in Reins or Bladder: it stops the Whites, and outwardly is Cosmetick.

52. Aristolochia, Piscolochia, Ἀριστολογία, Birthwort, long, round and climbing; hot and dry in 3°. they are all Alexipharmick, and good against the bitings of venomous Beasts. See the Root Chap. 1. Sect. 11, 12.

53. Artemisa, Parthenium, Ἀρτεμισία, Mugwort: hot in 1°. dry in 2°. It is Uterine and Absterfive; opening and cleansing; it provokes the Terms, and brings away both Birth and Afterbirth.

54. Arum, Ἄρου, Wake-Robin or Cookowpint; hot and dry in 4°. It opens obstructions, and is a good Pectoral, purging tough humours and flegm out of the Breast and Lungs. It helps the Asthma, and shortness of Breath, comforts a cold Stomach, provokes Urine, and cures the Green-sickness, called by the Learned Cachexia. But the Root is chiefly in use. See it, Chap. 1. Sect. 10. being green, it is scarcely to be meddled with, but dry it is more mild: let it be gathered in March.

55. Arundo, Ῥάμος, Reed, hot and dry in 2°. See the Root Chap. 1. Sect. 14. The Sugar-Reed or Cane, is called Arundo Saccharina. See among the Gums, Chap. 8.

56. Asarum, Ἀσαρὺν, Asarabacca: hot and dry in 3°. The leaves have all the virtues of the Root, but stronger (for which see the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 14.) they are given from 5, 6, 7, 8, to 9. either in infusion or decoction: but the Essence rightly prepared, is more effectual and safer. SINNERTS makes an Extract of the whole Plant thus. R. Roots and leaves of Asaron, Extract with Spirit of Wine and filter: calcine the feces, make a Lixivium in Water, filter it, and mix it with the former extraction, then evaporate it to the consistency of honey, the dose is from ℥i. to ℥ij.

57. Ascalonitides, Scallions; hot and dry in 4°. See Onions, Chap. 1. Sect. 36.

58. Asparagus, Ἀσπαραγός, Ὀπύσθιον, Asparagus or Sperage, temperate: It is used as Saller and Food: for the first Sprouts that spring up in April, are generally sodden and eaten with Oyl or Butter with Vinegar, Salt and Pepper, being then of good Nutriment, and encreasing Lust. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 17.

59. Asperula, Spergula, Cordialis, Wood-roof; temperate: it is Cephalick, Traumatick, Cardiack, Arthriick, and absterfive: it exhilarates the heart, strengthens the Liver and Joynts, helps Pains in the Ears and the Stone, is good in loss of Appetite, and Pestilential Feavers: outwardly it is Vulnerary; The Seed is a Phlegmagogon.

60. Asphodelus Albus, Ἀσφodelός, Asphodel; hot and dry in 3°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 18. which is easily used.

61. Asphodelus bulbosus, Onion Asphodel; hot and dry in 3°. It opens, attenuates, is absterfive, and operates as Aron: the young sprigs help the yellow Jaundice: and Galen saith, That the Ashes of the bulb mixt with Oyl or Hens grease, help Scald Heads and falling of the Hair.

62. Asphodelus Luteus, Hastula Regia, Kings Spear, or yellow

Asphodel. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 18. A Ly made of the flowers of the English (of Lobel) colours hair yellow.

63. Asplenium, Scelopendria vera, Ceterach, Ἀσπλάγιον, Spleenwort, hot and dry in fine 1. It is of thin parts, Traumatick, Cephalick, Splenetick and Cardiack: The Essence thereof taken for 40. days together, cures the Green-sickness, Spleen, Strangury, yellow Jaundice, Stone, Dropsie, Kings-evil, quartan Ague, Gonorrhoea, purges melancholy, and dissolveth congealed Blood; it opens obstructions, provokes Urine and Terms, and breaks the Stone: but the great use hereof causeth Barrenness, by consuming the Seed.

64. Aster Atticus, Stellaria, Ἀστρον ἄττικον, Star-wort; It is called also Hypobalmon, and Astirion: temperate and dry in 1°. It is good against the Quinsie, and the Epilepsie in Children, chiefly the flowers: Externally the leaves in a Cataplasma, maturate and suppurate Botches, Imposthumes and venereous Buboes.

65. Atracilys, Wild Bastard-Saffron, hot and dry in 1°. The tops, leaves and seeds drunk with Pepper and Wine, help the stinging of Scorpions, Vipers, &c. and cleanse the Breast and Lungs of Flegm.

66. Atriplex hortensis, Ἀσπρίλις, Garden-Orach or Arach, cold in 1°. moist in 2°. It is Emollient and Anodyne: boyled and eaten it is a good Saller: it loosens and opens obstructions of the Liver.

67. Atriplex olida, Garcinos, Cor-

Cordia, γαρύφαλλος, stinking Arach; it is of the temperaure of the former: It is a most excellent thing against fits of the Mother, obstructions and foulness of the Womb, and other Diseases offending it.

68. Atriplex Sylvestris, Polyspermon, Α τριπλες σπέρμα, Wild Arach, or All Seed, cold in 1°. moist in 2°. It is an excellent thing against Inflammations, hot Apothumes, Saint Anthony's Fire: being mixed with Vinegar and Nitre, it cures Scabbiness, dissolves Tumors, and easeth pains of the Gout.

69. Avellana, Corylus, the Filbert-tree; the Catkins are cold and dry in 1°. they dry, bind, and stop Fluxes: A Decoction of the inner rind of the Tree drunk first and last for 10 or 12 days together, are good against the Scran-gury. See the Nut in Chap. 6.

70. Avellana Sylvestris, Corylus, Nux Pontica, Κ ορυμβοειδής, Hazle tree, of the same Vertues with the former: the leaves of both stop fluxes.

71. Avena, Βρώμη, Oats, cold and dry in 1°. Oats fry'd whole in a Pan, with Sp. Vini, and applied as hot as can be endured (in a linnen bag) to the side or belly, help pains there, stitches and the Colick. The Meal made into a Pultise with Butter, dries up Scabby Heads; and made into food, helps Fluxes.

72. Awantia malus, Χρυσάνθος, Orange tree, see the Flowers and Fruit, which are chiefly used.

73. Auricula Ursi, Bears Ears, Temperate and dry in 2°. It is Traumatick and Vulnerary, healing all inward and outward Wounds; and Enterocole, if the Essence of it be often taken; it is of the nature of Sanicle, and does the same thing.

74. Auricula Muris, Pilosella, Μουσώτα, Mouse-ear, hot and dry in 2°. It is an extraordinary good Vulnerary, cleansing, drying, binding and strengthening: it allayes Choler, cures Dysenterias, and all manner of Fluxes; is good against Ruptures, broken bones, and weak joynts. In a gargarism it healeth the Ulcers of the Mouth and Throat. It cures Consumptions, Coughs, Asthma's, Ulcers in the Lungs, and spitting of Blood, being glutinative, cooling, and drying: the Essence, or the milky juyce thereof, is good for all the purposes aforesaid. It is said that the juyce makes steel that is often quenched therein, to be so hard, that it will cut Iron or Stone without waxing dull.

75. Baccharis, Conyza major, Βακχαρίς, Plowmans Spikenard; It is hot and dry; (but scarcely known in what degree) it opens oppilations; provokes Urine and the Terms; is Pectoral, helps Asthma's, Bruises, Ruptures, Convulsions, and the bitings of Venemous Beasts.

76. Balanus, Myrsica, Sylaga, Βεν. Σέβερ. Nut Ben. The tree is like a Hazle, bearing a Nut, fat and oyle like an Almond, called by some the oyle Acron. See the Nut, Chap. 6.

77. Balsamina, Βαλσαμίνη, Balm-Apple, hot in 1°. dry in 2°. The leaves are Carminative, Vulnerary, and Aperitive: they are good in Colicks, Convulsions, or Cramps, and ease the pains of Child-birth, and the Hemorrhoids. The Apple applied helps pricked and wounded Nerves and Sinews, Sores, Scars, &c.

78. Balsamita, Costmary, or Ale-cost: hot and dry in 2°. It is a kind of Maudlin, and has the same Vertues. See Ageratum. Sect. 16.

79. Balsamum, Βάλαμον, Balsam-tree. It is a shrub of but three Cubits long, having leaves like Rue, that comes from Syria: the Egyptian Balsam has Mastick-leaves; this Tree grows in Arabia Felix, from thence transported into India, now into Egypt, near Grand Cairo. The Liquor is called Opobalsamum; the Fruit Carpo-balsamum; the Wood Xylobalsamum; which, as Peter Bellonius saith, is the same with the Ancients. The Liquor or Balsom of Peru, comes out of a tree growing in New-Spain, bigger than a Pomgranate-tree. And because the Fruit and Wood are not usual, Cubebs are used for the one; branches of the Mastick tree for the other. See the Balsom in Chap. 8.

80. Barbarea, Winter-Cresses; hot and dry in 2°. The juyce with Wax, Oyl, and Turpentine made into a Balsam, mundifieth Ulcers: The Essence with Essence of Scurvy-grass, is a sure remedy against the Scurvy. In Winter they may be used instead of Garden-Cresses: their Essence opens all obstructions, provokes Urine and the Terms, and expels Wind, Stone and Gravel.

81. Bardana major, Prosopis, Personata, Αχρησι, Burdock; hot and dry in 1°. It is called also Lappa major. See Chap. 1. Sect. 20. It is Pectoral, Nephritick, Lithontriptick, Diuretick, Diaphoretick, and Vulnerary; healing Asthma's, Ulcers in the Lungs, and spitting of Blood: it is profitable against the Stone, obstructions of the Spleen, and bitings of venomous Beasts; as also for the Gout, for which it is a Specifick.

82. Bardana minor, Lappa minor, Ελασιον the lesser Burdock; hot and dry in 1°. Matthiolus saith, that this Herb cures the Leprosie: however outwardly it is of excellent use in the Kings-Evil, to discurr Tumors, and to kill the burning heat of Cancers; as also to help the shrinking of the Sinews and Arteries.

83. Basilicum, Βασιλικον, Sweet Basil; hot in 2°. moist in 1°. It is Emollient, Digestive, and Diuretick, helping the biting and stinging of venomous Creatures. The Essence drunk with Sack, helps the Head-ach, Asthma, Strangury, and fainting fits; it is Pectoral and Emmenagogueick.

84. Basilicum sylvestre, Αχινος, Wild or Stone Basil; hot and dry in 2°. It stops all sorts of Fluxes, and the Terms in Women; applied outwardly, it helps all Inflammations.

85. Batata, Ignames, Comotes, Potatoes, temperate; the Root is only used, and has the same virtues with the Parsnip; which see Chap. 1. Sect. 99.

86. Ben, Beben; it is taken for Valerian, hot and moist in 2°. See Chap. 1. Sect. 22.

87. Bellis, Consolida minima, Herba Margarita, Daisie; cold in 1°. moist in 2°. The little wild Daisie is the best; it loosens the Belly in Children; it is a singular good Vulnerary, healing all Sores, Ulcers, Imposthumes, and Inflammations. It is good against burnings, scaldings, and Gout-pains, if made into a Cataplasim and applied: the Essence is very good against Agues; and all inward heats.

Belly

88. Berberis, Ὠξυέριον; Berberry-bush, called also Crespinus; cold and dry in 2°. The Essence of the leaves is good against Cholerick Feavers, Fluxes, heat of Blood and Liver; as also loss of Appetite. See the Bark, Chap. 2. Sect. 3. and the Fruit, Chap. 6.

89. Bata, Τετραλον Σεύταλον, Beet, both white and red (the white is called Sicula.) The leaves have the same virtues of the Root, which see Chap. 2. Sect. 24. The Essence of the White provokes Urine, opens obstructions both of Liver and Spleen, helps Poyson, Vertigoes, and Head-ach: The red stops Fluxes and the Terms.

90. Betonica, Κέρον ή Λυγότροπον, Bettony; hot and dry in 2. It attenuates, opens obstructions, cleanseth, discusseth, is Traumatick, Diuretick, Cephalick, Pectoral, Hepatick and Splenetick. See my Dor. Med. l. 1. c. 1. Sect. 17.

91. Betonica aquatica, Clymenon, Water-Betony, hot and dry in 2°. It scours, cleanses, and putrifies all old Sores, putrified and malignant Ulcers, especially if the Essence be mixed with honey. The said Essence is prevalent also against deformity and redness of the Face, helps the Cough, Asthma, distillations of Rheum, Dropie and Colick; instilled, it helps the Pain of the Ears; applied outwardly, it ripens Biles, and Plague-sores, and draws splinters and thorns out of the flesh.

92. Betula Semos, Σενύδα, Birch-tree; hot and dry in 1°. The leaves dissolve, attenuate, cleanse, open, purge water, help the Dropie, and taken for some time together, break the Stone in both Reins and Bladder. A Lye of the ashes of the bark is effectual to heal sore Mouths, take away Scabs, &c. See Chap. 2. Sect. 4. It is used in Perfumes to be burnt; the Mushroom is binding, and cures the Piles specifically: for the Tears, see Chap. 9. following.

93. Bifolium Psendorchis, Ὀππρι, Twoblade; hot and dry in 1°. It contracts, is astringent and Vulnerary, consolidates Wounds, Ruptures, and stops Fluxes.

94. Bistorta, Colubrina, Radix Serpentaria, Ὡλύδα, Snake-weed, cold and dry in 3°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 25.

95. Blattaria, Moth-Mullein: It opens obstructions of the Bowels, and Meieraick Veins.

96. Blitum album & rubrum, Βλίτον ή Βλύτον, Blites, white and red, cold and moist in 20.

97. Bolbonach, Lunaria latifolia, Money-flower; hot and dry in 30. It is of a sharp taste like Treacle Mustard: a Cataplasim made of the leaves with Sanicle, Oyl and Wax, is excellent good for green Wounds.

98. Borrage, Corrago, Ευφοσσυμ, Borrage, temperate and moist in 20. It cheers the Heart, takes away Melancholy, freeing the vital and animal Spirits from oppression.

99. Bony, Oak of Jerusalem; hot and dry in 2°. It is of subtil parts, helps stoppings of the Breast, Asthma and Cough, and cuts tough Flegm.

100. Brassica, Cautis, Crambe, Κράβη. Colewort, temperate and dry in 1°. An Essence made thereof is of a strengthning and of a nitrous quality, fortifies the humane frame, is Pectoral and Analeptick, restoring such as are in Consumptions, taking away purfiness, and diseases thence proceeding; as an Errhine it purgeth the head and brains.

101. Brassica capitata caulis capitatus, Κράβη κεφαλάη, Cabbage; It has the same Temperature and Virtues with the former: An Essence thereof easeth the Colick, all pains and gripings of the Bowels, the Stone in the Kidnies, and helps Consumptions and Ulcers of the Lungs; boyled in Broth with Flesh, it is good Food.

102. Brasiliūm, Brasil shrub, cold and dry, and Astringent: the decoction is first yellow; if longer boyled, then reddish; at length purple, and with Alom it becomes red. See Chap. 3. Sect. 4.

103. Bryonia alba, vitis alba, vitalba, viticella, Βρυονία λευκή, Βίταλη, Βιτικέλλα, white Bryony; hot and dry in 3°. It cleanses, purges choler, flegm and water, opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Reins and Bladder, provokes the terms, cures suffocation of the Womb, and drives forth the Birth, See my Dor. Med. Lib. 1. Cap. 3. Sect. 30. The first sprigs boyled and eaten, purge by stool and Urine, thereby helping the Drop-sie and cachectical disposition of the Body: an Essence of the juyce of the leaves or branches is good to the intentions aforesaid, easeth the Gout, and very helping in the falling sickness and Vertigo. See the Root Chap. 1. Sect. 28. The juycie Nectar of Clossaus. R. Juycie of Bryony strained ʒj. Oyl of Vitriol or Sulphur ʒj. mix them, of which give ʒj. in Rhenish Wine: it sometimes vomits, sometimes purgeth, but mostly provokes Urine.

104. Bryonia nigra, Black Bryony; hot and dry in 3°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 29. which is chiefly in use.

105. Buglossum, Lingua Bovis, Βέγλασσον, Bugloss; Temperate and moist in 2°. It is Cardiack, and Alexipharmick, and therefore comforts and strengthens the Heart, and exhilarates the Spirits: It is an exceeding good Vulnerary, and has all the Virtues of Borrage, which see Sect. 98.

106. Bugula, Consolida media, Solidago minor, Βεσούλιον, Bugle; Temperate; It is a great Traumarick, and Vulnerary; it consolidates Ruptures, helps bruises, dissolves congealed Blood, and heals all Wounds, whether inward or outward, opening obstructions of the Liver, and strengthning of it. It is eminent against Feavers, is good in the Jaundice, rotten Ulcers, and Sores in the Mouth, Gums and secret parts.

107. Pulbo castanion, Nucula terrestris, Glaustere, Άνθακιστιον, Earth Nur, ground-nur, hot and dry in 1°. The herb is cleansing, and provokes Urine; The Nurs eaten help spitting of Blood, are very nourishing and strength-strengthening the Stomach; if they be boyled and eaten as Parsnips, they are not inferiour to them.

108. Bunias, Napus Sylvestris, Bysius, Navew, garden and wild, temperate; it is altogether of the nature of the Turnep. See Chap. 1. Sect. 93. and 115.

109. Buplurum, Auricula Leporis, Βυτλευρον, Hares Ears, temperate; they are opening, Vulnerary and Nephritick; they help the biting and stinging of Venemous Beasts, provoke Urine and the courses; Externally and Internally both, they consume and drive away the Kings Evil, Cancers, and other old Sores that are hard to cure.

110. Bursa pastoris, Pera Pastoris, Shepherds Purse, cold in 1°. dry in 2°. It binds and astringeth, is good in bleeding at the Nose, spitting of blood, pissing of blood, bloody flux, and the flux of Womens courses: it stops a looseness, cures Wounds, and stops bleeding in any part of the body.

111. Buxus, Πύξος Box-tree, the lesser is called Chamaebuxus, dwarf or ground-box: the leaves (though not commonly used in Physick) purge, if ʒj. be decoct in Whey, or ʒj. of the Powder be drunk in both: given to horses they help the Bots. See the Wood, Chap. 3.

112. Cacalia, Cananum, Κατάλια ή λεοντιχή Horse-foot: hot and dry in 1°. It is Emplastick and Pectoral, it operates like Liquorice.

113. Cacao, Cacaoate, Cacao-tree, that which bears the Nut, whose confection is Chocolate. Temperate and dry in 2°. The Confection being taken in Milk, strengthens and fortifies nature, helps digestion, and preserves health, cures Consumptions, stops Fluxes, opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Gall and Reins, sweetens the breath, provokes Urine, helps in the Stone and Strangury, expels Poyson, preserves from infection, encreaseth Sperm, stirs up Venery.

114. Calamintha, Calamintum, Καλαμίνθος, Calamint, hot and dry in 3°. It is hot, biting and of a thin substance; it opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Gall, Womb, Reins, and Bladder: It is Pectoral, Stomack, Hepatick, and Uterine: it provokes sweat, consumes superfluous humors, provokes the terms, and expels the dead child: It is good against Cramps, Convulsions and Orthopnea's; it helps the yellow Jaundice, expels Poyson, and is good against the biting of venemous beasts. The Essence is proper for all the things aforesaid, and used as an Errhine, it stops bleeding at the Nose. Being taken inwardly for four or five months together, it prevails against the Leprosie; especially drinking Whey after it.

115. Calendula, Calthea, Χρυσάνθεμον, Marigold, hot and dry in 1°. The juyce of the leaves helps the tooth-ach, and dropped into red and watery eyes, takes away the inflammation and pain. See Chap. 5.

116. Camelina, Treacle wormseed, hot and dry in 2°. The juyce helps Ulcers of the mouth, kills and expels Worms: It is good against the venom of Mufhrooms, strengthens the Stomach, and helps Palsies, Epilepsies.

117. Campanula, Rapunculus, Rapuntium; Bell-flower; (a kind of Rampion) cold and dry in 1°. It is Vulnerary, stops fluxes, and makes a good gargle for the mouth: eaten with Vinegar, Oyl and Pepper, it is a good Sallet, and causes Appetite, and encreases Milk in Nurles.

118. Cannabis, Kannaic κιννάβιον, Hemp, hot and dry in 1°. The Essence is good against burnings and pain of the Ears from obstructions; it kills Worms, and helps the Gout. See the Seed.

119. Canella, Cinnamonum, Cassia, Kannaic κιννάμωμον, Cinnamon-tree; hot and dry in 2°. There is a great dispute concerning the difference between Cassia Ligna and Cinnamon; some say, they are both one, differing only in Names; others, that they are the same, but differ only in place; others, that they come both off of the same tree, and so call the outward thickest bark Cassia Ligna, the inward thin bark the Cinnamon: others say, that they come off of different trees that are very like, so that the Cassia may be made a Cinnamon-tree by transplantation: but doubtless the Shop-Cinnamon or Canella is the true Cassia of the Antients; and if we must distinguish, you may call the thicker bark Cassia, and the thinner Cinnamon. See Chap. 2. Sect. 7.

120. Capparis, Kannaic καπάρια, Capers; hot in 1°. and dry in 2°. The Buds are hot, and of thin parts; they cause Appetite, help a moist Stomach, open obstructions, and cleanse away flegm. See the Bark of the Root, Chap. 7.

Sect. 5. and the flowers or buds aforesaid are often pickled with us, and eaten as sawce; and so help the oppilations of the Liver and Spleen, and remove melancholy: You may make an Extratt of the Bark of the Roots, with the Juice of Oranges, which will be of great force in all the cases aforesaid, and be very prevalent against Quartan-Agues, hard Spleens, Kings-Evil, Palsies, Convulsions, Cramps, and weakness of the Nerves, and the Gout, by expelling of gross humors by Urine and Stool; you may give ʒj at a time.

121. Capsicum, Gimny-pepper, hot and dry in 4°. It is an Enemy to the Liver, and scarce safe to take inwardly, without being prepared by steeping in Vinegar two or three days, and then drying of it: outwardly mixt with honey and applied, it dissolves the Kings-Evil, and cold hard swellings; and serves to dye with, as Saffron doth.

122. Cardamine, flos Cuculi, Cuckow flower, Ladies-smocks, or Canterbury-bells; hot and dry in 2°. They cure the Scurvy, and perform all that the Watercress doth.

123. Cardamomum, Grana Paradisi, Kannaic καρδάμωμον, Cardamoms or Grains of Paradise. See Ch. 7. they are hot and dry in 30. The great Cardamoms come from Gimny, and are the Grains of Paradise; the lesser from the East-Indies, and bear the name of Cardamoms. Those are the best which are hard to be broken, full, close, smell strong, are sharp and bitter. See Dor. Med. lib. 1. Chap. 1. Sect. 20.

124. Cardiaca, Καρδιακή, Motherwort, hot and dry in 20. It is called wild Balm, and male horehound; it attenuates, dissolves, cleanses, and provokes Urine, and the Terms. It helps all infirmities of the heart, as the Cardiaca, or Cardialgia, & brings away the birth with ease. It helps Convulsions, Cramps, Palsies and Epilepsies: it kills all sorts of Worms, and opens obstructions in the Bowels: it is Traumatick, and Pectoral, and helps in the rising of the Mother: dose of the powder ʒj. of the Essence ʒʒ. See our Dor. Med. l. i. cap. i. sect. 21.

125. Carduus, Άρδιος. The common Thistle; hot and dry in 20. Their Essences drive forth stinking Urine, and help the rank smell of the Arm-pits, and whole Body: while tender, they may be boiled and eaten as a Sallet with oyl, vinegar, salt and pepper: The said Essences strengthen the Stomach and Womb, and help a stinking breath: outwardly they cause hair to grow.

126. Carduus Benedictus, Άρδιος εὐλογημενός, Carduus Benedictus, hot and dry in 20. Gathered in the beginning of June, it cures green Wounds to a wonder: it attenuates, opens obstructions, dissolves, is Cephalick, Cardiack, Alexipharmick, and Sudorifick; it cures old Quartans, helps Head-achs, and deafness, Vertigo, loss of memory: gripings of the belly; kills worms, and expels Gravel and sand; the essence or powder of the leaves is a sure Antidote against the Plague, and Pestilential Feavers, and biting of mad Dogs, or any venomous Beast; as also against the French-Pox and Scurvy: Outwardly in a Pultise, it is applied to stop a Gangrene.

127. Carduus Mariae, Ladies Thistle, hot and dry in 20. It stops bleeding, and all manner of lasks and fluxes, waists cold swellings, and in a Gargarism, helps the Tooth-ach: the leaves white, young and tender, are commonly boiled, and eaten as a Sallet. The chief use is in Pleurisies, Jaundice, and Dropsies.

128. Carduus Chrysanthemus, Golden-thistle, temperate: The root and tender leaves are often eaten for food, but are of thin and watrish nutriment: the Roots provoke Urine, and cause lust: outwardly with Vinegar they are Cosmetick.

129. Carlina, Leucacantha, Χαμαλένιον λευκός, Carlina thistle, hot in 20. and dry in 30. It is Diaphoretick, Diuretick, Alexipharmick. See the Root, chap. i. sect. 37.

130. Carlo Santo, Indian purger, hot and dry in 20. The bark of the Root is Emetick, and brings forth choler and flegm, especially if a Cathartick be first taken, the bark chewed in the mouth is an Apophlegmatism, which takes away distillations, and pains of the head, fastens loose Gums, cleanseth filthy Teeth, and makes a sweet breath: The Powder or Essence of the herb helps suffocation of the Womb, passion of the heart, Epilepsie, weakness of the Stomach, and French Distease.

131. Carpinus, Όρεία ή Ζυγία, Horn-beam-tree; it is a strong, hard, durable wood, out of which an Oyl may be drawn, drawn, of excellent use in the French Disease, as out of Box.

132. Carthamus, ΚαΐϞ, Bastard Saffron, hot and dry in 1°. It has yellow flowers, with which sometimes they adulterate Saffron. It purgeth by vomit, flegm and water, &c. See the Seed, Chap. 7.

189. Cratægonum, Triticum Vaccinum, Κράταγον, Cow-wheat, hot and dry in 2°. the seed is full of hot fumes, and troubles the head, as Darnel doth, causing headach, drunkenness, and excites Venery, and causeth conception being drank twice a day for a week together.

190. Cristagalli, Alectorolophos, Coxcomb, cold and dry in 1°. being boiled with honey and beans, it helps Coughs: the juice dropped into the eyes, helps dimness, the whole seed put into the Eyes takes away Films.

191. Crithmum, Κρίθμον, Samphire, hot and dry in 2°. It strengthens the Stomach, warming of it and cleansing it: it provokes Urine and the Terms, breaks the Stone, expels the Gravel, helps the Jaundice, and opens obstructions of the Liver and Spleen: It is ordinarily eaten pickled.

192. Crocus, Crocum, Zahafran, Κρίκος, Saffron; hot in 2°. dry in 1°. It is a bulbous Plant, having a Purple flower, in the middle of which are those flame-coloured threads which are the Saffron: the English now is the best; chuse the flexible with some white threads: the too high red coloured is not good, for it is sophisticated with flowers of Cathamus, or Bastard-saffron. See the flowers Chap. 5.

193. Cruciat a crucialis, Κρούαίος, Cross-wort; it is dry and binding, traumatick, vulnerary and pectoral; it opens obstructions of the Meseraick veins, and causeth Appetite; it is Alexipharmick, and good in those cases where Gentian is used.

194. Cubæbe, Κορίβαν. Cubebes, hot and dry in 3°. They are small Aromatick berries which come from Java, like pepper, only a little less: they are boiled before they are sold, lest others should sow them: but what they are is doubtful: some think them the fruit of Ruscus, as Sylvaticus; some the Carpestum of Galen; some think them a sort of Pepper: Cesalpinus saith, They are the fruit of Anomi; others, That they are the seeds of Agnus Castus; but they are from a Tree like the common Appletree. See chap. 6.

195. Cucumis hortensis & sylvestris, Σίκι, Cucumbers garden and wild: the first are cold and moist in 2°. the wild is called Aspinus cucumis, & Anguinus; hot and dry in 2°. Out of which is made Elaterium. See the fruit in chap. 6. as also our Dor. Med. lib. 1. chap. 3. sect. 6. 49.

196. Cucurbita, Colocynthis Sativa & sylvestris, Κολοκύνθη ή σάπων, Gourd, Garden and Wild, the virtues of the first are the same with the Garden Cucumber, which see chap. 6. Mathiolus saith, that the leaves laid to Women Breasts diminish Milk: the wild is the bitter Gourd, from whence comes the purging Apple called Coloquintida. See Sect. 137. aforegoing.

197. Cuminum, Cuminum, Βόμυς

rov, Cumin, hot and dry in 30.
See the Seed, chap. 7.

198. Cyperus, Κορυμβος,
Cypress-tree; hot in 1°. dry in 30.
The fruits or Nuts are called Galbuli. It is a tall tree bearing berries, with leaves like the Pine, alwaies green; the Wood see in Chap. 3. Sect. 17. The leaves and fruit heat a little, but dry excessively, bind strongly, and are used in spitting of Blood, Diar-rhœa's, Dysenteria's and Diabetes; and also in Ruptures both inwardly and outwardly; they heal old Ulcers, the Polypus, Carbuncles and Phagedens.

199. Curcuma, Crocus Indicus, Cyperus Indicus, Κουρκουμ, Turmeric; hot and dry in 2°. The Root comes to us from beyond sea, it is of a saffroncolour which stains; the round is strongest and best. See the Root in Chap. 1. Sect. 50.

200. Cuscuta, Cassutha, Cassita
Pli-ii, Κουράρε, Dodder. It's manifold according to the thing it grows on. It is hot in 1°. dry in 2°. It opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen, is cleansing, subastringent, purges melancholy, and is good against Scabs, Leprosie, and black Jaundice.

231. Cyanus, flos frumenti, Κόρυ, Blew-bottle, or Corn-flower, cold and dry in 2°. the powder of the dried leaves, or rather the Essence thereof, being taken in Rhenish, or Canary wine, helps inward bruises, broken Veins, resists poyson and infection, and cools the heat of Feavers. See the flowers, chap. 5.

202. Cyclamen, Cyclaminus, Ar-shanita, Κοκκυμινος ή αυθηγορον, Sow-bread; hot and dry in 3°.

The juice of the Leaves (or rather their Essence) mixt with honey, and put into the eyes, takes away the Pin and Web, Pearls, and all defects of the sight: the leaves put into the Matrix cause easie delivery to women in Travail: the said Essence of it self, or in a Balsam, wasts knots, hard tumors, and swellings of the Kings Evil; and purgeth the Belly of Water, being anointed thereupon: the Essence made into balls wih powder of Scammony, purges the head by the Nostrils, if little rouls be made of it, and put up into them: made into a Pessary, it destroys the Fœtus. It is a very great Cosmetick, and is good for kibed heels, members out of joint, and the Gout; so also the root being roasted and applied: the Root stamped and made into Troches and taken, is reported to cause Amity and Love, but are dangerous for Women with Child: the distilled water drunk ʒvj. at a time, opens obstructions of Liver and Spleen, helps the Dropsy, Cœlick and sore Mouths: the Antidote is powder of Bay-berries, white Pepper and Rue: the juice drunk in Wine in-toxicateth: See the root, chap. 1.
sect. 13.

103. Cyperus, Fucus quadratus, Κουρεπος, Galingal grass, or herb Cypress; hot and dry in 2°. This is not the true Galingal, but a bastard kind, or female Southernwood: the root is chiefly in use,
See it, chap. 1. Sect. 53.

104. Cytisus, trifolium arboref-cens, Shrub or Milk-Trefoil, temperate: it cools and digests like as Mallows: the Essence helps the Sciatica, Gout, and other E 2 swell-

swellings in the beginning, and provokes Urine.

205. Cyparissus seu Chamæcyparissus, Lavender-Cotten, hot and dry in 3°. the powder thereof drunk in Canary expels poison, and is good against the biting of all venomous Beasts, kills worms, and expels them, more effectually than Wormseed.

206. Cynoglossum, Lingua Canis, Κυνογλωσσον, Hounds Tongue, cold and dry in 2°. The Essence of the herb heals wounds, deep Ulcers, Fistula's, Erysipelas, Burnings, Scaldings, and biting of mad Dogs: drunk with Oxymel of Squills and Syrup of Roses, it is helpful in the French Pox; it stops Catarrhs, Gonorrhoea's, Fluxes and spitting of Blood.

208. Cynorrhodon, Cynosbatus, Rosa sylvestris & Canina, Ρόσα ἀγρία Κυνορρόδο, Eglantine, wild or Canker rose, wild Bryar-bush: See the Flowers and fruit, Chap. 5. and 6. The Spungy Balls are good to break the Stone: but more especially the Stone and Worms therein, being powdered and given in Rhenish Wine: the said powder also is good against the Colick, and kills Worms: the root laid to a place where splinters or Thorns are, draws them out.

209. Cynosorchis, Testiculis; canis & caninus, Κυνορχίς. Dogs-stones; hot and moist in 1°. they have all the Virtues of Sairion. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 124.

110. Daucus, Pastinaca Sylvestris, Δάκρυον, Wild Carrots; hot & dry in 2°. the herb here intended is Daucus Creticus, which has the properties of Parsley, the Root and seed are chiefly used. See the Root, Ch. 1. Sect. 54. the seed, Ch. 6.

211. Dens Caninus, Dentalia, Dogs tooth; hot and dry in 3°. It is windy, yet helps the Colick, kill Worms, strengthens and nourishes the body, and helps the Epileptic: the Root by some is thought to be more venomous than the Sairions.

212. Dentaria, Dentillaria, coralioides, Coral-wort; It is Nephretick, Diuretick and Vulnerary; It helps all inward Ruptures and Wounds, even those that have entred the Cavity of the Breast: provokes Urine, and expels Gravel, and helps pains of the Sides and Bowels, as Stitches, Colick, &c.

213. Distamnium, Diptamnus albus, Διπταμιον, Dittany, hot and dry in 3°. some call this Fraxinella, but that is a mistake, for Distamnium is Pseudo-distamnium or Fraxinus Creticus. It is cephalick, Pectoral, nephretick and uterine, diuretick, carminative, Emmenagogue, lithontriptick, and alexipharmick, It cures Headach, Epilepsie, Stone, Gravel, Colick, Suffocation of the Womb, Stoppage of the Ternis, Astma's, shortness of breath, strangury, and Wounds made by poisoned Weapons: it draws out splinters and thorns, cures the stinging of Serpents, and expels the dead Child and Secundine: the juice with Womens milk helps pains in the Ears.

214. Distamnium Creticus, Ψευδοδιπταμιον, Bastard Dittany, or Dittany of Crete, hot and dry in 2°. It has the Virtues of the former mer (but not altogether so powerful) and is especially dedicated to the Womb; it provokes the Terms, and causes easie delivery: it is Alexipharmick, and powerful in curing wounds made with poisoned Weapons; it is Pectoral, and helps Dropsies and swollen Spleens. See Chap. 1. Sect. 56, and our Dor. Med. lib. 1. Chap. 1. Sect. 83.

215. Digitalis, Alisma, Oenanthe, Fox-Glove, hot and dry in 2°. It is bitter, cleansing, opening, cutting and attenuating: It expectorates thick flegm, if drunk with Mead, takes away obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, is an extraordinary good wound-herb, prevalent against the Kings-evil, and may be used instead of Gentian. Two handfuls of the herb taken with Polypody ꝑiv. help the Epilepsie.

216. Dispacus, Carduus fullo-nium, Labrum Veneris, Ailanth, Teasel or Fullers thistle; cold in 1°. dry in 2°. It is cleansing and vulnerary: the Root made into a Salve helps chaps and fissures of the fundament: the Essence of the Leaves helps deafness, and heals Ulcers of the mouth. ges, opens, is Epatick, Uterine, Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, Diuretick and Vulnery: The use is to provoke the Terms, and chiefly the afterbirth (therefore called by some Birthwort) it expels the dead Child, cures the Jaundice, Scabs, Itch, cleanseth the blood, and is good in Ulcers and Fistulae: outwardly it cleanses and heals, helps the Gout, dissolves contusions and congealed blood.

263. Fungus, Toadstool, (the Puffs, Lupi crepitus) cold in 3°. moist in 1°. it is almost venomous, and of a cold and gross nutriment, eaten they endanger suffocation; but boiled in vinegar, salt, and wine, and eaten with Juice of Limons, Pepper and Oyl, they are pleasant for sauce; so also pickled: the Tubera terra, or Fushballs, are not to be eaten, their powder dries without biting, and is good to be strewed on running sores, galled places, and kided heels, but is prejudicial to the Eyes: they are of use to preserve fire. The Antidotes to Fungus are Rue, Wormwood, Garlick, Cresses, sowre Pears, Pepper, Mustard, Oxymel, Mithridate.

264. Fungus Sambucinus, Auricula Juda, Jews ears. They are a Specifick in all inflammations and soreness of the throat, being boyled in Milk, or steeped in Beer, Vinegar, Wine, or other fit Liqueur: boyled in Rhenish wine, and the wine drunk, and they applied, help Deafness and other griefs.

265. Fungus Cervinus, Thybera Cervina, Deers Mushrooms, (so called, because Deer love it, for the strong scent it hath.) hath.) It is cold and moist in 20. yet good against poyson: the fume cures fits of the mother.

266. Galanga, Τάλαγγα, True Galingale greater and less, hot and dry in 3°. See the Root, chap. 1. Sect. 72.

267. Galega, Ruta Capraria, Goats-rue, Temperate, and without taste. It is a famed Alexipharmick, resisting the Plague, and all manner of pestilential distempers: it brings out the Small pox and Measels, and helps the biting or stinging of venomous Creatures: It is a great Sudorifick, kills Worms, helps Cramps, Convulsions and Epilepsies (a Spoonful of the Juice or Essence being given.) Outwardly it helps Inflammations, stinging of Wasps or Bees, Gangreens and the Colick.

268. Galle Arbor, Placida Galea, Δένδρον ἀγρίου, Gall-tree. See the Fruit (called Omphacitis) chap. 6.

269. Galiopsis, Urtica mortuæ vel iners, Lamium, Ταχιδιον, Archangel or dead Nettle, hot and dry in 1°. It is of great force against all fluxes, the terms and whites in women, and strengthens the Womb; it softens hard Spleens, causes a good colour, and refreshes the vital Spirits: It draws out Splinters, and helps Wens, hard swellings and Struma.

270. Gallium, Τάλλιον καὶ γόλιον καὶ γαλάνιον, Ladies Bedstraw, hot and dry in 3°. The herb is used for Rennet or Runnet to make Cheese with: It breaks the stone, stops blood, and heals inward wounds; in an hæmorrhage of the nose it is prevalent (the powder being blown up) as also in the Itch, malign Scabs, cancerated Breasts and Leprosie; it warms, easeth pain, and strengthens the Sinews, Arteries and Joints.

271. Genista, Spartum, Σπάρτον, Broom, hot and dry in 2°. It opens, attenuates, is abstergive, diuretick, hepatick, splenetic and nephritic; it expels the Stone, and purges by Vomit, Stool and Urine. It takes away Oppilations of Liver, Spleen, Mesentery and Reins; helps the Dropsie, Jaundice, Greensickness and Gout; 'Tis a great Traumatick and Vulnerary, and a Specifick in the Kings-evil: the Essence of the herb is proper for all the uses aforesaid; so is a Lye made of the Ashes of the stalks and branches. Geniste Rapum, Broom-rape is profitable to the same uses; besides which, it helps Surfeits, the black Jaundice, and is Cosmetick. Genifella, Bastard Broom, hot and dry in 2°, but not so effectual as Broom: Pseudo-spartum, Spanish Bastard-broom, 3j. of the Seeds of Flowers taken in Mead, Purges and Vomits, helps the Sciatica and Quinsley.

272. Genista, Spinosa, Scorpius Spinosus, σκορπιός, furze-bush, hot and dry in 1°. The Seed helps the Stone and Flux; opens obstructions of Liver and Spleen, provokes Urine, expels Gravel out of the kidneys, and is profitable in the Jaundice.

274. Gentianella, Bastard Gentian, hot and dry in 2°. Of the same same Vertues with the former, but scarcely so effectual. The Essence of either of them (or the juice) drunk in Rhenish-wine or Canary, helps Lameness, Agues, kills Worms, provokes the terms, heals Ulcers, and abates Inflammations in the Eyes: you may give the inspissate juice of either in intermitting feavers from ʒss. to ℥iij. two hours before the fit.

275. Geranium, Geranium Columbinum, Grimalis, Rosrum Graminum, vegg 16 Cranes-bill, or doves-foot; temperate and dry in 1°. It is traumatick, vulnerary and astringent: it dissolves congealed blood, abates inflammations, glutinates, and stops blood. It heals chaps in the paps, discusses the Milk, strengthens, and heals Ulcers in the Lungs; the powder of it being taken ʒj. at a time in red wine first and last for 30 or 40 days together, it cures Ruptures; more especially if it be mixt with the powder of red snails: The essence is more effectual: applyed to the soles of the feet with salt and vinegar, it abates the heat of feavers.

276. Geranium Robertianum, Herb Robert, cold and dry in 1°. It is cleansing and binding, stops blood, and helps Ulcers of the Dugs and Privities; and may be used in all the Cases where the former Cranes-bill is used. Geranium Moschatum, musked Cranes-bill; it grows in Gardens, and is commonly put into Nofegays, being of the temperature of the former, and having the same Vertues; besides which, it is excellent against Pitsicks, distempers of the Lungs, Consumptions, and windiness of the Womb.

277. Gerardi Herba, Πικρὸν οὐδὸς Gout-wort, the temperature is scarcely known: it is Anodyne and Vulnerary: The Herb and Roots stamped and applyed to the place afflicted with the Gout easeth the pain, takes away the inflammation, and asswageth the swelling; the Essence is good against the Piles, and as Lobel and Pena say, is used for the same diseases as Danewort: but experience has confirmed it good for the cold Gout, Sciaticæ and joynt-aches: hence it appears it should be cold and dry.

278. Gingidium, Tooth-pick-chervil, hot and dry in 2°. It is Stomachical, Diuretick and Segnorick: it expels the stone, and cleanses the bladder: the quills serve for tooth-pickers.

279. Gladiolus, Ensis, Ἐρίων, Flag, hot and dry in 2°. The ordinary Flag is binding and strengthening. It stops Fluxes and the Courses; Gladiolus Segetalis, Corn-flag, of the temperature of the former; it is attractive, digestive and vulnerary, and of a subtil quality; it dissolves hard swellings, and draws out thorns and splinters out of the flesh: the Root made into a Cataplasma with wheat-meal, is good against the Scrophula.

280. Glastum, Guadam, Ἰσάτις, Ἰόδατις, Woad, temperate, without any sharpness: it takes away the hardness and obstruction of the Spleen, and is a good Vulnerary; Dyers use to dye their cloth with it.

281. Glaux, γλαυξ, Milk-tare, hot & dry in 2°. The Seed is like to a Lentil, but not so astringent: it stops fluxes, encreaseth milk, and dries up the humidity of the Stomach: outwardly it helps inflammations.

292. Glycyrrhiza, Liquiritia, γλυκύριζα, Liquorice, hot and moist in 1°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 74.

283. Gramen, Ἀγρωτίς ἡ πῶδα, Grass; Temperate: the Essence of the Leaves serves to the same purposes for which the Root serves, See it Chap. 1. Sect. 75. and our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 45.

284. Gramen Leucanthemum, Ὀλοσέου Stitchwort; hot and dry in 2°. The juice or essence dropped into the Eyes, helps the dimness of sight, and films growing over the eyes: Inwardly used it is good against pains and stitches in the side; as also the Seed; and Dioscorides saith that if the Seed be taken ʒss. at a time in water, thrice a day for some days together by women, after their purgation, it causes the Conception of Males.

285. Grana Paradisi, καρδάμῆς οὐρέα, Grains of Paradise; hot and dry in 3°. These are the greater Cardamoms, which grow in Guinny, they help the Epilepsie, and expel Wind and Worms, See the Seed Chap. 7.

286. Granata, Granata Malus, Malus Punica, Ποιὰ ἡ δία, Pomegranate Tree; See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

287. Gratiola, Hedge-Hysoop, hot and dry in 2°. Scroder says, it seems to be a kind of lesser Centaury, called Helleborine, which has the same virtues with the Gratiola; it strongly purgeth wa-terish, gross, slimy and choleric humors; and it helps all Feavers and Dropsies, and such like Diseases proceeding of cold and watry causes. The Leaves in powder are given from ʒj. to ʒj. in infusion to ʒij. It is corrected with Cinnamon, Liquorice, and Fennel-seeds. The extract helps Quotidian and Tertian fevers.

288. Grossularia, Uva Crispa, Spinella, *, Gooseberry-bush: leaves cold and dry in 1°. being eaten raw in a Sallet, they provoke Urine, and expel the stone. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

289. Guajacum, Lignum Sæticum, Indicum & Vita, Pockwood; It is an Outlandish tall tree, which is brought out of India: It is either Cavernous or not; the first is called Guajacum; the other Lignum vite, but are promiscuously used: What of it is now in use, are the Bark (which see, Chap. 2. Sect. 14.) Wood (which see, Chap. 3. Sect. 9.) and Gum, which see Chap. 8. The Wood yields an Oyl by distillation, which being rectified, is a specificke against the French Pox, Epilepsie, and Tooth-ach, besides which it expels the dead Child: with the Oyl comes also a spirit, good for the purposes aforesaid, besides which it dissolves Pearl and Coral, and the shells of Fishes; dose from ʒss to ʒj.

290. Halimus, Portulaca maritima, Ἀλμ. Sea-Purslain; hot and moist in 1°. The leaves and buds boyled are good for food; so also pickled, they serve for sallats and sauce: externally the leaves bruised and applied are good against the Gout: the root in powder drunk in Mead to ʒj. helps Cramps Cramps and the Colick, & encrease milk in womens breasts.

291. Hedera, Ruscus & Rubus, Ivy; hot and dry in 2°. An Essence made of the herb is prevalent against all manner of virulent sores, old ulcers, burnings, scaldings, obstructions of the Spleen and the Plague; and being used as an Errhine, it purgeth the Head, stops the running of the Ears, and heals Ulcers there. The leaves steeped 24 hours in water, comfort and refresh sore smarting and waterish eyes; see the fruit, chap. 6. and Gum, chap. 8.

292. Hedera terrestris, Corona terre, Xanthoxylon, Alehoof, or Ground Ivy; hot and dry in 10°. It is aperitive, absterfiv, vulnerary and pectoral: It opens obstructions in the Lungs, Gall, and Kidnies; it expectorates flegm, cures the Jaundice, dissolves the Stone, and helps the Colick. The Essence dropt into the Ears, helps the deafness and noise there; and drunk in fair water 6 or 7 days, it removes the Jaundice; and in 40 or 50 days the Sciatica: mixt with Essence of Celandine, Daisies, and a little loaf-sugar and rose-water, and put into the eyes, it cools the inflammation, helps pin and web, spots, itch, smarting, and most other griefs, although almost blind: the Essence alone mixt with Honey and injected into the eye with a syringe, helps the pin and web very effectually: outwardly it heals all manner of green wounds and sores; and mixt with Verdigrease, it helps Fistulaes and hollow Ulcers.

293. Heliotropium, Scorpiurum, Hæmorrhæa, Turn-sole; hot and dry in 10°. It is Alexipharmick, Antifebricitick, Nephritick, Lithon-triptick, and Arthritick: The Essence purgeth forth tough flegm, and cholerick humours, helps the stinging of Scorpions and biting of other venomous beasts, kills Worms, helps Feavers, and the Quartan, easeth pains, expels the Stone, provokes the Terms, and causeth easie delivery to women in travel. The herb serves to dye a purple colour either in cloath or meat:

The Essence of small Turnsole, and the seed mixt with Essence of Hyssop and Cresses, and a little Salt peter, is a powerful thing to expel Worms.

294. Helleborus, Wild white
Hellebore; hot and dry in 2°.

322. Fujuba, Zizypha, Zizyphus, Ζιζυφ, Jujube-tree: See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

323. Funquillas, Bulbus Vomitorius, Rush-Daffodil, hot and dry in 2°. The Roots are Vulnerary, and consolidate after the manner of Comfrey, and therefore are good against Wrenches, Strains, Pains of the Joyns, &c. The juyce of the Root is Emetick, Cosmetick and Pectoral.

324. Juniperus, Ακνευβ, Juniper-tree, hot and dry in 3°. The Berries are called Bacce Juniperi; the Gum, Vernix & Sandarack. See the Berries, Chap. 6. The Gum, Chap. 8. following, and the Wood, Chap. 3. Sect. 10. aforegoing. The mushroom grows to it in May like Moss, and is good against Inflammations of the Eyes. The smoke of the leaves and wood drives away Serpents, and frees the Air from infection: the juyce of the leaves applied, help the bitings of Vipers. See the Oyl in our Dor. Med. lib. 2 cap. 31. Sect. 20.

325. Juncus, Scirpus, Ξυόν, Common Rush, cold and dry in 3°. It stops Fluxes and the Roots (especially the Seed and Roots being drunk with Canary Wine) but they are Hypnotick, and therefore dangerous. The tender leaves next the root made into a Balsam, help the biting of the Phalangium, a Spider so called.

326. Juncus Aquaticus, Ορυζ

υ, Bull-Rush: It has the temperature and Vertues of the former; but the Seed of this is far more Hypnotick or soporiferous, and therefore ought to be discreetly used.

327. Kali, Salicornia, Soliscornia, Καλι, Glas-wort, hot and dry in 4°. The Ashes are called Soda; the Salt Sal alkali, and Sandiver. A small quantity of this Herb, or Essence thereof, being taken inwardly, wonderfully provokes Urine, opens obstructions of Liver and Spleen, purges watry humours, helps the Dropsie, and expels the dead Child; too great a quantity kills. The ashes are caustick, but mixt with such Medicines: and help scabs, mange, and deformity of the skin, and to consume excrescencies in Ulcers: So also doth the Sandiver, if dissolved in water to bathe with.

328. Kermes, Chermes, hot and dry in 1°. It is the Fruit of a Tree called Ilex cocifera, or Scarlet Oak, growing in Candia and in many parts of Spain. See the Berries, Chap. 9. Sect. 7.

329. Keri, Cheyi, Viola Lutea, Κερυ, Wall-flowers, hot and dry in 1°. This Herb is sometimes called Leucoium, being that which is most used in Physick. It is Vulnerary, cleansing, and of thin parts; a Balsam of the juyce, helps clists in the Fundament, and scirrhus Tumours, Palsie, and Gout: bruised with bay Salt, and applied to the Wrists, it abates the shaking fits of Agues. The Essence of the Herb mixt with Rhenish Wine and taken, provokes the Terms, and expels the dead Child: to which if you put a little Honey and Aloin, it cures Ulcers and Cankers of the Mouth.

330. Lacca, Lacca-tree, hot in 1°. dry in 3°. The Lacca Sumettri is the best; the Lacca Comberti next; the Artificial Lacca (made of scrapings of Brazil and Saffron, used only by Painters) is worst. The artificial is called Lacca in Balls, of the colour of Minium, and it is either Vulgar or Florentine, which of the fastitious is the best and deepest red. The Tree yields a dry Rosin like Myrrh, but very red, and which makes the spittle red when it is chewed, and being burnt or broken, smells sweet. Some say, That it is a juyce sucked by winged Ants, and by them left upon the boughs; others (which is most probable) that it grows or sweats out of the said boughs. See the Gum, Chap. 8. and our Dor. Med. lib. i. cap. 2. sect. 14.

331. Lacryme Job, Jobs Tears, Temperature is unknown; Penz and Lobel say, the Powder or decoction is of use against the Stone in the Kidnies and Bladder; and Crollius commends it as an excellent Lithonriptick. The Seeds being perforated, are stringed, and used in the Roman Church for Prayer-beads.

332. Lactuca, Opifolæ καὶ ἰσχυρῆς, Pythagoreorum, Lettice, cold in 3°. dry in 1°. It is eaten as a Sallet; both raw, and boyled, with Oyl, Salt, Vinegar and Pepper; It is astringent, Anodyne and Hypnotick; it cools the heat of Choler, allays inflammations, encreases Milk in Nurtures, is of good nutriment, strengthens the stomach, loosens the Belly, and quencth Thirst: Outwardly it helpeth all manner of Inflammations, easeth the Head-ach: and applied with Salt to burns and scalds (before they blister) cures them. The Herb or juyce too much used, weakens the Seed, and quenches the heat of the Lust. See the Seed, Chap. 7.

333. Lactuca sylvestris, Wild-Lettice; cold almost in 4°. dry in 1°. It is Hypnotick and Anodyne: The Juyce or Essence mixed with Oxyrate, purgeth watry and flegmatick humours, cleanseth and heals Ulcers in the Eyes, and dimness of sight: The said Essence mixt with Rhenish Wine or Canary, moves the Courses, helps the stinging of Scorpions, and biting of Spiders: the Seed has the same vertues with the Garden.

334. Lactuca agnina, Corn-Sallet, or Lambs-Lettice; cold and moist in 1°. It's used in Winter, and first appearance of the Spring for a Sallet, nor inferior to the other. The juyce applied with Oyl of Roses, helps the Head-ach: inwardly it cureth adust humours, and with Camphire abates the heat of Lust.

335. Lagopus, Cagopodium, γαργαλις, Hares-foot, (a kind of Trefoil) cold and dry in 1°. It grows among Corn and Flowers chiefly in July. It stops all Fluxes of both Belly and Womb; it helps spitting of Blood, the Strangury, Ulceration of the Bladder, and Gonorrhoea, and cures Ruptures: Outwardly it stanches bleeding, heals wounds, helps the Hemorrhoides,

Tumors

Tumors in the Groin, and is a good Cosmetick.

335. Lampfana, Dock-Cress, it is hot, dry, and cleansing, helps ulcerated Breasts, and provokes Urine.

337. Lapathum, Rumex, Oxylapathum, Hippolapathum, Λιπαθον, common Dock, temperate and dry in 3°. The Leaves open, loosen, and cleanse, yet stop all manner of Fluxes, chiefly the Bloody Flux, and ease pains of the Stomach. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 84. The Essence is Cosmetick.

338. Lapathum rubrum, Lapathum sativum, Ερωςφορδων, Blood-wort, cold and dry in 1°. It opens obstructions of Liver and Spleen, and stops any Flux in Man or Woman: it cleanses, purifies, and breeds good blood: the Seed helps wambling of the Stomach.

339. Laserpitium, Σιλαριον, Laserwort, hot and dry in 3°. The best grows in Cyrene, which yield the Gum called Lasar; the other in Syria, which yields Asa fetida. The Root bruised and made into a Cataplasim, with Oyl, dissolves hard swellings, especially for the Kings Evil, and made into a Plaster, it helps the Gout and Sclatica. See the Gums in Chap. 8.

340. Larix, Λεξ, Larch tree, it's of the nature of the Fir and Pine trees: See its Mushroom called Agarick, Sect. 15. above; and its Resin, Chap. 6.

341. Latbyrus, Pease everlasting. Of the Temperature and Vertues of the common Pease.

342. Lavendula, Pseudonardus, Nardus Italica, Κουδοναρδος, Lavender, hot and dry in 3°. It is either male or female: The male is the broad Italian Nard, (which is the sweeter) and is called Lavender: the female is the narrow-leav'd Spike (which is the stronger in smell) and is called Spikenard, the which is the most usual; but they are used promiscuously the one for the other. They have a sharp bitterish tast, and are of thin and spiritual parts: being Cephalick, Arthritick, and Uterine. The Essence of the Herb is good against most Diseases of the Head, and is of singular use in Catarrhs, Palsies, Cramps, Tremblings, Megrims, Lethargies, &c. It expels Urine, and Birth, (if given in Travel) and is very good against the Colick. See our Synopsis Medicine, lib. 3. cap. 22. sect. 158. The Flowers (which are best) in Cap. following. Lavender-Cotten, See Sect. 205. afore-going.

343. Lawocerasus, Cherry-bay; The fruit is good to be eaten, and is a great Cordial, strengthening and fortifying of the Heart; it cools excellently in Feavers.

344. Laureola, Chamedaphne, Peplion, Λαυρολιδες, Laurel-shrub. What Authors intend by Laureola, is very doubtful; sometimes it signifies the common Garden Laurel-shrub, with broad Leaves, which bears a kind of Cherry; sometimes Spyrge-Lauel, which is a kind of Mezereon, and the name is often given to Mezereon it self. If the first, it is of no eminent use in Physick, but is rather planted in Gardens for Ornament; but bears a delicate Cherry, of a very pleasant and grateful taſt. If the latter, it is wholly of the nature of the German Spurge-Olive or Mexereon, being of an exceeding hot and biting taſt. Both the green and dried leaves purge Choler, Flegm, and watery humours, provoke Vomit, yet bring down the Terms; they help the Dropſie, but inflame the Bowels, except firſt macerated in Vinegar, juyce of Quinces, or juyce of Lemons. Doſe is to gr. xv. Snuffed up, it cauſeth ſneezing; chewed in the mouth, it purges the head of water. The Antidote is Milk with Butter or Oyl; or you may give a draught of juyce of Lemons, but I think the former is better, if taken largely: The Berries in gr. iiii. or v. help the Colick, and an Oyl of them helps the Piles. See Chap. 2. Sect. 17. and 23. And Mexereon, Sect. 413.

345. Laurus, Laureæ, Landææ Viterum, Δάφνι, Bay-tree, hot and dry in 3°. The leaves are ſtomachical, and being tinn'd up with Beer, give it a pleaſant taſt, grateful to the Stomach, whereby reſiſting Vomiting; made into a Pulſiſe with Barly-meal, they help all inflammations, the ſtinging of Bees, Colick, and pains of the Bladder; the bark of the Root taken in Rheniſh-wine, provokes Urine, breaks the Stone and expels it, opens Obſtructions, provokes the Terms, cures the Dropſie and Jaundice, but kills the fetus. See the Berries, Chap. 6. and the Oyl of them in this Diſp. lib. 4. cap. 3. Sect. 26.

346. Lauruſtinus, Wild-bay. The Temperature and Vertues are ſcarce diſcovered: ſome think them the ſame with the former.

347. Lens, Lenticula, φαλδ: ἢ φαλδῖς, Lentils, temperate and dry in 2°. they are of an aſtringent, harſh, earthy juyce: the firſt decoction of them with ſalt, looſeneth the Belly: the ſecond binds and ſtops all Fluxes, eſpecially if boyled with Myrcles, Balauſtins, Medlars, unripe Pears, unripe Bramble-berries, Quinces, Galls, Berries of Sumach, Pomgranate-Pills, or the like: their meal with honey is abſterſive, cleanſes old Ulcers, putrified Sores; breeds fleſh, and is a good digeſtive in green Wounds. If much eaten, they ſtop the Courſes, produce Leproſie, create ſad Dreams and Melancholy, hurt the Head, Lungs, and Sinews, and ſpoil the ſight: In a Cataplaſm with Barly-meal, they help the Gout, and other hard ſwellings, as alſo Shingles, Eryſipela's, Puſhes, Kibes, eating Sores, Itch, &c.

348. Lenticula marina, Sea, or water-Lentil, cold and moiſt in 2°. They are Diuretick; the decoction with Roſe-leaves and Quinces, helps Ulcers: and as Sennerthus ſays, the Phyſſene; they may be eaten as Sampire.

349. Lens Paluſtris, Lenticula aquatica, φαλδῖς ὁ ἰσθίου τοῦ ἁλμῶδους, Ducks-meat, cold and moiſt in 2°. It is chiefly uſed in all great Inflammations, Eryſipela's, hot Feavers, and the like; if mingled with Wheat or Barly-flower and applied: the ſame alſo is good againſt Phlegmous, pains of the Joynts, and falling of the Fundament in Children, ſwellings of the Breasts and Privities, and pains of the Head, cauſed by hear : The distilled water, juyce or Essence, is good against redness and inflammations of the Eyes.

350. Lentiscus, Σχίνος. Ma-stick Tree, Temperate and dry in 2°. The leaves and bark are astringent, help the bloody Flux, Hæmoptysis, pissing of blood, and all other fluxes of blood, with other lasks of the bowels. They are good against the Falling Sickness, and exiture of the Womb and Fundament ; the Oyl of the Berries help the Itch and Lepro-sic. See the Gum, Dor. Med. lib. 1.
Cap. 3. Sect. 15.

351. Leontopetalum, Pes Leonis, Bramaria, Λεντοπέταλοι, Lions Leaf, hot and dry in 3°. It is digestive, alexipharmick, and anodyne, and is good against the bitings of Serpents : the Root applied helps the Sciatica, and cleanses old filthy Ulcers.

352. Leucium, Indian Chestnut, Temperate and dry in 2°. It is a pleasant fruit, but binds, and stops Fluxes.

353. Leucium, Λευκόν, Stock-Gilliflower : Their Temperature and Vertues are the same with Wall-flowers, but somewhat weaker. Camerarius saith, a Conserve of the flowers of the Stock-Gilliflower, given with the distilled water of the same, helps the Apoplexy and Palsie.

354. Leucium bulbosum, Bulbous or Onion Gilliflower, Temperate ; the Flowers drunk in Canary help stitches in the side.

355. Levisticum, Ligusticum, Lovage, hot and dry in 3°. Musa saith it was formerly used in Meats, as we use Pepper. It incides, opens all manner of Obstructions of Liver, Spleen, and Gall ; is Alexipharmick, diuretick, Emmenogogick, Vulnera-ry, Stomachical and Pectoral : it expels the dead Child and Afterbirth ; dissolves clammy Tartarous humours, and cures the Jaundice : the distilled water, or refined Essence, clears the sight, and is a singular good Cosmetick.

356. Libanotis, Λιβαντική, Herb Frankincense, hot and dry in 2°. A Caraplastm of the leaves helps the Piles, supplies swellings, and helps Inflammations, especially of the Throat, Groin, and Fundament, bringing them to suppuration, when scarcely any thing else will : the Essence mixt with Honey, clears the sight : and mixt with Darnel Meal and Vinegar, helps the Gout : mixt with Wine and Pepper, it helps the Jaundice, and is sudorifick ; mixt with Oyl, it helps chaps in the hands, feet,
or skin : it is Alexipharmick, Diuretick, and provokes the Terms.

357. Ligustrum, συλλύρα, ξυ-στόρα, Privet, cold and dry in 1°. It is good against Inflammations, putrefaction, old Ulcers, Cancers and Sores in the Mouth, Jaws and Uvula, loose-ness of the Gums, pain, redness and inflammations of the Eyes ; and inwardly stops fluxes ; and helps much against the Scurvy.

358. Lignum Rhodium, Alpine
Rose-wood, called Aspalathus.
See Chap. 3. Sect. 3.

359. Lignum Moluccense, Panava, Molucca's Tree, Temperate : it is Cephalick, Stomatick, Uterine, and Arthriticke, Carminative, Anodyne, Alexipharmick,

pharmick, yet Cathartick. It is a remedy against the poysonous biting of the Viper Regulus and Asp, helps Quotidian and Quartan Agues, Dropsie, Stone, Disury, Iliack and Colick Passions, expels wind, choler, flegm, water and melancholy, helps scirrhous and strumatick Tumors, Oedema, and Gout; all old griefs of the head, as Epilepsie, Convulsions, Apoplexy, Megrim, Cephalæa; Obstructions of Bowels and Womb, shortness of Breath, noise and deafness in the Ears. You may give of the wood in powder in Rhenish Wine from gr. x. to ʒss. in the morning fasting: it may be given in all seasons, to all ages, and every constitution, without the least danger; hot and cholerick People may take it in Syrup of Vinegar, or Lemons; it works without troubling or offending the Stomach, or hindering any business; and if it work too strongly, it may be remedied by taking a small quantity of Rice-milk: It kills Worms of all sorts, makes a good appetite; and is very good against the French Pox.

360. Lignum Nephriticum, Nephritic wood, it cools the Reins and Bladder, helps sharpness of Urine, quenches the heat of Fevers, expels wind, helps the Colick, &c. See Chap. 3. Sect. 12.

361. Lilium, Rosa Junonis, K. y. ʒia. K. p. ʒia. ʒia. ʒia. Lilly, hot and dry in 2°. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 86. and the Flowers, chap. 5. The Herb bruised with Vinegar and Henbane-leaves, and applied, helps the Gout.

362. Lilium Convallium, Lilly of the Vally, hot and dry in 1°. See the Flowers, Chap. 5.

363. Lilium Rubrum, Red Lilly; Galen saith, it is of a thin, yet earthy Essence; the Roots and Leaves, dry, are a sterfise, and digestive; applied, they help the stings of Serpents; and made into a Cataplasm with Vinegar, or into a Balsam, it helps burns, scalds, green wounds, Ulcers, hardness of the Matrix, pricks of the sinews, hot swellings, Gouts, Morphews, and other deformities of the skin.

364. Lilium Persicum, Persian Lilly: The Vertues are doubtful, it is a fine Ornament to a Garden.

365. Limonium, Sea Lavender: It is hot and dry in 1°. The Seed is binding, and being powder'd and drank in Canary, it stops the Terms, and all other fluxes of Blood, the Dysenteria, and other Lasks; helps the pains of the Colick and Strangury.

366. Limonia Malus, Quercus malus; Limon-tree: See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

367. Lingua Cervina, Radiolus Apuleii, rad. a. ʒia. Harts tongue. See Scelopendria.

368. Linaria, Orupis, Flaxweed, or Toad flax, hot in 1°, dry in 2°. It is of the kind and nature of the wild Snap Dragons: It is good against the Jaundice, Dropsie, and stoppage of Urine; it opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, and Reins; it expels the Terms, Stone, and Poyson: the Juyce or Essence helps red Eyes, and is Cosmetick.

369. Linum, Aivo, Flax, hot in 2° and temperate. See the seed, seed, Chap. 7. Of flax is made our white Paper, the flax being first made into cloath: Of which Paper comes an Oyl, thus: Set the Paper on Fire, and lay it on a plate of Tin, so will the Oyl stick to it; it is of an Anodyne and healing property, and a Specifick in the Tooth-ach.

370. Eibospermum, Milium Solis, Gorgonium, Diosperon, λ $\delta\delta\tau$ $\pi\epsilon\rho\mu\epsilon\iota$, Gromwel, hot and dry in 2°. See the Seed.

371. Lolium, Zizania, Ara Flaxii, Ara, Darnel; hot in 3°. dry in 2°. The Root kills Worms. See the Seed.

372. Lotus Arbor, Nettle tree, cold and dry in 1°. The decoction of the Wood drunk or taken as a Glyster, or injected, helps the Bloody Flux, stops Lasks, helps the Whites and Reds, and keeps the Hair from falling, but makes it yellow; the Fruit is cooling and binding.

373. Lotus herba hortensis, Sweet Garden-Peafe, Trefoil, or Claver, Temperate: Galen saith, It dries and concocts: Dioscorides saith, It takes away spots in the Eyes, and clears the sight: It is Alexipharmick, Vulnerary, Anodyne, and Diuretick: It help the Gout, dissolves congealed Blood, is good in Pleurisy, the Disury and Epilepsie.

374. Lotus herba agrestis, Wild-Peafe, Trefoil, or Clover-grass, hot and dry in 1°. The Powder of the Herb drunk, helps pains of the Bladder; mixed with honey, it helps blemishes of the skin, being applied.

375. Lunaria, Moon-wort, cold and dry in 1°. It is Vulnerary, and helps the Bloody Flux, Dropsies, Cancers of the Breast, Dysen-ria's, Whites, Ruptures in Children: in Red-wine it stops the Terms, Vomiting and Bleeding: Outwardly in a Balsom it consolidates Ruptures, Fractures and Dislocations.

376. Lupinus, $\delta\epsilon\pi\mu\theta$, Lupine, hot in 1°. dry in 2°. This is the Aurum Comicum Planti: the Root boyled in water, and drunk, provokes Urine, and is a Specifick in the Pox: The Juice mixt with the Gall of a Goat, and Juice of Lemons, and applied, is prevalent against the Gout, Nodes, Imposthumes, and hard swellings. See Chap. 7.

377. Lupulus, $\beta\epsilon\upsilon\omicron\upsilon\alpha$ & $\beta\epsilon\upsilon\omicron\upsilon\iota\alpha$, Hops, hot and dry in 2°. The Herb opens and cleanseth both Liver and Spleen, purifies the Blood, helps Agues, and cleanses the skin from Scabs, Itch, Mange, and other breakings out, if boyled and drunk in Whey; but the Juice or Essence is stronger and better, for it purges Choler, Flegm, and watry humors, (both by Stool and Urine) helps against the French Pox, breakings out in the Body, Tetter, Ringworms, Itch, Morpew, spreading Soars, and is an Antidote against Poyson; it kills Worms, provokes the Terms, helps the Jaundice, Head-ach, Scurvy, Melancholy, and old Quartans. They that please to prove it, may find not only the Juice of the Herb, but a Diet of Flowers very much to exceed that of China, Sarsa, Sassafras, and it may be Guaiacum too: See the Flowers, Chap. 5. The young Buds are eaten in Sallets.

378. Luteola, Herba Lutea, Luteum, $\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\delta\upsilon\kappa\eta\eta$, Dyer-weed, hot and dry in 3°. It eats, are-nates,

uates, resolves, digests, is Alexipharmick, traumatick and vulnerary, it helps junctures of the nerves, and bitings of venomous Creatures, and prevents the infection of the Plague. It dyes yellow and green those cloathes which have been first dyed blue with Wood.

379. Lychnis, Λυχνίς, Campions, hot and dry in 2°. The leaves help Ulcers and Wounds: the seed taken ʒij. in Rhenish Wine purges choler, helps such as are stung or bitten with venomous Beasts, and resists Poyson.

380. Lychnis hortensis, Βάτεια, Batchelors buttons; They are of the nature and temperature of Ranunculus or Crowfoot, but not altogether so hot: the root applied exulcerates the skin, and attracts watery humours.

381. Lycium, Pyxantha, Buxa spina, Λύκειον, Boxthorn; temperate and dry in 1°. The Essence of the leaves or boughs clears the sight, heals Ulcers in the Eyes, distillations of humors, Ulcers in the mouth, throat and almonds, ruinnings in the Ears, and the Itch: the shops use the juyce of wood bine-berries, privet, or sloe for it.

382. Lycopsis, Wallbugloss, temperate and dry in 1°. It is Vulnerary, stops fluxes and Rheums, and cools inflammations.

383. Lysimachia, Salicaria, Corynola, Λυσιμάχεια, Loostrife, cold and dry in 1°. The Essence stops bloody fluxes, and all other lasks, stops spitting of blood, the terms; clears the sight, and is a good Vulnerary.

384. Macaleb, Bastard privet, hot and dry in 1°. It is not often used in Physick: the Seed is a good perfume. See lib. 4. of my Polygraphice: of these Seeds also the perfumers make bracelets: The fruit is moderately hot, provokes Urine, and is good against the Stone.

385. Majorana, Amaracus, Samplicum, Ἀλεξάνων Marjoram, hot and dry in 3°. It is an excellent aromack, of fine, subtil, thin and Volatile parts: it is Cephalick, stomack, uterine, and arthritick. It expels wind, is diuretick, traumatick, emmenogogick, and alexipharmick: It dissolves congealed Blood, cold swellings, biting of venomous beast, poyson of Opium, old coughs, and obstructions of the Lungs: the juyce or Essence as an Errhinae, purges the head of flegm; held in the mouth easeth the tooth-ach; taken in Canary, helps pains and gripings in the bowels. The chymical oyl is of wonderful force in all manner of head aches, palsies, convulsions, cramps, cold aches, and shrinking of the Sinews, only by being anointed upon the part affected, and the backbone. See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 3. sect. 7. The Essence taken in Spanish Wine, is an antidote against all mortal Poyson; strengthens the Stomach, and helps Diseases of the Spleen.

386. Mala insana, Mad Apples, cold in 4°. most in 1°. They are supposed hurtful; yet at Toledo in Spain, they are eaten pickled, with scraped cheese, to procure lust.

387. Malabathrum, folium Indum, folium Indicum, Tamalapatra, Indian Leaf; hot and dry in 2°. chuse those that are fresh and greenish.

greenish, not black. This Herb is of the nature of Spicknard: it is diuretick, stomatick, cardiack, and alexipharmick; it helps digestion, warms a cold Stomach, helps Inflammations, and Pin and Web in the Eyes, and causeth a sweet breath: laid among cloaths keeps them from Moths.

388. Malva, Μαράινα. Mallow: temperate and moist in 1°. It is emollient, anodyne, and vulnerary: it loosens the belly, allays sharpness of Urine, and is of notable use in most diseases of the Lungs, Bladder, Guts and Womb. It is a great Pectoral, and helps Coughs, Asthma's, Consumptions, Bloody-flux, Stone, Ulcers in the Bladder, Guts and Womb: outwardly it cures Worms, ripens Tumors, and easeth Pain: In Glysters it gives ease in the Stone, and expels wind: boiled in Urine, it is good against a scald-head, the head being bathed therewith.

389. Malva arborea, vel arborescens, Holy-hocks, temperate and moist in 1°. of the nature of the former; used chiefly in distempers of the throat and mouth, as a Gargle.

390. Malus, Pomus, Μάρα. Apple-tree, cold and moist in 1°. (Pipins and Pearmains) the fruit is called Malum. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

391. Malus armeniaca, Precocia, Chrysmeloa, Apricock-tree; the leaves are cold and dry in 1°. See the Fruit, Cap. 6.

392. Malus Persica, Μάρα περσική η ποδάνα, Peach-tree, the leaves are cold and dry in 1°. See the Fruit.

393. Malus nuci Persica, The Nectarin, a Peach-tree; the fruit has the same Vertues with the former: yet the leaves both of this and the former, are said to open obstructions of the Liver and Belly, and to kill Worms in Children, being boiled in Milk, and given.

394. Mandragora, Μαριον, Μανδραγόρας, Mandrake, cold in 4°: dry in 1°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 89. and the Fruit, Chap. 6. The leaves stamped with lard and barley-meal, and applied, help all hot swellings, inflammations, and Aposthumes, and dissolve knots in the flesh. The antidotes are Scordium, Rue, Castoreum, Wormwood, Mustard, Organy, Angelica, Spanish and Rhenish Wines.

395. Marrubium, Prasium, Τρόσχοις, Hore-bound, hot in 2°. dry in 3°. It opens obstructions of both Liver and Spleen, cleanseth the Breast and Lungs, takes away old Coughs, Asthma's, shortness of breath, pains of the sides, spitting of Blood, Ptytick, Inflammations and Ulcers of the Lungs; it provokes the Terms, and expels the birth, after-birth, and dead child. It is very profitable in Consumptions, is Alexipharmick, good against the biting of venomous beasts, and vulnerary; the Essence mixt with honey or Rhenish wine, and dropt into eyes which have a pearl, or other dimness in them, clears them, and helps their watering.

396. Marrubium nigrum, black-horebound, hot and dry in 30. It is sharp, subtil and cleansing, helps the biting of mad-dogs, provokes the Terms, helps a Cachexia, ill stomach, loss of appetite, bad livers, the Itch, and Jaundice; It kills kills Worms, and is Traumatick. Outwardly it wafts hard knots, and cleanseth foul Ulcers.

397. Marrubium aquaticum, Water-Hore-hound, cold in 1°. dry in 3°. It is very astringent and Traumatick.

398. Marum, Madagg, Herb Mastick, hot and dry in 3°. It is an exotick Plant like Marjoram in form and virtues, which we use instead of it: it is good against the bites of venomous Beasts, Convulsions, Cramps, Strangury, and Feavers; it stops Lasks, helps burstings, is Alexipharmick and odoriferous.

399. Materfilon, Black Knapweed: It is of the nature and kind of Scabious, a good Traumatick and Vulnerary.

400. Mechoacanna, Indian Rhubarb, or Mechoacan: See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 28.

401. Medica, Medick, Claver, or Medick fodder, cold and dry in 1°. a Cataplasim of the green Herb is good against inflammations, and heals Wounds: This Claver is also called Trifolium cochlearatum.

402. Melo, Melon, Μήλον, Melon or Pompion, cold in 4°, moist in 2°. The Leaves bruised and applied, cool Inflammations: See the Fruit, Chap. 6. and our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 62.

403. Melopepo, Melopepon, Musk-millon, or Melon; See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

404. Melilotus Corona Regia, Trifolium odoratum, Locus Urbana, Μελιλον, Meilior, hot and dry in 1°. But I much question whether Meilior; and Trifolium odoratum, which is taken for Lotus Ur- bana be one and the same thing, I rather think the contrary. However, Meilior is a kind of strong-scented Trefoil: It is Emollient; Discussive, Anodyne, Traumatick, Vulnerary, wasting, ripening, Diaphoretick, Diuretick, Lithontriptick, and an opener of Obstructions: the juyce or Essence dropt into the Eyes, clears the sight, consumes the Pin and Web, and dissolves the Pearl, and other Spots which offend them. See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 65. and cap. 5. Sect. 63.

405. Melissa, Melissophyllum, Melites, Citrage, Μελιτρούλλος, Bawm, hot and dry in 2°. It is Cephalick, Cardiack, Stomatick, Uterine: an Essence made hereof is Alexipharmick, Carminative, Anodyne, Traumatick, Analeptick, and Sudorifick: It comforts the Stomach, removes Melancholy, cheers the Heart, causes pleasant Dreams, expels Poyson, cures the Plague, Feavers, the biting of mad Dogs, and all other venomous Creatures; eases the Tormina, helps Palsies, Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Megrimis, Faintings, Jaundice, stoppage of the Terms, Suffocation of the Womb, stinking Breath. Externally, it is Vulnerary, glutinates Wounds; helps the stinging of Bees, Wasps, or other venomous Beasts, hard Tumors: the Kings Evil, and Gout: An Essence made of Bawm, Celandine the greater, and 1j parts, Rosemary and Poppy flowers ana j. part, renews youth, keeps back old age, renovates the skin and hair, and makes them take it, strong and vigorous; it strengthens the Brain, restores lost memory, relieves leaves languishing Nature, cures Consumptions, and prevents gray Hairs and baldness: Dose ʒiij. or vj. in Canary every morning.

406. Mentha, Μέντα ἡ ἡσυχία: Mint, i. e. Spear, or Garden Mint, hot and dry in 3°. It is subastringent, of thin parts, and Stomachick: It is good against Vomiting, Wind, violent heat, Hicet, Obstructions of the Liver, Gripping of the Guts, Megrim, and Head-ach: it dissolves coagulated Milk in Womens Breasts, easeth the Colick, and helps vomiting of Blood; it clears the Head, stops the Terms and Whites, and helps watering Eyes, but hinders generation by condensing the Sperm: It is something inferior to Calamint, which see, Sect. 114. See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 66.

407. Mentha Cattaria, Nepeta, Mentha selina, Nep, or Catmint; hot and dry in 3°. It is good against cold pains of the Head, Stomach, and Womb, it corrects crudities, expels wind, provokes the terms, makes fruitful, dissolves Cramps, Colics, Aches, and the Piles; it is a great Pectoral, and has all the Vertues of Mint and Calamint.

408. Menthastrum, Horse-mint, hot and dry in 3°. It is of a more pleasant smell than Garden-Mint, yet the smell exhilarates, and is used in Baths with Bawm to strengthen the Nerves; applied to the Womb it helps sterility; and may be used in place of Garden-mint, where that cannot be had.

409. Mentha Saracenica, Roman-mint, or Garden-Costus, hot and dry in 2°. It opens, attenuates, dissolves, provokes the Terms, helps suffocation of the Womb, is Alexipharmick, and particularly helps against the Poison of Opium.

410. Mercurialis Phynon, Ανδρο-ζών, Herb-Mercury; it is both male and female, hot and dry in 1°. It is an excellent Emollient, it loosens and cleanseth the Belly, purges Choler and Water: Outwardly it is a good Vulnerary; it cleanses old Ulcers, and consolidates green wounds: In Glysters it scours the Bowels, and purges out Flegm and bilious Humours: it mollifies Tumours; and the bruised Herb used as a Pessary helps Conception.

411. Mespilus, μεσπίλιον ἡ μεσπίλος ἡ βερμύς, Medlar-tree, cold in 1°. and dry in 2°. The Leaves are astringent, and stop all Fluxes. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

412. Meum, anetum tortuosum, Imperatrix, μενίστυλον, Spignel, (a kind of Seseli, with Leaves like Dill) hot in 3°. dry in 2°. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 90. Some think it to be Daucus of Creet, but are mistaken.

413. Mezerion, Chamelea Germanica, Χάμελεα, Mezereon-Tree, hot and dry in 4°. The Leaves, Rinde, and Fruit are very hot, sharp and biting, inflaming the parts. The Leaves very strongly purge Flegm, Choler, and waterish Humours: It is dangerous to be taken inwardly, inflaming much like to Sea-Tythy-mal; you may use it instead of Spurge-Olive, or Widow-wall, which see, sect. 133. which is also a kind of Mezerion: You may prepare either of them by macerating them in Vinegar, Juice of Quinces, or Lemons, mons, then drying and powdering, which you may give from 5 to 15 grains with a little Mastick and Spicknard or Anniseed. See the Bark, Chap. 23. and the Berry, Chap. 7. The Antidote is Origanum, Terra Lennia, with Milk and Butter. It is called sometimes Laureola and Chamedaphnis, but I think erroneously.

414. Millium, Κεϋ Χρϑ, Millet, cold in 1°. dry in 3°. The Ashes of the stalk taken, are good against Struma. See the Grain.

415. Millefolium, Achelsa, Acrum, Στραλῶτις ὁ χιλιόφυλλος, Yarrow, cold in 1°. dry in 3°. It is Astringent, Repercussive, and Vulnerary: It helps all green wounds, and stops all Fluxes of Blood, and Lasks of the Bowels; applied, it helps pain of the Head; and the Essence being injected with a Syringe, helps Gonorrhœas, Whites, and Inflammations of the Secrets. Chewed in the Mouth, it helps the Tooth-ach; in a Clyster, the excoriations of the Intestines. It stops the Terms, and is held a great Secret in the Plague; the Juice dropt into the Eyes helps their pain, redness, and inflammations.

416. Moly, Molyza, Myle Galeni Μώλυ, Moly, hot and dry in 4°. nearly of the Temperature of Garlick, yet hotter than Onions. It strongly provokes the Terms, being bruised with Oyl of Flower-de-luce, and used as a Pessary.

417. Morsus Diaboli, Succisa, Geum, Nigina Plinii, Γῆεν, Devils bit, hot and dry in 2°. Cephalick, Stomatick, Pectoral, Traumatick, Vulnerary and Alexipharmick; it takes away slimy humours from the Throat and Jaws, is good against the King's Evil, Feavers, Bruises, &c. Being of the nature of Scapious, but more powerful. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 91.

418. Morsus Ranae, Nymphaea payva, Νυμφαίαιμυρτ. Frogbit, cold and dry in 3°. Some take it to be a kind of Pond-weed or Water-Lilly, and ascribe the same vertues to it: but it has the tast of Ducks meat, and the same vertues.

419. Morus, μορέα ἡ σὺνκεδμυρτ, Mulberry-tree, the Leaves are cold in 1°. dry in 2°. The Leaves in Gargarism alone, or with the Bark, cure the Tooth-ach: See the Bark of the Root, Chap. 2. Sect. 37. the Fruit, Chap. 6.

420. Musa, Adams Apple-tree; the Fruit heats and moistens, provokes Urine, causeth Venery, cools Inflammations of the Lungs and heat of Urine; yet eaten too much, hurts the Stomach.

421. Muscipula, Sileni Theophrasti, Ἴς καύλλον, Catch-fly: The Temperature and Vertues are the same with wild Pinks and Gilliflowers.

422. Muscus, Usnea, Sphagnum, βρυον ἡ σπλάγγιον, Tree Moss, cold in 1°. dry in 2°. but more or less in temperature according to the Bark of the Tree on which it groweth. It stops Vomiting, all Fluxes of Blood, and Lasks; it helps the Jaundice, and prevents Abortion. That which grows on the Oak does cool and bind very much: that which grows on Rosin-trees is binding, digesting, and softning; but that which grows on the Cedar-tree is the best; that on the Poplar next; then that on the Oak. Wine in which Moss has been infused certain days, being drunk, causeth sleep, strengthens the stomach, stops Vomiting and Fluxes: That which is sweet, is often used in Perfumes.

424. Muscus cranii humani, Moss of a dead Man's Skull: it stops bleeding, cures Wounds, and is an ingredient in the Magnerick Medicine; it cures Epilepsies and the bloody-flux. You may use Moss from other Bones instead of it.

424. Muscus terrestris, Ground-Moss: Temperate and dry in 2°. It has the Vertues of the Tree-Moss, stops all fluxes of Blood, the Terms, and breaks and expels the Stone.

425. Myagrum, Sesamum Tragi, Mūayyo, Gold of Pleasure, hot and dry in 3°. This is the Pseudomyagrum of Matthiolum. The oily fatness of the Seed makes the skin smooth and shining, and serves in Germany for poor Mens Tables, and rich Mens Lamps, and of which they make Sope; the Juice of the Herb is excellent to cleanse and heal Ulcers, chiefly in the Mouth.

426. Myrtillus, Rubus hortensis, Bar G., Garden-Bramble, or dwarf-Myrtle Bush, cold in 1°. dry in 2°. The Leaves astringe and stop fluxes. The Fruit or Berries are cold and dry in 2°. they bind; cool in Feavers, quench thirst, stop Vomiting and Lasks; but are seldom used.

427. Myrtus, ὀκρίνη ἢ ὑπερίχνη, Myrtle-tree, cold in 1°. dry in 3°. The Leaves in Powder, or their Essence taken, cure the stinking of the Arm-holes, more effectually if they be rubbed also thereon; by which it abates their violent sweating. The said Essence cures Catarrhs, and Fluxes of the Belly, bleeding at Nose, Flux of the Terms and Whites, running of the Reins, spitting of Blood, Running Tetter, sore Mouths, pain and Inflammations of the Eyes; it is Alexipharmick and Vulnerary. See the Fruit, Chap. 6. of which is made Syrup of Myrtles, and Oyl of Myrtles.

428. Myrsus Brabantica, Πόσυ-Σομυρσίον, Sweet Gall-tree, hot and dry in 3°. This is not the Galle arbor, or Gall-tree, (mentioned, Sect. 268.) but the Eleagnus Cordi, or sweet Gall-shrub, which grows in fenny Countries, and is often found amongst Sedge, a grass which in England being dried, makes good Fuel. The Galle Arbor, is a kind of Oak, which bears the Nut-Gall: This is a sweet-scented shrub, whose Leaves and Fruit being laid amongst Cloaths, gives them a good scent, and keeps them from Moths and Worms. It is bitter, drying, astringent, and discussing: it kills Worms in the Belly and Stomack, provokes Urine, is good against the Stone, and opens obstructions of the Liver and Spleen: the Fruit is strong, and being put into Beer whilst it is boiling, it makes it heady, as if it had much more Malt in it than usual.

429. Myrobolanus, Myrobolan-Tree, a kind of Outlandish Prune, not known to the Greeks, but found out by the Arabians: they are of several kinds: See the Fruit, Chap. 6. They grow in the East-Indies, and are found wild in Goa, being a Fruit sharp in taste much like to Service-berries.

430. Myrrhis, Smyrriza, $\mu\upsilon\upsilon\acute{\rho}\rho\iota\varsigma$ Cicely, sweet Cicely, hot and dry in 1°. Parkinson says, in 2°. Gerard says it is temperate: It is a pleasant Sallet-Herb, giving a good relish to other Herbs. It is of thin parts, Alexipharmick, Analeptick, Emmenogogick, Stomatick, and Vulnerary: it warms a cold Stomach, expels Wind, and cures Consumptions: The juice heals Ulcers.

431. Myxos, Sebesten, $\mu\upsilon\acute{\chi}\omicron\varsigma$, Sebesten Tree: See the Fruit (which is called Myxa and Myxarion) Chap. 6.

432. Napellus verns, Toxicum, $\tau\omicron\chi\epsilon\iota\omicron\nu\omicron\nu$, Helmet-flower, or Monks Hood, hot and dry in 4°. It is most venomous, and a deadly Poyson both to Man and Beast; with it they Poyson Arrows: if it be eaten, the Creature waxes dull and scollish, the Tongue presently swells, the Eyes stare, or hang out, the Thighs are stiff, and they grow speechless, or rave. The Antidote is Anthora, or the fly that feedeth on the Leaves, or this Composition. R. Terra Lemnia, Baccarum lanvi, Astridati, ana $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$ of the flies that feed on the Herb, No. xxiiij. Millis, Olea, ana $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. ss. mix them, of which give $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$.

433. Marcellus, $\mu\alpha\pi\epsilon\iota\sigma\alpha\omicron\varsigma$, Daffodil, hot and dry in 2°. It is one of the greatest Traumaticks and Vulneraries. It glews Sinews and Tendons together, it attracts or draws strongly, and therefore most excellent to be outwardly applied in Ruptures. Stamped with Honey and applied, it helps burns and scalds, wrenches of the Ankles, pains and aches of the Joynts: It is a Cosmetick, and in a Cataplasim of Rye-bread it ripens Imposthumes, and draws thorns out of the Body: the Essence taken inwardly helps the Cough, Pile-sick, and Colick, and cures spitting of Blood; you may take the Herb, but the Root is most usual; it is Emetick.

434. Nardus Indica, Nardus, $\nu\alpha\pi\delta\iota\kappa\alpha$, Spicknard, hot in 1°. dry in 2°. It is called Spica Indica, and Spica Nardus: It is good against the King's Evil: See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 95. and our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 78. of this is made the true Oyl of Spike.

435. Nardus Celtica, Celtick Spike, See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 94. It is used outwardly in hot Oynments.

436. Nasturtium, $\nu\alpha\sigma\tau\upsilon\tau\iota\upsilon\mu$, Garden-Cress, hot and dry in 4°. It is eminent against the Scurvy, obstructions of the Spleen, Lethargy, Drowsiness and dullness of the head: it provokes the Terms, expels the dead Child, and cuts the tartarous mucilage of the Lungs: the Seed drives out the Meazles and the Small Pox: Outwardly, the Herb is used in Gargles and Errhines: it cures Scabs, Morpew, and takes away Dandriff from the Head, it cures Tetters, with Brine; and ripens Fellons; and in a Cataplasim it eases pains of the Sciatica and Gout. The Essence taken inwardly dissolves clotted Blood, provokes Lust, but kills the fetus, and expels Worms.

437. Nasturtium indicum, Indian Cress. It has the Temperature and Vertues of the former.

438. Nasturtium aquaticum, water-Cresses, hot and dry in 3°. they cut, attenuate, open obstruction of Liver, Spleen and Gall; are diuretick, lithonriptick, Alexipharmick and carminative: the Essence taken for 30 days together three times a day, in Rhenish-wine, breaks and expels the stone, and perfectly cures the Scurvy and Green sickness, and provokes the Terms; they are a good Sallet winter and summer, being boild: the juice only put into the nose often, cures the Polypus, and being put in with Vinegar, causes sleep: but here we mean the Inspissate juice. If the herb be bruised with a little leaven and fermented, you may extract by distillation, an antiscorbutick spirit, prevalent to all the purposes aforesaid.

439. Nasturtium Græcum, Δαδύλα, Dioscoridis, Turkey-Cresses, hot and dry in 4°. They evacuate Flegm, are pectoral, and expel wind.

440. Nasturtium Sylvestre, Iberis, Iberis Cardamantice, Sciaticacress, hot and dry in 4°. like the Garden cress; a kind of Cardamine or Cuckow-flower: the roots gathered in Autumn, and made into a Cataplasin with hogs lard, helps the Sciatica, being applied thereto four hours bathing the place. after with warm water, and anointing it with Oyl, and then applying over it a plaister of Diapalma, and a catskin, to keep it warm.

441. Negunda, wound-tree; it is male and female: their leaves sinell and taste like sage, but are more sharp and bitter: the Fruit has meerly the tast of Ginger: the leaves, flowers, and fruit bruised and boiled in Water or Oyl, are good against all wounds, bruises, strains, tumours, aches, joint-diseases, and old ulcers, performing all the intentions of curing: The Indians use the decoction to help Conception.

442. Nerium, Oleander, Rosebay, it is said to kill, being taken inwardly; but others say, that the flowers and leaves may not only be taken inwardly, but help the biting of Serpents, though they kill most other Creatures. It is a doubtful medicine, and better let alone than taken uncertainly.

443. Nicotiana, Nicotiana Piruviana, Petum, Tabacum, Tabacco; hot and dry in 2°. I rather think in 3°. It discusses, resolves, cleanses, purges, vomits, stupifies the brain, resists poyson, easeth pain, and is a very great vulnerary. The external application of the juice, or leaves moistened and beat with a little wine, to the Head, easeth the Megrim, and other pains thereof; to the joints, the pains of the Gout; to the hips, the Sciatica; to the teeth, the tooth-ach; to the Skin, it remedies all its deformities and beautifies it; to kiled heels, it heals them; to the shins, the pains thereof, proceeding from the French disease: made into an oymment (which see Synopsis Medicinæ, lib. 3. cap. 58. Sect. 15.) or Balsam. It cures all manner of tumours, wounds, ulcers, old sores, fistula's, scabs, breakings out, itch, bitings or stings of venomous Beasts, punctures of the nerves or tendons, though made with poisoned weapon, happening in any part of the body from head to foot: it cures scalds, burns, piles, and gouts of all sorts: A Decoction thereof does the same; so also the Essence: The Essence taken ʒj. in wine is Emetick, and cures Agues and fits of the Mother, at twice or thrice taking; being dropt into the Ears it helps deafness: bathed upon the region of the bladder it breaks the stone, and easeth the pains thereof; bathed upon the sides it helps the Rickets; upon the Navel, suffocation of the Womb: and in sores and ulcers it fetches the filth and rottenness from the very bones; it cures Gangrenes, Carbuncles and Plague-sores: so the chymical oyl: which see Dor. Med. lib. 2. cap. 1. Sect. 17. It eases in a minute all manner of pains whatsoever, and cures the Leprosie. It is called Nicotiana, from Capt. Nicot a Spaniard, who first found it out.

444. Nigella, Gith, black Cummin, or Fennel-flower, hot and dry in 3°. See the seed, chap. 7.

445. Nigella Romana, flos Divæ Catherine, Melaspernum, Melastom, Katherine-flower. See the seed, chap. 7.

446. Nigellastrum, Githago Tragi, Pseudomelanthium, Cockle, hot in 2°, dry in 3°. The seed made into a pessary, and put up with honey, provokes the terms: given in powder it helps the yellow jaundice: the decoction of the herb breaks and expels the stone: it is good against the stinging of serpents, the plague, cleanses and heals old ulcers.

447. Nummularia, Centummodia, Moneywort, or herb twopence, cold and dry in 1°. It is pectoral, astringent, and vulnerary: the Juice or Essence drunk in wine, helps the bloody flux, all other issues of blood, as vomiting and spitting blood, the terms and whites in Women: as also all lasks and inward wounds: it being a very excellent traumatick herb.

448. Nux Vesicaria, Staphylo-dron Plinii, Pistacium Germanicum, Bladder-nut; temperate and moist in 1°. It troubles the stomach, therefore it is not usually eaten: but is sometimes used to break the stone.

449. Nux moschata, vel myristica, Kapucyn, or Nutmeg-tree. It grows in the West Indies, in the Island Banda, Molucca, &c. The Nutmeg hath a double bark; the outwardmost thick, like the green shells of Walnuts; the innermost thinner, which goes about the Nutmeg as a Net, first red, then yellow, which is the mace of the shops; which see chap. 2. sect. 20. The Fruit it self see chap. 6.

450. Nymphaea, Nenuphar, Azoreus, or Evudaeus, Water lilly, cold and dry in 3°. It is either white or yellow: the great white lilly is best, which is alwaies intended when Nymphaea is prescribed; but for want of it, the yellow may be used. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 95. the leaves and flowers have the same Vertues: outwardly they are used in Fevers, and to cool Inflammations.

451. Oculus Bovis, Bonophthalmum, Buchanum, Ox-eye; hot and dry in 2°. The flowers are sharper and hotter than those of Camomil; they are good to dissolve solve cold and hard swellings and the stone.

452. Oculus Christi, Wild clary-hot and dry in 30. It clears the sight, and has all the vertues of the Garden-Clary, which see sest.

453. Oncoplia non Spinosa, the great Jujube-tree. See the Fruit, chap. 6.

454. Olea, Ἑλαια, Olive-tree, cold and dry in 10. The leaves dry and bind, used outwardly in fluxes of the belly, terms, herpes, St. Antonies-fire, Night wheals, Carbuncles, eating Ulcers and Epinyctides. See the Fruit, chap. 6.

455. Olea ster, Ἀγριελαια, wild Olive tree. It has the vertues of the manured Olive: the flowers are a perfume.

456. Olibanus, Arbor Thurifera, Αἰθέρια Frankincense-tree. See the Bark, chap. 2. sest. 34. and the Gum, chap. 8.

457. Onobrychis, Glaux Gofneri, Ὠνοβρυχίς, Red Fitchling, Medick Fitch, Cocks head; temperate: it rarifies, attenuates, wastes; is emollient, and diuretick: made into an Essence it provokes Urine and the Courses; but the dried leaves drunk in Wine, strangle: made into a balsam, it wastes hard swellings, and waxes Kernels.

458. Ophiglossum, Lingua Serpentis, Ὠφιόγλωσσον, Adders Tongue, hot in 10 dry in 3. It is Antisebrick, Alexipharmick, Traumatick, Vulnerary, & Segnotick: The Essence heals all Wounds, Vomitings, stops all fluxes of blood, and the whites; It cures all feavers and heats in the body, and the bitings of Serpents, and venomous Creatures:

outwardly in a Balsam it heals all green Wounds, bitings of venomous Creatures, St. Antonies-fire, burns, scalds, hot tumors, Apofumes, spreading sores and Rupures.

459. Ophioscorodon, Ὠφιοσκορόδον, Vipers garlick, hot and dry in 40. It's in a mean between Leeks and Garlick; Alexipharmick, Pectoral, and of the nature of Garlick: which see sest. 23.

460. Orchis Palmata, Fenne-Orchis or Dogs-stones; the roots boiled in red wine and drunk stop fluxes: the Marsh Orchis is more strong in procuring lust, than any other of the Dog stones.

461. Oreoselinum, Mountain-parsly, hot and dry in 30. It attenuates, opens, provokes, breaks, and expels the stone: It opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen and Gall, helps the Jaundice & Dropsie, provokes Urine, and the Terms; is Alexipharmick, Traumatick, Pectoral and Anodyne, having all the vertues of Smalage, but stronger.

462. Origanum, Organum or wild Marjoram, hot and dry in 30. It is Lipyntick, Segnotick, discussive, carminative, traumatick, diuretick, emmenogogick, analeptick, alexipharmick, pectoral, stomachick, cardialck, splenetick, and hysterick. It cures wounds made by venomous beasts: the Essence drunk with Canary, helps such as have taken too much Opium: it helps Dropsies, old Coughs, Asthma, Scabs, Itch, Scurvy, and Yellow-Jaundice: it loosens the belly, purges choler, opens the Spleen, helps against vomiting; strengthens the heart, and is the Antidote

463. Ornithogalum: Ορνιθόγαλον, Bethlem-star, temperate: It is not much used in Physick, but the Root serves for meat or food: being roasted in Embers, mixt with honey, and applied, it helps Phagedens, and dissolves hard tumors.

464. Ornithopodium: Πεδύδαλον, Ορνιθοπόδιον. Pes avis, Birds-foot, cold and dry in 10. It is traumatick, vulnerary, and lithentriprick: Bauhin says, the tuberous or knotted Birds-foot helps Ruptures, breaks the Stone in the Reins, and expels it.

465. Grabanche, Radix Squamata, Οροβόρυχον Tooth-wort; it is Pectoral, Traumatick and Vulnerary; is good against all infections of the Lungs, wounds in the Intralls and the Termina. Bauhin saith, That applied it helps Fractures and Ruptures, more especially if ʒij. of the powder, mixt with ʒj. of Comfrey-roots in powder, be drunk in both for 40 days together. Clusius says, That with berries is sharp and drying, and the decoction of the root helps the Colick. Nylius says they are both hot and dry (I judge in the 10.) and are used in vulnerary potions: The root is chiefly in use.

466. Orobis, Οροβίς, Bitter Vetch, hot in 10. dry in 2°. It is bitter, cleansing, cutting, opening, and diuretick: if too much used, it brings away blood by urine: with honey it is pectoral, and purgeth forth gross humors from the Lungs: the best is the yellow, being earthy, drying, and without manifest heat; it causeth head-ach, and troubles the belly:

467. Oryza, Αρζα, Arzi, Ορυζα, οριζο. Rice; temperate and dry in 2°. See the Grain, chap. 7.

468. Oxyacanthus, Spina acuta & alba, Oxyacanthus, Οξυάκανθος, Hawthorn, cold in the 10. dry in 30. the leaves are drying, astringent, vulnerary, and stop all sorts of fluxes. See the Fruit, ch. 6. the Flowers steeped three days in Rhenish-wine and distilled, that water or spirit is a specifick in the Pleurisie, the Colick, and all other grievous pains, even in a moment.

469. Paonia, Dulcisida, Aglaophotis, Alorogonion, Γαυροσίδη ή αλώρα, Peony. It is hot and dry in 2°: is male and female: the male has blackish bright leaves, like the Wall-nut, with a thick, white Root, and manifold: the female has leaves on both sides green and smooth, a rough stalk, a full single flower, and like the hellebore in leaves, the root having about 6, 7, or 8 long knobs cleaving to it, but not so many as the male. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 102. The leaves are seldom used, though I know no reason why they should not contain a proportional part of virtue: the Flowers, See Chap. 5. the Seed, chap. 7. of the Root is made a Fecula.

470. Palma, Φείβε, Date-tree, cold and dry in 1°. The leaves and tender sprigs dry and bind much, are Vulnerary, and cool inflammations: eaten they refresh the Stomach. See the Fruit, chap. 6. which is called Dactylus.

471. Palmula, Chamæriphe, wild Date-tree, cold and moist in 1°. The Fruit, taken as meat, is windy, and creates raw humours: it is good pickled, or eaten with pepper and salt.

472. Palma Christi, Ricinus, Cataputia major, Pentadactylon, $\alpha\lambda\lambda\eta\lambda\alpha$ $\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\tau\alpha\upsilon\tau\alpha$, Great Spurge, hot and dry in 30. The Seed taken inwardly is Emetick, and loosens the belly, purging forth choler, flegm, and watery humours strongly: the decoction thereof helps the Dropsie, Jaundice, Sciatica, Gout and Colick. The Oyl of the Seed is called Oleum de Kerva, or Oyl of the infernal Fig. It is drawn by expression. is cosmetick, warms, and takes away hardness. You may give the Seeds in substance to N^o. 10, or 12. The Ricinus Americanus has the virtues of the former, and purges strongly upwards and downwards: the dose is half a Kernel.

473. Paliurus, Jews-thorn. It is drying & binding, stops fluxes.

474. Panacea Indica, Indian-all-heal; it is traumattick and vulnerary, curing almost all diseases: the juyce rubbed upon the Arteries causes sweat.

475. Panax, Πανάξ, All-heal, hot and dry in 30. The Essence is a great traumattick, and vulnerary: mixed with honey like an Unguent, it cures Ulcers and Wounds, and covereth naked bores: the Seed is alexipharmick, and is good against the biting of venomous Beasts.

476. Panax Coloni, Stachys Palustris, Clowns all-heal, hot in 20, dry in 10, it has all the virtues of the former.

477. Panax Hirculeus, Bastard All-heal; This is that plant from whose root, being cut, flows the Gum called Opopanax, which see in its proper place.

478. Paludapianum, Apium rusticum, Eleoselinum, $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\lambda\iota\upsilon\omicron\nu$, Smallage, hot and dry in 20. the Essence thereof cleanses, opens, attenuates, discusses; it is traumattick, vulnerary, diuretick, lithontripectick, and antifebrictick. It heals old and malignant sores and Ulcers, helps the yellow Jaundice, long, tedious Agues, Ulcers in the mouth and throat, exulcerated cankers, the bitings of Spiders, whitloes, &c. The Seed breaks the Stone.

479. Panicum, Meline, $\epsilon\lambda\upsilon\mu\omicron\upsilon$ $\mu\epsilon\lambda\iota\upsilon\epsilon$, Panick, cold and dry in 10, the bread that is made thereof is brittle, cold, dry, and of little nourishment, not so good as that made of Barly: The grain boiled in Goats milk, and drunk twice a day, cools & dries much: for petty Panick, see Phalaris following, sest. 504.

480. Papaver sativum, Μίανον, Garden-poppy, cold in 40, moist in the 20. It is Narcotick, hypnotick, and Pectoral: It stops Rheums, and all manner of Fluxes; it is good against vomiting, hoarseness, coughs, and consumptions; it eases pain; and outwardly, the juyce mixt with honey cleanseth Ulcers, and digests green Wounds, See the Flowers chap. 5. and the Seeds chap. 7. See the Syrups in our Dor. Med. l. 2. chap. 16. sest. 17.

481. Papaver Erraticum, Ποιάν, Wild Poppy, or Corn-rose: It has the temperature and virtues of the former, but more effectual to the intentions; it is used in Feavers, Pleurisies (against which it is a specifick) Quinsies, mother-tis, and diseases of the Breast; it cools violently, and causeth sleep, and alleviates pain. A tincture of the Flowers in spirit of Wine, stops the Flux of the Terms. See the Flowers, chap. 5. and Seed chap. 7.

482. Papaver Spumens, Ocymastrum alterum, Μακρὸν Πάπινον, Spatling Poppy; cold and dry in 2°. Some think this to be the Behen album, but it is a mistake. The Root is good against the Bloody-Flux, and other Lasks, yet provokes Urine, helps the Stranguria, Sciatica, and pains about the Neck: The leaves and flowers beaten and applied, are good against the stinging of venomous Beasts; the distilled water helps the Megrim: the Seed taken ʒij. at a time, purges flegm, and taken in Mead or honied water, it causes Vomit, and is especial good for such as are troubled with the falling-sickness.

483. Papyrus, Πάπυρος, Paper-reed, hot and dry in 2°. It is also called Papyrus Nilotica, because it chiefly grows upon the Banks of Nilus. The Roots being chewed do nourish: the ashes abate hard Aposthumes in the body, and heal corrosive Ulcers; chiefly in the mouth; so also the ashes of the Paper made thereof.

484. Parietaria, Herba muralis, Παλιήνη Περσινάριον, Pellitory of the Wall, cold and moist in 1°. It is emollient, cleansing, opening and Diuretick; it opens all obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Gall, Reins, Bladder and Womb. It is Pectoral and Traumatick, curing Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Dropsie, Dysury, Gravel and Stone. The Essence is good to all the intentions aforesaid. Outwardly it is used in wounds, burns, scalds, tumours, ulcers, and Erysipelas; made into a Balsam with Goats suet, it is prevalent against the Gout and Piles.

485. Paronychia, Reduvia, Παρανυχία, Whitlock-grass, hot and dry in 3°. It is of thin parts, not without heat and sharpness; it cures the whitlow upon the fingers ends, being an excellent Digestive: And Experience has confirm'd it to be a great Specifick in curing of the Kings Evil, being given only in Small-beer, not very many days together; it wasts the peccant humour, dissolves the unbroken tumours, and heals the broken ones. See Boyl's Philosophy, pag. 203.

486. Pastinaca latifolia sativa, Elaphoboscum sativum, Ἐλαφοβόσκον, Garden-parsnips; temperate. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 99. For the Cow or wild Parsnip; see Sphandylium, following.

487. Pastinaca tenuifolia, Σταρουλίον, Garden-Carrot, temperate and moist in 1°. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 98.

488. Pastinaca tenuifolia sylvestris, Σταρουλίον ἀγρίον, Wild-Carrots, hot and dry in 2°. Both Root and Seed open obstructions, provoke Urine, and the Terms, expel the Birth, Water, and Wind, help the Dropsie, Colick, Fits of the Mother, and bitings of venomous Beasts; they provoke Lust, and help Conception. The wild Carrot of Cardia is called Daucus, which see sect. 110. aforesgoing.

489. Pastinaca Aquatica, Sium, Σίον, Water-Parsnip; hot in 2°. moist in 1°. It digests, opens, provokes Urine, and the Terms, expels Stone, Gravel, and Birth; the Essence Essence helps the Palsie, and causeth Lust.

490. Pepo, Pepo cucumeralis, Σικυωρ, πένωρ, Pompion, cold in 2°. moist in 2°. The Pulp of the Fruit is cleansing and diuretick; being boiled it loosens the body; boiled in Milk and buttered, it is wholesome, and helps a hot stomach, and inflammations of the Bowels; so also sliced and fried with Butter: but baked with Apples is flatulent or windy: the raw Pulp applied helps inflammations of the Eyes.

491. Pepo Sylvestris, wild Pompion, hot and dry in 2°. It is bitter, and cleanseth as the wild Cucumber doth. Wind put into the Rind, and kept there till it is bitter, purges forth flegm and choler: the dried Juice is like that of the wild Cucumber, and may be used instead of Elatarium.

492. Perceper, Parsley Stone-break, hot and dry in 2°. It is of very subtile parts, a great Diuretick and Lithonriptick: it cleanses the Kidnies and Bladder of Stone and Gravel. Mylius saith, the Decoction of the Root causes vomiting, and stops the Belly.

493. Perfoliata, Perfoliatum, Διαφυλλορ, Thorow-wax, hot and dry in 2°. It is a good Traumatick and Vulnerary; the Essence given inwardly in Rhenish wine, and outwardly made into a Balsam: it is chiefly used in Wounds, Hernia's, Tumours of the Joints, hot inflammations, and the Kings-Evil.

494. Perichlymenum, Caprifolium, Μαρτυρίδα; Ποικυδάχουρ, ηγοπεριπλάκας, Woodbind, or Honey-Suckles, hot and dry in 1°.

It is a strong Diuretick, Splenetick and Pectoral: It cures Coughs, Asthma's, and Ulcers of the Lungs: outwardly it is a good Vulnerary: See the Flowers, Chap. 5.

495. Periscaria, Hydropiper, ὑδροπικρία, Arsmart, hot and biting; hot and dry in 4°. It is an excellent Vulnerary, and externally in a Cataplasm it dissolves Tumours, and heals Ulcers; dissolving cold swellings and congealed Blood: The simple distilled water is accounted one of the most excellent things in the World to break, dissolve, and bring away the Stone, and is by several persons of Quality kept as a very great secret; applied to the Tumour called a Fellon on the Fingers ends, as also to the Gout, helps the pain presently; and a little of it put under the Saddle of a tired Horse, makes him travel fresh and lustily again.

496. Periscaria maculata, Plumbago, spotted Arsmart, or wild Arsmart, cold and dry in 2°. It kills Worms, and is excellent good to heal Wounds and putrefied Ulcers.

497. Periscaria siliquosa, Codd, Arsmart: It has the Temperature and Vertues of the Hydropiper.

498. Pes Asferinus, Atriplex sylvestris, latifolia, Chenopodium, Goose-foot (called by some wild Arach) cold and moist in 2°. It is held to be deadly, being taken inwardly, and operates as Garden Night-shade: It is reported, that it will kill Swine if they eat it.

499. Petasitis, Percolata Plinii, Iphium Theophrasti, πετασίτης, φειον, Butter-bur, hot and dry in 2°. It is Sudorifick, Alexipharmick, Diurètick and Emmenogogick: It is bitter and of thin parts; it attenuates, opens, digests, expels Wind, Plague, and Pestilence, helps fits of the Mother, is Pectoral, and expels tartarous Mucilage from the Lungs: it is a good Antifebritick, and being outwardly applied, is good against Buboes and malignant Ulcers: It has the same Virtues and properties with Costus.

500. Petroselinum, μελοσέλινον, Stone Parsly, hot and dry in 2°. It attenuates, opens, dissolves, cleanses; is Diuretick, Lichontriprick, Pectoral, Hepatick, and Uterine. It opens all Obstructions of the Lungs, Liver, Spleen, Gall, Reins, Bladder and Womb; expels Wind, Gravel, Stone, and provokes the Terms; helps Asthma's, Ulcers in the Lungs, and spitting of Blood. Outwardly it dries up Milk in Womens Breasts, and discusses hot Tumors.

501. Petroselinum Macedonicum, Macedonian Stone-Parsly, hot and dry in 3°. It has all the virtues of the former, for which it is more powerful: It helps the Colick, Tormina, pain in the sides, Kidnies and Bladder, and is an excellent Counter-poyson; it provokes sweat, and expels the Plague.

502. Peucedanum, Hogs Fenel or Sulphur wort, hot and dry in 2°. It washes the Spleen, cuts digests, and attenuates; the Root is chiefly in use, which see Chap. 1. Sect. 250. Besides which Virtues it has a specifick property in the cure of Dropsies, being given ʒi. at a time in Rhenish Wine: See our Dor. Med. Lib. 1. Cap. 1. Sect. 7.

503. Phalangium, Phalangites, φαλαγγιον, Spider-wort, hot in 20. dry in 1°. It is of thin parts, and Alexipharmick, i.e. the whole Plant, Roots, Leaves, Flowers, and Seed: the Roots are so powerful, that they expel Poyson, though it be universally spread through the whole Body.

504. Phalaxis, Petty Panick: It is of the temperature and nature of Millet; the Juice and grain are good against pains of the Bladder: It is wonderful drying and styptick.

505. Phaseolus, Kidney-Bean, Temperate: The Bean is of good nourishment, is less windy, and loosens the Belly more than Pease; of the Straw, a Salt is made which expels Urine, opens the Reins, and is very effectual against the Dropsie.

506. Phillyrea, Alcaena Arabum, φιλύρεα, Mock-Privet: It is drying and binding; the leaves chewed in the mouth, help Inflammations and Ulcers thereof. The Essence helps burns and scalds: The Flowers moistned with Vinegar and applied help the Head-ach. The Oyl hereof is sweet (like Walcaleb) and heats and softens the Nerves.

507. Picea, Abies Mas, πίτρυς, Pitch-Tree: It is of the nature and temperature of the Fir-Tree. See the Tar in Chap. 8. following.

508. Pimpinella, Bipinella, Σαν-εμ- gnisforbi, πικτινελος, Burnet, temperate and dry in 1^o. It is Segnotick, Pectoral, Traumatick, Vulnerary, and Alexipharmick: It stops the bloody Flux, and all Lasks, the Terms and Fluxes of blood in Women. It stops Catarrhs, cures Consumptions, exhilarates the spirits, and helps the trembling of the heart. It is good against the Plague and malignant Feavers; prevents abortion, and is of a pleasant taste.

509. Pimpinella saxifraga, Burnet, Saxifrage, hot and dry in 3^o. It is of thin and subtle parts, Sudorifick, Lithontriprick, Traumatick, Vulnerary, Pectoral, Carminative and Deobstruative. It is chiefly used to prevent and cure poisons, whether actual, as Mercury, Orpiment, Solanum, Hyosciamus, Aconitum, Thora; or Potential, as the Plague, pestilential Feavers, small Pox, French Pox, &c. It breaks, dissolves, and expels the Stone and Gravel, helps the Strangury, Ischuria, Colick, Coughs, Asthma's, Ulcers in the Lungs: and outwardly is Cosmetick, heals Wounds and Ulcers, ripens Tumors and Cancers, and cures the Tooth-ach.

510. Pinus, πεύκη, Pine-tree: It has the Temperature and Vertues of the Fir or Pitch-tree. A distilled water of the green buds is Cosmetick, and takes away wrinkles from the face; and laid on Virgins Breasts with Linnen Cloths, keeps them from waxing large. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

511. Pinaster, Pinus sylvestris, Wild Pine; temperate and dry in 2^o. It astringes, and has the Vertues of the former. The Oyl of the Wood (called Oleum Templinum) cures the Itch, and consumes Warts after they are cut.

512. Pinguicula, Consolida Quinquifolia, Diapensia, διαπενσία, Butterwort, hot and dry in 3^o. It is of thin and subtle parts, cures, opens, discusses, is Alexipharmick, Diuretick, Cathartick, and Vulnerary. It heals Ruptures in Children, and helps hands chapt by the wind: A Syrup made of it (as of Roses) purges well; and being put into a broath, purgeth Flegm effectually.

522. Piper, τέπερ, Pepper, hot and dry in 4^o. It is a Plant which grows about trees like Bindweed. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

514. Piperitis, Δεπιδίτις, Dittander or Pepper-wort, hot and dry in 4^o. It is bitter, and of a burning quality, raising Blisters by its heat. It helps Gouts, Sciatica, and other inveterate griefs of the Joints, being bruised (Leaves or Roots) and mixed with old Axungia, and applied. The juice drank in Ale or Rhenish Wine, provoketh the Terms, and causes speedy delivery to Women in Travel: It is an excellent Sawce for cold Stomachs, eases the Tooth ach and pains of the Spleen, and is indeed one of the greatest Cosmeticks.

515. Pisum, Cicer, πίζον κ' λικυθος ή λεκυθος, Pease See Cicer Sect. 161. and Chap. 6.

516. Plantago, Heptaneuron, Multinerva, Ἀργυλασσον, Plantain, cold and dry in 2^o. It is Stomartick, Hepatick, and Vulnerary; it cures old Ulcers, Issues, Rheums, the bloody Flux, and all manner of Fluxes, stops vomiting, and strengthens the Stomach: It stops the Terms and Whites, opens Obstructions of the Liver and Kidneys, and heals Ulcers, and soreness of the mouth and Privy parts. It cures the Jaundice; and the juice dropt into the Ears helps their pains. It is good against spitting of blood, Diarrhœas, and Diabetes. It restores luxations and broken bones, and applied cures Cancers in the Breast.

417. Platanus, πλάτανος, Σεννιά, Plane-tree, cold and moist in 10. The Essence of the Leaves helps watering Eyes, Phlegmons, and other hot swellings and inflammations, being resolute and repercussive: the Bark boyled in Vinegar helps the Tooth-ach: and the ashes thereof helps scurf and moist Ulcers: the fruit is Alexipharmick, and helps the biting of mad Dogs, and other venomous Beasts; in a Balsam it helps burns and scalds.

518. Plumbago Plinii, Molybdæna, Lead-wort: hot and dry in 4°. The Leaves applied (as Sciatica-crests) with Hogs lard, helps the Sciatica, and other inveterate pains: some say, being only held in hand, they ease the Tooth-ach; the Essence is Cosmectick, and causes speedy delivery to women in travail. Authors say, the Herb is caustick.

519. Pneumonanthe, Campanula vel viola autumnalis, Calathian Violet, hot and dry in 2°. It cures the Rickets, and helps such as are lame in their Joints, and wearied by travel: it cures stiches in the sides, and helps all manner of Agues: as a Pessary, it draws forth the dead Child: the Essence is Traumatick and Vulnerary; it has all the Vertues of Gentian, (which see Chap. 1. Sect. 73.) but weaker: the Root is chiefly used.

520. Polemium, Κντισός, Shrubby Trefoil, hot and dry in 2°. It is sharp and biting, is good against the stinging of Serpents, and opens the oppilation of the Liver and Spleen: the Root drunk in Rhenish wine helps the bloody Flux, provokes Urine, expels Gravel, and helps the Sciatica.

521. Polium, Polium montanum, Πάρον, Poley Mountain hot and dry in 3°. It is Diuretick, Lithontriprick, Alexipharmick, and Emmenogogick: it helps the Dropfie, yellow Jaundice, pains and obstructions of the Spleen, bitings of venomous Beasts, opens and loosens the Bowels, expels the dead Child and Secundine, and is Vulnerary.

522. Polygala, Flos Crucis Gefneri, Πολύγαλον, Milkwort, hot and dry in 2°. A handful of it steeped all night in Rhenish wine and drank in the morning, effectually purges Choler: It is a kind of Glauc, and has the same Vertues; which see Sect. 281. foregoing.

523. Polygonatum, Scala cœli, Sigillum Solomonis, Πολύγωνον, Solomon's Seal, hot in 2°. dry in 3°. It is eminent against the Whites in Women: The Berries (No. 15.) or the Roots and Leaves 3j. purge mucilaginous Flegm, upwards and downwards: Outwardly it is a Cosmectick: See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 112.

524. Polygonum, Centummodia, Corrigiola, Πολύγονον, Knotgrass, cold and dry in 2°. It is atringent, in-draffing and Vulnerary; it stops all Fluxes, Diarrhoeas's, Dysenteries, Terms, Whites, Vomiting, and bleeding at Nose: helps spitting of Blood, Gonorrhoeas's, and weakness of the back.

525. Polypodium, Polypodium quercinum, filix quercina, $\pi\tau\epsilon\rho\iota\omicron\nu\ \delta\upsilon\delta\omicron$, Polypody of the Oak: See chap. 1. sect. 111.

526. Pomum amoris, Love-Apples, cold and moist in 20. They are eaten in hot Countries as Sauce, being boiled, and then seasoned with Pepper, Salt and Oyl.

527. Populus, $\lambda\delta\upsilon\nu$, $\delta\gamma\epsilon\alpha\phi$, Poplar or Aspen-tree, white and black, cold and moist in 10. The bark of the white Poplar is chiefly used (inwardly) in the Sciatica and Stranguria; and in an Oynment it helps burns: The Leaves taken inwardly, cause barrenness: their juyce dropt into the Ears, helps their pain. The Buds or Seeds of the black Poplar are emollient, attenuating and anodyne. An Unguent or Cataplasim made of the Leaves and young Buds with May-Butter, helps the Gout: the Gum of the black Poplar is hot and dry in 20. not used.

528. Porrus, $\pi\epsilon\pi\alpha\tau\omicron\nu$, Leeks, hot and dry in 40. They are Pectoral, being eaten boiled: so also this Lohoch. R. Juyc of Liquortree ζij . soft Baellium ζB . Sugar Candy ζij . dissolved in the Juyc of Leeks ζiiij . Juyc of Celandine ζi . mix. and boil all to the thickness of new Honey: It heals Ulcers of the Lungs, and spitting of blood. The simple Juyc with Honey made into a Lohoch and taken inwardly, is good against the bitings of venomous Beasts, and outwardly applied heals burns; dropt into the Ears, it helps Imposthumes, noise and pain there: Leeks baked and eaten, help hoarsness, and the surfeit of Musthrooms; and the green Blades boiled and applied as a Cataplasim warm, help the Piles; the juyc with juyc of Parsly, drunk, causeth present delivery to Women in travail: the Seed provokes Urine; and mixt with like quantity of Powder of Myrtle-Berries, cures the Hemoptysis of long continuance. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 113.

529. Portulaca, $\alpha\nu\delta\epsilon\iota\chi\upsilon\nu$, $\alpha\pi\epsilon\mu\chi\upsilon\nu$, Purslain, cold in 30. moist in 20. In Sallets, with Oyl, Salt, Pepper and Vinegar; it cools an hot Stomach, and causeth appetite; so also pickled like small Cucumbers, or made into a conserve with Sugar. It is chiefly used in malignant Feavers, heat of Urine, and the Scurvy: It cools all the inward parts, eases pain in a Gonorrhoea, causes sleep, helps spitting of blood, and abates Lust: it helps Coughs, Vomiting, and the Pilsick, and is a certain cure for Consumptions: outwardly and inwardly us'd it helps the Gout: you may use the Essence to all the purposes aforesaid; injected with a Syringe, it helps Inflammations of the Matrix.

530. Portulaca sylvestris, Alfene rotundifolia, wild Purslane, cold in 30. moist in 10. It has the virtues of the former.

531. Potamogeton, Fontalis, Spicata, $\pi\tau\epsilon\mu\alpha\gamma\alpha\tau\alpha\nu$, Pond-Weed, cold in 20. moist in 10. The Essence sence drunk in Wine, helps the Dysenteria, Torm na, Colick, Gout, Feavers, Inflammations and faintings of the heart: Outwardly it is Vulnerary, heals old sores, eating Ulcers, and Itch; dissolves knots, and takes away freckles.

532. Primula Veris, verbosum, Δαισος, Primrose, hot and dry in 10. It is Segnotick, Anodyne, Traumatick, Vulnerary, Cephalick, Arthritick, and Pectoral. It is used chiefly in Palsies, Apoplexies, Convulsions, Epilepsies and Gouts, and is eminent in all Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, it dissolves all tartarous Diseases of the Nerves, and is of great force in curing of the Kings Evil, and Tumors of the Amygdala's, Uvula, and Tonsille: the juyce of the root, as an Errhine, purges the Brain, and helps the Megrim; and given in Wine, or the powder of the Root ʒj. at a time purges choler strongly by Vomit, as also warrieth and flegmatick humors. The Essence of the Leaves and Flowers cures the Frensie. The infusion of the Root in Vinegar, snuff up the Nose, cures the Tooth-ach wonderfully. Schroder.

533. Primula Veris pratensis, Primula pratensis inodora, Oxlip (the pale colour'd Cowslip) Temperate and dry in 10. It is called by some the Herb of Saint Peter, but I know not for what reason. A Conserve of the Flowers with fine Sugar is good against Epilepsies, Palsies, Convulsions, and other Cephalick Diseases. It has the vertues of the Cowslip and Primrose, but scarcely so effectual. See Herb. Para- lisi, sect. 299. and sect. 532. aforegoing.

534. Prunella, Solidago, vel consolidamini, Symphytum, Petræum, Self-heal, hot and dry in 10. It is Segnotick, Traumatick and Vulnerary. The Essence hereof taken inwardly causes all wounds inwardly and outwardly to heal: It operates as Bugle, Comfrey, and other Vulneraries: it is a great pectoral, and dissolves congealed Blood. It makes a good Gargarism in Quinsie, Sores and Ulcers of the Mouth and Jaws: a Cataplasim of the Herb ripens Plague-sores, and consolidates broken Bones. Crollius says, That the dried Root rubb'd upon an aching Tooth and Gum, till it fetches Blood, and then put into a pierc'd Willow, stopping up the whole with a peg of the same Tree, cures the pain by a magnetick power.

535. Prunus, Κορυμβία, Plum-tree, the Fruit Κορυμβία, Prunum, Prune or Damson, which see Chap. 6.) the Leaves of the Tree in a Gargarism with Rhenish-wine stop defluxions, and help swellings of the Jaws, Amygdala's, Uvula, Throat and Gums. The Gum is Glutinative, and drunk in Wine, is said to dissolve the Stone.

536. Prunus Sylvestris, Scintus niger, Άγριο κύμιν, Sloebush, or black Thorn: The leaves are cold and dry in 10. binding and stiptick, and stop all Fluxes. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

537. Prunellus, Bull'-ices-tree: Plum-trees are of divers sorts, bearing fruit of various Colours, Figures, Magnitudes and Tastes. Damask Prunes or Damascens, are most used in Shops, and are accounted counted the best; they are brought from Syria dried to Venice, and from thence to us: But some come from Hungaria, and some from Moravia. The Pulp of the Sloe is called Acacia, and is sold in Shops by that name: but the Acacia vera of the Antients is the juyce of the fruit of an Egyptian Thorn. The Prunella or Pruneola, which our Grocers call Prunella's, are the Fruit of the Bullice-tree; those which are sold in the Shops come from Brignola in France, being first ston'd and dry'd, and then sent hither. In England this kind of Plum grows not so big as those which are sold to us; but our English Pear-Plum (so order'd) fully answers it. See the Fruit, Chap. 6. For my part, of all four Plums, I esteem the Prunella the best, then the Prune: of those which grow in England, the Pear-Plum, and Bully, then the Damason.

538. Pseudocytisus, ΨΑΔΟΝΥΤ-ος, Bastard milk, Trefoil, it has the temperature and virtues of Cytisus or Trifolium arborescens, which see Sect. 204. foregoing.

539. Pseudonarcissus, ΨΑΔΟΝΑΡΚΙΣ-σος, Bastard-Daffodil; the temperature and virtues are the same with Narcissus.

540. Pseudosilium Caucalis, ΨΑΔΟΣΕΛΙΟ, Bastard Parsly, hot and dry in 20. It is a good Pot-herb, and provokes Urine; it dissolves and expels the Stone, opens the stoppages of the Liver, Spleen and Reins; it comforts the Stomach, expels Wind, refreshes the Spirits, quickens the Sight, causeth Venery, cuts, concocts and digests raw humors; it has all the virtues of Apium or Parsly, which see in sect. 48. foregoing.

541. Psyllium, Palicaria, ΨΥΛ-ΛΙΟΝ, Flea-wort, cold in 2. and temperate. See the Seed, chap. 7.

542. Plarmica, Sternutamenta, Draco sylvestris, ΠΤΑΡΙΝΗ, Sneeze-wort, hot and dry in 30. The Juyce mixt with Vinegar and held in the mouth, helps the Tooth-ach: The Herb is of the nature of Pyrethrum (which see below:) being chewed and held in the mouth it is an Apopplegmatisim, purges the head and brain of flegm, and as an Errhine helps the Head-ach, provoking Sneezing by its sharpness: It cures Dropsies, Quartan Agues, is Diuretick, Hydrotick, Anodyne, and Cosmetick.

543. Peulegium Puleium, ΠΑ-
ΥΛΟΝ ή ΒΛΗΚΟΝ, Penny-royal, hot and dry in 30. It is of thin subtil parts, sharp and bitterish; it attenuates, opens, cuts, dissolves, is Diuretick, Lithontriprick, Emmenogogick, Hydrotick, Alexipharmick, Analectick, and Anodyne. It is Cephalick, Pectoral, Uterine and Nephritick: It provokes Urine and the Terms, expels Wind, the dead Child, and Secundine; breaks and expels the Stone, cures the Jaundice and Dropsie; eases pains of the Colick, causes expectoration, and removes obstructions: Outwardly it eases pains of the Head, and Gout, causes watchfulness, and is Cosmetick. The Chymical Oyl inwardly given, and outwardly applied cures the Falling-sickness, Palsies, pains of the Head, Megrim, Lithargy, &c.

544. Pulmonaria, $\Delta\iota\chi\nu\nu$, Lungwort, cold and dry in 10. It cures Diseases of the Lungs, spitting of blood, Consumptions, and all Fluxes of Choler, It is Traumatick and Vulnerary, heals green Wounds, old Ulcers, Coughs, &c.

545. Pulmonaria aurea, Corchorus Dalechampii, Golden Lungwort, temperate and dry in 10. It is of the nature of the former.

546. Pulmonaria arborea, Tree-Lungwort or Moss, cold and dry in 10. It grows on Trees and Rocks. It binds very much, strengthens the Stomach, stays Vomiting, and stops all Fluxes, with the Whites in Women; besides which, it has the virtues of the former.

547. Pasatilla, Apium risus, Pasque-flower, hot and dry in 40. It bites extremely, and excoriates, being taken by some for a kind of Ranunculus, or Crow-foot, to which it is not inferior. It attenuates, attracts, digests, purges, and is caustick; Unzerus says, it is good against Plague and Poyson; being chewed in the mouth, it draws out flegm and water. Some take Apium risus for Ranunculus Aquaticus, which see in what follows: but which soever it be, provided we mistake not the one for the other, 'tis not much material.

548. Pyrethrum, Pellitory of Spain, hot and dry in 40. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 114.

549. Pyrola, Limonium Cordi, $\mu\upsilon\phi\omicron\lambda\alpha$, Winter-green, cold in 20. dry in 30. It is a most singular Wound-Herb, used both internally and externally: made into a Balsom with Wax, Oyl, and Turpentine, it heals wounds, cleanses Ulcers and Fistula's from callous matter, kills Cancers, incarnates and heals. Inwardly it is Traumatick, and heals Ulcers in the Kidneys and Bladder.

550. Pyrus, $\text{A}\tau\iota\omicron\varsigma, \delta\chi\gamma\omicron\varsigma, \kappa\iota\omicron\chi\tau\tau$, Pear-tree; the leaves are cold and dry in 10. and stop fluxes. See the Fruit, chap. 6.

551. Pyraſter, wild Pear-tree; both leaves and fruit have the same temperature and virtues with the former: of all the Garden-Pears, the Katherine, Burgundy, Royal, Windsor, and Warden-Pears, are counted best.

552. Quercus, Robur, $\text{Q}\upsilon\epsilon\text{r}\text{c}\text{u}\text{s}$, $\Delta\phi\omicron\varsigma$, Oak-tree, cold in 10, dry in 30 (The Cup is called Capula, the Fruit Glands.) The leaves and bark are drying and binding, they stop fluxes of the Belly, Womb and Seed: They stop the Terms, Whites, spitting of Blood, and Gonorrhoea; the Salt is Diuretick and Lithontripick: the Wood is of like use and virtues with Guaiacum. See the Fruit, chap. 6.

553. Quinquesfolium, Pentaphyllum, $\pi\epsilon\text{ν}\tau\alpha\phi\upsilon\lambda\lambda\omicron\nu\mu$, Cinquefoyl, five-leav'd Grass. The Herb has the virtues of the Root; which see chap. 1. sect. 103. Outwardly, the Juyce dropt into the Eyes, cools their inflammations, heals sore mouths, fastens loose Teeth, cleanseth foul and malignant Ulcers.

554. Quinquenervia, Plantago minor, Lanceola, $\pi\epsilon\text{ν}\delta\upsilon\delta\alpha\pi\omicron\varsigma$, Ribwort, or the lesser Plantane. It is cold and dry in 20. It is Segnosick, Anodyne, Traumatick, and Vul-

Vulnerary, being altogether of the nature of the other Plantane. The distilled water helps spitting and pissing blood, and the Pissick; stops the Courses, eases the Colick, and heals a Dysenteria; cools inflammations, dissolves Nodes, and mundifies Fistula's: The Essence is better.

555. Ranunculus Batrachion, Crowfoot, hot and dry in 4°. Roots, Leaves, and Flowers, are biting and exulcerating, they raise blisters, remove excrescencies, ease the Tooth-ach, and provoke the Terms: stamped with Salt and applied, they help Plague-sores, extracting the Venom to themselves: with Vinegar it is a good Cosmetick.

556. Ranunculus Aquaticus, Water-Crowfoot. It has the Temperature and Vertues of the former; in both of which the root is chiefly used. Some take this to be Apium risus, it is doubtful; yet I rather incline to believe, that Pulsatilla is the true Plant so called.

557. Raphanus, Πάραρον or ῥάβδον, Radish, hot in 3°, dry in 2°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 116.

558. Raphanus Sylvestris, Horse-Radish, hot and dry in 3°. It has the vertues of the former, but is a Specifick against the Scurvy, Stone, and Terms stopt: Outwardly the Juice mixt with Ol. piperis, and anointed on the backbone, and laid to the Pulsēs with common salt, it cures tertian and quartan Agues.

559. Raphanus Marinus, water Radish, hot and dry in 3°. It has all the vertues of the Horse-Radish.

560. Rapistrum, Lampsa Μαθηολι, Λαμλίσσιν, Charlock, or Chadlock, hot and dry in 3°. The Seed is of the nature of Mustard-seed, it is absterfive, digestive, carminative; and warms the stomach.

561. Rapum, Rapa, Γογγυλιν, γαστήρ, Λεβίτες, Turnep, hot in 2°, dry in 1°. The tender tops boyled, and eaten as a Saller, provoke Urine: A Decoction of the Roots drank for 15 days together, cures Quartans: See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 115.

562. Rha, Rhaponticum, Pontick Rhubarb, hot in 1°, dry in 2°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 117.

563. Rhabarbarum, Rheubarbarum, Vulgar Rhubarb, hot in 1°, dry in 2°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 118.

564. Rhabarbarum Monachorum, Monks Rhubarb, or Garden-Patience, or Dock. It has the Vertues of the former, but weaker. See Chap. 1. Sect. 119. The decoction of the Root helps the Bloody flux, Lasks of the Belly, and wambling of the Stomach, caused by Choler; cures spitting of Blood, Jaundice, Tympany, &c. R. Of the Roots sliced, Turmericke, ana ℥ss. Sena ℥iiij. Anniseeds, Liquorice bruised, ana ℥ij. Agrimony, Scurvy-grass, ana Mj. steep all in four Gallons of strong Ale the space of three days, then for three weeks use the Liquor as ordinary drink, it cures the Droppe, yellow Jaundice, Scabs, Itch, Mange, Green-sickness, Terms stopt, and purifies the blood.

566. Ra-

556. Raphantium, Rapa Sylvestris, Rampion, cold and dry in 1°. The Roots are Segnorick; and especially used in Sallets, with Oyl, Pepper, Vinegar, and Salt, to help the appetite, cause good digestion, and encrease Milk in Nurses: it takes away Inflammations of Mouth, Throat, and Almonds; and is Cosmetick. See Campanella, Sect. 117. aforegoing.

567. Rhus, Fluida Gaze, Ῥύς, Ῥόζον, Sumach, (the Seed is called Eruthros) cold in 3°, dry in 2°. the Leaves stop all Fluxes of the Belly, Womb, or terms and whites, Hemorrhoids, all issues of blood, and weakness of the Stomach and Intestines. Outwardly, it resists putrefaction, dries up running sores, heals old Ulcers, Gangrenes, &c. The Gum put into the teeth, eases the Tooth-ach. See the Seed, Chap. 7.

568. Ribes, Ceanothus levis, Currans: See the Fruit, chap. 6. the leaves of the tree cool, bind and astringe.

569. Ros Solis, Rosa Solis, Rorella, Sponsa Solis, Sun-dew, hot and dry in the 4°. It is sharp, biting and caustick: the leaves bruised with salt raise blisters and exulcerate. It stirs up lust, provokes the terms, cures Consumptions, Epilepsies, Plague, Tooth-ach, Agues, Catarrhs, Ptyick, Asthma, Cough, Wheeling, Fainting, and weakness of the Stomach: The Essence is good to the purposes afore said; so also the Spirit drawn off in an Alembick with Canary wine. The distilled water drawn off in a Glass-body, is of a glittering yellow, like Gold, and colours Silver of a golden colour if put therein. Outwardly it is good against old Ulcers, and Fistula's: held in the mouth, it cures the Tooth-ach: hung about the neck it cures Madnefs: applied to the pulses six hours, and then put 6 hours into water, and sometimes repeated, it cures Quartans. Tinctura Rosæ Solis. R. Ros. Solis M. iij. Cinnamon, Nutmegs, Mace, Cloves, Ginger, ana ʒj. Musk gr. x. spirit of wine a gallon: digest all 20 days: then decant the Tincture, and dissolve therein fine white Sugar lbj. into which drop oyl of Sassafr ʒss. mix, shake, digest, and keep them for use: This Tincture is effectual to all the former intentions, of which you may give a ʒss. ad ʒj.

570. Rosa, Ῥόζον, Rose-tree. (The Reds are called Anthera, which see, Chap. 5. the whites Unguis) there are several sorts of Roses, of which the deep red, the white, and the damask are chiefly in use; but the Musk or Damask-rose is most famous; the others bind, this only purges.

571. Rosmarinus, Rosmarinum, Ῥοσμάρινον, Ῥοσμάρινον, Rosemary, hot and dry in 3°. It is sharp bitter, cutting, subastringent, cephalick, uterine, cardiack, and alexipharmick. It is a help for most diseases of the Head and Nerves, as head-ach, megrim, carus, lethargy, apoplexy, epilepsie, convulsion, palsey, dimness of sight, &c. It comforts the heart, revives the Spirits, cures a stinking breath, opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, and Womb, cures the Jaundice and Whites in Women. It is good against all Fluxes of blood, cold Rheums, wind, stoppage of Urine, and the

Sect. 5.

572. Rubia, Rubia tinctorum, Ερυθρά Ιαύου, Σχουρίοι, Nicandri Madder; temperate and dry in 2°. it discusses, dissolves, and is Vulnerary: It stops the Terms, hæmorrhoids, and bloody flux; heals wounds of the chest and intrails, bruises, ruptures, and the like; yet provokes Urine, opens obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, and helps the Jaundice. The distilled oyl helps the Epilepsie, Apoplexy, loss of Speech, and Quartans, and swelling of the Spleen.

573. Rubrola, Field-madder; It has the temperature and virtues of the former.

574. Rubus, Rubus Sylvæstris, Sen- tis, Vepres, Batus, Βάτος, Bramble or Black-berry bush, cold in 1°. dry in 3°. the leaves astringe, help Ulcers and inflammations of the Mouth, Throat and Almonds, stop fluxes, whites, terms, gonorrhœa: the juyce of them with honey, alom, and red-wine, fasten loose teeth. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

575. Rubus Idæus, Rapis, Rasp- berry, temperate and dry in 2°. It has the virtues of the former. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

576. Rubus tricoctos, dewber- ry bush. It is a kind of bramble, and of the same temperature and Vertues.

577. Rucus, Bruscus, Scopa re- gia, Centromyrrbine, Οξυμορρίνη, Butchers broom, hot and dry in 1°. It helps the head-ach, yellow Jaundice, opens obstructions, pro- vokes urine and the terms. The Essence with Sugar helps spitting of Blood, a stinking mouth, and cleanses the womb; the young shoots are eaten like Aspa- ragus. See the Root.

578. Ruta, Ἰθάριον, Rue, hot in 3°. dry in 4°. It cures, attenu- ates, digests, discusses, is alexi- pharmick, carminative, diuretick, hysteric, cephalick, and pecto- ral. It roots out the venom of the plague and other poysonous and malignant diseases, and preserves from the same. It expels all man- ner of poyson, helps the biting of mad dogs, stinging of Serpents, and wounds made by other Venomous Beasts. It cures the Pleu- risie, easeth the Colick, takes a- way Surfeits, helps fits of the mo- ther, and provokes Urine and the terms. Outwardly, it helps also the stinging of Adders or Ser- pents, cures Agues by anointing the Back with oyl thereof; Eases the Megrims, head-ach and verti- go, in an Epithem with Salt and Vinegar, and applied to the Pul- ses: taken much inwardly, cor- rupts and consumes the Seed, abates lust, and is hurtful for Women with Child.

579. Ruta muraria, Salviz vite, Wall-rue, temperate; Mathiolus saith, That the Powder of Wall- rue given for 40 days together has a singular vertue in curing Chil- drens Ruptures. It dries, digests, discusses, and cuts the clammy mucilage in the Lungs: it cures coughs, Asthma's, Pleurisie, Spleen pain in the Reins and Bladder; provokes Urine, and breaks the Stone; it easeth pains in the side and the Colick: outwardly, it makes hair grow, cleanses and heals Ulcers, Struma's and other sores. Mathiolus proves that this was the Paronychia of Diocorides, but Dodonæus denies it.

580. Sabina, Satina, Βραδύ
Βραδύ ναί Βραδύ por. Savine, hot and dry in 3°. It is of thin subtil parts, cuts, attenuates, discusses, is diuretick and uterine. It provokes the terms, expels both Birth and after-birth, kills worms, and cures Asthma's. The chymical oyl helps the cold fits of Agues, and performs the things aforesaid. A pessary made hereof with Cresses, and Aristolochia rotunda ana, and Neats Gall, expels the fœtus. The leaves stamped and applied with honey, or the essence thereof, heals Ulcers, stas Phagedens, dries the sore heads of Children, and takes away spots and freckles: The powder of the leaves strewed upon excrescencies sub præputio caused by unclean women, dōes perfectly take them away: but if they be inveterate, you must add a small quantity of white precipitate.

581. Sagittaria, Magopisana, Πι-σάρα, Arrow-head, cold and dry in 2°. It has the vertues of Platain: given in wine it helps all fluxes, spitting of blood, Corrosion of the Guts, Catarrhs, Consump-tions, &c. So the Seed also helps the Dropisie, and falling sickness.

582. Salix, iris, Willow, cold and dry in the 2°. The leaves and bark stop all manner of Fluxes, spitting and pissing of blood, they cool the heat of Feavers: their decoction in a bath helps tabid or Consumptive members: and taken inwardly quenches lust wonderfully: outwardly it stops the bleeding of wounds and an hæmorrhage: so also the buds or Juli being laid on. And Dio-corides saith, That ashes of the bark, cure Warts and Corns, being laid on: the Mistleto growing hereon, causes speedy delivery.

583. Salvia, Sacra herba, Ἑξέρι-σσα, Sage, hot and dry in 2°. It is cephalick, pectoral, cardiack, uterine, alexipharmick, analep-tick, carminative, segnotick, anodyne and diuretick. It quickens the Senses and Memory, strengthens the head, nerves, and joynts, helps Apoplexies, Megrims, Epilepsies, Vertigoes, Pa fies, and Convulsions; cures Pleurisie, and Coughs, spitting of blood, consump-tions, pains of the sides, stinging and biting of Serpents and venomous Beasts; stops vomiting and all manner of fluxes, expels wind; and dries up the dropisie, and makes a good gargle for a sore mouth; and is an especial Antidote against the French Disease: the distilled Oyl or the Essence thereof is good for all the purposes aforesaid. It provokes Urine wonderfully, and brings down the terms. Agrippa saith, That Sage being eaten prevents abortion, cleaves the matrix, and makes fruitful. See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. sect.
 92.

584. Sambucus, Ἄρθο, Elder,
 (the fruit Grana ætis, see it cap.
 6.) temperate and dry in 2°. The whole Elder tree dissolves and cures Dropisies; the leaves purge water much, provoke urine, and help the Strangury, yet trouble the stomach: outwardly the green leaves, stamped and applied with Bulls tallow or Goose-grease, help hot tumours, and the pains of the Gout, discuss swellings, heal scalds and burns, the biting of mad dogs, and glew ulcers. An Essence

Essence made of the leaves purge slimy flegm and choler, is traumatick and vulnerary, opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen and Reins, cures Melancholy, tertian and quartan Agues. See the Bark, chap. 2. sect. 29. the Flowers, chap. 6. sect. 61. the Berries, chap. 6.

585. Santalum, Sandalum, Sav-dore, Sanders, cold in 3°. dry in 2°. See chap. 3. sect. 14. you may distill an oyl from the wood per desensum, very prevalent against the French-Pox.

586. Sanamunda, Heath-purge, hot and dry in 4°. It purges strongly, and evacuates choler, flegm, and watry humors, &c. being given at a time in decoction of Cicers. It is of the nature of other Spurges.

587. Samicula, Diapensia Vulgaris, Sannicle, hot in 2°. dry in 3°. It is bitter, absterfivè, segnotick, and vulnerary. The Essence helps all Fluxes of Blood inward or outward, as spitting and pissing Blood, the bleeding of Wounds. It cures all manner of Wounds, Ulcers, and old Sores; cures Ruptures and exulcerations of the Kidneys: It is pectoral and traumatick, consolidates, and heals, stops Womens courses, and a Gonorrhœa; the most excellent of all Wound-herbs.

588. Saponaria, Strea Stior, Soapwort, hot and dry in 2°. It opens and attenuates strongly, and is sudorifick, and abates the inflammations of green wounds: &c. of the Seed in Powder drunk once a month, helps the Epilepsie; See chap. 1. sect. 122.

589. Sarsaparilla, Stimulax aspera,

Zarxaparilla, Salsaparilla, prickly Bindweed. See chap. 1. sect. 123.

590. Sassafras, Ague tree; the Wood is hot and dry in 2°. the Bark in 3°. See chap. 2. sect. 30. and chap. 3. sect. 15. It is a great Tree growing in Florida (with a leaf like a Fig-tree) of an Aromatick smell and taste. The Bark is the best, especially if it comes from the Root; you may distill an Aromatick Oyl from the Bark and Wood in an earthen Retort; but by a Vesica with water, it will be much more pleasant and sweet; which Oyl not only helps barrenness, but is prevalent to all intentions they are used for.

591. Satureia, Dupa egu x, 900. Ceda, Thymbra, Savory, hot and dry in 3°. It attenuates, cutteth, cleanseth and discasseth, opens obstructions of the Stomach, Spleen and Womb, is Pectoral, Carminative, Alexipharmick and Sudorifick: It expels Wind, removes crudities, helps want of Appetite; suffocation of the Womb; provokes Urine and the Terms; and has the same vertue with Thyme, but not so strong. The Essence helps the Dropsie, Cough, and Asthma; as an Erythra, it helps the Lethargy and Cavus; outwardly it discusses tumours, cures pains of the Ears, helps the Palsie, Numbness and Cramp.

592. Satyrium, Orchis, Sa. leior, Satyrion, a kind of Dog stones; hot and moist in 10. There are many sorts of Satyrions, of which (though used promiscuously) the Shops chuse the Cynorchis; or Dog-stones. The Roots of Satyrion purge upwards and downwards, and help old Quartans; as also the decay of old age. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 124.

593. Saxifraga, Σαξίφαρον. Saxifrage, hot and dry in 3°. It opens, attenuates, is Diuretick, Lithontriptick, Emmenonagogick Carminative and pectoral. It breaks the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, helps the Strangury, and Disury: provokes Urine and the Terms; expels Wind, the dead Child, and After-birth; comforts and warms a cold and weak Stomach; helps gripings of the Bowels, and the Colick; and is a singular Traumatick and Vulnerary, not inferior to Sanicle. See chap. 1. sect. 125.

494. Scammonium, Purging Bindweed, hot and dry in 3°. This is that herb which yields the Gum so called: See it in Chap. 8. following. See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. Cap. 3. Sect. 13.

595. Scandix, acus Veneris, Scannaria, Σκανδίσ, Shepherds Needle, hot and dry in 3°. It is Analeptick, Diuretick, cleansing, opening obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Reins and Bladder, being of the nature of Chervil. It is bitter, sharp, and a little styptick; it helps the Strangury, expels wind, and makes fruitful: The Root is reported to be magnetick, being worn next the skin.

596. Scabiosa, Ψάρα, Atii, Scabious, hot and dry in 2°. It is of subtil parts, cutting, attenuating, and concocting thick gross humours: It is pectoral, Stomachical, Nephritic, Alexipharmick, Traumatick, Vulnerary, and Cosmetick. It cures old Coughs, Asthma's, Pains of the Sides, Pleurifies, Stone, Gravel, stoppage of Urine, biting of venomous Beasts, stinging of Serpents, Plague, pestilential Fevers, Measles, Small-pox, inward Sores and Ulcers. Outwardly it dissolves cold tumors, heals Wounds, Ulcers, Fistula's, scald Heads, Hamorrhoides, Tetters, Ring-worms, Itch; taking away all deformities of the skin, as Freckles, Scurf, Morpew, Scabs, &c. from whence, as some think, it was called Scabious, or Scabwort; the which also the Greek name imports. The Root of the great Scabious with the purple Flower, is as great a Specifick against the French-pox, as that of Sarsaparilla, if not greater.

597. Schrenanthum, juncus odoratus, Σχοινος ἀρωματικός καὶ Μυρσίνος, Camels hay, hot and dry in 10. It is Lyptic, Segnotick, Diuretick, Emmenonagogick, Alexipharmick, and Aperient. It expels Wind, Urine, and Terms; helps inflammations of the Matrix, illness of the Stomach, Vomiting and Hicker; eases pains in the Reins, Bladder, and Womb; cures a stinking Breath, spitting Blood, pissing Blood, and Poyson. The Powder of it applied, heals creeping sores. Outwardly, it is a good Gargle for the Uvula, and eases the Head-ach; the flowers or tufts help pissing Blood, Colick, pains of the Stomach, obstructions of Lungs, Liver, and Reins, Dropsies, Convulsions, or shrinking of Sinews.

598. Schanoprassum, Σχοινοπρασσόν, Civer, hot and dry in 4°. They attenuate, open, and are diuretick, being of the nature of Leeks, which see sect. 528. aforegoing.

599. Scolopendria Vulgaris, Lingua Cervoia, Phyllitis, Radiolus Apulii, Quartus, Harts-Tongue, temperate and dry in 1°. It is Traumatick and Vulnerary, stops all Fluxes, helps spitting of blood, resists poyson, and is a specifick in the cure of the Rickets: it has the Vertues of Asplenium, or Spleenwort, which see sect. 63. aforegoing.

600. Scordium, Exorisor, Water Germander, hot and dry in 2°. It is Lyptintick, Absterfive, Traumatick, Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, Anodyne, and Pectoral; it opens obstructions of all the principal parts; cleanseth the Intraills and old Ulcers; provokes Urine and the Terms; expectorates rotten matter out of the Chest; helps old Coughs, Asthma's, Pleurifies, inward Ruptures, biting and stinging of serpents, and potently resists poyson, plague and all pestilential Diseases: It exhilarates the Heart, cures the bloody Flux, comforts the stomach, and drives out the small Pox and Measles. Outwardly it cleanseth and heals Wounds and Ulcers, and cures pains of the Gout. The Essence is most effectual to the intentions aforelaid.

601. Scorodonia, Salvia agrestis, Scordium alterum, Wood-sage hot and dry in 2°. It is diuretick, sudorifick, and vulnerary: It heals wounds, helps the strangury, palsy, and French disease. It digests Humours, dries up Ulcers and consumes Swellings, being taken for 40 days together in Decoction of Gnaphysum.

602. Scorodoprassum, Great Mountain-Garlick, hot and dry in 4°. It attenuates, is pectoral, and discusses the inconveniencies of Mineral fumes, helps Jaundice, Cramps, Piles, and other cold Diseases.

603. Scorpioides, Telephium verum, Σκορπιόειδες, Scorpion-Grass, hot in 3°, dry in 2°. The Leaves applied, helps the stinging of Scorpions. The Essence drunk in Canary helps against the bitings of Adders, Snakes, and other venomous Beasts, Made into a Balsam it is an excellent Vulnerary.

604. Scorzonera, Viperina, Viperaria, Vipers Grass, hot and moist in 1°. It is a great Cephalick, Cardiaick, Hysterick, and Alexipharmick. It is an Antidote against all manner of infections of the Plague, malign Feavers, biting of venomous Creatures and Poyson, especially the biting of Vipers, the Essence being drank in Spanish wine: The said Essence dropt into the eyes clears them, and helps most infirmities therein: It cures tertian and quartan Agues, Cachexia, Dropsie, Jaundice, French Pox, Melancholy, Epilepsies, Megrims, Vertigo's, and suffocation of the Womb; removes sorrow, and exhilarates the heart.

605. Sicale, Farrago, Siligo verum, Επίζα και Βούζα, Rie, hot and dry in 1°. It is of harder digestion than Wheat, yet of good nutriment to rustick bodies The Meal is used to discuss Tumors, as the Erysipela's, Gout, &c. and to ease pains: The Leaven doth more strongly digest, draw, ripen, and break all Imposthumes and piles, than that of Wheat. The distilled water of Bread helps the Dysentery and Vomiting: The Brain cleanseth, mollifies, and discusses, laid hot in a bag: The Bread laid on to any part affected with pain, as hot as it can be endured, presently eases it; and if sometimes repeated, it takes it away; and so also it helps the palpitation of the heart, strengthens a weak stomach, and ripens Tumors.

606. Securidica, Hatchet-Vetch, hot and dry in 1°. The Leaves and tender Crops open the stoppages of the Bowels, comfort the Stomach, resist the Plague, expel Poyson, and kill Worms: so also the Meal.

607. Sene, Senna, Sene, hot in 1°. dry in 3°. It is the common Purge for Cholera, Flegm, Melancholy, and watry Humors, drawing them gently from the Head, Liver, Spleen, and Joynts: It purges gently, and is safe for all Ages, Tempers, and Complexions, yea, Women with Child; but it often gripes. It is corrected by Cinnamon and Ginger, and quickned with Sal Gem, or Rheubarb, or Agarick: give in powder à ʒss. ad ʒjss. in infusion, à ʒss. ad ʒij. The Infusion purgeth better than the substance or decoction: It may be infused in Rhenish Wine, in which you may dissolve a little Sal Gem, and white Sugar: it purges Melancholy, cleanseth the Brain, Heart, Liver, Spleen, and Lungs causeth a fresh Countenance, cheers the Heart, clears the sight, cures old Fevers and Diseases caused by Melancholy. Extractum Sennæ. R. Senna ʒi. Rhenish Wine (Sharpned with the Oyl of Tartar per deliquium) ʒviij digest, then strain it gently, clarify and inspisate to a just consistence. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒj. Tinctura sennæ Closlei. Clossius his Tincture of Senna, R. Senna, Sal Niter, ana ʒj. powder them, and fire them in a Crucible with a clear Coal: dissolve the ashes in distilled Vinegar, or spirit of Wine, filter, and evaporate. Then dissolve it again in Rosewater half a pint, filter, and add of the powder of Senna ʒiiij. digest 12 hours, then decant the clear tincture for two or three doses. Thus may the Tinctures of Rheubarb, Agarick, and other Purgers be made. The best Senna comes from Alexandria, with sharp pointed Leaves: the best next from Italy with blunt Leaves.

 silioticum*. Bastard-Lovage, hot and dry in 3°. It is two-fold, viz. 1. with a ferula-leaf. 2. with a fennel-like leaf, but they are both used promiscuously; yet when we use the name of Siler Montanum, the first is generally intended; the other is called Rock-fennel. Schroder saith, It cuts, opens, discusses, is cephalick, and Pectoral. It is used chiefly in Diseases of the Head, as Epilepsies (given in the whole substance) Apoplexies, Megrims, weakness of sight, Cramps, &c.
 In Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, as Catarrhs, Coughs, Asthma's, &c. In obstructions of the Liver, as Crudities, Cachexies, Dropsies, &c. it expels Wind and the Stone, both in the Reins and Bladder, provokes Urine and the Terms, and is an Antidote against Hemlock. 652. Taxus, Smilax Arbor, Mīαθ, Κεχτες, Σμυδα, Dioscorides, Yew-Tree. The Spanish is deadly, and in most Countries it is venomous, yet not that which grows in England. The Antidote is Giptian Root, Essence of Jun-per-berries, with Oxy-mel or Wormwood wine. The fume of it kills Mice: The English and that of Silesia is without hurt: the Berries of the English loosen the belly and fatten fowl; the juice is good against the bitings of vipers:

the wood rasped and drunk, helps the bitings of mad dogs.

653. Testiculus odoratus, Trivorchis, Tetrorchis, Cullions (a kind of Orchis or dog-stones) they are of the temperature and nature of Satyrium; boyld in milk and eaten, or prepared as Satyrium, they stir up Venery, strengthen the body, help Consumptions and Hecticks, above all other kind of Orchis: boiled with urine and honey, they help putrid ulcers of the mouth: See chap. 1. Sect. 24.

ma's: outwardly it draws and di-gests, easeeth pains of the Joynts and the Gout, and helps defects of the skin.

657. Thee, Herba Thee; Thee, hot and dry in 1°. It is a Chine-sian herb, but is found in China, Japonia, and other places; that of Japonia is best. It is a most excellent herb, preserving the body in perfect health, to the height of old Age: you may take it either in decoction or powder: it is wished that it might be used instead of Coffee; it causeth wakefulness, so that whole nights may be spent in study without hurt to the body, because it binds the mouth of the stomach, thereby restraining those Vapours which ascending would cause sleep. It helps Headachs, Drowsiness, Lethargy, Catarrhs, Asthma's, Consumptions, Colicks, Stone, pains and other lassitude of the Bowels.

658. Thlapsi, sinapi Persicum, Treacle-mustard; hot and dry in 4°. There are divers sorts of it, but the wild are best. See the seed Chap. 7. It is of the nature of common mustard, but somewhat stronger.

659. Thora, Aconiti genus, a kind of Woolfs bane, and the most poysonous of them all; hot and dry in 4°. See Aconitum, Sect. 13.
and Napellus, Sect. 432.

660. Thus, Arbor Thurifera, Al-Bares, Frankincense-tree, hot in 2°. dry in 1°. The Arabians call the Tree Lovan. It is either male or female: the Gum of the male is called Olibanum, being of a yellowish white, and white within, fat, and round like drops: the Gum of the female is called Thus, and is more Rosiny, soft, and yellower. See the Gums, Chap. 8. The Bark

Bark of the Tree is astringent, and stops all Fluxes. See chap. 2. sect. 34.

661. Thymum, Thymus, Θύμος, Thyme, hot and dry in 3°. It is sharp, bitter, cutting, attenuating, discutitive, carminative, cephalick, pectoral, stomatick, and hysterick. It takes away all tartarous diseases of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Ptytick; opens all Obstructions, provokes Urine and the Terms, expels the dead Child and Secundine, helps all cold diseases of the Head, Epilepsies, Agues, Fits of the Mother; strengthens the Stomach, causes Appetite, and is of great force against the Gout. Outwardly, it is good against cold Tumours, and pains of the Joynts.

662. Thymelea, Θυμολία, Mountain-widow-wail, or Spurge-flax, hot and dry in 4°. The leaves and fruit are very hot, biting and burning, the grains purge choler, flegm, and watery humors; 20 grains of the inner part being taken with Raisins, stamped with a little Niter and Vinegar, cause Sweat: the leaves are to be gathered in Harvest, which when used, must be beaten, and the flings taken out: and so ʒss. taken in Rhenish-wine, purge watery humors; they purge more gently boiled with Lentils; the Herb destroys the Fetus, and is cosmetick: made up into Pills, it helps the Dropsie.

663. Tilia, Tela, οιλόρα, Linetree, or Linden Tree. Temperate and dry in 10. It is male and female: the first is barren, the other bearing flowers and seed are only used. The Bark, see chap. 2. sect. 33. the Flowers, chap. 5.

the Seed, chap. 7. the Leaves have the same virtues with the Bark.

664. Thya, Thuya, Arbor Vitæ, Cedrus Lycia, Θύια, Tree of Life, hot and dry in 1°. It is wonderfully agreeing to the nature of man, an excellent cordial, and of a very pleasant smell; it is pectoral, and of thin and tenuous parts, digestive and absterfive: it causes expectoration of thin and purulent matter from the Lungs, helps coughs, shortness of breath, and illness of the stomach, if the leaves be but chew'd some days together fasting in the morning.

665. Tithymalus, The greater wild Spurge: hot and dry in 4°. It has the virtues of Cataputia minor, at sect. 139. Extractum Tithymali Clossii, Extract of Tithymal: Take the whole Herb, moisten it with Rose-water, beat it and express the Juice, which clarifie, calcine the Fæces, and add as much Sul-niter; extract the Salt with distilled Vinegar, which joyn to the clarified juice, and evaporate to the consistence of an Extract: if you please, you may (before evaporation) add of oyl of Sulphur per campanam ʒss. This Extract has all the virtues of Spurge: and after the same way you may make an Extract of Buckthorn-Berries, wild Cucumers, Hellebor-roots, &c.

666. Tormentilla, Septisfolium, Ἐπιδυλλιον, Tormentil: It is the best thing in the world to stop Fluxes. See the Root, ch. 1. sect. 131.

668. Tragorchis, Tescigulus hircinus,

Τετραορχης; Goat-stones: they have the vertues of the Cynosorchis, sect. 209.

659. Trachelium, Uvularia, Cervicaria, Τετραρχιον, Throat-wort, cold and dry in 2°. It is good against Swellings, Inflammations, and sores of the Uvula & Throat, as also all cankers and ulcerations in the mouth or privy parts; made into a lotion with Honey, Alom, and Rhenish-wine, it stops Catarrhs or Rheums, &c.

670. Tragopogon, Coma vel Barba Hirci, Τραγοπωγων, Goats-beard; temperate. It eases pains and stitches of the side, comforts the stomach, helps the appetite, strengthens and restores such as are in Consumptions, and have been long afflicted with Chronick Diseases. It is Vulnerary and binding, and helps the Stone, Imposthumes, Pleurisie, and other diseases of the Stomach and Liver.

671. Tragopyrum, Fegopyrum, Buck-wheat; cold and dry in 1°. It provokes urine, encreaseth milk, loosens the belly, clears the eyes, and taken in wine heals melancholy: the bread made thereof is satiny, and a little windy, yet it nourishes less than Wheat, Rye, Barley, or Oats; but more than Millet or Panick.

672. Tragoriganum, Goats-Majoram, hot and dry in 3°. It is binding and strengthening, stomachick, carminative and diuretick: it stops vomiting, helps belching, opens obstructions of the Lungs, Breast, Liver and Womb: outwardly applied it helps Inflammations, and in a pessary draws down the Terms.

673. Tribulus, Saligor, Telcosines,

Caltrop, cold and dry in 1°. It is of an earthy binding nature: the fruit being drunk, wasteth the stone; taken in wine, and also outwardly applied, it helps the biting of Vipers, and poyson; it is good against inflammations, imposthumes, flux of humours, and pains: the juyce dropt into rheumy Eyes, stops their running, and in a Gargle it helps sore mouths.

664. Tribulus marinus, Water-Caltrop, or Frogs-lettice, cold and moist in 1°. In a pulvis it takes away all Inflammations, Ulcers in the mouth or other parts, corruption of the Jaws, Kings-evil, sore gums, cankers in the mouth, &c. being made into gargle with honey, water, and a little Alom. The bread of the kernels binds the belly; the green fruit drank in wine, helps the stone, and expels poyson.

675. Trichomanes, Callitrichum, Polytrichum, Red Maiden-hair: temperate. It is a great pectoral, helping such as are short winded, having tough flegm, cough, & spit much: The Lye in which it has been sodden, is Cosmetick, takes away scurf, scales, and causeth hair to grow. It has the vertue of the other Maiden-hair, which see sect. 12. the distilled water is good for such as have rotten Livers.

676. Trifolium, Triphyllum, Triaphyllum, Τριφυλλον, Meadow-Trefoil, or Three-leav'd-grass; cold and dry in 1°. It is pectoral, vulnerary, and Segnotick: the decoction in a Clyster with honey, helps fretting and excoriations of the Guts: In a Cataplasim it helps hot swellings and inflammations. That with the half-moon, or pearl, being bruised, and the juyce mixt with Honey, and dropt into the Eyes, easeth the Pin and Inflammation of them, and takes away the Pin and Web.

677. Trifolium odoratum, Sweet trefoil, (a kind of Garden-claver) temperate: the juyce with honey helps spots in the Eyes, and removes most other distempers in them: the Essence in Rhenish Wine, helps such as are bruised, dissolves congealed blood, and helps bloody Urine: an Oyl of the Flowers heals green Wounds, and helps the Gout.

678. Trifolium Bituminosum, Stinking Trefoil, hot and dry in 3°. The Essence thereof helps pain of the side, Pleurifies, Obstructions of Liver and Spleen, provokes Urine and the Terms, brings down the Birth, helps fits of the Mother, Agues, the Dysary, the Dropsie (if in the beginning) and the bitings of Serpents or venomous Beasts: the Seed performs the same things being taken to ʒiij. Outwardly the herb extracts the Poyson out of Wounds; which if there be none therein, it encreaseth the pain by attracting of humours.

678. Trifolium paludosum, Menianthes Theophrasti, ῥόσπρον, Water-trefoil, or Buck-beans: the temperature is doubtful. It is a good Pectoral, and cleanses both Breast and Liver. The Seed drunk with mead helps the cough, pain in the Stomach, spitting Blood, cuts tough humours, and helps a weak Liver.

780. Trifolium purpureum, purple-trefoil, purple-wort, cold and dry in 1°. the juyce or Essence expels slimy humours out of the Guts, cures sore Mouths and Throats, brings forth the Measles and Small Pox, and cures the Purple Feaver, which the Signature demonstrates: It is called also Lotus quadrifolia.

681. Tripolium, Inguinalis marina, Sea-Starwort, hot and dry in 3°. The Herb or Root taken to ʒij. in Powder, helps the Dropsie, resists Poyson, cures Wounds both inward & outward, the bitings of mad Dogs, Tumors in the Throat, and purgeth out waterish and gross Humours. Outwardly, it asswageth Tumors.

682. Triticum, Siligo, Ador, ʒo., wheat; Temperate. The white is called Siligo; the red Triticum; the gray-bearded wheat Ador; but Ador was of old the purest and finest wheate; afterwards in Horace's time it was used for the courser sort. See the Grain, Chap. 7. and our Dor. Med. Lib. 1. Cap. 1. Sect. 104.

683. Triticum Amylenum, Starch-Corn, Temperate, and dry in 1°. It is a kind of Grain almost like to Wheat: It serves to feed Cattle, (which yet is much better than Barly), and to make Starch of.

684. Tulipa, Κίλιν αἰσάρη, Tulip, the Roots have the Temperature and Vertues of Potatoes or Parships. There are near three-score several kinds of them, but all of one nature: The Turks call it Turban.

685. Turpetum, Turbeth, The Herb Turbith, hot and dry in 3°. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 132.

686. Turritis, Tower Mustard hot and dry in 3°. The juyce or essence Essence helps Ulcers of the Mouth, kills and expels Worms. Myagrum at Sect. 425. is a kind hereof, as also Camelina, at Sect. 116.

687. Tussilago, Farfara, Furaginum, Populago, Ungula Caballina, Bechium, Βήχας Colts-foot, cold and dry in 1°. It grows in pleasant Brooks and Rivers that make a noise, flowing suddenly in February and March, before the Leaves grow forth. It is one of the greater Pectorals, and Traumatick. It cures Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, shortness of Breath, Asthma's, Inflammations and Ulcers of the Lungs, spitting Blood, want of Voice. &c. It ripens and breaks Imposthumes in the Breast, cures Quartans, Wounds and old Sores, use the Essence.

688. Typha, Juncus asper, Cestrum Morionis, τύφης Cats-Tail, cold and dry in 1°. The down thereof is only used to dry up running Sores, kided heels, and gal'd places in Children, or other frettings of the skin.

689. Vaccaria, Cow-Basil, hot and dry in 1°. Provokes Urine, but is not often used in Physick.

690. Valeriana, Phu, Nardus, Crotica Plinii, φύς νάρδος α-γρία, Valerian, or Serwal, hot and dry in 1°. The Leaves have the same vertues with the Root (but the Root is most powerful) which see Chap. 1. Sect. 107.

691. Valeriana Sylvestris, Wild Valerian, it has the temperature and vertues of the former.

692. Verbascum, Candela regia, φλόμος, Female Mullein, temperate and dry in 1°. A Cataplasim or the Leaves help hard swellings, inflammations, and Joynt-pains, as also the Piles or Hæmorrhoides: the Essence thereof is Pectoral, and helps most Diseases in the Breast or Lungs; stops Lasks, and the Bloody Flix, and helps to consolidate Ruptures. See Tapsus barbatus.

693. Verbascum Sylvestre, Wild Mullein, or Sage-Mullein, hot and dry in 1°. It has the Vertues of Sage.

694. Vaccinia, ΑΙΤΕΛ ἡ παλιν, Whortle-berries, cold and dry 3°. The Essence or Jayee of the black binds, stops Fluxes, quenches thirst, comforts a hot Stomach, cools the heat of Feavers, and stays vomiting; they are usually eaten with Cream, or Milk and Sugar. The red Berries make a Carnation-colour, but are less used.

695. Vaccinia palastria, Fen-Whortle-berries; they have the Vertues of the former: but are better in Pestilential Diseases.

696. Verbena, Verbenaca, ἡ βοτάνη ἡ ἀντισεισμική, Vervain; temperate and dry in 2°. It is an excellent Vulnerary, Cephalick, and Hysterick, both inwardly and outwardly taken. The Decoction with Hony of Roses, helps the Aphibæ (a Disease which Women call the Thrush in Children.) The Essence of the Herb is powerful against Imposthumes in the Breast, Ulcers in the Lungs, spitting of Blood, inflammations and pains in Wounds, all sorts of Feavers and Agues, the Measles, small Pox, malign and pestilential Feavers, Apoplexies, falling Siekeness, Palsies, fits of the Mother, the Tooth-ach, Ulcers in the Mouth and Privities, Head-aches, Coughs, Colds, Rehums, Obstructions struction of the Liver, Spleen and Gall, Jaundice, yellow black, and green, Gravel, and Stone both in Reins and Bladder, Hoarseness, Quinsies, Kings-Evil, Gout, and other pains of the Joynts, Piles, and falling out of the Fundament. It causes easie delivery to Women with Child. It cures Tertians, Quartans, Struma's and Head-ach, by way of Amulet; which (Foreſtus in lib. 9. Obser. 52.) doth by hanging about the neck: but Marcellus cuts the Roots transverse into two parts, hanging the lowest part about the neck, the upper in smock; so as the upper-part dries, the Disease vanishes; yet he says, if both parts be cast into running water, the malady will return again.

697. Vermicularis, Illecebra, Sempervivum tertium, Stone-crop, hot and dry in 4°. It is caustick, draws Blisters, and exulcerates: The Essence with Vinegar, or other Liquors, causeth Vomir, and evacuates flegmatick and cholerick humors, resists poison, and cures Agues. Outwardly applied, it helps hard swellings, and the Kings-Evil. Some hang it about the neck as an Amulet against Feavers.

698. Veronica, a. arivv, Fluellin or Speedwel, cold in 1°. dry in 2°. It is Astringent, Traumatick, Vulnerary, and opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Reins and Bladder; it expels Urine and the Stone, and cures the Plague, and other pestilential Feavers; it cures the Dysenteria, and stops Fluxes. Outwardly; it helps the Polypus, all hot swellings, spreading Cankers, corrosive and malign Ulcers, and inflammations of the eyes.

699. Veronica Pauli, Betonica Pauli, Ελατιον Πουλες, Paul's Betony, or Male Fluellin (the former was the Female) temperate and dry in 1°. It is astringent, cutting, Vulnerary, Sudorifick, and Pectoral; used chiefly against Ulcers and Obstructions of the Lungs and Spleen, Colick, Consumptions, Plague, Measles, Small-pox, malign Feavers, Scabs, Itch, Tetters, Wounds, old Sores, Jaundice, Stone, Fluxes of Blood, and Scurvy.

700. Viburnum, Viorna Ruellii, Viurna Vulgi, Way-faring-tree, cold and dry in 1°. The Leaves and Berries bind, and are good in Gargarisms for Swellings, Inflammations, Rheum, and Sores, in the Mouth and Throat, and to fasten loose Teeth; the Powder of them stops all Lasks and Fluxes of Blood, Terms and Whites: Some say, the Bark buried in the Earth for a while, then boiled and stamped, makes good Birdlime: Mathiolus saith, the Fruit when ripe looseneth the Belly; the Leaves and Berries boiled in Lye for a Bath, makes the hair black.

701. Victoralis, Scorodoprassum minus, Mountain-Garlick the less, or Male, hot and dry in 4°. It has the virtues of Garden and wild Garlick, which see sect. 23. and 24. The Jews and Eastern People use it for an Amulet against Spirits and infected air.

702. Vicia, Bivora, Common Vetch or Tare; temperate and dry in 1°. It is binding, glutinative and emplastick, engendering a Cachochymick juyce, or thick melancholick Blood: applied to the Belly, they help Lasks, and with other things stay Cankers.

See the Grain, Chap. 7.

702. Vicia Sylvestris, Ἀγᾶχ, Wild Vetch. The Temperature and Virtues are the same with the former.

704. Vincetoxicum. Asclepias, Hederalis Ruellii, Hirundinaria, Ἀσκληπιάς ἡ ἑρμύς, Swallow-wort, hot and dry in 1°. It attenuates, is Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, Carminative, and Antifebricitick: It is used chiefly in the Plague and other Venemous Diseases: It provokes Urine and the Terms, helps the Disury and Stranguria, Dropics, fainting and palpitation of the heart: The Seed is prevalent against the Stone; you may give ℥j. of either Leaves or Seed, outwardly: the whole Plant is Vulnerary, and of extraordinary use in old malignant Ulcers, sore Breasts, and the stinging and bitings of venomous Creatures.

705. Vincetoxicum Indicum, Indian Swallow-wort, hot and dry in 3°. It has all the Vertues of the former, for which purposes it is much more prevalent; it helps the Tormina, stinging of Serpents and deadly Poysons; as also the Epilepsie, Jaundice, Melancholy, Cough, and all Diseases of the Breast and Lungs. The milky Juice is very hot and purging: The Leaves applied take hairs from the Skin, and cure Tetters.

706. Viola, Viola purpurea, Herba Violaria, Mater violarum, Ίρις, Violet, cold and moist in 1°. The Leaves cool, are Emollient, and Anodyne, often used in emollient Clysters, Cataplasms, &c. They help hot inflammations, burning Eyes, and the stinging of Scorpions. Inwardly they help the Epilepsie in Children, Quinicy, Surfeiting, heaviness of the head, and loosen the Belly: See the Flowers, Chap. 5. Sect. 75.

707. Viola flammæ, Viola tricolor, Herba Trinitatis, Clavellata, ἐλὼγιον, Hearts-ease (a kind of jacea or Knapweed) cold in 12. moist in 2°. (See our Dor. Med. lib. 1. cap. 1. Sect. 107.) but Schroder saith, it is hot and dry in 3°. If he means the same Herb, as I partly think he does. It is Emollient, Anodyne, and good against Agues, Convulsions, falling Sicknels, Ulcers, Inflammations, and Obstructions of the Lungs: it cleanses, discusses, is Vulnerary, Sudorifick, and good against heat, chiefly in Children, Scabs, Itch, and itching Ulcers. The Essence of the Herb or Flowers drunk ℥ij. or iij. at a time, morning and evening for 15 or 20 days together, is found to be very effectual against the French Pox.

708. Viola mariana, Mercury Violets, cold and dry in 1°. The Root is somewhat binding, seldom used in Physick, but generally for Sallets, being boyled and eaten with Oyl, Vinegar, and Pepper, thereby digesting and taking away flegm: The Essence of the Flowers cools the heat of Choler.

709. Viola Matronalis, Queens Gilliflowers, or Dames Violets, hot and dry in 3°. They are hot in taste, and much of the nature and quality of Rocket; the Essence or distilled Water of the Flowers cause sweat.

710. Virga Aurea, Leucograp

phis Plinii, Golden Rod, hot and dry in 2°. It cleanses, is Traumatick, Vulnerary, Diuretick, Lithontriprick, and astringent. It provokes Urine, wasts the stone in the Kidnies, and expels it; stops Blood, all sorts of Fluxes, cures Ruptures, and fastens loose teeth: It has the properties of Saracens Confound, and excels for inward bruises and ulcers in the mouth and sears.

711. Vitis, Vitis vinifera, Auxera G. The Vine, cold in 1° dry in 2°. The leaves cool, and very strongly bind, they stop the bloody Flux, and all other Fluxes, cool and strengthen the Stomach, stop vomiting, help Heart-burning, the heat of the Mouth and Tongue, and stay the longing of women with Child; they help the Piga, Clorosis, Hemoptasis, and Ulcers in the Mouth and Throat, See the Fruit, Chap. 9. Wine, and the tears of the Wine, Chap. 9. The ashes of the wood or sticks help the Piles, and are caustick.

712. Viscum, Viscus, Ixia Renalms, Ἰξία, Mistletoe, hot and dry in 3°. It is of subtil parts, and good against most Diseases of the Head and Spleen: The Berries strained into Oyl or Wine, and drank, help stitches, and other pains of the sides: It purgeth viscous Humours, helps Fallies and Convulsions; is Hydrorick and Antepileptick: Outwardly it ripens swellings and scierous Tumors behind the Ears, drawing from the deepest parts of the body, and digesting the humours: it mollifies old Ulcers, and ripens angry Impos-thumes: See the Birdlime, Chap. 8.

713. Viscum Quercinum, Mistletoe of the Oak, hot and dry in 2°. It mollifies and discusses; ripens Tumors behind the Ears, and other Impossthumes mixt with Wax and Rosin. Inwardly it is a specifick in the Epilepsie, and certainly cures it, by giving as much as will lie upon a sixpence or ninepence in black Cherry water or Beer, early in the morning for some days near the full Moon.

714. Ulmaria, Regina prati, Barba Capri, Barba Hirci, Medesum Cordi, Meedsweet, Meadow Sweet, Queen of the Meadows, cold and dry in 1°. It is good against the bloody Flux, and all other Fluxes, easeth the pains of the Colick, cheers the Heart, and revives the Senses; The Flowers help Quarrans, and exhilarate: their smell comforts the Head: the distilled water of them helps burning and itching of the Eyes, and clears the sight: the whole Herb is Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, and Vulnerary, and very prevalent against the Plague.

715. Ulmus, Ἰξία. Elmtree, hot and dry in 1°. The Leaves and Bark are cleansing, Segnotick and Vulnerary: The decoction of the Bark is good to bath broken Bones with: 3℔. of the inner Bark in Wine purges flegm. See the Bark, Chap. 2. Sell. 33. The Juice of the leaves with Vinegar takes away Scurf: The Liqvor in the Blisters is Cosmetick; and takes away Pimples, Spots, and Freckles from the face, and healeth green Wounds.

716. Urticaria, Corydalis sylvestris, Monophylon, μονοφυλλον, One Blade, hot and dry in 1°. The Leaves have the Virtues of Pyrola in wounds, especially those of the Nerves: It is sudorifick, traumatick, and vulnerary; and a good thing to prevent Inflammations in new Wounds.

717. Umbilicus Veneris aquaticus, Water-Navelwort, or Pennywort, hot and dry in 3°. Ulcerating like Crowfoot, and is dangerous to Sheep and other Cattel.

718. Umbilicus Veneris muralis, Wall Pennywort, cold and moist in 1°. The Essence or Juice helps all Inflammations, hot Tumors, as Phlegmons, Erysipelas, or St. Anthony's fire, kib'd heels, &c. The Leaves and Root eaten, help the Difficulty and Strangury, provoke Urine, break the Stone, and cure the Dropsic.

719. Volemus, Warden-Tree, the Leaves are cold in 1°. dry in 2°. they bind and stop Fluxes; the Fruit hath the Virtues of other Pears, but bind more, and so are more grateful to the Stomach.

720. Urtica, Ἀκάνθιον ὀνυκίδιον, Nettle, hot and dry in 2°. There are several sorts of stinging Nettles; as 1. the greater: 2. The less: 3. The Roman only sown in Gardens: The two first grow by Hedges and Way-sides. They are all of thin parts; they open, cut, are Absterfiv, Emollient, Diuretick, Lithontriptick, and Pectoral; they expel the poyson of Hemlock and Henbane, cure the Jaundice, Pleurisie, Diseases of the Lungs, as Asthma's, Coughs, Wheezings, shortness of Breath, Ulcers, Consumptions, and Peripneumony; expel Gravel and the Stone, and bring forth the small Pox. The Decoction of the Leaves drunk is good against Gangrenes, so also the Juice outwardly applied; it also helps an inflamed Uvula, and stops bleeding at the Nose. The Roman Nettle is the most powerful.

721. Uva marina, Traganos, ῥαγῶς, Sea-Grape or Cluster, cold in 2°. and dry in 3°. serè: the Raisins and Stones are stiptick and stop fluxes, the Whites in Women, and the Gonorrhœa.

722. Uva Ursi, Spanish red Whortleberries, cold and dry in 2°. The Syrup of the Berries is pectoral, helps Coughs and Ulcers of the Lungs: The juice with Alum and Galls makes a purple colour.

723. Ustilago, Bunt-Corn, as of Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oats, hot in 1°. dry in 3°. It makes bread to look black, and is of good use to dry up running sores, gall'd places, and fretting of the skin.

724. Xalrochil, Pomum arenosum, Sand-Apple, hot and dry, pleasant, and of pretty good nutriment. It helps concoction, heats the Stomach debilitated by cold. The Leaves are acid, segnorick, and very odoriferous, good against scabs, itch, &c. The bark is cold and dry, segnorick and vulnerary: The Decoction thereof is good against Tumors in the legs, Fistula's, ulcers, Deafness and Colick.

725. Xiopatlis, Herba contra Lepgram, cold and dry in 1°. It is glutinous, astringent, and colmerick; bruised and applied, it helps Tettens, Ringworms, Itch and Leprosie.

726. Xyloaloes, Agallochum, Lig-zum Alocs, Wood of Alocs. See
Chap. 3. Sect. 2.

727. Xylobalsamum, Wood of the Balsam Tree; hot and dry in 2°. The Water which issues out of the Wood or Branches cut off, is vulnerary, and helps in most cold Distempers, being drank fifteen or twenty days together.

728. Xylum, Bombax, Cotum, Gossipium, E. oobov., Εύλον, Εύ-λον, Cotton-plant; the seed is hot and moist in 1°. Helps Coughs and Asthma's, and increaseth seed: The Oyl thereof helps spots, scurf, and Morpew upon the skin; is good against gnawings of the stomach and Agues. The Wool or Cotton is hot and dry; the ashes of it stanch bleeding, and are more segno-tick and restrictive than Bole-Armoniack.

729. Tamancapatlis, Herba temperata. The temperate Shrub: It is odoriferous and segnotick:
the Essence or Liquor of it fastens loose teeth, eases pain of the Gums, strengthens the back and weak joints.

730. Yrziopatlis, Frutex fevifuga, Febrifuge Shrub. The Root (the bark being taken off) powdered and drank, or decoction thereof, helps Feavers and all cold distempers, exceeding all other things for that purpose.

731. Yucca, Fucca, Hinucca, Hin-ca, Manibot, Indian Bread, hot in 1°. when the poysonous juice is prest forth; the Root ground to flower, after the juice is prest from it, makes Bread and Cakes of good nourishment: tho' the raw Juice is poysonous, yet being boiled half away, it is aromatical and wholesome, and makes good drink.

732. Zea, Spelta, Zea, Spelt-Corn, temperate: it nourishes more than Barly, but less than Wheat: See the Grain Chap. 7.

733. Zedoaria longa, Zurumba, Za Pe-ra, Zedoary long, hot and dry in 2°. The Root is only in use, which see chap. 1. sect. 135.
of the Root you may make an Extract and chymical Oyl, which are pectoral.

734. Zedoaria rotunda, Zerum-beth, Zedoary round. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 136. The oyl is pectoral, strengthens the Spirits, cleanses the Lungs, heals Wounds, stops Fluxes, expels Wind, easeth the Colick, helps Coughs, Asthma's, and a stinking Breath, clears the sight, fortifies the Heart, stops defluxions of Rheums and Catarrhs, warms a cold Stomach, resists Poyson, kills Worms, and preserves the fœtus.

735. Zeopyrum, Naked Barley, cold and dry in 1°. The Decoction in water abates the violent heat of Feavers, quenches Burnning Choler, giving rest and ease, more especially if you add thereto the Seeds of Poppy and Let-tice, Figs, Raisins, Liquorice, and Anniseeds: so also it becomes very Pectoral. Decoct in Whey with Wood-forrel, Purslain and Scabious, it quencherh thirst, and cools the heats of Feavers.

736. Zingiber, Zinziber, Zingiberis, Ginger: Hot and dry in 3°. The Root is chiefly in use, which see Chap. i. Sect. 137. from the same you may distil an Oyl of great force against Ulcers.

737. Zizypha, Zizyphus, Zizyphos, Bead-tree, hot and dry in 3°. The Flowers open Obstructions of the head: the decoction of the Bark with Fumitory and Mirobolans helps agues proceeding from flegm: the distilled water kills nits and lice in the head, and mixt with Wine, preserves the Hair from fallings: The Leaves and Wood are accounted deadly to beasts; the Fruit also is very dangerous, if not poyson it self. But there is another kind, which grows in Cappadocia, which is cold and dry, the decoction of whose flowers and leaves cools the heat of Urine, helps the Diabetes and running of the Reins, as also the Exulceration of the privy parts: the Syrup thereof is pectoral, helps the distillations of sharp salt Rheums and spitting of blood.

Chap. V. OF FLOWERS.

[Colledge.] Of Wormwood, Agnus Castus, Flower-gentle, Dill, Rosemary, Columbines, Oranges, Wild Pomgranate-tree, Betony, Borrage, Bugloss, Marigolds, Woodbine, Clovegilliflowers, Centaury, Chamomel, Wall-flowers, Succory, Comfrey the greater, Saffron, Bluebottle great and small, Canker-Rose, Garden-Pomgranate-tree, Foxglove, Vipers bugloss, Heaths, Eyebright, Beans, Fumitory, Broom, Cowslips, S. John's-wort, Hyssop, Jasamine, Deadnettle white and red, Lavender, Privet, white Lillies, Lillies of the Valleys, Hops, Mallows, Holibocks, Motherwort, Melilot, Baum, Walnut-tree, Water-lillies white and yellow, Origanum, Poppies white and black, Corn-poppies, Peony, Peachtree, Primrose, Selfheal, Slesbush, Rose-tree white, red and damask, Sage, Elder, white Saxifrage, Scabious, Wheat, Stechas, Tamaris, Tanse, Mulline, Linetree, Colts-foot, Violets.

SALMON'S Comment.

1. Absinthii, Flowers of wormwood, by which is meant the Summities of the herb whilst it is in flower. They have the virtues of the herb, which see chap. 4. Sect. 3.

2. Agni Casti, Viti, of the Chast-tree; they abate Lust, and expel wind: the Herb and Seed are most in use.

3. Amaranthi, flores minoris, of Flower-gentle. They cool, dry, and gently bind, stop all manner of fluxes of the bowels, the terms, whites, spitting of blood, and are said (by some) to encrease milk in Nurses.

4. Anethi, of Dill. They strengthen the stomach and head, expel wind, - provoke Urine, encrease milk in Nurses.

5. Anthos, flores Rosmarini, of Rosemary. They help all Infirmities of the head, proceeding from cold and moisture, dry the brain, quicken the Senses, cause watchfulness, cure Palsies, strengthen the Nerves, cure the yellow Jaundice, stinking breath, preserve health, and keep back old Age; you may either make them into a conserve or preserve, or make a strong tincture with rectified S.V. or Rhenish Wine: Of these flowers is made the Queen of Hungaria's water, so much esteem'd and cry'd up all the world over.

6. Aquilegia, of Columbines: they open obstructions of Liver, Spleen and Gall, provoke Urine and the Terms, cure Jaundice, Colick, and heal Wounds.

7. Aurantiorum, Aurantie mali, Of the Orange tree. They are of great use in Perfumes; Orange flower water is not only a good Perfume, but prevents and helps Feavers, and is Pectoral: an Ointment of them is cosmetick, and helps the cough and Vertigo by anointing upon the stomach and temples.

8. Balaustia, Punice flores Sylvestris: Of the wild Pomegranate. They are cordial, yet of a very dry and binding nature; they thicken, cool, stop vomiting and all fluxes, as Diarrhoea's Dysenteria's, Lieberia's, Terms, whites, Gonorrhoea's, spitting Blood, Ruptures, fasten loose teeth, strengthen the stomach.

9. Betonice, Of Betony. They help the Head ach, Epilepsie, Madnes, Dead Palsie, and are Traumatick.

10. Borraginis, Of Borrage. They are one of the four cordial Flowers; they exhilarate the heart, comfort and revive the Spirits, strengthen the head and brain, help the Epilepsie, Melancholy, swoounding and cardiack passion.

11. Buglossi, Of Bugloss. They have the virtues of the former, cheer the heart, and revive a drooping Spirit.

12. Calendula, Of the Marigold. They are Cardiack, Hepatick, Alexipharmick, and Antisebrick: they open, discuss, and stringe: they provoke sweat, and cure the Jaundice.

13. Caprifolii, Periclymini, Matrisylvæ, Of Woodbine, called by some Honey Suckles. They are Pectoral, Traumatick, Diuretick, and Splenetick: they cure Asthma's and Coughs: Outwardly, they are Cosmetick, and take away scabs; the juyce of them is Vulnerary, and cures wounds in the head: the distilled water is a good gargle for a sore and dry mouth, it strengthens the nerves and Brain, cures Asthma's, Coughs, and Palpitation.

14. Caryophylli rubri, Tunice, Flores Vetonice, Clove gilliflowers or Carnations, hot and dry in 1°. They are Cephalick and cardiack, of chief use in Megrims, Apoplexia's, Epilepsies, Convulsions, Palsies, Obstructions of the nerves, swoounding, palpitation of the heart, pestilential Feavers, and Poyson: outwardly, they cure wounds, draw out bones and splinters from the skull, cure the head-ach: they are a great Cordial, and exhilarate the heart. A distilled water in B.M. is excellent for the eyes. The Essence or Inspissate juyce is good to all the purposes aforesaid.

15. Gariophylli Silvestres, Wild Carnations, or Pinks. They are of the nature of the former, but much weaker: the Roots of the Pink are said to prevent the Plague, break the Stone, and help the Falling-sickness.

16. Centauri minoris, of Centaury the less. They cleanse, scour and attenuate; kill worms, purge choler and thick humors, cure Agues, comfort and strengthen the Stomach. See the Herb, ch. 4. sect. 143.

17. Chamemeli, of Cammomil. Here is intended Flores Lucanthemi odorati: the Flowers of the which grow in Gardens. They are anodyne, heat, discuss, loosen, rarifie: in Clysters, they help the Colick. Stone, expel Wind: an infusion of them in Rhenish-wine purges the Reins, breaks the stone, expels gravel and cholerick humors, eases pain, &c. They have the virtues of the Herb. See it ch. 4. sect. 151.

18. Cheiri, Leucoli lutei, of Wall-flowers. They are hot and dry in 20. and cordial: of thin parts, emollient, absterive, and discussive. Their Essence mollifies Scitrous tumors, provokes the terms, and expels the dead Child: an oyl of them by infusion, helps the Palsie, numbness and Gout.

19. Cyborii, of Succory. They are diuretick, and abate the heat of Feavers. Of these Flowers an excellent Eye-water is thus made: Gather the blew flowers (the Sun in Leo) put them into a glass body with a long neck; stop it well; wrap it up in Rye-dough, put it into an Oven to bake with bread; being cold, open it, strain; then distil in a glass body in Balneo Mariæ. This water by barely anointing the Eye-lids morning and evening with it, cures all diseases of the Eyes, as pin and web, mists, suffusion, pearls, inflammations, redness, blood-hot, &c.

10. Consolidæ majoris, Symphytæ, of Comfrey. They are chiefly used in all sorts of fluxes both of the bowels and womb; they help ulcers in the lungs, and consumptions, spitting blood, &c. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 45.

21. Croci, of Saffron; hot in 2. dry in 10. It is the greatest of all Vegetable Cordials; quickens the senses, exhilarates the heart, revives the spirits natural, vital and animal, resists poysen, plague, and all malign and pestilential feavers; it provokes sweat, causeth free breathing, and prolongs life and health; it opens Obstructions of the Lungs, cures Asthma's, Phthisick, Surteits, yellow-Jaundice, provokes urine and the terms, expels the birth, causeth lust, eases pains and aches, drives forth the measles & small-pox; dissolved in Rose-water, and the eyes washed therewith, preserves them from hurt in those diseases. It causeth sleep and rest, and is of good use in the Syncope, Apoplexy, and Suffocation of the Womb. Tinctura Croci. It is extracted with Spirit of Wine, and the Spirit evaporated to a due consistence: but the S. V. had better be drawn off in B.M. for it is impregnated with the virtues of the Saffron Oleum Croci stillaticium. Distilled oyl of Saffron; it is drawn as of other things, the water and Oyl together:

gether : but it is very costly, for a pound of Saffron will yield but 3 j. of oyl : But some take Saffron ʒij, Turpentina ʒj. Spirit of Wine 2x. distilling them with often cohobations. It's useful for the purposes aforesaid.

22. Cyani majoris & minoris, of Blew-bottle greater and lesser. They cool in Feavers, resist poyson, help Dropsies, and take away the pain, redness and inflammations of the eyes. See the Herb, ch. 4. sect. 201.

23. Cynosbati, Canker-rose, wild Rose. They are of the nature of the Garden-Rose, but bind much more, and therefore are very good to stop the terms & whites in women. Bedeguar, the Spongy Balls in powder mixt with honey and Sal Cranii humani, helps the Alopecia or falling of the hair : the powder of them taken inwardly, ʒss. at a time in Rhenish-wine, helps the stone and strangury, and kills worms; but here is intended the powder of the whole Ball, viz. Moss, Stones and Worms. You may draw a Spirit from them thus: R. Of the Sponges, cut them to pieces, and bruise them, digest them in water and leaven till they putrifie, then draw off the Spirit: The Caput mortuum calcine, elixivate, and extract a Salt, which mix with the former Spirit, digest; then mix all with clay, and force it through a retort with a strong fire, that the salt may pass over with the Spirit, which rectifie. This, Hartman saith, will insensibly dissolve and expel the stone, gut. xx. being given at a time in a proper Vehicle.

24. Cytini, Panicæ flores sativæ, Of the Garden-Pomgranate-tree :

They have the vertues of Balaustins, or flowers of the wild Pomgranate-tree, which see sect. 8. foregoing.

25. Digitalis, of Fox-glove. They have the vertues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 215.

26. Echii, of Vipers bugloss. They are very powerful against poyson, biting of Serpents, venomous Beasts, &c. They comfort and revive the heart wonderfully, being a very great Cordial. See chap. 4. sect. 223.

27. Ericæ, Of Heath. The flowers and Summities are good against the stinging and biting of venomous Beasts; they open Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, and are profitable in the Jaundice and Melancholy.

28. Euphrasie, of Eye-bright. You may take the Summities, they have the same vertues with the Herb.

29. Fabarum, Bean-flowers. They are Diuretick, Lithontriprick and Cosmetick, taking away spots and defects of the skin, and beautifying of it: They also help diseases of the eyes.

30. Fumariæ, Of Fumitory. They strengthen the stomach, open obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, help hypocondriack melancholy, and are cosmetick. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 261.

31. Gemistæ, of Broom. They have the vertues of the Herb; but more particularly they help Surfeits and the Black-Jaundice. See the Herb, chap. 4. sect. 271.

32. Herbæ Paralyticæ, of Cowslips. They strengthen the brain and memory, and in an Oynment ment are Cosmectick. taking away most vices of the Skin. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Señ. 299. It also cures burns.

33. Hyperici, Of S. Johns-wort. They provoke Urine, expel the Stone, and stop Lasks. See Chap. 4. Señ. 311.

34. Hysopi, Of Hyssop. They are a very good Pectoral, and cure almost all Diseases of the Breasts and Lungs; you may take the Summities when they are in Flower: See Chap. 4. Señ. 312.

35. Jasminis, Of Jesamine. They are an excellent Perfume, and will yield it plentifully in the Oyl of Ben. An Oyl made of them with Oyl-olive is of excellent use in Convulsions, Cramps, and Stitches in the Side. These Flowers are of the nature of Chamomel; they digest, heat, soften, and relax. Internally they warm and comfort the Womb; and cure the scirrhus thereof; help delivery, take away Coughs, shortness of Breath, Pleurisie, pain of the Stomach, and Bowels: Outwardly, they resolve hard cold Tumors, and in Clyster help the Colick, and pains of the Womb.

36. Lamii albi & rubri, Urtice mortue, Of dead Nettles, or Archangel: The Flowers have the Vertues of the Herb: The Flowers of the White stop the Whites; the Red the Terms. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Señ. 269.

37. Lavendule, Of Lavender. They are Cephalick, Uterine, and Arthritic: An Essence made of them, or a strong Tincture, stops Catarrhs, resolves Palsies, Cramps, Convulsions, and Lethargies, expels Urine, Terms, Birth, and After-birth; cures pains of the Head and Bowels, as Megrims, Colicks, &c. Helps the Epilepsie, and fits of the Mother, performing those things which Anthos or Rosemary-Flowers do: Outwardly, in Lixiviums, they warm coldness and numbness; ease pains of the Head, Joynts, and Womb; and in Masticatories dry up Catarrhs, drawing the Rheum from the Head to the Palate, that it may not fall upon the Lungs.

38. Ligastri, Alcanne, Of Privet. They cool and dry, cure soreness, redness, and inflammations of the Eyes, Ulcers in the Mouth and Throat, looseness of the Gums, stop Fluxes.

39. Lilii albi, Of white Lilies. They are Emollient, heat moderately, and moisten, are Anodyne, cleansing, and ripening: from the fresh Flowers a Water is distilled in Balneo Mariæ, good against Coughs, Asthma's, and most Diseases of the Lungs; and if mixt with Cumphir and Oyl of Tartar, is a good Cosmectick; an Oyl made of the Flowers by infusion in old Oyl-Olive, and repeated 4 or 5 times, helps shrunk Sinews.

40. Lilii Convallium, Of Lilies of the Vally. They are hot and dry, Cephalick, Cardiack, and Uterine: They help most cold Diseases of the Head, as Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Palsies, Megrims, Vertigo's: they comfort the Heart, and are good in faintings and swoundings, and help fits of the Mother: They make an excellent sneezing powder.

41. Lapuli, Of the Hop, of Hops:

Hops. They are hot and dry in 2^o. Open, cleanse, provoke Urine, break and expel the Stone both in Reins and Bladder, cure long and tedious Quartans and Hypochondriack Melancholy. They take away Scabs, Itch, and filth of the skin; purge Flegm and Choler, cure the Jaundice, and Scurvy, and are beneficial against the French Disease. I cannot but wonder at the foolish Opinion, and that of some Physicians too, who have been so idle as to affirm, That Hops breed the Stone, and that that Disease was not in nature till the use of Hops came up. To which we answer, 1. That famous Physicians, even Hippocrates, wrote of the Stone, who lived above a thousand years before Beer was invented. 2. That Experience it self has proved, that Hops do break and expel the Stone; for I have known (more than seven times) that a strong decoction of Hops has brought away several Stones from several Persons. 3. That good stale Beer will dissolve the Calculus humanus, if boiled therein; which it does by that sharpness which the heat gives it; and this it does by the same property by which strong Vinegar dissolves or eats Flints. 4. That being taken into our bodies it grows acid like Vinegar by vertue of our natural heat. 5. That those who for several years have drank Beer, and that stale Beer too, (for more than 20 years together) never are troubled with the Stone. 6. That the Persons troubled with the Stone are such as generally drink Ale, for which many Reasons might be offered, but that we defire to avoid prolixity; and yet some have been so idle as to affirm that the Stone will dissolve in Ale, but harden in Beer; the which I my self have been an Eye-witness to the contrary. But whereas it is objected by several Lithontriprick persons, that when they drink Beer, they are exceedingly tormented, yet by drinking Ale, they alwaies find ease: To that we answer, 1. That the pain and griping which they feel comes from the hardness of the Beer, which still increases after it is drank, by reason the natural heat augments the acerbity, and their being unaccustomed to drink it; for we to whom custom has made it natural, feel no such thing. 2. That Ale gives no ease in the Stone, as being an Enemy, but only by accident, as palliating the pain by its smoothness and sweetness. 3. That since it is only natural for acids to work upon and free Stones, it is more congruous to Sense and Reason; that Beer should be more profitable than Ale, how much soever the latter is preferred (by some ignorant, idle, and irrational people) before it. This we thought good to offer. And though much more might be said in defence hereof, yet we hope we have spoken enough to satisfy any rational man.

42. Malva Vulgaris, of Common Mallows. A Syrup made of them is pectoral, and helps Coughs, Asthmias, and Ulcers of the Lungs. They have the Vertue of the Herb, which see; Chap. 4. Sect. 388.

43. Malve Arboreæ, Of Hollibrocks, a decoction of such as are red in red Wine, stop the Courfes.

44. Matricarie, Of Motherwort. They comfort a cold Womb, and excite it to Venery, provoke the Terms, help Dropfies, purge by Urine, and are excellent in putrid Feavers. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 124.

45. Meliloti, of Melilo. They provoke Urine, break the Stone, and ease pains of the Reins, Bladder and Bowels: with Cammomil-flowers in Clysters, they expel Wind, and ease the Colick. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 404.

46. Melisse, Melissophylli, Of Bawm. Take the Summities, they have the Virtues of the Herb: See it Chap. 4. Sect. 405.

47. Nucis juglandis, Nucamentæ, Juli. Of the Walnut-tree. They cause gentle vomiting, and are chiefly used to expel Wind in the Colick and Stone, to cure Diarrhoea's and stop Fluxes.

48. Nymphaeæ albæ & luteæ, of Water-Lillies white and yellow. They are much of a nature, but the white are the best: they cool and moisten, and are good against nocturnal Pollutions: Outwardly, they are used to abate the heat of Feavers, and cause sleep, being laid to the Temples, Loins, and soles of the Feet.

49. Origani, of Origanum. You may take the Summities which have the Vertues of the Herb: see it Chap. 1. Sect. 462.

50. Papaveris albi & nigri, of white and black Poppies. They are Hypnorick, Narcotick, and Pectoral: they are good against Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, as Hoarsness, Coughs, and Asthma's: they stop all Fluxes, and restore in Consumptions. Outwardly they assuage pain, and laid to the Head or Feet, cause sleep. Extractum Florum Papaveris. R. Heads of Poppies when they begin to flower (the red flowered is the best) bruise and digest them in Baln. Mar. with Hydromel, Methuglin, or Sack, 15 or 20 days till the Lignor is very red; then strain forcibly to express all the gummy or resinous matter; abstracted in Balneo Vaporis, till the gummy substance remain, which put into cold water, and it will strait be congealed. This is German Opium no waies sophisticated, which may be given instead of the true Opium. Where note, That the black Poppy is not so safe as the white.

51. Papaveris rubri, erratici, of the wild Poppy or Corn-Rose; they have all the vertues of the former, and more powerful; they cool violently, cause sleep, and ease pain; used chiefly in Feavers, Quinses, and other Diseases of the Breast and Lungs; they are a specifick in the Pleurisie: The Tincture of the Flowers in the Spirit of Wine cures the Flux of the Terms: You may make an Extract of them after the manner of the former; though I think the Tincture in S. V. is no waies inferiour, if strongly made.

52. Pæonia. Of Peony. They cure most Diseases of the Head, as Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Nightmare; take away obstructions of the Womb, and cure fits of the Mother: you may make an Extract of the dried flowers, as of Poppies: but the Essence is more powerful.

53. Persica, of Peaches. They are hot and dry, and chiefly used to loosen the Belly, and kill Worms in Children. They purge watery Humors, and open Obstructions of the Meseraicks and Mesentery. You may use either their distilled Water, Syrup, or Essence. By expression you make an oyl which cures the Colick taken inwardly, and perfectly takes away pains of the Ears and the Hemorrhoids.

54. Prunella Veris, of the Primrose. The Flowers boiled in Vinegar and applied, are good against the swellings of the Throat, Uvula, and Kings-Evil, especially as a Gargarism. Their Essence helps all Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, and are indeed one of the greatest Pectorals; it helps the Palsie in the Tongue, Diseases of the Head, as Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Palsies: Outwardly, it is good against the Gout, and bitings of venomous beasts. The flowers are hot and dry in 1°.

55. Prunella, of Self-heal. The Essence is Traumatick and Vulnerary; and a good pectoral.

56. Prunellorum sylvestrium, of Sloes. Their Essence or distilled Water, to a wonder, helps the Colick and all other torments of the Bowels, and that in a moment.

57. Rose alba, of the white Rose. The distilled water is excellent in Ophthalmia's, to cool the Eye, comfort and clear the sight.

58. Rose rubra, of the red Rose. Their infusion gently purgeth, yet not so much as the white Damask and Musk Roses, these being more spiritual: Red Roses dried, bind, cool, restore such as are in Consumptions, strengthening all the Spirits Natural Vital and Animal.

59. Rose Damascena, Palida, Of the Damask Rose. These have the Virtues of the former, but much more powerful; they make the most pleasant of all purges in the World, either in Syrup, Essence or Quintessence, Quintessentia Rosarum Palidarum Horstii. R. Of Damask Roses q. s. bruise them, express their juice, from which draw a Spirit, which rectifies, then impregnate with so much of the fixed and volatile Salt of Roses, as the body of the Spirit will receive, to which if you please you may add a small proportion of Ambergrease and Musk. This Medicine Horstius commends to the Skies, in respect of which, the most benign Purges, as Rhubarb, Scenna, Cassia, Manna, are a kind of malignant poison; for this Medicament is as well as Cathartick, both Cephalick and Cordial, and from its fragrantcy, and most incomparable odor and sweetness, comforts both Heart and Brain: It may safely be given to the least Infant, to Women with Child, and the most delicate of all persons; and is dedicated to Kings, Princes, Noblemen, and Great Ladies. It is most powerful in all defections of the mind; it cools and comforts the animal Spirit, it is most prevalent against swooning fits, the Epilepsy, Vertigo, Carus, Lethargy, suffocation of the Womb; It revives all the Spirits, Natural, Vital, and Animal, and is the greatest preservative against the Plague and Pestilence fortifying the Heart, and defending it against all manner of Poison, Infection, and pestiferous Atoms. It may be used in all Diseases where purging is required; for it easily, safely and pleasantly evacuates the noxious humours. Let it always be given alone without any Vehicle; for all other things are unpleasant, being compared to it; for its taste and odour exceeds all things else. Dose to a man is $\mathfrak{z}\text{i}$. in the morning fasting, walking after it.

60. Rose cantine, Of the Wild or Canker Rose. An Essence of them binds more than of the red Roses, and therefore are very good to stop Womens Whites and their Terms.

61. Rose Moscate, of the Musk-Rose. They have all the Virtues of the Damask, and of them you may in like manner make a Quintessence. Their distilled Oyl is used in Cordials, Apopleckick, Epileprick, and Cardiack mixtures. The Anthera, or yellow Hairs in the middle, bind, and stop Fluxes.

62. Salvia, of Sage. They are hot and dry in 2° . And have all the Virtues of the Herb; but are chiefly used against Palsies, Convulsions, Epilepsies, Megrims, Catarrhs, and tremblings of the heart.

63. Sambuci, of Elder. They discuss, mollifie, dissolve, are sudorifick and anodyne; used inwardly to prevent and cure Quartan Agues, Colick, Dropsies, and Distempers of the Stomach. Outwardly, to cure an Erysipelas, Burns, Scalds, Sitches and Pains in the sides.

64. Saxifragia alba, Of white Saxifrage. They have the Virtues of the Root (Chap. 1. Sect. 125.) and Herb, which see Chap. 4. Sect. 593.

65. Scabiosa, Of Scabious. They are Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, and Pectoral, having all the Virtues of the Herb; which see Chap. 4. Sect. 596.

66. Siliginis, Of Wheat. What the Colledge means by these I cannot well tell.

67. Stachadis Arabice, Of Stechas, or French Lavender. The Arabian is best, chuse those flowers or ears which are fresh, sweet in scent, and bitterish. They are hot and dry in 2° . cleanse, attenuate, cut, open, are cephalick, pectoral, lithontriprick, and alexipharmick. Used chiefly in Diseases of the Head and Nerves, as Epilepsies, Convulsions, Palsies, Apoplexies, Lethargies, Carus, Megrim: They are as great a pectoral as Hyslop, and may be used instead thereof: they provoke Urine and the Terms, resist Poyson, break and expel the stone, and cure the hypochondriack Melancholy.

68. Stachadis Citrine, Of yellow Stechas or Motherwort, they are hot and dry, aperitive, absterfive, diaphoretick, and vulnerary: they open Obstructions of liver, spleen, reins, bladder, and Womb, and dry up Catarrhs, and sharp defluxions on the Lungs; kill Worms, and dissolve congealed blood: Outwardly, in a Bath, they loosen the hardness of the Womb, and in a Lixivium kill Nits in the head.

69. Tamarisci, Of Tamarisk. See the Wood, Bark, and Root; the flowers are seldom or never used.

70. Tanacetii, Of Tansey. They have the Virtues of the Herb, which see Chap. 4. Sect. 649.

71. Tapfi barbati, Of white or male Mullein. They are Anodyne, and chiefly used to allay pains wheresoever, principally in the Hemorrhoides, in Tumors and Apophthumes: They dye hair yellow.

72. Vilie, Of the Line-Tree. They are hot and dry, of tenuious parts, Discussive and Cephalick, used chiefly in the falling Sickness, dead Palsies, Apoplexies, Vertigo, Lethargy, Carus, Convulsions, and Megrim.

73. Tussilaginis, Farsare, Of Colts-foot. They are not kept in the Shops, but sometimes a Conserve is made of them for the same intentions, for which the Herb is used.

74. Verbasci, Of female Mullein. They have the Vertues of Tapfus barbatus, at Sect. 71.

75. Viole Martie, Of Violets. They are cold in 1^o. moist in 2^o. Emollient, Loosning, Cooling, Pectoral, and Cordial. They abate the heat of Feavers, cool the fury of Choler, resist Melancholy, cure the Head-ach, Coughs, roughness of the Throat, Catarrhs or Distillations, Pleurisies, and pains in the sides; they loosen the Belly, yet are a famous Cordial: the Juyc or Syrup may be given from ℥ij. to iij. Tinctura Violarum. R. the Flowers, and steep them in Violet-water, strain them off, and with a few drops of Sp. Vitrioli augment the colour. But it will be better made, by first sprinkling the Spirit of Vitriol upon the Flowers, and then digesting. Extractum Violarum. R. Of Violets lbj. Water lbij. Shake them together in a Glass Vesica, which digest in B. M. to extract the colour, then express the Tincture; to which put more fresh Flowers; proceed as before, and repeat this work several times Lastly, strain and inspissate. It has all the Virtues aforesaid, of which you may give ʒi. You may also make a Quintessence of Violets, as of Roses, at Sect. 59.

Chap. VI. Of FRUITS.

College.] Unripe Grapes, winter-cherries, Love-Apples, Almonds sweet and bitter, Anacardiums, Oranges, Hazel Nuts, Nut Ben, Barberries, Chocolate Nut, Capers, Guinny Pepper, Figs green and dry, Carpoballonium, Cloves, Cassia fistula, Chestnuts, Cherries red and black, Cloves white, black and red, Citrons, Citruls, Coculus, Indi, Coffe, Colocythis, Currans, Cornels, Cubebs, Cucumers garden and wild, Gowds, Hips, Cypress cods, Quinces, Dates, Dwarf-elder-berries, Straw-berries, Galls common and Turkey, Acorns, Acorn Cups, Pomeranates, Goos-berries, Ivy-berries, Herb true-love berries, Walnuts, Junones, Juniper berries, Bay berries, Limons, Apricocks, Mandrake Apples, Peaches, ches, Thorn-Apples, Garden-Apples, Crabs, Musk-Melons, Medlars, Mulberries, Myrobalans, Myrtle-berries, Water-Nuts, Nutmegs, Pistick-Nuts, Vomiting Nuts, Olives pickled, Poppy heads white and black, Pumpions, Kidney beans, Pine cones, Pepper-white, black and long, Prunes, Prunella's, Sloes, Pears, Sumach berries, English cutrans, Buckthorn berries, Black berries, Raspberries, Elder berries, Sebestens, Cayobods, Services, Hawthorn berries, Pine nuts, Tamarinds, Grapes, Raisins.

SALMON's Comment.

1. Agræta, Unripe Grapes, they are cooling, drying and binding, comfort the Stomach, stir up an Appetite (but create Crudities) and allay the heat of burning Feavers. But Agræta (called Omphacium) is the juve of the unripe Grapes; strained and kept close in vessels, which we in England call Verjuice. It is cold in 20, dry in 30, exceeding good Sauce for Meats, being a very sour juve, and of thick substance. It is used outwardly against the heat of the Stomach and Hypochondria's, and is better in all hot diseases than Vinegar. In making of it, let the Grapes first stand 40 or 50 days in the Sun before expression.

2. Alkekengi, Halicacaba, Baccæ, Winter-cherries. The Essence, Tincture, or Decoction of the Berries are of wonderful force to provoke Urine, break the Stone, and expel Gravel.

3. Amoris Poma, Love-Apples. They are only eaten as Sauce in hot Countries. See chap. 4. sect. 326.

4. Amygdalea dulcia, Sweet-Almonds. The sweet are temperate and moist in 1°. n urish much, take away sharpness and pain, often used in Emulsions: from them an oyl is drawn by expression, which is Emollient, maturative, Anodyne and pectoral. You may give ʒj. or ij. with Manna or Sugar against the Pleurisie, Colick or Stone; and for gripings in Children new born ʒij. with Sugar penids: It is excellent good in Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Asthma's and Ulcers of the Lungs, and cures the Doglike Appetite. Senn.

5. Amygdala amara, bitter Almonds. They are hot and dry in 20, aperient, absterfive, attenuating, and diuretick: they help the Liver and Spleen, open Obstructions of mesentery & womb, cure the head-ach by chewing, and applying them so to the forehead: they ease pains in the side, help the Strangury, and cleanse the Lungs, cure the Cough and shortness of Breath, and the bitings of mad Dogs. The expressed oyl is good to all the intentions aforesaid; yet is not often taken inwardly. Outwardly (both the former and this) softens the hardness of the nerves, dissolves wind, helps pain and noise in the Ears, brings down the great bellies of children, helps the Dropie, provokes urine, and cleanses the skin from scurf, morpew, spots and blemishes, if mixt with the oyl of Scorpions, and so used.

6. Anacardium, Anacardiums, or Beans of Malacca; hot and dry in 4°. The Oyl is Corrosive and Caustick: it takes away Warts and hardness of the Skin, breaks Imposthumes, helps Baldness, Leprosie, and Tooth-ach, being put into the hollownes thereof; this Oyl mixt with Chalk, stains so as it will never be taken out. The Fruit is Cephalick, and strengthens the Memory and Senses; steeped in Whey and taken, they help the Asthma, & kill Worms; being burnt, it makes pleasant sport by its crackling, and lightning, yielding various and strange colours.

7. Aurantia mala. Oranges. See the Peels, chap. 2. sect. 2. The juyce of the four are best, and nearly as good as Citrons, but weaker; the Pulp helps in hot diseases, Feavers, hot Stomachs, and revives fainting Spirits. (The Seeds see Chap. 7.) Unguentum Aurantiotum. Take a sharp Orange, make a whole in it, squeeze out the juyce, with which mix Mithridate, Saffron, and a little Vinegar, put it into the Peel again, roast it in Embers, and strain it out for use. Laid on the Temples, it eases pains of the head, and causes sleep; put on the pit of the Stomach, it abates the heat thereof, and of the Heart; applied to the Wrists or Pulsēs, it helps Feavers, &c.

8. Avellana, Hazle-Nuts. Being cleaved from their skins, they are pectoral and restorative; they open Obstructions of the Lungs and Stomach, and are of good nourishment. You may draw an oyl by expression, not inferior to that of Sweet Almonds, which has all the vertues of that Oyl; besides which, it helps pains of the Joynts. The Kernels made into Milk, (as they make Almond milk) strengthen, restore, cool the heat of Feavers; stop the Bloody-flux, and all other Lasks. If the Milk be drawn with Mead, it is pectoral, and helps old Coughs. The Filbert is best.

9. Balanus Myrsefica, Glans Unguentaria. The Nut Ben; hot in 30. dry in 20. Mesue saith, there are two sorts; that which is as great as an Hesse-nut, which Morhardes calls the purging Nut; and the small like a Pease, out of which is drawn the Oyl of Ben. They have a fat oily Kernel, like an Almond, being the fruit of a Tree like an Hazel. They cleanse and purge upwards and downwards Choleric and Flegm, being given ʒj. at a time in Mead. Oleum de Ben. Oyl of Ben. It is made by expression, as Oyl of Almonds. It is Emollient, Discaffer, and Pectoral; it softens the hardness of the Sinews, and cold diseases of them: dropt into the Ears, it helps pain, noise, and deafness, cures distempers of the Kidneys, as also roughness, and other faults of the skin. It never grows rancid, and is therefore used with Perfumes, as Musk, Civet, Ambergrease, &c. Some use Oyl of Cherry-stones with Benjamin dissolved for it.

10. Berberis, Oxyacantha, Galeani fructus, Barberies. Cold and moist in 20. They are of thin parts; strengthen the Stomach and Liver, provoke Appetite, quench the Heat of Feavers, and stop Fluxes.

11. Cacao, Chocolate Nut. It is almost like an Almond, and grows in husks, brown, yellow, and reddish: it comes from Guatimal, being used there in stead of Money: the Indians make a drink of it with Pepper; and a Confection called Succolata, or Chocolate, the Vertues of which see Chap. 4. Sect. 113.

12. Cappares, Capers. See the Root, Chap. 1. Sect. 31. and Chap. 2. Sect. 5. The Buds, Chap. 4. Sect. 120.

13. Capsici siliqua, piper Indicum, Guiny-Pepper. See Chap. 4. Sect. 121.

14. Carice, ficus arida, passe, dried Figs, hot in 2°. and temperate; they are Pectoral, help Coughs, Asthma, hoariness, ulcers in the Lungs, spitting of Blood, Stone and Gravel in the Kidnies and Bladder; expel poyson, drive out the Measles and Small Pox: outwardly, they suppurate or ripen, and are good in pestilential buboes, Imposthumes, Phlegmones, and hot tumours behind the Ears.

15. Cardamomum majus, minus, Cardamoms greater and lesser: the greater are hot and dry in 2°. the lesser in 3°. they warm, attenuate, digest, are carminative, alexipharmick, and diuretick; they help concoction, and principally comfort the head and womb.

16. Caryobalsamum, Fruit of the Balsam-tree. It is seldom used. Cubebs are taken instead thereof.

17. Caryophylli, Cloves. They are a Flower, not a Fruit, made black and hard by the Sun-beams. See their Vertues, Chap. 4. Sect. 136.

18. Cassia fistularis, Cassia fistula, or Cassia of the Cane. That of Brasil purges more in 3j. than the Ægyptian in ʒij. The pulp is extracted by taking it out of the Cane, mixing of it with Rhenish Wine, and forcing it through a sieve. Aqua Cassie, it is made of the Pulp with the Juyce of Lemmons and Whey drawn off in B. M. dose to ʒvj. in the Stone and inflammation of the Reins. See Chap. 4. Sect. 137.

19. Castanea, Chestnuts. They have the Vertues of Almonds and hazel nuts, but more nourishing.

20. Cerasa nigra, Black-cherries. They are temperate, but inclining to moisture; they are a very great Cephalick, and cure Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Convulsions, and Palsies; you may use either their Essence, Tincture, or Spirit. Their Essence made a little thick, is one of the greatest and most wonderful Balsams in nature: you may make their Tincture or Extract with S.V. or their own water.

31. Cerasa rubra, Red Cherries. They cool, strengthen the heart and stomach, quench thirst, and are good in Feavers.

22. Cicer album, nigrum, rubrum, Chick-pease, white, black, and red. They are hot and dry in 1°. emollient, absterfivè, discutivè, and diuretick: the decoction is prevalent against the stone: their other virtues see Chap. 4. Sect. 161.

23. Cicer Sylvestre, Wild chiches, or chick-pease, they are hotter and dryer than the former, more biting and bitter, but operate as them: their decoction loosens the belly, provokes the terms, and encreaseth milke in Nurses.

24. Citrus mala, Citrons. The white pulp is cold, and of thick juyce: the inner pulp is fowr, cold and dry, excellent good against feavers, and hot distempers of the Stomach and Liver: it represseth Choler (as Galen saith) causeth Appetite, cools, cuts, and attenuates tough and stumy humours: the Peel is hot in 1°. dry in 20. is alexipharmick, diaphoretick and carminative. It kills worms, resists putrefaction and pestilential diseases: you may make a strong oyl or essence out of them by expression.

25. Citrullus, Citrul, a kind of Gourd; it is a fruit something bigger than the other Cucumber: See its Virtues, Chap. 1. Sect. 166.

26. Coculus Indus, Coculus Indus, (they are not the Nux Vomica, whatever some suppose, for this is a kind of berry, that a real nut:) It is cold in 4°. narcotick and poysonous, if given in too great a quantity, causing deadly sleep: of it self it is dangerous, but it may be given in other Compositions safely enough to cause sweat: the powder of the berry kills Lice, if strewed among hair, and mixt with flower, honey and crums of bread, it presently stupifies them. See Chap. 4. Sect. 171.

27. Coffea, Cophy. See the virtues thereof, Chap. 4. Sect. 178.

28. Colocynthis, Coloquintida, Lanahel, wild Gourd: hot and dry in 3°. It attracts, opens, cleanses, and purges only by stool, flegm and choler, and that violently: It cures the Scotoma, Vertigo, Megrin, continual Headach, dysuria, lethargy, Apoplexia, Epilepsia obstructions in the Lungs, Liver, Spleen, Gall and Reins, Green-sickness, &c. provokes the terms, and purges all watery and noxious humours. It is only to be given to strong bodies, and that with correction, from grain vii. to ℥j. It is a powerful Medicament against the Jaundice, Dropsie, Gout, Scurvy and French Pox: It draws Humours from the remote parts, as brain, nerves, and joints, and expels them: It cleanses the skin, is good against putrid feavers, but kills the Fetus, Spiritus Vitæ aureus Rulandi: Take either the powder of Coloquintida or troches Alkandel ℥ss. spirit of wine ℥x, or xii. digest 20 days, decant, filter, and keep it for use. It purgeth all tough clammy humours; choler, flegm, melancholy and water without danger. It may be given every third morning from xii to ℥ss; but inspissated to the consistence of an Extract, ʒgr. x. ad ℥j. Extractum Alhandal. R pulp of Coloquintida without the Seeds, digest it 30 days in S. V. (so will it lose all its sharpness) filter it, then digest again 20 days (and it will be yet sweeter) lastly correct it with oyl of Mastick, Nutmegs, or Cinnamon; and keep it for use: it has all the aforesaid Virtues, Wickerus. But Sala extracts it with Plantain-water, p. ij. Sp. Vin. p. j. then decants, filtrates, and inspissates to the consistence of honey; of which he gives gr. iiii. ad gr. x. with correctors. But thin Canary or Rhenish Wine makes yet a better Extract: And Aqua Calcis Vivæ yet exceeds all.

29. Corinthiacæ passale, Currants; they are an excellent cordial, gently cool and loosen the belly, and an exceeding good peccorals where note, the Greek Currants are here intended, not the English.

30. Cornu, Cornels. They cool, dry, and bind, and stop Fluxes: give ʒi. in powder. Or you may make Rob by mixing with the juice of the Pulp p. ij. Sugar p. j.

31. Cubebe, Cubebs (See Chap. 4. Sect. 194.) hot and dry in 2°. They strengthen a cold and moist Stomach, expel Wind, ease the Spleen, cleanse the breast of tough humors, help Colds, Asthma's, Coughs, shortness of Breath, Hoarseness; warm and comfort a cold Womb, strengthen the Head, Heart, and Brain; macerated in Canary they excite to Venerie; chewed in the mouth they are a good Masticatorie.

32. Cucumis hortensis, Garden-Cucumbers. They are cold and moist in 3°, and comfort very much a hot stomach; they make a good Sallet, and are to be eaten with Salt, Vinegar, Oyl, and Pepper. An Essence made of them is of great effect in Feavers, and all other hot distempers.

33. Cucumis agrestis, asivinus, Wild Cucumber, hot and dry in 2°, and of thin parts. Of the Juice hereof is made Elaterium, which according to the Colledge's Prescription is this. Take of wild Cucumbers almost ripe, and cut them with a Knife upwards, press out the juice gently with your foremost fingers, let it run through a sieve into a clean glazed Vessel, let it settle, and pour off the clear water into another Vessel; dry the settlings in the Sun, and keep them for your use: if you will, you may keep the clear water for Unguentum Artanita. Schroder saith, It is made of the juice of the wild Cucumber inspissated. It is white and light, and burns in the fire like grease: It lasts good the longest of all Juices. Agineta commends that which is green and not above half a year old: Dioscorides saith, that which is white, and is from two to ten years old is best, Lib. 4. cap. 148. Horsius saith, it keeps its virtues two hundred years: Paracelsus saith the oldest is best: chuse that which is old and very bitter. It is cleansed (whilst liquid) by dissolving in water and filtering: It is corrected by spirit of Vitriol or Alcalizate salt) as Scammony. It purge water violently, expels the Terms, kills the fetus, and brings away both Birth and After-birth: it is a specifick against the Dropsie; and certainly (although very strong) the most excellent of all vegetable Purges. Dose a gr. ʒ. ad gr. ʒ. Extractum Elaterii. Take the depurated juice, put upon it S. V. and in 24 hours it will extract a Tincture which you may inspissate. Fœcula Elaterii. 'Tis made of the settlings of the juice of the ripe Cucumber: the Dose of these two last is a gr. ʒ. ad ii. Extractum Elaterii Salmonis. It is made by putting two or three Cucumbers slit into a pint of strong lime-water, and in a few days it extracts all the Cathartick vertue. It is a most excellent purge; give two or three Spoonfuls: you may make it stronger or weaker, according to the age and strength of the Patient.

34. Cucurbita, Garden-Gourd. It has the virtues of the Garden-Cucumber, which see sect. 32. a distilled water of the unripe Fruit, Fruit, or the juice thereof, abates inward heat, and is good against all external inflammations of the Eyes. The wild Gourd is Coccythia, see Sect. 28.

35. Cynosbati fructus, Hips, or Fruit of the Canker-Rose. The Pulp cools and pleases the Stomach, is good against Feavers and unnatural heat; the Seeds break the Stone.

36. Cupressi conis, Cypress seeds. Temperate and dry in 3°. they are astringent, stop all Fluxes of Blood, suck up moisture, and heal old Ulcers.

37. Cidaniz, Quinces. Cold in 1°. dry in 2°. They are stomachical, astringent, good against Vomiting, Fluxes, Hickets, and illness of the Stomach and Bowels. Schröder saith, they bind before meat, and loosen the Belly after meat. They are sometimes candied or preserved whole: Wine of Quinces is the liquid Juice fermented with Sugar. Rob or Quindony of Quinces is the juice inspissate to the consistence of Honey. Marmalate of Quinces is their decoction filtrated through a bag, and made thick with Sugar, and put into Boxes. Diacynodonum is the sour juice p. ij. Sugar p. v. boiled to a thicknes. Spirit of Quinces is made of the sweet juice fermented. Oyl of Quinces is made of Quinces not pared, infused in Oyl of Omphacine.

38. Dactylus, Dates. They are hot and dry, pectoral, stop Fluxes of the Belly, strengthen the Child in the Womb, heat the Reins and Bladder; but they breed gross blood, and easily create Obstructions, being hard of Concoction; Outwardly they are Emollient: Chuse the great yellow sort, full, fleshy Date, a little wrinkled, white about the stone, and red at the Rind, which tastes like Wine, and being shaken make no noise. They grow in Judea, Syria, Egypt, and the like hot places. Unripe Dates stop Fluxes, and help the falling out of the fundament.

39. Ebuli, Chameæstis grana, Dwarf Elder-berries. You may make Essence, Tincture, and Rob of them, as of Elder-berries; they purge Water, cause Sweat, cure Dropsies, Cachexies, and suffocation of the Womb, which they remove in the fit by sweat.

40. Ficus virides, Green figs. They are said to be good against the Stone: and applied ease pains of the Gout.

41. Fraga, Strawberries. They quench thirst, help inflammations of the stomach, comfort the Heart, revive the spirits, cool, moisten, and are good against diseases of the spleen, and the reins, resist Poyson and Melancholy, provoke Urine, and are good against the stone. You may make, 1. a Tincture of them with their own water or Rhenish Wine. 2. An Essence of the Juice. 3. A Spirit of the Juice fermented.

42. Galla communes & Turcica, Galls common and Turkey. Cold in 2°. dry in 3°. They are very drying and binding, used in drying and making Ink. Their decoction in water or sharp wine stops all manner of fluxes, cures Vomiting, and the Celiac Passion: but they stanch blood; let them be laid on burning coals till white, and then quenched in Vinegar. The unripe gall is called Omphacitis, and is a harsh Medicine; it fastens loose Teeth, stops Fluxes and Rheums, especially those of the Gums, Throat, and Mouth.

43. Glandes Quercine, Acorns. They stop Fluxes of the Belly, Womb and Seed: help spitting of Blood, provoke Urine, and expel Poison: they dry up the Fluxes of Rheum which fall upon the Almonds and Jaws, and are said to ease pains of the sides.

44. Glandium Quercinorum caliculae, cupule, Acorn-Cups. They have the Virtues of Acorns, but are more binding.

45. Granata mala, Mala panica, Pomgranates. They are of two sorts, Acid, and Wine-like: They have both an excellent juice, and comfort the Stomach; the Wine-like are Temperate, Cephalick, and Cordial, good against the Megrim, the Syncope, and palpitacion of the heart. The Acid are cold and astringent, used in Vomitings, Cholerick Fevers, Gonorrhœas, foul and sore Mouths, Pica in Women with Child.

46. Grossularie, Uvae crissæ, Gooseberries. The unripe Berries are cold and dry in 2^o. and astringent, serving for Sauces, to cool in hot Fevers, to stop Fluxes and the Terms, cool Inflammations and Erisipelas, and to cause Appetite. The ripe Berries are sweet and of good nourishment: Of them an excellent Wine is made by mixing the Pulp with Water, so much as may make it thin enough to ferment.

45. Hedvæ bacca, Ivy-berries.

They are Diuretick, Lithontriptick, Alexipharmick, and as Schroder saith, Emetick, and Cathartick, given in burning and pestilential Feavers.

48. Herbæ Paradis bæcæ, Herb True-Love Berries. Inwardly, they are good against all manner of Poyson, Plague, and pestilential Diseases; they resist the Venom of Arsnick, being taken 20 days together: they are thought to be Hypnotick. The Herb is also called Triphyllus, and Solanum Tetraphyllum, or four-leav'd Nightshade.

49. Juglandes, Walnuts. The green Nuts boiled in Sugar and eaten, comfort the Stomach, and resist Poyson and Plague, and are prevalent in pestilential Feavers. The Julii cause gentle vomiting, give ease in Colick and Stone, and cure Fluxes. The meat of the ripe Nuts is pectoral and good against Plague and Poyson. The expressed Oil is Carminative Balsamick and healing; it softens shrunk Sinews, cures old Scabs, and smooths the skin.

50. Jujube, Jujubes, temperate and moist in 1^o. ferè. They are a long fruit almost like an Olive, with one stone, and taste like a raisin; they grow in Italy upon the Ziziph Tree. They are pectoral, good against Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Pleurishes, spitting of Blood, sharpness of Urine, and corrosion of Reins and Bladder.

51. Juniperi bæcæ, Juniper Berries; hot in 3^o. dry in 2^o. They are Diuretick, Lithontriptick, Sudorifick, Alexipharmick, Cephalick, Pectoral, and Hysterick: they provoke Urine and the

Terms,

Terms, and expel Wind, open obstructions in the Breast, Spleen, Reins and Bladder; are good against the Plague, and all other malign Feavers, the Strangury and Dropsie, the biting of mad Dogs, or any other venomous Creatures; they are good against the Colick and Stone, Convulsions and rawness of the Stomach, Heart-qualms, Rheums, Frensie, Madnes, yellow Jaundice, Epilepsie, Gout, and Palsie. From the Berries are, 1. A distilled water without fermentation. 2. A Spirit from their juice fermented with water four or five days. 3. A distilled Oyl, in distilling the water, that is the Spirit. 4. Salt of their ashes. 5. An Extract of the Berries, with S. V. or their own Spirit, which is given from Di. to Dij. 6. Elixir of Juniper. Re. Ripe Berries well bruised, digest in their own water impregnated with Salt of Juniper; strain and inspissate to the consistency of an Extract, or of Honey; with which mix twelve times so much rectified Spirit of Juniper, digest in the Sun or a gentle Balneo 40. days, so have you an Elixir compleated with all the Vertues of Juniper-Berries. 7. An Essence made of the juice impregnated with their own Salt. Both the Elixir and Essence are very great Secrets in the Stone and all pestilential Distempers: you may give of either a spoonful.

52. Lauri Bacca, Bay-berries, hot and dry in 3°. They provoke the Terms and Urine, expel Wind, ease all manner of pains proceeding of cold, are good against the Colick, Stone, Obstructions of the Reins and Bladder; they are Cephalick, and comfort the Nerves, cure Palsies, Convulsions and Epilepsies, ease pains after Travel, and comfort a cold stomach. Outwardly, they are good against the Gout, Sciatica, and stinging of venomous Beasts; are Anodyne, and in a Gargarism cure the Tooth-ach. You may make all the same preparations, which are made of Juniper Berries. As an Essence of them, being digested in their own Spirit or Sherry Wine, impregnated with their own Salt. An Oyl thus, Re. Of the bruised Berries, this warm water this, digest a while and distil in an Alembick or Vessel, so have you an Oyl and water, which separate. It has all the Vertues of the Berries: Outwardly, it is Costmetick, cures scald Heads, and kills Lice: you may make an Oyl also by expression.

53. Lemonia, Lemons. They have the Vertues of Citrons, but are sharper, dryer, and cooler; excellent against Feavers, other hot Diseases, and the Stone: they strengthen the stomach, and create Appetite.

54. Mala Armeniaca, præcocia. Apricocks, cold and moist in 2°. They are grateful to the stomach, yet very apt to putrifie there, and therefore more dangerous in surfeiting.

55. Mala Mandragora, Mandrake Apples. They are cold and moist in 4°. Dioscorides saith, They may be eaten with Pepper and hot Spice: and you have the Opinion of Avicenna for it, that they cleanse the Matrix: doubtless they cause fruitfulness, else Rachel had never been so covetous of Reuben's Mandrakes.

56. Mala Persica, Peaches cold and moist in 2°. They are pleasant to the Stomach, but easily corrupt: before meat they loosen the belly; being dried they bind and stop Fluxes.

57. Mala Stramonia, Thorn-Apple. Cold in 4°. and Narcotick as Mandrake Apples; made into an Unguent or Balsam, they help all Inflammations, Burns and Scalds, and ease pain in a moment.

58. Mala hortensis, Garden-Apples: Here is intended them which we call Pippins and Pear-mains. They are cooling, and good in Feavers; they comfort the Heart and Stomach, and gently loosen the Belly: The Essence is good for all the purposes aforesaid, being made of the Juice fermented the which we in England call Sider: it is best made of the fruit first rotten, for then they yield the most in quantity, and make Sider of the richest taste.

59. Mala sylvestria, Crabs or Wildings. They are cold and moist, help all inflammations, Burnings and Scaldings, if presently applied, more especially if mixt with yeast or Beer; inwardly the Juice is good against heat of the Stomach, Vomiting and Fainting, and makes good Sauce.

60. Melones Melopones, Melons, and Musk-melons. They are very cold and moist, and harder of digestion than Cucumbers: they are subject to putrifie, and cause Surfeits: boiled or baked and eaten with Oyl, Pepper Salt, Vinegar, or Wine; they are good food but abate lust.

61. Mispila, M. dars. They are cold, dry, and astringent; most binding whilst hard; they stop the Dysenteria, and all manner of Fluxes, and stay Vomiting. The rotten are less hurtful, but easily putrifie.

62. Mora, Mulberries. The unripe Berries are cold and dry in 3°. very astringent, being very effectual against all Fluxes, as Diarrhoea's, Dysenteria's, Lyenteria's. Terms, Whites, and spitting Blood: Outwardly, in a Gargarism they help inflam'd and sore Mouths and Throats. The ripe Berries are cold and moist, and taken before meat, loosen the Belly, quench Thirst, comfort the Stomach, stop Vomiting, and cause Appetite, yet soon putrifie.

63. Myrobalani Bellerice, Chebule, Citrine, Emblice, Indica. The five sorts of Myrobalans. The Bellerick purge Flegm: The Chebule first purge Flegm, then Cho'cr: The Citrine or yellow purge Choler: The Emblice, purge Flegm and Water: The Indian or black purge Melancholy. Dose a ʒvj. ad ʒiʒ. The Bellerick are round; the Chebule, long with corners; the Citrine are round like the Bellerick; the Indian black and eight cornered. Horsius saith, That they are Prunorum quedam genera, a kind of Prunes found growing in the Kingdom of Cambaia, which the Arabians call delegi. Sala makes an Extract of them (being stoned) by beating the pulpy part, and steeping it in water for some days, then straining and inspissating; others add juvee of Pearmains, and then inspissate.

64. Nyctilli, Nycti bacce, Nycti

tle Berries. They are Segnotick, and dry much, they are not used often internally, but in Fluxes of the Bowels, spitting of Blood, and all other Fluxes of Blood. In a Fomentation they help the Piles; in a Cataplasim with Barly meal, they take away heat and inflammations of the Eyes, help Ruptures, broken Bones, Luxations, and weakness of the Limbs. A Syrup of them is Pectoral, good against Coughs, Colds, and Ulcers of the Lungs: a decoction of them cures the falling out of the Womb and Fundament, cures Tetter, scald Heads, and Scurf or Morpew, by fomenting the part.

65. Nuces aquaticæ, Tribuli aquatici Nuts, Water-Nuts. They are the Fruit of the Water-Caltrop: being drunk in Rhenish-wine, they help the Stone, and resist Poyson: The Powder of the Nuts are very good against pissing Blood, Gravel and Fluxes: Bread made of the Kernels, bind the Belly.

66. Nuces Cypræssæ, Cypress-Nuts. They are the Fruit of the Cypress-tree, cold in 10. and dry in 30. The Nuts drunk in Alicant, stop all Fluxes of Blood, consolidate Ulcers in stubborn Bodies, and dry up excessive moisture, and cure Ruptures, Polypus, Carbuncles, Phagedons, &c.

67. Nuces Moschatæ, Myristicæ, Nutmegs. They grow in the Molucca Islands, Zeilan and the Isle of Banda in the East-Indies. They are hot and dry in 20. Cephalick, Pectoral, Cardiack, and Carminative. They cause a sweet Breath, quicken the Sight, comfort the Stomach, strengthen the Liver, ease pain of the Spleen, expel Wind, stop Lasks, and help against all cold Diseases; they help concoction, are good against faintings and palpitation of the heart. Syrup of Nutmegs. Infuse them bruised in strong S. V. twenty days, decant the Tincture, and make it thick like a Syrup by dissolving white Sugarcandy therein. It is good against the Colick, and all manner of griping in the Sides and Bowels, taking two or three spoonfuls in the morning fasting for several days together. Candied Nutmegs: They are brought so out of the Indies; but we may do them thus: R. Of the newest Nutmegs, steep them (to soften them) in a strong Lixivium of quick Lime, or Salt of Tartar, scrape of the outward shell, and wash them till the Lixivium is gone; then dry them, and candy them with Syrup of Sugar. Distilled Oyl of Nutmegs: It is drawn with the water, and must be separated with a separating Funnel. It has all the vertues of the Nutmegs, and may be given à gut. iij. ad vj. Oyl of Nutmegs by expression: R. Fresh Nutmegs, bruise them well, beat them in a double Vessel, or a Frying pan, and strain out the Oyl (whilst hot) with an Almond Press. It has the vertues of the former, is good in the Colick and Stone, given in Canary: Outwardly it is Anodyne, causeth rest anointed on the Temple, and so also easeth pain of the Head. Extract of Nutmegs: R. Of the expressed Oyl, and make an Extract by digesting in S. V. tartarized, decant, filter, and evaporate to the consistence of Oyl Balsam of Nutmegs: Mix the expressed Oyl with some few drops of the distilled Oyl. And after the same manner

you may make Syrup, Confects, Oyls, Extract, and Balsam of Mace, or you may make them joynly. See Mace, Chap. 2. Sect. 20. Where note that the Oyl of Mace or Nutmegs by expression, is the Ground, Foundation, and Body of all Great, Noble, and Generous artificial Balsams: for if to Oyl of Mace or Nutmegs by expression you add a small proportion of Oyl of Cinnamon, you have Balsam of Cinnamon, &c. Choose them which are fresh, heavy, fat, and which, when pricked, force out Oyl.

68. Nuces Pistachie, Pistick or Pistick Nuts. They nourish, restore in Consumptions, are Pectoral, cause Lust, and have all the Vertues of Hazel-Nuts, but much exceeding them.

69. Nuces Vomice, Vomiting Nuts. They are cold in 4°. and Melancholick, causing deadly sleep. Some suppose them to be poysonous, and not fit to be given inwardly alone: yet gr. iij. or iiij. taken inwardly cause sweat, and expel pestilential Vapours: the powder of them given to Beasts and Fowls, presently stupifies them, and if taken in any large quantity kills them.

70. Olive Mvrid condite, Pickled Olives. They cool Inflammation, and cause Appetite. See Chap. 9.

71. Papaveris albi & nigri capita. White and black Poppy-heads. They are stronger than the Seed to cause sleep, and repress distillations, and come nearly in strength to Opium; See the seed, chap. 7.

72. Pepones, Pompions or great Mellons. See Chap. 4. Sect. 490. and 491.

73. Phaseoli, Kidney Beans: See Chap. 4. Sect. 505. The great Garden kind, and the wild are very strong food, and nourish much: the Meal with Oxy-mel cures the Inflammations of Bruises, Tumors, and Wounds: in a Cataplasim, it ripens Tumors, is Anodyne, and helps the Kings Evil.

74. Pini Coni, Pine-Cods. The whole Cones or Cods (being fresh) boyled in Canary, and drunk every morning fasting a good draught, helps old Coughs, Asthma's, and Consumptions of the Lungs.

75. Piper rotundum, album & nigrum; Piper longum. Pepper round and long: the round is white and black. They have all one and the same Vertue; the long Pepper is the best, then the white: lastly, the black: they are hot and dry in 3°. Pepper is attractive, digestive, discussive, diuretick, Alexipharmick, Cephalick, Stomatick, Nephretick, and Uterine. It warms a cold Stomach, provokes Urine and the Terms, expels Wind, dissolves the Kings Evil, digests crude Humors, causes Appetite, and cures Agues; it helps a weak sight, and cures cold diseases of the Head and Nerves. Tinctura Piperis. R. Black Pepper grossly bruised ℥ij. Spirit of Wine ℔ij. digest till the Tincture is blood-red, then decant and keep it for use; it has all the Vertues of the Pepper, and potently provokes the Terms, given in any convenient Vehicle for some days. Oleum Piperis. It is made as Oyl of other Berries, ℔xxiiij. of Pepper yields but ℥j. of Oyl; for which cause put the distilled water often upon the Caput

Mor.

Mortuum, & you will have the more. Dose à gut. ij. ad v. It pierces strongly, expels wind, and cures tertians given two hours before the fit, and mixt also with some warming Oyntment to anoint upon the back.

76. Pruna Gallica, Damascena, & Brignolenta, vel Prunella. Prunes French, Damask, and of Brignola, See Chap. 4. Sect. 537. They are all cold and moist, loosen the Belly, allay the sharp Humors, and quench Thirst. Prunella's are the best, cool and moisten more than the others, strengthen the Stomach, and are excellent in Feavers; but move not the Belly.

77. Prunella sylvestria, Sloes. They are cold and dry, and very binding: the juice of Sloes stops the belly, and all fluxes, the terms, whites, and all issues of blood, stops vomiting and causes an Appetite; it corrects sharp and thin Choler, strengthens the Stomach and Liver, cools Inflammations, and causes rest in hot Diseases Dose is ʒj.

78. Pyræ, Pears. All sorts of them are grateful to the Stomach, cool and bind, chiefly the four; the sweet a little loosens. Their Essence (which is called Perry) is made like Wine; it is an excellent and strong Liquor, very much exceeding all French Wines: It is a Cordial, and revives the Spirits, and comforts the whole man: you may give it in feavers; it is much more innocent than thin Wines; you may with it extract Tinctures, draw Essences out of dry Herbs, and do many other excellent things.

79. Rhus, Sumach Berries. Cold in 1°. dry in 3°. They very much bind, and stop all fluxes of blood.

80. Ribesja, English Currants; cold and dry in 2°. They allay Choler, cool Inflammations, comfort a hot Stomach, heal a Dysenteria, stop fluxes, quench thirst, resist putrefaction, and are excellent in feavers.

81. Rhamni, Spina Cervinae fructus, Buckthorn-berries, hot and dry in 2°. They are the most excellent of all strong Vegetable Purges, carrying away Choler, Flegm, and watery Humours, and drawing them from all parts of the body: They are of great force against Cachexies, Dropies, Jaundice, Gour, and Kings evil: of the Berries you may give from ʒj to 2ʒ, or you may give them in powder à ʒj. ad ʒjss. In decoction you may give from 40 to 60; or you may make an Essence of them, and give of it ʒj; or a Syrup and give it from ʒj to ʒij. You must gather them about Michaelmas; if the berries be ripe, the Syrup will be green; but if not ripe, yellow: you may make an Extract as of Tithymal, Chap. 4. Sect. 665.

82. Rubi vulgaris fructus, Mora Bati, Bramble-berries, or black berries. The fruit unripe is cold, dry, and astringent. They are good against Dysenteria's, all manner of Fluxes and Lasks, the overflowing of the Terms, the Whites, Gonorrhœa's, Vomiting, weakness of the Stomach, and spitting Blood; they are one of the greatest astringents in nature, and ought to be valued in those cases; cases where binders and strengtheners are used, whether inwardly or outwardly: Outwardly, they heal the Aphtha, and cleanse foul and sore mouths, stop bleeding in Wounds, and cure them, and are in a fomentation or ointment good against the falling out of the fundament; they are good in luxations and fractures, and fasten loose Teeth. The ripe Berries are a great Cordial, and contain a notable Restorative and enlivening Spirit: Their Essence or Wine is made as Wine is, and is not much inferior to Canary.

83. Rubi Idæi fructus, Raspberries. They have the Virtues of the former, more cordial and less binding.

84. Sambuci bacca, Grana Altes, they are Diuretick, Sudorifick, and Alexipharmick, good against stoppage of Urine, Gravel, Stone, and of notable force against the suffocation of the Womb, and other Diseases of the Matrix. You may make of them, 1. Rob or Quiddany, of the Pulp of the ripe Berries. 2. A Tincture or Extract with S. V. sharpened with Spirit of Vitriol or Sulphur; and put upon the Rob. or dried Berries; with the spirit it is called Tincture; the spirit being abstracted, it is called Extract; of the one you may give $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. of the Extract $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. A Spirit of the fermented Juice of the ripe Berries. 4. An expressed Oyl of the stones well wash'd and dry'd, then sprinkled with Wine, and strongly press'd in an Almond Press. 5. Tragea Granorum, Altes Quercitani. Make a Paste with the expressed juice of the Berries and Rye-flower, which make into very small Loaves, and bake them twice in an Oven (without burning) till they are hard enough to powder: powder the Loaves, and with new juice make a new Paste, and bake as before; which repeat the third time, Powder, and keep it for use. It is a specificke in the bloody flux: Dose $\mathfrak{a}\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{j}$. ad $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{j}\text{ss}$.

85. Sebesten, Myra, Sebesten. They are like in form and virtue to a Damson or Prune, temperate and moist, good against Catarrhs, Obstructions of the Bowels, and burning Feavers; they strengthen the stomach, and quench Thirst.

86. Siliques Cassia, Ceratonia, Carob Cods. They have a juice like Honey, which is drying and binding, is pectoral, helps Coughs and Asthma's, cools the heat of the stomach, strengthens it, and provokes Urine; the green loosen the belly.

87. Sorba, Services. They are cooling, drying, and binding, stop fluxes of the Belly, the Terms and Whites, strengthen the stomach, and stop vomiting; outwardly they heal Wounds; dry them in an Oven, and powder them.

88. Spina alba bacca, Haws, or White-thorn Berries. They are astringent, and stop all sorts of Lasks, and the terms in Women. The Powder of the stones drank in Rhenish Wine, helps the stone and dropsie.

89. Strobili, Pinei Nuclei, Pine-Nut. They are temperate and moist, restorative and pectoral: They are emollient, glutinative, discutive, digestive, and nourish much; much: They are chiefly used in Consumptions, decays of Nature, Coughs, Asthma's, Ulcers in the Kidnies, Strangury, and sharpness of Urine.

90. Tamarindi, Tamarinds. Cold and dry in 2°. They quench Thirst, and gently purge Cholera, and sharp and burnt humors; are excellent good against all burning and putrid Feavers, Tertians, and hot distempers of the Liver and Reins, the Gonorrhœa, and Scutvy; and recreate the vital Spirits. Dose of the Pulp, a ʒi. ad ʒij. You may also use them in decoction, for it is acid and pleasant, and gently looseth the Belly: chuse them that are fresh, blackish, red, fat, and wine-tasted, with many strings.

91. Uve passe majores, ripe grapes and Raisins, hot and moist in 1°. Grapes eaten largely, often produce a Diarrhœa; they strengthen and comfort the Stomach, and revive the Vital and Animal Spirits.

The Essence of the ripe Grape is Wine. Raisins are ripe Grapes dried in the Sun, and so are made very sweet: Or in an Oven, and so are sour sweet. They are Pectoral, Restorative, and a little Loosning; they strengthen the Stomach, are of good nourishment, cleansing, healing, and anodyne. They are good against Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Obstructions, and Ulcers in the mouth, lungs, stomach, wind-pipe, Kidnies and bladder; they concoct and allay the sharpness of Humours, strengthen the whole Body, resist putrefaction, and restore in Consumptions: Outwardly they ripen Tumors, help Gouts, Gangrenes, and Mortifications; and made into a Balsam, they are Vulnerary, and heal all manner of Wounds and Sores. The Stones stop Vomiting and fluxes, being parched and given in Powder.

SALMON'S Comment.

1. Abinthii, Of Wormwood.

They have the Virtues of the Herb, which see Chap. 4. Sect. 3.

2. Abinthii marini, Scirpicii, of Marsh-wormwood. I never could see any Seed it had. See Chap. 4. Sect. 5.

3. Abinthii Santonici, of Santonick Wormwood: This grows in India, Alexandria, and Egypt, and is called holy Wormwood: The Seed is generally called Santonium or Wormseed. It strengthens the Stomach, and is vulgarly used to kill and expel Worms.

4. Acetosae, Oxalidis, of Sorrel: drank in red wine, it stops bloody Flux and Lasks.

5. Agni Casti, Viticis, of Agnus Castus. They have the Virtues of the herb, which see Chap. 4. Sect. 17. drank in Rhenish wine ʒj. at a time in powder, it is said to help the Dropsie, and bitings of venomous Beasts.

6. Althaeae, Bismalvae, of Marsh-Mallows. The powder of them stops lasks, the bloody flux, &c. all other issues of blood: they are emollient, digestive, of thin parts, and good against the stone.

7. Anmeos Veri; Cumini Ecibiopii, of true Bishops-weed, or Ethiopian Cummin; hot and dry in 3°. It is Carminative, Alexipharmick, and pectoral: It is good against all poyson, plague and pestilential Feavers: It is of thin subtile parts, a little bitter and sharp, digestive, aperient, and diuretick: It provokes the terms and urine, expels wind, and causes Lust. In a Cataplasim with Honey, it dissolves Tumours and congealed blood.

8. Anmeos Vulgaris, of vulgar Bishops-weed. The Seed of this has the Virtues of the former, but not so strong.

9. Amomi, Seeds of Amomum. They are hot and dry, and Seghocratic, Hypnotick, and Anodyne: they cause pains of the head, ripen Impostumes, and help the stinging of Scorpions: they are Alexipharmick, help fits of the Mother, expel wind, ease the Colick, and applied with Basil give ease in the Gour.

10. Anethi, of Dill, hot and dry in 3°. It is stomachical, Nephritic, Carminative and Pectoral: provokes urine and the terms, encreases Seed, and milk in Nurses, strengthens the stomach, resists vomiting; is anodyne, concocts humours, and causeth sleep:

sleep: it eases pain of the head and nerves, helps Convulsions, and cures Coughs, Asthma's, and other diseases of the Lungs: You may make a distilled Oyl for the purposes aforesaid.

11. Angelica, of Angelica. They are least used. See the Root, chap.

1. sest. 7. and the Herb, chap. 4. sest. 42.

12. Anis, Anniseeds: hot and dry in 3°. They attenuate, provoke Urine, expel wind, encrease milk, provoke lust, sweeten the breath, are pectoral, help Coughs, and shortness of breath, cleanse the Breast and Lungs from flegm, bring down swollen Bellies; strengthen the stomach, and help all cold diseases thereof, continual Coughs, obstruction of Liver, and Quartan Agues. You may make from them a water and an oyl, prevalent to all the purposes aforesaid: the distilled water will be milk-white, which if set in the Sun, sends much oyl to the top. If you steep the Seed long, you will have the more oyl, a full ounce from a pound. Schroder says Di. of the Seeds (in powder) given to a child, purges and vomits gently.

13. Antbera, semen Rosarum, Rose-threads, viz. the yellow threads in the middle: they are not seeds; the seeds are contained in the hip: they are mixt with dentifrices to fasten the Teeth and Gums, and dry up Defluxions.

14. Apii, Of Parsly, hot in 2°. dry in 3°. It is a great Pectoral, Nephritick and Carminative: helps all Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Phthisicks, Cachexia, Jaundice, Dropsie; provokes Urine, breaks and dissolves the Stone, cleanses the Kidnies from Gravel, brings down the Courses and Birth, opens Obstructions of Liver and Spleen: helps the Colick, and expels Poyson: You may distil an oyl from the Seed, as from Aniseed. See the Herb, Chap. 4. sest. 478.

15. Apii rustici, vel aquatici, Pandapii, Eleoselini, Of Smallage. It has the virtues of the Herb, which see Chap. 4. sest. 478.

16. Aquilegia, Of Columbines. It facilitates Womens labour drunk in Canary: ʒj. given in Sherry-wine with ʒss of Saffron, and sweating with it, opens obstructions of the Liver, helps the Jaundice, and expels the Measles and Small Pox.

17. Asparagi, Of Asparagus. It has the virtues of the Root, which, see Chap. 1. sest. 17.

18. Atriplicis, Of Arach. The Seed is seldom or never used. See the Herb, Chap. 4. sest. 66. Yet taken with Mead, it helps the Jaundice, and Galen saith it opens Obstructions of the Liver.

19. Avene, Oats, heat in a frying pan (whole) with spirit of wine, and put into a bag, and applied to the side or belly as hot as can be endured, helps all manner of pains there, stitches and colick. The meal in a Cataplasm, discusses tumors, and dries up sores or ulcers chiefly in the head.

20. Antantium, Of Oranges. It kills worms, resists Poyson, and helps the stinging of Scorpions.

21. Bardana, Of Burdock. It is hot, dry, and digesting; and being drunk in Rhenish-wine for 50 or 60 days together, it helps Strangury, breaks the Stone, and helps the Sciatica.

22. Basilici, Ocyti, of Basil. It is good against Asthma's, Hypochondriack Melancholy, & Strangury.

23. Berberis, Oxyacanthæ Galeni, of Barberries: They are drying and binding, and stop Fluxes.

24. Bombacis, of the Cotton-tree. It helps Coughs, Asthma's, gnawings of the Stomach, and Agues; encrease Seed, and stirs up Lust: the expressed oyl is Colmetick.

25. Brusci, Rusci, of Butchers Broom, or Knee-holly. It is seldom used; but it provokes the Terms, and helps the Head-ach and yellow Jaundice.

26. Cannabis, of Hemp. It is hot and dry, consumes the Seed, and being used causes barrenness: Schroder saith, That it cures the Cough and Jaundice, but fills the Head with vapours.

27. Cardamomi majoris & minoris, Cardamoms greater and lesser. See them, chap. 6.

28. Cardui Benedicti, of the blessed Thistle. It opens Obstructions of the Liver, and has the virtues of the Herb, but not so often used. See it chap. 4. sect. 126.

29. Cardui Maris, of the Ladies Thistle. Hot and dry in 2°. It cuts, opens, chiefly used in Pleurisies, Jaundice, and Dropsies, as also in Emulsions. Dose ʒi.

30. Carthami, Croci, of Bastard-Saffron. Hot and dry in 1°. It is something Emetick, purges clammy viscous Flegm, and watery Humours, causes expectoration, and is corrected with Cloves, Ginger, or Galingal. Dose ʒi. ad ʒiij.ß. (but 'tis so clammy, that it is seldom given alone) in infusion ʒiij. ad ʒvj. or viij.

31. Carui, of Caraway, hot and dry in 3°. They are Pectoril, Stomatick, Nephritick, Lithontriptick, Carminative, and Alexipharmick. They ease the Colick, and all pains, in the Reins and Ureters; are of great use in the Megrin, continual Head-ach, Stone and Strangury; they help dulness of Sight, and hasten the Birth; you may use the distilled Oyl.

32. Cataputicæ majoris, Ricini, Palmæ Christi, of the greater Spurge, hot and dry in 3°. It powerfully purges Choler and Flegm, helps the Colick, Sciatica, Gout, Jaundice, and Dropsie. Dose ʒi. of the Seeds. See it more at large, chap. 4. sect. 472.

33. Cataputicæ minoris, Lathyræidis, of the lesser Spurge, hot and dry in 30. It vomits and purgeth Choler, Flegm, and Water violently. It has the virtues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 139.

34. Caulium, Of Coleworts. It kills Worms; and being grossly bruised and boiled in Broth, it helps the Colick, and Stone in the Reins, and eases all pains and gripings of the Bowels.

35. Ceparum, of Onions. It is seldom or never used. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 36.

36. Cerasorum Nuclei, Cherry-stones. The Kernels break the Stone: bruised and mixt with cold Oynments, and applied to the Fore-head and Temples, eases the Head-ach. The Oyl made by expression, drunk in Mead, helps fainting, the Colick, and kills Worms.

37. Cherifolii, Of Chervil. It is Carminative, gives ease in the Colick, and has the Vertues of the Herb; which see Chap. 4. Sect. 146.

38. Ciceris, Of Chick-Pease, hot and dry in 1°. They are emollient, discussive, cleansing, lenifying and diuretick: their Broth is good against the Stone: See Chap. 4. Sect. 161.

39. Cichorii, Of Succory. The Seed hereof is seldom or never used, yet it cools the Blood, opens the Liver, and resists Lust. It has the Vertues of the Herb, at Sect. 162. Chap. 4.

40. Cicutæ, Of Hemlock. They abate Lust, are Narcotick, and almost of the nature of Poppy-Seed.

41. Citrii, Of Citrons. They are hot and dry in 2°. digest, attenuate, cleanse, expel Poyson, strengthen the Heart and Stomach, and kill Worms.

42. Citrulli, Of the Citrul, cold and moist in 2°. They are Diuretick, and by their coldness and moistness allay the sharpness of Urine, cleansing the Reins and Bladder; allaying the heat of Blood, and cholerick Humors.

43. Cochlearie hortenſis, Of Garden Scurvy-grass. The Seed is never used. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 169.

44. Colocynthis, Of Colequintida, or wild Gourd: mixt with Myrrhe and Aloes it preserves dead Bodies.

45. Coriandri, Of Coriander, hot and dry in 3°. It comforts cold and moist Stomach, helps digestion, stops Vomiting, kills Worms, and stops all fluxes: after Meat it closes the mouth of the Stomach, and suppresses Vapours that would hurt the Head. It is hurtful being crude and unprepared: you must prepare them thus: Steep them in Vinegar a day and night, then carefully dry them, so the crude hurtful quality will be removed.

46. Critbmi, Of Sampire, it has the Vertues of the Herb, which see Chap. 4. Sect. 191.

47. Cucumeris hortenſis, Of Garden-Cucumbers. It has the Vertues of Citrul-seed, which see Sect. 42. An Emulsion thereof helps an Inflammation of the Breast and Lungs.

48. Cucumeris Sylvestris, Afini, Of the wild Cucumber. I know little use of it. See the Fruit, Chap. 6.

49. Cucurbitæ, Of the Gourd. They have the Temperature and Vertues of Citruls and Cucumbers.

50. Cydoniorum, Cotoneorum, Of Quinces. They cool and moisten; their mucilage in water lenifies and abates the roughness and sharpness of Humors, driness of the Tongue, Burns, Scalds, and Inflammations of the Eyes.

51. Cymini, Of Cummin, hot and dry in 3°. It is Cephalick, Pectoral, and Carminative, it attenuates, digests, dissolves, and expels Wind: It helps the Head-ach, Megrim, Colick, and Drop-sie Tympanies, opens Obstruction in the Stomach, Belly, Reins, and Matrix, whether taken inwardly or given in Clyster: Outwardly, it is discussive, dissolves swellings in the Genitors and Joynts; being smelt to with Vinegar, it stops the bleeding at Nose: and if inwardly taken in form of an Electuary with Honey, and outwardly applied very hot in a Sacculus with Bay Salt, it helps Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Asthma's, shortness of Breath, Pleurifies, Stitches, and pains of the side.

52. Cynosbati, Of the Canker Rose; these are those within the Hips; they break the Stone and expel it.

53. Dactylorum ossa, Date-stones; The Ashes of them are empla- stick, and keep down excrescencies in Wounds.

54. Dauci nostratis, Of English wild Carrot, hot and dry in 3°. Chiefly used in Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, Ureters, and Womb, Coughs, Asthma's, Pleurifies, Strangury, Terms obstructed, suffocation of the Womb, &c. It expels Wind, helps the Dropfie, Colick and Stone, stops Lasks, and expels Poyson.

55. Dauci Cretici, Of Daucus of Crete: It has all the Vertues of the former.

56. Ebuli, Of dwarf Elder, or Dane-wort. They purge Flegm and watry Humors, are good against Cachexies, Jaundice, Drop- sie, and Gout. The Juice or Pulp being separated, wash the Stones well and often, till they are very clean and pure, which dry for use: They purge from ʒi. ad ʒij. or they may be made into an E- mulsion; and given in a larger Dose. Oleum Granorum Chama- edes Clossii. To the bruised seeds add Spring-water, stir them over a gentle heat, digest three days in a glass Gourd, then strain it strongly out in an Almond-Press: so have you Oyle and Water: digest again, and the Oyl will swim at the top, which separate from the water; at the bottom will be a kind of an Un- guent: The Oyl given inwardly in ʒls. purges strongly flegm and wa- tery Humors, it may be given in Broth, or mixt with Loaf Sugar, and so taken: Outwardly it is good against the Gout, and all other kinds of pain.

57. Endivie, Of Endive. It cools the heat of Urine, and has the Vertues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 227.

58. Eruca, Of Rocket, it is hot and dry in 3°. It stirs up Lust, provokes Urine, strengthens the Stomach, easeth the Spleen, kills Worms, and expels Poyson.

59. Erysimi, Of Hedge-Mu- stard, hot and dry in 3°. It has the Vertues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 237. It warms the Sto- mach, and causes digestion, eases the cough, &c. expectorates flegm, helps Asthma's, Hoarseness, &c.

60. Eroi, Orobi, Of the bitter Vetch. The Grain steeped and parched looseth the Belly, pro- vokes Urine, and causeth a good Colour: taken ʒij. at a time, it helps the Atrophie or Consump- tion; given with Vinegar, it helps the Strangury. Outwardly, their Meal with Honey cleanses Ulcers, is Colmetick, takes away Freckles, Sun-burnings, black Spots in the Skin, and makes it beautiful; it heals old running Sores, softens hard swellings, and stops Gangreens; it softens Wo- mens Breasts, helps Phagedens, Carbuncles, scald Heads, and bi- tings of venomous beasts.

61. Fabe, Beans, cold and dry in 1°. They nourish much. Their meal is Emplastick, thickens, cleanses, digests, discusses and ripens Tumors: It is good in Diarrhœa's, Lienteria's, and other Fluxes: In a Cataplasim, with water and Hogs-lard, it helps the Gout: with Oxymel it helps the Inflammations of Bruises and Wounds, swellings in the Privities, and Womens Breasts, and dries up their Milk; with Rose-leaves Frankincense, and white of an Egg, it helps watering and inflamed Eyes; with Water and Oyl it helps suffusions, Pin, and Web, blows and hard swellings, and its reported, that if a freckled skin be rub'd therewith, that it takes away the freckles.

62. Fœniculi, of Fennel. It has all the virtues of the Herb, and of Anniseed, being an exceeding good Pectoral and Carminative, used often by Physicians to correct Purges. You may use the Oyl.

63. Fœnugræci, of Fenugreek, hot in 2°. and dry in 1°. The Meal is Emollient and Emplastick; and boiled with Mead and applied, it helps all inflammations, and dissolves hard swellings; and mixt with Nitre and Vinegar, it helps hard Spleens: the decoction thereof in Wine, drunk with a little Vinegar, expels all evil Humors, and a Syrup made thereof with Honey, is Pectoral. It discusses, and is Anodyne, in so much that its mucilage (made by decoction in water) is put into most Cataplasms for those intentions: The said Mucilage heals corrosion of the Bowels, takes away sharpness of humors; and as Alexis saith (which I know by Experience to be truth) it cures Gonorrhœa's.

64. Fraxini, Lingæ avis, Ash-keys. They provoke Urine, excite Lust, restore decayed nature, open the Liver, and are excellent against the Pleurisie and Stone. You may give them powdered with Nutmegs, or pickle them.

65. Fumariæ, of Fumitory. The Seed is seldom used. See the Herb, chap. 4. sect. 261.

66. Genistæ, of Broom; hot and dry in 2°. It has the virtues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 271.

67. Grana Gnidia, Thymelæa grana, of Spurge Flax. They purge Choler, Flegm, and Water: Dose ʒj. of the inward part mixt with the Pulp of Raisins or Honey causes Sweat. See the Herb chap. 4. sect. 662.

68. Grana Paradisi, Grains of Paradise, or the greater Cardamoms hot and dry in 30. They comfort and warm a cold Stomach, and are good against the shaking fits of Agues, being given in Sack, or a strong Infusion in S. V. which smells like Quinces. They break the Stone, provoke Urine, and the Terms; help Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, expel Wind, ease the Colick, kill Worms, and are an Antidote against Poyson.

69. Granatorum, of Pomegranates. The Kernels cool, dry and bind, stop Vomiting of Choler, and the Bloody-flux; chiefly those of the four Apples.

70. Harmel, Ruta Sylvæstris, wild Rue, hot and dry in 3°. It is stronger than the Garden, and being applied, will cause Blisters. Hortius saith it attenuates, cuts, digests thick gross Humors, and extinguishes the Seed.

71. Hippofelini, Smyrni, of Alexander; or Horse Parsly. The Seed is of the nature of Parsly-Seed, warms the Stomach, provokes Urine and the Terms, brings away both Birth and After-birth.

72. Hordeum, Barly. Of the Grain Women know how to make Barly-water to cool and quench Thirst. For the use of the Meal, see chap. 4. sect. 306.

73. Hyoscyami albi, of white Henbane. Taken in the weight of ʒss. with Mead, it helps Coughs, Rheums, defluxions of the Humors to the Eyes or Breast, and all Issues of Blood; as also such as piss a bed, or cannot hold their water.

74. Hyperici, of St. John's Wort. It provokes Urine, helps the Stone, and stops Lasks, but is seldom used.

75. Hyssopi, of Hyssop: It is seldom or never used. See the Herb, chap. 4. sect. 312.

76. Lactuce, of Lettice. It is one of the lesser cold Seeds; it obtunds sharp Humors, eases pain, cools the heat of Urine, and is excellent against the Whites, and virulent Gonorrhoea, having the vertues of the Herb. See it chap. 4. sect. 312.

77. Lapathi acuti, Oxylapathi, of sharp-pointed Dock. It is used to stop Fluxes, being very binding.

78. Laureole, of the Laurel-shrub; whether they mean the Laurel or the Mezereon, 'tis no great matter, You may see the Berries.

79. Lentes, Lentils. See their Vertues chap. 4. sect. 347.

80. Levistici, of Lovage. It has the Vertues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 355.

81. Limonium, of Lemmons. They are hot and dry, strengthen the Stomach, and resist poison.

82. Lini Linseed, hot in 1^o. and temperate: it is Emollient, Digestive, Maturative, and Pectoral: it is good against Coughs, shortness of Breath, Pleurifies, and Consumptions. Outwardly it is good to ripen Tumors, and ease pain, being used in a Cataplasm: the expressed Oyl helps the Colick, Pleurisie, Spleen, and Pin and Web.

83. Lithospermi, Mili Solis, of Gravel, hot and dry in 2^o. It provokes Urine, breaks and expels the Stone in both Reins and Bladder, cleanses the Urinary passages, hastens the Birth; and as Schroder saith, is found by sure Experience to cure uotidi n Agues, if given a while before the fit. Dose ad ʒij.

84. Lolii, of Darnel, hot and dry in 2^o. It is Anodyne, Hypnotick, causeth drunkenness and sleep.

85. Loti Urbana, Sative, of Pease Trefoil, or Garden Claver (some think this to be Melilot, but I think they are in an Error) It is good against the Epilepsie, suffocation of the Womb, Dropsie, and Gout.

86. Lupini, of Lupins. They cleanse, waste, and kill Worms, open Obstructions of Liver and Spleen, provokes the Terms, and expel the dead Child. Applied with Honey Water, and Vinegar they heal venomous Ulcers, scald Heads, Gangrenes, Small-pox, Morphew, and that without any biting quality: made sweet with Vinegar, help loathing, and cause appetite. Crollius saith Their Decoction expels the Pox, being hot, dry, and absterfivè, without biting: the Meal in a Cataplasme with Oxymel helps spots, Phymata and Phagedens, stops Gangrenes, and helps Atrophick Members. So also with strong Lye.

87. Magistrantia, Obstrutii, Imperatoriæ, of Master-wort. See the Root, chap. 1. sect. 80. and chap. 4. sect. 317. The Seed is not in use.

88. Majorane, Amaraci, of Marjoram. It has the vertues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 388.

90. Mandragoræ, of Mandrakes. Avicenn saith, That the Seed and Fruit drunk, cleanse the Matrix: the Antidote is Wormwood, Rue, Scordium, Castorium, Sage, Rosemary and Wine.

91. Melonum, Melopeponum, of Melons, or Musk-melons; they have the same vertues the Citruls have, help Coughs, Consumptions and Feavers.

92. Mespilorum, of Medlars. The Stones powdered and drunk, break the Stone, expel Gravel, and provoke Urine.

93. Mezeri, of Mezereon. They have the vertue of the Herb. Dose a gr. v. ad xv.

94. Milii, of Millet, cold and dry in 3°. The Meal is hard of concoction, and binds the belly, yet affords much good nourishment. The Decoction powerfully provokes Sweat and Urine, expels Gravel from the Kidneys, and stops Fluxes, quenches Thirst, and cures Agues. Ourwardly mixt with Tar, it helps the bitings of all venomous Beasts: mixt with Salt, and heat very hot, and laid to the crown of the Head, it dries up Catarrhs, and eases pain of the Head; laid to the Breasts, it consumes milk: to the Belly and Sides, pains and stiches there. Decoctum ambrosii: R. Grains of Millet 1 lbj water 8 pints, boil till the Seed break, then strain it. It is powerful in Fevers, chiefly Tertian, given in the declination of the fit, because it provokes Sweat.

95. Napi dulcis, Buniadi, of sweet Navew. The Seed is Alexipharmick, and used in all Antidotes against Poyson and Infection; drives out the Small-pox and Measles; cleanses, opens, digests, attenuates, and provokes Urine and the Terms.

96. Nasturtii, of Cresses. It drives forth the Measles and small Pox; is Pectoral, in a Lohoch with Honey it helps Coughs, yellow Jaundice, and Sciatica, cleanses the Reins, and expels the Stone.

97. Nigella, Gith, of black Cummin, or Fennel-flower, hot and dry in 3°. It is Pectoral, Diuretick, and Emmenagogick, dissolves the mucilage of the Lungs, helps Coughs, Colds, and causes Expectoration, encreases Milk, and cures the bites of venomous Beasts. In Quotidian and Quartans it is a Specifick.

98. Nuclei mali Armeni, Kernels of Apricocks. The Expressed Oyl has the same vertues with bitter Almonds, which see chap. 6. sect. 5.

99. Nuclei mali Persici, Kernels of Peaches: the expressed Oyl is equal with the former. It helps hardness and pain in the Sinews, and opens the Liver and Spleen.

100. Oryze, Rice. It stops fluxes, and nourishes well. Lobell saith, It is salutiferous and encreaseth Blood and Sperm, restoring in Consumptions. It resolves, and applied with Oyl of Roses, helps inflammations in Tumors; in this case you may use the Meal.

101. Panici, of Panick. The Grain boiled in Goats Milk and drunk twice a day, stops Fluxes. See chap. 4. sect. 479.

102. Papaveris albi & nigri, of white and black Poppy. It has the virtues of the Herbs and Flowers: The expressed Oyl from the white is pleasant to be eaten: the Seed of the black Poppy drunk in Wine, stops fluxes and the terms: the Seed of the Erratick is colder than the former.

103. Pastinaca hortensis & sylvestris, of the Garden and wild Parsnip, hot and dry in 3°. It is Pectoral, Nephritic, Lithontripectick, and Carminative; that of the wild, helps the biting and stinging of Serpents, Stitches, Pleurisies, and Wind, purges Flegm, helps the Jaundice, Asthma, Epilepsie, &c. See chap. 4. sect. 635.

104. Perfoliatæ, of Through Wax. It has the virtues of the Herb, which see chap. 4. sect. 493.

105. Petroselinæ vulgaris & Ma- cedonici. of stone Parsly, English and Macedonian. It has all the virtues of the Parsly Seed, but is more powerful, being hot and dry in 3°. Diuretick, Lithontripectick, Sudorifick, and Alexipharmick; good against Plague and pestilential Feavers.

106. Pimpinellæ, of Burnet. The Powder of it drunk in Chalybeate water, stops all Fluxes, and is good against Poyson and Plague; it is Diuretick, and breaks the Stone.

107. Pisæ, Pease. They are strengthening, and nourish much, making those that often eat them, strong, lusty, and of a good complexion; the Meal is Discussive, Maturative, Anodyne, and Diuretick, their Decoction is good against the Stone.

108. Plantaginis, of Plantain. It is less cold than the Herb, stops Fluxes, Issues, Rheumes, Vomiting, all sorts of Fluxes and Issues of Blood.

109. Pæoniæ, of Peony: The Seeds taken in red Wine No. 2. stop Fluxes, and are good against the Stone; help the pain of the Matrix, and melancholy Dreams. The distilled Oyl of the Seed, fermented in Water, and drank in Canary Wine or Sherry. gut. x. or xij. helps the Epilepsie, Poyson, loss of Speech, and bitings of venomous Creatures.

110. Porri, of Leeks: Given 3ij. at a time with the same quantity of Myrtle-berries stop spitting of Blood, although of long continuance, and cut tough humours: Some say the same ingredient put into Wine, keeps it from souring, and if sour, amends it.

111. Porri

111. Portulacæ, Of Purslane.

It kills Worms, and stops Fluxes, abates the heat of Feavers, and cures Consumptions.

112. Psyllii, Of Flea-wort.

Cold in 2°. and temperate. The Decoction purgeth Choler, cools hot Diseases, and quenches Thirst. Its Mucilage with Rose and Barly-water, and sweetned with Syrup of Roses, helps Hoarseness and Pleurifies, and purgeth Choler; with Marmalade of Quinces, Poppy Seeds, and Sugar Candy, it helps Catarrhs: torrified and taken with Plantane Water, it helps Fluxes, and Coughs; outwardly boyled in water and applied with Vinegar and Oyl, it helps swellings in the Joynts, and St. Anthony's Fire; with Populeon, the Piles and Tenesmus. It is reputed to be venomous, and for an Antidote, there is prescribed Venice Treacle and Vomiting.

113. Rapi, Of Turneps. It is used chiefly in Antidotes, expels Poyson, Measles and Small Pox, and provokes Venery. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒj.

114. Raphani, Radicula, Of Radish, hot in 3°. dry in 2°. It breaks the Stone and expels it, provokes Urine, and the Terms, opens Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, is Antifebricitick and Pectoral.

115. Rhois obsoniorum, Sumach

Seed. They have the Vertues of the Leaves and Fruit.

116. Rute hortensis, Of Garden Rue.

117. Saxifrage, Of Saxifrage.

it breaks and expels the Stone both in Bladder and Kidneys, helps the Strangury and Disury.

See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 593.

118. Sesami, Of Oily Pulse.

Temperate and moist in 1°. It is Emollient, Anodyne, Viscous, Fat, and Emplastick; dissolves hardness and shrinking of the Nerves, expels Wind, and cures the Colick. Oleum Sesami. It is made by expression, chuse that which is white and pure, not adulterated with Oyl of Nuts, Almonds, Poppies, &c. You may know the true by the taste. It is Emollient, Marcurative, and Pectoral, is good against the Pleurisie, and Consumptions, and stirs up Lust, but being nauseous is not often used inwardly. Outwardly, it softens the hardness of the Nerves, easeth pain, and stops eating and malignant humors.

119. Sesileos, Of Hart-wort, hot and dry, is Carminative, provokes Urine and the Terms, and expels Wind.

120. Sinapeos, Mustard-Seed.

Hot and dry in 4°. It is of thin parts, digests, cuts, attenuates, attracts, and causeth expectoration. It corroborates the Stomach, causeth appetite, expels Wind, comforts the Head, Breast, and Lungs, opens Obstructions, is good against shortness of Breath, Coughs, Asthma's, and tough Flegm, or Tartarous Mucilage, eases the Spleen, and is effectual against Hypochondriack Melancholy, Quotidians and Quartans (2j. being given just before the fit) It purges the Head, breaks and expels the Stone. It makes good Juice for gross Meats; chewed in the Mouth helps the Tooth-ach. Made into a Gargarism with Honey and Vinegar, it helps the Swellings of the Uvula and Almonds: Drunk with Water and Honey, it provokes Urine and the Terms: Steepe in Rhenish Wine, and the Wine drunk for some days (½j. to a quart) helps the Dropſie Tympanies, and is very good againſt Epilepsies, Carus, and Lichargy. As an Eryſine, it is ſtarmick, drives away ſleepineſs, and helps ſits of the Mother. The expreſſed Oyl is good to the purpoſes aforeſaid, and helps all cold Diſeaſes of the Nerves: The Seed is mixt with drawing Plaſters, and conſumeth Nodes: It cauſeth Hair to grow on bald places, and takes away black and blue Spots.

121. Solani ſativi, Of Garden Nightſhade. It is cold in 2°. Binding and Diuretick, ſeldom uſed.

122. Stapidis agrie, Of Stave-Acre, called by ſome Louſewort. Inwardly (though it is ſeldom ſo taken) it purgeth and vomiteth: Doſe ā gr. xij. ad xv. Outwardly in Maſſicatories, Gurgariſms, and Errhines, it purgeth Flegm and Water; is uſed with cleaſers in Wounds and Ulcers; with Vinegar cures the Tooth-ach, and mixt with Oyl and Lard kills Lice, cures Itch and Mange. It is dangerous to take inwardly, for it cauſeth Vomiting (of groſs flegm and ſlimy matter) with violence: It is ſo churliſh that it will kill Mice.

123. Thlaſpiſ, Of Treakle Muſtard, hot and dry in 4°. ſeré. Eaten, it purges Choler, provokes the Terms, and breaks inward Apoſthumes; and, in general, operates as the other Muſtard Seed. It deſtroys the ſatus.

124. Trifolii odorati, Of ſweet Trefoil. See Loti urbane above.

125. Triticci, Wheat, hot in 1°. and Temperate. It is emollient, diſcuſſive, and maturative: the Meal ſoſtens Tumors, lenifies, and applied in a Pulſiſe cold it helps inflammations of the eyes; and boyled with Honey, Oyl, and Water, and applied, it helps all other Inflammations and Eryſipelas: dry Meal applied in the Gout giveth eaſe; but is much more effectual if mixt with juyce of Henbane and Opium. The Leaven heats, attracts, reſolves, concocts, opens all Swellings, Nodes, Tumors, and Fellons mixt with Salt. The fine Flower mixt with the yolk of an Egg, Honey, Mithridate, and a little Saffron, draws, ripens, breaks, and heals Boils. Fine Wheat Bread dipt into Roſe water, or fair water, and applied to inflamed or bloodſhor Eyes, cures them. The Bran boyled in ſharp or ſtrong Vinegar, takes away Scurff, dry Scales, and Morpew, and helps the Mange. Oyl of Wheat. It is preſt out between two Iron Plates, being heat indifferently hot: It helps chaps of the Skin, and Fundament, and ſmooths the Skin, and uſed as a Baſam it heals Wounds. The diſtilled Oyl of Bread, is good againſt all Inflammations and Gangrenes. Diſtilled Oyl of Wheat is done by deſcent, of bruſed Wheat. Diſtilled Water of Bread. It is done in B. M. and ſtops Fluxes in Children.

136. Vicia, Vetches, or Tares; they are drying, binding, and hard of digeſtion, ingendring thick and melancholy Blood. They

They are of the nature of Lentils, and have the same Vertues.

127. Violarum, Of Violets. It is seldom used, (causing both vomiting and stools) except in an Emulsion for Obstructions of the Reins; dose to ʒj.

128. Urtice Vulgaris & Romane, Of common and Roman Nettles. The Seed of the common drunk causeth lust, causes expectoration, helps Pleurifies, Cough, and Inflammations of the Lungs: and is an Antidote against Henbane, Hemlock, Mushrooms and Quicksilver; is a singular Remedy against the Stone, and expels gravel and urine. The seed of the Roman Nettle is Pectoral, and chiefly used against Asthma's, Coughs, Pleurifies, Peripneumony, and Consumption; outwardly in a Gargarism: it is good against the Inflammation of the Uvula.

129. Uvarum acini, Grape-stones. They bind, and are good against Vomiting and Fluxes.

130. Zee, Spelte, Spelt-corn. It nourisheth more than Barly: being of a middle nature between Wheat and Barly: The meal made into a Cataplasim with water and oyl of Lillies, and applyed, helps Inflammations and hot swellings in any part of the Body.

College.] 1. Gum Ammoniacum, Anime, Arabick, Asa fetida, Cannamum, Cherry tree-Gum, Elemni, Galbanum, of Ivy, Janiper, Gum Lac, Opopanax, of Plum-trees, Sagapenum, Dragons Blood, Sarcocol, Tragacanth. 2. Native Rosins. Of the Fir-tree, Caranna, Colophonina, Copal, of the Larch-tree, of the Pine-tree, of the Pitch-tree, Tacamahacca, Turpentine, Frankincense. 3. Factitious Rosins. Aloes, of Jalap, Guaiacum, Cambogia, Machoacan, Scammony, Turbeth, Pitch of the Fir-tree, Cedar-tree, Larch-tree, Pine-tree, Turpentine-tree, Burgundy pitch. 4. Gummy Rosins. Bdellium, Camphir, Mastic, Myrrh, Storax calamita. 5. Balsams, Syrian Balsam, Balsam of Tolu, Balsam of Peru, Opobalsamum, Liquid Amber, Oyl of B. Iyam. 6. Concreted Juyces. Acacia, juyce of Wormwood, Maudlin, Elaterium, Euphorbium, Lyconice, Cambogia, Hypocistis, Opium, Sugar white and brown, Sugar-Candy white and red, Bird-lime.

S A L M O N's Comment.

WE shall not here follow the Colleges Method; but an Alphabetical, wherein the Reader may be pleased to take notice, that the College forget to put these following in their Catalogue logue, viz. Benjamin, Soot, Labdanum, Manna, Oyl, Olive omphacine and ripe, Olibanum, Piss: sphalotos, Storax liquid, Tartar and Scammony, unless they mean the latter by their Resina Scammonii, which is a kind of magistery or Extract out of the Gum.

1. Abynthii succus concretus. In-spissat juice of Wormwood: It has all the Vertues of the Herb.

2. Acacia, Juyce of the unripe Fruit of an Egyptian Thorn. See its Vertues Chap. 4. Sect. 6.

3. Abietina resina nativa, native Rosin of the Fir-tree: The liquid Rosin (according to the Opinion of Clusius) is the Venice Turpentine, now sold in the Shops, which see in its place. The dry is (as several good Authors think) the Vulgar Thus or Frankincense, to which it is like in form, and has the same Vertues.

4. Agerati succus concretus, Eupatorii Mesues, the thickned juyce of Maudlin: See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 16.

5. Aloe, aloe succotrina, Aloes succotrine; whence the word Succotrine first came is doubtful, whether it be said to be a succo citrina, quod ejus pulvis citrinus sit; aut ut quidam volunt, Socotrina, quod ex Socotrina Insula deferatur præstantissima; I can scarcely determine. There are three several sorts of Aloes differing only in purity, viz. Aloe Caballina, Aloe Hepatica, Aloe Succotrina: the first is only given to Horses, the second both to horses and men, this sort looks like Liver: the last is the best, which being broken thin is transparent, and being powdred is of a good yellow colour. It is hot in 2°. dry in 3°. purges the bowels well, (yet often causes a flux of the Hemorrhoids) provokes the Terms, strengthens the Stomach, kills Worms, heals, cleanses, binds, and is good against Putrefaction; outwardly, it cleanses wounds, and suddenly heals them: where note, That Aloes has a resinous part, and a watery part; of which the first purges not, the other does; therefore, when you'd have it purge, dissolve it in warm water, and separate it from its Rosin or fæces. Balsamum Aloes. R. Aloes succotrina, extract the redness with rectified S. V. distilled Vinegar, or Rose water, decant, filter and coagulate. Dose à ʒss. ad ʒfs. Purging oyl of Aloes. R. Aloes Hepatic. ℥j. Myrrh. ʒij. Frankincense ʒj distil them gently from Ahes or a sand heat. This purges and kills worms, if anointed upon the Navel. Aloe cum Tartar. R. Aloes dissolved in Tincture of Violets ℥j. Crystals of Tartar ℥fs. mix them, dose à ʒfs. ad ʒj. Aloe Rosata. R. fine Aloes and mix it with juyce of Damask Roses, which dry, and make into a solid mass: repeat so often till the Aloes has taken in 16 parts of the juyce, which keep in a mass for Pills, Dose ad ʒfs.

6. Ambar liquidum, Liquid Ambar. It is not much unlike to liquid Storax. It is an oily Rosin, of an excellent sweet scent, which flows from a stately tall Tree called Ococol or Coccolt in the West Indies, the Bark being cut it now grows in Europe, being brought from thence. It is either native, or factitious which is made by boyling the boughs in water, and taking the oyl from the top, which is of a purple colour, and is that which is sold in the shops.

It is hot in 3°. moist in 1°. dissolves, maturates, mollifies, opens Obstructions of the Spleen and Womb, softens the hardness thereof, and of other hard tumors. Outwardly it comforts & warms the parts of mans Body afflicted by cold diseases, and is excellent good in Palsies and numbness. It warms and comforts a weak Stomach, and a cold and moist brain, helps digestion, and is good against any inward bruise or Ulcer.

7. Ammoniacum Gummi, Gum Ammoniacum, hot in 2°. dry in 1°. The finer sort is condens'd like Frankincense, smells like Castor, is bitter, yellow without, white within, and grows soft by handling. It comes from the Ferula Metopion. It mollifies, digests, maturates, attracts strongly (drawing Splinters out of the flesh) opens, is laxative, anodyne and splenerick. It dissolves a stubborn viscous mucilage in the Lungs and Mesentery; opens Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, and Womb, is prevalent to give speedy delivery to Women in Travel; is very pectoral, good against the Stone, and helps such as piss blood: you may give à ℞j. ad ʒj. in the form of a Pill, it will loosen the Belly. Outwardly it is good against the Gout, and dissolves the Tartar of the Joynts, dissolves Nodes, the Scirrhus, Knots in the Joynts, Scrophula, and pain and hardness of the Spleen. It is depurated by dissolving it in Vinegar, straining and inspissating; you may dissolve it also in Water, wine, or any jayce, but Vinegar is most usual. Oleum Ammoniaci Stillaticium: It is drawn by an Alembick or Retort, and is excellent against all diseases for which the Gum serves. It so mollifies, that it will dissolve hard strong knobs upon the joynts of the fingers, toes, or other parts: so also a Cerecloth of the Gum.

8. Animi Gummi, Gum Anime; hot in the 2°. moist in 1°. It was not known to the Antients, but Amatus, from Garzias, thinks it to be the Caucamum of the Antients: And some say, it is the true Bdelium. There are three several sorts of it: 1. a clear Rosin of a whitish yellow, which in America flows out of a Tree like Frankincense, but bigger, being cut; this is the most usual when broken, it is of a most fragrant sweet smell, and easily melts, being cast on the coals. 2. The second sort is almost like Myrrh, and has the same vertues. 3. The third sort comes from the East-indies with less grains; this is neither so clear nor so good as the other. It is a notable dissolvent, and Alexipharmick, is discussive, aperient and cutting. It is good against all cold diseases of the Nerves; as Head-aches, Megrim, Catarrhs, Flatulencies, Palsies, Cramps, Contractions of the Sinews, and the Lethargy. It is prevalent against diseases of the Joynts, all Numbness, Tumours, Contusions, Luxations, &c. It comforts a cold stomach, and disperses wind. You may make a distilled oyl of it as of other gums, which will be prevalent to the purposes aforesaid. But the solution of the Gum in Spirit of Wine is (in my judgment) fully as effectual to all the said intentions: besides which it is very prevalent, used against the French Pox in way of a diet.

dit; not inferiour to Gurjacum: dose half a Spoonful in water or wine, and sweating upon it.

9. Amylum, White Sarch. It is drying and binding, yet makes smooth such parts as are rough, especially being used with things of a smooth and slippery nature: Mixed with Syrup of Violets or Roses, it helps Coughs, Wheezings, and roughness of the Throat and Windpipe, causing Expectoration, and healing parts excoriated. Mixt with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium and fair water, it makes the skin of the hands and face very fair, smooth and soft.

10. Arabicum Gummi, Gum Arabick. It comes from the shrub Acacia, as Dioscorides saith, and is of a waterish nature: chuse that which is clear, almost like Glass, white and yellowish. It is temperate, and enclining to moisture, glutinous, stopping the pores of the skin, and obtunding the sharpness of Medicaments. It is pectoral, and used in Diseases of the Lungs, as Coughs, roughness of the Throat, &c.

11. Asa fetida, stinking Asa, or Devils Dung. It grows in Media, Libya, and Syria, and is the Juice of Laser, Laserpitium, or Sylphion, gathered from the root or stalk cut. The Arabians, as Avicenna, call it Altit. It is hot and dry in 3°. cuts, attenuates, is Splenetick, Hysterick, and Vulnerary. It is chiefly used in suffocation of the Womb, Peripneumony, Wounds and Obstruction of the Spleen, and that both inwardly and outwardly. Dose $\text{gr. x. ad } \text{ʒss}$. The Fume of it and Goats-horn burnt helps the Epilepsie. Chuse that which is pure, fine, clammy, and smelling almost like Garlic: you may dissolve it by boyling in water, vinegar, or wine.

12. Balsamum Gi eadense, Judaicum, Syriacum, Verum, Balm of Gilead, of the true or Syrian Balsam. This is the same with the Egyptian Balsam, and Balm of Mecha; it is yellow almost like Turpentine, of a bitter sharp taste and very unpleasant; but of a sweet, delicate, and most desirable scent: it sweats from its shrub, the bark being cut, or from the boughs lopt off. In warm water it will spread it self over the top, and as it cools contracts it self again; it curdles Milk and dropt on woollen cloth, leaves no spot as other Oyls and Balsams do. It is the chiefest of all Oyls and Balsams in the whole World; being of most incomparable use for many diseases both inwardly and outward. It is pectoral, good against inward bruises, Coughs, Asthma's, Obstructions and Ulcers in the Lungs, Fevers, Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, provokes Urine and the Terms, causes Appetite, cures Consumptions, pains in the Stomach, or any other part of the Body. It is Cephalick, Arthritick, Anodyne, and Vulnerary, and indeed has so many vertues, that it is above the Sphere of my Commendations. And now I am upon it, let me discover one Secret not yet vulgarly known; It has the greatest force of all vegetable Productions in curing the French Pox: a word to the wise is enough: I have known it true by Experience to exceed Guaicum, Sassa, Sassafras, China, &c. It is of so great estimation, that the Prince of Arabia Felix presents every year three or four pound of it to the Grand Signior, and one pound to the Bassa of Grand Cairo, as an extraordinary Present.

13. Balsamum Tolutanum, Balm of Tolu. It comes from Tolu, a Province between Tavis and Nomen Dei, and flows from a Tree (which grows both in Gardens and wild) like a low Pine, the Bark being cut. It is reddish, tending to a Gold colour, near the thickness of new Honey, very clammy and sticking, excellently sweet-scented, and of a sweet and pleasant taste, not nauseous as other Balsams are. It exceeds the Balsam of Peru, and is nearly as good as the former, having all the virtues thereof. It is Cephalick, Pectoral, Cardiack, Splenetic, Hysterick, Arthritic, Carminative, Anodyne, Traumatick and Vulnerary. It helps the Head-ach, Megrim, cures Palsies, Convulsions, Cramps, Epilepsies, Rheums, Coughs, Cold, Asthma's, Phthisick, Ulcers, and stoppage in the Lungs, pain and weakness of the Stomach, Fainting; revives all the Spirits Natural, Vital, and Animal; abates tumors, weakness, and stoppage of the Spleen, helps fits of the Mother, provokes Urine and the Terms, expels Wind, helps the Colick, and eases all manner of pains both inward and outward, pains of the Joynts, Gouts, Sciatica, old Aches; disposes to heal, and heals all manner of Wounds, Ulcers, and the like: It is good in all Contractions of the Sinews, and cures the Parotides or blind Schrophula's, cures Pur-stures of the Nerves, Contusions, Fractures, and other ill accidents: it cures and takes away the Symptoms of the French Pox, Dose gut. iij. iv. or vj. mixt with Sugar in a glass of Sack.

14. Balsamum Peruanum, Balm of Peru, or Peruvian Balsam. It is a sweet scented Balm, coming from the Indian Tree Xylo, of a bitter sharp taste, and of a blackish, or whitish red colour: the best is of a purple colour, and sweet as the best Storax Calamita: the black, thick, and ill-scented is naught. It is gotten by boiling the Chips of the Tree in water, so the Balm may be taken off swimming. It has all the virtues of Balm of Tolu, but not altogether so effectual; yet it is so excellent, that Monardus substitutes it for the Syrian Opobalsam or Balm: you may give gut. iij. ad vij in Canary wine, and that often in Feavers. There is also a clear whitish Liquor which flows from the bark of the same Tree wounded, which is called Opobalsam, or true Indian Balm. See it in its place following.

15. Balsamuleon, Oleum Balsami. Oyl of Balsam: It is made by distillation of the former Balsams by a retort in Sand with a gentle fire: first comes a clear water. 2. A clear Oyl like Sugar-candy, which is a Spirit, and will coagulate. 3. With a stronger fire, when it begins to change colour, a yellow Oyl. Lastly, in the retort there remains a matter like Colophony. But there is a natural Balsamuleon, or Oleum Balsami, which flows out of a Tree growing in Africa, Egypt, and Arabia Felix, by wounding of it, as Horskins in Pharm. lib. 22. testifies. Sepius rami crassiores vulnerantur, & ex hiatu corticis pretiosa ista lachryma stillat, cujus usus intus & foris celebratur. And in the same place he tells us It is very good for such as are Asthmatick, a few drops being given in the morning fasting, opens obstructions of the Liver, provokes the Terms, eases pains of the Stomach, restores such as are in Consumptions, and causes an Appetite.

16. Bdellium, It is a tear or resinous Gum dropt from a thorny Tree or Plant, growing in India, Arabia, and Media, as Mathiolus saith: It is bitter, clear when broken: fatish if rubbed, and easily softning; that which is black is naught. It is hot and dry in 20. digests, discusses, is Sudorifick, Nephritic, and Pectoral; excellent in Coughs, Asthma's, Imposthumes of the Lungs, Pleurifies, pains and stitches in the Sides. It provokes Urine and the Terms, breaks the Stone, and expels both Birth and After-birth; is Carminative, and helps fires of the Mother. Outwardly, in a Plaster or Unguent, it is excellent against Ruptures, softens hard nodes in the Nerves, helps Palsies, Cramps, Epilepsies, and other cold affections of the Nerves and Brain, being anointed on the Sutures of the head, Nape of the Neck, and whole Back-bone. You may dissolve it in S. V. rectified, and so take it, or distil an Oyl from it by a Retort in Sand.

17. Benzoinum, Benzamin. It is a well-scented yellow Resin, of divers pieces and colours, dropt from a stately tall Tree (the Bark being cut) growing in Sina and Sumatra. There are three several sorts. 1. That called Amygdaloides, having in it white spots like Almonds. 2. Another which is black, & very sweet-scented. 3. Another which is without scent, and very black. The first is best; the second is good; the last is naught. It is hot and dry in 2°. An excellent Pectoral and Perfume. It stops Cararrhs, Coughs, Asthma's, helps in Consumptions. It purges the Brain by sneezing, cures the Tooth-ach by chewing, and cleanses the skin from deformities. It will dissolve in S. V. Oyl of Turpentine, and in the white of an Egg, laid in a moist air: you may dissolve it also in the Oyl of Cherry Kernels or Oyl of Ben, adding to it Ambergreese, Musk, and Civer, and so strain it off to perfume Leather, Gloves, &c. 1. Tincture of Benjamin: Dissolve it well in S. V. in B. M. it will be done in about an hour. It is Sudorifick, and good against the French Disease. 2. Magistery of Benjamin: Put to the former Tincture fair water, and a milky precipitate will fall, which wash in Rose-water, and dry. This milky water before precipitation, is good to wash the skin with to keep it white. 3. Flowers of Benjamin: Put the Powder of the Gum into a glazed Vessel, over which lay a Cone or Pyramid of double Paper, make a gentle fire of coals or ashes by degrees, so will the flowers ascend and stick to the Paper, which often wipe off lest they fall again. It is Sudorifick, given ʒ. iii. to ʒ. iij. 4. Oleum Benzoini: R. Benjamin in Powder lbj.

rectified S. V. ℥ij. digest 7 days, then put to it fine Gravel ℥vj. and distil with a gradual fire by a Retort in sand or ashes; so have you Spirit and Oyl which separate: after the S. V. is gently drawn off, a white solid gummy matter ascends, which is called, Manna of Benjamin. 5. Crystals of Benjamin. Mix Benjamin in Powder and fine sand together, with which fill a Retort half full, distil in sand by degrees, so have you a Liquor & Oyl thick like Butter. Take of this Butter p. j. fair water p. xij. distil in an Alembick in Ashes, so have you a water and clear yellow Oyl, which will settle it self at bottom: the water being half drawn off, put what remains in the Still into a Brass Basin, or Earthen Vessel well glazed, heat it over a fire, adding four times as much hot water, then filter and set it to crystallize, which gather, and gently dry them by a fire. Where note that ℥ij. of Benjamin yields but ziss. of Oyl, and but ℥j. of Crystals or Flowers. 6. Oleum Benzoini Cloſſei. Mix Powder of the Gum ℥ij. with Spirit of Wine ℥ij. digest and draw as before; after the S. V. is distilled ascends a white Gummy matter, which is the Crystals or Flowers of Benjamin, which lies in the neck of the Retort, and must be removed by a stick lest the Retort break: after the Flowers comes a Butter, then the Vinegar and Phlegm, then a small quantity of a sweet-scented Hyacinth coloured Oyl: and lastly, the fire being increased, a thick Balsam. From the Flowers or Gummy matter you may draw a yellow Tincture with S. V. The Crystals are good against the French Pox, and cause sweat strongly if mixt with Tincture of Guajacum: The Oyl is an excellent Vulnerary, and the Balsam is often sold for that of Peru.

18. Bitumen Judaicum, dry Pitch of India. It is Emollient, Discussive, and Uterine; it asswages Tumors, cools Inflammations, helps against Suffocations of the Womb, and Epilepsies by its Fume: Drunk with Castoreum it provokes the Courses, dissolves congealed Blood, helps stiches and pains in the sides, and the bitings of Serpents.

19. Cambogia, Gutta Gamba, Gutta jemon, Gutta Germanдра, Gum Cambogia; It is an Inspissate juice from an unknown plant: Some say it is the Juice of Euphorbium; others of Scammony and Tithymal, coloured with Saffron: others, of Ricinus or Greater Esula, coloured with Turmeric: it can be no resinous juice, because it dissolves in water, therefore it cannot come from Scammony, Tithymal, Ricinus, or Esula. It comes from China to us, and is a juice of an excellent pure yellow colour. It purges and vomits all humours, chiefly water, and is of very good use against Dropsies, Feavers, Scabs, Itch, Pox and Gout: dose a gr. v. ad xv. It works nimbly, and is mixt with other purges to quicken them: it may be given either crude or corrected. It is corrected by dissolving it in Spirit of Wine, Vitriol or tartar, abstracting and gently drying of it, that it grows not black: but note this, that acids take away all its purging property and make it sudorifick. Extract or Magistrey of Cambogia. Rk. of the Gum in powder ℥ij. S. V. ℥v. Ayl of Tartar per deliq. ℥i: dissolve and digest in B. M. for two or three days, abstract the spirit, and gently coagulate. It purges gently without Vomiting; dose ℥j. But in my opinion preparations of it are needless, because it is almost all tincture.

20. Camphora, Caphura, Camphir: It is a Resinous Gum flowing from a tall Tree. The Bornean Camphir is best; the other comes from China; Chuse the white, clear like crystal, strong scented, will crumble between the fingers, and being fired will scarcely be quenched. There is a counterfeited sort, that put into a hot loaf will parch: the true will melt. It abates lust and vigour, hinders Conception, and causes Barrenness if much used. It is Alexipharmick and Anodyne, good against Poyson, putrefaction, Plague, and pestilential diseases: It cools all hot distempers, helps pains of the head, and stops Fluxes, the Dysenteria, Whites and Gonorrhoea. The Ancients say, It is cold and dry in the 3°. the Moderns say, it is hot: When you beat it into powder, anoint the Pestle and Mortar with oyl. 1. Oyl of Camphir. R. Camphir p. j. bole p. iij. mix them, and dry them in the Sun, then distill in a glass retort in sand, into a glass receiver that has distilled rain-water in it; so have you white Fumes, then a clear water, and lastly (with a stronger fire) a sweet scented oyl, which rectified with S. V. will be yellow as gold; it has the Vertues of the Gum; it stops the Tooth-ach, or a Gangrene if put to them: mixt with Talk in powder, or calcin'd, and digested a week in B. M. it makes an excellent white suet. 2. Oyl of Camphir from Hartman. Dissolve Camphir in Antiepileptick spirit of Vitriol or rectified S. V. and the Gum will swim at top like oyl: separate it from the spirit, and with terra sigillata and a little Vinegar make balls, which distil as before, so have you Spirit and Volatile Oyl. It is very powerful to the former Intensions. 3. Oyl of Camphir with Amber, from Horstius; Dissolve it in S. of Vitriol or Niter: gather the oyl at the top with a glass spoon, which mix with rectified oyl of Amber, and distil by a retort, and cohobate till both are united strongly: which rectifie often upon Colchothar of Vitriol till it is very fine, and the Camphir disappear: It is an excellent Diaphoretick in malignant Fevers, dose a gut. vj. ad x. in Canary. 4. Oleum Camphoræ Kessleri. Put the Gum into an Urinal, over whose mouth lute another: sublime in ashes or sand, turning them upside down till it is turned into Oyl. 5. Oleum Camphoræ Compositum. R. spirit of Turpentine ℥i. Oyl of Amber ℥iij. Camphir so much as the oyl will dissolve, which twice distil by a glass Vesica: It is good against fits of the Mother, Whites and Gonorrhoea, Plague and pestilential Feavers. Dose a gut. vj. ad xij. Some dissolve Camphir in Aqua fortis, and sell it for the Oyl, but 'tis a cheat. 6. Essence of Camphir. Dissolve Camphir in Oyl of Ben, or sweet Almonds by digestion, strain and distil; then circulate with S. V. for twenty days: draw off the spirit, and tinge the remainder with Tincture of Saffron. The Spirit and Oyl both have the Vertues of the former. Of the Oyl you may give two or three drops. But Quercetan makes an Essence of Camphir with tincture

21. Cancamum, It is a Gum or Tear which drops from an Arabian Tree, as Dioscorides notes, almost like Myrrh, and generally used for Perfumes: Some think it Gum Lac, some Gum Anima, some Benjamin, others think it not known. It is Cephalick, Ophthalmick, Splenetick, and Emmenogogick; it kills Worms, and eases pains of the Bowels and Sides.

22. Caranna, It is a native hard Rosin almost like Tacamahacca, but sweeter, brighter, more liquid and compleat. It comes from Carthage in the West Indies, flowing out of a Tree wounded. It is hot and dry in 3°, and has like properties and effects with Tacamahacca, but is better and stronger; it is Cephalick, Arthritic, and Vulnerary, it helps all cold Aches and Swellings in the Head, Nerves and Joynts; applied to the Temples, it stops all defluxions and Tooth-ach. It dissolves old Tumours, eases pain in any part, chiefly the Nerves and Head, cures green Wounds, principally in the Nerves and Joynts; and laid behind the ears, or to the Temples, it stops rheums and defluxions to the Eyes and other parts, and is famous against the Gout. You may make a Plaster of it thus. v. Caranne ʒj. Bees Wax ʒss. with oyl of Moulin q. s. make a Plaster. The Gum dissolves in Oyl.

23. Ceraforum, Cherry-Tree Gum, dissolved in Wine or Water and drunk, it makes smooth the passages, breaks and dissolves the Stone, allays the sharpness of Humours, helps old Coughs, Asthma's, and spitting of Blood, causes an Appetite, and a good colour in the Face.

24. Colophonia, Colophony, or Rosin, so called, because it comes from a place called Colophon; it is yellow and black, dry and brittle, the remain of the Fir-rosin boyled, or the Caput mortuum of Rosins and Turpentine distilled. It is strengthning, comforts weak Limbs, mollifies, glutinates, and is Anodyne; it dissolves with fat or grease, and is generally put into Plaisters. It fills Ulcers with flesh, and skins a sore.

25. Copal. It is a well scented, clear, hard, white or yellowish Rosin, taken from a wounded Tree in New Spain and the West Indies. It is hot in 2°. moist in 1°. It is a good Cephalick Dissolver, Anodyne, and Vulnerary. It heals Wounds, softens and dissolves Swellings. You may draw an Oyl, as from G. Anima.

26. Elemi Gummi, Gum Elemi. It is a white clear Rosin with yellowish spots, smelling sweet when burnt, taken from an Æthiopian Tree; that which is black, or is like Ammoniacum, or Gum Arabick, is naught. It dissolves in oily Bodies, heals Wounds, and Ulcers in the Head, fractures of the Skull, eases pain of the Teeth and Nerves; is hot, and mollifies, digests, dissolves, ripens, and eases pain. It is mild, and agreeable with the Body, and gently cleanses and fills Ulcers up with flesh. It provokes Urine and the Terms, and is excellent in contusions of the Joynts. You may make a distilled Oyl of it by a Retort in

M Sand,

Sand, which is a Specifick against Convulsions, Palsies and Gouts.

27. Elaterium, concreted juyce of the wild Cucumber. See the way of making it, and its Virtues, Chap. 6. Sect. 33.

28. Euphorbium. It is a concreted gummy juyce drawn from the Lybian ferula being cut. There are two sorts of it: 1. That which is yellow and clear in hollow drops, as big as Pease, resembling Sarcocol. 2. That which is in Bladders, of a white body, and almost like Glass. It is sometimes adulterated with Sarcocol, Gums, or juyce of Spurge: chuse the fine, bright, white or yellowish, and of a sharp biting taste, which easily makes the tongue burn: the oldest is best, the fresh may not be safely taken. It purgeth Flegm and watry Humours strongly from all parts of the body, but it is violently inflaming, being hot and dry in 4°, and excellent against Gouts, Dropfies, and Palsies, Dose a v. gr. ad x. The Colledge prepares Euphorbium thus: B. Euphorbium freed from its drops, and powdered, put it into a glass, with so great a quantity of the juyce of Limmons, that it may overtop it three or four fingers; put them in a hot Bath till the Gum be dissolved; strain through a rag; put it in a Bath again, evaporate the juyce, and keep the Euphorbium for use: That is Quercitan's way. Some dissolve it in Vinegar of Roses, strain, inspissate, and wash it with Rose-water. But the best way is to dissolve it in Flegm of Vitriol impregnated with all its Spirit, or water sharpen'd with Oyl of Sulphur or Vitriol, then to decant, or strain, and coagulate.

Extractum Euphorbii. B. Prepared Euphorbium, and extract with S. V. decant, coagulate, and circulate with fresh Spirit, for ten days, abstract, and coagulate with a gentle heat: It has the Virtues of the Gum: Give it not without some other mixture. Euphorbium yields an Oyl by distillation, which is good in cold Diseases, and dissolves Nodes.

29. Fuligo, Soot: That which is black, roopy, and shines like jet, is best. It is the lightest part of combustible matter, elevated from the more weighty, turn'd thick and black by cold. It is sharp, piercing, and cleansing, good against fits of the Mother; but it is seldom given alone. It is good against Fevers being laid to the wrists. Spiritus Oleum & sal Fuliginis. Fill a Glass Retort with Soot, lute it, and distill with an open gradual fire, into a capacious receiver, so have you white spirits, flegm, yellow oyl, and at last a red. Let the Spirit and Oyl with half their quantity of S. V. be digested together, then distilled, with many Cohobations; so have you the Spirit joyn'd with S. V. and a rectified Oyl. Calcine the faces, and extract the Salt with Vinegar the common way. Both Spirit and Oyl are wonderful strengthners, refreshing all the Spirits, good in fits and dejections of the mind. Dose of the Spirit a gut. vj. ad .xij. Of the Oyl a gut. ij. ad .iij. in any convenient vehicle. The Salt (according to Hartman) is of singular use in the curacion of ulcerated Cancers, being dissolved per deliquium, and anointing with it; for it attracts the malignity visibly like a vapour. And the thick Oyl being often applied will produce a Crust, which in 5 or six days will fall off, and leave the Ulcer whole.

30. Galbanum Gummi, Gum Galbanum. It is a Gum from the Plant called Metopion or ferula Galbanifera (See Chap. 4. Sect. 246.) being yellow or whitish, inflamable, and scented almost like to Oppopanax. That is the best which is pure, yellow, fat, not sticky, heavy, of unpleasant scent, not too soft, nor too hard, but has some Grains or Seeds in it. It is hot and dry in 2°. Emollient, Discurient, Attractive, Pectoral, Emmenogogick, and Hysterick: It strongly provokes the Terms and Birth; is good against old Coughs, Asthma's, Poyson, and pestilential Distempers, suffocation of the Womb, and distemper of the Spleen. Ourwardly it facilitates delivery, helps the fits of the Mother, Head-ach, Megrim, pain of the Spleen. Horstius saith, That if it be dissolved in Vinegar, and mixt with a little Nitre, it takes away spots of the skin, freckles, &c. It dissolves Tumors, dissolves Nodes, and swellings of the Kings Evil, helps Diseases of the Joynts, and the Bitings of venomous Beasts. You may dissolve and cleanse it in hot water, Vinegar, juyce of Lemons, or Wine, Oleum Galbani. Mix it with Sand, and distil by a Retort in ashe. It ripens Buboës, Tumors, and Carbuncles, dissolves Nodes, and given inwardly, or laid to the Navel, it is good against Hysterick fits. Galbanetum, or Balsam of Galbanum. B. Galbanum lbs. Spirit of Turpentine ℥j. digest ten days, then distil by a Retort in Sand. It is good against the Cholick, and contraction of the Nerves by Unction. Galbanetum Paracelsi B. Galbanum lbs. Gum Hedera ℥ij. beat them severally, mix and distil by a Retort in Sand; then add Turpentine ℥j, Oyl of Spick ℥ij, and distil again It is Cephalick, Hysterick, and Arthritic, good for pains of the Head & Womb. Stiffness of the Nerves, Gout, Sciatica, &c.

31. Glycyrrhiza succus concretus, Juyc of Liquorice. This is absolutely the greatest of all Vegetable Pectorals, and performs all that the Root will. See it Chap. 1. Sect. 74. It is thus made: Gather the Roots in July, and while green, let them be cleansed and beaten; boyl them in water well, then strain and expresse all that can be out of the feces, which inspiciate by the heat of a Bath. It is often adulterated by the Pulp of Prunes (which is a great shame.) The best is the sweetest, soft, new, pure, clammy, very black, and yet when broken shines, melting easily in the mouth.

32. Guajaci, ligni sancti Resina saccharia, Gum of Guajacum. Chuse that which is clear, breaks like Rosin; is of a blackish yellow, smells sweet almost like Benjamin, is of a sharpish taste, and of the colour and form of Gum Lac. It is a notable cure for the French Pox; and is of great use in curing the Scurvy, Dropsie and Gout; it stops Catarrhs, helps the Epilepsie, and cures all Diseases that may be cured by Sweat. Tinctura Gummi Guajaci. B. Rectified S. V. ℥j. of the Gum in Powder ℥ij dissolve, and digest 10 or 12 days, then decant it. Dose is half a spoonful or spoonful, in a glass of Rhenish Wine or Canary: It has all the Virtues of the Gum, besides which it strongly provokes the Terms, and expels the dead Child. Oleum Gum Guajacii. It is made as that of Gum Animæ, and has the former Vertues. You may also make all those various preparations bereof, which you make of Benjamin. It is doubtless one of the best of Gums.

33. Hedera, Gum of Ivy. It is a Tear which drops from the body of the larger Ivy being wounded, being of a yellowish red colour, of a strong scent and sharp taste. It is good to take spors from the Face, take off Hair, kill Nits, and is Caustick. It is not often used, because that which is sold in the Shops is counterfeit and adulterate, and generally no such thing.

34. Hypocistis. It is the juyce of the Root of the shrub Cistis or Holly-Rose, dried in the Sun. It is cold and dry in 3°. Is binding, stops all Fluxes, as the Diarrhæa, Dysenteria, Lienteria, Whites, Gonorrhœa, and helps most other infirmities proceeding from those diseases. It strengthens parts debilitated through superfluous moisture, stops vomiting and spitting of Blood, binds violently, and is vulnerary; it strengthens the Stomach and Liver, and taken in Mithridate, comforts weak Bodies. Acacia is used for it, because it is rare, but 'tis not so good. See the Herb, Chap. 4. Sect. 165.

35. Juniperi Gummi, Juniper Gum, it is called Sandrack, with which Varnish is made by a dissolution in rectified S. V. Liquid Varnish is made thereof, being dissolved in Linseed Oyl, which is Anodyne, heals Burns, and the Piles. The Gum is hot and dry in 1°. It is Cephalick, Hysterick, and Arthritick; it dissolves tumors, strengthens weakness, and cures Diseases of the Head and Womb proceeding from a cold cause. This is not the Sandrack of the Greeks, for that is Orpiment.

36. Jalapa Resina fallitur, Resin of Jalap: It is extracted with S. V. which decanted, you may either inspissate, or precipitate with water: It has all the Vertues of the Root, which see Chap. 1. Sect. 79. Dose a ʒss ad ʒj.

37. Lacca Gummi, Gum Lac. Some think this to be the Cancaumum of the Arabians without scent, but it is not. See Chap. 4. Sect. 330. It attenuates, opens, purifies the blood, provokes Sweat and Urine, strengthens the Stomach and Liver, opens obstructions, helps the ye low Jaundice and Dropsie, is Lichontriprick, Pectoral, and Alexipharmick, brings forth the Measles, and small Pox, and is an Antidote against the Plague and pestilential Distempers, Dose a ʒss ad ʒj.

38. Laudanum, Ladanum. It is a Gum or Liquor sweating from the Leaves of the Syrian Cistus, brittle and of an Ash-colour, and sweet scent, used in Perfumes, greenish, light, easily made soft, fat, resinous, and without Sand, clotted in circles. It is hot and dry, emollient, digestive, maturative; it stops defluxions of Rheum from the Head upon the Lungs, Fluxes, and Lasks of all sorts: mixt with a little Bdellium, and made into a Pill, it helps pains and illness of the Stomach, stops Vomitings and Coughs, and helps spitting of Blood, as also the fallocation of the Womb.

Outwardly, it is Anodyne, and is applied in a Plaster to the Stomach, to open the Obstructions thereof, and help Coughs in Children, which cannot take things inwardly: you may make hereof a distilled Oyl, as of other Gums.

39. Laricea resina nativa, Resin of the Larch Tree. It is almost like Frankinsense, in colour, smell and body, and has the same Vertues. The thinnest part thereof is the Vulgar Turpentine.

40. Mechoacanna resina, It is made as that of Jalap, and has the Vertues of the Root, See in chap. I. Sect. 88.

41. Manna, Honey-Dews, Celestial Honey; it falls from Heaven like Dew in several of the Oriental Countries, as, Judea, Mesopotamia, Persia, Syria, Calabria, and is found in England: In those hot Countries it coagulates, with us it is liquid. It is an exceeding good Purge for children, being harmless as to its operation, but very efficacious in power; purging all humours, and taking away all kind of corruption; you may give it for one hundred days together to a Child: By this alone thing I have cured scald heads of so rebellious an humour that no other Medicine would touch; and therefore commend it as a most universal thing for Children, being pleasant in taste, of good scent, of a facil and easie operation, not making sick, griping or any ways indisposing the sick: It is a good Pectoral, and is said to purge Cholera and Water chiefly. Dose, ab ʒj ad ʒij in Milk: if very young Children, give ʒj ad ʒijij. The Syrian Manna is best, then that of Calabria; then that which has grains like Mastick: The white and fresh is good, not old, the red and dark is old, and not so effectual.

42. Mastick, Mastick: It is a gummy Resin of a whitish yellow, well-scented, and in Grains, proceeding from the Lentick Tree, (See in Chap. 4. Sect. 350.) It is hot and dry in 2^o, stops Fluxes, stays Vomiting, strengthens the Head and Stomach, condenses Vapours flying up to the Brain, comforts the Nerves, cures soiting of Blood, Asthma's, Coughs, stinking Breath, and being chewed as a Masticatory, draws away Flegm: It is of great use to correct other Purges, especially such as are sharp. 1. Solution of Mastick: It is done by digestion in S.V. in Baln. Mar. It has all the former vertues. 2. Oyl per deliquium. It is done in the white of an Egg byled hard, and laid in a moist Cellar to dissolve. 3. Mastick water. B. Mastick ʒj, Mace ʒij, Cloves ʒss; Nutmegs ʒj, Sherry Sack lbvij. distill by an Alembick. It is a great Cordial, strengthner of the Stomach, and internal Viscera. 4. Spiritus Mastichinus. B. Mastick lbs, rectified S. V. ʒiiij. digest twenty days: then add spirit of Niter ʒiiij. distil in B. M. and you have first a spirit, then a water of no use. The spirit you may rectifie in B. M. and from the Colophony in a Retort you may have an Oyl. This spirit expels wind, helps the Cholick, and strengthens a weak Stomach. 5. Oyl and Spirit of Mastick. Mix the Mastick with salt and sand, ana; and distil in a Retort. So have you a white Liquor (which is the spirit) with a yellow Oyl; then (increasing the fire) a red or blackish Oyl, which being rectified by a Retort, keep each by themselves. Being distilled with Oyl of Turpentine, you have good store of Oyl, which Faber calls the Quintessence of Mastich; which being rectified upon Vitriol, will be sharp; and by the addition of water in B.M. yellow. It strengthens the Brain, Stomach, Liver, Nerves, Reins, stops Vomiting and Fluxes; eases all pains, softens hard Tumors, helps Palsies, Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Cachexies, Dropsies; refreshes the Brain, strengthens the Memory, and cheers the Animal Spirit. Dose a gr. v. ad xij. The spirit expels wind, and helps the Cholick: Dose one Spoonful. The powder of the Gum with Amber and Turpentine is good against the Whites, and Gonorrhœa. Chuse that which is bright, whitish, ripe, fine, sweet, and friable; the best comes from Chio.

43. Meconium, The inspissate juice of Poppies: It has the Vertues of Opium, but not full out so powerful. See Opium following.

44. Myrrha, Stacte, Myrrh. It is a gummy Rosin, from an Arabian Tree, the Bark being cut. It is brittle, light, of one colour, full of little knobs, of a good scent, and sharp bitter taste. The Troglodytick is the best; that which is heavy and of a Pitch-colour is naught. Dioscorides saith, That Stacte is liquid Myrrh, either gathered from the Tree, or pressed from the Myrrh. It is hot and dry in 2°. Aperitive, Segnorick, Alexipharmick; it attenuates and expels Wind, opens Obstructions of the Lungs, Bowels and Womb; provokes Urine, and the Terms, expels the Birth and After-birth; helps a sinking Breath, Hoarseness, Coughs, Asthma's, Quinsies, Pleurisies, Fluxes, the Cholick, and kills Worms: it is a very good thing against the Plague, Agues, and Fevers, especially Quartans, being taken two hours before the Fit: Outwardly, it is good against Tumors, old Ulcers, green Wounds, Gangrenes, Fistula's, &c. It is also used in strengthening Plaisters, and to comfort cold and benumbed Sinews. Quercetan depurates it by digesting it in Wine, or some proper Juice in B.M. till it be dissolved, and straining of it, then gently inspissates. 1. Extract of Myrrh. It is done with rectified S.V. which may be drawn off in B.M. and the extract inspissated to the consistence of Honey. It has the Vertues of Myrrh. 2. Oyl of Myrrh. B. Myrrh ℥ij, Bole in powder 3 handfuls, S.V. enough to make all into a paste, digest twenty days, then distil by a Retort in sand or an open fire, so have you a clear light Oyl at top, and a heavy at bottom, both which you may rectifie with Bole and Salt: It preserves All things from putrefaction, and makes the face fair and youthful; helps the wasting of the Gums, and fastens loose Teeth, cleanses Ulcers, and fills them with flesh, and has all the other Vertues of Myrrh. 3. Oleum Myrrhæ per deliquium. Liquor of Myrrh. It is done by putting the Powder of Myrrh into a hard Egg, and setting it in a moist Cellar to melt; or you may mix it with the white, and lay it on a glass Tablet, that it may drop into a Receiver set underneath. This Oyl much beautifies the skin; and being taken ʒss. at a time with Sugar-Candy, helps hoarseness and coughs.

coughs. Given in a Glass of Claret or Alicat for some mornings, stops a Gonorrhœa in Men; and the Whites in Women.

45. Oleum Omphacinum, Oyl of unripe Olives. It is cooling, drying and binding, and strengthens the Stomach, heals exulcerations, cools the heat of burning Ulcers, repercusses Tumors in the beginning.

46. Oleum Olivarum maturum; It is either recent or old. The old is the hottest; but they both are Emollient, Digestive, Anodyne, and Vulnerary. They dissolve Tumors, helps stiffness of the Joynts, Cramps, &c. and taken 3j. at a time in a Morning loosens the Belly, and cleanses, and heals the Bowels, &c. mixt with Sugar, and taken, it is Pectoral, and helps all Diseases of the Breast, and Lungs, and expels Poyson. Oleum Philosophorum. Heat Brick-bats red hot, and quench them often in Oyl Olive, beat them to pieces or small, and distill in a Retort. It penetrates much, diffuses, maturates, and dissolves cold hard Tumors.

47. Olibanum, Gum of the Male-Frankincense-tree. It is the best Frankincense and has all the Vertues of Thus: which see in what follows.

48. Opobalsamum. Tears of the Indian Balsam Tree, or Balsam of Peru: It has all the Vertues of the true Balsam.

49. Opoponax. It is a Gummy Juice which flows from the wounded Root of Panax Heracleum. It is of a deep yellowish Colour, fat, bitter, strong scented, light, tender, brittle, easie to dissolve in water, and Milk-like, dry in 3^o, Emollient, Digestive, Discussive, and Cathartick: It discusses wind, and purges thick tough Flegm from the Breast, Brain, Nerves and Joynts, and all the remote parts; helps Coughs, Asthma's, and difficulty of breathing. Schroder saith, That it takes away the cold fits of Agues, if it be drunk with Vinegar an hour before the fit comes; and be also anointed on the Backbone with Oyl of Dill, and juyce of Smallage.

50. Opium, Opium is a Tear which flows from the wounded Heads or Leaves of the black Poppy being ripe: Some promiscuously use it with Meconium, but they do ill; for Opium is a Drop or Tear, Meconium the gross expressed juyce from the whole Plant: however they are both of one quality: Opium is the finer Gum, and the stronger; Meconium is the courser and weaker, yet the more malign. Opium is threefold: 1. Black and hard from Syria and Aden. 2. Yellower and softer from Cambaia. 3. Whiter from Cairo or Thebes, which last, commonly called Thebian Opium, is the best, being heavy, thick, strong scented like Poppy, bitter and sharp, inflamable, almost of the colour of Aloes, and easie to dissolve in water. The counterfeits, when washed, colours the water like Saffron. The best Opium is a Medicine to be prized, if it fall into the hand of a wise man, but of a fool as invaluable. It eases all manner of pains almost in a moment, whether inward or outward; composes a disturbed fancy, and quiets the Archeus of Nature; it is Hypnotick, and of great benefit to such as cannot ally watch, and can take no rest. It helps in most Diseases, of the Breast and Lungs, as Coughs, Colds, Hoarsness, Asthma's; stops all Fluxes, helps spitting of Blood, and is an excellent thing in Consumptions, if given by a prudent hand. It is a Specifick in the Pleuritic, and stops both the Terms and Whites. It stops all manner of Rheums, and Fluxes from the Head upon the Lungs; it is good against Vomiting, and fits of the Mother: outwardly also it eases all manner of pain. Authors are at a loss whether it be hot or cold. The Ancients say, It is cold from its Narcotick quality; from that Argument both Wine and Beer are cold, because taken largely, they strongly stupify, but we know they are hot. And if a Narcotick force or stupefaction be imputed to cold, the Fire may as well be said to be cold, or any thing else: Modern Physicians say it is hot, from its inflamability, sharpness and bitterness, and so without doubt it is; but which soever it is, the matter is not great, whilst we know what it will do, and how to use it without danger. Dose $\dot{\text{a}}$ gr. jad ij or ij ; but it is seldom used crude or unprepared. 1. Extractum Opii à Crollio. Cleanse the Opium in Hyssop-water, extract with S. V. decant and abstract. This is not the best preparation, because S. V. exalts the Narcotick quality, and leaves the Salt, which is the principal behind: Hartman says (and truly too) That 'tis better done with Vinegar. 2. Extract of Opium and Henbane. B. Opium prepared by drying at the fire, Juice of Henbane, ana, digest in ashes with a gentle heat, and inspissate, from which extract a Tincture with juice of Lemons, till it be no longer tinged; digest these tinged Liquors ten days, and keep them for use: this Extract goes into the Great Laudanum of Quercetani. 3. Extractum Opii Quercetani. Cut the Opium in slices, and dry them with a moderate heat in sand (avoiding the fumes) till it will rub into powder with your fingers, so will the stinking Sulphur (in which is the Narcotick force) be gone: from this Powder draw a Tincture, with juice of Lemons, or Spirit of Vinegar, decant, and abstract to the thickness of Honey. It has all the Vertues of Opium. 4. Extractum Opii ab Angelo Sala. Moistn. Opium in slices, with Vinegar, and dry it, till it will powder with your fingers; which powder dissolve in Vinegar of Roses in sand, strain and abstract. Dissolve it again in rectified Quintessence of Elder, clarify it with the white of an Egg, and inspissate to a consistency fit for Pills. This sweats powerfully. 5. Laudanum Opiatum Hartmani. B. Of either of the former Extracts zj . Salt of Corral and Pearl, ana zss . Extract of Saffron made with S. V. zij . mix them, and add Oyl of Cloves vj . Dose a gr. ii . ad iiij . 6. Laudanum Opiatum Quercetani. B. Extract or Essence of Opium ziiiij . Extract of Saffron zj . mix, and add powder of Hyacinths, Corral, ana ziiiij . Terra sigillata, Bezoar stone, Unicorns-horn, Amber-grease, ana liiij . mix them over a gentle heat, till being cold, 'twill make up into Pills. It is an excellent Anodyne, never disturbing the Brain, taking away all pains from what cause soever; it stops bleeding fluxes of the Bowels, & all other desfluxions whatsoever: it may be given in France and causes pleasant rest in Fevers.

7. Anodynum specificum Paracelsi. B. Thebani Opium ʒij. juyce of four Oranges and Quinces, ana ʒiiss. Cinnamon, Cloves, Saffron, ana ʒi. digest with a gentle heat for about an hour, strain and add Musk ʒj, Ambergrease ʒiiij, Magistery or Corral, and Pearl ana ʒi, mix and digest a while, then add of the Quintessence of Gold ʒj. This is the specifick Anodyne of Paracelsus, good for all the intentions aforesaid. Dose à gr. j. ad iii or iiij. Hartman advises to leave out the Quintessence of Gold: but then 'twill be good to add as much Oyl of Cinnamon. 8. Nepenthe of Sala. B. Sala's extract of Opium ʒj, Extract of Saffron ʒiiij, Bezoar-stone, or Tincture of Gold ʒiiij, Resina Xylobalsami, Ambergrease, ana ʒij, mix, and keep them in a glass for use. It eases pain, and makes the spirit lightsom and pleasant.

9. Pectoral Laudanum of Sala. B. Of the liquid Extract of Opium in S. V. ʒiiij. Saffron, flower of Sulphur with Benjamin, fine Aloes, Myrrh, ana ʒj, powder, and mix them hot, to which add spirit of Salt ʒiss. to cause fermentation. It may be very safely given in all manner of Catarrhs and Desfluxions, Vomiting, Coughs, Asthma's, Consumptions, Epilepsies, Head-aches, and an Hemorrhagi, with an Extract of juyce of Liquorice: dissolved in Vinegar, it helps the tooth-ach. Dose ad gr. iiij.

10. Laudanum Plateri simplex. B. Opium ʒj, dissolved in S. V. Bdelium refined in juyce of Plantane ʒj, mix them; which give à gr. iiij. ad viij. 11. Laudanum Clossæi. Digest Opium in distilled Vinegar viij days, thrice renewing the Vinegar, draw off the Vinegar in Baln. Mar. to the consistency of an Extract: of which take ʒiiij. Extract of Saffron ʒj, Extract of Castor ʒij, Extract of the species Diambra, Diamargariton frigidum, & Diamoscu dulce prepared in spirit of Vinegar ʒv iiij, Magistery of Corral vitriolated ʒiss. mix them; and keep the mass in a Glas half full, stirring it with a wooden spatula to foment. Dose gr. iiij. 12. Liquid Laudanum. B. Of dried Opium, as aforesaid ʒj, rectified S. V. ʒxij, spirit of Vitriol ʒj, species of Diambra, Aromaticum rosatum, ana ʒiiss. Ambergrease ʒj, infuse in a close Vessel; digest twenty days; then decant the Liquor and keep it for use. Dose à gut. iiij. ad viij. or x. It has all the Virtues of any of the former. 13. Laudanum Salmonis Simplex. B. Opium extracted in juyce of Lemons or spirit of Vinegar ʒiiij, of the Extracts of Contra yerva, Radix Serpentaria, and Saffron, ana ʒj, Ens Veneris ʒij, Oyl of Cinnamon ʒvj, mix them, and keep them in a Glas close stopp'd. It is not inferior to any sort of Laudanum yet known, and performs all that Opium or any Laudanum will do. Dose à gr. iiij. to viij. It may be safely given in Fevers.

51. Petroseum, Oyl of Peter: It is a kind of fat flowing from Rocks or Stones; whether it be Vegetable or Mineral, it is doubtful; this is certain, that being inspissated, it much resembles a Gum: It is hot and dry, emollient, Digestive, and Discutient, of wonderful power in comforting and supporting the Nerves. By rectifying of it you have a fine clear Spirit, and at the bottom a kind of Colophony, of good use in curing Wounds and Ulcers: the Spirit is good for Boils and Ulcers; and mixt with S. V. is of singular good use against the Palfie, and numbnefs of the Limbs, as alfo the Gout.

52. Pinea refina nativa, Rofin of the Pine-tree. It is hot and dry, near in quality to that of the Larch-tree. The dry is of the nature of Frankincenfe, incarnates and heals wounds: The moift of the nature of common Turpentine.

53. Piffaſphaltos, It is a factitious Rofin made of Pitch and Bitumen, called by ſome Arabian Mummy. But there is a Natural deſcribed by Dioſcorides, called Asphaltos, which is a kind of Bitumen, fat, or Rofin hard as Pitch, and clammy; the beſt is Jewiſh, which comes from the Mare Mortuum, or a kind of black, ſhining purple colour, heavy, and of a ſtrong ſcent. It is hot in 3°, dry in 2°. It cures Head-ach, and cold Diſeaſes of the Nerves.

54. Piffelaon Indicum, Barba-does Tar. It is Balfamick, Anodyne, Diſcuſſive, Digestive, Maturative, and Vulnerary, and as ſome think, not much inferior to the natural Balfam; it is a moſt excellent thing in curing of all manner of Wounds and Bruiſes; it aſſwages Tumors, and eaſes pains of the Gout. You may draw an Oyl from it by a Retort in Sand, prevalent to all the purpoſes aforeſaid, and of ſingular uſe in Palfie, Numbnefs, Conuulſions, and Cramps.

55. Pix Abietina factitia, Pitch of the Fir-tree. It comes from ſuch as are killed almoſt with fatnefs and Age. It is made by burning after the way of diſtilling by deſcention; making great heaps of the Wood, covering of it on the top with pieces of Earth, that the fumes may not aſcend, and kindling of it at a hole, the Pitch by force of the fire flows down into Channels underneath: It is made very plentiful in the Northern Regions, as Norway, Finland, Swedeland, &c. The thick is called Pix of Pitch; the thin Piffelaon or Tar. When this Pitch is purged again by boyling, it grows thick, and is called Stone-pitch, or Navel-pitch, by ſome Palimpiffa, which is before it is uſed about Ships; but Zopiffa after it is taken from them. It is of the nature of Rofin, but draws much more, and therefore maturates Tumors, eaſes Pains, heals Wounds, comforts any cold or benumbed part, and is good for bruifes. The liquid or Tar, is hot, not ſo dry as the former, Emollient, Diſcutient, Digestive, Anodyne and Vulnerary. You may Diſtil from both of them an excellent Oyl or Balfam (either per ſe, or mixt with ſand) in large quantity, having all the former Vertues, and helps Diſeaſes of the Nerves from a cold cauſe.

56. Pix Burgundica, Burgundy-Pitch, It is hot and dry, Attractive, Anodyne and Vulnerary; applyed to the Temples it helps the Tooth-ach; to the Nape of the Neck, it draws Rheums from thence; it is (in a Plaiſter) extraordinary good for bruifes, diſlocations, and old Aches, and brings Tumours to ſuppuracion; It is the Rofin of the Pitch-tree.

57. Pix Cedria, Pitch of the Cedar-tree. It is hot and dry in 4°. It helps Ulcers of the Lungs, and has the Vertues of other Pitch: It is often uſed to embalm with, becauſe it keeps dead bodies from putrefaction: without doubt it is a very excellent Remedy.

58. Pix Laricea, Pitch of the Larch-tree. It is made as that of the Fir-tree, and has the same Vertues.

59. Pix Pineæ, Pitch of the Pine-tree. It is made as that of the Fir-tree at Sett. 55. It differs not from the former in Vertues and Operation. The Tar helps the Pitsick, expectorates rough slegm, and heals spreading Ulcers.

60. Pix Terebinthina, Pitch of the Turpentine-tree. It is made as that of the Fir-tree, and put to the same uses. Indeed all these kinds of Pitch are not discernable one from another, but have the same colour, taste, and smell: The Tar also is of equal Vertues with that at Sett. 55. It helps the Inflammations of the Almonds and of the Throat, as also the Quinsie: beaten with Salt and applied, it helps the bitings of Serpents and mad Dogs: with Oyl of Roses it helps mattering Ears: with an equal portion of Wax, it helps deformed nails, wasteth waxen Kernels, and swellings of the Spleen and Mother. Mixt with Barley-meal and Boys Urine, it is good against Tumors and Sores of the Kings Evil; and if you add Brimstone to it, it stays Rhagedens.

61. Prunorum, Plumb-tree Gum. It has all the vertues of the Cherry-tree Gum.

62. Saccharum album & rubrum, Sugar white and brown. It is the juyce of Reed, called the Sugar-Reed or Cane, growing in India, and now in several parts of Asia, Africa, and Europe. That which comes from the Maderæes is best; That from the Canaries next: That from Malta next:

Then that which comes from the Barbadoe, Virginia, St. Thomas, &c. It is made by boyling the Canes (ground or beaten) till the Sugar be congealed at bottom like Salt, which is then very brown: if it be but meanly cleansed by boyling in water, it is called course Sugar; if well depurated, white or fine: hence we have sugar of divers colours, according to the degrees of its purification. The refined Sugar, is that which is purified by a Lixivium (made of Quick Lime and Water) being dissolved in it, boyled, scummed, thickned, and then cast into Moulds, which have holes at the bottom to let out the feculent juyce. The white is the best, then the gray, then the red. Sugar is restorative, and good in all Diseases of the Lungs, as Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Hoarseness, and Ulcers there. It attenuates, cuts, and cleanses, and eases pain, and is vulnerary. 1. Sugar of Roses. It is made of Sugar dissolved in the juyce of Roses. 2. Sugar of Violets. It is made of Sugar dissolved in juyce of Violets, in both which you may boyl to a consistency. 3. Tinctura Sacchari. Be. Fine Sugar 5j. Oyl of Tartar per deliquium as much: Digest in B. M. two or three days; then put to it spirit of Wine \mathfrak{Wj} . Digest, and you have an excellent Tincture, Dose one spoonful or more. Schroder advises to put a little Vinegar to the first digestion, (I suppose to cause fermentation) but that is needless. 4. Liqueur of Sugar. Put Loaf-Sugar into a hard white of an Egg, and let them melt. 5. Spirit and Oyl of Sugar. It is gradually distilled from the Sugar in a Glass-still in sand; the Oyl swims at the top, which you may rectifie and separate. The spirit is sharp and acid, dissolves Coral, Pearl, Shells and Stones, like Spirit of Guaiacum: The Oyl is strengthening, attenuating and incising, and is good against effects of the Breast and Lungs given in any convenient Vehicle.

63. Saccharum Candum album & rubrum. Sugar-candy white and red. It is Sugar purified and crystallized, like other Chrystals of Salts. The white is made of Canary Sugar; the red of that which comes from S. Thomas. Syrup of Sugar-candy. Take Sugar-candy in powder, add S. V. an inch or more above it, set it on fire, and let it burn till 'tis as thick as syrup. It has all the virtues of Sugar, and is of singular use against violent Coughs and Colds. Dissolved also in the hard white of an Egg, it is of the same purport.

64. Sagapenum Gummi, Serrapinum. Gum Sagapen. It drops from the Ferula or Fennel Giant (Chap. 4. Sect. 246.) It grows in Media, is brought thence to Alexandria, thence to Venice, and thence to all other parts of Europe. What is clear and fine is best, of a yellowish red outwardly, whitish inwardly, and strong scented almost like Onions, or Leeks. It is hot in the 3^d. dry in 2^d. It purges thick clammy flegm, and gross humours from the Head and Brain, Breast, Stomach, Bowels, Womb, Reins, Nerves, and Joynts, as Mesue testifies. It provokes the Terms, but kills the fetus; it is of great use in Drop-sies, Cachexies, Green-sickness, Epilepsie, Palsie, Trembling of the Joynts, Convulsions, Coughs, Asthma's, Megrim, Head-aches, Gout, Sciatica, Obstructions of the Spleen, Cholick, and Agues, or Fevers. Outwardly, It is good in Pleurisies, applied to the place, as also Tumours of the Spleen and the Gout. Dose a 3s. ad 3j. correct it with Mastick, Grains, Anniseeds, &c. It is depurated as Ammoniacum, and in like manner you may have distilled Oyl by an Alembick in Sand; which is prevalent to all the Diseases which the Gum is good for.

65. Sanguis Draconis, Dragons blood. It is the Tear of a Tree, red like Blood; the Fruit of which is like to a Cherry, whose skin being taken off is like a Dragons; from whence came that name. It comes from Portus Sanctus in America. It will dissolve in water, and make it white, and is depurated in the same by boyling, decanting from the Feces, and then inspissating. It is temperate, drying and binding: It stops all sorts of Fluxes, and spitting of Blood; stays Catarrhs, and strengthens the Stomach. Outwardly, it heals Wounds, stops Bleeding, fastens Teeth, dries up Catarrhs, and laid to the Navel, stops Dysenteries.

66. Sarcocolla Gummi, Sarcocol; It is a Gummy Tear in Grains. (from a Tree of the same name) almost like to Frankincense, of a kind of a yellowish colour, and bitter taste, clammy and easie to be dissolved in water. Hot, and dry in 1^o. It is Sognotick, Digestive and Vulnerary; con-solidates, congeals, and maturates: It stops Fluxes, Catarrhs, Rheums, and and admirably heals wounds. Dissolved in womens milk, or a weak Lime-water, with a little Sugar and Rose-water, it stops Rheums in the eyes, takes away Clouds, Pin and Web, suffusions, &c. you may give of it inwardly a 3ss. ad 3j, corrected with Spices, to purge gross and clammy Humours from the Lungs, Joynts, and extrem parts.

67. Scammonium, Scammony.

It is a concreted Juyce from the Root of the Plant Scammonia, or the purging Benweed (Chap. 4. Sect. 594.) It comes from Syria and Antioch, which is the best; then the Armenian; the European is of little worth. Chuse that which is clear, fine, brittle, yellowish when broken, not very weighty, and with spittle grows milky, not much inflaming the Tongue. That which is thick, black and heavy, is either adulterated, or the juyce of the whole Plant: It is often adulterated with juyce of Tithymal, which is partly known by its heat. It is a very strong purger of Choler, Flegm, and watry Humours, either alone or commixed. It is of great force against the Dropsie, Jaundice, Pox and Gout; opens all inward Obstructions, attracts from the Joynts and most extrem parts; provokes the Terms, and cures the Cachexia, and Green sickness in Virgins, and is one of the best Head-purges that is. You may give of it crude a gr. v. ad xv: It is hot and dry in 3°. Authors have various ways of preparing and correcting of it, as follows: 1. Diagridium. The Colledge orders it thus: Take the Core out of a Quince, and fill it up with Scammony in powder, join the Quince together again, wrap it in Past, bake it in an Oven, or rost it under Embers, then take out the Scammony, and keep it for use. 2. Scammony prepared. Crollius makes the preparation of it one of Hercules his Labours; some do it with juyce of Citrins; but Quercetanus says, It is best prepared in juyce of Lemons, or Flegm of Vitriol impregnated with its spirit; for in this spirit lies only the true preparation of those things which are too hot, which are by it exquisitely corrected; but because the spirit of Vitriol alone, (as also Tartar) burns Gums to pitch, making them lose much of their purging Virtues, it will be good to mix it with fair water, or Tincture of Roses, and then make use of it as a Correcter. 3. Scammony Sulphurated. Lay Scammony in powder on a brown Paper, which hold over live Coals, which have sulphur cast thereon, which stir continually till it be melted, and become white. Dose a gr. v. ad vij. 4. Vitriolated Scammony of Hartman. Imbibe the fine powder of Scammony in Oyl of Sulphur or Vitriol mixed with fair water (3j of Oyl to ʒij of water) and a small quantity of Oyl of Anniseeds (to give a flavor) beat it to a mass like clammy pitch. It purges gently a gr. 15. ad xxv. 5. Extract of Diagridium. First, ʒi Cloves, Mace, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Ginger, Grains of Paradise, Calamus, Carraways, Orange-Peel. Liquorice, ana ʒiij, Spirit of Wine half a pint, extract a Tincture. Secondly, ʒi Diagridium 3vj, which extract with S. V. also: put the two Extracts together, and evaporate to a consistence. Dose a gr. xv. ad xxv. 6. Extract of Scammony with Liquorice. Let roots of Liquorice be infused a day and night in spring-water, and then a little boyled, strain and repeat this work in the same water thrice: In this decoction dissolve fine powder of Scammony; after which decant from the feces, and with a very gentle heat abstract the water: It is an excellent Prescript; for Liquorice is a true Corrector of Scammony, and all other Purges, without enervating their Virtues. Schroder orders you to filter the dissolution, but then you will lose a great deal of Scammony, which will never go through, nor will the Medicine be ever the better. 7. Diacrydonium Scammoniatum B. Marmalade of Quinces t℥ss, powder impalpable of sulphurated Scammony ℥iij, mix them well, and let them boyl in a gentle B.M. to a good consistency. Or thus, B. Scammony ℥iij, extract the Tincture with S.V. mix it well by degrees with juyce of Quinces t℥ss, boyled wit Sugar t℥ss, and cast them into their Moulds. Dose a ʒj ad ʒijss. 8. Purging Spirit of Scammony. B. Scammony p. iiij. Juyce of Quinces p. ij, mix, and set them in a gentle heat, stirring them once a day till they are dry, then add Juyce of Liquorice p. j. Spirit of Wine a sufficient quantity, digest, and you have an excellent purging spirit, which works without making sick or griping. You must proportion the Dose to the quantity of the Scammony.

68. Scammonii Resina, Rosin of Scammony. B. Of fine Scammony in powder ʒj. Spirit of Wine ℥xii, Digest it in B.M. two or three hours, often stirring of it to make it dissolve, filter it hot, then add cold water, making it like Milk; draw off the S. V. so will the Rosin settle to the bottom; decant the Water, and wash the Rosin twice or thrice, keeping it for use. It has all the Virtues of Scammony: You may give a gr. x. ad xv. Hartman orders the same to be done with distilled Vinegar, and gives a gr. viij ad xij: where note, that if your Scammony be fine, you will have full ʒij of Rosin out of ʒiij of the Gum.

69. Strobilina resina nativa, Rosin of the Pitch or Pine-tree: By the Pitch Tree, we mean the Abies mas, or male Fir, which is a kind of Pine. Used Emplasterwise it is of notable force to comfort weak Limbs, give ease in pains of the Gout, mollifie hard swellings, disperse Imposthumes, cleanse Ulcers, and fill them up with flesh.

70. Storax Calamita, Cane Storax. It is a gummy Rosin, or concremented jayce brought from Pamphilia, Syria and Sicilia. Chuse that which is in Grains, fat, clammy, reddish or yellow, with white fragments, sweet sent, and when softened gathers almost like honey: That which is black or without scent, or like Bran or Sawdust, is naught. It is hot and dry, Cephalick, Pectoral, Arthritic, Emollient, Digestive, and Anodyne. It eases strong pains of the Head, cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Hoarseness, Catarrhs, gives ease in the Gout, comforts and strengthens the Nerves, helps Convulsions, Palsies, and Numbness, cures Barrenness and hardness of the Womb; and taken in a Pill with Turpentine, it loosens the Belly. Oyl of Storax.

Dis.

Dissolve the Gum in Rose-water, distil by an Alembick in Ashes, first with a gentle fire, and when the Oyl comes, with a stronger. This Oyl hath all the Virtues of the Storax, and is much more effectual: a drop or two put into the Ears takes away the noise of 'em.

71. Storax liquida, Liquid Storax. What this is, Authors can scarcely determine: Some think it to be Stalfe: Serapio saith, It is the Oyl of the Kernels of the Fruit of the Tree that yields Storax: Avicenna saith, it comes from the Decoction of the Bark of the same Tree. Dioscorides saith, It is made in Syria, of Storax Calamita, boyled in Wine, Oyl, and Turpentine; which, says he, violently heals and softens; being discutive, Anodyne, and Vulnerary, and indeed good for all the intentions for which the former Storax is prescribed.

72. Tacamahacca Gummi, Tacamahac. It is a new-found Gum, brought from New Spain, which bleeds from a tall Tree being wounded. It is almost of the colour of Galbanum, with white spots of grains like Ammoniacum, very sticking, and of a very strong taste and scent. It is hot in 3°, and dry in 2°, and very astringent. It is Cephalick, Stomack, Pectoral, Hysterick, Digestive, Discusive, Maturative, Carminative and Anodyne. It discuties Wind and Pains, softens Tumors, is good against the Gout, Sciatica, and all other pains of the Joynts: Infomuch that it is so famous among the Indians, that they use it against all pains whatsoever, without any other remedy. It is good for pains and aches of the Head, Womb and Nerves, and cures old Aches by simple application Plaisterwise: The fume of it being cast upon Coals is good against Fits of the Mother: and Monardus says, it cures Wounds in the Nerves and Joynts, presently preventing Convulsions: A Plaister constantly applied to the stomach strengthens it, and stops vomiting; and laid upon the Navil, it keeps the Womb in its place: laid to the Temples, it repels all Defluxions upon the Eyes or Teeth, and put into a hollow Tooth, cures the Tooth-ach: It cures Punctures, Wounds, and running Pains: applied to the region of the Spleen, it helps Tumors and pains thereof; and laid over the Belly, stops fluxes, &c. In a word, it is a most excellent thing against all Nodes and pains in what part of the Body soever.

73. Tartarum, Tartar or Lees of Wine. It is a viscous clammy Mucilage, or earthy Salt, of a stony nature, easily growing hard, separated from certain Vegetables, chiefly of the Grape. 1. Cremor Tartari. B. Take impalpable powder of Tartar well washed in warm water; to which put boyling water, and stir it with a wooden Spatula, till part of the Tartar be dissolved: filter it through an Hypocras-bag while it is hot, lest it coagulate. To the Tartar remaining add more boyling water, and repeat the former work so often, till all the Tartar be dissolved, and nothing remain but only the sand. Put all these waters together, and let them cool, so shall you have the Cream at the top, and the Crystals to stick at the side and bottom, which keep for use: if the Crystals shoot not, you must evaporate the water till they will. Both Cream & Crystals are of one nature; if they be not white enough, you must dissolve, filter, and coagulate again. They attenuate, digest, and strengthen the Stomach; open all Obstructions of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Bowel, Reins, and Bladder, and excellently loosens the Belly; being given à ʒss. ad ʒij. with a grain or two of Scammony, or Gutta Gamba. 2. Crystals of Tartar Chalybeated. B. Cream or Crystals of Tartar ʒij. Crystals of Steel (made with sp. Vitriol) ʒi. dissolve the steel in Rose-water; and mix it with the Tartar in a stone Mortar; dry and powder, adding a few drops of Oyl of Cinnamon. It is excellent in all Chronick and Hypochondriack Diseases, as Green-sickness, Obstructions of the Spleen, Melancholy, Jaundice, Quartan Agues, Dose à ʒj. ad ʒj. 3. Chalybeate Cream of Tartar. B. Water impregnated with ʒij. of Powder of Tartar, which dissolve in eight quarts of water by boyling; evaporate a quarter part: put into it (the water being yet very hot) filings of steel ʒiv. then take it from the fire, and immediately strain it, (lest the Cream be Vomitive) and set it to shoot. It has the Virtues of the former. 4. Spirit and Oyl of Tartar. B. Powder of white Tartar, distil it with a Glass Retort in sand, or a naked Fire. First, you have a Flegm, then a Spirit like a Cloud; lastly, a thick Oyl, which separate from the Spirit. The Spirit you may rectifie by three Cobaltations upon Colatbar; or by distilling it four times in B. M. always washing the Still with a strong Lixivium. The Oyl is rectified by adding to it a good quantity of water or distilled Vinegar, and distilling in B. M. Separate the Oyl; and mix with it again good Rose-water, distil, separate, and keep the Oyl for use. The Spirit is Sudorifick, Alexipharmick, Emmenogogick, Diuretick, Antiscorbutick, and Anodyne: It cuts, attenuates, dissolves, and opens all obstructions: Is wonderful in Dropsies, Gout, Scurvy, Palsie, Scabs, Itch, Leprosie, or French Pox, proceeding from what cause soever, whether wandering or fixt. Dose à gut. xx. ad ʒij. The Oyl expels Wind, eases the Cholick, and helps fits of the Mother. Dose ad gut. iiii. Outwardly it is good (mixt with other things) against scabs of the French Pox. 5. Compound Spirit of Tartar. Extract a Salt from the Caput Mortuum of the former Work, which purifie, and joyn it with the aforesaid flegm, spirit, and Oyl: Digest in B. M. in a close vessel, till the Salt is dissolved: then make balls therewith of dry clay, & distil them by a Retort in a naked fire, and all the Salt will come over with the Spirit and Oyl, perfectly united to the Spirit: But the stinking Oyl you must separate. The Spirit has all the former Vertues, but is much more powerful. There is a Philosophick Spirit of Tartar (found out by Clossens) which will make Aurum Potabile, which you may see in Lib 3. of our Synop. Medic. 6. Sal Tartari, seu Sal. Regis. Salt of Tartar. Calcine the Caput Mortuum of the simple spirit, or new Tartar (which you please) in a Potters Furnace, make a Lixivium in water, filter and evaporate; if it be not white enough, dissolve, filter, and evaporate again. It is an excellent thing in the Stone, provokes Urine, opens all Obstructions, and has all the Vertues of the former Spirits. Dose ʒss. 7. Oleum

Tartari per deliquium. Let Salt of Tartar melt in a Cellar, or dissolve it in water, filter and coagulate to the just consistency. It has all the Vertues of the Salt, kills Tetters and Ringworms; heals Ulcers, Scabs, and scald Heads. A few drops of it mixt with a Cathartic makes the purging force stronger: & a little of it mixt with any Menstruum, makes it extract the Vertues of any Vegetable the easier. 8. Tartarum Vitriolatum. B. Of the aforesaid Oyl of the salt $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$, drop upon it Spirit (or Oyl) of Vitriol or Sulphur $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$, till it make no noise: when the Ebullition is over, evaporate with a gentle heat to dryness. It causes Digestion, and strengthens the Stomach, dissolves Tartar in the Body, and opens all obstructions whatsoever: It cures Fevers, the Green-sickness, stoppage of the Terms, and Quartans: Dose a \mathfrak{ss} . ad $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$, in Mead. After this manner you may vitriolate the salt of all Vegetables. 9. Crystals of Tartar Vitriolated. B. Crystals of Tartar $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$, spirit of Vitriol $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$, digest till dissolution, then add hot water to dissolve it quite, evaporate a little, and set it to Crystallize. It has the former Vertues, but not so powerful. 10. Tincture of Tartar. To fine salt of Tartar calcin'd till it is blew, add S.V. digest, and extract to redness: then decant and evaporate to the thickness of Oyl, so have you Tincture of Tartar. It is a violent Divretick and Lithontriprick: It cures the Scurvy, Dropsie, Green-sickness, Obstructions of the Spleen and Mesentery, Hypochondriack Melancholy, and Quartans. Dose a gut. iiij ad x . 11. Purging Oyl of Tartar, Impregnate Salt of Tartar with Vinegar, till it has no more sharpness: add S.V. and draw it off by several Cobobations, then set the Salt to melt, so have you a purging red Oyl. It is eminent in all Dropfies and dangerous Diseases; and purges a gut. v. ad x . 12. Purging Tartar Vitriolated. B. Of the former Oyl extracted dry, drop on it Spirit or Oyl of Vitriol till the boiling ceases: abstract the humidity in sand: then reverberate, and fix the salt by an equal heat without melting of it. This is Paracelsus his Specifick purge: It works well, provokes sweat, and cures the Scurvy, Dropsie, Gout, Plague, and all malignant Fevers. Dose $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. or gr. $\mathfrak{x}\text{ij}$. in Syrup of Roses or Buckthorn. 13. Magisterium Tartari Sennerti. Put S. V. an inch above fine salt of Tartar; digest and draw it off with a gentle fire: add more S.V. and repeat this work very often; so will the salt of Tartar take in the Volatile Salt of the S.V. Then sublime, and you shall have the salt of Wine free from flegm or water. 14. Liquor of Tartar. Digest calcin'd Tartar and common Salt, ana. $\mathfrak{tt}\text{j}$, in water $\mathfrak{t}\text{iiij}$, in a gentle heat for a week, stirring it every day: strain, and add there to fine Tartar $\mathfrak{tt}\text{j}$. Digest ten days, and filter it for use. It excellently opens obstructions of the Spleen and Mesentery, is good against Melancholy, the Scurvy, Dropsie, stoppage of the Terms, and Green-sickness. Dose one Spoonful of Rhenish Wine and Mead. 15. Salt of Tartar Volatiliz'd. B. Fine Salt of Tartar, and rectified S. V. Distil it with an Alembick from sand, cobobating three or four times, so the salt of Tartar will stick to the sides of the Still. Where note, that in B.M. it will not sublime. This, Schroder saith, is excellent to break the Stone, given in gr. v. or vi.

74. Terebinthina e Chio, Chio-Turpentine. It comes from the Turpentine-tree, is clear, transparent, of a whitish or glossie blew, sharp taste, and sweet scent. But Clusius, thinks that the true Turpentine is not in the Shops, but only that of the Fit-tree. That from Chio is best; then the Lybian, Ponrick, Arabian, Syriack or Cyprian; then the Venice-Turpentine: That from the Larch, is the vulgar or common Turpentine. It is Pectoral, Uterine and Nephritick, helps Coughs, Asthma's, Ulcers of the Lungs, and spitting of Blood; opens Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Reins, Bladder and Womb; provokes Urine, expels the Stone, loosens the Belly, heals inward Ulcers, cleanses the Womb, is excellent in Consumptions, cures Gouts, and Gonorrhœa's. Authors shew how to wash it, but 'tis best (so is all Turpentine) unwash'd. You may give it either alone in a Wafer, or dissolved in the Yolk of an Egg, and mixt with water; or thickned so as to be brought into Pills; but the former ways are the better. Crato's Pills against the Gout and Stone. B. Of the best Turpentine ʒj, boyl it in Ground pine-water till it is white: Rhubarb in powder ʒvj, Ground-pine, white Amber, ana ʒij, Liquorice ʒj, make a mass. Dose ʒ ʒss, ad ʒj. You may make also a Spirit, Oyl, and Balsam afterwards.

75. Terebinthina Cypria, Cypress-Turpentine. It comes from the Turpentine-tree as the former, only differs in place of growth; and so has the same Vertues.

76. Terebinthina Veneta, Venice-Turpentine. It comes from the Turpentine-tree also, but is thinner, and ofteneft of the three used: dissolved in the yolk of an Egg, and made potable; being taken in the Morning fasting, it loosens the Belly, and cures a Gonorrhœa.

77. Terebinthina Laricea, Common Turpentine, or Turpentine of the Larch-tree. It is courser, but has the Vertues of all the former; is vulnerary, and used outwardly in Plaisters to draw, ripens Tumors; heals Sores and Ulcers, and cures Wounds; which last it does by one application: It is emollient, cleansing, and breeds flesh. 1. Spirit and Oyl of Turpentine. Mix it with water, and distil by a Vesica; so have you first a clear Oyl, which is called Spirit; afterwards a yellow Oyl (then change the Receiver) continue the distillation till it be all come over, and only a Colophony remains. The Spirit is hot and dry, provokes Urine, breaks the Stone; is good in Coughs and most Diseases of the Lungs, cures a violent Gonorrhœa, Ulcers of the Yard, and the French Pox: It resists poyson, purges the Stomach, helps the Strangury, strengthens the Nerves, and dissolves Contusions and coagulated blood. Dose à gut. vj. ad xx. The Oyl is emollient, opening, and purging, and may be used instead of the true natural Balsam: It is excellent in cold affects of the Nerves, is good in obstructions of the Lungs, Asthma's, and difficulty of breathing: give a gut v. ad

v. ad x. in any convenient Vehicle. Outwardly it is said to help the prints of Scabs, and of the Small Pox; chaps in the skin, and deafness. 2. Balsam of Turpentine. It is drawn from the Colophony by a Retort. It is hot, attenuates, is aperient, cleansing, and conglutinative. It helps the Gout, old Aches, and pains, hard Tumors, shrunk Sinews, stiff Joynts, old putrified Ulcers, Gangrenes, and Chilblains. 3. Spiritus Terebinthinæ Conradi. ℞. Honey p. ij. Turpentine p. j. mix and distil by a Retort or an Alembick. If gut. iv, v, or vij, of this Spirit be given every day in Arsmart-water, it breaks and dissolves the Stone both in the Reins and Bladder. 4. Tinctura Terebinthinæ. It is extracted with Spirit of Wine out of a very red Colophony, what remains is also an excellent Anodyne and Vulnerary Balsam: The Tincture has in some measure the Virtues of the Spirit.

78. Thus. Frankincense. It is a native Resin, from an Arabian Tree called Lovan, which we call the Frankincense-Tree. It is Male or Female: the Male is called Olibanum, which is a Resin, hard, clear, of a yellowish white within, fat, and round like drops. The Female is softer, more resinous and inflamable, and yellow-cr. Olibanum is the best of the two (being from Trees which grow on Mountains) but they have both one and the same Vertues. Frankincense is hot in 2°. dry in 1°. It is Pectoral, Cephalick, Somatick, Anodyne, and Vulnerary. It cleanses, fills Ulcers with flesh and heals them, cures green Wounds, chiefly of the Head; is good against Kibes and Chilblains, and helps Ulcers in the Fundament. Laid on with Pitch and Vinegar, it cures Warts, Scurf, and Morpew. It is excellent against cold Diseases of the Head, as the Megrim and Vertigo; helps Coughs, Asthma's, Vomiting, spitting of Blood, and all sorts of Fluxes, both of the Bowels and Womb. It is good against Melancholy, stops Rheums, and a Gonorrhœa. In a fume it strengthens the Head, dries up Catarrhs, and strengthens a moist Brain. You may make a Spirit, Oyl, and Balsam from it as of other Resins. Liquor de Thure. It is made in the white of an hard Egg; and is good to clear the skin, take off spots, freckles and morpew, and to fill up hollow Ulcers with flesh.

79. Tragacanthum Gummi. Gum Tragacanth. It is of a Gum flowing from the wounded root of a thorny Shrub called Tragacantha in Greek, and Spina hirci in Latin, that is Goats-Thorn. It is temperate in all Qualities, lenifies, stops the pores, and obtrudes sharp Humors; It is used chiefly to help Coughs, Colds, roughness of the Throat and Wind-pipe, pains of the Reins and Bladder, and the Bloody Flux. It is made into a Mucilage with warm water, to make up Troches, and other things which require form. Dose of the Gum is ʒ i, or ʒ ij.

80. Turpethi Resina. Resin of the Root Turbith. It is made with S.V. as that of Jalap or Scammony; and has the Vertues of the Root. See it Cap. 1. Sect. 132.

81. Viscus Aucupum, Bird-lime. It is made of the Bark of Agrifolium, or the Holly-Bush, thus:

N = Take

Take the Bark and put it into a ditch in boggy ground, covering it with Boughs of Trees, and letting it remain till it be purrified, which will be in about 12 or 16 days; then beat it in a Mortar to the thickness of Lime, after which wash it often; and putting to it a little Oyl of Nuts, or Sal-let Oyl, keep it in earthen Vessels for use: It consolidates Wounds; but taken inwardly is mortal, because it glews up the Intrails. It is a good Medicine for Flowers. See Chap. 4. Sect. 700. Applied Plaisterwise, it is a great Anodyne, and eases all manner of pains, and strengthens the Nerves.

C A P. IX. Of JUICES.

Colledge.] Vinegar, Juice of Citrons, unripe Grapes, Oranges, Barberries Tears of the Birch-tree, Juice of Cherries, Quinces, Pomegranate, Lemmons, Wood-Sorrel, Oyl of unripe Olives, of ripe Olives, Juice of Red and Damask-Roses, Wine, Tears of the Vine.

SALMON'S Comment.

1. A Cetum, Vinegar. It is various according to what it is made of, whether Beer, Ale, Mead, Sider, Perry, or Wine. That from the Wine is best, and yet better if Vitriolated. Vinegar of Metheglin is best for the dissolution of Metals, for it has both an Animal and Vegetable Nature, and so has the greater power of dissolution, and is therefore called Philosophick Vinegar. Vinegar of Beer, Ale, Sider, Perry and Wine are not so good dissolvents. Authors are of Opinion that Vinegar is both hot and cold in substance, of dry and thin parts: It makes thin, penetrates, binds, resisteth putrefaction, is good against the stinging of Serpents, and is sudorifick; it cleanses, is Anodyne, and cools the heat of Fevers, cuts Flegms, heals fretting Ulcers and the Itch. It is the nearest of any thing to the Nature of Vitriol, and the chief corrector of hot Gums and poysonous juices. 1. Distilled Vinegar. Put it into a Glass Still in B. M. or Ashes with a gentle heat, draw off the Flegm without taste, which will be near a quarter-part; change the receiver, and force over the spirit. If the Vinegar be for Physical uses, you must take heed of burning it, lest your extracts smell of it. If for Metals, draw off the flegm in a gentle heat in B. M. then in sand distil violently till a red spirit ascends, and all be come over. 2. Spiritus Aceti Clostri, spirit of Vinegar. 3. Six quarts, and distil in a luke-warm B. M. till but a quart remains; then in ashes draw off the remainder to dryness, cobobating two or three times upon the feces. If you would have it yet stronger, make balls of the Crystals and Bole, and drive it through a retort, so have you spirit, which refined, will be fiery and corrosive.

3. Crystals of Vinegar. Inspissate it to the consistence of Honey, and set it to Crystallize, which you may purifie by dissolving in the slegm drawn from the Vinegar; and Cristallizing again. 4. Honeyed Vinegar. ℞. Honey ℥iij. Vinegar 4 Inches about it, distil in sand, and there will be a sower water, which redifie. It dissolves Coral, Pearl, Shells and precious stones. 5. Radicated or alkaliz'd Vinegar of Sennertus. ℞. feces of distilled Vinegar, calcine them dry, then add Distilled Vinegar, and draw it off again in sand, cobobating so often till all its common or fixed salt ascend with the Vinegar.

2. Acetocitas vel succus citrei, Juice of Citrons: See the Fruit.

3. Agrestis, Omphacium, Verjuices;
See it, Chap. 6. Sect. r.

4. Aurentiorum, Juice of Oranges; See the Fruit.

5. Barberorum, Juice of Bar-berries, it cools in Fevers, and stops Fluxes.

6. Betule Lacryme, Tears of the Birch-tree. It heals sore mouths, is very pleasant to drink, quenches thirst, and very effectually breaks the Stone in the Reins and Bladder.

7. Chermes, Grana tinctorum.
Juice of the Berry Chermes. The best grains are such as are whole, are of a blackish red, and have a little Worm in them. Essence, Juice, or extract of Chermes is made of the Fruit bruised with Spirit of Wine, or good Canary, Sherry, or Rose-water, made sharp with some drops of Spirit or Oyl of Sulphur. It is hot and dry, a great Cordial, Sudorifick and Alexipharmick; it comforts

the heart, revives all the Spirits, Natural, Vital and Animal, refreshes a weary Carkass, hastens the Birth in Travel, drives out the Measles and Small Pox, resists the Plague, and all Pestilential Fevers, defends the heart from Poyson, cures wounded Nerves, and is Traumatick and Pectoral. With these Grains Dyers dye Scarlet cloth. See Chap. 4.
Sect. 328.

8. Cydoniorum, Juice of Quin-ces. See the Fruit, Chap. 6. It is cordial, cools the heat of Fevers, quenches Thirst, stops
Fluxes.

9. Granatorum, Juice of Pomegranates. It comforts the Stomach, cools the heat of Fevers, and stays vomiting. See the Fruit.
Chap. 6. Sect. 45.

10. Limonum, Juice of Lemons, it has the same vertue with that of Pomgranates, but is more cold and sharp. See the Fruit, Chap.
6.

11. Lujula, Juice of Wood-Sorrel. It is Cordial, cools Fevers, quenches thirst, and stops vomiting, being also a great Friend to the Liver.

12. Oleum Omphacium & com-pletum, vel maturum, Oyl of Olives, ripe and unripe; See them, Chap.
8.

13. Rosarum rubrarum & da-mascenarum, Juice of red and Damask Roses. It serves to make either Syrup, Essence, or Quintessence of, by fermentation. See Chap. 5. Sect. 59.

14. Vitis Lacryma, Tears of the Vine. They are a clear juice which bleeds or weeps from the stalks or branches cut. Inwardly it breaks the Stone, cools and comforts the heart. Outwardly, dropt into red, blood-shot, and dark eyes, it cures them.

15. Vinum, Wine. It is the juyce of the Vine exalted by fermentation. The richest and ripest is best. It is a Liquor compounded of many parts, as 1. Spirit or fine incorruptible Essence. 2. Much incorruptible water. 3. A smoaky Spirit, which is its common Salt, thick, more volatile than Wine, and arising like smoak. 4. The fat combustible Oyl, which follows that smoaky Spirit, being but little in quantity. 5. A Corrosive Salt out of the Caput Mortuum. 6. A slimy unprofitable Earth after extraction of the Salt. Wine in its own body is Cordial, a comforter of the Heart, and an elevator of the Spirits. Taken moderately, it nourishes the body, cherishes the Natural heat, causes Digestion, and quickens the circulation of the Blood. There are several sorts of Wine, the chiefest of which are, 1. Canary. 2. Mallago. 3. Allicant (a kind of Greek Wine.) 4. Tent. 5. Sherry. 6. Portoport. 7. Rhenish. 8. Florence. 9. French, white and red, of which, the first in our Order, excel those that they go before. The sweet and fat Wines are best for Consumptive persons. As Canary, Mallago, Allicant, Tent, (except the Disease came by drinking them) Canary, Sherry, Portoport, and Rhenish are best for extracting of Essences and Tinctures. Florence is excellent for weak Stomachs and Heads. French Wine is ordinary. Of all these Wines you may make several Preparations, which because the method is generally one and the same, take them as follows under the common name of Wine.

16. Spiritus Vini, Spirit of Wine. Distil the best Wine by a Vesica, till the finest parts are ascended (which is known by the taste) let it be several times rectified in B.M. drawing off the half, third, or fourth part, till the Spirit is high, and no humidity remain that will flame: Where note, that the Orifice of the Still being covered with a four-fold thin paper, or thick cloth, the Spiritual parts will only penetrate, and the watry fall back again; and if you have a Still with a long neck or Serpentine glass, you will rectifie it the better.

17. Spiritus Vini Tenzelii, Tenzelius his Spirit of Wine. Digest the best Wine 20 days in Horse-dung or Sand, then Distil it often in a Glass Body, and rectifie it till it is fiery: B. of this spirit thj, fresh Wine thijj, draw off from it in a Retort one pint; add again of fresh Wine thijj, and distil again, which work repeat 8 or 10 times, till but thj remain, so have you the most volatile spirit of Wine.

Vertues. It is hot and dry, a sulphurous, inflamable, piercing, incorruptible, volatile Spirit, Cephalick, Cordial, Alexipharmick, and Sudorifick, resisting Poyson, Putrefaction, Plague, and Pestilential Diseases. It cheers the Heart, revives the Spirits, elevates the Mind, comforts cold Stomachs and Constitutions: it is good in Apoplexies, Coma's, Carus, Lethargies, dissolves cold hard Tumors, and discusses congealed gealed Blood. It is a good Menstruum to extract ordinary tinctures with.

18. Spiritus Vini Vitriolatus, Vitriolated Spirit of Wine. R. Spirit of Wine, Spirit of Vitriol rectified, ana \mathfrak{z} iij, distil in an Alembick by Ashes or Sand, first with a gentle fire, then increase the heat by degrees to so great a strength, that both may pass together through the Alembick; repeat this work thrice, and circulate it for forty days, so have you a most excellent Spirit both for smell and taste. It is a wonderful Enemy to putrefaction, and a great Vulnerary; it cures all curable Wounds at once dressing with it, and is of a singular use in burning and malignant Fevers.

19. Spiritus Vini Tartarizatus, Tartarized Spirit of Wine. R. Spirit of Wine \mathfrak{li} j, Tartar in powder \mathfrak{z} j, distil in a Bath full of Sawdust or Straw moistned with water, so that the drops may fall leisurely, which cease when the flegm begins to come; but if the flegm ascend with it, rectifie it. Before rectification you may repeat the former work, with the addition of an ounce more of Tartar. Sennertus says, If you rectifie the Spirit upon the same Tartar, with several Cobinations, making a strong fire at the Conclusion, (casting away the flegm that comes in the middle) you shall have S.V. Tartarized.

20. Aqua Philosophorum, The Philosophers Water. Calcine Tartar till it be greenish blue, or sky-coloured, pour on Spirit of Wine Tartarized, digest, distil, and at last force it with a violent fire. This is wonderful in curing Diseases arising from Tartar, in the Scurvy, Quartans, Hypochondriack Melancholy, Asthma, Cachexia, Dropsies, and Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, and Bowels; being given with Tincture of Saffron it causeth rest and ease. It is the best Menstruum to make all purging Tinctures and Extracts, whether out of Vegetables; Minerals, or Animals. If it be circulated in a Bolt-head Hermetically sealed, it becomes Balsamick and sweet-scented; and from a Crystalline colour is made a Rubine, being as it were a Balsam of Life and Vital Powers, exalting Nature to her highest degree of purity and clarity, by quickening the internal fire and heat: Three or four drops of it given with the Essence of Saffron, gives ease and rest, and restores in Consumptions.

21. Spiritus Vini Alcalizatus, Spirit of Wine Alcalized. Take good Sack, draw off both spirit and flegm, and separate them; calcine the feces, and make a salt of them with the flegm, which salt dissolve in the spirit. It is a great Cordial and Restorative.

22. Spiritus Vini Microcosmi, Microcosmical Spirit of Wine. R. Rectified spirit of Wine, pure salt of Urine, ana, mix, and set them for a while in a cold place, then digest in Balneo Vaporis in a Bolt-head hermetically sealed for forty days, then in B.M. rectifie it twice. It is an excellent Anodyne, and given inwardly, opens all obstructions. It is a noble Menstruum for drawing Tinctures and Extracts, and of making of Aurum Potabile.

23. Quintessentia Vini, The Quintessence of Wine. Distil the best Wine in B.M. rectifie it twelve times, till the spirit be fiery; put it into a Bolt-head with its own salt, which seal Hermetically, circulate in Balnea Vaporis for forty days: then open it by degrees; if it smell much the Quintessence is perfect; if not, close it again, and circulate as before, till the smell be strong, and of a sweet taste and scent. It is Balsamick, a restorer of decayed nature, a friend to the natural Balsam of Life, and a certain Antidote against Poyson, Plague, and all pestilential and malign Fevers, curing them in less than twelve hours; you may give a gut. x. ad

xx. causing the sick to swear. It cures the Falling Sickness, and forces away the dead Child in the same Dose: but a spoonful helps delivery to a wonder.

24. Spiritus Vini Basilii, Basilis sweet Spirit of Wine. Be. Redified S.V. spirit of salt ana. digest, and unite them by distillation till the mixture be sweet. It will not radically dissolve Gold, but it will extract its Tincture, and is of excellent use in curing wounds, and opening all manner of obstructions in Man's body. It heals wounds at once dressing.

C A P. X.

Of Simple Distilled WATERS.

Colledge.] 1. From fresh Roots, Of Briony, Onions, Elecampane, Orice or Flower-de luce, Turneps. 2. S A L M O N's Comment.

BEcause that we have been already very large in the Vertues of Herbs, and that the simple Distilled water retains but a small part of the forces of the Herb from whence it is drawn; as also because waters are never destinated alone to the cure of any Disease, but are generally used in Compositions to particular ends, and as certain vehiculus to other designed Medicaments; we shall not treat of every one particularly here as they are laid down, but divide them into certain Classes, according to the number of the chief intentions. Cold distilled Waters are but a certain kind of flegm, almost useles in the Art of Physick, yet Custom has prevailed, and pleads both Antiquity and Authority for their prescription. Therefore with

1. Cephalicks, you may mix water of Wormwood, Calamint, Sweet Marjoram, Baum, Sage, Scabious, Thyme, Valerian, Roses, red, white and damask, Lavender, Peony, and Rosemary-flowers, Tile-flowers. Winter Cherries, Wallnuts, Agrimony, Camomil, Rue, Betony.

2. Pectorals, mix water of Enula Roots, Orice, Turneps, Wood-Sorrel, Mouse-ear, Colts-foot, Fennel, Hyssop, Horehound, Mints, White Poppies, Parsly, Self-heal, Penny Royal, Scabious, Tanfie, Violet-Flowers, Clove-gilly-flowers, Fumitory, Ground-Ivy, Harts-tongue, Scordium, Betony, Plantain.

3. Cardiacks, mix water of Angelica, Pimpernel, Borrage, Carduus Benedictus, Dragons, Marjoram, Baum, Mint, Sage, Scabious, Thyme, Tormentil, Orange-flowers, Lavender-flowers, Rosemary-flowers, Roses, Clove-gilly-flowers, Citrons, Ros Solis, Rue.

4. Spleneticks, mix water of Smallage, Succory, Hops, Horehound, Poppies, Pellitory of the Wall, Tanfie, Valerian, Blew-bottles, Cowslips, Violets, Black-Cherries, Agrimony, Chamepitys, Scurvygras, Dandelion, Ash-tree leaves, Harts-tongue, Scordium, Tamaris, Elder, Dwarf-elder, Parsly, Sage.

5. Nephreticks, mix water of Orice-roots, Marsh-mallows, Small-Smallage, Asparagus, Calamint, Mint, Fennel, Grafs, Hops, Baum, Arsmart, White Poppies, Pellitory of the Wall, Parsly, Penny-royal, Sage, Tanfie, Winter-Cherries, Camomil, Chanepitys, Scurvygrafs, Rest-harrow, Savin, Saxifrage, Scordium, Nettles, Berries of Broom and Elder.

6. Hystericks, mix water of Briony-roots, Enula roots, Smallage, La fies-thistle, tanking Arach, Dragons, Hyssop, Baum, Sage, Scabious, Featherfew, Mugwort, Motherwort, Ragwort, Poppies, Tanfie, Wild-Tanfie, Rue, Savin, Saxifrage, Scordium, Vervain.

7. Anthricks, mix water of Briony-roots, Onions, Orice-roots, Smallage, Goats-rue, Baum, Water-creffes, Tobacco, Poppies, Oak-leaves, Houfleck, Nightshade, Tormentil, Water-Lillies, Cucumers, Agrimony, Comfrey, Fumitory, Yarrow, Knot-grafs.

8. Segeticks, mix water of Elecampane-roots, Smallage, Columbine, Mouse-ear, Shepherds-purse, Woodbine, Knot-grafs, Horehound, Plantain, Oak-leaves, Sage, Figwort, Nightshade, Sloe-flowers, Red Roses, Quinces, Wild Tanfie, Comfrey, Horse-tail, Rest-harrow.

11. Diureticks, mix water of Briony-Roots, Elecampane, Orice, Smallage, Asparagus, Calamint, Arsmart, Dragons, Featherfew, Mint, Water-creffes, Poppies, Parsly, Penny-royal, Tanfie, Winter Cherries, Camomil, Scurvygrafs, Dandelion, Rest-harrow, Saxifrage.

12. Emmenonagoticks, mix water of Briony-roots, Onions, Elecampane, Orice, Smallage, Dragons, Fennel, Hops, Marjoram, Featherfew, Baum, Mints, Water-creffes, Parsly, Penny royal, Thyme, Tanfie, Winter-Cherries, Mugwort, Solomons-seal, Savin, Saxifrage.

13. Sudorificks, mix water of Elecampane-roots, Wormwood, Wood-forrel, Angelica, Pimpernel, Smallage, Calamint, Carduus Benedictus, Dragons, Fennel, Marjoram, Lettice, Purslain, Poppies, Water creffes, Sage, Scabious, Tormentil, Valerian, Ros Solis.

14. Alexipharmicks, mix water of Wormwood, Angelica, Pimpernel, Borrage, Calamint, Carduus Benedictus, Dragons, Goats-Rue, Marjoram, Baum, Mint, Sage, Scabious, Thyme, Tormentil, Valerian, Flowers of Lavender and Rosemary, Clovegilly-flowers, Roses, Citrons, Cucumbers, Walnuts, Marigolds, Cammomil, Celandine, Ros Solis, Rue, Scordium, Butterbur.

15. Antifebrificks, mix water of Elecampane-roots, Wormwood, Wood-forrel, Angelica, Pimpernel, nel, Borrage, Calamint, Carduus Benediſtus, Ladies-thiſtle, Succory, Dragons, Goats-rue, Featherfew, Baum, Mint, Poppies, Sage, Scabious, Thyme, Tanſie, Tormentil, Valerian, Lavender, Roſemary, Roſes, Camomil, Ros Solis, Rue.

16. Traumaticks, mix water of Turneps, Ladies-mantle, Smallage, Mouſe-Ear, Borrage, Woodbine, Ladies-thiſtle, Colts-foot, Fennel, Goats-rue, Lovage, Hops, Baum, Water-creſſes, Poppies, Pellitory, Pariſy, Plantain, Self-heal, Penny-Royal, Sage, Scabious, Throat-wort, Tanſie, Agrimony, Chamepitys, Alehoof, Horſetail, Scordium.

17. Lithonripticks, mix water of Briony, Onions, Elecampane, Marſhmallows, Smallage, Sparagrass, Dragons, Fennel, Grass, Hyſſop, Hops, Baum, Horſe-mint, Water-creſſes, Poppies, Pillitory, Pariſy, Penny-royal, Winter-Cherries, Nettles, Chamomil, Scurvy-grass, Reſt-harrow, Ros Solis, Savin, Saxifrage, Broom, Elder.

18. Carminatives, mix water of Onions, Elecampane, Angelica, Smallage, Calamint, Dragons, Fennel, Goats-rue, Marjoram, Mint, Pariſy, Penny-royal, Sage, Time, Valerian, Sloe and Roſemary-flowers, Chamomil, Ros Solis, Rue, Saxifrage, Hartstongue, Scordium Vervain.

19. Anodynes, mix water of Wood-Sorrel, Pimpernel, Calamint, Succory, Dragons, Fennel, Hyſſop, Lettice, Baum, Water-creſſes, White Poppies, Pariſy, Penny-royal, Sage, Scabious, Roſemary-flowers, Oranges, Agrimony, Bettony, Chamomil, Celandine, Rue.

20. Analepticks, mix water of Turnips, Wood-ſorrel, Angelica, Borrage, Succory, Colts-foot, Fennel, Hyſſop, Lovage, Toad-flax, Mallows, Baum, Mint, Poppies, Plantain, Self-heal, Sage, Roſes, black Cherries, Quinces, Apples, Lobſters, Cockles, Snails, Earth-worms

21. Catharticks, mix water of Bryony, Smalage, Borrage, Succory, Mallows, Sage, Tanſie, Beans, Blew-bottles, Oranges, Citrons, Quinces, Apples, Chamomil, Scurvygrass, Ros Solis, Savin, Saxifras, Tamaris, Vervain, Nettles, Broom, Peony, Elder.

At the end of the diſtilled waters, the Colledge gives you advice, how otherwiſe to prepare them than formerly; the ſenſe of which (although better directed in their old Diſpenſatory) we ſhall give you in the following Lines :

Colledge.] We adviſe that theſe common Waters be better prepared for time to come, namely, that ſweetſcented Herbs and Flowers (being temperate) may be ſprinkled with a ſmall quantity of Spring water; but ſuch as are hot, with the ſame quantity only of Wine. Put them into a glazed earthen Pot, or other ſmall Veſſel, ſtopping it cloſe to keep them from the air, which ſet in a temperate place till they wax warm. Then immediately (leſt they ſhould mould) let them be diſtilled either in a common Still (Inted to its Receiver) with a gentle fire, putting good ſtore of Aſhes underneath, or in the heat of a Bath. But let ſuch Herbs and Flowers which are cold (being fresh and gathered in a fair day) without any preparation be forthwith distilled. To those that are dry, you may put a greater quantity of water, to the moist a lesser.

satory Culpepper told them, He knew who they might thank for that Rule; but this is so ordinary, that I believe no body will thank them for it: Cursed is he that leads the blind out of the way

C A P. XI.

An Explication of Comprehensive Terms.

1. THE five Greater opening Roots. Parsly, Sparagus, Fennel, Sigallage, Knee-holly.

To the former you may add these: Garlick, Onyons, Liquorice, Angelica, Gentian.

2. The five lesser opening Roots. Grafs, Eringo, Capers, Restharrow, Madder.

To these you may add: Elicampain, Horic-radish, Brithwort, Polypodium, Turmeric.

3. The two opening Roots. Fennel, Parsly.

To these you may add: Cichory, Endive, Celandine, Squills, Masterwort.

4. The five Emollient Herbs. Marsh-mallow, Mallows, Beets, Mercury, Violet Leaves.

To these you may add: Arrach, Coleworts, Pellitory of the wall, white Lillies, Melliflor.

5. The five Capillary Herbs. Maiden-hair, Wall Rue, Spleenwort, Hart Tongue, Trichomanes.

These are greater Capillaries. Rosemary, Lavender, Pcony, Sage, Poppy.

6. The four Cordial Flowers. Borrage, Bugloss, Roses, Violets.

To these you may add: Saffron, Spicknard, Rosemary, Clovegilliflowers, Poppy.

7. The four greater hot Seeds. Annis, Carraway, Cummin, Fennel.

To these you may add: Cardamoms, Grains of Paradise, Mustard-seed, Pepper.

8. The four Lesser hot Seeds. Bishops-weed, Amomus, Parsly, Carrots.

To these you may add: Cubebs, Dill, Smallage, Rocket, Erysimum.

9. The four Greater cold Seeds. Citrul, Cucumer, Gourd, Melon.

To these you may add: Poppy, Henbane, Night-shade, Hemlock.

10. The four lesser cold Seeds. Endive, Succory, Lettice, Purslane.

To these you may add: Sorrel, Dandelion, Plantane, Chickweed.

11. The four Pleuretick waters:

Car-

Carduus Benediſtus, Ladies Thiſtle, Scabious, Dandelion.

To theſe you may add: Poppy, Scordium, Sage, Rue, Celandine.

12. The three hot Flowers: Camomil, Mellilot, Oris or Flower-de-luce.

To theſe you may add: Saffron, Roſemary, Lavender.

13. The three Stomach Oyls. Wormwood, Quinces, Maſtich.

To theſe you may add: Cinnamon, adeps Roſarum, Oyl Omphacine, Mirtles.

14. The four hot Oyntments. Agrippæ, Althææ, Aragon, Martiatum.

To theſe you may add: Anodynum, Laurinum, Amarum Nervinum.

15. The four cold Oyntments. Album Camphoratum, Populeon, Refrigerans Galeni, Roſatum.

To theſe you may add: Nightshade, Sumach, Diaphompholigos, Pamatum.

16. The four Oyntments for the Salvatory. Baſilicon, Viride Apotolorum, Aureum, Album. The firſt is to diſgeſt, the ſecond to cleanſe, the third to incarnate, the fourth to ſkin.

17. The five Fragments of precious Stones. Granate, Jacinth, Saphire, Sardias, Emerald. Their names are greater than their Vertues ſimply conſidered withou due preparation.

I. C Rinis, Pilus, the Hair: The Powder thereof drunk, cures the Jaundice and ſuffocation of the Womb: the Aſhes of it mixt with Hogs lard, and anointed helps laxated Joynts: the ſimple Aſhes ſtop bleeding:

An Oyl diſtilled from it with Hony, anointed on bald places, cauſes hair to grow. It is diſtilled either alone by a Report in Sand, and the foetid Oyl mixt with Aqua Millis: or Conjunſtively, and then you muſt draw the the Spirit, as that of Honey.

2. Ungues, The Nails, in powder or infusion, they cause Vomiting, great sickness at Stomach, and giddiness in the Head: the Powder laid to the Navel in Dropsies, is said to cure them. B. Of the powder of the Parings 3j. Wine a Pint, digest till it turn to Slime, filter, and add spirit of Wine 3ij, of which give from 3j to 3j, to the uses aforesaid. Where note, That some, to cure Consumptions, take the Hair and Nails of the Patient, cut them small, and put them in a hole in the Root of a Cherry-tree, and then stop it with Clay. Others, to cure Quartans and the Gout, take the said Hair and Nails cut small, and either give them to Birds in a roasted Egg, or put them into a hole bored into the body of an Oak-tree, or Plum-tree, stopping up the hole with a peg of the same Tree: Or else mix them with wax, and stich it to a live Crab, casting it into the River again.

3. Saliva, Spurum, Spittle, Fasting Spittle, rubbed on oftentimes, cures Pimples, and breaking out on the skin making the Skin clear, as also the stinging of Serpents, and biting of mad Dogs.

4. Lac, Milk. It is emollient, and cools and cures red eyes simply of it self; but a grain or two of white Vitriol being dissolved in it, it is more effectual. Or thus. B. Womans milk and white Vitriol, and draw off only the flegm, for the purposes aforesaid, in a glass Still in Balneo Marie.

5. Menstrua, Sanguis Menstrualis Menstrual Blood. Taken from Virgins and dried, given inwardly, it is prevalent against the Falling sickness and Stone: Outwardly, a Clout dipt in the liquid Blood with Vinegar and Rose-water, and applied, cures the Gout, cleanses the skin from deformities, is good against Carbuncles and Aposthumes; and worn as an Amulet, is good against the Plague.

Secundina, The Secundine and the Navil-string. A drop or two of the blood of the Navil-string being first given to a new-born Child in a little Breast-milk, prevents the falling-sickness, Convulsions, and all other Fits; and very wonderfully revives it almost dead. Hartman says, it is very strong against the Cholick. The Secundine calcin'd, and given in Southernwood water, (but experience commends Rosemary or Celandine-water for the better) every day half an Ounce while the Moon decreases in light (and if possible in motion too) wonderfully cures Struma's, or the Kings Evil, and the Falling-sickness: It causes also the dead Child to come away; as also Mola, or false Conception.

7. Sperma, Semen, The Seed. Of this Paracelsus makes his Homunculus, or little man: Experience has found it good against Witchcraft, and the imbecility of the Instruments of Generation. And some use to make it a magick Mummy of, to serve as a Philtron to cause Love.

8. Calculus, Stone taken from the Kidneys or Bladder. It dissolves and expels the Stone and Gravel from all parts, and opens Obstructions, being given 3j, at a time in powder. Sal Calculi Chrysellinum, or the Crystal Salt.

Calceine

Calcine the Stone, and boyl it in water, filter, evaporate, and you have a Salt: Calcine the Salt, dissolve it in hot water; and set it to Crystallize; but you may first calcine it with Sal-nitre, or Sulphur and Sal-nitre, or a double quantity of Beech-tree-coals. Sennertus first calcines with a circular fire, then reverberates, then with Beech-tree coals. Oleum Calculi per deliquium. It is made by dissolution of the Salt in a moist Air, of either you may give in the cases aforesaid from gr. v. to ℥ss. Elixir. Calculi Humani: Volatize the Crystal Salt thereof with S. V. then with a gentle heat draw off the Spirit, and there remains an Oyl or Elixir: the Vertues, Use and Dose are the same with the former.

9. Stercus, Dung. It is Emollient, Anodyne, and Maturative: It ripens Plague-Sores being applied; and dried, powdred and mixt with Honey, it cures inflamed Wounds and the Quinsie: The ashes given ʒii, at a time in Agues, cures them. Paracelsus calls it Carbon Humanum; and it is reported that it takes pains away caused by Witchcraft. Aqua & Oleum Sterci Humani. B. Mans dung, let it putrifie till it be full of small Animals, and be almost dry; distil it in a Retort with a gentle fire, so have you both Water and Oyl, the fetid scent of which you may take away by often Rectifications, Cokobations, and Digestions. The Water dropt into sore Eyes, cures them, cures baldness, corroding Ulcers and Fistulas: Inwardly given it is found very profitable against the Stone and Gravel in the Reins and Bladder, birings of mad Dogs, and other venomous Beasts. It helps Drop-sies, and is very effectual in the cure of the Falling-sickness. The Oyl outwardly cures scald Heads, Gouts, Cancers, Mortifications, and an Ulcerated Erysipylas: Inwardly, Libavius says, It cures the Jaundice. Zebetham Occidentale, Occidental Civer, is made hereof, being nothing but the true Essence of Man's Dung. It may be made so like the true Civer, that it shall be difficult to discern the difference. See Agricola.

10. Urina, Urine. It is hot, dry, discussive, absterfise, and resisting Putrefaction; it opens obstructions of Liver, Spleen, and Gall; is good against the Dropsie and Jaundice, and causeth easie delivery to Women in Travel: Outwardly, it discusseth Tumors, cleanses Wounds, dries up moist Humours, cures Gangrenes and the Itch: and in Clysters loosens the Belly: Boys Urine dropt into the Ears cures their soreness, and opens Obstructions there: Mixt with Rose-water and dropt into the Eyes, it cures redness there: In a Gargle it helps the swelling of the Uvula. Of Mans Urine there are many singular preparations made, the chief of which follow.

11. Spiritus Urina, Spirit of Urine.

B. Fresh or new-made Boys Urine that drinks Wine, distil by an Alembick in B. M. cokobate it, and you have slegm and spirit, which separate; and elevate the spirit in a glass body, so shall it be very volatile and white, but exceeding stinking.

It may be used as it is against the Stone in a proper Vehicle;

but Labivius rectifies it; and then uses it in Gouts, Asthma's, and Stone, mixt with the Essence of Lithontripicks; and so with a proper Syring inject it into the Bladder; It is a Specifick in the cure of Pleurisies, Stitches, Coughs, Colds, &c.

12. Sal Urinae volatile, Volatile Salt of Urine. R. Boys Urine, spirit of Wine ana, mix and evaporate, to the consistence of new honey; put it into a Long neck Glass, and distil it with so small a heat in ashes or sand, that it may condense in the Alembick, and there will come forth in the Alembick a white spirit like Snow, which in the cold will coagulate; if this spirit be joyned with the Salt of the Feces, and volatiliz'd by often cohobations; it will be a notable menstruum to draw the Vitriol of Metals, chiefly of Silver: if yet it be digested with common Salt, and purified by often solution and coagulations for about ten days and nights in Balneo Vaporis it will resolve; and by the addition of rectified S. V. and ten days digestion, it will be a good Menstruum to dissolve Gold.

13 Essentia Urinae, Essence of Urine.

Digest Boys Urine in a glass body in B. M. or in Horse-dung for 40 days, that it may purrify: decant from the feces, and distil in sand till all the humidity is gone: cohobate from the Caput Mortuum thrice, and distil in a Gourd with a long and wide neck (that the Volatil Salt may not stop it) but with so gentle a fire, that the Glass body may be always cold, and there will ascend a spirit like Crystal, without humidity: dissolve these Crystals in rain water, rectified, and repeat six times: then digest the Crystals in a Glass sealed Hermetically with a very gentle fire for twenty days, till they become a transparent water; which some correct by often drawing off of it fresh S. V. but I think to a disadvantage.

It is a powerful Sudorifick and Anodyne, and eases pain by external application: It opens all obstructions of the Bowels and Mesentery; cures the Scurvy, Cachexy, Dropsie, Jaundice, Hypochondriack Melancholy, breaks and dissolves the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, and expels it. It is Diuretick, purifies the Blood, provokes the Terms, helps Fits of the Mother, and cures Fevers Quotidian, Tertian, and Quartan: Dissolved in Spirit of Vitriol, and distilled again, it cures Epilepsies: Dose is from gr. x. to ʒ j, in any convenient Vehicle. Externally it abates all inflammations, cures Gouts, Gangreens, and Tooth-ach. Dor. Med. lib. 2. cap. 2. Sect. 22.

14. Magisterium Urinae, Magistery, or Salt of Urine.

R. Defecated Urine putrified as in the last, distil with a gentle fire in B. M. till the flegm is drawn off: rectifie the spirit in a Glass with a long wide neck, so have you the Volatile salt, which take, and cast away the flegm: distil what remains in sand, and a more volatil salt arises: of the Caput mortuum make a fixt salt; which mix with thrice as much clay, form it into Balls, dry them, and distil by a retort, so have you the spirit of the fixt salt, into which drop the former spirit or Volatil salt, till the noise ceases, then sublime in sand; so have you a fine, pleasant, and delectable Salt of Urine.

This is much stronger than the former, and cuts and dissolves the Tartarous Coagulum in the whole Body, performing all that the former does, expelling ill humors by Stool, Sweat and Urine: It preserves from the Stone taken once a Month before the new Moon, and cures Consumptions wonderfully. Dose gr. 10.

15. Oleum Urine, Oyl of Urine.

℞ Of that gritty or tartarous matter which sticks to the bottom and sides of the Chamber-pot, calcine, dissolve, coagulate, and then dissolve again per deliquium.

If it be given ʒj at any time in a convenient Vehicle, it perfectly dissolves the Stone.

16. Sanguis, Blood. Some say that Blood drunk hot, cures Epilepsies, if violent exercises be used after it: but it is very dangerous, for oftentimes it causeth Epilepsies, and brings great tremblings upon them that take it: the Powder or Ashes of it applied to any Flux of Blood stops it.

17. Mumia ex sanguine, Mummy of Blood.

℞ Blood of a sound Man, gently dry it, impregnate it with juyce of Lemons, or Spirit of Vitriol; and with Myrrh make it into Troches.

It stops bleeding, is good against Epilepsies, and cures Carbuncles, if ʒss be given at a time in a morning fasting in Cinnamon-water, or other Antepileptick Vehicle.

18. Aqua Cy. Oleum Sanguinis humani, Water and Oyl of Mans Blood,

then distil in ashes or sand by an Alembick, so will you have water and Oyl: rectifie the water in B. M. the Oyl in a Retort, drawing them off nine or ten times, till it be of a red colour, In the first distillation beware you burn not the feces.

The Water cures Consumptions and Heeticks taken ʒj at a time, and outwardly cures Burns, Scalds, and Fistula's. The Oyl perfectly cures the Falling-Sickness, gut. x. being given thirty days together, beginning at the new Moon, and so continuing, and afterwards gut. xx. once every new Moon for a year: It also cures, as Beguinus saith, Palsies, Apoplexies, and ulcerated Lungs, and is a great Cordial.

19. Balsamum Arthriticum, Balsam against the Gout.

℞ Mans blood, and putrifie it ten days, then distil from sand by degrees, first with a small fire, after with a stronger in a glass Retort, so have you a red fetid Oyl, with a Volatile Salt sticking in the Neck: rectifying the Oyl with Colcothar in sand, repeat it often with fresh Colcothar, in which dissolve the Volatile Salt. After this manner you may make a Balsam of the Blood of all other Animals.

It is of a strange force in the Gout (from whence it has its name) anointing with it thrice a day for 7 or 8 days together, it takes away the pain and redness, and makes the Tumor vanish.

20. Spiritus Antepilepticus Sanguinis humani, Antepileptick Spirit of Mans Blood.

℞ Of the deslegmated and double rectified Spirit of mans blood, Essence of Lavender-Flowers, att. ʒj. distil in B. M. in the half; do it twice, to which add spirit of Wine ℥j, mix them.

Given in Angelica-water or with Tincture of Peony Flowers, it cures Asthma's, Apoplexies, Palſies and the Falling Sickneſs. Beguinus has a Philtron made of Man's Blood, a Quinteſſence, and two other Secrets, which you may find in him.

II. From a Dead Body.

21. Mumia, Arabian Mummy. It diſſolves congealed and coagulated Blood, provokes the Terms, expels wind out of both Bowels and Veins, helps Coughs, and is a great Vulnerary: It is alſo ſaid to purge, being given to the quantity of ℥j. in any convenient Vehiculum.

Mummy is five-fold: 1. Fætitious Piſſaſphaltum, made of Bitumen and Pitch. 2. Fleſh of a Carcaſe dried by the Sun, in the Country of the Hammonians between Cyrene and Alexandria, being Paſſengers buried in the Quickſands. 3. Egyptian, a Liqueur ſweating from Carcaſſes embalmed with Piſſaſphaltum. 4. Arabian, a Liqueur which ſweats from Carcaſſes embalmed with Myrrh, Aloes, and Baſſam. 5. Artificial, which is Modern. Of all which the two laſt are the beſt, but the Arabian is ſcarcely to be got; the ſecond and third ſorts are fold for it: the Artificial is thus made.

22. Mumia Artificialis, Artificial or Modern Mummy, according to Crollius.

Take the Carcaſe of a young man (ſome ſay red hair'd) not dying of a Diſeaſe, but killed; let it lie 24 hours in clear water in the Air: cut the fleſh in pieces, to which add Powder of Myrrh, and a little Aloes: imbibe it 24 hours in the ſpirit of Wine and Turpentine, take it out, hang it up twelve hours; imbibe it again 24 hours in freſh ſpirit, then hang up the pieces in a dry air, and a ſhadowy place, ſo will they dry, and not ſink.

23. Tinctura Mumie, Tincture or Extract of Mummy.

℞ Arabian or Egyptian Mummy, extract it with ſpirit of Wine or Turpentine, and ſeparate to the conſiſtence of Honey, ſo have you Quercetan's Extract. But Crollius adviſes to take the Artificial Mummy, and make an Extract in ſpirit in Wine or Elder only.

It is a counter-poiſon, prevents the Plague, and reſiſts all manner of Infection being taken only to ℥j. and cure being taken to ℥i or ℥iſs: It has all the Vertues of Mummy, at ſeſt. 21. Of this Crollius makes a Treacle thus. ℞ of this Tincture ℥iſs. Venice Treacle ℥iiij. ſalt of Pearl and Coral, ana ℥ii. Terra Sigillata ℥ij. Muſk ℥j. mix and digeſt them in a gentle heat for a month.

24. Elixir Mumie, Elixir of Mummy.

℞ Artificial Mummy cut ſmall, to which put ſpirit of Turpentine, putrifie it forty days in a Veſſel cloſe luted; ſtrain it, and put it into a Bladder with S.V. digeſt, and in an Alembick in ſand draw off the Quinteſſence with the ſpirit, which ſeparate; the Feces reverberate, and ſublime to a ſalt, which unite with the ſeparated Quinteſſence by circulation: then digeſt this Quinteſſence with Treacle and Muſk to an Elixir.

It has all the vertues of the Tincture sure, besides which this is more speedy in the cure of the Plague.

25. Balsamum Mumie, Balsam of Mummy.

& Artificial Mummy cut small, digest it forty days with Oyl Olive in a luted Vessel: put it in a glass Body, and in B. M. let the fœtid scent exhale, till the Mummy is dissolved, digest it twenty days or more with S.V. which separate, and you have a sweet-scented red Oyl. This Oyl is exalted by digestion with S.V. and drawing it off four or five times. Where note, that Quercetan uses fresh flesh instead of Artificial Mummy.

This Balsam, Quercetan says, has all the properties of the natural Balsam of Syria, and the Vertues of the Tincture and Elixir of Mummy: and being exalted, it has such a piercing quality, that it pierceth all parts, restores wasted Limbs, Consumptions, Hæcticks, and cures all Ulcers and Corruptions, if gr. iijj, v, or vj be given twice every day in a proper Vehicle.

26. Aqua Divina, Divine water. Take the whole carcase of a man violently killed, with the Intrails, cut it in pieces, and mix them; distil it from a Retort twice or thrice.

It is reputed to have a Magnetic power: if to 3j. of this water you put a few drops of the Blood of a sick Person, and set them on the fire, and they mix, the sick recovers; if not, the sick dies: for want of Blood, take the Urine in a larger quantity.

27. Adeps. Grease or Fat. It is emollient, discutient, anodyne, and cosmetick; it is said to fill up the pits, after the Small Pox;

mixt with the Spirit of Vitriol, it becomes a clammy Liniment, which pierces much, and is useful against the Gout, contracted Sinews, and driness of the parts.

28. Ossa humana, Man's Bones. They stop fluxes of the Belly, of Rheums, of the Terms, astringe, being often mixt with Arthritick Purges: they are taken, either levigated into fine powder with water, or calcin'd in a Potters Furnace to Ashes. By a Retort you may distil an Oyl from them, which is very Anodyne and Discutient, and eases pains of the Gout: their Marrow is of excellent use to cure contracted Sinews and Members.

29. Cranium, the Skull. It is a Specifick in the Cure of most Diseases of the Head, but chiefly the Falling Sicknefs; you may give it either levigated on a Marble, or calcin'd, or some of the following preparations thereof: the Triangular Bone in the Temples is the most Specifick against the Epilepsie.

30. Magisterium Cranii humani, Magistery of Man's Skull.

Dissolve it in the Spirit of Vitriol, and then precipitate.

Dose is from gr. xv. to 3ss. in any convenient Vehicle.

31. Galreda Paracelsi, Paracelsus his extract of Mans Skull.

Digest filings of a Skull with S.V. and Sage 15 or 20 days; distil by a Retort, and digest 15 days more; then cohobate thrice, after circulate seven days, and separate the S. V. in Balneo Mariæ, keeping the coagulated Essence for use.

Give every day in a convenient Vehicle six or seven grains; but in abstracting of the S. V. It is much to be questioned, whether it does not carry away with it much of the finer Spirit of the Skull.

32. Tinctura Cranii Quercetani, Quercetans Tincture of Skulls.

Digest filings of skulls with juniper or Sage, four or five Inches above, in a Bolt-head well luted, with a gentle heat for fifteen days; then strain it out with a press, so have you a red Liquor; strain it again, and abstract in Balneo Vaporis to the consistency of Honey.

This is an excellent thing against the Falling Sickneſs, and Fits of the Mother: Give a ʒſs ad ʒj.

33. Aqua & Oleum Cranii humani, Water and Oyl of Man's Skull:

Distil skulls (grossly beaten) in a Retort, so have you Liquor, Oyl, and Volatile salt: the Oyl you may rectifie with S.V. by often cohobating.

It is one of the most powerful things against the Falling Sickneſs, and suffocation of the Womb: that is, you may give a gutt. iiii. ad x. of the Oyl, mixt with Sugar, and its own Water, as a Rebeckian.

34. Sals Cranii humani, Salt of Mans Skull.

35. The Skull and calcine it; or reverberate the Caput Mortuum of the former, dissolve in water, filterate, coagulate, and purifie it, as you do that of Tartar.

It cures pain and noise in the Ears, mixt with Breast Milk and dropt in, stopping them with Cotton dipt in the same. It is Anodyne, helps Ulcers and an Erysipelas, draws Splinters out of the Flesh ; and mixt with Vinegar it helps Fistula's : mixt with Myrrh and Alom (to the thickness of Honey) it cures Ulcers in the Yard, and discusses Borches and Imposthumes : mixt with Nitre it takes away Scurf and Morphew ; mixt with breast-milk it makes an excellent Collyrie against the Haw or Pearl in the Eye. Rasis saith, That snuff up, it helps the Epilepsie. Marcellus saith, That mixt with Goats Urine (a sheeps may serve) it helps the loss of hearing. Hippocrates saith, It causes Conception in Women. Applied it helps the Piles, and that malignant eating Ulcer, called Lupus, the Wolf, especially if mixt with Aloes and juyce of Celandine. Hartman's Tincture of an Ox Gall. It is extracted with S. V. from Bulls Galls dried in the Sun. This Tincture is a great Cosmetick, and produces a delicate whiteness, even to a miracle, if it be laid on 4, 5, or 6 days (or a week at farthest) keeping the Air all the while from the skin, then washing it off with Bean-flower er water. The Urine. It is good to heal Ulcers in the Mouth and Throat, Burnings and Scaldings; dropt into the Ears with Myrrh, helps pains in them, and bathed upon the Stomach, helps coldness thereof. 9. The Dung. It is of a cleansing faculty, temperate in quality, and a great Anodyne, and used by a very good Lady, successfully, against the Gout, and the cure of all other Diseases. The reason is apparent from the parts of which it is composed; being digested by an exact natural (Animal) heat. Tinctura sterc. Bovis. Tincture of Cows-dung. ℞ New Cow-dung ℥ iii. Spring-water ℥ ix. digest 24 hours; and being settled, decant the clear water. It is good against all Diseases, an excellent Pectoral, and Traumatick, especially good against Fevers, Cholick, Gout, Coughs, Cold, Asthma's, defluxions of Rheums, Phthisick, Consumptions, and other Diseases of like kind. Dose ʒiiij. ad vj. Extract of Cow-dung. ℞ New Cow-dung ℥ iij. Strong Lixivium of Quick lime ℥ ix. Digest a day and night, decant, and keep it for use; It has all the Vertues of the former, besides which it has a much greater power to sweeten the blood, take away acidities, and cure the Scurvy; inasmuch that scarce any Disease is able to stand before it, being continually used as a Diet: Dose a ʒiij. ad v. in a glass of fair water sweetned with Sugar. Hedychrum. The Perfume of Cow-dung: It is made of the fresh Dung, gathered in May, June and July, and distilled in B. M. with a gentle heat, you will have a Water and an Oyl. It is cooling diffusiv, carminative, good against the Cholick, Stone, Strangurie, Jaundice, and all burning Fevers: Outwardly, it is good against Aches, Pains, Gouts, and Cancers: It is an excellent Perfume. The Salt of the Dung is excellent against the Dropsie, the Oyl of the Salt per deliquium is powerful against the Gout. 10. The Bones. The powder of them is good against Catarrhs and Gouts: the Salt more powerful: the Salt of the Skull is good against the Epilepsie. 11. The Fat. It is used in Balsams and Emplasters, softens the Nerves, and heals Ulcers, and clefts or choppings of the Fundament and Hands. The distilled Oyl thereof is powerful against the Gout, Palsie, Numbness, and Contractions of the Nerves. 12. The Marrow. It is generally used in Balsams: helps contracted Sinews, cures Tremblings, Palsies, and the like. Boyled with milk and drunk, it cures a Dysentery. 13. The Pizzle. If it be from a red Bull (another for ought I know may serve) the Powder of it heals the Dysentery. The ashes of the Spermatick Vessels and Stones, stop bleeding: and Forestus says, It is the remedy the Jews use after Circumcision. 14. The Milk. It is very nourishing; good against Pain and Ulcers in the Stomach, Lungs, Kidneys and Bladder: It cures the Diarrhea, Dysenteria, Lienteria, Tenesmus and other Corrosions of the Intestines; and being long and largely taken every day, it certainly cures Consumptions. 15. The Cream or Butter. It has all the Vertues of the Marrow, is very Pectoral; and put into the Eyes (being fresh) it clears them. 16. The Cheese. It stops

Fluxes,

Fluxes, and is very astringent: It strengthens the Stomach, and (whilst fresh or soft) helps pains of the Gout being applied. 17. The Whey. Drunk with Hony and Salt it loosens the Belly, so also if clarified with Sage and Rosemary ana, and drunk: the latter of which is excellent against the French Disease. It attenuates and cleanses much, and is good for such as are Cholerick, Melancholick, Epileptick, Scabby, Leprous, or have an Elephantiasis.

7. Bubalus, Buffalus, Βάβωρ  בובל, Fachmur. The Bugil. It is a black Creature almost like an Ox; but greater, and much fiercer. 1. The Flesh is not so good as Beef, yet nourishes. 2. The Horns, worn in a Ring, they help the Cramp. 3. The Liver. An Extraet made of it, as of an Ox Spleen, is stronger, and more effectual than that, but given in the same Dose. It is a kind of wild Ox, and therefore the Vertues of the other parts you may seek out of the foregoing.

8. Bufo, Rana Venenata, Μύξ  צב, Tzab, a Toad. Schroder saith, That there is such a great antipathy between a Toad and a Spider, that if a Spider be put upon a Toad, it will burst the Toad violently. They are hung up by the neck in the Air, till they are through dry, and then kept for use. Wierus saith, That the Powder of a dry'd Toad, taken 3ss. at a time, or more, cures almost incurable Dropsies, carrying away the water by Urine: I suppose the ashes of them burnt is better. A dried-Toad steeped in Vinegar, and the belly of it laid to a Carbuncle, draws out the Poyson; smelt to, it stops bleeding at Nose, especially laid to the Forehead, or behind the Ears, or held in the hand till it is hot, or hung about the Neck. The Ashes or Powder do the same, laid upon the part that bleeds. Laid to the Reins, it cures the Dropsie; to the Navil, Fits of the Mother: Laid to the Soles of the feet, it helps distempers of the Head and Heart, and cools the heat of Fevers. The Ashes hung about the Neck (as an Amulet) cures pissing a bed, or the not holding of the Water.

9. Camelus, Κάμηλος, גמל, Gamal, A Camel. 1. The Flesh provokes Urine. 2. The Blood dried, helps the Dysenteria, and other long Fluxes of the Belly; drunk after a great Flux of the Terms, it caueth Conception. It also is good against the Epilepsie. 3. The Brain dried and drunk in Vinegar, cures Diseases of the Brain.

4. The Gall drunk in Honey helps the Falling Sickness and Quinsy: with Honey and Saffron applied, it cureth excrescencies. 5. The Hair of the Tail twisted together and worn as an Amulet, cures Quarrans. 6. The Milk cures Asthma's, shortness of Breath, Ulcers of the Lungs, and Consumptions, it opens obstructions, by reason of its thinness and vehement heat: strengthens the Liver, helps the Dropsie, and is good against hardness of the Spleen, being indeed the best of all Milk. It is an Antidote against Poyson, and loosens the Belly. 7. The Dung, calcin'd to ashes, and taken 3j. at a time, helps the Epileptic; the Dung it self applied, is good against the Scrophula, stops bleedbleeding at Nose, resolves Tumors, and hinders the marks of the Small Pox. 8. The Urine is good against running Ulcers, Dandriff, and Morphew: It helps the Dropfie, and snuff up the Nostriils restores the smelling lost. Of this it is thought that most Sal Armoniack is made. It is a Creature that will live an hundred years, is docible, loves Musick, bashful, revengeful, yet compassionate; the Hoof is divided, Back knobbed, Tail like to an Ass, and Tears like to a Cow; they engender backwards a whole day together, and go with their young a whole year; it is a kind of Dromedary.

10. Canis, קלוב, Keleb, A Dog or Bitch. 1. The Liver, (especially of a mad Dog) made into Powder and drunk, cures the biting of a mad Dog. 2. The skin worn helps contractions of the Nerves. 3. The fat is good against the Palsie and the Gout. It is hotter than other grease, and is used inwardly against Wounds and Ulcers. It dissolves congealed blood in bruises; and is good against Consumptions, Deafness, Scalds, and Itch. 4. The Blood is good against Poyson, as Dioscorides saith, and the biting of a Dog, drunk, it helps the Tormina and Trembling. 5. The Marrow mixed with old Wine and applied, helps the swelling of the Fundament, the Palsie and Gout, as also Deafness. 6. The Hair burnt to Ashes stops bleeding. 7. The Brain of a Whelp cures the Glaucoma in a Week; applied with herbs and a linnen cloth, it consolidates broken Bones in fourteen days. 8. The whole Head burnt to ashes, takes away excrescences, eroding and curing them; dries up Ulcers, Cancers, and the Piles, and inwardly cures the Stone. 9. The Gall mixt with Honey helps dimness of sight and spots in the Eyes; and Marcellus saith, The same dropt into the Ears warm and stopp'd in, is excellent, though a Cancer be there. Schroder saith, The Gall of a black Puppy mixt with Vinegar, or given in powder, cures the Epilepsie to a wonder. It is used by Magicians in the way of an Amulet. But applied is excellent against the Gout. 10. The Spleen drunk in Rhenish Wine is good against the Spleen. 11. The Milk dropt into the Eyes helps spots there, and into the Ears the pains of them. 12. The Urine is a Psilothron, cures Warts, Ulcers in the Head, and Scurf. With Nitre it helps (as Dioscorides saith) the Leprosie and Itch, as also the Jaundice. 13. The Teeth, calcin'd, and applied with Honey to their Gums, make Children breed their Teeth easily; the same in a Gargarism eases the Tooth-ach, and helps the Jaundice. 14. The Secundine brings forth the Birth, and causeth easie delivery. 15. The Genitals of a Dog are used as an Amulet by Magicians to provoke Lust. 16. Album Græcum, the Dung that is white, is drying and cleansing, discusses, opens, and breaks impostumes, cleanses Ulcers, and helps the Dysenteria and Cholick; blown into the Throat it cures Quinsies; anointed on the Belly, draws away Dropsies; and the Ashes mixt with Oyl of Roses, cure Warts. 17. Balsamum Catulbrum Compositum. Let the whole Whelp

Whelp be drowned in Rhenish or Sherry Wine, then beaten in a Mortar, and with Galbanum, Ammoniacum, Tacamahac, Olibanum, Turpentine ana; and Oyl Olive, be boyled in the Wine to a Balsam; strain, and keep it for use. It cures contracted Sinews, Nodes, Wounds, Ulcers, and pains of the Gout.

II. Capre, Capra, Hircus, "אֵז, דָּקָה dakah, A Goat. 1. The Flesh digests not so easily as Beef or Mutton, but the Kids flesh is exceeding good; they both nourish much. 2. The Milk is cleansing, nourishes much, is good in Consumptions and Hæsticks, and strengthens the Stomach, but is nothing near so fat as Cows Milk; taken with Honey it is best. 3. The Hair burnt, stops bleeding at Nose, all Fluxes, the Lethargy, and fits of the Mother. The Ashes drunk with Mead or Rhenish Wine helps the Strangury, and expels the Stone. 4. The Horns. The fume of them (burnt) are good against Epilepsies, so the Ashes and Salt. 5. The Blood. Drunk it resists Poyson; being dried and drunk it stops Fluxes, and breaks the Stone: you may make a Spirit, Oyl, and Salt of it, for the same uses, as also a Tincture. You may make an effectual Balsam of it (as of Goats Blood) against all manner of Gout-pains, and contractions of the Sinews. 6. The Fat or Suet. It is astringent, and heals a Dysenteria and Strangury: it cures Gouts, and helps the Piles in a Suppository. 7. The Marrow is accounted the strongest of all Marrows; dissolved into an Oyl, and mixt with Oyl of Amber, it cures Deafness. 8. The Gall made into a Cataplasm with Bread, white of an Egg, and Oyl, and laid to the Belly, it cures Quotidians; dropt into the Eyes, it clears the sight, especially mixt with a little Breast-milk. The Gall used three days (the hair being pulled up) is a Psilotron: With burnt Alom it helps Scabs, Leprosie, and Bitches; with Honey and Vinegar, Scurf; mixt with Honey and dropt into the Ears, helps them although cancerated, as also Deafness, and is of great force against a Struma, and all Ulcers. 9. The Spleen drunk it helps the Tormina. 10. The Bladder calcin'd and drunk helps pissing a bed, and is a Specifick for not holding of Urine. 11. The Secundine drunk in Wine expels the After-birth. 12. The Liver in an Extract is good against the Epilepsie and Convulsion. 13. The Skin boyled is glutinous, and stops a Diarrhœa. 14. The Dung. It is of an opening, drying, cleansing and digesting faculty, not much inferiour to Cow-Dung: It opens obstructions of the Spleen, cures the Jaundice, stoppage of the Terms, Cholick, &c. Outwardly, with Vinegar, Honey, or Oyl, it ripens Buboës, hard Tumors, helps a Schirrus of the Spleen and other parts, swellings behind the Ears, the bitings of Serpents, Mad Dogs; discusses Wens, helps Luxations and weeping Ulcers, Bruises, Cancers, Carbuncles, shrinking of the Sinews, Head-ach, Sciatica, &c. The Ashes are also good to the aforesaid intentions; and mixt with Honey help the Alopecia. 15. The Urine. Dropt into the Ears it helps pains and deafness: mixed with the Dung, it dissolves Apoftumes: drunk with Honey it helps the Dropfie, breaks the Stone, and expels Urine and the Terms.

12. Capra Alpina, Rupicapra, Αγρυσ, Ἰπτακκ, Ἰπτα, Zemmer, The wild Goat, or Rock Goat. 1. The Blood cures the Megrim, Vertigo, and breaks the Stone. 2. The Fat cures Ulcers in the Lungs and Consumptions. 3. The Gall cures Deafness and Blindness. 4. The Liver in Powder stops a Dysenteria. 5. The Dung breaks and expels the Stone. 6. The Urine cures the Stone, and provokes Urine and the Terms. 7. The Stone in the Maw. It is almost like Bezoar, but not so big; is black and sweet scented when broken: It cures Fevers, Poysons, and Plagues, used as Bezoar. Dose a gr. xv. ad ʒj. or ʒss. All the parts of the Wild Goat have all the Vertues (and more powerful too) of the same parts of the Tame.

13. Capreolus, Capreus, Δορυκά, Ἰπτα, Izeby, The Roe-Buck. It is a fearful, but swift, chearful Creature, seeing as well by night as by day, like a Dear, with small Horns, but the Femle has none. 1. The Flesh. It is wholesome, good against Epilepsies and Fluxes of the Bowels. 2. The Liver in powder, dropt into the Eyes, or drunk, quickens the sight. The ashes blown into the Nose stop bleeding. 3. The Gall mixt with meal of Lupins and Honey, it takes off freckles (a tincture of the dried Gall is better) dropt into the Ears, it helps the noise, Deafness, and Tooth-ach: with Milk and Honey, it helps dimness of sight, as also takes away the Pin and Web. 4. The Spleen drunk in powder or an Extract, cures the Tormina, and Iliack Passion. 5. The Dung in fine powder taken about ʒij. at a time in a fragrant Wine fasting, cures the Jaundice and all sorts of Fevers: you may make an Extract of it for the same purpose.

14. Capricerua Orientalis & Occidentalis, Capra Indica, Ἰνδ, Pazon, The Dear-Goat. They are both in the East and West Indies: That from Persia and the East Indies yields the Oriental Bezoar, being partly like a Deer, partly like a Goat. That of Peru is like the former, but without horns, yielding the Occidental Bezoar. 1. The Flesh is eaten by the Indians. The hair is fine and soft like silk. 2. Bezoar-stone. It is found in the Stomach, or Cavities adjacent to the Breast, of an Oval form, or round, hollow within, (the Oriental having chaff, hair, sticks, grains, filth, or the like, in its Capacity, the Occidental not) shining and smooth without, having a Coat folded like an Onion, of a various colour, but generally of a blackish green, pale, ash-colour, or honey-colour, without scent, and being bigger or less than a Walnut. The Occidental is rough without, whitish, ash-coloured, black, or blackish green, and generally bigger than the former. They are adulterated with Pitch, dried Blood, Stones powdered fine, ashes of Shells, Antimony, Cinnabar, Mercury, mixt with small Bezoar-stones exquisitely pulverized, and made up with a proper mucilage. Where Where note, that if in shape it is not like a Pidgeons Egg, is of an uneven surface nothing shining, is heavy, without hollownes, or its capacity is filled with dust; or if being moistned, or rub'd on a Lime-wall or Chalk, and it makes it not green, or toucht with quicklime and water, and it turn not yellow, it is adulterated and naught. The Persian is best, then that of Peru, then that from New Spain. It is Cephalick, Cardiack, Sudorifick, Antisebrifick, and Alexipharmick. It is excellent in Vertigoes, Epilepsies, Megrim, Melancholy, Quartans, Old Diseases, Measles, Small Pox, Plague, Poysons, Worms, all sorts of Fevers, Faintings, Palpitation of Heart, Jaundice, Cholick, Stone, stoppage of the Terms, giving also easie Labour to Women in Travel. Outwardly it is excellent in Scald Heads, burns, scalds, ulcerated Cancers, Schrophula's. Dose of the Oriental à gr. iij. and xvj. or xx. Of the Occidental à gr. viij. ad xx. or 3s. It is not so hot nor so dangerous as is imagined; a dram might be taken at a time, was it not more for doing the Purse hurt than the Body.

15. Castor, קדש Albedmetzer, The Otter or Beaver.

1. The Skin is said to be good against the Palsie and Gout, being worn. 2. The Gall exciteth Venerie. 3. The Fat or Grease comforts the Nerves and Womb; is good against Palsies, Numbness, Epilepsies and Convulsions. 4. The Stones. CAP. IV. Of FISHES.

1. A Bramis, Scardula, Cyprinus latus, The Bream. It is a dangerous Fish to eat, in respect of its Bones: Muffet saith, it is nothing but a flat Carp, yet it is whiter, and of better nourishment. The Sea-Bream has white Flesh, solid, is of good Juice and Nourishment; and of easie Digestion.

2. Acus, Acicula, Ablennes, Πασις, Βελύρν, The Horn-Beek. 1. The Ashes of the Marine drunk, help involuntary pissing. 2. The Flesh fryed with the Juice of an Orange, is grateful to the Stomach: It lays Eggs.

3. Alausæ minores, Sarda, Τερχίς, Pilchers. It is a Fish somewhat larger and fuller than a Herring, and some think a better sort of Fish: They are best broiled, having been a day in Salt; and then eaten with an Onion, Butter, Salt, and Pepper.

4. Alburnus, Aborinus, Scavardinus, Ευδέρπιδις, The Bley, or Bleak. It has a tender kind of Flesh, but never wholsom; for in Summer they grow mad, by reason of a Worm in their Stomachs. The Varieta or Sea-bleak changes its colour with every light and object, having firm and wholsom Flesh, and is as good as any Carp: It is called the Sea-Chameleon.

3. Anguilla, Enchelys, Plota, Ξυγέλου, Ξυγελίδος, The Eel. 1. The Flesh is sweet, and yields much Nourishment; they are best roasted and broil'd. 2. The Fat is good against blows, and discolourings of the Skin: dropt into the Ears, it helps old pains and Deafness. It is vulnerary, and helps baldness: Anointed, it cures the Hæmorrhoides. 2. The bloody end of the Head, if it touches Warts, and is afterwards buried, takes them away. 3. The Gall is excellent against Suffusions of the Eyes; and with Oyl of Roses is a Depilatory after evulsion. 4. The Liver drunk, causes, as Kiranides saith, a loathing of Wine. 5. The Blood taken warm with a double quantity of Red Wine, cures the Cholick.

6. Aphya, Apua, Hepsetus, Liparis, Αφύν, The Groundlin. It is of moist Nutriment, flatulent, and loosens the Belly, being best boyled. The Phalerick is wonderful fat, so that it serves for Lamps, They swim together in great shoals, so that they make the water as it were white.

7. Apium, Alderlin. Muffet saith, That the Flesh, when sod, smels like wild Parsly, provokes Urine, and is of good Nourishment. It is a mixt Fish, betwixt a Trout and a Grayling.

8. Apua Corbina, Minoes. They are a most delicate and light food (their Gall being carefully taken out:) they are less than Loches, and feed by licking one another: Their Name comes from Minium, their Finns being red.

9. Aquila Marina, The Sea-Hawk. It is an unpleasant Fish, rank, and only eaten by poor People: Aldrovand saith, it has a very moist and soft Flesh, and therefore ought to be eaten with Garlick, Onions, &c.

10. Asellus, Ling. It is called Sea-Beef, but is nothing but a Ling-Cod. The greater are called Orange-Ling, and the other Cod-Ling: whilst new, it is called Green-fish; and when salted, Ling, so called by Lying: It is good hearty Food, and of strong Nourishment. The Cod-Ling is taken near Bedwellin, in the County of Northumberland; the other in the far Northern Seas.

11. Asellus Islandicus, Haber-dine. It is an Island Cod, somewhat bigger than ours, and of the same Nature.

12. Asellus medius, Cod-fish. When fresh, the Head, Lips, and Palate are best, being light of Digestion: 1. The Flesh is very tender, and almost as good as a Whiting, it being only a great Sea-Whiting. 2. The Kelk is a bladder full of Spawn, which is accounted a very great Dainty, being of great Nourishment, and Restorative. 3. The Stone, which is a glewish Substance at the end of their Stomach, is very pleasant; of which is made the toughest Fish glew.

13. Astacus, Caranides, Locustella, Kappa ♂. The Creville: It is of excellent Nourishment, Restorative in Consumptions, good against the Stone, and all manner of stoppages of Urine: When boyled in Water, Salt, and Pepper, you may take out the flesh, and boyl it again in Milk for Consumptive Persons, and such as are in Hecticks, have burning Fevers, or any Ulcer in the Bladder: They are also good against the Inflammation of the Tongue and Throat, and Cancers. In all their other Vertues they agree with Lobsters and Crabs, which see in their proper places.

14. Aurata, Orata, Ioniscus, Chrysol, Χρυσόσφις, The Guilt-head. Some report it to be the sweetest of all Fishes, and the most acceptable to the Palate, yielding much nourishment; but the best are the Marine.

15. Barbo, Barbus, Musticatus, Mytilus, Ἰερίαν, The Barbel. Al-drovandus saith, that the Flesh tastes well, is tender, of easie Concoction, and of good Juyce, but full of Bones. 2. Their Eggs or Spawn some think to be Venomous; yet they are often taken by Country People, for they Vomit and Purge violently.

16. Blatta Bizantina, Unguis Odoratus, The Sweet Hoof. Their Shell smells like to Castoreum, and being taken inwardly, expels Wind, dissolves Humors, loosens the Bowels, and softens the hardness of the Spleen: Outwardly in a Fumigation it cures the Suffocation of the Womb, and the Falling-Sickness; and has the Vertues of all other Shells.

17. Cancer, Καρκίνος, Πύλαξ, Πύλαξ, The Crab. 1. The whole Crab is excellent against all sorts of Fevers, Consumptions, Hecticks, Phtisicks, Asthma's, the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, pain and stoppage of Urine, being Cooling, Humecting, Emollient, Analeptick, Diuretick, and Anodyne; beaten and applied, they take away heat and pain in the Reins, and in a Gargarism help the Quinsie. Applied with Oyl Olive, and the Liver, Liver of a Calf, they draw out Darts, and things gotten into the Flesh. 2. The Eyes are cooling, drying, Alexipharmick, take away and cure all Acidities; breaks the Stone, dissolves Tartarous Coagulations, and Congealed Blood. 3. The Galls have all the former Vertues with the Eyes; are excellent against Agues, and all manner of Fevers, and applied (in powder or ashes) with Oyl of Roses, cures the Itch, and other breakings out of Salt Humours. They are Famous in the Cure of the Stone, Pleurisie, Asthma, and Cholick, &c. 4. The ashes of the whole Crab, dry, and are good against the bitings of Mad Dogs, taken with Powder of Gentian Roots, or Contrayerva: Mixt with Honey they cure clefts and gailings of the Fundament and Feet, and are good against the Bloody-flux. Galen burnt them in a brass basin at the rising of the Dog-Star, the Sun being in Leo; the Dose is ℥ij. for forty days together. 5. Crabs-Eyes prepared. They are done by Levigation upon a Marble with Fennel or Rose-water: It has the former Vertue. 6. Aqua. Cancrorum: It is distilled in B. M. or Ashes; It provokes Urine, allays the heat of Fevers, quenches thirst, and breaks the Stone. 7. Liqueur Cancrorum. It is made by putting Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, to the powder of the Eyes or Shells, and digesting it twenty days in a Horse Dung-hill, then abstracting, and drawing with S. V. an Extract, which Spirit being also abstracted, will leave in the bottom an Oyl or Liqueur, good to all the Intentions as aforesaid: Dose a gr. v. ad x.

18. Canis Cetaceus, Canis Carcharius, Κῆτος, the Dog-fish. 1. The Flesh is white, of easie Concoction, but of no very pleasant taste, and is therefore eaten with Mustard, or some other sharp Sauce. 2. The Teeth set in Silver, are worn as an Amulet to cause easie breeding of Teeth. 3. The Fat has the same Vertues with that of the Crocodile; and being used in a Gargarism with Poppy-Water and Vinegar, helps the Tooth-ach: Where note, that some of these Fishes weigh about four thousand pound weight.

19. Cernue, Acerina Plinii, Porcellus, Porculus, Χολεῖλ, Russ. They are of the Nature, Sweetness, and Vertues of Perches, being not much unlike, which makes them the more liked. The Stones in their Heads help the Stone in the Reins and the Pleurisie, or other pricking pains of the sides: In sandy places they grow exceeding fat and sweet.

20. Cetus, Cete, Pistrix, Balana, Balna Marina, Κῆτος, The Whale. 1. The Flesh is Excrementitious, and hard of Digestion, breeding many raw Humours; and therefore is eaten Salted: The Ichthyophagi made Bread of their Flesh, and Houses of their Bones. It is better Boyled than Rosted, especially with Vinegar, Wine, Parsly, Hyssop, Savory, Fennel, Organy, Anet, Onions, Leeks and Pepper. 2. The Fat or Grease is said to cure the Itch. 3. The Liver of the Balana smell like Njoters, and Cardan saith, nourish much, and taste pleasantly being Salted. The

The Manati, is a sort of Whale like a four-tooted Beast, which the Dutch call a Sea-Cow, because the Head is like that of a Cow; the Spaniards, Manati, and their two fore-feet Hands, from Manus a Hand: Out of the Head of it is taken a Bone, sometimes like a Tooth, which is effectual against the Stone and Cholick, being calcin'd and given in Perficary-water, a 3ss. ad 3j: Or you may make a Magistery of it by dissolving of it in Spirit of Salt or Nitre, and precipitating of it with water, and exhibit it in the same Cases, a 3ss. ad ʒiij.

21. Chalcides, Sardinia, Sardella, Σαρδελ, Sprats. 1. The powder of their Heads is good, as Marcellus saith, against Botches, pain and swelling of the Throat and Gums, sink and Cankers of the Mouth. 2. The Flesh taken before Meat, loosens the Belly; but it is Aguish, especially in a weak Stomach. 3. Chalcides Majores, Spurling, pickled like Anchoves, or Turner way, exceed them in goodness, and very much strengthen the Stomach.

22. Cochleæ Marinæ, Perwinkles. They are nourishing Food, and very restorative in Consumptions and Hecticks, being sod in their own Sea-water: The whitest and such as are taken in clean Creeks are best; for Consumptive Persons they are best boyled in Milk, others may eat them boyled in Vinegar, or Water and Salt.

23. Collydana Mentula Marina, Cauda Marina, Πεσέλα, Yards. They are excellent Food for Sick and Consumptive People, restoring and nourishing much, having the Vertues of Crabs, Shrimps, Lobsters, &c.

24. Concha, Shell-Fish. They are of divers Forms and Colours, being Fish without a Head, incloied in Shells double or single, long, square, squammous, coralline, smooth, or streaked; to which also belong Oysters, Cockles, Dentalium, Entalium, Sea-Navel, Blatta Bizantia, Purplefish, Mother of Pearl, &c. 1. The Shells are drying, Sudorifick, Cleansing, Antifebrifick; and are given either in powder, or calcin'd, or Levigated with Carduus-water. 2. Crollius his Antifebrifick: Free the Shells from their slime by laying them all Night in strong Vinegar, then calcine them till they are white, powder, and keep it for use. It sweats excellently, cures Fevers, especially the Tertian, given in the Fit, and repeated three or four times, in hot Ale with Butter. Dose a ʒj. to ʒiij. 3. The Flesh eaten, is restorative to such as are in Consumptions; and is also good against Quartans, being eaten.

25. Conger, The great Sea-Eel. It has a white, fat, and sweet Flesh; they nourish to excess, and are therefore dangerous, because of Surfeits: They are best first boyled with Water and Salt with sweet herbs, then broyled, so they are exceeding good food. The small ones are taken between Gloucester and Tewksbury, the great ones only in the Salt Seas.

26. Coracinus, Corvulus, Graculus, Κεζάνι, &c. The Crow-fish. That of Nilus is better than the Marine, the black is better than the

the white; and they agree better with the Stomach boyled than roasted, and they are also best when full of Spawn: They may be boyled in White-wine, Water, and Vinegar: They are preserved with a Pickle made of Vinegar, Pepper, Myrtle and Bay-leaves: or else put into hot Oyl, and then barreled up with Pickle made of Vinegar, Salt, Pepper and Myrtle leaves. The Stones in the Head are good against the Jaundice and Stone in the Reins.

27. Cuculus, Coccygium, Κόκκυξ, The Cur-fish. It is a sweet Fish, having much white and solid flesh, which is good, as Hippocrates saith, in gross and flegmatick Diseases; the lesser may be broiled, the greater fryed. Those of Montpellier boyl them in Water and Wine, and eat them with Oyl Omphamine, Pepper, Salt, Vinegar, or Juyce of Sorrel.

28. Cyprinus, Carpio, Carpa, Levidorus, Κυπρινός, The Carp. It is a fat, sweet, and soft Fish. 1. The Flesh nourishes much, and is best in March; the Male being better than the Female, and the white than the yellow. 2. The Fat cures Diseases of the Nerves, and excites to Venery. 3. The two stones about the eyes are good against the heat of Fevers, cool, quench Thirst, and are good against the Falling-sickness. 4. The Carp-stone triangular found in the Head, has the former Vertues, besides which it is good against the Cholick and Stone. 5. The Gall helps dimness of sight. 6. Of the Spawn is made red Caviare.

29. Delphinus, Porcus Marinus, Delphis, Δελφίν, The Dolphin. It is a Fish eaten by the Dutch, and of good account amongst the French. 1. The Liver is of a tender substance and nourishing, and helps Tertians and Quartans. 2. The Tongue is better, more tender and fat. 3. The Bowels smell and taste like Violets, and taken in powder help the Spleen. 4. The Ashes of the whole Fish applied with water, are good against Terrors, Ring-worms, Scurf, and Leprosie. They are said to live 300 years. Generate like Rationals, having a groaning voice, a sharp sight, and to love Musick and Men.

30. Dentalium, The Limper. It is a little Shell-fish, long, rough without, smooth within, hollow, and with a cleft on one side, like Dogs-teeth (from whence came the Name) within which is only a long Worm. It is not much used, but only in the Citrine-Oyntment; the Shells are of the Nature, and have the same Vertues with others.

31. Draco Marinus, Maris Vastator, Δρακὸν θαλάσσιον, The Sea-Dragon. 1. The Flesh is hard and dry, but if well drest, of good Juyce and Nourishment. 2. The Ashes of the fresh Head is good against all Poyson. 3. The Bones cure the Tooth-ach by Scarification with them.

32. Entalium the horn Limper. It is a Sea-fish, long like a little Horn, strait and hollow, outwardly streaked, smooth within, of about a Fingers length: It has the Vertues of the Dentalium, and only used in the same case.

33. Echinus, Piscis Spinosis, Carduus Marinus, Έχινος, The Sea-Urchin. 1. The Ashes with Hogs-Lard or Boars-grease helps Baldness. 2. Their Stones drunk in Rhenish-wine, expels the after-birth: 3. The Ashes of the Shells cure filthy Ulcers. It is a Fish so full of prickles, that it cannot be held, and therefore it is called by some, Carduus Marinus, the Sea-Thistle.

34. Engrasicholus, feliceps, Lycostomus; Ἐγκροτολός, The Anchove. It is of a grateful taste, strengthens the Stomach, and restores Appetite; loosens the Belly, and is good against Agues. They are attenuating, Ripening, and Digesting, warming the Stomach, if eaten with Vinegar, Oyl and Pepper; their name comes from the bitterness of their Heads, and therefore they are cast away with the Gall.

35. Gladius, Sword-fish. It is a very fat Fish in the back, almost like a Hog. Aldrovandus saith, the flesh is dry and solid, but nourishes much if once concocted. Simon Sethi saith, they are to be corrected with sharp Sauces. Jovius compares them with Sturgeon: And Muffet saith, they are whiter and pleasanter to the Palate than the Tunny.

36. Gobius, Gobio, Cobio, Cothus, Κοβίος, The Gudgeon. It is of the Nature of the Perch, and the whitest is the best; they are a good pleasant food, and of easie Digestion, nourishing much, and increasing good Blood. They are good against the Cholick arising from Cold, or Tartarous Humors: Roasted, and eaten without Salt, they are good against the Bloody-flux, and other Fluxes of the Belly; and applied, they help the bitings of Mad Dogs and Serpents. Nicander saith, they are good against the Poyson of Dorycinium.

38. Huso, Ichthiocolla, Huso or Isinglass-fish. It is without Bones or Scales, except only in the Head: It is eight yards long, and weighs near four hundred pound weight. It is a Sea-fish, but usually catcht in the Danube, coming thither for fresh water out of the Sea. 1. The Flesh in the Back tastes like Veal, the Belly like Pork, and being fresh is very sweet and good. 2. The Ichthiocolla, Isinglass or Grew, is made of the Skin, Stomach, Guts, Fins and Tail. It glutinates, dries, and softneth; is used in Gellies and Broths, with Sugar-candy: Of it is made Mouth-glew, which is sweet and glutinous; is good against Night-wheals, and serves to glew Instruments with, and Seal Letters. It is reported to help the Lethargy, but I scarcely believe it. 3. The Eggs serve to make a Caviare of.

39. Lampreta, Alabeta, Galexia, Lumbricus Marinus, Ἀλαβή. 1. The Lamprey or Lamprou. 1. The Flesh is sweet and good, and of much Nourishment: It increases Lust, and by reason of its Lustfulness easily causes Surfeits, if much eaten, and is for that cause bad even for strong Stomachs, especially such as are Paralytick, Goury, Aguish, and old; yet Alexander Benedictus prefers it before all other Fish. And Kiranides saith, that eaten with their Broth, they help the Stone, Leprosie, and Scabbiness.

2. The Teeth worn about the Neck, help the breeding of Teeth: Their Ashes mixt with Honey, are good against Lichens and the Leprosie. These Fish are best in March and April, being then fattest, in Summer they are harder and leaner. The Italians beat them on the Tail till almost dead, then gagge them with a whole Nutmeg, and stop every oyle-hole with a Clove, then cast them into Oyl and Malmsey, with crums of Bread, a few Almonds, blancht and minced, to correct and better their Flesh. They are about a yard long, live in the Sea in rocky places, and in the Mouths of Rivers, and weigh about twelve pound weight: They eat Flesh, and when taken, are said to fly at the Fishers. They are an Enemy to the Conger.

40. Lavaretus, The Laveret. The Flesh is white, soft, sweet, and of good Juyce and Nourishment.

41. Lupus Marinus, Sea-Hare. The Blood is a Philothron, and applied with Wool, helps the Egyplos: Used fresh, it helps the Gout. It is reputed venomous; the Antidote is Black Hellebore and Asles Milk.

42. Leuciscus, Leucorinus, Albicella, Vindosa, Λευκισκ, The Dace. 1. The Flesh is soft, sweet in taste, of good Nourishment, and Pickled like Anchoves after the Italian manner, are Stomachical. Some pickle them like Herrings. The Italians take them in Winter; but they are best in February, March, and April. 53. Melanurus, Black-tail. Dipbilus saith, it is equal to the Guilt head: Kiranides saith, broiled and eaten they sharpen the sight the broth helps the Cholick.

54. Merula, Mérolus, Tinca Marina, Κόσσις ☉, The Cook-fish. It is a Fish of easie digestion, and begets good Juyce. 1. The Flesh is good against Fevers, Epilepsie, and Epatick Dysentery. 2. In white Broth they strengthen the Stomach.

55. Milvus, Milvago, Landola, Ἰεγεῖ, Ἡεῖξ, The Keeling. They are scarcely to be differenced from the Cod, but only in name. The Gall cures Suffusions.

56. Monacha, Nunfishes. It is a shell Fish, and very delicate, of the nature of a Periwinkle: their Face is white, and their Head covered with a black Vail.

57. Mullus, Mulio, Barbus Marinus, Trigilis, Τελγλιν, The Muller. 1. It is of the nature of the Pike; strengthens the Stomach, and is good against the Cholick. 2. The Botargo vel Botargum. It is made of their Eggs and Blood with Salt; it strengthens the Stomach, helps the Appetite, increases Seed, and is good against Consumptions. 3. The ashes of the head with honey help gallings. 4. The Ashes of the Ventricle strengthen the Stomach, and help warreness of it. 5. The Stones in their Heads are good against the Gravel and Stone. Dioscorides saith, that Mullet eaten often dulls the Eye-sight, but I scarcely believe him.

58. Museuli, Mytili, Chame, Μύππλ ☉, Muscels. The Whitest are the best, being very wholesome. Preserved in Goodrons Pickle for Oysters (made of Sea water, Wine Vinegar, Bay-leaves, Mint, Pepper, Ginger and Cinnamon) they are as wholesom and more pleasant than Oysters. The Broth is opening, and purgeth the Reins, and therefore good for such as have the Dropsie, jaundice and Gout: The shells have the Vertues of other shells, being prepared in the same manner.

59. Mustela, Gobius Fluvialis, Eel Powt. 1. The Flesh is white, firm, sweet, and of good Nourishment. 2. The Spawn is hurtful and causeth vomiting. 3. The Ventricle or Stomach drunk, helps the Cholick, all the Vices of the Womb, and expels the Secundine. 4. The back-bone powdered, Schroder saith, cures Epilepsies. 5. The Liver is most sweet and delicate Food: hung in a Glass and set in the heat of the Sun, Bath, or Sand, it turns to a yellow Liquor good against Suffusions of the Eyes.

60. Oniscus, Albula, Mollitula, 'Ovion ♂, The Whiting. Physicians affirm this Fish to be the whitest and lightest of all Fish, and so harmless, as it may be given to sick Persons. The Livers are nutritive, good in Consumptions.

61. Orbes, Batus Rotundus, Lumpus, Lumps. They are watrish, raw, and flegmatick like Thorn-back half foddren: and are best eaten pickled like Sturgeon.

62. Ostrea, Ostreum, 'Oσpeov, 'Oσειδov, The Oyster. 1. The flesh nourishes as much as any Fish whereever, and that without danger of surfeiting; it increaseth seed, and restores such as are in deep Consumptions, it strengthens the Stomach, causes Appetite, and breeds good Joyce, being light and easie of digestion: The fattest are taken in salt waters, and the best are our Walsfleet and Colchester Oysters. They provoke Urine and Stool, help the Cholick and Dropsie, being best, and most wholesom eaten raw: stewed, they are hard of digestion, bind the belly, and stop the Urine. 2. Pickled Oysters are best for cold, raw, and squeasie Stomachs; see the Pickle in Sect. 58. foregoing. 3. Ourwardly the raw Oyster cures Plague-Sores by attracting the Venom into it self. 4. The Shells in powder cure Heart-burnings, and all manner of Fevers, are an excellent Cordial, resist Poyson, Plague, and Putrefaction, cheer the Spirits, and strengthen the Balsam of Life. 5. The Magistery of the shells performs the same things: It is made as that of Coral: which see in our Synopsis Medicinae, Lib. 3. Cap. 54. Sect. 4. & 6. 6. The Ashes of the Shells helps Ulcers of the Lips, and whiten the Teeth: a Lixivium made therewith, helps Oedematous tumors of the knees and feet, for it dries, digests, and heats.

63. Passores, Platusa, Plateffa, Ansonii, Ψντλα, Στεφύς ♂, Plaice, they are of good Nourishment, but more watry than Soles: the best Plaice have the blackest spots, as the best Flounders have reddest. The Marine are best.

64. Pastinaca, Glorimus, Opistho Kentros, Τευγαν, Fork fish. 1. The Liver sod in Oyl, helps the Leprosie and Ring-worms. 2. The Flesh is eaten by poor people, but is scarce wholesom. 3. Their Radius is poysonous, which being cut off, with the Head and Tail, they may be eaten without danger. Their wounds are venomous, causing causing Stupidity, Convulsions and Death; but are cured as Vipers.

65. Peſtunculi, Novacula, Krêves, Cockles. They strengthen the Stomach, increase Appetite, excite Lust, provoke Urine, help the Cholick, and restore in Consumptions. Their shells are of the nature of the Muscle-shells.

66. Perca, Percinus, Πέρην, The Perch. They are an excellent sort of food, and wholsom; very good against Fevers. Aldrovandus saith that the Stones in their Heads, near the beginning of the Back-bone, breaks the Stone in the Reins.

67. Phoca, Bocas, Vitulus & Bos Marinus, Φῶκν, The Sea-Calf. 1. The Flesh is soft, and very fat, nourishing much, and therefore quickly satiates; eaten, it helps the Epileptic, Suffocation of the Womb, as Avicen affirms. 2. The Fat is very good (as Hippocrates saith) against Womens Diseases inwardly and outwardly used: it also helps the Leprosie, and Mentegra. 3. The Rennet helps the Falling Sickness.

68. Phocæna, Tursio, Porcus marinus, Πισκάτορ, Φῶρεῖνα, The Porpoise Sea-hog. 1. The Flesh is fatter than that of the Dolphin, but not so good: the Gentry bake it as Venison; but 'tis no pleasant food.

69. Polyus, Onus Multipes, Ὀνέστες, Πολύπους, The Poulp. Ætius and Ægineta say, they nourish much, and exceedingly provoke Lust: being boyled in Salt Water and Wine, with spicy herbs, it is a more wholsom and dainty Fish than a Maykri. The ashes of the Poulp with Vitriol, help the Polipus; and given in Rhenish-wine, provoke the Terms, and cause Conception.

70. Purpura, Roncera, Ungella, Πορρῶρα, The Purple. It is altogether of the nature of other shell fish; being boyled they make thick broth, which is excellent in Consumptions and good against Poyson. The Shells in powder, dry up malign Ulcers, and cause Conception, being of the nature of other shells.

71. Raia, Papilio, Rubus Piscis, Βάτ ♂, Thornback. 1. The Flesh is very moist, increases Lust, and restores in long and deep Consumptions. 2. The Liver is very sweet, and has the same vertues. 3. The Gall cures Diseases of the Ears, and the Itch.

72. Raiola, Maides, a kind of young or little Scate; they are good for such as have spoiled themselves with much wantonness: they are of the others nature.

73. Remora, The Suck-stone. Aldrovand saith, they prevent Abortion; and some report, that by their magnetick Vertue they can stop Ships.

74. Rhombus, Turbatus, Ῥήμα, The Flounder, It is an excellent Fish, and of good nutriment, strengthens the Stomach, and causes appetite: they help the Spleen.

75. Rana aquatica, Diabolus Marinus, Βάτ ♂ & Βαδελί ♂, The Water Frog. That which is green is best; the spotted are venomous and dangerous. 1. Dioscorides saith, that eaten, and their broth drunk, they are an Antidote against the Poyson of Serpents, laid alive to Carbuncle or Plague-Sore, till it dry, it draws out the Poyson, which you may repeat, till the Frog may be applied and live: held in the hand, they cure Fevers, and applied, help the Gout and Erysipelas. 2. The Broth used as a Gargarism helps the Tooth-ach. 3. A live Frog laid to the belly of one that has the Cholick, will draw the Disease from the sick into it self. 4. The Gall eradicates hair after evulsion, cures sore Eyes; and burnt and given to ss . cures Quartans. 5. The Heart applied to the back-bone in a Fever of Ague, cures it; but some apply it to the heart or stomach, you may do both. 6. The Liver dried and powdered cures Quartans and other Agues, as also the Falling-sickness; give it, the Luminaries in conjunction in Cancer. 7. The Fat dropt into the Ears helps pain and deafness. 8. The Spawn is cooling, Segnotick and Anodyne: It kills the Itch, Tetters, Ring-worms, helps Burns, Scalds, Inflammations, Erysipelas, red Faces, and the Gout; stops the Flux of the Hemorrhoids, Terms, Whites, Gonorrhea &c. 9. The ashes of the whole Frog stop bleeding, and with Tar baldness. 10. Distilled water from the whole live Frog, taken in the beginning of April, has all the Vertues, of the Spawn aforesaid. Where note, that in the distilling of Frogs and their Spawn, Snails, Worms, &c. You may put them into a Linnen Cloth and hang them in the middle of the Still, to distil by Vapors, otherwise the water will stink. 11. Distilled water of the Spawn, It is drawn by an Alembick from the Sperm taken in March, to which you may add the Salt from the Caput Mortuum; it has the Vertues of the former water; besides which, it stops Blood, cures red Faces and defects of the skin, as also Erysipelas, Gangreens, and Ulcers in the Bladder. 12. The Powder of the Frogs or Spawn, is made by reducing of the remainder, after the waters aforesaid are drawn off. Taken to ss . it helps a Gonorrhœa, malignant Ulcers, and all Inflammations and Gangreens, as Fabricius saith.

76. Rutilus, Lentiscus fluviatilis, The Roche. It is a healthful Fish, not subject to any Disease, whence the Proverb, As sound as a Roche; but their being so full of bones, makes them to be less regarded. Aldrovandus saith, they excite Lust, and cure Fevers.

76. Salmo, Σολαγγε, The Salmon. It is preferred, as Aldrovandus saith, before all Fishes, whether Marine, Fluviate, and Lakish. It is wonderful sweet, and of extraordinary nourishment, and therefore (unless eaten moderately) causeth Surfeits. It restores in Consumptions, and if pickled like Sturgeon, strengthens the stomach much, and provokes to an Appetite. The Salmunculi or Shuins, are yet lighter food, and eaten as the other.

78. Scombrus, Μακρελιν, Piscis Iberus, Σκόμπος, The Mackrel. Alian saith, it helps the Jaundice. 1. The Liver eaten helps obstructions of the Liver.

79. Scorpio Marina, Spinula, Roscassa, Σκorpion, The Scorpion Fish. 1. The Ashes of the whole Fish is good against the Stone. 2. The Gall helps dimness of sight, provokes the Terms, and brings away the After-birth. 3. The Broth with Oyl and Salt loosens the the belly. 4. Their Stone cures the Stone in the Reins and Bladder. 5. The Flesh is good against Flegmatick Diseases.

80. Sepia, Opistholia, Σηπια, The Cuttle-fish. 1. The Flesh in old time was used for Food, and in some places is still. 2. The Blood is as black as the blackest Ink; taken inwardly, it loosens the Belly. 3. The Spawn provokes Urine. 4. The Bones in powder given to 3fs. cure the Gonorrhæa, Stone and Asthma.

81. Serpens Marinus, Sea Serpent. Belluensis saith, it is edible; and Pliny saith, that with Lilly-roots, it helps the incontinency of Urine.

82. Silurus, Glanis, Solaris Piscis, Γαδρίς, The Sheath-fish. It is eaten both fresh and salted as Sturgeon, but the Vein on the back is to be taken out: they grow till they weigh near 200 pound.

83. Solea, Lingulaca, Sandalium, Ψάλα, Βαγρονή, The Sole. It is of the nature of the Place and Flounder, but the more Excellent Fish.

84. Squatina, Squatus, Cetes, Pirn, The Skate. It is altogether of the nature of Thorn-back, but stronger, and is good against Consumptions. 2. The Oyl of the Liver helps the hardness of the Liver. 3. The Ashes of the Skin helps running Ulcers of the Head and baldness. 4. The Skin is used as a File to polish Ivory and Wood with, from whence they are called also Lima Vellæ. They often copulate with the Thornback, and grow till they weigh about 160 pound.

85. Squilla, Scylla, Gibba, Kæis, Kæidor, The Shrimp, Dissolved

in Chicken-broth, they are as Restorative as the best Crabs or Lobsters, and so eaten cure Consumptions. They serve as a bait to catch Mulletts and Pikes with.

86. Sturio, Stora, Aquipenser, Αιπένπερ, Γαλαξίας, The Sturgeon. It is an excellent Fish, and the Female are best when full of Spawn. 1. The Liver is so sweet, that without some of the Gall, it causeth loathing. 2. The Flesh clears the Voice, is strengthening, and by Cardan is equalled to Veal, if not much better: applied with salt, it draws out things got into the Flesh. 3. The Pickle in a fomentation helps the Dysenteria, and cures putrid Ulcers in the mouth. 4. The Fat cures Kibes. 5. The Bones cure the running Gout and the Clotlick. 6. Their Spawn with Salt makes Caviare, which nourishes, increates Seed, and excites Lust: They swim fastest against the Stream, and grow till they weigh about 100 pound weight.

87. Thunnus, Cordyla, Auxus, Orcynus, Pelamides, Ούγγ, The Tunie. It is best when leanest, for this Fish will grow so fat, that its belly will burst. 1. The Fat serves to make Train Oyl for Clothiers. 2. The Flesh is sweet, of great Nutriment, and Restorative; but is not good for such as have the Gout or Epilepsie.

3. The Blood, Gall and Liver are Depilatories. 4. The Ashes of the Head cure Sores and Boils in the Privities.

88. Thymalus, Thymus Piscis, Aschia, Temarus, Φάγρ, The Grail.

Grailing. It is a good Fish, and said to be better than a Trout. 1. The Gall cures noise, pain and deafness, being dropped into the Ears; it causeth Fluxion, and kills Worms. 2. The Fat cures Deafness and heals Wounds: and Gesner saith, mixed with Honey, and a drop dropt in daily, clears the eye-sight, helps lippitude, redness, and spots in the sight; takes away Freckles, and fills up the pits of the Small Pox.

89. Tincha, Toncha, Merula Lacustris, Ψύλλω, The Tench. It is of no extraordinary good Nourishment: but slit and laid to the Wrists and Soles of the Feet, they cure Fevers, and draw away the heat and venom of the Disease, and are therefore good in the Plague. 2. Live Tenches laid to the Navel of one that has the jaundice, one after another, till they die, cure the Sick, and turn yellow. 3. The burnt Tench, chiefly the Skin, being drunk, Schroder saith, he has known to cure the Whites in Women. 4. The Gall helps Pain, Noise, and Deafness in the Ear. 5. The Stone in the heads, breaks the Stone in the Reins and Bladder and expels it.

90. Torpedo, Stupefactor, Stupefcor, Νάγυν, Τετραύνα. The Cramp-fish. Eaten, it loosens the Belly, helps the Dropsie and the Consumption, applied to the head, it eases the pain thereof, viz. the black. The same helps the Gout, being trod on, till the Stupidity reach the knee. Their skin is slippery, mouth upward and little, having no Tongue, and but small Eyes: they bring forth (by report) about fourscore young, and hide them in the Mud to stupifie other Fish, which they do at a distance.

91. Triches, Clupea, Shads. It is a good pleasant fish, but so full of Bones, that it is dangerous to eat without great Care; it is something Hypnotick.

92. Trutta, Aurata, Variblus, Χρυσόστροφος, The Trout. Aldrovandus saith, it is equal (in goodness) to any Fish that lives in fresh Water. The Fat is very good for the Hæmorrhoides, or clefts in the Fundament.

93. Turdus Marinus, The Thrush Fish. Galen saith, it is a Fish of good juyce, and easily concocted, and fit for Food, for all sick people. Trallianus saith, it is good against the Pleurisie and Epileptic. Salvian Orders it to be boyled in Water or White Broth.

94. Violacea, Epelanus, Eperlanus, Berlanus. The Smelt. It is a Fish smelling like a Violet, and Muffet saith, they are of the finest, lightest, softest, and best juyce of all other Fish: they are best in Winter, and when full of Spawn.

95. Umbra, Umbrina, Sciadurus, Σκιάυρα, Σκιάς, The Umber-fish. Jovius counts it of the nature of the Sturgeon: the Stones in the head are good against the Cholick: It weighs about 60 pounds, and swims like a shadow.

96. Uranoscopus, Tapecon, Κελαινόψυς, The Star-gazer; whether it be edible or no, is doubtful: Hippocrates used it against the Dropsie, and other Diseases proceeding from Obstruction. The Gall is useful in Medicine above others, and cures

Suffusions in the Eyes; being that, as some think, which cured the eyes of Tobias: mixt. with Oyl of Roses it helps Deafness, and pain, and noise in the Ears. It is about a Foot long, looks upwards, and has a great head, like that of a Bull.

CAP. V. Of SERPENTS.

I. Ammodytes, Ammodyta, Centrites, Centria, Ammodites. The Ammodite. Its Poyson is not inferiour to that of the Asp; some dying of it within three hours after the Wound received, none living above seven days. The biting of the Female is most Venomous: The Antidote is Treacle drunk and applyed, as also Cinnamon, Centaury, Hart-wort, juyce of Gentian Root, wild Rue, Salt and Oyl of Tartar. It is a kind of Viper, of a Cubit long, having black spots on the Skin, small lines on the back, an hard Wart like a Horn on the upper Chap, and very fierce. Their Flesh has the same Vertue with that of Vipers.

2. Amphisbana, Amphicaphalos, Apisbalya, Double-head. It is a Venomous Serpent, making a Wound so small that it can scarce be discerned, causing Inflammation and a Lingring Death. It is cured like to the biting of the Viper; Pliny saith, that Coriander drunk and applied, is an effectual Antidote. Its Body is of an equal thickness; the eyes commonly shut; the skin rough, hard, spotted, and of an earthly colour. They go both ways.

3. Anguis, Chersydrus, Ophis, The Snake. (Enhydri the Water-

Snake.) Whatever some affirm, their Poyson is not inferiour to that of other Serpents; when they bite, there ensueth great pain, inflammation, blackness in the wound, the Vertigo, and Death within three or four days. The Water-Snake has a malignant fiery Poyson, which forthwith disperses it self over the whole Body, which when it comes to the Heart, the Creature immediately falls down dead. Therefore it is best, if a part be bitten, presently to cut it off; otherwise to apply to the place, Organy beaten with Oyl of Tartar and Oyl Olive, or Oak-ashes mixt with Barly-meal, Pitch, Water and Honey boyled to a Pultise. 1. The Liver of a Snake breaks the Stone in the Bladder. 2. The Flesh eaten, cures the Leprosie and Pox; applied it helps Wounds. 3. The Skin boyled in Wine, and that Wine dropt into the Ears, eases the pain of them. They lay Eggs almost as big as a Crows Egg: See Serpents, Sect. 23.

4. Aspis, Hypnalis, Sacer, Coluber, Asms, The Asp. Their Poyson is so great, that they are not used in Medicine, but the Chalidonian Asp is the most Poysonous, Death strait way following. The Cure of their Poyson, is by Incision, Cauteries, Cupping, and Cocks Rumps applied, with Dilatation, Scarification, Mercury, Rue, Mithridate, Venice Treacle and Aqua Vitæ; to which add fomentation, friction and strong exercise. If the wound grows purple, green, blew, or black, it shews suffocation and extinction of the natural heat, and the part ought to be cut off. It is like to a Land Snake, but broader on the back: their Teeth are long and full of Holes, which are covered with a skin that slides up when they bite, letting out their Poyson.

5. Boa, Bow, Anguis Caprimulgus. The Boas. It is a Serpent which goes upon its Belly, and grows to be above an 100 foot long: It Kills not Cattle till their Milk is dried up, and then it eats them, destroying whole Herds: its Poyson is like that of the Adder, causing Tumors and Swellings, and lastly Death.

6. Cacilia, Cacula, Carula, Cophia, Surdaster, Τύφλο, Slow-worm. It is a Creature which has a very strong Poyson. If their wound swell, prick it, and apply over it a Cataplasim of Fullers Earth and Vinegar. It is called the Blind Worm, but it hurts not, unless provoked. Os-maldus saith, that a Treacle is made of this Serpent against the Plague which smells like Aqua-vitæ.

7. Cenchrus, Cenchrines, Millaris, Famusus, Κενχρῆς, The Myller. It is a Serpent about two Cubits long, of a dark colour, spotted like Miller Seed, they go strait, and are therefore avoided by an oblique Morion. It is a dangerous and strong Beast; when it seizes its Prey, it sucks the Blood, whilst it beats the Body with its Tail: after their biting there follows putrefaction and rottenness, drowfiness, sleepiness, Lethargy, Cholick, pain in the Stomach, Liver and Belly, killing in about two days, unless a Remedy be applied. The Cure is like that of the biting of the Viper.

8. Cerastes, Κεράσις, The Horned Serpent. It is a yard long, of a sandy colour, with two Horns, and Teeth like a Viper. Its Poyson is deadly, if a Cure be not applied in time: For the Patient has about the Wound hardness and Pustules, it grows black, earthy and pale, he grows mad, his eyes dim, and Nerves immoveable, having a scab on the Wound, and a continual pricking as with Needles. The Cure is by cutting off the Flesh to the Bone, or cutting off the part: you may apply Goats Dung boyled with Vinegar, Garlick, Salt, Honey, and juyce of Rue, with Wine.

9. Chelydrus, Druina, Ilicinus, Querculus, Cherisidal, Δρυῖν, The Druine. It is among the first rank of Serpents for Poyson. Its very smell so stupifies, as that it almost strangles a man, Nature abhorring to draw in such a filthy and poysonous Air. Authors say, that it kills both by touch and smell. The Cure is as that of Vipers. It is a Serpent of about a yard long, full of Scales, under which breed a sort of Flies which destroy it. Their back is blackish, head broad and flat, and their Captain or Leader has a white white Crown or Comb on his Head.

13. Coluber, Colubra, Νέερος, The Adder. It is a hotter Serpent than a Snake, of a darker, blacker colour, of about a Cubit long. Pliny saith, that the Water in which they have been preserved alive, is good against the Poyson of Toads, put into a Crucible with Vine Branches and calcined, the Ashes are good against Wens and Kings Evil Sores. Their biting is very dangerous, causing Swelling, Paleness, and Sounding: The Cure is Venice Treacle, or Mithridate mixt with Wine, Aqua-vitæ, or juyce of Rue, with Scarification and Topicks.

11. Dipsas, Ammoatis, Situla, Melanurus, Causon, Κασιο, Dyphas. It is a burning fiery Serpent, in so much as that they which are bit by it, thirst most intolerably, and drink so much, till they burst: the other Signs are like those of the Biting of the Viper. The Cure is by Scarification, Cauteries and Topicks, applying Treacle, Tar with Oyl, Hens Rumps alive, and washing the part with Vinegar, taking inwardly Mithridate, or Bezoar Mineral. It is something less than a Viper (but kills sooner) of about a Cubit long: the Head and Tail are very little, small, and black; the other parts whitish, with black and yellow spots.

12. Draco, Δράκων, דראקון, Tannin, דרנן, Darcon, The Dragon. It hurts more by its Biting and Tail than by its Poyson: The Cure is like that of the biting of other Beasts which are not Poysonous. The Fat of a Dragon helps creeping Ulcers, and dim Eyes mixt with Oyl and Hony: it also helps the Head ach and Leprosie, with other Scabs, and drives away venomous Beasts.

13. Hæmorrhus, Affodius, Sabrine, Αἱμορροῖς, The Hæmorrhæ. Its biting causes a continual bleeding Sweat, and violent torturing pain till dead: the place wounded is black, from which flows a watry humour; the Sick has a pain in the Stomach, difficulty of breathing, weakness and Convulsions, after which follows Death. The Cure is by Scarification, burning and sharp Medicines: as in that of the Dyphas. It is about a Foot long, of a sandy colour, spotted all over with black, flaming Eyes, small Head, with the appearance of Horns, having Scales rough and sharp, making a noise as they go.

14. Lacerta, Λακέρτα, Λακέρτα, Letaah, Atalia, The Lizard. It is of a changeable Colour, and an Enemy to the Spider and Toad. 1. Their Flesh eaten is hurtful, causing Inflammation, Tumours, Head-ach, and Blindness: outwardly applied with Salt (chiefly to the Head) it draws out Darts, Thorns, and things sticking in the flesh: and it also cures the stinging of Scorpions, and wasteth Wens being applied: mixed (in Powder) with Lard, it cures Baldness, and Ruptures in Infants: so the Decoction. 2. The powder of the Lizard, if rub'd on the Teeth and Gums, it is said to make the Teeth to fall out without pain. 3. The Ashes mixt with Honey cures Blindness. The Green Lizard living in Meadows is best, and not Venomous; but those with us in England are. 4. Oleum Lacerta. It is made by infusion in Oyl Olive, as that of Scorpions. This was invented by Brasavolus, for the Cure of red Faces, and Discolouring of Scars. 5. The Gall is a Depilatory. 6. The Eggs kill speedily, except a sudden remedy be exhibited, made of Falcons dung and Wine. If they bite, they leave their Teeth behind them, which causeth continual aking, till they are taken out. Schroder saith, that if cut asunder, if both parts can get together, they will unite again; or if their Eyes or Tails be pluckt out, or oft, they will breed again.

Ashes

15. Lacerta aquatica, Savæ, Savæ ♂ Épède ♂, MAC Koach, The Neutè. They are venomous, and will difficultly die by blows, but Sale kills them presently: Their Eggs are about the bigness, of a Pease. If provoked, they shut the Mouth, and stand upon their hinder Legs, till their body be all white or pale, by which is shewn their evil nature. Schroder says, that the powder of them rub'd on, makes Teeth fall out without pain.

16. Pelias, Pelias: Its biting causes Putrefaction, but is not dangerous, being cured by drinking Prisan with Oyl, anoynting the place with balm of Peru.

17. Præster, Hensley, דור Saaph, Prester (that which Junius and Tremelius thinks to be the fiery Serpent which vexed the Israelites in the Wilderness.) It is a hot and fiery Beast, and goes panting with open Mouth by reason of its excessive heat: their Poyson is very malignant, causing swelling, inflammation, corruption, difficulty of breathing, loss of sight, falling off of the hair, and at last, suffocation of the natural life, as it were by fire. The cure is by juyce of Purslain and Castoreum, drunk with Opoponax and juyce of Rue in Canary.

18. Ptyas, Πύας, תפחנני Tziphgnoni, The most poysonous Asp, which kill by Spitting, Touch or Smell: they wound almost invisibly, and their Poyson pierces inwardly, their Prick being not much bigger than that made by the Sting of a Bee, without any swelling; but suddenly the Eyes grow dark and heavy, pain increases in all the body, yet not without some sense of pleasure; then follows Stupidity, Blindness, Deafness, Convulsion, Vomiting and Death. It is cured as that of the Asp. It is about a yard long, of an Ash Colour, flaming and greenish.

19. Regulus, Sibulus, Βασιλιον ♂, דור Peten, The Cockatrice. It is the King, and the most poysonous of all Serpents, infecting the Air round about, so that no other Creatures can live by it: It is reported, that he Kills both by touching and sight, having so malignant a Poyson, that it casts forth a burning fume, whereby the beams of their eyes corrupt the visible Spirit, causing Stupefaction and Death, they go half upright, and have a Comb like a Cock, being feared by all other Serpents, if seen or hard: but they they hate the Weasel.

20. Sagitta, facularis, Serpens Volans, Ἀχονπῆς, The Dart. Matthioli saith, their Poyson causeth present Death; it scarcely admitting of any Cure. Their Gall, (lying between the Back and the Liver) mixt with the Scythian Stone, makes a good Eye-Salve by report; but I think it is better let alone. They are about three or four foot long; and will leap, or shoot themselves at least ten yards length.

21. Salamandra, Σαλαμάνδρα, Sambras, the Salamander. It is a four-footed Creature, and a kind of Lizard, black and full of yellow Specks, with a great Head: It is a bold Creature, breeds like the Viper, delights in moist places and clear Springs. They are reported to live in the fire; but that is a story; for they no otherwise live there, but by quenching of it, by a cold moist humour which issues from them; when that is exhausted, if the fire continues, they (as all other Creatures) are subject to Destruction. It is venomous as also other Serpents, and their Poyson not inferiour, being deadly, having as many Venoms as Colours. If they once bite, they never let go; if pulled away, they leave their teeth behind them; therefore they must be removed by Medicine; the Cure is by decoction of Frogs drunk, and their Flesh applied; as also Cows Milk, Storax, Ammoniacum, Galbanum, Calamint, Angelica, &c. The powder of their Flesh is Seprick, and takes away Corns: The Ashes of them are good against Ulcerated Tumors of the Kings Evil.

22. Seps, Sepedon, Selsir, Ση-Ση, Σηπεδών, The Serpent Seps. It is very Venomous, causing the part to rot which they bite, for their hollow teeth yield a malignant Poyson by Compression. The Cure is as those of the Asp, Viper, Ammodite, and Horned Serpent; you may also wash the place with a Sponge wet in Vinegar or Oxymel. They have a broad Head, slender Tail, are of many colours, and are about a yard long.

24. Serpens, Οφις, ΥΑΝ, ΟΠΙ, Nachash, Ephang; The Serpent. It is a kind of Snake, a crafty, subtil, wise Creature: It lies hid all Winter under the Earth, or Roots of the Birch or Hazle Trees, and casts its Skin every Spring and Autumn. The Word Serpent comprehends all the sorts: but here is intended the Vulgar Serpent distinct from the Viper. They are best in the Spring when they have cast their Skins, and recruited their flesh with food. The Head and Gall is cast away, because they are the Immediate Receptacles of Venom, and the Tail because it is scarcely any thing but Bones. If any one is Wounded with the Tooth of a dead Serpent, he is Poysoned; if a Dog eat the Gall fresh, 'twill kill him; but if when it is dry, he is safe: the Entrails (if the Dung and Eggs are cast away) are also without danger. 1. The ashes of the whole Serpent (the Head and Gall excepted) are Sudorifick, and Alexipharmick, or perfect Enemy

my to all Poyson and Malignant Diseases, Plague, Small-pox, French Pox, Leprosie; for the two last, Cardanus holds them a great Secret, as also in Consumptions: Especially if the Flesh be eaten, the Broth of it drunk, and the Back and Joynts anoynted with the Grease. 2. The Fat or Grease is Anodyne, Emollient and Repercussive: it helps the Gout, cures red and sore Eyes, and softens or dissolves Struma's mixt with Bulls-gall: and anoynted, it helps Barrenness. 3. The Gall laid upon the Stringing of Serpents attracts the Venom to it self, so also the Head. 4. The Blood is more precious than Balin, for it gives a pleasing Colour to the Face, and takes away Spots of the Skin. 5. The Skin tied to the Belly or Thighs causes easie Delivery; in a Gargarism it cures the Tooth-ach: The Ashes of it mixt with Oyl of Roses and dropt into the Ears, helps the running Sores thereof: with Bulls-Gall they help blood-shorten Eyes, and the Itch; as also the falling off of the Hair. The Ashes of the Skin, given with Oyl of Roses, helps the bloody Flux and Tenasmus. 6. Bezoardicum Animale: Be a Serpent skind (the Head, Tail, Guts and Gall being cast away) wash and dry it, then powder it with the Back-bone. It has all the aforesaid Vertues, and a most famous Antidote against Poyson, French-Pox, Leprosie and Consumptions; Dose a ʒss ad ʒi: where note you may dry the flesh in B.M. with a gentle fire, till all the fat and moisture is consumed and then Powder it. 7. Bezoardicum Animale Compositum. Be of the aforesaid Powder ʒj. Roots of Valerian, Angelica, Virginian Snake Weed, Contrayerva, ana ʒss, make them into a powder and mix them: it has all the former Vertues: dose ʒss ad ʒj. besides which it is good against the Poyson of Spiders and Arsnick. 8. Tinctura Animalis. It is extralld from the dryed flesh with S: V. or Spirit of Rosemary; Quercetan does it with Spirit of Juniper. It resists all Putrefaction, and opens all Obstructions, is excellent against Fevers, given with a little Rosewater, Cinnamon water, and white Sugar: It restores in Consumptions. The Heart, Liver, Flesh and Bones, are a precious treasure, free from Venom; so that they need no Correction, and of so great strength, that they need not be exalted.

24. Vipera, "Εχιδνα, "Ιερεβου, Shephiphon, The Viper. It is a Serpent that brings forth alive, exceeding other Serpents in Venom; sleeping all Winter under the Earth or in Rocks. Schröder saith, he opened a great Serpent in Finland, which had living young within it, but I rather believe him to be mistaken, and that it might be an over-grown Viper, of a strange colour; for to our knowledge Serpents lay Eggs; and we opened two, which had more than a dozen Eggs a piece within them: so that it stands against Reason, that one and the same kind, should bring forth both ways. The young Females are the best, being taken in the Spring, after they have been a while out of their Dens. Vipers have all the same Vertues with Serpents aforesaid, save only Vipers Vipers are stronger; and they have also the same Preparations. In the Viper there is nothing venomous but the Head and Gall: The Flesh, Liver and Bones have no Poyson in them. 1. The Head of the Viper is used as an Amulet, to be hung about the Neck, to cure a Quinsie. 2. The Flesh is hot and dry, and purges the whole body by Sweat; and being eaten or drunk, it cures the French Pox, and the Leprosie. 3. The Broth of them performs the same things, eating half a Viper at once, and fasting five or six hours after it; so also they cure all old Ulcers and Fistula's, clear the eye-sight, help the Palsie, and strengthen the Nerves. 4. The Ashes of their Heads mixt with a thick Decoction of bitter Lupinus, and used as an Oymntment to the Temples, stops Rheums falling into the eyes, and helps their dimness, and is an excellent thing against St. Anthony's Fire. The Fat or Grease mixt with Honey, is an excellent thing to clear the sight. 5. The whole Viper in powder (the Head and Gall excepted) cures perfectly the Gout, Kings Evil, taken twice a day to ʒij. or more. 6. Oleum Viperarum. Black Vipers ℥iij Oyl of Jessamin ℥ij. boyl them in a close Glass, till the flesh falls from the Bones; or you may make an Oyl of them by Distillation. It cures the Gout, Palsie and Leprosie, cleanses the skin, and helps all the Defects thereof. 7. Viper Wine. It is made by drowning live Vipers in the Wine. It cures Leprosies and the French Pox. 8. Powder of Vipers Compound. It is made as that of Serpents, and has all the same Virtues. 9. Quintessence of Vipers.

It is made as we have taught in our Dor. Med. Lib. 2. Chap. 8. Sect. 2. and is very powerful against Leprosies, the French Pox and all Impurities of the Flesh and Blood. 11. Essentia Viperarum. B. Of the Livers and Hearts of Vipers, ana. dry and bruise them, and extract a Tincture in 7 days with S. V. rectified: to this of this Tincture add of the fixed Salt ʒss, mixt with the Flegm and Spirit of Vipers, drawn off by distillation: of the Volatile Salt ʒj. digest till they are united; so have you a most ennobled Essence of Vipers, powerful to all the aforesaid intentions. Dose ad ʒij. It is a most excellent Medicine, Dissolves all Excrements and Coagulations of Humors, Dissolving, Purifying and Cleansing like Soap; carrying out every ill by Urine, Sweat, or insensible Transpiration, curing all sorts of Gouts, the Stone in both Reins and Bladder, Leprosie, French Pox, Scurvy, Melancholy, all Obstructions and Putrefaction, loss of strength, decays of Nature and Consumptions, so that as it were, it even renovates a Man, by taking away what is contrary to Nature, and adding what is requisite. 12. Spirit, Oyl Volatile and fixed Salt of Vipers. B. Dried Vipers with the Liver and Hearts, cut and gently bruise them, put them into a Retort, from which distil gradatim into a large Receiver; so have you a flegm and Spirit, and then a Volatile salt, sticking to the neck of the Retort, and sides of the Receiver; and at the last a thick stinking Oyl, which separate. Purifie the volatile salt in a long glass, and sublime it by an Alembick and Sand, with a gentle gentle fire, lest any humidity should follow, as is usual if the fire be increased. This salt is wonderful piercing and volatile, and therefore ought to be kept close in a glass, with a glass stopper: from the Caput Mortuum you may make a fixed salt the common way. The Volatile Salt and Spirit are wonderful Medicines, they resist Putrefaction, open all obstructions, cure Quartans, and all sorts of Fevers, given an hour before the Fit, in a convenient Vehicle, to allay the sharpness, as in the Emulsion of Almonds with a little Rose and Cinamon-water and white Sugar. Dose of the Volatile Salt is a gr. vj. ad x or xii. Of the Fixed a ʒss ad ʒj or ʒss. The biting of the Viper is mortal, and kills within 3 days at farthest, if not speedily cured: the poyson is universal, as if the body was set on fire, with Convulsions, Weakness, cold Sweat, Vomiting, and then Death: at first the poyson may be sucked out, by applying the Anus of a Hen to the part after Scarification, or else a Plaster of Garlick, Onions, and Venice Treacle, drinking French Wine, Garlick Broth, and taking Mithredate, Bezoar, Mineral and Myrrh, &c.

C A P. VI. Of INSECTS.

1. A Pes, Soli sequa, Mellis Mater,
MELITA. The Bee. 1. The whole Bee in powder given inwardly provokes Urine, opens all stoppages of the Reins, and breaks the stone; they are good against Cancers, Schirrous Tumors, the Kings Evil, Drop sic, dimness of sight; for being taken a good while, they waste the Humour, and restore health. So their ashes, both made into an Oyntment with Oyl of Roses and Rats dung, cause hair to grow speedily in bald places. 2. Honey is hot and dry, Cleansing, Opening, Pectoral, Bechicik, Diuretick, Analeptick, and a resistet of Putrefaction. 3. Clarified Honey: it is clarified by the white of an Egg: thus, make the White into a Glare by beating, which mix with the Honey alone, but if the Honey be very foul with two or three times its quantity of water, then make them boyl all together that the filth may cleave to the White of an Egg, which separate by skimming it, and then streaming. But Kunrath saith, this way looses the Spirits: and therefore he orders the Honey with the Combs to be put into an Hippocras Bag, and to hang in a stove to drop out. It has the Vertues of the former, besides which it clears the Eyesight. 4. Spiritus Ardens or Tinctura Mellis. B. Honey ℞j. put it into a Glass or Stone Cucurbit with Rhenish Wine ℞ij. which place half way in a Sand Furnace, sitting to it a Glass head and receiver: give a good fire, and continue it, till all be drawn off, and there remains a very black thick Honey or Feces: the first Liquor that comes is the clear transparent and burning spirit of Honey with S.V. which is but little in quantity: the other is an Orange coloured Liquor, which contains the slegm of the Wine with the sulphurous Tincture of Honey. This Spirit and Tincture cure all Diseases of the Eyes, cause Hair to grow, extracts the Tincture of Coral, opens all inward Obstructions, expels Urine, and breaks the Stone. 5. Spirit and Oyl of Honey. Be. the former feces, Flint, Sand or Pebbles calcined, ana; put them into a Stone retort well luted, which fix in a reverberatory furnace; fit it to a capacious Receiver, to which give a gradual fire, which increase to the last degree, for some hours, till all is drawn off, so have you a spirit and stinking Oyl: both which cure baldness, and firs of the Mother. 6. Tinctura Mellis fatida. Upon the last feces put S.V. till it be 4 or 5 fingers above the matter, digest in a matras or double vessel in sand, so have you a fetid Tincture, as red as Claret. It has the former Vertues. 7. Aqua, Spiritus & Oleum Mellis Schroderi. Be. honey ℥j, Salt, Powder of Flints, or Sand zvi (to prevent burning) distil gradually in a Retort, so have you a white and yellow water, an oyl and spirit, which rectifie, or pour the waters upon fresh Honey and then rectifie. The white and yellow Waters cure the Pin and Web, Baldness, and serve to extract tincture of Stones and Coral; and inwardly open all Obstructions, provoke Urine, and break the Stone. The Oyl will burn like S.V. and is excellent if it be circulated some days therewith: for after Separation of S. V. the Oyl remains very pleasant, and cures Gun-shot wounds, corroding Ulcers and the Gout; and if mixt with Ol. Camphora, takes off all freckles and spots. 8. Aqua Mellis Oswaldi. Putrifie Honey with the Comb in Dung, which Dung change every day for three days; then distil, and you have a water first white, then yellow. The first beautifies the skin; the other clears the eyesight, and cures Baldness. 9. Oleum Mellis Compositum. Be. Honey ℥ij, Vitriol calcined ʒj. S. V. rectified ℥ss, Tartar ℥j, which put into a Retort and distil, first you have a slegm, then a spirit. It cures pains of the Gout by bathing, and taken inwardly opens Obstructions. 10. Tinctura Mellis Beguini. It is drawn from crude Honey (made into a paste with Sand) with S. V. so much as may cover it two fingers height, and digesting of it a day, decanting the tinctured Spirit, and pouring new so long on, till it will tinge no more. which Tinctures being put together, may be filtered and inspissated. This Tincture is good for food in Consumptions, for it wonderfully cures them, and nourishes. 11. Acetum Mellis. Be. Honey ℥j, water ℥viij, boyl them to half, hang Rochet-seed therein, set it in the Sun till it wax warm, and be sharp; then distil it. It has the Vertues of the former preparations, besides which Harman saith, it dissolves flints and other stones, without any preceeding calcination. 12. Quintessentia Mellis. Be. Honey in the Comb, and distil from it a Water in B. M. (after it has been digested a month in a Pellican (saith Horstius.) The remainder digest with a gentle heat in the same

B. M. for five days, then put water to it, and draw a Tincture, decant, and purifie it by digestion and settling: That Tincture distil in B. M. to dryness: Of the feces by a Retort draw an Oyl; and from the Caput Mortuum calcined, draw a Salt with water, which putrifie; then joyn all together, and distill them in Ashes, or with an Alembick, cobo-rating eight or ten times; so have you an high exalted volatile Quintessence of Honey. It is accounted one of the greatest preservers of Health, and restorers of the Body if decayed with Sicknes and Diseases; and is a Panacea in almost all Distempers. It may be given in Broth or Fragrant Wine in the Morning fasting to Gut. x. or xij.
13. Elixir Mellis. It is made by mixing the water with the salt, and evaporating, then adding the Oyl, and digesting till all be imbibed and becomes a coagulated matter. It has the former Vertues. 14. Hydromel.
It is made of Honey and water boyled together and fermented. It is an excellent Pectoral, and serves to quench thirst. 15. Wax, it is temperate, of thick parts, Digestive, Maturative, Anodyne, and Emplastick: taken inwardly it is excellent against Dysenteries. 16. Oyl of Wax: It is made by a glass Retort in Ashes or Sand, mixing therewith also Sand or Ashes, to make the Oyl ascend the better. Thibaut advises to take five parts of Clay or Brick powdered to one of Wax melted, and making them into little Balls, to put them into a glass retort well luted; to which lute a receiver, and giving fire by degrees, you have first flegm in white Vapours: then Oyl in the same form, which being condensed, is a red sinking Oyl, and when cold, congeals into Butter as yellow as Gold; this work will last about five hours. A pound of Wax will yield you 14 Ounces of Butter or Oyl, and 3ls of Flegm, you may rectifie it by a little glass retort in a sand furnace; till it becomes white and clear. It is a great Diuretick, and may be given a gut. iij. ad vj. It wonderfully penetrates, incides and resolves, is powerful against cold Swellings, the Sciatica, and clefs in the Fundament. 17. The Vulnerary Balsom. Macerate the Flowers of Hypericon, and roots of Comfrey in the former Oyl.

18. Magistery of Wax. Dissolve Wax in S.V. and then filter, so the Wax will remain in the Paper like Butter. It cures the Bloody Flux given to 3j. mixt with Sugar. 19. Propolis or Virgins Wax.
It has all the Vertues of the other Wax, besides which, it has a peculiar Vertue in Curing Wounds.

2. Araneus, Aranea, Ἀράχνη, Μυοχάρις, γαλάρη, The Spider. It is a poysonous Insect, which hurts by Stinging, being of divers sorts, as the Aferius, Ceruleus, Lycos, Myrmerion, Phalangium, & Tarantula. 1. The Spider being made into a Plaister and laid to the Wrists and Temples cures Agues, chiefly Quarrans. So also if they be put into a Nutshell, and hung about the Neck. 2. The least kind call'd Lycos, applyed to the Temples, Cures Tertiana.

3. They that are hurt by the Aferius

rius presently rage, are heavy and sleepy, and have a relaxation of the Nerves. The Ceruleus causeth a pain at heart, deep sleep, and vomiting: The Myrmerion causeth a swelling in the Wound by pain, and want of breath: The Phalangium affects the whole Body by heat, cold, horror, tumor, inflammation, trembling and a Diabetes: The Tarantula causeth singing, laughing, talking, sleeping, starting, vomiting, dancing, sweating, trembling, fear, frenzy and madness. 4. The Cure is done by bathing with decoction of stinking Trefoil and Oyl; fomenting the part with Sponges dipt in Vinegar; application of the Mullet, Lees of Wine, and juyce of Ivy: giving inwardly an Electuary made of Seeds of Tamarisk, Organy, Smallage, Bayberries, Agnes castus seed, Rue, Saffron, Vervain, Spider-wort, Houfleck and Castorium: against the Tarantula or Phalangia, some use Musick, given inwardly and applying outwardly Michridate ℥ij. mixt with round Birch-worth root ℥ij. Terræ Sigillatæ. ʒss. Juyce of Citrons ʒj. Flies that feed on the Helmet Flower, N^o. xxiij. 5. The Spiders Web helps Hæmorrhages, and other Fluxes of Blood, is binding and vulnerary; some use it outwardly against Agues and creeping Ulcers, others adventure to give it inwardly. 6. Oyl of Spiders, it is made by infusion, or boyling (the Spiders being bruised) in Oyl Olive. It is an Ingredient in the Antisebrifick Plaister.

3. Asellus, Millipedes, Multipedes, Tilus, Oy^o, Sows, or Hoglice

They breed in most places, under stones, &c. and being touched, gather themselves up round. 1. The whole Creature is thin and of volatile parts, digesting, cleansing, opening, and a great resolver of all Tartarous matter; They dissolve the Stone in both Reins and Bladder to a slime, and bring it away: They open Obstructions, cure the Jaundice, all Obstructions of the Urine, help the Cholick and Asthma, restore lost Appetite, and are most admirable things, being given 100 days together, or more for the curing of all sorts of Cancers and Schirrous Tumors in what part of the Body soever, the Kings Evil, old sordid and rebellious Ulcers, Convulsions, the Rickets in Children, and dimness of Sight, yea blindness it self. I have also seen a very good effect of them being used for many days in the Cure of the French-Pox, for they resolve, cleanse and purifie to a wonder. Outwardly the Powder of them is good against Diseases of the Eyes and Ears, and the Quinzy, being mixt with Honey and applied. You may give them whole from N^o. iii. ad xij. in powder a ʒj. ad ʒj. in Rhenish Wine or Perficary Water. Schroder saith, that he seldom gave above ʒj. because they dissolve too much: for them which cannot take them in Powder or whole, I order them to be bruised and strained into Rhenish Wine or Ale N^o. 203. to a quart, and so to be continually drunk for a time. Some only wash them in Wine, dry them well, then powder them, and imbibe them with Spi-ric of Vicriol, and give a gr. vj. ad x. twice a day. 2. An Oyl made of them by boyling or infusion (being bruised) in Oyl Olive; cures Deafness and pain in the Ears. 3. Applied alive, they help any swellings, and kill the Phagedena.

4. Auricularia, Forficula, Mordella, Vellicula, Fullo, Ogos d'axyn, the Ear-wig. 1. An Oyl made of them, by boyling in Oyl Olive, and applied to the Arteries of the Temples and Wrists, cures Convulsions, by causing a Fever. 2. Dried in B.M. and finely powdered, and mixt with Hares Piss, and so put into the Ears Evening and Morning, they cure Deafness.

5. Blata, Tinea, Σίλφον, The Moth. 1. An Oyl made of them by boyling or infusion in Oyl Olive, helps deafness and cures Warts and the Leprosie. 2. The Stinking sort with Tar, are good against rebellious Ulcers, Bitches, eating Sores, Scabs, Whitlows, drawing things out of the Flesh, which are fixed in it. They hurt Bees, Bee-hives, and Woollen Clothés, and may be gathered together by Moth Mullen. Some account them the Sufficates of Buprestis.

6. Bombyx, Bombax, Vermis Laniferus, Βομβοξ, The Silk-Worm. 1. The whole Worms dyed and powdred, and laid to the Crown of the Head, cure Megrim, Vertigoes and Convulsions. 2. Their Silk is Cordial, and revives the Heart: that dyed with Cochinile, or Kermes is more effectual, cures Wounds and stops bleeding. 3. Ashes of the silk, cleanseth Wounds, strengthens and cleanseth the Teeth, and prevents putrefaction. 4. Folliculi Sericeti vel Bombycia, The Cases, are temperate, and strengthen the Natural, Vital and Animal Spirits: but beware of such as are filthy with their dung, or in which the Silk Worm is dead. 5. The wild Silk-worm is a sort of green Eruca, and is as often changed as the true; which is first produced of an Egg, being a small Caterpillar, which daily encreaseth by eating Mulberry leaves, till it swell much and shine: put it into a Box it spins it self a silken-Garment, till it dies, then it revives and has Wings like a Butterfly: after three days Copulation the Male presently dies, and the Female having laid many Eggs, dies also.

7. Buprestis, Bulprestis, Βύπρεστις, The Burn Cow. It is of the nature of Cantharides, causing Heat, Erosion, and Exulceration: Ruellius saith, They cause Lust being drunk; and are good against the Leprosie, Ring-worm and Canker, mixt with Goats tallow; and by their Septick Power they provoke the Terms in a Pessary. Hippocrates gave them inwardly for the same purpose, and to expel the Mola, their Head, Wings and Legs being taken away, and the remainder mixt with Myrrh, Honey, Wine and Anniseeds. But Dioscorides saith, they cause wind and great pain in the Stomach and Belly, but the Remedy is the same as against Cantharides, those being a kind of them, but bigger, having a little Head, broad Mouth, round Eyes, long Belly, and golden Wings.

8. Cantharides, Musca Hispanica, Κανθαρίδες, Spanish Flies. 1. It is produced from a Worm like Eruca; they are hot and dry in 4^o, being Caustick, whereby they corrode, and draw Blisters; are Diuretick, and kill Worms; Inwardly they provoke Urine and the Courses, being given gr.iii. or iv. with such things as correct their Poyson: By bare application to the skin, they hurt the Bladder so much as to ulcerate it. Hippocrates casts away the head, feet, and wings; yet Galen gave the wings and feet, as an Antidote against Poyson: Outwardly they help white Pustuls in the Face, the Itch, Erysipelas, running Sores, being applied with Vinegar; and boyled with Oyl to the thickness of Honey, they help Cancers. 2. The Oyl drawn by the Spirit of Wine is excellent against the Stone, and to provoke the Terms. The Antidote is Milk of Women, Goats, or Cows, taken often, and in large quantity; Oyl, and Clysters made with fat Broth, Barly-water and Mead.

9. Cicada, Τέτις, The Grasshopper: It is a Creature having no Mouth, only a Pipe in the Breast by which it sucks in Dew, of which it lives. 1. The Powder of the dried Grasshopper given to gr.vj. with Pepper, helps the Cholick, and difficulty of Urine. 2. The Ashes given in Rhenish Wine, or mixt with Honey break and dissolve the Stone. The Ancients used to eat them.

10. Cicindula, Noctiluca, Nitedula, Noctuvigila, Δαμπυρίς, the Glow-worm. It has wings, and shines in the dark like fire, their light is under their wings, and they are generated of Dew. They are Anodyne, and the Powder of them made into Troches with Tragacanth and Oyl of Almonds is good against the Stone. Dose ʒij.

11. Cimex, Κβες, Ἀπίς, The Chinch, Wall-louse, Wood-louse, or Buggs. Those that haunt Beds are here meant: They are flat, red and stinking, and suck mans Blood greedily. Pliny saith, they are good against all Poysons, and bitings of Serpents. Dioscorides saith, seven of them taken inwardly before the Fit, cure Quarrens. Schroder saith, that he knew them given with success to force away the Birth and After-birth. Marcellus saith, that the Powder of them cures all Fevers: their scent cures Fits of the Mother.

12. Cochinila, Cochinile, The Lady Bird; the delicate little Fly with hard red wings, and black spots thereon, which children in England play with. It is a wonderful Cordial, Sudorifick, Alexipharmick, and Antifebrifick, curing all Fevers, how poysonous or malignant soever, and is therefore often given in the Plague, spotted Fevers, Small-Pox, and the like, with wonderful great success. The powder of its body is a deep purple, and emits its tincture into Water, Wine, and Spirit of Wine; being not inferior to Saffron. Dose a gr. v. ad xv. vel xx.

13. Cochlea, Limax, Κοχλία, The Snail. 1. The Flesh cools, thickens, consolidates, is peccoral, strengthens the Nerves, cures Coughs, Asthma's, spitting of Blood, and Consumptions: Outwardly they ripen Tumours, Apoplethums, posthumes, and Carbuncles, especially if mixt with Ox Gall, and so they heal Wounds of the Nerves, and Ulcers of the Legs, and Fistula's, cure Ruptures, and stop bleeding at Nose laid to the forehead. 2. The Shells in powder are Lithonriptick, and cure clefts or chops in the hands, Lips, or Fundament, 3. The Fat swimming on the top of the Broth when cold, cures sore Eyes; and laid to the Forehead with the white of an Egg, stops defluctions to them. 4. Their slime, which issues out, being prickt, has the same Vertues. 5. Aqua Cochlearum. It is distilled out of the flesh by B. M. in May or October, and is excellent against Consumptions, and a Cosmetick. 6. Liquor Cochlearum. It drops from them being cut in pieces and salted, and put in an Hippocras Bag. It is good to anoint with in the Gout, and takes away Corns and Warts. 7. The Ashes have the vertue of the former powder.

14. Crabo, Craber, Ἀνθήνυς, The Hornet. 1. Their Decoction or distilled water, if touched on the skin, makes the place to swell, as if there was the Dropsie, or the parts had medled with some great poyson, yet without pain, the remedy is Mitridate, so that of Wasps. 2. Their stinging is cured by Venice Treacle taken inwardly, and applying outwardly Cow-dung and fasting spittle; they breed out of the harder parts of Horse flesh, as Wasps out of the softer.

15. Culex, Zanzara, Κορυφ, Σαυφ, The Gnat. It arises out of putrefaction, and are useles in Physick. They are driven away by the fume of Wormwood, Fleabane or Sulphur.

16. Erucæ, Brucus, Tinea agrestis; Κόμωτις, Γάζαμ, The Caterpillar, or Canker-worm. They are destroyed by the fume of Brimstone. 1. Their Ashes put into the Nostrils stop bleeding. 2. Their Flesh, or powder of it, draws Blisters, and makes the skin bare, but is said to be good against the Epilepsie. Muffet saith, those of Cabbages applied, cause the Teeth to fall out: Hippocrates saith, they help the Quinsie. 3. Their Web being drunk, Jonston saith, stops the Flux of Womens Courses; they change like Silk-worms, and at length turn Butterflies.

87. Gryllus, Acheta, Τρύλλας, The Cricket. It is a winged Insect like to a Locust or Grasshopper, lives in Chimneys, and warm places, and sings almost continually. They are of the nature of Cantharides. 1. The Powder of them is said to provoke Urine, and strengthen the sight. 2. Their Juice has the same effect. 3. Their Ashes are excellent against Fluxes, and help the Stone and Disury. 4. The whole Fly hung about the neck as an Amulet, helps Quarrans.

1. Formica, Murmos, Μύρμιξ, The Pismire, or Ant. It is a small but a wise Creature, gathering its food in Summer in the full Moons, and resting in the new Moons: They are like a Commonwealth, and gather Corn, which they dry, and bite at both ends, that they may not grow: They wear away Stones by their assiduity and make beaten Roadways; ways; they help one another in drawing their burthens, dam out water, and bury their dead. The greater lead the way, and the lesser drag the Corn; and when dirty, they cleanse themselves before they enter into their habitations: They teach their young to labour, but expel the idle, and when they carry their grain, it is said to be a sign of foul weather. They cast up the earth over the mouths of the Caves (that the water may not enter in) wherein they have three Cells; in the one they live, in another they breed and bury, and in the third they keep their Corn. They generate in Winter, bring forth Eggs, which in Spring are Ants; when old, they grow winged, and then suddenly after die. 1. The Ants are hot and dry, excite Lust, and by their sharp scent, wonderfully refresh the Spirits: the greater and winged, with a little salt, cure the Psores, or Scab, and Leprosie. 2. Their Eggs help thicknes of hearing, and deafness; being rubb'd on the skin, make it smooth; and taken inwardly expel wind; their Eggs with Bats blood is a Depilatory, used three or four times a day. 4. The Acervus, or Ant-hill strengthens the Nerves, is Anodyne, and helps Gouts, Palsies, Convulsions, and suffocation of the Womb being applied. 5. The Oyl of winged Ants, by infusion for forty days, provokes Lust, and helps the Gout and Palsie. 6. Liquor Formicarum. Take them cleansed, put them into a narrow mouth'd Glass, stop it, set it in brown bread in an Oven, and take it out therewith, which filter and keep for use. Inwardly it causeth magnanimity, and cures the Stone; outwardly, it helps suffusions of the Eyes, cures the Itch, and dissipates Corns and Warts.

19. Hirudo, Sanguisuga, Βελλα, The Horse-leech. The great are best with a line on the back. They are used to draw blood with, but they ought first to be cleansed or purged with clean Water, and then applied to the part, it being first rubbed with Sal nitre, Blood, Milk, Clay, or Honey, then apply them: when you would remove them, cast upon their mouths, Salt, Ashes, Aloes, Vinegar, &c. and they will fall off, and then foment the part with a Sponge and warm water, or Vinegar, to draw out their poyson. Their Ashes are depilatory. Nine of the great Horse-leeches are said to be enough to kill a Horse.

20. Julus, Centum-peda, Τέταρ, The Gally-worm. 1. The Ashes of those in Cellars wonderfully provoke Urine. 2. Their Blood with the juyce of Hog-lice, take away white spots in the Eye; some of them are smooth, others hairy. They are a short kind of Scolopenders, exceeding in number of feet all other Insects.

21. Locusta, Ἀκρίαι, Μεγαλόπαιος, Dioscorides, ג'וֹבֵהַרְגוֹל, Chorgal, Gob, The Locust. It was formerly us'd as food in the Eastern Countries, and John Baptist fed upon them: It is an Insect which has a Head like a Horse, six Legs, and Wings, being of divers colours. Hung about the Neck, they cure Quartans. Their Eggs given to gr. xii. in Rhenish wine help the Dropcie: the same of the Fly helps stoppage of Urine in Women.

22. Lumbricus, Γῆς Ἐντερος Ἐλμυνδρ, The Earth worm. 1. It is a great Diuretick, Sudorifick, and Anodyne; it discusses, mollifies, increases Milk, opens Obstructions, and cures Wounds, principally of the Sinews and Ligaments; the Apoplexy, Convulsion, Palsie, and other Diseases of the Head and Nerves; are excellent in the Dropsie, Jaundice, and Gout, cure the Cholick and Rheumatisms, and kill Worms in Children. Outwardly they are good against Corns and Warts, and the Erysipelas.

2. Aqua Lumbricorum distilled in B. M. is excellent against the Dropsie. 3. The Ashes glew together broken Bones, and draw things out of the Flesh; and Dioscorides saith, that mixed with Goose-grease, they help Grievs of the Ears, and are good against the bitings of Serpents and Scorpions; put into a hollow Tooth they cure the Tooth-ach; drunk in Rhenish Wine, they break the Stone, and in about three days help the Gout, and also expel the After-birth. 4. Oyl by Coction in Oyl Olive is Anodyne, and helps pains of the Nerves and Joynts.

5. Powder of Earth-worms is made by drying them in an Oven. It is good to all the aforesaid Intentions, and may be given a ʒj ad ʒij. 6. Liquor Lumbricorum, it is made in an Oven as that of the Pismires (at Sect. 18. above) having the aforesaid Vertue; Dose a ʒij ad ʒss. 7. Oleum Lumbricorum distillatum, It is drawn from the aforesaid Oyl mixt with Raddish-water; given inwardly it violently provokes Urine and Sweat. 8. Lumbrici Intestinatorum, Maw or Gut-worms, given in powder kill Worms: They are killed also by Salt of Harts-horn, Sal Cranii humani, & Flos Sulphuris.

23. Musca, Μύια, זבוב, The Fly. The Vulgar is here intended: Their Juyce or Powder cures baldness, and makes hair grow; so also a distilled Water from them alone, or with Honey; the same Water is good against the Epilepsie; and dimness of sight: and Johnston saith, drop it into the Ears, it helps deafness, made into an Oynment with Butter (by digestion in Horse dung) Musci saith, they ease all manner of pains.

24. Papilio, Compilo, Avicula, Isodori, Λύχης, Πάπυ, The Butter fly, given inwardly in Powder they provoke Urine. They generate in May, June and July, and lay eggs. It is a long-lived Creature after the Head is off; I pull'd the Head off from one (in the middle of Summer) that lived above thirty days, and could fly all that time: This any that please may prove the truth of.

25. Pediculus, Pedunculus, Φτερίξ, Σιδεράξ, The Louse. They are eaten by Rusticks for the Jaundice and Consumption. Put alive into the Meatus they provoke Urine.

26. Pulex, Ψύλλα, The Flea: They have no Physical Vertues known, but are certainly troublesome Guests; they are generated by Dust, as also of putrified Sweat: the only Remedy to destroy them is the Pulp or Decoction of Coloquintida.

27. Recinus, Reduvius, Κεῖται, Κυνόαις, Κυνόμα, The Tike. It is a filthy Creature, or kind of Louse that troubles Oxen, Goats, Sheep, Dogs, &c. The Juice of those of Dogs, are a Depilatory, kill Ring-worms, the Erysipelas, and Itch. The Cure for them is the aforesaid Powder or Decoction of the Coloquintida.

28. Scarabeus, Κόρυμβος, The Beetle. 1. It is used against pains and Contractions of the Nerves, and as an Amulet it is used against Quartans. 2. An Oyl by infusion dropt into the Ears, eases their pain. 3. The Powder of the Ball-footed Beetle, is good against the falling out of the Eyes or Fundament: Decoct in Linseed Oyl till they are consumed, and laid to the Piles, cures them. Hartman advises to make the Powder by drying them in a close Glass in the Sun. 4. The Unctious Beetle which infects what it lies upon with a fat yellow Liquor, is found chiefly in Woods, and is of the nature of Cantharides, and almost of the same colour, having an extraordinary strong smell: they expel Urine to Blood: the powder of them cures the biting of a mad Dog, and the running Gout. Their Juice cures Wounds, and in Plasters, Buboes, and Pestilential Carbuncles, and you may make an Oyl of them by infusing them alive in Oyl Olive, to be used as the Oyl of Scorpions.

29. Scincus, The Sea Skink. It is a Water Insect, having yellow scales, lives upon sweet Herbs. It is Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, Analeptick, and excites Lust. Dose is ʒj, Matriola gives them in Wine. They are put into Antidotes, chiefly that of Mathioli and Venice Treacle.

30. Scolopendra, Porcus Lutosus, Multipeda, Σκολόπανδεγ, The Scorpion. Muffet saith, they differ from the Gally-worm, only as a Lobster from a Crevise: they are poysonous; and as Aldrovandus saith, their poyson causes putrefaction: the remedy for their biting is Salt and Vinegar applied by fomentation, or wild Rue, and Horse Mint, drinking the Ashes of the Sea Crab in Wine; boyled in Oyl they are a Depilatory.

31. Scorpio, Scorpius, Σκορπιός, The Scorpion. It is almost like a Cray-fish, having little Eyes, oval Form, eight Feet, and two Arms. 1. The Powder or Ashes of them given, break the Stone, the Stone in the Bladder, and open obstructions of the Urine. Dose to gr.vj or viij in Persicary Water or Rhenish Wine, being bruised, and laid to their own stinging, they cure it; the said Powder or Ashes breaks the Stone: specifically, opens, incises, makes thin, cleanses, and resists all Poyson within the Body (which corrodes not) as also the biting of Asps, or any venomous Beast; it is excellent against the Kings-Evil, Cancers, old Sores, Plague, and dimness of Sight, taken inwardly: It also kills worms, expels Wind, and helps the Jaundice. Outwardly applied with Rose Vinegar, they cure the Gout, help Inflammations, and take away Deformities of the Skin. 2. Oyl of Scorpions simple by infusion being drunk, gives ease in Pains of the Stone and Cholic. 3. Oyl of Scorpions Compound, made of Oyl of Almonds, Birthwort round, Gentian, Galingal, and Bark of Caper Roots has the Vertues of the former ; anoynted on the Reins and Privities gives ease ; cures fits of the Ague, and biting of poysonous Beasts, by anoynting the back and pulses therewith : dropt into the Ears, it cures deafness and noise.

4. Oleum Scorpii Arthriticum. B. Seeds of Hypericon ℥xij. infuse them a week in Sack ; to which add Venice Turpentine ℥vj. old Oyl ℥xij. Saffron ℥iiii. Flowers of Hypericon Mviii. Bury all in Sand in a close Vessel for forty days ; then strain it, and decant till the Oyl appears, which will be as red as blood : to every pint of this Oyl put fifty or sixty Scorpions, then digest in B. M. till they are perfectly fermented ; after which strain out the Oyl for use. This used both inwardly and outwardly, is good for all the aforesaid Intentions. Outwardly in the Gout, it is a most admirable thing, and is called the great Oyl against the Gout, described in the aforesaid manner by Pona. Dose a gut. vj. ad xx.

32. Stella marina, Sidus mari- num, Ἀσὶρ Σηόδρϙ, Sea-Padd. Hippocrates saith, the black drunk with juyce of Cabbage in fragrant Wine, helps the strangling of the Womb, and are good against all Poyson applyed, they are good against poysonous Wounds : and their fume is good against Pestilential Diseases.

33. Tabanus, Asilus, Musca Callionia, Μύα, The Ox Fly. The Worms of which they are generated, Pliny saith, are worn as an Amulet against Fevers.

34. Teredo, Τερνίδων, The Wood Worm. The Ashes mixt with an equal weight of Anniseeds, and a little Oyl, are good against all sorts of Ulcers and Cankers.

35. Vespa, σφῆγξ, σφῆνξ, The Wasp. The Powder or Ashes of them are good against Quartans, open Obstructions of the Reins and Bladder, and breaks the Stone : Some use them in all cases where Sows or Hogs-lice are used, and with the same success. Their Sting is worse than that of the Bees, and is cured by application of Cow-dung mixed with Barly-meal ; or Leaven mixt with Oyl and Vinegar.

SALMON's Comment.

IT would be but Allum Agere, to treat of all those things again in particulars: their singular Vertues you may find under their respective heads in the former Chapters. In what follows we shall deliver the Qualities of the Chief of them in general.

1. Fat or Grease softens, is Emollient, Healing, Anodyne; Cleansing, Digestive and Maturative. Sows Grease is weak, Calves stronger, Hens Grease yet exceeds; Goose Grease is accounted strongest: from them by distillation, you may have a piercing Oyl of great force. Note, where you find Adeps, or Auxungia alone, there is only intended white Hogs Lard not salted.

2. Sewers are hot and moist in a mean, emollient, discussive, and a little binding, so more strengthening than Grease, and so are more fit to be put into Plaisters and Oynements where Healing, Drying, binding and strengthening is required: you may draw a Chymical Oyl from them, as from Gum Rosins.

3. Marrows heat, rarifie, breed flesh in Ulcers, are emollient and good against hard Schirrus and Scrophulous Tumors. Dears Marrow is accounted best; that of the Goat is sharper and drier, and less emollient: from all Marrows, especially that of the Backbone and the Brains, you may draw Chymical excellent Waters, and Oyls of excellent use to comfort the Nerves, strengthen the head and brain; fortifie the Sense, and cure Apoplexies, Epilepsies, &c.

4. Blood. This the Hebrews call דם Dan, The Arabians دم Dem, from Redness, being made of Chyle, elaborated by the Veins and Liver for the Pro-generation of flesh. You may draw from it a Water or Spirit, an Oyl, a Volatile Salt, and a fixed Salt, as we declare in its proper place. All blood is healing, binding, anodyne, and absterive, stopping all Fluxes of Blood in any part, if applied: But it has particular Vertues according to the nature of the Creature from whence it is taken: The Blood of Birds, as that of a Pidgeon, Ravens, Kites, Vultures, is nitrous, cures, cleanses, breaks the Stone, and takes away Elemishes from the Sight.

5. Milk is refined blood, elaborated by the Duggs, for the Nourishment of the Fœtus. It is Temperate, Emollient, Anodyne, and allays Sharpness. All Milk wonderfully helps Swellings and Nodes in the Joynts. Asses Milk being drunk in a Morning fasting a pint a time, and walking after it, and so constantly used for a while, helps them that have the Stone, and preserves from it: Cows Milk is the fattest, then Sheeps and Goats, but the Sheeps is thick and sweet: Cows, Asses, and Mares Milk, loosens the Belly more than other Milk: but Mares Milk is most Purging, then the Asses, then the Sheeps and the Goats: Womens

Milk

Milk is most Temperate, then the Goats, Asses, Mares, Sheeps, and lastly the Cows. Of all liquid things which Man useth Milk is most nourishing, first Womans Milk, then Sheeps, then Goats, then Cows Milk. The sweetest Milk is that of a Woman, then of a Camel, then of an Ass. Asses Milk being thinnest, and less fat, is seldom coagulated in the Body, being taken fresh and hot. Salt and Honey being mingled with Milk, prevent coagulation, and causeth it to loosen the belly more, by abating or preventing the Cascos matter. And as Milk nourishes most, so is it most easie of Digestion, as being that appointed by God Almighty for the first nourishment of living Creatures. It is excellent good in Dysenteria's, Diarrhæ's, Asthma's, Consumptions, &c. for sore Eyes and Head-achs. It is not good in Fevers, because the unnatural heat does easily corrupt it.

6. Butter is coagulated Fat of Milk, Temperate, Emollient, and Anodyn, having the same strength and consistence with Grease. It is a good Pectoral, cleansing and healing Ulcers in the Lungs, helps Roughness, Hoarseness and Coughs.

7. Whey is cooling, loosning, cleansing, Drying, and Diuretick, and is therefore used in Cleansing and Purging Infusions, against the Scurvy, Scab, Itch, Leprosie, French Pox, &c. Dose ab ævi ad ʒij or ʒij. If it be clarified with Sage and Rosemary, it is yet more cleansing and purging: I gave it so clarified to a pocky Patient, to whom it gave more than thirty stools a day. If it be clarified with Parsley, it is called the Italian Posca.

8. Fleshy part, as the Heart, Liver, Spleen, Lungs, pays a regard to the like parts in Man: Outwardly they discuss and give ease: applied to the Head, they help Frenzies, Head-aches, Watchings, Vertigoes, Megrimms: applied to Plague-sores or Wounds made by poysonous Creatures, they draw and suck out the Poyson.

9. The Gall is determined by most Physical Writers to be the excrement of the Chyle, yellow, sharp and bitter, separated in the Liver, and sent to its proper Receptacle, from whence it is sent to the Guts to provoke going to stool. The Galls of all Creatures are hot and dry, cutting, Cleansing, Discussive, and Expulsive; and Specificks for Diseases of the Eyes and Ears, as white spots, Dimness, Suffusions, Ulcers, Deafness, Noise and Pain in the Ears, with running matter. Among Beasts the Bulls Gall is the strongest and best: of Birds that of the Partridge and Hen. And the Galls of Birds are accounted stronger than those of Beasts. You may make of them Waters, Extracts, and Tinctures; but the most famous is the Tincture or Fucus of Ox Gall.

10. Stones found in Animals.

The chief of them is Bezoar-stone, the Virtues of which see before. Those found in the Stomach and Gall of a Bull, in a Man's Bladder, Swallow-stones, and those found in the heads of Fishes have all the same general preparations with other stones; and their

Spec.

Specifick Vertue is against the Stone in Man's body.

11. Bones in general, dry, difficult, astringe, stop Fluxes, and are good in Fractures and Luxations of the bones and ligaments: The Skulls of all Beasts are Specificks against the Epilepsie and Apoplexy; but man's Skull is supposed to exceed. Mans bones burnt are admirable Arthriticks, and given in many Compositions against the Gout. All bones have the same preparations (and almost the same with those of horn) either by 1. Levigation. 2. Gelly. 3. Magistery. 4. Liquor or sharp Spirit. 5. Oyl. 6. Volatile Salt. 7. Quintessence, or 8. Essence.

12. Shells or Skins are of a saline tartarous nature, and Specificks against Gravel, Stone, and stoppage of Urine, as the Strangury, Dysury, Ischury, and all tartarous Diseases of the Lungs: outwardly they cleanse teeth, if burnt and heals chaps and cleft in the skin. They are prepared almost like Minerals, which are, 1. Either singular to themselves, or 2. by Calcination, whence comes 1. Ashes. 2. Salt (improperly called) 3. Magistery. 4. Oyl per deliquium. Rhasis saith, that Shoe-soles burnt are excellent against the Cholick.

13. Horns are cold and dry, Specificks against Poyson, Plague, Infection, Epilepsie, Apoplexy, Suffocation of the Womb, Convulsions, and other Fits. They are prepared by 1. Levigation. 2. Calcination. 3. Precipitation. 4. Gelly. 5. Distillation, whence comes Spirit Oyl, Volatile Salt. 6. Extraction. 7. Infusion and Decoction (for they will communicate their Vertues that way.) Horns are three ways calcined, viz. by burning, Vaporation and Corrosion. 1. By burning till they turn white, then black, which is best done in a Potters Furnace. 2. By Vaporation, where the horns are put into the head of the Still (almost filled with Water) that the Vapors of which (by force of fire) may pierce them, and make them white and brittle, which will be three days a doing, and is called Philosophick Calcination. 3. By Corrosion, putting thereon sharp or acid Liquors, as Acetum, Spiritus Nitri, Aqua fortis, Vitriol, (the Horns being grossly rasped) that they may be dissolved, which then precipitates into a Calx by the affusion of Oyl of Tartar.

14. Hoofs have the same Vertues with Horns, and the same number of Preparations, being prepared after the same way. They eminently Communicate their Vertues in Liquors by infusion; for the Scrapings of a Man's Nails into Beer or Wine, being giving immediately, makes the Receiver drunk, &c.

15. Rennets are concentered, coagulated or curdled milk in the Stomach of a four-footed Animal that Sucks: It is to be taken out whilst they take nothing but Milk. Galen saith, it is drying and digesting; being of a sharp and Saline property, and therefore has both power to Coagulate and Dissolve, and by reason of its Salt, is of a Loosening nature.

16. Dung of Birds (because they are always very hot by nature) is of a nitrous quality, by which it wonderfully Dissolves, Opens, Atte-

Attenuates, Discusses, and eases pain. It consists of a Volatile stinking Spirit, a fixed Salt, a terrene part, and a watery part : out of which by distillation you may draw a Water and Oyl ; and by calcination a Salt. The chief Distill'd Water of this kind is taken from Cow-dung, and called All-flower water.

17. Urine is accounted the Serum of the Blood, consisting of Salt, Flegm, and a viscous Earth. It is a thing of great force, being hot and dry, cleansing, Discussive, Diuretick, Sudorifick and Anodyne, out of which you may prepare a Spirit, Volatile Salt, and fixt Salt, as we have taught in Chap. 1. of this Book.

CAP. I. Aurum, χρυσός, Gold, or ☉ Sol.

SALMON's Comment.

1. TO cleanse the Superficies of Gold.

It is done by washing it with water and salt, or with a small Aqua fortis.

2. To purge it from imperfect Metals.

This is done, 1. By dissolving of it in Aqua Regia, which only seizes upon the Gold, letting all the other Metals alone, and then decanting of that solution, and precipitating of it; which melted will be pure Gold. 2. By melting of it with Antimony in a Crucible in a Furnace, having a circular fire, and blowing with Bellows, till the Antimony be blown off, and nothing but fine Gold remains. 3. By melting of it with Lead, and continuing of it in the fire till the imperfect Metals turn to fume, or come off like drops. 4. By Cementation, Thus: melt Gold in a Cementing Pot, layer upon layer, with Vulgar or Royal Cement; letting it stand some hours, to melt by degrees, till the base Metals be burnt away. The Vulgar Cement is thus made. \mathcal{R} Powder of Bricks \mathfrak{zj} , prepared Salt \mathfrak{zss} , Sal nitre, Verdigrease ana \mathfrak{zj} . The Royal Cement thus. \mathcal{R} Powder of Bricks \mathfrak{zij} , Sal Armoniack, Sal Gem, Common Salt, ana \mathfrak{zj} , moisten with Wine. Or thus: \mathcal{R} Plumous Allom, Salt calcined, ana \mathfrak{zj} , crude Allom, Sal Niter, Vitriol, ana \mathfrak{zss} , make all into a paste with distilled Vinegar, which mix with the filings of Gold: Then make a Layer of Salt calcined, and powder of Bricks, upon which put the Gold mixt with the aforesaid Cement; over which put a Layer of the former Cement, make a gentle fire for three hours; then increase it, that the Crucible may be red hot for 4 hours.

3. To calcine Gold by Immersion.

Dissolve it in Aqua Regia, or Oleum Antimonii, or Bezoardick-Spirit of Sal nitre, or Oyl of Common Salt, Liquor or Balsam of the same, Oyl of Lead, Alcalized Spirit of distilled Vinegar, Spirit of Sal Gem, or Sal Armoniack, Volatile Spirit of Vitriol, Tartar, Blood, Urine, Honey, Antimony, Copper, Iron, Lead, &c. and then precipitating with Sal Armoniack dissolved in Spirit of Urine, or the affusion of Mercury, or Salt of Tartar, or Evaporation of the Menstruum, &c.

4. To calcine Gold by Amalgamation.

\mathcal{R} Quicksilver \mathfrak{zvj} . Plates of Gold \mathfrak{zj} . make an Amalgama at the fire, till Smoak arises, which cast into water to make the mixture equal: then Levigate it with double quantity of Sulphur, and calcine at a gentle fire, continually stirring of it till the \mathfrak{Q} and Sulphur exhale without melting or Coagulation, and the Calx of Gold be yellow:

out of this Calx you may extract an excellent Tincture. But Hartman advises, that before you burn with Sulphur; that you so often amalgamate the Mercury and Gold, and abstract by a Retort, till they will no longer mingle.

5. To Calcine Gold by Cementation.

℞ Filings of Gold, and lay them stratum super stratum with Sulphur, or common Salt, or both in a Crucible, in a gentle reverberating fire, that the Gold may not melt. Or, ℞. filings of Gold 3j. burnt Harts-horn 3j. beat them together; then put them into a reverberatory (or Porters Furnace) till they become of a flesh Colour. This with Harts-horn is a good Sudorifick, and as Finkius says, very strong: you may give 4 or 5 grains.

6. To Calcine Gold by Reverberation.

Put filings of Gold alone into a Crucible in a Reverberatory, and burn them (without melting) till they come to a Calx of a Purple colour, thin and light: or you may mix with the filings flowers of Sulphur, and then reverberate, till the Calx become as aforesaid. But often dissolutions in Aqua Regia, or Amalgamation does the Work as well.

7. To Volatilize Gold.

Dissolve Leaf Gold, or filings of Gold in the Bezoardick Spirit of Common Salt, rectified Oyl of Salt, Aqua Regia, or Oyl of Antimony, by a gentle heat (lest the Spirits should ascend too fast) abstract the menstruum, and add fresh, repeat it four or five times, till it is oily: then distil this solution in a glass Retort with a strong Fire, to force away the Spirits, cohobate and repeat this work till the Gold be blood red: Lastly having freed the Solution from all Corrosive Spirits, Cohobate with Spirit of Wine, Wormwood, or any other Vegetable Spirit, and distil by an Alembick; let this Cohobation and Distillation be often repeated: and the Gold will come over in a liquid form, and have all the Vertues in the most exquisite Aurum Potabile.

8. Aurum fulminans, Thundering Gold.

Dissolve filings of ☉ in A.R. and precipitate by the affusion of Oleum Tartari per deliquium, so will it look white like Lime: sweeten it by washing with water, and dry the Calx gently in an Oven, or let it dry of it self.

This causes sweat being given in gr. iij. or iiij. Take heed lest it do hurt by taking fire (which it will easily do) breaking what is under it, with danger to the standers by. But you may take away the thundring Force, by boyling of it 24 hours in Spirit of Vinegar, or by levigating of it, (a little at a time) with Spirit of Sulphur, Vitriol, or Salt, added by drops. The Aqua Regia for this work is made by dissolving of Sal Armoniack 3vj. in Aqua fortis 16j.

2. Aurum Diaphoreticum, Sweating Gold.

℞ of the former Calx (imbibed in S. V. and dried) 3j. Saffron, Bezoar Animal and Mineral, Cœchenele, ana 3j. Musk, Ambergrease, ana, gr. vj. mix them.

It is an admirable Cordial given in Sack, is Sudorifick, Alexi-pharmick, Analeptick, Antifebrifick, removing Diseases proceeding from Obstructions: but it is ill for Hysterick Persons.

10. Aurum Potabile, Potable Gold.

℞ Calx of Gold made by A.R. and Reverberation to the highest brownness and porosity; add Volatile Salt of Urine, or Spiritus Telluris, which digest forty days in a gentle heat, in a Vessel close luted, till the Menstruum look red like Blood; then decant, add fresh Menstruum, and repeat this work, till they are no more tinged, put the solutions together, and digest them a month: Then in B. M. with a gentle heat separate the Menstruum (which keep for the same use again) and there will remain a red Tincture like Oyl, which is Sol made potable.

This Aurum Potabile may also be made by Solution of the Calx aforesaid. 1. In Spirit of Wine sharpened with Flowers of Common Salt, or Sal Gem, or sweet Crystals of Salt, or with Sp. Salis Armoniaci, or Sp. Salis petrae. 2. In rectified Oyl of Antimony, digested, as aforesaid; which if twice repeated, the Gold will be so elevated as to be dissolved in Spirit of Wine. 3. In yellow Oyl of Lead. 4. In exalted Oyl of Common Salt, or Sulphur abstracting, and often cohobating till the Gold be dissolved, to which adding rectified S.V. four Inches above the Oyl (not separated) and digesting two months, then abstracting the S.V. in an Alembick, and so often repeating till the Gold be elevated, you will have (abstracting gently the S.V.) a red Liquor which is Potable Gold, which you may digest in S.V. seven or eight days; and reiterate the same work 8 or 10 times.

This Aurum Potabile will mix with Sack or Spirit of Wine, of which mixture you may give ℞j. at a time for several days: or you may take from 4 to 8 drops of the Medicine in any other Vehicle. It is accounted an Universal Remedy against all Diseases. It is a Sudorifick and Counter-poyson; restores in Consumptions; cures the Plague, all sorts of Fevers, Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Palsies, Megrim, Leprosie, Scabs, Itch, Ulcers, Fistula's, and old virulent Sores which are hard to heal, reviving such as are almost dead. It is in vain to enumerate in particular what it will do, gut. vj. or viij. given in Canary, will revive such as are senseless and stupid. See our Synopsis Medicinae, Lib. 3. Cap. 63.

11. Aurum Potabile D. Anthonii, Dr. Anthony's Aurum Potabile.

Take Gold twice purified with Antimony, which Calcine. 1. With Quick-silver and Sulphur. 2ly, With common Sea-salt melted. 3ly, With Salt of Tartar; then extract it with Sulphur of Lead.

It has the virtues of the former, give gr. vij. or viij. of it. This is the true London Aurum Potabile of Dr. Anthony, so much renowned and talk'd of.

12. Aurum Potabile Clossii, Potable Gold of Clossius.

℞ Gold ℥j. Quick silver ℥vj. make an amalgama, which beat with as much common Salt melted; Evaporate the ℥ with a gentle fire; wash

Wash away the Salt with warm water: beat the remaining Calx with common Cinnaber ziii. with Cement 3 or 4 hours in a Crucible covered with an hole at the top, till all the Cinnaber is vanish'd: repeat this, seven times with fresh Cinnaber till the Gold be like a red sponge, which sublime with eight times as much Sal Armoniack, till it be of the colour of Sandarake, which sweeten by washing; then take the Spirit of Wine twelve parts, Spirit of Salt of Tartar one part, mix them and distil them together; into which put either the aforesaid spongy Calx, or Calx sublimed, and digest till it is dissolved. If you abstract the S.V. you will have a yellow powder.

The Vertues hereof are the same with the former, being almost innumerable.

13. Aurum Potabile Quercetani, Potable Gold of Quercetan.

Be a light spongy Calx of Gold, from which with spirit of Vinegar draw a Tincture by digestion in B. M. which exalt by Circulation with S.V.

This is also called Aurum Vita, and is, as Quercetan says, of incredible Vertues for almost innumerable Diseases.

14. Aurum Potabile Billichii, Billichius his Potable Gold.

Be Calx of Gold calcined with Aqua Regia, precipitated and reverberated with flowers of Sulphur, till it becomes red: digest this Calx in S.V. coagulate and cohobate again, which repeat at least twenty times, the S.V. being abstracted, dissolve the Coagulum in Spirit or Oyl of Salt, which digest for a week, then abstract.

It has the Vertues of the former, and may be given in the same Dose.

15. Tinctura Auri, Tincture of Gold.

Be Aurum Fulminans well sweetened one part, Volatile Spirit of Vitriol four parts; digest in a warm Bath for 40 days or more: decant the red tinged Spirit, and evaporate to driness: put to it spirit of Canary Wine with white Tartar, and in a gentle heat extract to a Rubine, which distil and bring to a consistency like powder; wash off the S.V. with distilled water, and you may dissolve it in any convenient Vehiculum: but note, if you have not the aforesaid Spirit of Vitriol, you may use this, Be Salt ss. Sal nitre zvj. distil a Spirit, which mix with equal parts of Spirit of Wine, and draw off the mixture from a great Alembick.

This has the Vertues of the Aurum Potabile, and is strongly Sudorifick.

16. Tinctura Auri Basiliana, Basil Valentin's Tincture of Gold.

Be of the Calx of the most fine Gold, made by dissolution in Basils Aqua Regia; which volatilize with spirit of Salt acuated with Spirit of Sal Armoniack: precipitate with Oyl of Tartar, or by a gentle abstraction, reverberate with Flowers of Tartar: then with rectified S.V. and spirit of Salt, extract the Sulphur of Gold, which digest, and abstract gently the spirits, then dissolve it again in the aforesaid A.R. and volatilize with spirit of Wine.

But Basil sometimes joyns the said Extract of Sulphur, with the red Corrosive Spirit of Vitriol, by digesting with S.V. dulcified, so digests and dissolves, and then cohobates till nothing remains in the Still. This is made Aurum Potabile, or a Golden Liquor of great force, having all the Vertues of the former Aurum Potabile and Tinctures. There is a Solar or Golden Laudanum of Bayerus, the way of making of which you may see in our Dor. Med. lib. 2. cap. 8. Sect. 8.

17. Flores Auri, Flowers of Gold. To sublime Gold, you must have a silver or copper Instrument gilded, that will shut like a Box, and be opened above, having a Pipe on the side of it, by which you may cast by degrees, either Aurum fulminans, or the red spongy Calx, made by Sect. 12. aforegoing, well mixt with eight parts of Sal Armoniack; then presently stopping the Pipe, with a gentle heat sublime, so will the flowers of Gold be elevated, and cleave to the upper part of the Box; which you may free from Sal Armoniack by washing.

These Flowers have all the Vertues of Aurum Potabile; you may give them from gr.v. to x. From these Flowers you may extract an excellent Tincture, ennobled with all the Vertues of Gold, only with Spirit of Manna; or otherwise with the Spirit of Salt of Tartar one part, mixt with Spirit of Wine twelve parts, and distilled together. This Tincture is a very great Sudorifick, and causeth a filthy fetid sweat, which carries away with it the Seeds and Roots of all malignant and poysonous Diseases.

18. Sal Auri, Salt of Gold.

By Fine Gold 3j. purified \mathfrak{z} 3vj. make an Amalgama, and abstract the \mathfrak{z} ; repeating the same till the Gold will take no more Mercury; or R. Calx of \odot made by A.R. and reverberated a month; to either of these add Sal Armoniack or Spirit of common Salt acuated, digest with a soft fire, decant, and abstract the Menstruum to dryness, and there remains Kessler's Salt of Gold. Or thus. By Calx of Gold, Sea-Salt, Sal Nitre, Allom; ana \mathfrak{z} ss. mix them, and put them into a glass stopt with wax, digest them in a Sand Furnace, and the Gold will be dissolved, on which put hot water, and drop in a little Oyl of Tartar, and it will precipitate into a purple powder, which sweeten; then add rectified S. V. digest six months in a close Vessel, so will the S. V. draw into it self the Salt of Gold, which decant; abstract the Spirit by burning or otherwise, so have you a white salt remaining.

It is a noble Diaphoretick, and may be given from gr.ii. to v. in any convenient Vehicle.

19. Sal Auri Basilij, Basil's Salt of Gold.

By The white Calx remaining after the Extraction of Basil's Tinctura Auri, and gently reverberate for half an hour, or something more; put to it corrosive Aqua Mellis, which will extract the Salt in 10 or 15 days digestion; decant the Aqua Mellis, and abstract it in B. M. so have you remaining the Salt of Gold, which sweeten by often washing of it in distilled rain water, and abstracting, and then abstracting from it S. V.

It has the Vertues of the former, & may be given in the same dose.

20. To make the Mercury of Gold, according to Paracelsus.

Calcine the Gold by the fumigation of Mercury; amalgamate that Calx with new \mathfrak{z} , digest and abstract this \mathfrak{z} ; then amalgamate with the same Calx, the said abstracted \mathfrak{z} , digest, and abstract, and repeat the the work so often, till the Calx will melt over a Candle like Wax, which Calx will then by digestion in a gentle heat turn into Mercury. Paracelsus prescribes this way as general, to turn all Metals into Quick-silver.

21. Aurum Potabile Grulingii, Grulingius his Potable Gold.

By Calx of Gold made by reverberation to the highest tenuity, upon which put a Menstruum made of equal parts of volatile Salt of Urine, and rectified S. V. digested twelve days in B. M. with an equal and gentle heat: being mixed in a glass Vessel, seal up the Calx and Menstruum Hermetically, and digest them forty days, till the Tincture rise red as blood, which work often repeat: Put these several tinctures together, and digest eighteen days; then, by distillation with a gentle heat separate the spirit, and the Gold will remain in the bottom, in the form of a moist red Oyl. This solution distil by a glass retort in sand so often till the Tincture of Gold come over of a most blood red colour, and there remain in the bottom nothing but a dry, spongy, black Earth.

This is used as an universal Remedy, for it restores and preserves the radical humidity both in quantity and quality entire, renews the natural heat, recreates and revives the Spirits, and frees the powers of the whole Body from the malignity of Diseases, keeping it safe from Corruption during the term of the natural Life. It is excellent in Apoplexies, Epidemical Diseases, Pestilential Fevers, palpitation of the Heart, and the Green Sickness in Virgins; it provokes the Terms, causes speedy delivery in Childbirth, yet prevents miscarriage; and takes away the Malignity of Cancers, causing their speedy healing.

22. Aurum Vitrificatum transparentis, seu Rubinus Solis, The transparent Glafs of Gold.

By most fine Gold 3ls. Hungarian Antimony as much, melt them together, then pour them out, but so, that the Regulus remain not. Reduce all into a subtil powder, and calcine them (as is usual in the vitrification of Antimony) till no more fumes arise; then stir them with a rod or spatula till they are melted, for the space of a quarter of an hour, till the greatest part of the Sol is turned into a red Glafs, which put out into a brass Vessel: so have you the Rubine of Sol.

This Medicine has a wonderful force, for in gr. j. vel ij. evacuates and cleanses the Stomach; is good against all cold Diseases, and the Dropick; expels and eradicates the French Pox, purifies the Blood, mundifies Ulcers, is powerful in the Gout, and all pestilential, malignant, and epidemick Diseases, and a Specifick in the Kings Evil.

23. Tinctura Rubini Solis, Tincture of the Glafs of Gold.

Reduce the Rubine into impalpable Powder, upon which put S. V. rectified four fingers, digest them with a gentle heat in a close Vessel, and you shall have a famous red Tincture.

The Dose is two Spoonfuls. It neither purges nor vomits, nor causes any loathing, but potently moves sweat, being a most excellent Medicine against the most deplorable Diseases.

24. Quinta Essentia Auri Fabri, Faber his Tincture of Gold.

T 2 By Calx

By Calx of fine Gold purified by Antimony, dissolve it in strong Aqua Regis, and precipitate with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, which precipitate, sweeten by often washing it in Fountain Water, which dry by a gentle heat in the Sun, (not by the fire lest it kindle) this powder dissolve in rectified Oyl of Vitriol by digesting it with a gentle heat for fifteen days in Balneo, separate this rubicund tinged Spirit by inclination, and keep it in a Glass with a glass stopper (ad usum fere infinitos, saith Horstius.)

This is one of the chiefest of Restoratives, and indeed exceeds (omnia alia arcana, saith the same Horstius) all other Secrets in strengthening the Heart, Brain, Liver, and all other parts of the Humane Body, which serve for the Conservation of Life; for it has a moisture and substance agreeable with ours, and strongly resists all things, which may any ways incommode our Essence: It keeps back old Age, renews and restores the radical moisture, and, as some think, gives long life. It may be given in all Diseases; because its intencion is the fortifying and defending the life against the assaults of all its enemies; It may be taken at any time in Cinnamon-water, or Broth, or Milk, upon any occasion, or in any Disease: Cujus virtutes infinite sunt, nec libro integro comprehendere possunt, beatissimus est Medicus qui eo uti potest ut honoris Culmen acquirat, & oculis omnium, & linguas laudes & encomia predicantes in se convertat, Vitriolum illud ex quo Spiritus Aurum & Metalla dissolvens extrahitur ex Mercurio, per Mercurium, & deinde mixtis modis putrefactione solvitur, & distillatur, & summo pere purificatur, & eo utimur ut Aurum solvamus.

25. Oleum Solis vel Auri, Oyl of Gold.

By Calx of Gold made by Reverberation with Royal Cement, cleanse it, and digest it 24 hours in rectified Aqua Vita, so shall you have Oyl of Gold Thus Paracelsus. Or thus, & of the sharpest Juyc of Lemons filtered 3v, leaves of fine Gold N^o 60. digest them in a glass Vessel with a gentle heat for four or five days, then filter and abstract the juyc by distillation, and the Gold will remain in the bottom in the form of Butter. Thus Gesner.

This mixt with Wine will give it the colour of Gold: It wonderfully resists putrefaction; it also purges, and moves sweat; it cures the Leprosie, and such as have been spoiled by Mercurial Unguents. There are several other ways of making Aurum Potabile, and Oyl of Gold, which you may see in Agricola, Libavius Syntag. arcana Chym. lib. 2. Apocal. Hermer. part. 1. cap. 19. in Tentzelius, Quercetan. Penotus, Hartman, Hieronymus Rubens, Andernocus, Wackerus, lib. 2. Sect. 18. and others.

26. Aurum Potabile Mynsichti, Potable Gold of Mynsicht.

By the most tenuous Calx of fine Gold, and dissolve it in the best rectified Oyl of Salt, after within a Glass Alembick abstract the Menstruum, and in the bottom you have a fine yellow Calx of Gold, take this yellow Calx and mix it with as much Oyl of Cinnamon, till it wax black, and have an effervescence, then put to it the most high rectified S.V. impregnated with Tartar, to overtop it the breadth of four fingers, which digest till the spirit is highly tinged; decant it, and put new spirit till it will be no more tinged. To the remaining faces put new Oyl of Salt, and proceed altogether as before, repeating and continuing till the whole body of the Gold is dissolved, and made a potable Liquor: Lastly, this potable Liquor circulate either by it self or S.V. rectified, till it becomes very sweet. Et hæc est prima solutio, facta absque corrosivis quæ in æternum à nemine potest in aurum naturale reduci.

This has all the Vertues of Grulingius his Potable Gold, and of Fabers Quintessence, at Sect. 21. and 24. Dose a gut. iii. ad vij.

C A P. II.

Argentum, Ἀργυρῶν, Silver, or Luna.

1. To cleanse the Superficies of Silver.

This is done by rubbing it over with a weak AF. and then immediately washing of it in fair water, and then boyling of it in water and white Tartar, with Salt, or Salt-petre.

2. To purge it from other more imperfect Metals.

This is done, 1. By dissolving of it in Aqua fortis, which only seizes upon the Silver, letting all the other Metals alone. 2. By melting of it with Lead, continuing the fire, till the imperfect Metals which the Lead turn to fume, or come off like froth or dross, which is called Litharge of Silver. 3. By casting Nitre on the melted Silver by degrees, so long till the Nitre has consumed all the Impurities.

3. To calcine Silver by Immersion.

Dissolve Plates or Filings of Silver in AF. or other corrosive liquor, then inspissate or precipitate with Salt water, or a piece of brats cast in: Silver thus dissolv'd, if set to Crystallize, will shoot into Vitriol or Crystal.

4. To Calcine Silver by Amalgamation.

Be Fine silver, Quick-silver, ana, make an Amalgama, common Salt of Vitriol a fourth part, evaporate the Mercury at the fire and wash it.

5. To calcine Silver by Cementation.

Sennertus advises to take Silver in thin Plates one part, sublimate Mercury two parts, lay them stratum super stratum, exhale the Mercury at a fire, and the Silver will remain like Rosin: Or, Be filings of Silver 3j. flowers of Sulphur 3ij. Salt 3ls. mix and sublime the mineral flowers, which add to the remaining matter, and repeat the operation 7 or 8 times, at last cast away the sublimated flowers, and wash the Calx. Or thus, \mathcal{R} Spirit of Salt, and white Tartar so much as to make a paste, with which mix the filings of Silver. Or thus, \mathcal{R} filings of Silver 3j. Sal Gem 3ij. or common Salt 3iiij : mix them and cement for 7 or 8 hours.

6. To calcine Silver by reverberation.

\mathcal{R} Calx of Silver made by A.F. 3j. Salt 3ij. Sal Armoniack 3ij. mix and reverberate ten days, then wash it.

7. To Volatilize Silver.

\mathcal{R} Reverberated Calx of Silver, on which put A.F. or Spirit of Nitre, distil in a glass Retort with a strong fire to force away the Spirits, cohobate, and repeat ten times; then free the Calx from the Menstruum; cohobate with S.V. rectified, and distil by an Alembick, which so often repeat, till the Silver come over of a Sky colour in a liquid form, which has all the Vertues of Tinctura Lunæ or Argentum Potabile; you may acuate the S.V. with Volatile Salt of Urine.

8. Argentum Potabile, Potable Silver.

\mathcal{R} Reverberated calx of Silver, extract it with S.V. acuated with a little Sal Armoniack, and let it be done by many cohobations. Or, take a calx of Silver calcin'd by a corrosive, extract it by rectified S.V. cohobate. It is good against all Diseases of the Head, chiefly Epilepsies, and may be given in any convenient Vehicle, a gr. iij. ad vii.

9. Argentum Potabile Beguini, Potable Silver of Beguinus.

\mathcal{R} Silver calcin'd (by Spirit of Sal Nitre with many cohobations, or by Mercury) extract it with rectified S.V. acuated with Volatile salt of Urine, filter, and coagulate.

It has the Vertues of the former, and may be given from gr. iv. to vii.

10. Argentum Potabile Kessleri, Kesslers Potable Silver.

\mathcal{R} Calx of Silver reverberated with flowers of Sulphur, in which put S. V. with tartar, abstract it by seven cohobations, or circulate it a Month in B.M. so have you a potable silver of a sky colour. Or thus, \mathcal{R} silver calcin'd as before, and extract the blew Tincture with S. V. acuated with a little Oyl of Vitriol.

It is an absolute Cure for the falling Sickness, and Convulsions, give a gr. ij. ad vii.

11. Tinctura Lunæ Basilij, Basilis Tincture of Silver.

\mathcal{R} Calx of Luna, salt calcin'd; put them into a glass body with A.F. made of Vitriol and Sal Nitre, which abstract by Distillation, and cohobate thrice, the last time increase the fire to melt the matter, so have you Crystalline silver, from whence with Vinegar distilled you may extract a Lunar Tincture of the colour of Ultramarine, the body of silver still remaining, out of which you may extract a Salt.

The Vertues are the same with the former: both the Potable Luna and the Tincture are wonderful strengthners of the Brain, comfort the Animal Spirits, and cures the Epilepsia, Apoplexia, Megrim, Palsie, and Diseases eases of the Womb. You may also extract the Tincture with S. V. acuated with the Volatile Salt of Urine.

12. Sal Argenti, Salt of Luna.

℞ The body of silver remaining after the former extraction, and add corrosive Aqua mellis, abstract and sweeten as in Salt of Gold, so have you Basils Salt of Silver, a matter still remaining, out of which you may draw Mercury.

It has all the Verrues of the tincture and potable Luna, besides which it is of great force in curing of the Dropsie, and expelling all watery humours out of the Body; Dose a gr. iiii. ad vj. It comforts and strengthens a weak stomach.

13. To make Mercury of Silver according to Basil.

℞ the matter that remains after making the Salt, which digest 40 days in spirit of Tartar; then in a glass Retort distill it from filings of Iron, into a Receiver with cold water, so have you Mercury of Luna: or you may do it by the general way of Paracelsus, in Chap. 1. Sect. 20. of this Book.

14. Crystalli Luna, Silver Crystals.

℞ silver plates or filings, which dissolve in A. F. and set it to crystallize in a cold place, after the usual way, so have you Crystals of Virriol of Silver. See our Dor. Med. lib. 2. cap. 10. Sect. 3. They have the verrues of the Tincture, Salt, &c.

15. Argentum Potabile Clossæi, Potable Silver of Clossæus.

℞ Plates of Silver, which calcine often with Sulphur, pour on water, and set it to shoot into Crystals: dissolve them into a Spirit, by rectified S. V. acuated with Spirit of Salt and Spirit of Nitre; digest, separate, and bring the Azure or blew tincture to a powder, which dissolve in rectified Spirit of Wine.

This is a wonderful and excellent Medicine against the Epilepsie, and most other Diseases of the head. You may also make Potable Luna after the Method of Clossæus in that of Gold; see ch.

1. Sect. 13. of this Book.

16. Spiritus Argenti Clossæi, Clossæus his Spirit of Luna.

℞ Of the Crystals of Silver (in Sect. 15.) being 20 times calcin'd (that it may yield its spirit the easier) or you may take Crystals made of filings of fine Silver, with 3iii of water of Lillies of the Valley, acuated with Spirit of Virriol of Copper 3j, digest 40 days in Ashes, till the Menstruum is of a greenish blew: separate this, and add more Spirit of Virriol of Copper, and extract till the Silver is nearly all dissolved: put the Solutions or Tinctures together, evaporate, and Crystallize, which dry: put those dried Crystals into a Retort, from whence draw first a flegm and spirit of Venus, which keep apart; then with a stronger fire force over the spirit of Luna, and lastly an Oyl.

It is a thing found by experience, that this Silver Spirit takes away the falling-sickness by the roots; it specifically strengthens the head, and comforts the animal Spirits. It is good against the trembling of the Heart, Madnes, and all Melancholick Distempers. The Oyl taken in gut. iii. or iiii, in Bawm, Sage, Rosemary, or Peony Water, is more effectual to all the purposes aforesaid.

17. Essentia Luna, The Essence of Silver.

℞ the Spirit, Oyl, and Salt of Luna, to which put high rectified spirit of Wine, digest 40 days in a very gentle heat, abstract the spirit gently: then with fresh rectified S. V. and distilled Vinegar with Turpentine cobobate; abstract it again by a Retort, and repeat till the whole essence comes over like oyl; abstract the menstruum with a gentle heat, and keep the essence for use.

This has the Vertues of all the former: yet by the leave of the Learned, we cannot be brought to believe that ever the Spirit, Oyl and Salt will perfectly unite.

18. Pilule Lunares, The Lunar or Silver Pills.

℞ fine Silver (without alloy) dissolve it in A.F. or spirit of Nitre; evaporate, and reduce into Crystals; put them into a glass with an open mouth in a sand heat (not so great as to melt them) and continually stir them, that the corrosive spirits of the menstruum which cleaves thereto may be abstracted. Then take off these Crystals of Luna, and Crystals of Nitre, ana, Dissolve each part in rain water; mix the Solutions, and abstract to dryness, which keep in an open Glass in such a temperate heat in sand, (that the matter may not melt) but that the corrosive spirits may be driven away: for which purpose, give time to stir the mass so long till you cannot smell any of the Spirits of the A.F. or Nitre. Lastly, with crums of white bread or other convenient body (some use Rosin of Fallop or Scammony) mix

gr. ii, iii, iv, or v. thereof, and make it into i, ii, or more pills, for a dose.

But here you must note, 1. That the Silver must be without alloy (or the Medicine will vomit much) which if the Crystals be purely white it is so, otherwise not. 2. That you stir it long both times to evaporate the Corrosive Spirits. 3. That the A.F. or spirit of Nitre be absolutely free from mixture of all other saline Spirits. 4. That you make what Pills you intend to make at once, because it intolerably blacks the fingers: This Medicament is a Specifick in the Dropsie, and Discaes of the Head, as old Head-achs, Megrimms, Epilepsies, Vertigos, &c. It cures Convulsions, Palsies, and Fits of the Mother; these things it does almost to a miracle. In giving of the Pills, wrap them up in a wet wafer, pap of an Apple, or stew'd Prune, because of their bitterness: they will work without any griping or making sick, and the Patient may safely go abroad upon taking of them. In Dropsies one Dose will work sometimes two, three, or four days, it may be five or six days, yet moderately and pleasantly, without weakening the Patient, or making of him sick; but when all the water is expelled, they will scarcely work at all: but note, that by too long or often taking of them without intermission, they will weaken the Patient, and endanger a kind of incipien: Lencophtegmatia, which is prevented by intermitting their use for a while, giving them requisite quiste extract of Juniper, Venice Treacle, or other strengthening Medicaments to corroborate the Stomach and Bowels. As to the Dose, 'tis somewhat uncertain; gr.iii. or iv. is ordinarily given, made into Pills with white bread, of the bigness of an ordinary Pea, of which you may give at night going to bed to some one Pill, to others two, and but three at most. I judge crums of bread is better than the Rosin of Scammony or Jallop to make the Pills up withal, because these Rosins (by reason of their Cathartick force) would carry the Medicine too soon out of the body, which is against the Intention. This Medicament, as the learned Horslius affirms, is a Specifick to the purposes aforesaid; however Diseases of the head, and old Head-achs of near twenty years standing, I have perfectly cured therewith beyond expectation.

This Medicament Mynsicht and Horslius calls Catharticum Argentum, and give gr. iv. or v. of the Crystals in a glass of Wine in the morning fasting, in the decrease of the Moon.

19. Magisterium Argenti, Precipitate of Silver.

Be of the finest silver without alloy, beaten into plates as thin as Paper, and cut into little bits ʒj. put them into a bolt-head, to which put A. F. (made of Nitre and Allom) ʒiii, let the silver dissolve without heat, which done, put out the dissolution into a Glass Bell, to which put Sea-water ʒij, so will the silver in short time precipitate into a snow-white powder and transparent: decant the water, and put upon the silver cold fair water, so much and so often, till it comes off from the silver without any taste; then dry the silver in the shade, so shall you have the Magistery of Luna wondrous fair and white, which put into a glass Bottle and keep it close stopp'd for use.

This is chiefly designed for a Fucus for the face and skin, being the best of any yet known in the World. It heals and dries up Ulcers; the precipitate may be used either alone by rubbing the skin with it, or else by mixing of it ʒi. with Pomatum ʒii. or an Ointment made of white Virgin Wax p.i. and Oyl of Ben. p. iv. Where note, 1. That you must take fine silver without any mixture of Venus, otherwise your Magistery, instead of being white, would be green. 2. That Spirit of Niter alone would fill the Magistery with such an Acrimony, as would scarcely be removed: and A. F. made with Niter and Vitriol would be worse, because it would not only be yet sharper, but by reason of the Vitriol would make the Magistery black.

20. Lapis Infernalis Argenteus, The Silver Hell-stone.

Be Filings of fine silver, p.i. good A. F. or sp. Nitre, p. ii. dissolve in a small matrass with a long neck, luted half way: evaporate the humidity in a circular fire to driness, having a blackish scum on it: then give a melting heat till the fume cease; take off the Matrass, and forthwith cast it into little brags or iron moulds.

It is a Caustick, remaining for ever if kept from Air: it consumes by touching warts, proud, and dead flesh, Cancers, Ulcers, &c. if you wet them with a little water: it dies hair and skin of an unchangeable black.

C A P. III.

Cuprum, Æs, Orichalcum, Χαλκός, Copper, or ♀ Venus.

1. THE burning of Brass or Copper.

Colledge.) Lay flakes of Brass in an Earthen Vessel, putting Salt or Sulphur between them, and so lay them flake upon flake, burn them thoroughly, and wash the Ashes with warm water till they be sweet.

Salmoni.) Copper is one of the base Metals, which consists according to the Opinion of Paracelsus, of a yellow Mercury, Purple Sulphur, and a red Salt; generally it strengthens the parts dedicated to Generation; this preparation is cleansing, and is used in the Oppodeldock Plaister; calcine it in a Potters Furnace.

2. To cleanse the Superficies of Copper.

Moisten it with Spirit of Vitriol mixt with distilled Vinegar, and let it remain on eight or nine hours: you may see other ways in my Polygraphick, lib. 3.

3. To calcine Copper by reverberation.

It is done by burning the Filings in a Potters Furnace, which after you may beat into a Calx.

4. Calcination by Minition.

It is done, as Paracelsus saith, by anoynting the places with the dissolution of Sal Nitre, or common Salt: the water of Sal Armoniack also extracts a Verdigrease.

5. Calcination by Immersion.

It is done by putting the filings to dissolve in Aqua fortis, Oyl of Sulphur or Vitriol, which you may precipitate by warm water or a little Iron or Silver cast in.

6. The Cementation of Copper.

It is done by self. 1. with Salt, Sulphur or Tartar; with Sulphur it may be done in three or four hours: with Tartar you must use the filings, from which you may make Vitriol.

7. To make Verdigrease.

It is done by a vaprous Calcination, by hanging Plates of Copper over the Fumes of Wine, so have you a Crocus of Verdigrease, which brush off with a Hares Foot.

8. Aqua Veneris, or Water of Copper.

It is distilled by a Retort from filings of Copper set some Weeks in a moist Celler, and is best perform'd in the increase or full of the Moon.

Where note, That after extraction of what will come, the remainder may be put again to dissolve, and be distilled as before.

9. Oleum Veneti, or Oyl of Copper.

Dissolve the filings in Spirit of Salt, then Distil by a Retort; and the Spirit will ascend (having a rough or contracting taste) impregnated with the Essence of Venus.

It opens all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Womb, and Mesentericks; you may give it in Cinnamon water, or Armoniack broths;

to gr. vii.

10. Oleum Veneris rubrum, Red Oyl of Copper.

Of the former Solutions, impregnate it with Cream of Tartar, Distil it with Aqua fortis in a Glass Still, so shall you have colours almost like a Peacock's Tail: first comes forth a water, and by encreasing the fire a stronger Oyl with Crystals, which dissolve per deliquium, and mix them. It is a great deobstructor: Dose gr. iv.

11. Spiritus & Oleum Cupri Closai, Spirit and Oyl of Copper.

Viriol of Copper xxij. Distil by a Retort all the flegm off with a gentle fire, and cohobate it often upon its own Colcothar, so will the volatile spirits the better ascend; then increase the fire gradatim for five days, till all the first body be brought over; separate the white Liquor from the red Oyl, and rectifie them apart.

They are a wonderful Remedy in the Falling Sickness, after once or twice opening the body with the red Flowers of Antimony: Dose gut. viij or x. in broth well seasoned, lest it cause vomiting.

12. Tinctura Veneris Basiliana, Basil's Tincture.

Dissolved Verdigrease in distilled Vinegar, filter, and abstract to driness (let it crystallize) so have you a pure Verdigrease or Tincture, then with the juyce of unripe Grapes extract an Emerald like Tincture, so lon till the juyce is colourless. Of the remaining feces you may make Salt of Copper.

It excellently cleanses and purifies Sores and Ulcers, Fistula's, if mixt with other convenient Emplastick Bodies and applied.

13. Balsamum Cupri, Balsam o Venus.

To filings of Venus put spirit of Turpentine; digest in a very gentle heat till it is very green.

It is a great cleanser, and has the Vertues of the former.

14. Spiritus & Tinctura Veneris ad curam Epilepsie, Spirit and Tincture of Venus for the Cure of Epilepsies.

Fine Verdigrease (made of the Filings of Copper and distilled Vinegar) extract a tincture with warm water, which coagulate with a gentle heat to the thickness of Honey; put them into an Alembick, making under it a gentle fire; when it begins to be hot, take off the Still, and stir it with a stick till it be cold; then put on the Head, and lute it close, and distil by a gradual sand-heat into a large Receiver, so have you a sharp white Spirit; then a small quantity of yellow and red, with fumes or a cloud; increase the fire, and distil to driness (which will be in about a days time) rectifie the distilled Liquor to driness in a long Bolt-head, with a soft hear, (lest any of the yellow or red ascend) from the faces draw a Tincture with S. V. rectified, which distil, and so often cohobate (because the Tincture ascends) till it be fixed, then abstract the S.V. to the thickness of Honey.

Dose of the Spirit or Tincture a gr. iij ad x, in black Cherry or Peony water.

15. Spiritus Aureus Cupri, The golden Spirit of Venus.

Extract a Tincture from the Caput Mortuum, at Sect. ii. either with the said Spirit of Copper, or Tartarized S.V. by digestion, abstract the Menstruum, and force the remainder through a Retort, so have you a yellow, or Gold colour'd spirit.

16. Manna Cupri. The Manna of Venus.

Be Filings of Copper Day, extract a Tincture with spirit of Copper alcaliz'd, filter and abstract the spirit, so have you the Tincture or Manna of Copper.

17. Tinctura Eruginis, Tincture of Verdigrease.

It is distracted with distilled Vinegar; decant, and abstract the Vinegar to driness.

It has the Vertues of the Balsamum Cupri, and is used in the Oppodeldoch Plaister.

18. Quinta Essentia Cupri, Quintessence of Copper.

Be The Caput Mortuum at Sect. 11. and moisten it with rain water (else you will not have much salt) then add its own slegm, and extract the salt after the vulgar way. Be of this salt ℥j. of the said white spirit and red Oyl of Venus ana ℥iij. digest them a month, and you have a Quintessence of a rubicund colour: which you may, if you please, fix by many distillations and cobobations, and then coagulate with a gentle fire.

The Learned Faber has this a little otherwise, but 'tis in effect the same thing; Horstius commends it against all effects of the Brain, coming from cold or heat; for, saith he, it wonderfully strengthens, and restores radical moisture. It is the only remedy against the Leprosis, for it cleanses and purifies the blood, and cures all sorts of Fevers, whether continual or intermitting: It fortifies the whole Viscera, and excites the natural heat. It heals all Excoriations of the skin, wounds, Ulcers old and new, only by anoynting; it eases all paises of the Gout proceeding from what cause soever; it stops and dries up all Catarrhs, comforts the Head, Brain, and Joyns, dissolves and expels the mucous, and tartarous matter afflicting those parts: It dissolves all Stones and scirrhus Tumours, Struma's, and such like: The same Horstius commends it to the Skies, for, saith he, Sufficit hoc tibi unum, quod omnibus morbis accomodari potest. You may give it in Broth, in Cinnamon-water, Anniseed-water, Hippocras, generous Wine, in the yolk of an Egg, stewed Prunes, Palp of an Apple, or what the sick likes best. Of the liquid you may give a ℥j. ad ℥iij. of the coagulated a gr. x. ad ℥j. or more, at any time, especially upon an empty Stomach.

19. Sal Veneris, Salt of Copper.

With distilled Vinegar extract a Tincture from good Verdigrease or Spanish-green, pounded in a Brass Mortar, your Nose being stopp'd, lest the poyson Atoms should hurt you; decant, and repeat the Vinegar till no more Tincture arises; put all these Tinctures into a glass cucurbit with a leaden or iron Ring fixed to the bottom, then in Balneo draw off the Vinegar, till a skin appear upon the Tincture; then take out the Cucurbit, and set it into a Cellar to Crystallize, decant the uncoagulated water, evaporate in B. M. as before, and set it again to crystallize; this repeat till the water is nearly all coagulated: put all those blew crystals into a Bolt-head, to which put so much distilled Vinegar as may dissolve that, and by a double Vessel with with a sand fire, in about four or five hours the dissolution will be perfect, which while it is warm filtrate into another glass Vessel with a wide mouth, so shall you have clear Crystals of a glorious emerald colour or green, which separate from the water, dry in the Sun, or a gentle heat, and keep them in a glass, with a glass stopper.

It is hotter than the Salts of other Metals, a sam'd Diuretick and Desiccative: It strengthens the stomach, takes away its crudities, expels Wind, and all Diseases from thence, is good against the Cholick, coldness and suffocation of the Womb, provokes the Terms, cures Obstructions of the Reins, and is excellent against a Gonorrhoea given in a Turpentine Pill. Dose a gr. iiii. ad viii.

20. Sal Veneris Basilianum, Basil's Salt of Copper.

By the feces of Basils Tincture at Sect. 12. dry them, and with Aqua Mellis extract the salt, then abstract the Aqua mellis, and with spirit of Wine digest, decant and coagulate.

It has the Vertues of the former, and the same Dose.

21. Sal Cupri Schroderi, Schroders Salt of Copper.

Calcine the filings of Copper by cementation with Sulphur, then make a Lixivium, by boiling the calx in spring water, abstract the water, so have you the salt of Vitriol of Copper.

It is used instead of Vitriol, and you make all the same Medicines of it.

22. Flores Cupri, Flowers of Copper.

Of the following A.F. p. xij. filings of Copper or Verdigrease, which is better p. j. set them in a gentle heat to dissolve, pour in more till there resides only light black feces, abstract the Menstruum, and force the remainder by a naked fire in a Still, so the Copper will ascend in flowers, which dissolves per deliquium into a green Balsam.

They are approved against old, stubborn and malign Ulcers; and if freed from their Acrimony, and mixt with Balsams and Emplasters, they cure Wounds and Sores without pain.

The aforementioned A.F. is thus made. Make a Lixivium of Quick Lime ℥ij. Sal Armoniack ℥ij. coagulate, and mix with it thrice as much Bole; which distil as you do Aqua fortis, and rectifie it.

23. Oleum Aëuginis, Oyl of Verdigrease.

By Verdigrease ℥j. Sal Niter ℥ij. put them into a crucible, which fire with a Charcoal; what remains dissolve per deliquium in a Cellar.

It is caustick, and of excellent use to cure Warts, Pocky Pustles, &c. but must be warily used.

24. Ens Veneris, The Ens or being of Copper.

By The red Caput Mortuum of A.F. extract all its salt with fair water; which dry and powder, pour thereupon the spirit of Sal Armoniack or Urine, stir it, and dry it well, repeating this work seven times: then powder it, and mix it with Sal Armoniack purified two parts; grind and mix them well, and in a glass Retort in Sand, by degrees of fire, sublime for half a day, stopping the mouth of the Retort with Cotton or Wool, and in the neck of the Retort you will have the Ens Veneris of a yellow or Gold-like colour, which you may thin with its equal quantity of Colcothar, or Caput Mort and sublime once or twice more.

It is a noble and worthy Anodyne, easing all manner of pain; and causing rest: It cures the Rickets, and kills Worms in Children, performing those things beyond any other Medicine. I have with great success given it in Pleurifies, and suffocation of the Womb, when many other great Medicines have failed: It opens Obstructions to a wonder, and exhilarates the Heart, and comforts the Animal Spirits: It gives ease in the Stone, and dissolves it, opens stoppages in the Urine, and cures such as are in a Tubes or Consumption. Dose a gr. iiii. ad viii., or x., or xij., in Canary, or any other convenient Vehicle.

C A P. IV.

Ferrum, Chalybs, Σ Ang \odot , Iron or Mars.

1. THe purifying of Iron.

B. Iron plates or bars, p. j. Beech Coals powdered, shavings of Ox-horn, ana p. j. lay them stratum super stratum, put them into a close Vessel in a Wind Furnace, with a strong fire, for six or seven hours.

Iron well purified is then Chalybs or Steel; and therefore since Steel is nothing but purified Iron, it is far better than Iron for any Medicinal Use.

2. Crocus Martis Astringens, binding Crocus of Iron.

It is done by reverberating the filings of Iron ℥ii. with decrepitated Salt ℥iiij. for one day in a strong fire; then edulcorate, levigate, and reverberate again for eight or ten days, so there will arise a fine Crocus, which daily take away, and wash in Plantane water. It may also be made by reverberation per se; but common Salt hastens the work. You may make it also of the Crocus aperitivus, by extracting the Salt or Chrystals of Mars, and then long reverberating the feces: For Crocus Martis Astringens is nothing but Mars calcined, and divested of its Salt, which elixivation or long reverberation performs.

It binds and stops wonderfully, is very drying and strengthening, stays all Fluxes, Bloody Fluxes and Gonorrhæas: It is a powerful astringent, and may be given a ʒj. ad ʒj. in any convenient Conserve or Bolus. Outwardly it stops bleeding at the nose and in wounds, dries up Ulcers and running sores.

3. Crocus Martis aperitivus, Opening Crocus of Mars.

It is made by a Cementatory or melting Calcination thus: B. Filings of Steel ℥iiij. Sulphur in powder ℥ii. put it into a Crucible, and place it in a Furnace of reverberation and suppression, letting it stand till all the Flame be gone; augment the fire for an hour, then take it out, and put the matter into an Iron or Brass Mortar, beating it to powder whilst warm, searce it fine, and keep it in a Glass for use. Or thus, Put two red hot bars of Iron or Steel balls of Brimstone, and the Iron will melt like wax, which let drop into cold water, placed underneath; beat it into fine powder for use. Paracelsus orders Plate of Iron to be cemented with Sulphur and Tartar.

out,

It is a great deobstructive and opener; it provokes Urine and the Terms, is good against the Dropsie and Yellow Jaundice, opens obstructions of the Spleen and Mesentery, and cures the Rickets in Children, and Green Sickness in Virgins. Dose a ʒss. and ʒiss. in Conserve of Roses.

4. Crocus Martis Aperitivus Maxij, Maxius his opening Crocus.

Of the former Crocus, imbibe it with Oyl of Vitriol or Sulphur for 3 or 4 days; then put it into a Crucible, which place in a reverberatory Furnace, encreasing the Fire to the highest for 7 or 8 hours; take out the Crucible, and whilst warm pour the matter into a Brass or Iron Mortar, let it cool, and it will become red as Saffron, searce it, and keep it in a Glass for use.

It has all the Vertues of the former, besides which it is much more powerful.

5. Crocus Martis, by Immersive Calcination.

filings of Steel ʒj. add guttatim A. F. ʒviii. digest 24 hours, then abstract the A. F. in sand, so have you a very red opening Crocus which will melt per deliquium.

It is a great opener of Obstructions in the middle Ventricle, Dose ad ʒss. from both this and the former you may have Crystals, by adding hot water filtering and coagulating, &c. Crystals of Steel are also made with Spirit of Salt, p. j. and distilled Vinegar, p. iii. But Sala does it with Spirit of Vitriol; and calls it,

6. Magisterium Martis Vitriolarum, Magistery of Steel vitriolated.

Be Dissolved Steel in redified Spirit of Vitriol, then coagulate, so have you a Magistery green like Vitriol.

It opens Oppilations of the Liver and Spleen, and cures the Jaundice, Quartans, Melancholy, Cachexia and the Green-sickness. Dose ʒss. in Rhenish Wine.

7. Crocus Martis Sennerti, the opening Crocus of Sennertus.

Be Plates of Iron and hang them in a close Still in Sand, over the Fumes of Aqua fortis, so the Crocus will stick to the Plates, which take off with a Hares foot.

It has the Vertues of the former, Dose ʒj.

8. Crocus Martis Quercetani, The opening Crocus of Quercetan.

Be Spirit of Sulphur and Spirit of Wine ana, put them into an Iron Ladle, and boyl them at a soft fire, till they are evaporated; then lay the ladle by for 6 or 7 days, and brush off the yellow Crocus. Or thus, Anynt Plates of Iron with Oyl of Sulphur, or Sprinkle filings of Steel therewith; and put them in a Cellar for a Week, then wash off the Crocus with water (which will settle) and calcine it a little to make it red. This is called Calcination by Illinition.

It is a great Opener, a true Restorer storer and Comforter of the Liver, and a certain Cure for the Green-sickness. Dose a gr. iii. ad vii. Thus you may make Crocus with Spirit of Vitriol, Allom, Sal Armoniack, common Salt, and Sal Niter; which last is best used outwardly.

9. Aqua Martis, Water of Iron.

It is exactly made as that of Copper at Sect. 8. Cap. 3. foregoing, and smells almost like Salt.

It opens Obstructions. Dose half a Spoonful.

10. Spiritus Chalybis, Spirit of Steel.

By Oar of Iron, distil by a Retort, cobobate the distilled Liquor, digest and distil again.

It has the former Vertues. Dose gut. xx.

11. Oleum Ferri album, White Oyl of Iron.

It is made as Oleum Veneris at Sect. 9. Cap. 3. foregoing.

It opens Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Meseraicks, and Womb; cures Melancholy, the black Jaundice and Quartans, and is excellent in Febri alba, five morbo Virgineo, the Green sickness, Dose a gut. iv. ad xii. in Broth or Rhenish Wine.

12. Oleum Ferri Rubrum, Red Oyl of Iron.

It is made as that of Copper, at Sect. 10. Cap. 3. before cited.

It is Segnotick, Astringent, and stops all sorts of Fluxes: Dose a gr. iii. ad vi.

13. Oleum chalybis, Oyl of Steel.

By Tincture or Manna of Steel, digest and circulate with S. V. rectified, so an Oyl will swim at the top; distil them through an Alembick till the Oyl pass also.

It is a fragrant and odoriferous Oyl, good in all manner of Obstructions and Dislempers of the Spleen: It is Pectoral, Stomachical and Hepatick, good in the Phthisick, Hectick, Cholick, Quarran; and Green-sickness: Dose gut. xij. in any convenient Vehiculum.

14. Oleum Chalybis Philosophicum, Philosophick Oyl of Steel.

By the Crocus of Steel, at Sect. 2. 3j. Philosophick spirit of Vitriol 3ij. digest, and extract the Tincture often with fresh spirit, put the Tinctures together, and abstract to the thickness of hony: from this draw another tincture with S. V. and a salt with water: abstract the S. V. till it is like Oyl; to which add the Salt purified; then digest, and keep them for use.

It has all the Vertues of the former, besides which, it more powerfully provokes the Terms, and opens all Obstructions of the Reins and Ureters. Dose a gr. iii. ad vi.

15. To distil the Vitriol of Iron.

It is done as that of Copper, and there from you may have in like manner a spirit and oyl like that of Clostiaus at Sect. 11. Cap. 3. foregoing: and indeed admits of all those various Operations to which Common Vitriol is subject, which you may see in the Chapter of Vitriol following.

16. Manna seu tinctura Martis, Manna, or Tincture of Iron.

It is only a Tincture drawn from filings of Iron, or powder of its Oar with the alcalized spirit of Iron: then filter and abstract.

It has all the Vertues of Maxzius his Crocus Martis, at Sect. 4.

Dose ad gr. viij.

17. Essentia Chalybis vitriolata, Vitriolated Essence of Steel.

Quench often red hot filings of Iron $\mathfrak{h}\mathfrak{j}$. in Canary $\mathfrak{h}\mathfrak{v}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. so will the Wine receive the vitriolated Essence into its body.

It cures Melancholy, Jaundice, Quartans, and the Green-sickness.
Dose a $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. ad $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$ in Broth.

11. Vinum Chalybiatum Finkij,
The Steele Wine of Finkius.

\mathfrak{B} Filings of Steel, distilled Vinegar A. $\mathfrak{h}\mathfrak{j}$. put them into an Iron pan over a gentle fire, continually stirring, till the Vinegar is consumed; then infuse them into Canary $\mathfrak{h}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{v}$. and digest a month, stirring or shaking the Bottle, once or twice a day; being sealed, decant, and keep it in a close glass for use.

It is an excellent thing against all Diseases of the Liver, Spleen, and Womb; it provokes the Terms; yet stops their extraordinary Flux. Dose a $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. ad $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$.

19. Tinctura Croci Martis Kesseri, Kessers Tincture of Crocus of Iron.

\mathfrak{B} Crocus by reverberation, sublime it with Sal Armoniack; so have you Flowers, from which (being edulcorated) extract a Tincture with S.V. then abstract the Spirit, and the Tincture remains at bottom.

It is powerful, and has a singular property to attenuate, resolve, and prepare the Arta bilis, and is a singular experiment for curing Melancholy, and the black Jaundice. Dose a $\mathfrak{g}\mathfrak{j}$. ad $\mathfrak{g}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. vel $\mathfrak{z}\mathfrak{j}$.

20. Tinctura Chalybis Basiliana, Basil's Tincture of Salt.

Dissolve filings of Iron in red spirit of Vitriol p. \mathfrak{j} . fair water p. $\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{j}$. filter it hot, and crystallize; excise the Crystals stirring continually; so have you a purple Crocus, extract therefrom a Tincture with distilled Vinegar; then in B.M. abstract the Vinegar; and sweeten the remainder, by often drawing from it fair water. From the earth remaining of the Crocus (after the aforesaid Tincture is drawn off) you may extract a Salt with Corrosive Aqua Mellis.

In all deplorable Diseases proceeding from Corruption of Humors, this is a most singular experiment: so also in all Diseases proceeding from Obstruction, whether of the Stomach, Bowels, or Reins. Dose a gr. x. ad $\mathfrak{g}\mathfrak{j}$.

21. Magisterium Martis Salomonianum, The Authors Magistery of Mars.

Dissolve filings of steel in purified juice of Lemons, digest for a month, then filter into a glass Vessel, and in a sand heat inspissate to the consistence of a Liquid Extract. The remainder of the Chalybs which will not go through the paper, dry, and reduce into a subtil powder for the same use, or for steeled Wine.

Both the liquid Extract, and the powder have a wonderful force in opening all Obstructions, and dissolving all tartarous and coagulated matter, and strengthening all the internal Viscera: They are an excellent Cure for Melancholy, the Black Jaundice, Green-sickness, Quartan, Cachexia, Dropsie, and all Diseases of the Womb, occasioned through Obstructions. Dose of the Extract a ʒss ad ʒj; of the powder a ʒi. ad ʒij.

22. Tinctura Croci Martis Quercetani, Quercetani's Tincture of Mars.

℞ Crocus of Steel made by AF. extract the Tincture, and digest with S.V. till it is of a Rubicund colour; then decant and abstract to a liquid extract. The same may be done from crude filings of steel, with Spirit of Vinegar; extracting at last with S.V. tartarized.

It stops all Fluxes, as Dysenteries, Diarrhæas, Lienterias, Hæmorrhagies, Terms, &c. Dose a ʒj. ad ʒij in Conserve of Roses, &c.

23. Tinctura Martis & Veneris, A Tincture of Mars and Venus conioyned.

℞ The Flegm or Volatile Spirit drawn from the Vitriol of Verdigrise by a Retort in sand, and put it upon filings of Iron in a narrow mouthed Vessel, and in about half an hour (without any fire) the Essence of Venus will be impregnated with the Blood of Mars; abstract the menstruum or humidity, and from the fusible Crocus with S.V. extract a Tincture.

It has all the Vertues of Kesslers Tincture of Crocus Martis, at Sect. 19. and the same Dose.

24. Sal Saccharatum Martis, Sugar like Salt of Iron.

℞ Opening Crocus, put upon it the spirit of Salt, or Sal Nitre, extract it to a yellow Tincture, with a stinking scent, filterate, then coagulate, so have you a salt sweeter than sugar; which you may circulate with the spirit of Wine.

It opens and strengthens both Liver and Spleen, is good in Dropsies and old Ulcers, stops all Fluxes and the Terms. Dose gr. x. in Bryony water, or fragrant wine with gut. iii. of Ol. Cinnamon.

25. Tinctura, seu Oleum Martis per deliquium, Oyl of Mars per deliquium.

℞ The blew scales of Iron, calcine them a day and night, and extract a red Tincture, digest with strong spirit of Vinegar, filter and abstract; then sweeten by often dissolutions, and coagulations with rain water; lastly, dissolve per deliquium.

It is the most excellent of all things, in stopping every kind of Flux: It also stops the Terms, Gonorrhœa, and bleeding at nose. Dose ad ʒss.

26. Magisterium Martis album, white Magistery of Mars.

℞ Very red Crocus made by re-verboration, sprinkle it with spirit of Vinegar, and dry it, which do four times, then with spirit of Vinegar extract a red Tincture by digestion; abstract it to the consistence of Honey, and dissolve the abstraction in distilled rain water, then with spirit of Vitriol abstract a white Magistery, which sweeten well by washing.

It has the Vertues of the Basilian Tincture, at Sect. 20. aforegoing. Dose ʒj.

27. Flores Chalybis, Flowers of Steel.

Mix the filings of Iron or Steel, with Sal Armoniack, and sublime, so will some of the Steel be elevated; which being separated from the Sal Armoniack by washing, will be like pulvis fulminans.

They are good against most Diseases of the Liver and Spleen,

and provoke the Terms. Dose si.

28. Flores Crystalorum Martis, Flowers of the Crystal of Mars.

Sublime Crystals of Iron (made with Spirit of Nitre, or nitrous AE.) with Sal Armoniack, so have you red Flowers which sweeten with water.

They have the Vertues of the former, opening most Obstructions of the Spleen and Mesentery.

29. Saccharum Martis, Sugar of Iron.

By Opening Crocus, or Crocus made by A. R. extract the salt by a large quantity of boiling water, filter and inspissate; or else abstract in part, and set it to Crystallize; dissolve the Salt or Crystals and coagulate, which repeat till they are sweetish.

30. Sal Martis Basilianum, Basil's Salt of Mars.

It is done from the remainder of Basil's Tincture, at Sect. 20. with Corrosive Aqua Mellis, which is then to be abstracted, and the Salt is to be sweetned by often dissolutions in water, and circulating of it with S. V.

It is powerful in opening Obstructions, cures the Chlorosis and Rickets, dissolves hardnesses, and the Schirrous of the Liver or Spleen. Dose a gr. x. ad gr. xx. The Saccharum Martis aforegoing has also the same Vertues and Dose; being much stronger than the opening Crocus from whence it is drawn, it is powerful against the Green-sickness, Jaundice, stoppage of the Couries, and other Diseases of Women.

13. Crystalli vel Vitriolum Martis, Crystals or Vitriol of Iron.

By Filings of Iron, and dissolve them in red Oyl of Vitriol, p. 1. fair water p. 2. (the menstruum being boiling hot) filter and crystallize: you may also make Crystals of Iron with other sharp liquors.

This has the Vertues, use and dose of the Saccharum Martis at Sect. 29. and 30.

C A P. V.

Stannum, Plumbum album, Κασσίτερος, Tin ♃ or Jupiter.

TO Purge Tin.

It is done by melting of it, and casting into it either Grease, Wax, or Honey, then casting of it into hot water; or by sublimation.

2. To sublime Tin.

By Calx of Tin made by AE. (the filings will do) sublime them by a pot, set upon a Still with a pipe (as Flores Antimonij are prepared) casting in the Calx, or filings by degrees at the hole of the pipe, which being cast in must be stoppt: Thus have you flowers of Tin; of which also you may make Salt by Sect. viii. following.

3. To calcine Tin by Incineration.

Melt it, and increase the fire till the Crucible is red hot; and by continual stirring of it, it will turn to a Calx.

4. To reverberate Tin.

Take the former Calx, and in a reverberatory heat, continually stir it till it is red.

5. To cement Tin.

It is done being laid stratum super stratum with sulphur or quick lime.

6. To calcine Tin by a Vapour.

Hang plates of Tin over the Vapours of Vinegar (or other corrosive liquors) and by degrees you will have a white kind of Calx, which continually brush off.

7. To calcine Tin by immersion.

It is done by dipping of it into spirit of Vinegar. Hence comes

8. Sal Jovis, Salt of Tin.

The red Calx of Tin, and extract by digestion with distilled Vinegar, sharpened with spirit of Vitriol, by three Cohobations; filter, and abstract the humidity, so have you sugar or salt of Tin, which you may purify by many solutions and abstractions, first in distilled Vinegar, then in Water, casting away the feces in the operation; after which it may be Crystallized, and exalted by spirit of Wine; where note, that except your Tin be very well reverberated you shall do nothing.

It is a certain and noble Remedy against the Suffocation of the Womb, which it cures even to a Miracle, inwardly given, and outwardly applied: Outwardly it cures all rotten putrified Ulcers, old Sores, Fistula's, Cancers, &c. You may give a gr. iii. ad v. or vi. often in fragrant Wine.

9. Magisterium Jovis, Magistery of Tin.

Dissolve the Calx of Tin in distilled Vinegar, and with a drop or two of Oyl of Tartar, or Urine, cause it to precipitate. Or thus, Dissolve plates or slings of Tin in rectified spirit of Vitriol, or spirit of Nitre, or of Allom, or in A.F. decant, and add to the solution S.V. rectified, or Salt water, and the Magistery will precipitate white as snow, which sweeten and dry.

The Vertues and Dose are the same with the former.

10. Spiritus & Oleum Jovis, Spirit and Oyl of Tin.

Sugar or Oyl of Tin per deliquium, distil it in a glass Retort luted, into a large receiver well fixed, give fire by degrees till all is come over.

They both open Obstructions, and are good in the Suffocation of the Womb. Dose of the Spirit is gut.iii. or iv. Of the Oyl gut. ii. or. iii. Outwardly it cures Wounds.

11. Stannum Diaphoreticum, Diaphoretick Tin.

Tin filed, or calcin'd ʒj. precipitate ʒij. mix and distil by a retort in sand or a bare fire by degrees into a Receiver half full of water, and a powder will be precipitated, which wash, dry, and then keep close for use: where note, first, that when you begin to distil you keep a moderate heat; secondly, that after the butter or Oyl of Tin is made, if you make a fire of suppression by degrees, you will have in the neck of the Retort silver flowers.

It is a great Sudorifick, is good against the Pox, Plague and Gout, and has the Vertues of the Salt. Dose a gr. iv. to vj, or viii. Note, in the former operation you have a Spirit always smoaking, which cures Gangreens by a touch, then the Butter, then the Mercury in great abundance; lastly, with the said fire of suppression, the whole substance of the Tin (as Clossaus saith) will be elevated like an hard grey Gum; which being presently powdred, and laid on Tin plates, will in a moist Cellar, dissolve into a yellow Oyl, which Oyl is accounted among the Dissolvers of Metals.

12. Sulphur Jovis, Sulphur of Tin.

Take the red Caput Mort of the former distillation, with what remains unmelted upon the aforesaid Tin plates, mix them and digest in distilled Vinegar a week, then abstract, and you have the Sulphur of Tin.

It cures outwardly all sorts of old Sores, Ulcers, Fistula's, Gangreens, &c.

13. Sacharum Jovis, Sugar of Tin.

Of the aforesaid Sulphur, dissolve it in water, filter, coagulate, and dissolve again, so will it be sweet and of an emerald colour.

It has the same Vertues and use with the former.

14. Crystalli Jovis, Crystals of Tin.

They are made of the Calx by drawing the Tincture with distilled Vinegar and abstract in part, then setting it to Crystallize: Or thus,

By the former fuming Spirit of Tin (like clear water) add to it gradually, S.V. impregnated with the Tincture of Salt of Tartar, which add till the noise ceaseth: set the Vessel in sand, and make a subliming fire, and there will arise white Crystals which will melt like butter or wax.

These are excellent to heal Sores or Ulcers proceeding from the Kings Evil, such also as are callous or cancerous, by burning a deep Eschar, which when removed, are easily cured by any common Vulnerary.

15. Tinctura Jovis Basiliana, Basils Tincture of Tin.

Plates of Tin, cement them (by a threefold Calcination in astringent wine) with pumice-stone calcin'd and finely powdred, in a Crucible well luted, five days and nights by a gradual fire; then scrape them, and with distilled Vinegar draw a Tincture, abstract the Vinegar, and you have the Tincture of Jupiter.

It has all the Vertues of the Salt of Tin, and is good against the Epilepsie, Melancholy, Megrim, Catarrhs, defluxions into the eyes, &c. Dose ʒs ad ʒj.

16. Sal Jovis Basiliana, Basils Salt (which is the true Salt) of Tin.

What remains in the former work after the Tincture is drawn away by distilled Vinegar, digest it with Aqua Mellis ten days, and then abstract, so shall you have the true Salt of Jupiter.

It has all the Vertues, and the same Dose with the aforesaid Tincture.

17. To make the Mercury of Jupiter.

Burn up, or destroy the impure Sulphur with Sal nitre; then sublime, so the Mercurial part will ascend, which at length by putrefaction and Ebullition will be brought to Quick silver. This Kessler and Glaucous have taught.

C A P. VI.

Plumbum, Plumbum Nigrum, Μολύβδος, Lead or ♄ Saturn.

1. TO Purge Lead. It is done by melting of it, and adding white melted wax or grease to make it stane, then putting of it into hot water.

2. To calcine Lead.

It is done 1. By Incineration. 2. By Reverberation. 3. By Vapour, altogether in the same manner as Tin. 4. By Cementation. 5. By immersion in any sharp spirit, as spirit of Salt of Vitriol, A.R. distilled Vinegar, &c.

3. Saccharum Saturni, Sugar of Lead.

Colledge.) Put as much Calx of Lead (or red Lead) as you please into a Glass, and put so much Vinegar to it, as may overtop it the breadth of four fingers; warm it, and stir it a good while; after it is seited, pour off the sweet Vinegar, and put in fresh, do it so often till no more sweetness may be drawn from it; put all the Liquors together, and let them settle; then exhale it away in a glass, till half be consumed; or until (it being set into a Cellar) the Crystals appear, which having taken out, exhale it again, and set it in a Cellar or cold place, till more Crystals arise, do thus till no more appear: then dissolve the Crystals in clear water, filter, and coagulate.

Salmon.) By this same way Schroder saith, you may draw a Salt from Lead granulated, which is better than the former; and the work both in this and the former, will be the more facilitated, if the distilled Vinegar be acuated with Spirit of Vitriol or Sal Nitre. This Sugar of Saturn is a great Anodyne, and easer of pain, and of almost infinite Vertues, if we may believe the learned Beguinus. It is given with success in the Plague; it takes away redness, softness, hardness, cools inflammations, attenuates and resolves Tumours, stops Gonorrhœas, helps the heat and scalding of the Urine, and allwages Lust, but by reason of its excessive Cold, it is certainly an evil thing to the Stomach, causing therein (if taken often or in too large a Dose) almost intolerable terrible pains, for which cause sake, I always order it to be given a gr.v. ad viii in Sack, Sherry, or other generous Wine, whereby it, in some measure, prevents those evil effects. Outwardly, if gr.v. or vi. be dissolved in a quarter of a pint of Rose-water, and dark, or inflamed Eyes be washed therewith, it helps them; by such an ablution I cured one absolutely blind; but it will be much better if you adjoyn equal quantities of white Vitriol with it, and then use it to the cases aforesaid of blindness, &c. Thibaut saith, that in pain, redness and inflammation of the eyes, as also a redness of the face and skin, you may dip in it a thin slice of raw Veal, and lay it upon the part, &c. given as aforesaid in Sack, it is good in the Dropsie and Cholick. See our Dor. Med. Lib. 2. Cap. 10. Sect. I.

4. Pulvis Saturni, Powder of Lead.

Colledge.) Beat the Lead into very thin plates, which cut into very small pieces, the which steep three days in a very sharp Vinegar, changing the Vinegar every day, then take them out and dry them, without burning them; and with a little pains in a Mortar, you may bring them into a very fine powder.

Salmon.) It is drying, and causes Cicatrizes upon old Ulcers, if mingled with any proper Unguent, as Diapompholigos, Pomatum, &c.

5. Cementatio Plumbi, the burning of Lead.

Colledge.) & what number of thin plates of Lead you please, put them into a new earthen pot, lay them plate upon plate with Brimstone between each plate, then put the pot in the fire, and stir the Lead about with an Iron Spatula when the Brimstone burns, until you have brought all into ashes, which wash in fair Water, and keep them for use.

Salmon.) Lead thus calcin'd, or brought into a Calx, is nothing but Lead opened, and dissolved by the power of the Sulphur; in which form the said Lead will remain so long as there is left any of the Spirit and Salt of Sulphur; when they are gone, if you continue yet the Calcination, the Lead will be in danger of returning to its first metallick nature: This preparation has all the Vertues of the former, and out of it is also drawn the Saccharum Saturni, at Sect. 3.

6. The washing of Lead.

Colledge.) Stir about water in a leaden Mortar with a leaden Pestle, and labour it stoutly till the water look black and thick; strain out this water, dry it, and make it into Balls.

Salmon.) It cools, dries, binds and thickens, fills Ulcers with flesh, yet takes off proud flesh from malignant Ulcers, Cancers, &c. and produces a Cicatrice, either alone, or mixt with some other convenient body.

7. Magisterium Saturni, Magistery of Lead.

Dissolve plates of Lead in A.F. or spirit of Vitriol rectified, decant and add to the solution S.V. rectified, or salt water, and the Lead will be precipitated white as snow, which edulcorate and dry. Or thus, & the Calx of Lead, extract the Tincture with distilled Vinegar; decant, and precipitate with one part of Oyl of Tartar.

This has all the Vertues of Saccharum Saturni, at Sect. 3. foregoing. Dose ad gr. vi.

8. Lac Saturni, Milk of Lead.

℞ Salt of Lead ʒj. imbibe it with Oyl of Sulphur per Campanum ʒj. set it for ten days in a cold place; then add as much more of the Oyl, and digest a week in a glass, to which put ʒiiij. of fair water, which shake till it is white like Milk.

If double Pledgets be dipt in this twice or thrice a day, and applied hot upon Ulcers hard to heal, it will quickly cure them.

9. Spiritus & Oleum Saturni, Spirit and Oyl of Lead.

℞ Sugar of Saturn, or Crystals dissolved per deliquium, distil it in a Glass Retort luted, into a large receiver well fixed; give fire by degrees till red drops fall, and no more will be distilled, so have you a Liqueur, containing 1. A burning spirit. 2. A yellow Oyl. 3. A flegm. 4. A red Oyl, which separate in a glass Retort by B. Mor sand, changing the Receiver at every Liqueur. The burning spirit comes without any little Veins in the neck of the Retort; the yellow Oyl with oblique Veins; the flegm with streight; the Oyl remains.

The Spirit is a good Sudorifick in the Plague, French Pox, burning Fevers, is good against Melancholy, allays Lust, is Anodyne; helps the Cholick, &c. Dose gut. ii. or iiij. The yellow Oyl by digestion turns red, and with it Gold is dissolved: with the Spirit and Flegm, Coral, Pearl, and Shells are dissolved and precipitated, the red Oyl cleanses and cures Wounds; the Caput Mort purifies Ulcers. Kest. l. 4. c. 37.

13. Sal Saturni Volatile, Volatile Salt of Lead.

Dissolve the Oar in distilled Vinegar, which mix with water in which salt is dissolved, and immediately there will sublime a white powder, which edulcorate and dry.

This has the Vertues of the other Salt, but is more piercing, and will melt upon a wedge of Iron like Wax. Dose a gr. ii. ad vi.

11. Tinctura Saturni, Tincture of Lead.

℞ Red Lead ʒv. Flints calcin'd ʒiiij. powder them, and melt them in a Pot with a gradual fire till they are like a Rubine; beat them to powder, and with tartarized S. V. extract the Tincture.

It opens the Spleen, is good in Melancholy, Quartans, Consumptions, &c.

12. Manna Saturni, Manna of Lead.

From thin plates of Lead extract the Tincture with spirit of Lead essentified, filter, and abstract, so have you the Manna of Lead.

It has the Vertues both of Spirit and Sugar, and may be given a gr. iv. ad x. in any convenient Vehiculum. And after the same manner you may make the Manna of Jupiter.

13. Tinctura Saturni Kessleri, Kessler's Tincture of Saturn.

℞ Crystals of Lead made with distilled Vinegar and edulcorated, S. V. filter, digest, and cleanse (for there will be new feces) then abstract the S. V. and a red Tincture will remain at the bottom. But some instead of first using S. V. use Oyl of Juniper Berries, digesting therewith till it is red, and then use the same spirit as before.

This Tincture is of excellent use for such as are troubled with Hypochondriack Melancholy, Fren-Frenzy, Madnes, Consumptions, or long rebellious Quartans. Dose a gr. ii. ad iv.

14. Sulphur Saturni, Sulphur of Lead.

℞ Manna of Lead, circulate it for some time with S. V. rectified; abstrakt the S. V. by degrees, so will the Oyl ascend with it, and swim at the top; which being circulated again with S. V. will have a sweet or fragrant sent. It is a Pectoral, good in Phthisicks, Coughs, Asthma's, Consumptions, &c. Dose gut. iii. ad vj.

15. Sal Saturni Basilianum, Basil's Salt (which is the true Salt) of Lead.

℞ the matter remaining after extraction with Oyl of Juniper (ut Sect. 13.) dry it till the oylineß is quite consumed; extraßt the Salt with distilled Vinegar, then abstrakt the Vinegar in part, and set it to crystallize; which Crystals clarify by drawing off from them spirit of Wine.

It has all the Vertues of Saccharum Saturni, cools vehemently, and extinguishes the Seed.

16. To make the Mercury of Saturn.

Keller saith, That if the Salt of Lead be imbibed with Oyl of Sal Armoniack per deliquium two inches above it, digested into Ashes two whole weeks, then distilled, and at last sublimed with a stronger fire, and then heat the flowers with distilled Vinegar and common salt, you shall have running Mercury of Lead. Or thus, Digest filings of Lead fourteen days in a Lixivium of Sal Armoniack, salt of Tartar, and Quick lime with water, abstrakt the Lixivium, grind the Lead upon a Marble, which bring to a Calx with AF. of Vitriol, sweeten the Calx, and add to it an equal quantity of Crystals of Sal Nitre, sublime in a Still with a Pipe, and grind the Flowers with Vinegar. Or thus, ℞ Water of Sal Armoniack sublimed ℥ij. Oyl of Tartar, spirit of Nitre A ʒiss. digest them till they become a stone, of which stone take in powder ʒj. Plates of Lead ʒij. dissolved in spirit of Nitre ʒiv. put this solution on a Marble for forty days to putrifie; then abstrakt the spirit, cohobating thrice, and make a subliming fire that the Calx may ascend; which then digest for a day with S. V. impregnated with Sal Armoniack and salt of Tartar; so will the matter being rubbed between your fingers be quick.

17. Balsamum Saturni, Balsam of Lead.

℞ Saccharum Saturni ʒii. Spirit of Turpentine ʒiiij. digest them in sand till they are red.

It is excellent for Ulcers and Tumors; cures Wounds, and keeps them from accidents, especially if you add Camphire ʒss. It is also good against Scurff, Morphews, Fistula's, &c. See our Dor. Med. lib. 3. cap. 3. Sect. 8. 13. 17.

or ☿. Mercury.

Mercury is either Natural or Artificial: The Natural is a volatile Mineral Juyce, greedily cleaving to, and devouring Metals, principally Gold: The Artificial is drawn out of Metals, and is called the Mercury of Bodies. The best is that which is taken from Mines near Gold or Silver; for which cause the Spanish and Hungarian Quick-silver is accounted chief, having less of Antimony, Cadmia, Arsnick, Lead, or other poysonous matter; by many of which things also it is adulterated, which some men will so exactly do with Lead and Bismuth, that (the whole passing through Leather) the cheat is very difficult to find out: But if ascending through a Retort it leaves no filth behind it, or put into a silver Spoon over coals of fire to evaporate, it leaves only a white or yellow spot (not a black or dusky) it is then fine and good.

1. To purge Mercury from its filth.

It is done 1. by passing of it through leather (but Metals joyn'd with it will pass through also.) 2. By washing of it with Vinegar, or Vinegar and Salt, Soap Lees, a Lixivium of Sal Regale, or Quick Lime and Bean-straw Ashes, or by strong shaking of it in a close Glass with

S.V. 3. By distilling it in a Retort with a strong sand fire, either alone, or joyn'd with Sal Regale, or Calx vive, or amalgamated with gold or silver, and many cobobations.

It is used inwardly (mixt with Pills) without any other preparation against the French Disease, and all manner of Venereal Infections, purges and purifies the Blood from all manner of corruption, putrefaction and contagion, kills Worms, and hastens the Birth. Outwardly (but then it needs not be purified) in Unguents and Emplasters. It cures Scabs, Itch, Leprosie, Tumors, Nodes, and all sorts of Pocky Sores, Cancers and Excrescencies; but beware of using it too liberally, for it brings putrefaction with Salivation, and in short time death. In an Amulet, it is good against the Plague, Inchantments and Witchcraft.

2. Spiritus few Oleum Mercurij album, Spirit or white Oyl of Mercury.

Be Sublimate ℥ij . Potters clay ℥ix . with Water make them into Balls, and dry them in the shade, then distil (for the space of 2 hours) in a glass Retort in Sand, with a fire of suppression gradatim, so have you the white Oyl or Spirit.

It is of wonderful power in curing the Scurvy, Plague, Jaundice dice, Dropſie, Leproſie, Sciatica, Gout, the French Pox, and other Venereal Diſeaſes, which it performs by ſweat, being an excellent Diaphoretick, given gut. ij. or iii. in any convenient Vehicle mixt with a convenient quantity of Roſe-water; it is excellent to waſh all foul Ulcers, Sores, Cankers, Gangrenes, and Pocky Puſtules, cauſing them to heal.

3. Spiritus ſeu Oleum Mercurii rubrum, Spirit or red Oyl of Mercury.

Be Sublimate in fine powder, ſilings of ſteel ana, mix them, and diſſolve into a yellow Oyl per deliquium, to what diſſolves not, add water, and extraſt a ſalt, purifie and coagulate it, and mix it with the ſaid Oyl, and it will be of a gold or ſaffron colour, diſtil in ſand from an Alembick with a ſhort neck, ſo have you firſt a ſlegm, which keep alone, encrease the fire, and a red Oyl will aſcend, falling partly into the Receiver (which change) and partly ſticking to the Alembick and its neck like butter; continue the fire till no more will aſcend; put the ſlegm and red Oyl to the Caput Mortuum, and diſtil again in a warm Alembick, or by Vapour, and the redneſs ſticking in the Alembick will melt, and fall very red into the Receiver; change the Receiver, and take the following ſlegm, and more redneſs; this do as often as need requires.

It is a Diaphoretick (exceeding the white in goodneſs) and very powerful in expelling malignant Humours by ſweat, it is the moſt perfect Cure for the Gout and French Pox, it cauſes the Puſtules and Scabs to fall off, Swellings and Tumors to abate, drying up all the ſtinking Ulcers, and wholly taking away all their intolerable pains. Dose gr. i. or ij. in Spirit of Guajacum, or Decoſtum Sanctum.

4. Spiritus, & Oleum Mercurii Saccharatum, Spirit and ſugared Oyl of Mercury.

Be Sublimate 3ij. Sugar 3vj, mix and diſtil by a glaſs Retort well luted into a large Receiver, increaſe the fire by degrees upon the Retort, then beneath it; and continue it gently (left you loſe your labour, for ſugar muſt not be forc'd with too much heat) for 2 or 3 days; the diſtilled Liquor put in B. M. ſo have you a ſharp Spirit of Mercury, the ſugared Oyl remaining at bottom.

It is an excellent Anti venereal, and powerful againſt the French Diſeaſe, and Ulcers in the Bladder. Dose gut. 3. or iv.

5. Stella Mercurii, The Star of Mercury.

Be Mercury ſeven times ſublimed, and as often rectified with Quicklime with a gentle heat, diſſolve it in ſpirit of ſalt, abſtraſt the ſpirit, ſweeten and boyl the Mercury in diſtilled Vinegar, abſtraſt the Vinegar, and waſh it with diſtilled rain water, dry it, and digeſt it in S. V. which with a gentle heat drive thro' a Retort, increaſing the fire (what remains keep to make a ſalt of) abſtraſt the S. V. in B. M. and you ſhall have at bottom a fragrant ſweet Oyl, which according to Baſil is the Star of Mercury.

It is a Diaphoretick, having the Vertues of all the former Oyls, and is a proper Specifick for the Pox, in which it is a great Secret, though it be never ſo old, it cleanſeth the Blood, and cures all Scabs, Tetters and Ulcers, although though old and malign: Dose gr. iv.

6. Oleum Mercurii Diaphoreticum Kessleri, Diaphoretick Oyl of Mercury.

Diffolve Mercury precipitate in distilled Vinegar, and abstract the Vinegar to driness, what remains in the Retort digest with S.V. rectified, till it be thick, then distil in Sand with a strong fire, so have you a Liquor like Milk, cohobate, and distil again, so have you a white fragrant Oyl.

It has an excellent Vertue to cure all sorts of malignant Ulcers, Fistula's, Cancers, but chiefly Ulcers in the Reins and Bladder. Dose gut. ii. a l v.

7. Oleum Mercurii Diaphoreticum Quercetani, Quercetan's sweating Oyl of Mercury.

Be Sublimate ziii fixed Sal Armoniack (dissolved per deliquium and purified ziv) dissolve the sublimate in a Cellar, filter, and distil it in sand by a glass Still with its Alembick and Receiver, then rectifie it, and it will be as sweet as Musk.

It is a powerful Sudorifick, and has all the former Vertues. Dose a l gut. vi.

8. Oleum Antimonii Mercuriale, Oyl or Mercurial Butter of Antimony.

Be Antimony or Regulus of it sublimate ana, mix them in a stone Mortar, and distil them from a glass Retort in sand (but an open fire increased by degrees is better) first in a moderate fire, so will the Liquor or Butter come forth like Ice. If it coagulate in the neck, for fear of stopping, apply a Coal cautiously to melt it; the butter being come over increase the heat, and make a fire of suppression; and you will have a sublimed Cinnabar of Antimony, impregnated Butter with its Cinnabar, by digesting them 24 hours in a close glass in ashes, then rectifie by a glass Retort. But note, if you use the Regulus, you will have no Cinnabar by augmenting the fire, but only a Mercurial Crystalline Salt, yet your butter will be the better.

The general Rule of this icy Oyl is external, and is a usual corrosive among Chyrurgions, putting a period to (only by anointing therewith) Gangrenes and mortifications; it kills pestilential Carbuncles and Plague-fores, and makes them fitter for other applications.

8- Mercurius vita, the Mercury of Life.

Be Of the aforesaid Butter, add Water, and there will precipitate a white powder; wash it till it is not sharp, then dry it; you may rectifie it by a Retort.

It is called Pulvis Angelicus, Aquila alba, Algorith; and uncorrected purgeth both by Vomit and Stool, all bad humors in the body, chiefly in the first Region; It is good in the Plague, French Pox, malign Ulcers, Fevers, Agues, Gout, Dropsie, Jaundice, and all Diseases of the Head, given in substance gr. ii. ad iv. or in infusion (z i in Sack z xvii.) to z j: where note, the purging vertue of this Mercurius vita will never be all drawn out by infusion; therefore the same may serve many times. It is corrected in a glass with a Sand Fire, till it begins to be red, and then often abstracting from it Spirit of Wine. Being thus corrected, it purges well by Stool, and takes away all manner of filchiness, of which you may give gr. iii. ad vi.

Note,

Note, the uncorrected only purges, if you give with it Broth well seasoned with Salt; and some say, it may be given to gr. viij.

10. Mercurius Vita Catharticus, Purging Mercurius Vita.

℞ Mercurius Vita, common salt, ana, grind them together on a Marble, then wash off the salt with water, and it will only purge; Thus Hartman and Senertus. Or thus, ℞ Sal Nitre melted with fire, and Mercurius Vita ana, which put in by degrees stirring them; being cold, the Mercurius Vita will be at the bottom like a Regulus, which sweeten. Or thus, ℞ Mercurius Vita ʒj. Sal Nitre ʒiv. melted, cast them in by degrees, then wash away the Nitre; dry the powder, and add Salt ʒij. grind it eight or ten hours on a Marble, and wash it again.

Of that which is corrected the first way you may give a gr. iv. ad vij; but of those which are prepared, the two last ways a gr. vi. ad x, or xii. They work excellently by Stool, and carry away all the impurities of the body.

11. Bezoardicum Mineralli Crollii, Bezoardick Mineral.

Colledge.) ℞ Rectified Butter of Antimony ʒij. put upon it drop by drop as much Spirit of Nitre, abstract by a sand heat; and put on it again new Spirit of Nitre ʒj. Evaporate it again, and repeat the operation 3 or 4 times; what remains grind, and calcine a Crucible for an hour; then edulcorate by washing, and firing upon it S.V. 3 or 4 times.

Salmon.) In the preparation hereof you must note, 1. That if you have not Spirit of Nitre, you may use AF. 2. That Crollius makes it of Butter of Antimony made of Antimony p. 3. and Mercury sublimate (prepared with Vitriol and Salt) p. j. though equal parts are better. 3. That Medicines made of the Butter of Antimony are Antimonial or Mercurial, yet impressed with the Character or Idea of Mercury. 4. That the following works may be performed at once, by putting on a larger quantity of Spirit of Nitre. 5. That instead of abstracting the Spirit, you may precipitate by affusion of a quart of cold Sea-water, which Sea-water is made by dissolving of common Salt ʒiv. in a quart of water by boiling. It is an excellent Cordial, powerful against the Plague, Small Pox, and all other purrid and malignant Fevers: It is an Antidote against Poyson, and doth really wonders by heat. In all Diseases of the Head it is almost a Divine Remedy, and is a powerful Medicine against the Scurvy. Dose a gr. vi. ad xij, or xiv. in Conserve or Syrup; but in Conserve of red Roses it will become green immediately; it eases pain, and causeth rest.

12. Bezoardicum Saturni, The Bezoardick of Lead.

℞ Glass of Saturn and extract from it a Tincture with Butter of Antimony, fix it with Spirit of Sal Nitre; where note, that the Glass of Lead is made of red Lead, and powder of flints.

It is good against the suffocation of the Womb, pains of the sides, and most Diseases of the Spleen, as Melancholy, Pain, and obstruction thereof. Dose gr. vj.

13. Bezoardicum Jovis, The Bezoardick of Tin.

℞ Regulus of Tin (made of simple Antimony) ʒij melted in a crucible

ble, to which add fine Tin zj . levigate it on a Marble, and add Sublimate zv . distil by a Retort, and you have a Butter, which fix with Spirit of Nitre, by three distillations, or abstractions: then calcine (by Sect. 11.) quench it in S.V. dry it, so have you grey Bezoardicum of Tin according to Mynsicht.

It is a very powerful Sudorific, eminent against obstructions of both Liver and Spleen, and excellent against fits of the Mother. Dose a gr. ij. ad viij. vel x. Horstius Pharm. lib. 17. commends it not only against most Womens Diseases, but also against Fevers, the Plague, Scurvy, Epidemick Diseases, and against every kind of deadly Poyson, or wherein any other Bezoardick may take place.

14. Bezoarticum Martis, The Bezoardick of Iron.

Extract a Tincture with Butter of Antimony, from the reverberated Crocus of Mars, and fix it with spirit of Nitre.

It is powerful against all fluxes of the Liver and Bowels, strengthening the Viscera. Dose ad gr. x.

15. Bezoarticum Solare, Solar Bezoar.

Be Tincture of Gold (extracted from the Oyl-like solution of Gold, and sweetned by abstracting often from it strong Vinegar) zj . Butter of Antimony dissolved in spirit of Salt zv . mix them, unite by cohobation, then calcine, where note, that the Tincture of Sol is extracted with the menstruum of Basil, digesting them a month. Thus Tentzelius.

Or thus, Be Butter of Antimony ij . dissolve it by pouring on gradatim spirit of Salt: Take fine leaf of Gold zj . dissolve it in A. R. mix both, and abstract the Menstruum by Degrees, and put it on again; add fresh spirit of Salt, abstract, reiterate it often, wash, dry, and fire the Calx with rectified spirit of Wine. Thus Crollius.

Or thus, Be Spiritual Gold (spiritualized by the Bezoardick spirit of Salt) zj . dissolve it in A. R. dissolve in the same Butter of Antimony rectified zv . mix both, abstract the Menstruums by a Retort, by often distillations: then with a gentle Calcination bring it to a Violet coloured powder; or with a strong Calcination to a purple. This is better than the former. Thus Schroder.

Or thus: Be Spiritual Gold (ut supra) add to it Butter of Antimony dissolved in spirit of Salt or A. R. unite and fix them by often distillations; then abstract, and by Calcination you will have a Bezoardick Gold, of purple colour and great force: Thus Hartman.

This is a wonderful Medicine in curing the French Pox, Plague, Gout, Dropsie, Jaundice, Fevers, and all Obstructions of Liver and Spleen, it is the seventh Medicament in Name, Number and Nature of those which may be called Powerful and Universal; it performs all that the Aurum Potabile, Tinctura Auri, Precipitatus Aureus, Aurum Vita, Hercules Bootj, or Manna Mercurij will do. It is a great Sudorific, and may be given from gr. ii. ad x. That of Schroder is the best.

16. Bezoarticum solare Compositum Salmoni. The Author's Compound Solar Bezoar.

Be Of

℞ of Schrodors solar Bezoar ℥j. Bezoar-stone, Ens veneris, Oyl of Pearl, Extract of Contra-yerva, and the Verginean Snake-root, A. ℥ij. Oyl of Cinnamon ℥iss. Tincture of Coral and Saffron, Salt of Guajacum A ℥ss. mix them well in a glass Mortar, digest them in a close Glass for twenty days, and keep the Medicine for use.

It has all the Vertues of the former, besides which it is much more powerful, in defending and comforting the heart, expelling Poyson, and resisting the Fury of pestilential and malignant Diseases: It is a Specifick against all Diseases of the Head, as the Megrim, Cephalæa, Apoplexy, Convulsion, Epilepsie, Palsie, &c. It is prevalent against the Gout, Trembling of the Joynts, sounding fits, and restores such as are in Consumptions: It opens all manner of Obstructions, whether in the Head, Stomach, Bowels or Reins; chears the Heart, comforts the Senses, refreshes the whole Body, and revives all the Spirits, Natural, Vital and Animal. Dose a gr. iij. to x. or xij. in any convenient Vehicle.

17. Bezoarticum Veneris, The Bezoardick of Copper.

Extract with Butter of Antimony a Tincture from scales of brass, which fix with spirit of Nitre; as above, then sweeten.

Some give this against the Leprosie, and Diseases of the Head and Brain, a gr. ii. ad vi. outwardly it is good against old Ulcers, Sores, Fistula's, Tetters, Ring-worms, and the like, being mixt with some proper Unguent.

18. Bezoarticum Lunare, The Bezoardick of Silver.

℞ Green Tincture of Silver ℥j, Butter of Antimony dissolved in spirit of Salt ℥xxx. mix, and by distilling often to driness, fix it; where note, that the green Tincture is extracted with Spirit of Wine from Silver, dissolved in Aqua fortis.

Or thus, ℞ Tincture of Silver, (extracted with distilled Vinegar from Silver dissolved in A.F. and precipitated by Oyl of Tartar per deliquium) ℥j. Butter of Antimony ℥xxx. mix them and do as before.

Or thus, ℞ Sky-coloured Tincture of Silver (extracted with spirit of Urine, from Silver calcined with Sulphur) dissolved in A.F. ℥ii. Butter of Antimony dissolved in A.F. ℥xxx. mix, distil, circulate and unite them: This is much better than the former.

Or thus, ℞ Vitriol of Silver made with spirit of Nitre, and fix it into a Bezoardick Powder with Butter of Antimony. This is best.

It is a Specifick remedy against most Diseases of the Head; as Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Convulsions, Megrim, &c. It eases old inveterate pains, is a good sudorifick, and is excellent against an Erysipelas. Dose a gr. vj. ad xij.

19. Mercurii Calciniatio, The Calcining of Mercury.

It is done either by the fire, or by menstruum; the latter is called precipitation; of which hereafter; the former is thus done. ℞ Fine Quick-silver ℥j. fine Gold ℥j. make an Amalgama, which put into a glass, broad at bottom and narrow at mouth (having an inward passage very narrow to the belly of it) so that the bottom of the Glass may be only covered, which fix very even and plain in sand, that the Amalgama may cover the said bottom all over of an equal thickness; first make a very gentle fire, afterwards a stronger, by increasing of it by degrees; continue the calcination 40 days till the Mercury is red like Cinnabar; then wash it with S. V. dry and keep it for use.

It is both a strong Sudorifick and Emerick, and perfectly cures the French Pox, all sorts of Fevers, and Worms in six or eight times taking. Dose a gr. iiii. ad vii. Thus may you calcine Mercury with Silver, and have an useful Medicine for most Diseases of the Head. The said Amalgama may also be calcin'd by putting into it little pebbles, and setting them over a sand fire, stirring them and keeping the Amalgama from the sides of the Vessel, till it sticks to the pebbles, and is calcin'd. It has the same Vertues and Dose as the former. Thus Hartman.

20. Panacea Mercurii Diaphoretica, The Sweating Panacea of Mercury.

℞ Fine Quick-silver ℥ij. Sulphur 3j. Sal Armoniack ʒiss. mix them till no Mercury appear, then sublime, and sublime the sublimate several time with its own Caput Mort, then increase the fire, and at bottom you have the Diaphoretick Panacea of Mercury.

It is a Sudorifick, and expels by the pores of the skin all noxious humours. Dose a ʒss. ad ʒss.

21. Præcipitatus albus, White Precipitate.

Colledge.) ℞ of Crude Mercury driven from Sea-salt in a retort, p. ij. Aqua fortis of our description, p. i. make a dissolution according to

Art; in the interim provide brine of Sea-salt and fair water, as strong as you can make it, filter it, and put your Solution of Mercury into it, and immediately a white powder will precipitate, which is to be washed from its Acrimony in simple distilled water, or warm spring water, then dry it for use.

Salmon.) It is to be observed that in this operation you may, if you please, use Spirit of Nitre in stead of the AF. for then it is the easier dulcified. 2. It will be good to dissolve it in a long neck'd matress, of such a magnitude, as it be not half full, lest the Spirits in dissolving the Mercury should cause so great an Ebullition, as to cause the matter to run over. 3. That your Brine of Sea-salt be filtrated through a brown paper, lest its filth defile the precipitate.

This medicament is the gentlest of all the Purgatives drawn from Mercury, although prepared with AF. because it has a sufficient edulcoration: to Children you may give it from gr. iiii. to vj. to men and women from gr. vi. ad xv. It purgeth downwards, and sometimes upwards, and is a powerful remedy against the Pox, Gout, Dropsie, Jaundice, and Worms. It fluxes as easily as Mercurius dulcis, because the wings of the Mercury are not clipt by so gentle a preparation: outwardly in Oynments it cures the Itch, Scabs, Leprosie, pocky Ulcers and Sores.

22. Præcipitatus rubrus, Red precipitate, called Corrosive.

Colledge.) Make a dissolution of crude Mercury and AF. as before, then evaporate it till it be dry, at last increase the fire, and stir the matter with an Iron till it be red, keep it in a Glass for use.

Salmon.) In this Operation after the abstraction of the AF. 1. put the matter into a Crucible, and if you reverberate it with a fire of suppression, 'twill be never the worse. 2. That you must not give fire so long till the matter be red, for then the Mercury would lose all its corrosive Salts, and be thereby disabled from consuming proud flesh, for which it is intended. 4. That AF. here is rather to be used than Spirit of Nitre, because we design it only for a Topick. It is a gentle Caustick and Escarotick, eats away excrescencies and proud flesh: Chyrurgions mix it with Basilicon minus for the same purpose, as also against Pocky Pustuls and Ulcers: of this is made the Arcanum coralinum. Hartman saith, you may give inwardly of it from gr. vj. to xij. but 'tis a harsh Medicine.

23. Arcanum Coralinum. The Coraline Secret of Mercury.

Rx. Red precipitate, put it into a glass bell, which wash with warm water so long till the water come away insipid: put the precipitate into a glass Cucurbit, and put upon it spirit of Salt in double weight: affix to the Cucurbit a head with a glass Receiver, and in a sand fire draw off, till the precipitate is dry: the Cucurbit being cold, sweeten the ♀ by washing of it with cold Water, till the water come away insipid: then reverberate your ♀ (which is of a dark yellow) in a Crucible, till it become red as Coral: then burn off from it S.V. two or three times, which let cover the ♀ the breadth of two or three fingers.

Where Note, 1. That the Spirit of Salt in a great measure fixes the Mercury, and gives it a yellow colour. 2. That the flagration with S. V. makes the cathartick and emetick properties of the precipitate the milder. 3. That this medicament is nothing but Mercury. calcin'd and dissolved Philosophically by AF; fixed by Spirit of Salt; then sweetened, and devided of its malign and volatile Salts by washing and flagration. It generally purges (sometimes vomits) gently opening all inward obstructions. It dissolves the Schirius of the inward parts; is a great secret in the Dropsie, Jaundice, and Cachexia, and alone cures the Pox without fluxing because of its fixed nature. Dose a gr. iij. ad vj.

24. Mercurius dulcis precipitatus, sweet precipitate.

Rx. Red precipitate, purified Quick-silver, ana, mix them, and put thereto so much dulcified S. V. as may cover them the breadth of three fingers; set them twenty days in a sand heat to coagulate.

This has the Virtues of the sweet sublimate, and may be given a gr. iv. ad xiv. It is useful against the Pox, Gout, Sciatica, Jaundice, all Obstructions, and kills Worms: if mixt with any good Cathartick it has an excellent Operation.

25. Precipitatus albus Celsus, White Precipitate of Celsus.

Rx. Spring water Ibij. Sal Armoniack ℥iv. dissolve: put therein ♀, sublimate in Powder ℥iv. in a glass bell, put them in a sand heat, if the ♀ is dissolved, then drop upon the Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, this the water is like milk; let it settle, and decant the water, so have you a white Powder, which wash two or three times with flegm of honey, then sweeten with warm water.

It is an excellent Medicament against Siphylis or the French Pox, the Erysipelas, Elephantiasis, Leprosie, Scab, Itch, Scrophula, Scald-head, and other breakings out; washing the affected places with the decanted water, and taking the powder inwardly $\text{à gr. viij. ad xij.}$ in Confectio Hamēch ʒij. It quickly cures.

25. Præcipitatus cum Oleo Vitrioli, Precipitate with Oyl of Vitriol.

Rx. Purged Quick-silver, dissolve it in the Red Oyl of Vitriol, abstract the Oyl by a Retort in sand, and the precipitate will remain.

It is Corrosive, and only for external use in Pocky Ulcers, and Pustuls; chiefly serving to make the Glas of Mercury, of which see Sect. 41. following.

26. Præcipitatus cum Oleo Sulphuris, Precipitate with Oyl of Sulphur.

Rx. Purged Quick silver ℔ij. Oyl of Sulphur per Campanum ʒxi. digest two days in Sand, and distil in a glass Retort with three cobobations: the fourth time add fresh Oyl of Sulphur, and augment the fire towards the end till the Retort be red hot, so have you a white mass; wash it in warm water, and powder it: then put it into a glass only stopp'd with wool, and put it into a strong sand fire for a week or more, that if any Q be quick it may sublime: then fire from it S. V. thrice, and keep it for use. Thus also may you do it with Oyl of Vitriol, and Oyl of Salt; it is but common Turpesburum Minerale.

This is an excellent thing in most desperate diseases, and all contaminations of the blood and humours; It cures the French Pox, Plague, Malignant Feavers, Poyson, Pocky Ulcers, Scabs, Leprosie, Catarrh, &c. Dose à gr. iij. ad vi. Sennertus Unzer.

27. Præcipitatus Coralinus, The Coralliated Mercury.

Rx. Fine Quick-silver, rectified Spirit of Niter A. ʒij. digest till dissolution; draw off the Spirit in Sand, with a Bolt head; add fresh Spirits ʒij. draw it off, repeat this three times, and you shall have a fine Coralliated Q , which Calcine at a gentle fire, and it will be sweet without any Corrosion.

It has the same Virtues and Dose with Arcanum Coralinum at Sect. 23. and indeed much exceeds it in all the intentions.

28. Præcipitatus dibaphus, Incarnate Precipitate.

Rx. Quick-silver ʒj. A. F. ʒij. dissolve, then add warm water ʒij. and after fresh Urine of a healthful man, so will and incarnate precipitate fall.

Hartman saith it only purges; and has the Virtues of the Arcanum Coralinum, you may give $\text{à gr. vj. ad x. or xij.}$

29. Præcipitatus cum Aqua Oorum, Precipitate with Water of Eggs.

Rx. Pure Mercury, to which put water of hard Eggs distilled; and the Q will be precipitated to the bottom; to which add often the same water distilled from Egg-shells calcined: cobobate it in Sand or Ashes till the precipitate is a red and sweet powder.

It cures the French Pox to a wonder, it is excellent against all Pocky Scabs, Pustuls, and Ulcers, facilitates the Cure of Fistula's, and cures, as Paracelsus saith, Ulcers in the neck of the Bladder, even such as are accounted incurable, by injection into the yard with a proper vehiculum: it cures a Gonorrhæa at three or four times using: it's so excellent for the aforesaid purposes, that Paracelsus calls it a Balsam. Dose gr. vii.

30. Præcipitatus Luteus, Yellow Præcipitate.

Dissolve Quick-silver ʒi. in A F ʒij. præcipitate with Oleum Tartari per deliquium, sweeten it by washing it by warm water.

It has the Virtues of the Arcanum Coralinum, at Sect. 25. and is given à gr. v. ad x.

31. Gryphus Mercurii, Precipitated Sublimatè.

Rx. Sublimate corrosive ʒiiij. dissolve it in boiling water gal. ij. filter, and præcipitate with Salt of Tartar ʒiiij. dissolved in lbij. of fair water and filtered; decant the water and the præcipitate (which will be of a reddish or Orange Colour) sweeten by several times, washing it in a large quantity of fair Water-scalding hot.

It is of great force in curing the French Pox, and all Venereal Ulcers, all Blotches, Boils, Scabs, and Pocky pustuls; it is prevalent against Tetters, Ring-Worms, cancerous Sores, Itch, Leprosie, &c. by taking of it inwardly either mixt with Conserve of Roses, or any Cathartick proper to the disease; à gr. iij. ad vii. or x. in very strong persons: and washing the places affected with the decanted Water.

32. Præcipitatus Miraculosus, Wonderful Præcipitate.

Rx. Tincture of Smiris ʒij. Quick-silver lbss, mix them and the Mercury will presently fall; reverberate it in a red hot Crucible, for an hour, then edulcorate it.

It is a gentle Cathartick and Emetick, given in gr. iij. or iv. profitable against the Gonorrhæa, and other Venereal Distempers: if you reverberate the præcipitate two hours, it will purge only downwards; but if six or seven hours, it will be fixed and only sudorifick. The Tincture of Smiris for this purpose is thus made. Heat the Stone red hot and quench it sometimes in fair water; then calcine it in a strong fire till it is green and sticks to the sides of the Crucible (which will be in a few hours) Extract a Tincture with distilled Vinegar or S.V. decant and abstract to the thickness of new honey.

33. Præcipitatus Vitriolatus, Mercury Vitriolated.

Dissolve Quick-silver in A F (made of Vitriol p. 2. Niter p. 1.) abstract and cohobate three times; then put to it rectified Spirit of Vitriol and distil, cohobating six or seven times: Lastly, put on S. V. and cohobate ten times, then wash it with Balm water.

It is a secret against the Drop-sie and French Pox. Dose à gr. ij ad vi. Where note. 1. If the said A F has Allom p. $\frac{1}{2}$ it will be much the better. 2. That for want of the rectified Spirit of Vitriol, you may add to the dried præcipitate strong Spirit of Vinegar p. iiii. and in a close luted glass, digest in Balneo for two or three days; and then abstract to dryness. 3. That being thus prepared it may be given to Children against Worms in gr. ij.

34. Præcipitatus Correctio, The Correction of Precipitate.

Boyl precipitate in distilled Vinegar till it is all dissolved; then add S. V. or Oyl of Tartar, so precipitate it again; wash and dry it for use.

Or thus. Wash it in distilled water, then gently reverberate it, and fix it with Oyl of Eggs, and many cohobations.

Or thus. Digest it a Week in Spirit of Vitriol; draw it off with a strong fire, cohobating thrice; then digest it in S. V. three Inches about for twenty four hours, decant, add new Spirit, and repeat it the third time.

Or thus. R. Precipitate white, red or yellow, wash it often with rose-water; then digest it in S. V. in which a good quantity of Camphir is dissolved, and after 14 days abstract.

By these ways the Emetick property is taken away, (but chiefly by the three first) and the said precipitates work downwards: being very useful for all the purposes to which the said precipitates uncorrected were intended. Thus they are excellent against the Pox, Plague, Feavers, and Epidemical Diseases, Purging downwards à gr. iv. ad vij.

35. Laudanum Minerale, Mineral Laudanum.

R. Arcanum Coralinum, and extract with distilled Vinegar a dark Yellow Tincture: draw off the Tincture of Vinegar, and with S. V. abstract the redness, which decant, and the remaining powder will be red, which keep for use.

It causes Sweat, procures Sleep, eases all manner of Pains, and opens the Belly; you may give gr. ij. at night going to bed, in any convenient Vehicle.

36. Præcipitatum Aureum, Golden Precipitate.

R. Leaf Gold or filings of fine Gold ʒss; dissolve it in AR. Take Glass of Antimony ʒss, dissolve it in AF. Quick-silver cleansed ʒij, dissolve it also in AF. mix all the Solutions, and draw a water by an Alembick: then add fresh AR. draw off the same often, till the precipitate fumes not when laid on a red hot Iron: calcine all that the AR. may be spent; then distill from it S. V. six times, and calcine the matter gently.

It purifies the whole Mass of blood, and the whole Body; no Pox can stand before it: it cures Jaundice, Scurvy, Dropsie, Gout; it provokes Urine, drives up all moist humours, and opens all Obstructions. It cures the Epilepsie, Collick, Quartan, and all Cancerous and Malign Ulcers. Dose à gr. iv. ad vj.

37. Hercules Bovij: Bovius his Hercules.

R. Filings of fine Gold ʒj. Mercury cleansed ʒiv. Dissolve both asunder in AR. distill both together with a Gradual fire, and after in the end with a greater, in a Retort: then with fresh AR. dissolve the Precipitate at the bottom, and the sublimate in the neck of the Retort, and distill so long, till all become a precipitate; then calcine it on a red hot Iron, to fix the corrosive.

Spirits, and sweeten it by ablution in S. V.

Bovius saith, It is the best of all purges. It kills all Worms, cures the French Pox, Small Pox, Plague, Ulcers, Sores, Scabs, Leprosie, Quartans, and many other Diseases otherwise incurable. Dose à gr. iij, ad viij, with Sugar of Violets, a rear Egg, Broth, or in purging Pills.

38. Aurum Vitæ Hartmanni, Hartman's a living Gold, or Gold of Life.

R. Filings of Gold ʒi, dissolve it in AR. ʒiiij, keep the Solution hot, take Quick-silver ʒxij, dissolve it in a quart of AF. mix them till they are black, distill in an Alembick in Sand with a gradual fire till the Still and that at the bottom is red hot; then calcine it with a red Hot Iron, till the spirits of the AF. are gone, wash it with water, and distill SV. often from it by Cohobations, so have you Aurum Vitæ.

It is a powerful remedy against the French Pox, and all manner of corruptions of the whole Body. It resists Poyson, and is a singular Antidote against the Plague, Small-Pox, and all malignant Fevers. Dose à gr. iij ad viij. The Aqua Regia for this work is thus made, R. AF. of Vitriol, Niter, Allom, A. ʒiiij. Sal Armoniac ʒi, distill them in Sand in an Alembick.

39. Aurum Vitæ Sennerti, Sennertus his Aurum Vitæ.

R. Quick-silver purified ʒv. fine plates of Gold ʒis. make an Amalgama, and wash it with Vinegar till all the blackness be gone: then put it into a Retort; and add AF (made of Vitriol. p. ij. Niter p. j.) digest in Ashes or Sand, that the Mercury and Gold may be at the bottom in a Powder, then distill and increase the fire at the end, that the bottom of the Retort may be red hot, and all the corrosive Spirits come forth; the vessel being cooled, powder the matter & pour on the abstracted AF again, and cohobate, and there will be a red powder at the bottom; keep that, casting a way what was sublimed at the sides of the Retort; then heat an Iron red hot, and sprinkle on the Mercurial powder, not only to dry it, but to evaporate what is volatile, then keep it in a close glased vessel.

This is one of the most noble Medicines yet this day known in the World, and will do as much as any whatsoever. It will easily, safely, and speedily cure any old, malign, and deplorable Disease; it purges by Stool gently without vomiting, except the Stomach be foul. It is a wonderful Arcanum in the Dropsie, Pox and Gout, as also in the Jaundice, all manner of defluxions, Scurvey, Leprosie, Scabs, Itch, Plague, Poyson, all Feavers, whether continual or intermitting, the Cholick, Dysentery, and all obstructions in any part of the body. It begins, continues, and perfects the Cure alone; thoroughly and substantially rooting out all maladies, and the Seeds of every Disease. It is a great Diaphoretick, and may be given à gr. iij. to viij, if to purge, in purging Pills; but if to sweat in some Cordial Essence, Elixir, or Electuary.

40. Precipitatum Viride, Green Precipitate.

R. Filings of Copper ʒi. dissolve it in AF: Take Quick-silver ʒviij, dissolve also in AF. mix these solutions, and abstract in sand, increasing the fire at the end, that most of the Spirits may fly away: dry, and digest the Precipitate in distilled Vinegar in B. M. a day and a night, then boyl, that the purest part of the ☿ may be dissolved in the Vinegar: decant, abstract, and dry without washing.

It is a most admirable thing in the Pox, and cures it to wonder: It stops a virulent Gonorrhæa, if it runs very much, and provokes it; if it scarcely runs at all, which being daily used, will at last stop the Flux, and take away both cause and effect. Dose \dot{a} gr. ii. ad viii. It is to be noted, That the sign of good Precipitate is that when you rub your Gold hard with it, it whitens it not as Quick-silver doth.

41. Vitrum Mercurii, Glas of Mercury.

R. ☿ Precipitate with red Oyl of Vitriol ℥ii. Silver calcin'd, Sal Armoniack \mathcal{A} . ℥i. mix, and sublime, so the Salt will ascend, leaving the other two at the bottom like pure Gold; put them into a Crucible, and give a melting fire, that they may turn into Glas.

This Glas cures the Pox, a continual and violent Head-ach, with most other Diseases of the head, either in substance, or infusion, Dose in substance \dot{a} gr. ii. ad vi. In infusion (℥ss in Sack ℔i.) to an ounce.

42. Vitrum vitæ Mercurii, The Glas of ☿ Vitæ, or Amber of Antimony.

Abstract in Alembick from ☿ Vitæ the volatile parts, melt the rest with a strong fire to a transparent Glas, which will be a Hyacinth, if long in the fire.

It is of the nature of ☿ Vitæ and Vitrum Antimonii, and takes its name of Amber from its form. The volatile parts being strongly abstracted, come forth like Butter of Antimony.

43. Turpethum Minerale: The mineral Turbith.

R. Of Quick-silver purified ℥ii. spirit of Niter ℥iii; put them in a glass Retort luted up to half its neck: place it in a Furnace of a circular fire (being very gentle) till the ☿ be dissolved; abstract the spirit to driness; take off the Retort, and let it cool; put upon it Oyl of Sulphur (some use of Vitriol, others Oyl of Salt) ℥i. and set upon the same fire and evaporate; repeat this 3 or 4 times, with the same quantity of Oyl of Sulphur: This done, break your Vessel, and in the bottom you will have a white lump, which pulverize: upon this powder put warm water, wash, and it will immediately become yellow; repeat this washing so often till the water comes away as insipid as it was put on; dry it in a Sand bath, and you have a powder yellow as Gold; upon this put VS, and burn it off, which repeat 3 or 4 times to make the Mercury yet sweeter.

It is to be noted. 1. That some order it to be put into a melting heat after the flagration of the VS, others not; for it is so fixt by the Oyl of Sulphur, that it will endure a melting fire, without losing scarce any thing of its weight. 2. That if your Mercury be not pure, you may cleanse it by distilling of it in a glass Retort luted in a fire of suppression. 3. That Spirit of Niter is much better and not so corrosive as AF. and ought rather to be chosen for all inward Preparations; for with AF is made the red Corrosive, except which, and the Spirit of Niter no Spirit is sufficiently able to dissolve the Mercury. 4. That in the dissolution of Mercury, you use but a small heat, lest the Spirit should evaporate. 5. That the Calx of the Mercury made by the Spirit of Niter is white, which had it been done by AF would have been red. 6. That the affusion of the Sulphur, is to fix (in some measure) the Mercury, because the Oyl of Sulphur is a fixt Oyl; the Oyl of Vitriol is not so proper, because it is more Volatile. 7. That the affusion of warm water upon the Calx, dissolves the Salt, and causes it to grow yellow. 8. That the flagration of V S carries away those venomous Volatile Salts which washing with water could not. 9. That this preparation of Mercury, is nothing but a dissolution and calcination by the Spirit of Niter, and a fixation by the Oyl of Sulphur, being then freed from its malignant Salt and Sulphur by reiterated ablutions with Water, and flagrations with Spirit of Wine.

It purges strongly both upwards and downwards all foul and malignant humours: It cures the Pox, Gonorrhæa, Leprosie, Itch, Gout, Sciatica, Jaundice, and Dropsie: It cleanses the head, and all parts of the Body from impurities; there is scarcely a better remedy in desperate diseases. It is good against Poyson, Plague, Agues, Malign Feavers, Old Sores, Fistula's and rebellious Ulcers. It is so fixt that it will hardly flux, yet is nevertheless very violent, because it is not perfectly fixt; but indeed if it was all fixt, it would not be dissolved in the Stomach, and so would produce no other effect than as much Gold in Powder: Dose ʒ gr. iij ad vj. The Colledges way of making it is thus.

Colledge.) R. Of Crude Φ , Oyl of Vitriol separated from all the flegm, ana: Still them in Sand, increasing the fire by degrees, till all the moisture be blown up in the Air, a white mass remaining in the bottom which being separated from the crude Φ , wash in spring water, and forthwith it will be yellow; wash it in warm water, from all its Acrimony, dry it, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) which of these ways are best, we leave the knowing Artist to judge; we could make long Animadversions thereupon, but to avoid prolixity, are now willing to spare them.

44. Mercurius sublimatus Corrosivus, Corrosive sublimate.

Colledge.) R. Of Vitriol purified by solution, filtration, and coagulation, and calcined till it be yellow Hj . Bay Salt in like manner purified & dried, Nitre in like manner purified, A Hjs . Crude Φ cleansed by straining through leather or a linnen rag Hj ; bruise them all in a wooden Mortar with a wooden Pestle till the Salts are in powder, and no bits of the Φ are seen, which will be best done, if you do it at divers times; as for example sake, taking Vitriol and Φ , A 3j , Salt and Niter, A 3ls . at a time, and so forth, till the whole matter be brought into a powder and mixt: then put this matter into a glass body, so capacious, that it fill not above the one half of it; place the Glass a little above the middle in Sand, in a convenient Furnace, giving fire to it by degrees, even to the height. Twelve or sixteen hours being passed, the sublimate Mercury will stick to the top of the Glass, which being so separated and bruised sublime by it self, the second and third time, and finer if it be too impure, till it be as white as snow, and free from any dross.

Salmon.) In mingling the Ingredients in a Mortar, you will the easier reduce them to a paste, by sprinkling upon them distilled Vinegar. 2. That which is brought to us from Venice is far cheaper than we can make it. 3. That the Dutch often sophisticate it with Arsnick, by which it is made a greater Poyson; but you may discern the cheat, by dropping upon it a little Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, for if it be good, and without Arsnick, it will become as yellow as Gold; but if there be Arsnick in it, it will turn as black as any Ink. 4. That the best Venetian Sublimate is in little gr. as big as hempseed, that of Holland is in great pieces like Mineral Antimony or Bismuth. 5. That this Sublimate is nothing but Quicksilver calcin'd and incorporated with Niter, and the Spirits of common Salt and Vitriol by the fire. 6. That the Salt and Vitriol remain in the bottom almost as heavy as when they went in; for the fixt substance of the Salt and Vitriol serve only to hinder the melting of the Niter, and their Spirits by conjunction, to corrode the Mercury. 7. The common sublimate of the Shops is thus made. R. Quick-silver dissolved in A. F. dried Vitriol, common Salt decriptated, ana; mix them, and sublime. 8. Begin thus: R. of $\frac{1}{2}$ purified, Vitriol rubified, Salt decriptated, A $\frac{1}{2}$ lbj. Sal Niter $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj. mix and sprinkle a little Spirit of Vinegar, and sublime: R. of this sublimate $\frac{1}{2}$ lbj, Salt decriptated $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj, Vitriol rubified $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj, sublime again; then R. of this last sublimed $\frac{1}{2}$ lbj, Salt decriptated $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj, mix and sublime as before. If it be not fine enough, repeat the sublimation, till it is as you desire. 9. Some, as Hareman, prepares it with the Regulus of Antimony thus. R. purified Quick-silver Regulus A. $\frac{1}{2}$ lbj. Vitriol rubified $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj, Salt melted $\frac{3}{4}$ lbj. sublime in a glass sublimatory putting on Aqua Fortis, mix the sublimate with the Caput Mort. and sublime again, which repeat the third time.

These Sublimates are strong Poyson; they kill Rats and Mice, or any living Creature, by burning their Bowels, as if they had live coals in them. Their chief use is to make, 1. The Turbith Mineral of Horsius. 2. Mercurius dulcis sublimatus. 3. The Emetick Powder. 4. The Phagedenick water. If any be poysoned with it, the only Antidote is a very large quantity of fair water; all other things are in vain, but take heed you give no Oyl first, for although it may a little sheath the Acrimony, yet it will not dissolve the matter, but make it more perilous, for then water cannot operate upon it, to dissolve it, because it cannot penetrate the Oyl, with which it is as it were cloathed, &c.

45 Turpethum Minerale Horsii, The Turbith Mineral of Horsius,

R. of $\frac{1}{2}$ Sublimate in powder, dissolve it by boiling in Rain-Water, filterate the Solution into a glass vesfel; and put in by drops so much Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, as may precipitate all the Mercury, viz. so long as you can see a red or yellowish powder fall: being settled, decant the water, and sweeten the powder by washing in fair warm water with ablution: so often repeat, till the yellowish powder has lost all its sharpness: Then put upon it the best Aqua mellis, six or seven times rectified, cohobating so often, till the powder is perfectly freed from the salts, and fine. Lastly, put upon it S.V. rectified, a fingers breadth above the Mercury; set it on fire, and continually stir it with an Iron Spatula, till the S. V. is consumed by burning.

This is a truly noble Medicament, and has all the Virtues of the Turpetum Minerale, at Sect 43. being infinitely more gentle and friendly to nature, and truly more effectual. It is inferior to no simple preparation of φ whatsoever, and is called by Horsius the true and genuine Turbith Mineral; it generally works by sweat, sometimes by Stool and Urine, and sometimes (if the Stomach be foul) by Vomit: It is a perfect Cure for the French Pox, and beyond any other Medicine cures Ulcers of the Reins and Bladder; it cures all external Sores, Botches, Scabs, Fistula's, &c. whatsoever Dose à gr. iij. ad viij. Where note, that this is only the Gryphus Mercurij at Sect. 31. cohobated with rectified Aqua Mellis, and perfectly freed from all malignity by the flagration of SV.

46. Mercurius dulcis sublimatus seu Panchymagogen Minerale Quercetani, Sweet sublimed Mercury, or the tamed Dragon.

Coiledge.) & of corrosive Sublimate Hij, powder is, to which put Six of purged Quick-silver, incorporate them by beating in a Marble Mortar, till the Quick silver cannot be seen, (to which put so much distilled Vinegar, as may make the powder wet, or only moist:) put it into a small long necked Matraass (unluted, that you may see to the bottom,) which place above the middle in Sand; put first a gentle fire under it, then increase it by degrees six hours, that the φ may be driven from the bottom into the middle Region of the Matraass, which being separated from that at top and bottom, sublime it the second time, and the third, if need be (but abating the quantity of Crude φ) till it has lost its Acrimony, is freed from all impurity, and becomes white as Snow.

Salmon.) Where note, 1. You may take either the Venetian Sublimate or the other; or you may do it with Hartman's regulated Sublimate. 2. In bruising of it, stop your Nose, lest the vapours of the Sublimate should make your head ache, or cause some worse effect. 3. If there be in the new sublimate any spots of blackness, scrape them off, as also any kind of greyish Powder, which will be in good quantity in the neck of the Matraass (which scrapings may serve for external Unguents.) 4. Upon every new sublimation, reduce the matter into a small powder. 5. Let the Matraass be of that bigness, that there may be at least five parts empty, when the matter is in it. 6. That it matters not whether all be sublim'd, lest the sublimate being over-heated, should contract tract a yellowness. 7. That if it be good and insipid at the second sublimation; desist; for by much sublimation the purging force is abated, and oftentimes, the more it is sublimed, the blacker it grows. 8. that distilled Vinegar helps forward the corrosion of Mercury; Spirit of Vitriol would make it black. 9. That in the first sublimation, you must only give a gentle circular fire, to elevate and mix the Sublimate and Quick-silver together; but in the following sublimations you must give a greater fire, to raise the Sublimate to the middle of the Matrafs. 10. That when the sublimation is over, if you take not the Matrafs from off the fire, the Sublimate would be yellow, and sometimes blackish. 11. That the ϕ would rise so high, as to fly out of the Matrafs, were it not for the Salt and Vitriol, which are fixed. 12. That it would be much better to use equal parts of Sublimate and Quick-silver: for less Corrosive would be too little to corrode the other; and more, makes the matter difficult to be dulcified.

It purges by Stool chiefly, and is a great Secret against the Scurvy, Dropie, Pox, Gout, Plague, Yellow Jaundice, Pleurisie, Kings-Evil, and all other deplorable Diseases proceeding from putrefaction of Humours: It purifies the blood, and as Horselius says rectifies the very marrow in the bones. It is a singular Cathartick, and may merit the name of a Panacea. It brings forth all poisonous and vitious Humors, yet works not at all by vomit. It powerfully dries up Catarrhs, dissolves all Scirrhus and Scorbutick Tumors whether inward or outward, kills Worms, heals all sorts of Ulcers, whether Venereal or not, causing all old and malign Sores, Cancers, and Fistula's to heal: it is so safe, it may be given to Children: If you flux with it, it may be taken \dot{a} $\dot{\text{D}}$ $\dot{\text{ad}}$ $\dot{\text{Z}}$, augmenting the Dose for four days together. Otherwise you may give it gr. xv. or xx. at a time, and in strong Constitutions to $\dot{\text{Z}}$ ss. at most. It is best in some purging Extract or Powder of Coloquintida, or Scammony, and so made up into Pills, or mingled in the Pap of an Apple, and so taken. It may be given in all affects and Diseases, either at night going to bed, or after midnight, which is better. To Children you may give gr. viii. or x. with half as much Powder of Scammony; and to strong persons, if to gr. xvi. you add ϕ vire gr. ii. (being ground for about three hours together) and Scammony gr. xii. it will be much more powerful, and may be taken every other day. Where note, That you levigate the ϕ dulcis into a most impalpable Powder before you give it. You may take this sweet Sublimate with any of the former Precipitates in like manner, as with the corrosive Sublimate:

47. Præcipitati sublimatio, Precipitate sublimed.

Rx. ϕ dissolved in Spirit of Vitriol, and sweetned; Quick-silver, ana, sublime till it is sweet. This may you dulcifie yellow præcipitate, by subliming it alone.

These have all the Vertues of the former sublimate, and gently ly purge; the first 2 gr. xi. ad xii; the yellow in gr. viii.

48. Aqua Phagedænica, The water against Cankers.

Make a strong Lixivium of Quick-lime in boiling water, filter it into a Glass Bell, in ſibi, of which dissolve of corroſive Sublimate 3ls. ſtir them and there will be an Orange colour, and the ſublimate will fall to the bottom; if the water be too ſtrong, put upon it more Lime water, till it is as you would have it. But Fallopius makes it by putting into Lime water ſbi, Mercurius dulcis a ſufficient quantity (viz. 3ii.) and diſſolving it by boiling.

Either of theſe Phagedænic waters are good againſt inflammations, Fiſtula's, malignant and Venereal Ulcers, Sores, Cankers, Scabs, Puſtles, and other breakings out, as alſo the Itch, Leproſie, and the like, curing them without danger: firſt, waſh well with the water, then apply to the affect a Linnen Cloth dipt therein, ſo will the proud fleſh (if there be any) be conſumed, the putrefaction corrected, the Sore cleaned, and incarnated, and at laſt by its drying quality cicatrized and made well.

49. Sublimatum cum Nitro, Sweet Sublimate with Nitre.

Rx. Of ſublimated Precipitate (at Sect. 47.) what you pleaſe; and mix it with Sal Nitre, and ſome drops of Oyl of Salt and you have a liquid fat-like Talk.

It purges gently without troubling the Stomach, cools and opens obſtructions, and is reported to prevail againſt Agues. Doſe ʒi.

50. Panacea Mercurij Cathartica, the Purging Panacea of ʒ.

R. Of ʒ vitæ (made of ʒ precipitate p. ij. Antimony p. j.) 3ii. Quick-ſilver coming from the diſtillation of butter of Antimony 3i. ſublimate and make Mercurius dulcis.

It is more powerful than the common Mercurius dulcis, and is given 2 gr. v. ad ix. or x.

51. Arcanum Coralinum Cloſſæi; The Coraline Secret of Cloſſæus.

R. Vitriol, Salt, A. ſbi. Allum calcin'd, Quick-ſilver A. ſbi. mix them, ſublimate, and make a reverberating fire, increaſing it at the end; gather the red ſublimate, ſweeten, grind it, and digeſt it in ſpirit of Vinegar four fingers breadth above it three or four days, decant the Vinegar, put on more, and digeſt till no more will be diſſolved: abſtract the vinegar, and you will have a powder of an Orange-tawny colour, which edulcorate, by waſhing in hot water.

This has all the Virtues of the former Arcanum at Sect. 23. It purges all Humours, and may be given 2 gr. v. ad x. But it works better, if you mix with this Arcanum gr. viii, Aurum fulminans, Crocus Martis A. gr. iii: you may give it mixt with Extractum Ruſci.

52. Mercurius dulcis ſublimatus rubrus; Sweet red Sublimate.

Rx. Purified Quick-ſilver ſbi, Nitre well cleaned, Vitriol calcined red, A. ſbi. powder and mix them well, to which, put ſpirit of Vinegar, till the ʒ cannot be ſeen; ſublimate in ſand in a luted ſtill, which cover; firſt comes the ſlegm, then in 24 hours continuing a ſtronger fire, it will be ſublimed, the ſublimate is both red and yellow, mix them, adding Sal Nitre, Allum gently calcined, A. ſbi, Vinegar a ſufficient quantity, ſub-sublime as before 12 hours, so have you a red and yellow Sublimate: gather each a part, calcine yellow with a gentle fire till it be red, wash both with rose water, and farther correct by burning S.V. from them, where note, That the black matter which ascends with the ♀ into the head, must be cast away in all sublimations.

It purges chiefly by Stool, having all the virtues of Turpethum Minerale; it is a great secret in the French Pox, Dropsie, Gout, Scabs, Ulcers, Cankers, &c.

53. Laudanum Mercuriale, Mercurial Anodyne.

Rx. The Salt of the Caput Mort. of AF. (made of Vitriol and Niter) ℥xii. Quick-silver purified ℥iiii. Niter purified ℥ss. powder and mix them into paste with Vinegar, and sublime, so have you sublimate white, dark, yellow, Saffron coloured, and red: gather the Saffron coloured, and red, (casting away the other) and sublime them again alone in Sand with a strong fire, and all will be red, which correct with S. V. fired upon it.

It has according to Hartman all the Virtues of the former. Dose of both à gr. iij. ad viiij.

54. Cinnabaris Artificialis, Artificial Cinnabar of Paracelsus.

Rx. Sulphur ℥vj. or viij. melt it, and add to it Quick-silver lbij; stir them with a wooden Spatula, till they are united: being cold, grind them upon a Marble, and sublime in a luted sublimatory, first with a gentle, then with a strong fire: first ascends a yellow fume, then a red, then a black sh red, which when you see, make a violent fire 4 or 5 hours and the sublimed Cinnabar will stick to the sides, which take off, casting away the faeces at bottom and top. Or thus. Rx. Brimstone ℥iij. Mercury ℥iij. mix them; let the Sulphur burn till there is a black powder, then sublime twice, and you have a red, which is the Cinnabar.

It makes an exceeding good Colour: I have known it given with success to Children, against the Worms; and also put into Oyntments against the Itch, Scabs, and Pocky Boyls and Ulcers. Dose à gr. ij. ad iij.

55. Manna Mercurij, Golden panchymagogen.

Rx. Of ♀ dulcis what you please, elevate it by many sublimations, till it turns to fixed Chrystal, which dissolve into a Liquor, of which take ℥vj. Gold calcin'd ℥ij. mix, and digest 40 days; cohobate till it melt in the Still like Wax.

This is a great Specifick and Secret against the French Pox, Gonorrhæa, and all manner of Venereal evils, it eases pains in all parts, fetches ♀ away, although in the head: By this, Quick-silver is brought to the highest degree for Physick, and is made of wonderful Virtue for curing of the Kings Evil, Falling sickness, Vertigo, Megrim, and other Diseases of the Brain. It is no ways inferior, but contains all the Virtues of the Aurum Vitæ: It is a good Sudorifick, and cures chiefly by sweating. Dose à gr. iij. ad viij.

56. Flores Mercurij, Flowers of Quick-silver.

Rx. Of AR. (made of Niter, Salt, and three times as much Bole Armonick) lbj. Quick-silver ℥x. dissolve, abstract the AR. to two thirds, let it Chrystalize; then dissolve the Chrystal; upon which put

S. V.

S. V. Tartarized three inches above, putrifie or digest 40 days in B. M. in a Retort. Part of the S. V. being drawn out, take out the ☿ : sublime part of it with a strong fire, and part will be a red precipitate : to both mixed add Vinegar distilled, digest 24 hours, filter hot, and the dissolved ☿ will become like Silver flakes, Orient like shining Pearl, and the menstruum clear : Gather these flowers with a glass spoon, and dry them, (that they may not lose their Lustre) between brown Paper four times doubled. Gather Fresh flowers with other distilled Vinegar, cast on the remaining matter, which repeat three or four times.

They purge pleasantly and without Violence, are good against Corrupt humours, Scabs, Itch, Leprosie, Quotidian Agues, and have the Virtues of the Arcanum Coralinum : Dose gr. vj in a Pill made up with the juyce of Liquorice.

57. Liquor Mercurij, Liquor of Quick-silver.

Digest sublimate in a glass in a gentle heat for 40 days, then dissolve per deliquium.

It is designed against all old Sores, Ulcers, Fistula's, Leprosies and Malignant wounds.

58. Liquor Mercurij precipitati, Liquor of Precipitate.

Rx. Precipitate made with AF. digest it in S. V. till it is skarp, decant ; add more S. V. till the Acrimony is gone, and the Calx attenuated : then add Spirit of Vinegar, digest, decant and add more, till all the powder is gone into the Vinegar, abstract the Spirit of Vinegar, and lay the Powder in a Celler to melt with Rise-water : where note, that if the distilled Vinegar cannot dissolve the Calx, you must precipitate again. It has the Virtues of the Arcanum Coralinum, and may be given in the same Dose.

59. Liquamen Mercurij Sublimati, Liquor of Mercury sublimate.

Rx. ☿ precipitate, Sal Armoniack, A ʒi. sublime them, digest the sublimate with S. V. three Inches above for a week, then drive them through a Retort ; first comes the S. V. then the Oyl ; which in a cold place will be coagulated into a white Mass ; and afterwards in a Cellar be dissolved into Liquor.

The intention of this is to dissolve Gold ; and make it Volatile.

60. Oleum Mercurij reverberati Unexcri, Oyl of Mercury Reverberated.

Dissolve sublimate in AF. (made of Niter p. j. Sal Armoniack p. i.) digest in a close Vessel, then distil : levigate the remainder upon a Marble, and add more water so often, till all the sublimate remains fixed in the bottom : reverberate it about two hours gently ; grind it again ; digest with S. V. and abstract so long by cobabation till the ☿ turn to an Oyl. This may also be done with spirit of Vinegar, and then with S. V. brought to a kind of fat ; which distilled in sand, augmenting the Fire by degrees, gives you a milky Liquor, which digested and distilled, yields a white and sweet Oyl.

Either of these Oyls are very prevalent against the French-Pox, Gonorrhæa ; all Venereal Diseases, Gout, Dropsie, Cancers, Fistula's, Old Sores, Scabs, filthy Ulcers, Ulcerated Kidnies, and the Stone, used both internally and externally. Dose gut. iv.

61. Liquamen Mercurii cum Stanno, Liquor of ☿ with Tin.

R. Quick-silver, Tin, A. ℥iij, stratified, and add ☿ often sublimated ℥viij. dissolve by deliquium; digest the Liquor with VS. forty days; then abstract in B. M. (with a gentle fire lest the Oyl ascend) cobobate 5 times, and at the bottom you shall have Oyl of Mercury with Tin.

It has all the Virtues of the Oleum Mercurij rubrum, at Sect. 3. and may be used both internally and externally. Dose à gut. ij. ad vj.

62. Oleum Mercurij Diaphoreticum Hartmanni, Hartman, sweet Diaphoretick Oyl of Mercury.

R. Precipitate, beat and dissolve per deliquium upon plates of Iron, tinned over; put to it VS. distil by Cobobation till the Spirit grows sharp; then gently abstract the VS. and a sweet Oyl of ☿ will remain.

It has the Virtues of the former, and may be given in the same Dose.

63. Sulphur Mercurij, Sulphur of Mercury.

R. Amber of Antimony (at Sect. 42.) Extract the Sulphur with spirit of Vinegar; decant and abstract.

It is a powerful Sudorifick in the French Pox, and all dangerous and malign Diseases, as Plague, Spotted Fever, Small-Pox, Measles, &c. Dose gr. ij. or iij.

64. Aquila Cœlestis, The Mercurial Eagle.

R. Sublimate Corrosive (made with Salt and Vitriol) from which extract a yellow Tincture with distilled Vinegar in ten weeks; decant, and abstract the decanted liquor to dryness, so have you the Aquila Cœlestis in a red powder.

This Medicine is commended by Paracelsus almost in the highest degree for curing the French-Pox, Gout, Epilepsie, and most Diseases of the Head, rooting them out by sweat. Dose à gr. ij. ad iij.

65. Tinctura Mercurij, Tincture of Mercury.

R. Mercury of Antimony, p. j. red Oyl of Vitriol rectified, p. iij. abstract gently, that the Spirits may remain with the Mercury: then augment the fire, and some of the ☿ will be sublimed; which put to the ☿ in the bottom, and add as much fresh Oyl of Vitriol as before; abstract and sublime, repeating it thrice; then levigate it on a marble, putting on it a threefold quantity of VS. rectified: circulate till you see a separation, and the ☿ swim on the Oyl: after separate the Oyl circulate for 24 hours with spirit of Vinegar, so the Oyl will be weighty and sink, and the malignity of the Mercury will rest in the Vinegar.

Basil Valentine holds this as a Panacea, or Universal Medicine, prevalent against all Diseases, chiefly those of the Head and brain: It cures the Apoplexy, Epilepsie and Spasme, is good against the Vertigo, Megrim and Palsie and helps the loss of Memory. Dose ad gut. vj.

66. Sal Mercurij, Salt of Mercury.

R. Of the Body that remains after the preparation of the Stella ☿ or Oyl of ☿ at S. 5. upon which put the same fragrant Oyl: digest and extract the Salt of ☿ to the decanted extra-tion put V.S. digest, and abstract in ashes; and after it you shall have an Oyl of ☿, and the Salt at bottom.

It has all the Vertues of the Stella Mercurij, at Sect. 5. and a Secret against the French-Pox, and all Venerial Diseases. Dose ʒ gr. j. ad iij.

C A P. VIII.

Antimonium, Στίμυ, ⚥ Στίλ, זדדד, Zadadah, Antimony, or ⚥ Stibium.

1. Crude Antimony.

Antimony is a Mineral Body consisting of 1. A Mineral Sulphur, partly golden, partly combustible. 2. An undigested Mercury of the nature of Lead, being more concocted than Quicksilver. 3. Of a Saline and Earthy Substance. It is found in Germany, but the Hungarian and Transylvanian is best, having a Golden Oar in it, of an obscure red (from the great quantity of Sulphur) with bright long flakes: this has divers names, Basil calls it Oriental; Paracelsus the Red Lyon: some a Wolf, because it devours all Metals but Gold; some Proteus, because it changes it self into all Colours by fire; others, the Philosophers Saturn, because like Lead. The goodness is tryed by rubbing the powder of it with a smooth Dogs tooth upon yellow Paper, where if it leave a red spot thereon it is good: others take the Tincture of it with spirit of Vinegar, and evaporate it on an Iron Plate or Pot-sheard, where if it leaves a red Powder it is good also. Quercetan commends the Virtues of Antimony to the Skies and says it can never be praised enough. That which is Crude is drying and binding; it is said to make Cicatrizes or Scars, yet to eat off Excrecences, cures Diseases in the Eyes, and the Falling-sickness, if given in the Fit.

2. Antimonij Crudi Infusio, Infusion of Crude Antimony.

Rx. Of Crude Antimony ʒss, levigate it upon a Marble and infuse a night in ʒiij. of Rhenish or Canary Wine, then strain.

It makes one good Dose. Potterius saith, it both purges and vomits, and some say, it is an Universal Medicine against all Diseases.

3. Aqua Benedicta Rulandi, The Blessed water of Dr. Rulandus.

Rx. Glass of Antimony ʒj, Canary ʒvj. ss. digest in a gentle heat, till the Wine has a Scum (which is Poison)

Poyson filter the infusion and keep it for use.

This Brendelius takes to be the Aqua Ben. Rulandi, but his was made of a Crocus Metallorum: you may steep it in Rhenish Wine, Hydromel, Ale or other proper Liquor, and give ab ʒss, ad ʒiss; It is excellent against the Megrim, and Headach from a foul Stomach: it is good against the falling-sickness, Apoplexy, Pleurisie, Melancholy, Feavers, Plague, Gout, and stagnation of the Blood, and other Diseases arising from Obstructions. It may also be exhibited in Clysters against the Cholick.

4. Spiritus Vine Aureus Rulandi. Golden Spirit of Life of Rulandus.

Some think it to be the infusion of Troches Albandal; but this I had from a Manuscript. R. Crocus Metallorum ʒi. infuse it in the Tincture of Coloquintida, made with Cinamon water ℥ij, then filter it, and keep it for use.

This is an universal cleanser of mans Body, from head to foot, purging away all humours, and evacuating every kind of filth, both by vomit and stool: you may give ʒij. in some Cordial water or wine, and either increase or diminish the Dose as you see convenient. It provokes the Terms, and cures the Green-sickness in Virgins; give it not to Women with child.

5. Vitri Antimoni infusio Hartmanni, infusion of the Glafs of Antimony.

R. Of the Glafs ʒj. or ij. Canary Honey, or iv. set it in the Sun, or a sand digestion close stopp till the Liquor is of an Orange Colour, then filter and keep it for use.

It is an excellent Vomit, chiefly good in Pleurisies, Coughs, Asthma's, Lost Appetite, Quinies Wind, and many other Diseases in the middle Venticle. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒij; Some infuse about ʒss. of the Glafs whole, for some hours in a draught of Ale or Wine, and give the decanted Liquor: where note, that it is a wonderful thing, that the Glafs of Antimony loseth no Virtue by infusion, but will retain the same strength after more than a thousand infusions.

6. Aqua Ophthalmica à Croco Metallorum, Quercetani, Eye water from Crocus Metallorum.

R. Crocus Metallorum ʒij. infuse it in fennel Water ʒvj. filterate and keep it.

It is excellent against all soreness of the Eyes and suffusions, by only walking of them.

7. Oxysaccharum Emeticum, Vomiting Syrup of Vinegar.

R. Glafs of Antimony in powder ʒss. whitewine Vinegar ʒvij. Infuse them in a gentle Baïneo 24 hours, filter, add Sugar ʒiv, and make a Syrup.

It is a good Vomit against Surfeits, Quartan Agues, continual Feavers, and intermitting, as also against Poyson, and all Pestilent and contagious diseases, Small-Pox, &c. if given before they come forth. Dose à ʒij. ad ʒvij. Sala.

8. Syrupus Emeticus, The Vomiting Syrup of Angelus Sala.

R. Glafs of Antimony in powder ʒj. Cinnamon, Zedoarii ʒij. red Sanders ʒi. Saffron ʒss, Vinegar of Roses ʒxxx. Seeds of Angelica ʒij. digest in B.M. 24 hours; strain and filter: then with as much Sugar as is the weight of the Liquor, dissolved in Rose-water make a Syrup.

It evacuates all Vicious Humours out of the Ventricle by Vomits; and has the Virtues of the former. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒiij. what Vitrum Antimonij and Crocus Mercuriorum are, we shall in their proper places shew.

9. Tinctura Antimonij, Tincture of Antimony.

Colledge.) Rx. Of the best Antimony, Salt of Tartar, of each what you please, melt them in a Crucible red hot, for the space of half an hour: then the matter being taken out and freed from the faeces, whilst hot, let them be reduced into powder: to which put of the best spirit of Wine, so much as may cover to the breadth of three or four fingers: digest them together for some time, till the Tincture is extracted, after which evaporate the superfluous part of the Spirit of Wine.

Salmon.) Basil Valentine is the Author of this Medicine: who concerning Tinctures of Antimony saith, that the distilled Vinegar fixeth the purging force of them, so that they only work by Urine, sweat and spitting; although afterwards extracted with S. V. whereas on the contrary S. V. increaseth the purging faculty; where note, 1. That Tincture of Antimony, is only a piece of Antimony dissolved in a proper Menstruum, and exalted. 2. That it is most commonly extracted with Acids, and exalted with Alkalies or S. V. 3. That in the former prescript Basil orders the Calx to be washed with hot water. 4. That although before abstraction the S. V. and Tincture are imbodyed together; yet afterwards the S. V.

cannot be again mixed with the Tincture, but will always swim at top.

This Tincture is a most Excellent thing to open all Obstructions of the inward parts, as Liver, Spleen, Lungs, Womb, Reins, Bladder, Stoppage of the Terms, Green-sickness, Jaundice, Dropsie, Consumption, Asthma, Pleurisy, Melancholy, Ulcers inward and outward, Scabs, Itch, French Pox, Feavers, Continual Putrid, and Pestilential, Cachexia, Measles, Small-Pox. Dose à gr. iij. ad xij. in Sack.

10. Tinctura Antimonij Fabri, Fabers Tincture of Crude Antimony.

From Antimony in powder extract a red Tincture with spirit of Vitriol, by digestion Philosophically in ashes: then decant and abstract the Spirit in B. M. with a gentle fire, till the drops be yellow: to the remaining Tincture, add S. V. rectified, and abstract it in B. M. with a gentle fire, till the drops are yellow again: then change the recipient, and with a stronger fire, force out the Tincture.

It is chiefly Sudorifick, yet sometimes purges and vomits: It is a most excellent Traumatick and Balsam, curing wounds both inward and outward; It also cures Poyson, and the Leprosie; and expels all venomous and malignant Diseases. Dose à gr. iij. ad viij.

11. Balsamum Vite Basilij, Basils Balsam of Life.

V. as before saught.

It cures Consumptions, Hypochondriack Melancholy, Black Jaundice, Dropsie, Gout, and Scurvy. Dose the quantity of g. j. twice a day in Syrup of Harts tongue.

25. Tinctura Antimonij cum

Nitre, Tincture of Antimony with Nitre from K. ster.

R. Nitre purified with Sulphur, Antimony, ana, mix and reverberate for five or six days, keeping the Crucible continually red hot: take it out, and sweeten it: Extract first with Spirit of Vinegar, then exalt the Tincture with S.V.

It is a Sudorifick, and expels all Malign and Venomous Diseases; Sometimes it Purges. Dose à gr. iij. ad gr. v.

26. Tinctura Sulphuris Aurei Antimonij, Tincture of the Golden Sulphur of Antimony.

It is extracted out of the Golden Sulphur, by digestion in S.V. decanting, and abstracting to the thickness of Honey.

It is Sudorifick, but chiefly Cathartick, purging gently, not the first, but the third day: It strengthens the whole Body, restores in Consumptions, cures Feavers and the Gout. Dose à. gr. j. ad iv.

27. Tinctura, seu Antidotus Antimonij aurea, The Gold-like Antidote.

R. The Precipitated Flowers of the Regulus of Iron, reverberate them till they are yellow; put them into Philosophick distilled Vinegar; Extract a Tincture (leaving a white sediment:) separate the Menstruum by Ashes; and the remainder, which is a light red powder, reverberate three hours; then put to it Spirit of Juniper, and digest, so will nearly all the powder unite with the Spirit, and be a glorious red Tincture.

This is a Medicament of Wonderful Virtue, and (as Quercetan faith) equal with Aurum Potabile. It Digests, Dissolves, Is Sa-dorifick, Alexipharmick, Analeptick and Pectoral. It opens and cures all internal Impostumes, dissolves congealed Blood, takes away putrefaction and corruption, is powerful against the Scurvy, Dropsie, Gout, Kings-evil, Plague, Poyson, French-Pox, Leprosie, and many other Diseases. Dose à gut. vj. ad x.

28. Tinctura & Balsamum Reguli Antimonij, Tincture and Balsam of the Regulus of Antimony.

Digest powder of Regulus in B.M. with Spirit of Turpentine, till it is red, decant, abstract the Spirit, adding water, then dissolve in S.V. digest and abstract.

It is an excellent Pectoral; eminent against Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, spitting of Blood, Ulcers in the Lungs, Peripneumonia, Consumptions, &c. Dose gr. iij. or gr. iv. in some other pectoral Liquor.

29. Tinctura florum Reguli Antimonij, Tincture of the Flowers of Regulus.

R. Red flowers of the Regulus of Iron, reverberated in a close Glass four days; from which extract a Tincture with Radicate Spirit of Vinegar: abstract the Menstruum by distillation, and extract a new Tincture with S.V. then extract the spirit to dryness.

It is a Medicine of that universal purport that few can parallel it; for it rectifies most Distempers of the Stomach, frees the body from Excrements, it takes away Flegm, comforts the Spirits, restores and augments the natural heat, is an admirable thing against the Scurvy, Cachexy, and the Green-sicknels in Virgins: It takes away Scabs, Itch, Scurf, and Morpew, cleanses the whole Mass of Blood of all putrefaction, and cures the Kings-Evil Leprosy, and French-Pox. And if instead of the Regulus of Iron, you use the Regulus of Tin, it prevails against Fits of the Mother, and the Cholick. Dose à gr. iv. ad. viij.

30. Tinctura Antimonij cum Auro, The Tincture of Mercury of Antimony with Gold.

Rx. Of Gold purified with Antimony ʒiſ. Mercury of Antimony ʒiij. stratifie, wash, and cleanse, and extract a bright Rubine like Tincture; use divers Cobobations with the less r Circulate of Paracelsus, which at last separate from the Tincture.

This is said to be an Antidote or Gift sent from God, from the many Vertues which it has; It cures the Plague and all Pestilential Feavers, expels the Small-Pox and Measles, cures Morpew, Scabs, Itch, and Ulcers, Leprosy, Gout, Scurvy, and other great Diseases. Dote à gr. iij. ad v. in Treacle water.

31. Antidotus Antimonij Quercetani, Quercetan's Antidote of Antimony.

Rx. Flowers of Antimony (calcined white per se, sublimed with Sal Armoniack, and sweetened) to which put Philosophical Spirit of Vinegar, digest several weeks to redness; then decant and distil to dryness, sweeten the powder by washing, and put to it Aqua Vitæ of Coral, (or the burning spirit of Coral) extract a clear Tincture, then with a strong fire, by a Retort, drive out a red Oy, with the Aqua Vitæ, which keep for use without separation.

This, as Quercetan saith, is a true and always to be admired Balsam of Life, curing Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Palsies, the Scurvy, French Pox, Morpew, Itch, Leprosy, Plague, and all Pestilential Diseases, purifying the whole Mass of Blood. Dose à gut. 6 ad x. xij. or more.

32. Tinctura ex Oleo Antimonij, Tincture from Oyl of Antimony,

Rx. Sugared Oyl of Antimony, digest it with Spirit of Vinegar three or four inches above it, abstract it, so have you a very red Tincture at bottom. This Tincture Kessler exhales with S.V. and then draws it off again.

This has the Vertue of the former and purges by Stool, in gr. iij.

33. Tinctura ex Regulo stanni, Quercetan's Tincture of the Regulus of Tin.

Rx. The Sulphur of the Regulus of Tin sweetened, extract a Tincture with a Spirit drawn from Honey and Vinegar, and acuated with its own Sale: abstract the Menstruum, and coagulate ten days with the burning spirit of Juniper; then distil by a Retort with many Cobobations, and separate the Spirit of Juniper from the sweet Tincture at bottom.

It is a good Pectoral, and cures all Diseases of the Lungs: It is excellent against Pleurisy, Althma's, the Pneumony, and Consumptions. Dose à gut. iij. ad vi.

34. Tinctura Florum Antimonij, seu Lilium Paracelsi, Tincture or Lilly of Paracelsus.

Rx. Antimony, Sal Armoniack. ana. drive them through a Retort: but nothing but faces remain; take these flow-

flowers sweeten them, and reverberate in a close Vessel to redness; then with S. V. rectified, extract a Tincture, which evaporate to the thicknes of an Oyl.

It strengthens the Stomach, is good against all Feavers, Quotidian, Tertian, and Quartan, Melancholy, Fits of the Mother, black Jaundice, Scurvy, Gout, Dropfie, Morpew, Scabs, Itch, Leprosie, Terms stopt, and all Obstructions both of Liver and Spleen. It cleanses and restores the whole body, and mixt with Extractum Rudi, and Tincture of Coral, purges gently, Dose à gr. iij. ad viij. Where note, That Quercetan, Potter, and Sala, think that the dark red flowers sublimed by Sand, and those reverberated to redness, are as good as these.

35. Arcanum Antimonij Basilii, Basil's Secret of Antimony.

Rx. Of the Flowers of which the Lilly is made (before they are reverberated) to which put rectified spirit of Vitriol; circulate so long till they are very well united, then distill, and add S. V. and draw a Tincture by Circulation from the faeces being settled, which if you will, you may rectify again.

It strengthens the Stomach, fortifies the heart, revives the Spirits, causeth a good Appetite, takes away the Hypochondriack Melancholy, is good against the Cholick and fits of the Mother, and indeed has all the virtues of the former, Dose gr. j. or ij.

36. Tinctura Antimonij Oleosa, Oily Tincture of Antimony.

It is made by boiling crude Antimony finely powdered in Oil of Turpentine, covering it four or five singers high in a strong glass Vesica placed in Sand, so long till it be highly tinged: after which (if you please) you may gently abstract the Oyl till it leave behind a body of a Balsamick consistence and deep redness.

This has power to resolve hard Tumors, and help outward evils better than the Balsam of Sulphur. Where note, That being more abstracted, you may with S. V. draw a powerful Tincture, which again freed from the Spirit by abstraction, would have the consistence of liquid honey, and be an excellent Balsam, having all the virtues of the Lillies of Antimony aforesaid.

37. Sulphur Antimonis Hartmanni, Hartman's Sulphur of Antimony.

Rx. Crude Antimony, grind it fine, and put on it a strong Lixivium of Lime-water, digest it six days, and nights: then filter, and by gentle boiling bring it to a red powder.

It performs all that the Crocus Metallorum will do, which it doth by purging and vomiting. Dose à gr. ij. ad v. Where note, That these Sulphurs are commonly drawn forth either with distilled Vinegar, or with a strong Lixivium, the Composition of which here follows. 1. Rx. Sal Tartari, Calx vive, Salt, ana, dissolve in water and filter it. 2. Or thus, Rx. Ashes of Bean stalks, common Ashes, Quick-lime, ana, make a Lixivium. 3. Or thus: Take Quick-lime lbj. water lbxv. dissolve and filter.

38. Sulphur Antimonij Beguini, Beguinus his Sulphur of Antimony.

Rx. Powder of Antimony, boyl it in a strong Lixivium, then precipitate with rain water, impregnate with the spirit of Vinegar.

The Virtues and Dose are the same with the former. It Vomits faster than many other Antimonial Medicines.

39 Sulphur Croci Metallorum, Sulphur of the Crocus of Metals.

Boyl the Crocus in a strong Lixivium (as in the sweetening of it: decant and precipitate with distilled Vinegar drop by drop).

It has the Virtues of Crocus Metallorum, but it is finer, yet given in the same Dose.

40. Sulphur Croci Metallorum Clossæi, Clossæus his Sulphur of Crocus.

R. Antimony, Tartar, both in powder, A. ℥iij. Cement them five hours in a red hot Crucible; then boyl it in Vinegar two hours; strain, and coagulate.

It is like the former in Virtue.

41. Sulphur Antimonis Calcinati, Sulphur of Calcined Antimony.

R. Antimony, Tartar, ana, mix and melt them: put them into a pot full of warm water, digest 24 hours, decant, and precipitate by dropping in Vinegar, or by decocting. Or thus, R. Iron ℥iij. melt it, and add Antimony ℥vj. put into Spirit of Vinegar, then decant and precipitate. Or thus R. Filings of Iron ℥iij. Antimony vj. Sulphur as much, mix and cast on them as they are melting Niter and Tartar gradatim, melt all together, then extract the Sulphur by boiling in a strong Lixivium, and precipitate with distilled Vinegar.

This Medicine excellently opens Obstructions, is good against the Cachexia, Green-sickness, yellow Jaundice; and most oppressions of the Bowels and Stomach, it works by Stool, and may be given a gr. iij. ad viij.

42. Sulphur ex Regulo Antimonii cum stanno, Sulphur of the Regulus of Tin.

R. Make a Crocus of the Regulus of Jupiter and Niter, by fire (not being washed) in a strong Lixivium, decant and precipitate with spirit of Vinegar. Or thus: R. Crude Antimony with Tin precipitate by A.R. and edulcorate. boyl it in a strong Lixivium of Tartar, decant, evaporate the humidity, and at bottom is the Sulphur. It has the Virtues of the former, but it is a specifics against fits of the Mother. Dose a gr. ij. ad vi.

43. Sulphur Auratum Antimonii, Golden Sulphur of Antimony.

Boyl the dross which is separated from the Regulus in a Lixivium, filter, and with Vinegar precipitate a Golden Sulphur, sweeten it by washing it in a large quantity of Rain water.

It is a Vomit; and sometimes it both vomits and purges. I have known it given four or five times in a pleurisy with great success. Dose gr. vj.

44. Sulphur Cinnabaris Antimonii, seu Sulphur verum Antimonii. The true Sulphur of Antimony.

R. Powder of the Cinnabar of Antimony, boyl it in the second sort of Lixivium, at Sect. 37. (or of Salt of Tartar of Niter and Lime for the space of four hours; decant the Lixivium from the Quick-silver at bottom, filter, and set it leaning, that the red Sulphur may settle, which sweeten with hot water, and dry gently, so have you the true Sulphur of Antimony.

This is excellent good in the obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Mesentery, Womb, and Hypochondrys, &c. It cau es expulsion (both by vomit and stool) of all evil humors in the whole body. Dose a gr. ij. ad v.

45. Panacea Sulphuris Antimonij, the Antimonial Heal-all.

Rx. Of the former Sulphur at Sect.

44. Regulus of Antimony, A. 3j Oyl of Sulphur per Campanum, or rectified Oyl of Vitriol 3liij. digest ten days or more in gentle heat; then distil in Sand with a glass Retort; (Cohobate four or five times) then urge it twelve hours with a fire of the highest degree, to force all over, which take, wash with Rose-water and dry; but the powder will be the better if it be reverberated for five or six hours. Then take of this powder 3j. Magistery of Coral 3ij. mix them.

It is an excellent Sudorifick, and as Agricola and Harman say, a universal Medicine to cleanse the Blood, and cure all hard, difficult, malign and Chronick Diseases curable by sweat, chiefly the French-Pox, Leprosie, Scurvy, and Epidemick Diseases. Dose ʒss. ad 3j.

46. Nix Antimonij Diaphoretica, Diaphoretick Snow of Antimony.

Rx. Of Sulphur of Antimony (at Sect. 37. or 38.) 3j. Oyl of Vitriol 3ij. mix them in a Retort, and they will be black as Pitch: ferment it 12 hours, and by reverberation you will have a sharp water, and at bottom a Powder white as Snow.

It powerfully causes sweat, brings forth the Small-Pox and Measles, and kills worms; with it you may make an excellent Cosmetick, thus: Rx. Hogs Lard lbj. Sheeps Suet lbij. Orris roots ʒiv. Cloves, Coriander, Benjamin, Storax Calamite, Calamus Aromaticus, A. ʒij. Lavender flowers ʒvi. boyl them with sliced Apples lbj. Rose water lbij. in B. M. for 12 hours in a glass Body, strain into a glassed Vessel, and when it is cold take away the water and the faeces; then melt with a gentle heat, and in a hot Mortar stir till it is white, to every ounce of which put of this Snow of Antimony ʒj. Musk gr. ij.

47. Liquor ex Scoria Reguli Antimonij, Liquor of the Dross of Regulus.

Rx. Of the Dross of Regulus, put it into a Cellar, and it will dissolve because of its mixture with Tarter and Niter.

It is intended against all manner of fretting Sores, foul and eating Ulcers, Fistula's, and such like.

48. Liquor ex Sale Vitri Antimonij, Liquor of the Salt of Glass of Antimony.

It is made by melting it in the white of an Egg, or a Bryonyo Radish Root made hollow, and put in a Cellar.

Outwardly used it has the Virtues of the former, and keeps all Wounds from putrefaction: Inwardly it stops Catarrhs, is good against the Gout, Sciatica, Scurvy, cold and moist Diseases, and fits of the Mother. Dose ad gut. x, or more.

49. Mercurius Antimonij, The Mercury of Antimony,

Dissolve Sal Armoniack in distilled rain water, on which put powder of crude Antimony; digest ten days, decant, and evaporate, so have you a white sweet powder, which melted yields yields an excellent Lead, which according to Agricola is the Mercury of Antimony. Or thus, according to Basil, Digest Regulus levigated in the following Spirit of Salt for three days, then with a gentle heat, abstract the flegm, to the remainder add four times as much filings of Iron, put all into a Retort, and with a strong fire distil into a Receiver half full or more of water. so shall you see the running of Quick-silver at bottom, Basil also shews another way thus, Steep powder of Antimony in Spirit of Tartar impregnated with Sal Armoniack, then sublime it; and stir it in a fying-Pan, till the Mercury runs.

It is of great power and force, and has all the Virtues of Quick-silver; but its chief use is in making Tinctura Antimonii cum Auro. The Spirit of Salt for the former work is thus made. R Volatile Salt of Urine, Common Salt, Sal Armoniac, and Tartar, and mix and put to them the Spirit of Vinegar, digest in a luted Vessel an hour, then in ashes distil to dryness: to these Salts thus dried lbx. add Trispoli lbxxx. and draw a Spirit by a Retort with a strong fire.

30. Vitrum Antimonii, Glafs of Antimony.

Colledge.) Take of the best Antimony as much as you please, beat it into fine powder, put it into a Pottery Vessel (not Glafs) over a fire of Charcoal in an open air, continually stirring it with an Iron rod, till it grow into clots; beat it again into powder, and do as before, till it coagulates, which so often repeat, till the Antimony is reduced to white Cinders, and smok not being cast upon red hot Plates of Iron. Then take of this Calx lbs, of Borax or Chrisocolla 3ss. put them into a Crucible, which cover with a Tile, put it into a strong fire, till the matter flows like water, then let it be cast into a brass Vessel, or upon Copper Plates, and keep the Hyacinth coloured glafs for use.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted, 1. That of this Calx before it is made into Glafs, you may make an excellent Diaphoretick, and an Antidote against the Plague, being burnt in a Crucible till its white colour become yellowish, of which you may give gr. iij. in Canary. 2. That for want of a brass Vessel or Copper Plates, you may pour the melted Calx upon a Stone. 3. That if it be black and porous you still melt it, till it be clear. 4. That to hasten the calcination, you may add as much common Salt, which you may afterwards wash away with water, and then with Spirit of Vinegar. 5. That it is best made the ☉ and ☽ being in Pisces, or in watery signs. 6. That the glafs is the better being often cohobated with Spirit of Vinegar, Vitriol or Sulphur, for that makes the purple colour vanish, and the Glafs becomes white, whereby its Emericke property is much corroborated, and so only purges, being then a true Cure for all sorts of Peavers. 7. That the Glafs of the Mineral is made by calcining it with equal parts of Sal Niter, and then melting them. 8. That if you mix the Glafs of Antimony with yellow Sulphur, and melt it again to Glafs, it will be red; so also if mixt with Orpiment, but that is dangerous. Or thus, melt crude Antimony in a Crucible, dip it in Iron, and shake off what sticks to it, which do till all the Antimony is drawn out, then melt it again so often till being powdered it is of a Scarlet colour.

9. That if Antimony ʒij . be mixt with Borax ʒviii . melted, you have (as Basil saith) first a yellow Glas, then a white, 10. That if to crude Antimony ʒij . you cast in with a Spoon, Salt decrepitated, Sal Niter decrepitated, Caput Mort. of AF. ana ʒij . and after the powders are spent, pour it into a hot Mortar, you shall have the black glas of Clossius.

It purges gross and clammy Humours from the Stomach and other parts both upwards and downwards: It cures Green-sickness, resists Poyson and Plague, chiefly if taken with Vinegar, for so it sweats: It is excellently good in Gouts, Dropsies and all malignant Feavers: It vomits strongly, and therefore is only to be given à gr. ij. ad iv. In Infusion à gr. iv. ad viij. Clossius his Black glas is good to purge Metals with; and being mixt with a quarter part of Lead, it purges Gold as the Regulus doth, 51. Vitrum Antimonii Diaphoreticum, Sudorifick glas of Antimony.

Digest the impalpable powder of the glas of ♀ in a large quantity of distilled Vinegar, then melt it of en.

Libavius saith, It is an excellent Diaphoretick. Dose à gr. ij. ad ii. ad iii. you may give it in malignant Feavers and the Plague.

52. Vitrum Reguli Antimonii, Glas of the Regulus of Metal.

Rx. The Powder of the Metal of Antimony, calcine it, stirring it continually lest it melt before the smoke cease; then melt it, and pour it out, so have you a delicate fine Glas.

This has the Virtues of the former, but may be given to gr. v. or vi. Where Note, that if you add Sea-Salt, the glas will be yellow.

53. Vitrum Antimonii solare, glas of Antimony with Gold.

Rx. Hungarian Antimony ʒxxvj . fine Gold ʒj , melt them, and pour it out being cautious it may not turn to a Regulus; powder the matter, calcine it till it smoaks no more, then with a strong fire melt it, and pour it out, so have you a red transparent Glas, leaving in the Crucible the Gold half spent. Or thus, of the Regulus. Rx. Of the Regulus ʒxxvj . fine Gold ʒj . melt, and powder them, then calcine without melting, till the fumes cease, then with a strong fire melt, and pour out the Glas.

Of the first of these, is made the Tincture of Antimony aforesaid, with which the latter is said to sweat, being given à gr. iij. ad vi. but because the Glas of Antimony by its violent working very much afflicts the Body. It is corrected as followeth.

54. Vitri Antimonii Correctie, Glas of Antimony corrected.

Rx. Powder of the glas of Antimony levigated, and either, 1. steep it in Spirit of Vinegar and dry it. Or, 2. Digest it in spirit of Salt, to be decanted extraction add water; so will there remain a powder. Or, 3. Dissolve it in Oyl of Tartar per deliquium; then drop upon the solution Spirit of Vatriol, that it may turn to Crystals, which dry.

Of the first of these is made Crollius his Antimonial Pills, and the Electuary of Antimony. The Second is a powder both Cathar-

tick

thartick and Emetick, yet works without Violence, being given à gr. ij ad vi. The third has the same Virtues being given in gr. iij or iv.

55. Vitrum Antimonij Catharticum, Purging glass of Antimony.

R. Of the glass levigated, Oyl of Sulphur per campanum, Spirit of Vitriol, A. 3i. mix them very well and dry them by a gentle fire, which repeat 7 or 10 times, then imbibe it with S.V. impregnated with Mastick, which exhale, and dry the powder in a glass.

It has all the Virtues of the glass of Antimony, and only purges downwards being given à gr. i. j. ad v. Of this Hartman makes Antimonial Pills; and it is better than that at Sect. 54 for that it is, as also for Scillarius Electuary.

56. Catharticum Minerale, The Mineral Cathartick.

Digest powder of the Glass of Antimony levigated in Spirit of Vitriol or Sulphur nit red fixt, two inch above it; digest it gently, so will you have a blackish purple Spirit.

It is a most excellent Catholick and Universal Purge against all Obstructors whatsoever in Mans body: It fortifies the Stomach, scours and cleanses the Bowels, cures the Green sickness, opens all Obstructions, and brings Health in an unknown way. Hartman saith, it purges downwards from gut. vi. ad x.

57. Antimonium cum Nitro Calcinatum, Antimony Diaphoretick.

Colledge R. Of the best Antimony p. i. pure Nitre p. ii. bruise the Antimony, then add the Nitre to it, then bring them both into powder, which burn in a Crucible, which will be most conveniently done, if you put it into the Crucible red hot, by degrees with a spoon, or some such like Instrument: then take it out and beat it again, and mix it with the same quantity of Nitre as before; put it into the Crucible upon hot Coals, and putting into it live Coals, fire it; stirring it with an Iron Rod, that it may burn every where equally; when there needs, put in more fresh Coals: at length take it out, and beat it into powder, and wash it in distilled water, or other pure water, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) In the old Dispensatory, it was ordered to be three times Calcined with Nitre, here but twice: In that, it was either well done or ill done: If well done, what makes it, that it is now altered? If ill done, why was it so long, yet at all imposed upon the People to their prejudice? Again, since it may be dubious who is in the Error, whether the present Fellows of the Colledge may not be as liable to the Censure of Ignorance as their Predecessors, since there are no distinguishing Signs known or apparent, to discover the difference? if they say, Yea, why should they again de novo impose upon us? if they say, Nay, how then shall we be satisfied? But the Reader is desired to take notice, 1. That as this is intended for Antimonium Diaphoreticum, so it ought to be thrice calcined, that the Antimony may be thoroughly divested of both its Emetick and Cathartick properties, viz. its Volatile Salt and Sol-

Sulphur 2. That it is better done with the Regulus, than with Crude Antimony, and yet better with the Regulus of Mars, because that is more purified from its venomous parts. 3. That the Nitre ought to be very fine and pure, because the Common cannot perform the work. 4. That some take four times the quantity of Nitre to that of Antimony. 5. That after the detonation is over, it ought to be kept a while upon the fire till all the fumes are perfectly vanished, and no longer, lest it recover again its Emetic and Cathartic qualities. 6. That you well edulcorate the matter before, every new Calcination, and at last by much washing, because the fixed Salt of the Nitre remaining in it, would cause it to Vomit, which by many lotions is dissolved and extracted. 7. That if you Evaporate the Edulcorating water, it will yield an Antimonial Lapis prunella. 8. That Basil Circulates this Antimony Diaphoretick with Spirit of Wine, then burns it, then reverberates, and at last dissolves the remaining powder per deliquium. This Medicament is a powerful Diaphoretick and Diuretick, a great aperitive and deopillative, opening all Obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Mesentery, Reins, Womb, and other parts. It is good against Stoppage of the Terms, Green-sickness, Dropfie, Melancholy, Ulcers of the French-Pox, the Scirvy, Scabs, Itch, Measles, Small-Pox, Plague, and all Malignant Feavers: mixt with Venice Turpentine, it is good against all old Gonorrhoeas, the Whites and Distempers of the Reins: you may give a gr. x. ad 3℥.

58 Antimonium Diaphoreticum cum Tartaro, Diaphoretick Antimony with Tartar.

Rx Of the former Antimony Diaphoretick, Salt of Tartar A ʒij. melt them 4 or 5 hours, then powder, and a solvo per deliquium. After take of that Dissolution ʒij. spirit of Vniol ʒij. put in the spiritus gustatum, and a powder will precipitate, which dry, and keep for use. Or thus, Boil common Antimony Diaphoretick in water 6 or 8 hours, filter and sprinkle upon it spirit of Vinegar, so there will precipitate a white powder, which Basil in his Triumphans Charlot calls fixed Flowers, much exceeding the common Diaphoretick; at Sect. 57.

These have all the Vertues of that at Sect. 57. and much more powerful for inward Imposthums, French-Pox, &c. given with Spirit of Guaiacum. Dose a gr. v. ad xv. for five or six days together, or more.

59 Circus Metallorum, Liver of Antimony.

Colledge. Rx Of the best Antimony, Sal Nitre, Ana, beat them into powder severally, mix them together, and put the mixture into a hot Crucible with a spoon or ladle, or other convenient Instrument: let it be stirred till the noise ceaseth, then remove it from the fire, and cool it, break the Vessel, and separate the red matter from the white Crust, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) Where note: 1. That Common Nitre is good enough for this Medicine (for it is none of the best.) 2. That the Crucible be red hot, before you put your your matter in. 3. Put in the matter by degrees, for so the flagration and detonation is the better performed, and cover the Crucible close every time after you cast the matter in. 4. That after the Niter is consumed, you still encrease the fire, till the Antimony is melted. 5. That you sweeten the Crocus with water. 6. If into that water (after it is decanted) you drop Vinegar, you will precipitate a finer Crocus called Sulphur Auratum. 7. Or if you evaporate away the said water a little, you may make Crystals, or Antimonial Lapis prunelle.

It is a violent Medicament being both Cathartick and Emetick: It is good against pains of the head from a foul Stomach, Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Pleurifies, Feavers, Melancholy, Plague, Coagulation of the Blood, Gouts, Rheumations, &c. Dose à gr. iij. ad vj. some give viij. you may give it in Clysters boyled in a mollifying decoction à ʒss. add ʒj. against the Cholick: It serves to make the Emetick Wine with, by putting ʒj. of it to infuse in Beer, Ale, Sider, Rhenish-Wine, Sack, &c. ℞ij. of which you may take ab ʒj. ad ij. but in Clysters ab ʒiv. ad vj.

60. Crocus Reguli Antimonij, Liver of the Regulus of Antimony.

℞. Regulus of Antimony, Sal Niter, ana, melt them; then (the Scales being removed from the sides) edulcorate first with water, then dry; then wash with S. V. which decant. Florstius.

It Purges more than Vomits in gr. x. being mixed with Diagredium or Mercurius dulcis.

61. Crocus Metallorum, Rulaidi, Rulandus his Liver of Metals.

℞. Antimony, Niter, Salt, ana, powder them apart, mix them, and put them into a Luted Vessel with a hole left at the top; set it in a Wind Furnace, blow with a pair of Bellows till all melt, and it ceases fuming: Increase the fire for a quarter of an hour; then take it off, and you have Antimony at bottom, almost like Cinnabar, and separated from the Sales, like Regulus, which powder, and keep for use.

It is doubtful what the Crocus of Rulandus was: Quercetanus thinks it the same with the vulgar: Brenndel takes Glafs of Antimony for it, but that is a Mistake: Hareman thinks it only differs in the preparation, and gives what we have just now recited, which Tentzelus and Mylius also approve. It has all the Virtues of that at Sect. 59. aforegoing, but purges most downwards, and is indeed a very Excellent Medicine. Dose à gr. iij. ad vj. or viij. you may give it in Clysters as the former.

62. Pulvis Anglicanus, The Albion Powder.

℞. Of the best Antimony as much as you please, calcine it alone: Then take of the aforesaid Calx. and Niter A ℞j. White Tartar ℞ss: mix and calcine till the detonation is over: repeat the last work again; and the third time, adding Niter, Tartar and Sulphur of each equal parts: lastly wash it with hot water till it is sweet.

It is accounted an Universal Medicine against all Diseases: It opens all manner of Obstructions, provokes the Terms, Cures the the Green-sickness, Sufseits, gripping of the Guts, the Cholick, Small-Pox, Plague, all sorts of Agues and Feavers whatsoever, Gout, Sciatica, Jaundice, Dropsie, Pleurisie, Fits of the Mother, Distempers of the Spleen, &c. Dose à ʒss, ad ʒj.

63. Pilula Albæ, The white Pills.

Rx. Glass of Antimony, or Q vitæ, gr. iiii. white starch boyled to a paste, so much as may make it into two or three Pills.

This is the Mountebanks Catholicon, or Universal Pill used in the Cure of all Diseases: of it self it is strangely Violent, and not safe: yet you may give the former quantity for one Dose, if you give broth after it, very well seasoned with Salt, and that without any danger; for although of it self it is a most strong Emetick, yet the salt broth being given after it, it will not vomit so much as once, but altogether work downwards with a world of gentleness and safety, and may then indeed open all Obstructions in mans Body, and be thereby a means to cure many (almost incurable) Diseases. It is a very Excellent thing against Dropsies, all sorts of Feavers and Agues. Some make them up with Venice Turpentine, and then make them smooth with the Starch in powder.

64. Sudorificum Minerale, The Mineral Sudorifick.

Rx. Regulus of Antimony, Salis Regalis, Aʒij. Mercury Sublimare ʒj. Sal Niter ʒviij. beat all into fine powder severally: then mix them, and calcine in a close Vessel; after which beat the calcined matter into powder, lixivate it,edul-corate with hot water, then flagrate upon it S. V. and keep it for use.

It is esteemed as a Specificke against the Gout, Scurvy and Pox, and many other Chronick Diseases: It works upwards and downwards, and may be given à gr. v. ad xij. or more: Outwardly it cures Old Sores, and Rebellious Ulcers to a Wonder.

65. Regulus Antimonij, Metal of Antimony.

Colledge.) Rx Crude Antimony, Niter, Tartar, ana, beat the Antimony alone in an Iron Mortar, with an Iron Pestle, then add the rest in Powder: put this powder by degrees with a ladle into a red hot Crucible, placed among hot Coals: after the deflagration give a melting heat; then gently shake the Crucible, that the Regulus may sink to the bottom; which being taken out, and cooled by degrees, let it be freed from the Dross, and keep for use.

Salmon.) Where note. 1. That some prepare it but with half the quantities of Niter and Tartar, for fear the Flagration should be too quick, but that is a nicety, without doubt equal parts are best. 2. Place the Crucible in a Circular Fire of suppression. 3. When all is melted, give a violent fire for about a quarter of an hour, that the Poysonous parts may vanish. 4. That the Regulus is had in a larger quantity by adding powder of Charcoal. 5. Of the Dross is made Sulphur Auratum. 6. That the best time to make it, is in the ʒs encreale, the Sun being in ♈, and in a clear day; for Experience has taught us that the melting is then easiest easiest done. 7. That on the top will be sometimes a star, which is produced by its long fusion; but that weakens its Emetick and Cathartick Virtue. 8. That we use the male Antimony here, because we design a better Medicine than a Crocus. 9. Some make the Regulus, of that Calx, of which the Vinum is made (at Sect. 50.) melting of it an hour, then cooling of it a little, and shaking of it to make the Regulus descend. 10. Of it you may make a Diaphoretick. See Sect. 57.

Regulus is both a better Emetick and Cathartick, than the Crocus, and will perform all that the Crocus, can do. You may either, 1. Take the infusion of its powder in Wine. 2. Or, make Cups of it, and infuse Wine therein, a night, and so drink it. 3. Or, make it into Pills in a Bullet mould, which are called Everlasting Pills, of the bigness of grey Pease; one of these will serve for ever, taking of it out of the close stool, and making of it clean for another time: A Pill of ʒj . or ʒij s has the same effect as the ordinary dose of Vinum Benedictum, (and infinitely safer) and works as well as if you should take three or four of them at a time. The Regulus of Antimony is truly a kind of Universal remedy against all Diseases. After ten thousand infusions, the virtue is still the same.

66. Regulus Martis, Metal or setting of Iron.

R. Male Antimony lbij . Niter, Tartar, A. lbj . filings of Steel ʒvj . Charcoal ʒij . powder all well severally, and mingle them together, and then proceed as you did in the Regulus of Antimony.

Where note, 1. That this whole quantity will yield but ʒxij . of Regulus, of which six proceed from the filings, which serve to fix the Emetick quality of the Antimony; less quantity than we have allotted, would not do so well; and a greater quantity might fix it so as to make it lose its purgative property.

2. That the dross of this, as of the other, serves to make Sulphur Auratum, and also a Vitrum. 3. Schroder takes to Antimony ʒviij . Filings of Iron ʒix . melts them together, then adds Sal Niter, and when the detonation is over, casts it into an Ingot, or other Vessel where the Regulus may settle; then melts it a second time, and casts in more filings. 4. Regulus of Iron being often melted, (and a little Niter and Tartar cast in) and separated from its dross, it contracts a Star glorious like the Sun-shine; and sometimes many Stars, as if the Earth was encompassed with water. The Regulus of Mars infused, or made into Cups or Pills as aforesaid, works gently by stool, without inclining to Vomit. The Diaphoretick also made of the Regulus of Mars is better than that of the Regulus of Antimony, because it never vomits. Authors say, that if lbj . of the Regulus of Mars in powder, be tied up loosely in a coarse linnen Cloth, and then infused in a quart at a time of some Sudorifick or Alexipharmick Liquor, it cures the Pox, without fluxing with Mercurial Medicaments. After the the same manner you may make a Regulus with gold or silver. The Regulus of Tin is made by melting the simple Regulus of Antimony, and whilst it runs, adding Tin.

67. Cerussa Antimonij, Ceruse of Antimony.

R. Regulus Ziij. Sal Nitre Crystaliz'd fixamelt them together about an hour: then edulcorate, and take away the dross at the bottom; dry it, and the Powder is the Ceruse of Antimony: this Ceruse calcine with Nitre, or reverberate till it is yellow, and becomes sudorific.

It is Diaphoretic, and may be given inwardly in a Morning fasting, for a Month together, for the Cure of old Ulcers, Scabs, Itch, Fistula's, and such like: In some, for the three or four first days, it causeth a Loathing and Spitting; and, at other times, works insensibly: In others, it loosens the Belly: In others, it works by Sweat: In others, by insensible Transpiration, and is only perceiv'd at conclusion when it has been taken long: Dose à gr. x. ad gr. xxx. outwardly it opens, cleanses, dries, binds, and heals. Some think that common Ceruse has all the Virtues and Operations.

68. Præcipitatum Antimonij diaphoreticum, Diaphoretic Precipitate.

R. Crocus Metallorum Ziij. put it into a Bolt-head, or Glass Still with a long Neck, to which put by degrees Spirit of Nitre Zxxviij. and stir or shake it so, as the Antimony may not stick to the bottom: Keep it warm, till the Antimony is a white Powder, and the Spirit has done working: then stop the Vessel, and digest in B.M. forty days, after separate the Spirit of Nitre in Sand, and stir the Powder with a wooden Spatula, or such like Instrument: dry it over the Fire till it fumes no longer; then wash it with Treacle Water, or Spirit of Juniper.

It is a notable Sudorific, good against the Plague, Pox, Malignant Fevers, and all venene Diseases. Dose à gr. iij. ad xij. or xvj.

69. Præcipitatum Antimonij rubrum, Red Precipitate of Antimony.

Digest Antimony in Powder in A.R. till the Calx be white, then distil or decant the A.R. or add water and precipitate: after edulcorate the matter with warm water, till the water comes off without taste: dry the Powder, and reverberate it into a Potters Furnace in a close Crucible for half a day (or according to Basil, for three days) and it will be red.

It is both Emetic and Cathartic, but works not violently; it dissolves congealed Blood, and cures the French Pox; in some Bodies it is, only Sudorific, and may be given in all Cases, to all sorts of Persons, as an Antidote against all Diseases; Women with Child may take it without danger. Dose à gr. ij. ad iv. or vj. But Basil decants the A.R. and distils it to dryness; then with Rain-water, makes a red Extract by digestion; then distils to dryness, and from the remaining red Powder, extracts a red Tincture with Spirit of Vinegar; Casts away the white Fæces, abstracts the Spirit of Vinegar, and then reverberates the remaining powder three days; after which he draws a Tincture again with S. V. (casting away the Fæces;) and lastly, abstracts the S. V. to driness. If it be made this way, it has a wonderful power in curing the French-Pox, and breaking Impostumes.

70. Regulus Martis Precipitatus, Settlings of Mars precipitated.

R. Regulus of Mars, sublime it with Sal Armoniack; edulcorate the flowers and dissolve in AR (made of Niter and Sal Armoniack, digest; and then precipitate by many cobobations, wash, after reverberate, that the spirit of AR may be perfectly separated, continually stirring it with an Iron spatula till it is yellow.

Quercetan was the Author hereof. It has all the Virtues of the former as to the Curing of Diseases, but works without Vomiting. Dose à gr. ij. ad vj.

71. Vitrum Antimonij Precipitatum, Glass of Antimony Precipitated.

It is made by dissolving the Glass in AR. AF. Oyl of sulphur or spirit of salt, then abstracting the Menstruum, and precipitating.

It has all the Virtues of the Glass, but infinitely more gentle and pleasant, not being Emetick at all, and only working by Stool: The Virtues of the Glass, see Sect. 50. foregoing. From this precipitate (not being reverberated) Sala saith, you may extract Sulphur and ☿ of Antimony.

72. Calcinatio Antimonij Philosophica, Philosophical, or Magical Calcination of Antimony.

R. Crude Antimony in powder (or the flowers which are better, and easier to be done) place it so in an Earthen pan, that the Sun beams concentrated in a burning glass, whether transfluid or reflexive, may fix upon, and pierce the Antimony, so in a short time the fumes will ascend and the Antimony be calcined white.

Where note, 1. That the reflexive glasses are made of a mixt Metal; the other are common and easie to be had in London. 2. That the weight of the Antimony is rather increased by Calcination, than diminished.

73. Crystallus Antimonij, Crystals of Antimony.

R. Powder of Regulus, precipitate it alone, always adding the matter sublimed to that in the bottom, till it is turned into a red powder, which place in a Cellar to melt; separate the flegm, and see it to crystalize, which purifies. Or thus, Digest the Mineral of Antimony in powder in rectified spirit of Vitriol, for the space of forty days, so will it be red and stink: put this into a Retort, and force by a naked fire into a large Recipient (as you distil Oyl of Vitriol) and there will come first Oyl of Vitriol, then a red spirit of Antimony: put the Receiver (luted to the still) into a Cellar for twenty days, and red Crystals will shoot, which dry.

Where note, 1. If you rectify the remaining water, you shall have Spirit of Vitriol as before. 2. These Crystals (made either way) mix with thrice as much Tripoli, and distilled by a Retort, yield like Common Salt, first a white Spirit, then a Red, which rectify in B. M. The Crystals open all Viscous and Tartarous Obstructions, are infinitely initely good against Hypochondriack Melancholy, the Pleurisie, Green-sickness and Tertian Agues: Dose à gr. iij ad vi. The Spirit of the Crytals, according to Basil, is wonderful good in all sorts of Fevers, Quartan Agues, the Gout, Obstructions of the Urine, to break the Stone in the Bladder, and to purifie and cleanse filthy, foul, and Malignant Ulcers. Dose à gut. vi. ad vx.

74. Sal Antimonij, Salt of Antimony.

R. Antimony, The Crocus or Vitrum (from which the Tincture is taken) calcine it in a Potters furnace till it be Ashes, from which with Spirit of Vinegar extract a salt, which purifie by many solutions and coagulations.

Where note, 1. That if your Antimony, &c. be not well calcined, you will get little or no Salt. 2. You may make. (if you please) the calcination with equal parts of Sulphur, calcining till the Sulphur is gone. 3. That the Vinegar of Antimony, cast upon melted Antimony, draws a sweet salt. Authors esteem this Salt full as good as the Salt of Gold: It cleanses the blood, and purges the Body from all Impurities; it is an Antidote against Poyson, Plague, Leprosie, Scurvy, Gout, and other almost incurable diseases: it cures the French Pox, breaks Impostumes, cures old Filthy Ulcers, and all sorts of Malignant Fevers: it roots out Melancholy, and resolves Pleurisies; Convulsions, and Congelations of the blood. It expels wind, and keeps the belly soluble; wonderfully strengthens the Heart and Stomach, and restores a lost appetite. Dose gr. iij.

75. Flores Antimonij, Flowers of Antimony.

R. Crude Antimony or Regulus in Powder ℥ij . put it into an Earthen Cucurbit unglazed, made of Pottery Earth, which place upon the two Iron bars in a great reverberatory furnace, so that the neck of the Cucurbit be three or four fingers length above the top of the furnace, which lute round about to the furnace: to this Vesica or Cucurbit fit an Earthen pot turned up-side down, so that the mouth of the Cucurbit may enter a little within the said pot, which lute together; in the bottom of the said pot make an hole as big as an Egg: and then on top of that pot fit another pot in like manner, and luting of them, make a hole in its bottom also: to this pot fit another pot still less in like manner; so a fourth, and fifth pot; each less than the other, decreasing almost like a Pyramid, making also in the last and fifth pot a hole about the bigness of ones little Finger, to give the Vapours a little Air, but not too wide, lest the finest flowers should be lost. Be sure all your pots be well luted. Give at first a violent fire, and continue it to the highest degree for two days and nights, that the Antimony or its Regulus may be kept continually in the fusion (which otherwise would yield no flowers) being melted, it will rise and be sublimed in dry fumes, which will stick to the sides of the said pot, in form of flowers; in the first pot white, in the second yellow, in the last red: all the while you are subliming, keep the little uppermost hole well stop-with a hares foot, or feather, gather the flowers putting white to white, yellow to yellow, and red to red.

Here is to be noted: 1. That Regulus is better than Crude Antimony, because it both makes a greater quantity of flowers, at least four times as much; and is also both better, and purer, and freer from Malignity. 2. That the white flowers are free from the Venomous Sulphur of Antimony, being in colour like the Volatile Salt: the yellow contains a little of the said Sulphur, but the red mightily abounds with it. 3. That these flowers are nothing but the Regulus or purest part of the Antimony, with its Volatile Salt sublimed into dry fumes, and made Volatile by the force of the fire. 4. The white flowers consist of part of the body of Regulus and a large quantity of Volatile Salt: The Yellow, a part of the said body of Regulus, and a little Volatile Salt; and the Red of a part of the body of the Regulus, and a large quantity of Malignant Sulphur.

The white Flowers are strongly Sudorifick, and sometimes provoke Vomiting; they are excellent against Poyson, and all manner of Pestilential Feavers, and others. The yellow are a strong Emetick, good in Gouts, Plurifies, Megrims, and such like. The red uncorrected are not fit to be taken inwardly, for they cause Convulsions: The Doses of the former are à gr. iij. ad vij.

76. Flores Antimonij Compositi, Flowers of Antimony Compound.

Rx. Antimony and Sal Armoniack

ana, mix them well, and Sublime in Sand.

Where note, 1. That the Flowers will be red; but being washed in hot Water, white. 2. In like manner are made Flowers of both Glas and Regulus. 3. That those Flowers which are in the top, being added to the Fæces at bottom, with a little Sal Armoniack, and sublimed again, will then be yellow. 4. That they only Vomit, but gentler than the simple flowers. 5. That you may correct them by circulating of them with honied Spirit of Wine for a Month, for so they loose all violence, and will only purge à gr. v. ad x. They cure all Agues, chiefly the Quartan, as also Madness and Melancholy: Dose uncorrected à gr. iij. ad vj. But if to gr. ij. of these uncorrected flowers, you put Mercurius Dulcis, gr. xij. and grind them well together, they purge Choler and water without Vomiting.

77. Flores reguli compositi, Compound flowers of the Regulus.

Rx. The Star of Regulus, Sal Armoniack thrice sublim'd from Iron, ana: sublime thrice, then edulcorate and dry them, and lastly, wash them the third time from the Colcothar.

These have the Virtues of the former, purge gently, and are a Specifick against all Agues. Dose à gr. ij. ad iiij. If you wash not away the Sal Armoniack, these flowers will dissolve per deliquium, and according to Basil be an excellent thing in wounds. But instead of Sal Armoniack sublimed from Iron, I sublime the Star of Regulus, with Ens Veneris; so have you an excellent Medicine against all

all obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Reins, and Womb, and a Specific in the Cure of Rickets, Consumptions, Green-sickness, and all sorts of Fevers: The Dose is as aforesaid.

78. Flores Antimonij Vitriolati, Vitriolated Flowers of Antimony.

R. Red flowers of Antimony ℥iv. flowers of Sulphur sublim'd. white ℥ij. Colcothar ℥xij. mix and sublimate thrice, so have you red flowers.

This is from Quercetan: Basil has the same, excepting the Sulphur: It is a violent Vomit taken inwardly; outwardly, it is of good use in Wounds and Ulcers.

79. Flores Sulphuris Antimonij, Flowers of the Sulphur of Antimony.

R. Antimony in Powder lbj. common Salt (or Sal Armoniack, which is better) ℥ij. sublimed; add to the sublimate crude Antimony ℥v. sublimate again, then sweeten, and you have flowers, which are a combustible Sulphur.

These are of the nature of the former, a Specific against Quartans and Pleurisies; but this of the flowers of Antimony in general, you must observe, That because they cause violent Vomiting, they cannot be safely used in Physick, without being very well corrected, which you may do, by some of the following Methods.

80. Florum Antimonij Correctio, Correction of the flowers of Antimony.

There are various ways of performing this: 1. According to the Method delivered in Sect. 76. aforesaid. The honeyed S. V. there specified is thus made: put S. V. upon Honey, digest 24 hours, then distil; at length encrease the Fire, that the spirit of Honey may also pass, and be joined to the S. V. 2. Or thus: Put the flowers into a Glass, cover them with a Paper, and digest them in a furnace in a gentle heat for 60 days, stirring them once or twice a day, for fear they should grow black; at last the venomous and stinking Sulphur will be elevated to the Paper, and the flowers remain light, porous and red. 3. Or thus: Beat them with common Salt, then edulcorate them with common Water. 4. Or thus: R. Flowers of Antimony ℥j. Salt of Tartar, impregnated with Spirit of Vinegar ℥ij. melt them into a red mass, powder it, and put to it Tincture (of Cloves, Mace, Cinnamon, Galangal, Saffron, A ℥iv.) made with S. V. redified: digest in Sand a week, then draw off the S. V. to driness, and the flowers will be pure at bottom; which keep in a Glass close stopped, for otherwise they will dissolve.

Flowers of Antimony corrected the first and second way, only purge, and may be given in all Cases, where an Antimonial Remedy is required à gr. v. ad x. The third and fourth way they are not so gentle, not being totally divested of their Emetic property; but they more effectually cure Diseases proceeding from Melancholy, casting forth bad Humors, both by Stool, Urine, and Sweat, Dose à gr. iij. ad viij. Salt of Tartar is impregnated with Spirit of Vinegar thus: Dissolve fine Salt of Tartar in Spirit of Vinegar, and abstract the humidity with a gentle Fire; put in fresh Vinegar to dissolve; then abstract again, repeating this work so long, till the spirit of Vinegar be distilled off, not losing its sharpness (which will be done in ten times imbibing, and distilling at most) then dry it for use.

81. Cinnabaris Antimonij, Cinnabar of Antimony.

It is made after the distillation of butter of Antimony, by increasing the heat, and making (upon sand) fire of suppression for certain hours, for so the Cinnabar of Antimony sticks to the neck of the Retort (as we have more fully taught in Chap. 7. Sect. 8.) which you may gather, and purify with two sublimations.

Of this Cinnabar is made the Antepileptic powder, Diaphoretick (in Lib. 4.) which is of great power against Convulsions, Apoplexies, and the Falling-sickness: Where note, That if you desire Cinnabar rather than Butter, make at first a very strong fire.

82. Flores Antimonij Diaphoretici Salæ, The sweating flowers of Sala.

Sprinkle the flowers of Antimony with Oyl of Sulphur, and Calcine them in a close Crucible.

It is a Specifick against all Agues, and Pestilential Distempers. Dose ad gr. x.

82. Lucora Lutea Paracelsi, The Wall-flowers of Paracelsus.

This Medicament is only the flowers of Antimony fixed, which Paracelsus performs by subliming them so often, till they will sublime no more, always mixing the flowers at bottom, with those sublimed in every sublimation. Cloßens hath another way. Make a ball of Earth with a hole in it almost through;

put into it unslake Lime, till it is almost half full; then put in Flowers of Antimony tyed up in a Rag, after which lay fresh unslake Lime round about till the Ball be full, stop the hole with Clay, and reverberate the Ball in a Brick-kiln, or Potter's Furnace for two days.

These fixed Flowers are an excellent gentle Purge, and sweat powerfully, being of great force against all Epidemical Distempers. Dose à gr. vi. ad x. These Flowers in a Cellar will melt into an Oyl, which you may wash several times in some distilled Water.

84. Acetum Antimonij, Vinegar of Antimony.

Re. Levigated Oar of Antimony, digest in Rain-water (some inches above it) in a Horse Dung-hill, till it begins to froth or ferment: draw off the Water, increasing the Fire towards the end; then mix the Sublimate with its Caput Mort. and cohobate with the abstracted Water, repeating this work, till a Liquor comes as sharp as Vinegar.

This may be done without adding Water, by distilling the levigated Oar per se in a Retort, and putting the distilled Liquor upon fresh Oar, digesting of it three days, then distilling, and so repeating till you have a sufficient quantity; but this way is tedious, and affords but a little Vinegar. You may also increase the Virtues of your Vinegar, if you pour it upon fresh levigated Oar, three or four Inches above it, and circulate twenty days till it has a red colour, then decanting, and drawing off the Vinegar in B. M. which will then be clean and and leave a red Sulphur or Tincture at bottom. This is an excellent thing in malignant Feavers; it cools the heat of blood, and all inflammations, mixed with Lapis Prunella, and given in some proper Vehicle. Outwardly (mixt with Saccharum Saturni) it cures burnings by Gun-powder. With this you may draw the Tincture of Antimony.

85. Acetum Antimonii Radicatum, Vinegar of Antimony Radicated or Alcalified.

R. Vinegar of Antimony ℔ij. or ℥xij. Salt of Antimony ℥ij. dissolve and distil by Sand or Ashes.

This may be called the Alcalified Spirit of Vinegar of Φ ; and is a most excellent thing to draw the Tincture of Antimony, and make the fixed flowers of Diaphoretick. But your better way will be to take the Salt, and dissolve it in the Vinegar, and mixt it with Potters earth, or Tobacco-pipe Clay, making all into Balls, and then distilling by a Retort in Sand, as you do the Spirit of Salt.

86. Oleum Antimonij per se, Oyl of Antimony made alone.

Mix crude Antimony in powder with Sand, and force it through a Retort. Or thus, R. The powder of Antimony, put it to putrefie, then draw from it water; cohobate, and repeat the putrefaction and distillation so long, till you have an oyl Liqueur.

This Liqueur is rather a Vinegar than an Oyl: Poterus saith, It is an excellent dissolver; it is a good Diuretick and Deobstructor.

87. Oleum Antimonij Saccharatum Basilii, Basil's sugared Oyl of Antimony.

Digest Levigated Glass of Antimony in sower juce of Grapes for ten days; draw off the Juce to driness, add as much Sugar-Candy, and a little Vinegar, then distil in a Retort, gradatim, and with a strong fire you will have a red Oyl, which exalts with S. V.

It is good against Epilepsies, Convulsions, and Apoplexies. Dose à gut. iij. ad vj. or more.

88. Oleum Antimonij Saccharatum Sennerti, sugared Oyl of Sennertus.

R. Antimony ℔ij. Sulphur ℥ij. melt them in a Circular fire for four or five hours; increase the fire, that the Sulphur may flame and be spent; powder the Antimony, then add spirit of Vinegar, and digest ten days, and distil till red drops ascend, then change the Receiver. Take the Antimony left in the bottom ℔ij. Sugar-Candy ℥vj. S. V. ℥ix. distil by a Retort (into the Receiver in which the first Oyl is) with a strong fire; till there appear no more Vapours: abstract in B. M. with S. V. till only a quarter part remains.

If you digest this Oyl with new S. V. rectified, then strain it from the scæces, and after separate the S. V. from the Oyl by distillation, it will be yet better corrected: and if lastly it be digested with Aqua Vita and Cinnamon-water in which Musk and Ambergrease is dissolved, and often cohobated, it will purge gently without Vomiting, or making sick. It is an excellent Medicine in Dropnies, Gouts, and Feavers; being given à gr. iij. ad vj.

89. Oleum Antimonij Saccharatum Fausii, Sugared Oyl of Fausius.

Rx. Crocus Metallorum levigated, Sugar-Candy. A ℥iij. rectified spirit of Vitriol ℥ij. Wine ℥ss. digest ten days, then distil in a Retort gradually, and separate the slegm in B. M.

This has the Virtues of the former, and is given ā gr. vj. ad x. after this way you may draw the Golden Sulphur of Antimony, Where note, that the thick Liquor which comes forth, must be often extracted with S. V. and then (being separated to the consistency of Honey) the Oyl be forced from it in a Retort.

90. Oleum Antimonij Saccharatum Beguini, Sugared Oyl of Beguinus.

Rx. Antimony, Sugar-Candy, A ℥j. burnt Allum ℥ss. distil by a Retort in Sand to an Oyl.

Where note. 1. That your Antimony must be levigated. 2. That some leave out the burnt Allum: others take but the third part of Sugar-Candy. It is an excellent Medicine against the Falling-sickness, Convulsions Apoplexies, Palsies, Gout Dropsie, and Feavers; of this Oyl is made the Feaver Pills against Quartan Agues. You may give of it ā gut. iij. ad vj.

91. Oleum Antimonij Saccharatum Quercetani, Sugared Oyl of Quercetan.

Rx. Sugar-Candy made into a Syrup with S. V. ℔j. Crude Antimony circulated to whiteness ℔ss. mix and digest ten days in Balneo Vaporis, then distil increasing the fire gradually; so have you. 1. The lesser Circulate. 2. A white Liquor. 3. A yellow. 4. A very red Liquor like Blood, which is a sweet Balsam: you may either gather them all together, or separate them; wash and cobobate the red with Cordial waters, three or four times: This is called, The Antidotus Panarticus of Quercetan.

The white Liquor cures Itch, Scabs, breakings out and Cancerous Ulcers: The yellow vomits and purges, given against Feavers, Gouts, Leprosie, &c. The red cures the Leprosie, Morpew, Apoplexy, Epilepsie, and Plague to admiration, being given in a proper Vehicle ā gut. iij. ad vi. In the same manner you may make an Oyl with Crocus Metallorum and Sugar digested in S. V.

92. Oleum Antimonij Philosophicum Sale, Philosophick oyl of Antimony.

Rx. Crude Antimony levigated ℔j. Honey ℔ij. boyl and stir them with a Sparula till the humidity is evaporated, and a black brittle matter like Kite's remains: distil this by a Retort with a gradual fire into a large Receiver for 24 hours, so have you a sharp Corrosive Liquor impregnated with the Virtues of Antimony, and some of the flowers, which you are to separate.

This is a very piercing Liquor, it cleanses powerfully and is eminently good against Ulcers, old Sores, Fistula's, Gangrenes, and to consume Excrecences, you may use it alone, or with honey of Roses, or in Oyntments, Powders, Waters, &c. It may also be used instead of the Philosophical Vinegar, in the preparation of Quercetan's Tincture, See 27.

93. Antidotus Antimonij Quercetani, the Antidote of Antimony.

Rx. Starry Regulus of Iron (purified with Niter) ℔j. Mercury precipitate ℔jss. mix and distil by a Retort; rectifie it by one or two di-stillations;

stillations; then add Spirit of Metheglin, and cohobate often, to make the Oil sweet; then abstract with S. V. to the consistence of an Oil.

It is an excellent Remedy against the greatest Diseases: it cures Agues of all sorts, Quotidian and Tertian, but chiefly Quartans; it sometimes gently vomits, and sometimes it gently purges without vomiting. Where note, The Spirit of Metheglin separated, and impregnated with Spirit of Vitriol to be sharp, is a great Diaphoretic above all others. Dose of the Oil to gut. xij. of the Spirit, from half to one whole Spoonful alone, or in some convenient Vehicle.

94. Oleum Antimonij ex floribus, Oil of the flowers of Antimony.

Rx. White flowers of Antimony, mix them with A. F. (of Vitriol calcin'd yellow, Salt A. ℥ij. Potters Clay ℥vj.) distil in B. M. the flegm comes first, then the flowers mixt with the Spirit; put to it fresh A. F. and distil again; do this, till the flowers come with no more Spirit; then distil by a Retort, so have you first a water by itself; then change the Recipient for a white Oil, heavy, like butter of Antimony, there remaining only an unprofitable Terra Damnata.

It is almost the same with the Butter of Antimony, (which we have taught to make in Chap. 7. Sect. 8. foregoing;) and is of excellent use to dissolve Gold. It is the ground of the purging and vomiting Precipitates, at Sect. 104, 105.

95. Oleum Antimonij Compositum Basilij, Compound O. l of Antimony of Basil.

Rx. Quick-lime ℥viii. Antimony,

Sulphur A. ℥iij. Sal Armoniac, or Salt of Urine ℥ij. distil with a strong fire, cohobating thrice, mixing in every sublimation the sublimate with the Caput Mortuum. Or thus, after Tenzelius: Rx. Antimony, imbibe it with spirit of Salt, then distil.

Basil commends it as an incomparable thing to cleanse all inveterate wounds.

96. Balsamum Vulnerarium Basilij, the Antimonial wound Balsam.

Rx. Antimony ℥j. Salt, or Sal Gem ℥ls. Potters earth ℥vi. mix and distil in a Retort with a strong fire; at last will come an Oil, which evaporate to a dry red powder, then dissolve it per deliquium. Or thus: Rx. Antimony ℥j. salt ℥j. Bole Armoniac ℥ij. Or thus, Rx. Antimony, Sal Gem, or Sal Nitre, Ana. Or thus, according to Kessler. Rx. Antimony, Sal Gem, or common Salt, A ℥j. burnt Alom ℥ls. Perform the distillation by degrees, and draw the Oil or Balsam in three days.

This Basil commends as a wonderful great Secret, for all old Sores, filthy Ulcers, Fistulas, and other inveterate griefs of that kind. Where note, That with water, you may precipitate a Powder, which, washed, may be given à gr. iij. ad vj.

97. Balsamum Vulnerarium Sennertii, Sennertus' wound Balsam.

Rx. Antimony ℥j. Sal Regale ℥iv. Sal Nitre ℥ij. melt them in a Crucible, and pour them on a marble Stone. Take this Mass, mix it with Quick-lime ℥iss. to which put Spirit of Turpentine 4 Inches above: digest in a close Vessel ten days, or till the Spirit is red: then put to it flines

flints in powder, till it is thick, and distill in a Retort: when yellow drops appear, change the Recipient, and increase the fire, so have you a red Oyl.

It has the Virtues of the former: See the Balsam of the Regulus which is better.

98. Aqua Antiepileptica Croci Metallorum, Water of Crocus Metallorum, against the falling-sickness.

R. Of Magneſia or Crocus Metallorum, mixt with powder of Crusts of Bread, and with a strong fire, draw forth the water in a Cornut.

This Quercetan commends above all Vegetable Medicaments for the Epilepsie; and some others commend it, as the greatest Secret in Nature against Worms; of which in Hartſius his Pharm. lib. 6. you may read a Memorable Story. Schroder saith (in Pharm. lib. 3. Cap. 17.) that he spent three days and nights in vain in making of it: first he had a flegm, then cloudy Spirits, lastly, a red Oyl, and all in small quantity.

99. Spiritus Stibij, Spirit of Antimony. Chiffus.

R. Antimony, Sulphur, Niter, A libj. drive them through a Tubulated Retort, into a large Receiver (well luted to the beak) in which let some water: cast in the matter into the Retort, by degrees, stopping the pipe every time; the matter cast in will immediately be calcined: and the Recipient filled with cloudy Vapours, which will quickly be mixt with the water, and the Recipient be clear: which appearing, cast in again, repeating this work so long as you have matter left: the water impregnated with these Spirits, you may filterate and keep for use.

Where Note. 1. That Glauber makes it with Antimony libj. Niter libj. Sulphur 3iii. 2. That Ingenious Man, and my very good Friend, H. Mason, makes it only with Sulphur, and calls it Ens Primum. 3. That it is not good to filter it, lest you lose the Spirits, because they are so exceeding Volatile, that you cannot endure your Nose near them. 4. That your Recipient ought to be a Glass Matrass or Gourd of a very great Magnitude. 5. That the Niter is here used to open the Body of the Antimony; the Brimstone to fix its Emetic Quality: again, closing of the Tube, the Brimstone would more easily be stifled; but the Niter being fired by it, ceases not to burn, till all is consumed. 6. That the Fumes are red; but that redness proceeds from the Sulphur of the Antimony. 7. That this Spirit is acid, from the acidity of the simple Spirits of the matter composing it. It loosens the Bowels, and sometimes gently purges, without so much as inclining to Vomit. It attenuates Slime and Tartarous Humors in any part of the Body, provokes Urine strongly, and opens all Obstructions whatsoever in all the principal parts, as Liver, Spleen, Gall, Mesentery, Womb, Hypochondries, Bowels; and sends out the offending matter by Stool, Urine, Sweat, Spitting, and the Expectoratories: It gives immediate ease in the Cholick, provokes the Terms, and cures the Green-sickness:

ness: but these things it does more powerfully if acuated with Crystals of Iron, you may mix it with Spring-water, or any convenient vehicle, so much as to make it sharp, and so drink it at pleasure.

100. Aqua Stibii Composita, Compound Water of Antimony.

Rx. Antimony, Tartar, Salt, Sulphur, ana; perform the work as in the former.

It has the Virtues of the former, in opening all manner of Obstructions, but works most by Sweat and Urine. In making of both this and the former Water you may gather Flowers, which you may free from the Antimonial Sulphur by sublimation: and of the Caput Mortuum, you may either make Antimonium Diaphoreticum by calcining of it with equal parts of Niter: Or draw Sulphur Auratum, by boiling it in a strong Lixivium.

101. Spiritus Antimonij Compositus, Spirit of Antimony Compound.

Rx. Of Clossæus his Sulphur of Antimony ʒxx. Colcothar of Vitriol ʒxxx. mix, and put to them Vinegar two or three times, and distil by Cohabation: the last time put the Powders into an earthen Pot (for Glass will break) with a large Receiver: force it with a close reverberating Fire for three whole days, as in drawing of Oyl of Vitriol: separate the Spirit from the Oyl, which rectifie.

Clossæus saith. The intentions of both, are chiefly to fix Mercury and Cinnabar. Mixt with a sufficient quantity of fair Water, they are excellent to cure green Wounds with, at once dressing.

102. Spiritus Reguli Antimonij, Spirit of the Regulus of Antimony.

Rx. Regulus (fixed by many Sublimations in a Philosophick Egg or Still, daily casting the sublimate to the bottom) dissolve it in a Cellar, filter the Oyl and coagulate; dissolve it again, and mix with it three times as much Bole or Tripoli, and distil by a Retort; so will you have, first a white, then a red Spirit, which rectifie apart.

It is an Excellent thing in all Intermitting Feavers, chiefly the Quartan, cleanses the Blood by Sweat, breaks the Stone in the Kidneys and Bladder, discusses the matter of the Gout, and eases all manner of Pains, only by outward application. The Dose inwardly is a gr. iii. ad v. or vi. in any proper Vehicle.

103. Magisterium Antimonij, Magistery of Antimony.

Rx. Antimony, Salt, Bole, A. ſb̄i. Burnt Alom ſb̄s. beat them severally, then mix and distil; so have you first a Flegm, then a white Spirit, then a red: what sticks to the neck of the Retort like Ice, dissolve by applying a hot Iron, and rectifie by a Retort: In this Oyl dissolve filings of Gold, or leaf Gold, then with S.V. circulate six Weeks, and decant from the faces. Put to this decanted Spirit distilled Water, and the Magistery of Antimony will precipitate white.

This is from Kessler, and is nothing but Mercurius Vitæ from Butter of Antimony made per se: Hartman prepares it of the white flowers and oyl of Salt: Glauber of Salt and Vitriol. It is a gentle the Vomit, and may be given in gr. iij. against Gout, Quartans, and all other sorts of Feavers. If you digest with Spirit of Salt, it will prove an Excellent Sudorifick.

104. Precipitatum Antimonij Emeticum, Vomiting precipitate of Antimony.

Rx. Oyl of the Flowers of Antimony (at Sect. 94.) drop into it distilled water, and the precipitate will fall, which free from sharpness by washing in hot distilled water.

It has the Virtues of the former, and the same Dose; or you may give à gr. j. ad iv.

105. Precipitatum Antimonij Catharticum, purging precipitate of Antimony.

It is made of the aforesaid Oyl, by digesting of it two or three days with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium; and then edulcorating with distilled water.

It has the Virtues of the Corrected Flowers, at Sect. 80. and only purges in gr. iv.

106. Hedychrum Antimonij, The Perfume of Antimony.

It is made as the Hedychrum Sulphuris in Cap. 12. Sect. 13. following.

It is Alexipharmick, Sudorifick, and an Antidote against Plague, Pox, and Poyson. Dose à gr. iij. ad vj. Being also an Excellent Perfume.

C A P. IX.

Cinnabaris, Cinnabari, KivvâCaes Cinnabar, Si-nople, Vermilion.

IT is either Artificial or Natural: the Artificial we have discoursed of already in Cap. 7. and Cap. 8. Sect. 81. The Natural now takes place to be handled: It is a Mineral Earth like a Stone, red in colour, consisting of inflammable Sulphur, Quick-silver, and a Petrose Body. It is found in the Palatinate in Germany, but the best comes from Hungary, which is heavy with Mercury and Sulphur, and of a God-like Nature.

1. Crude or Mineral Cinnabar.

Beat it into fine powder, Levigate it upon a Marble; then wash it with Cordial waters and keep it for use.

It is of great force against the Falling-sickness, Apoplexy, Palsies, and such like, being mixt with other proper Medicines. Dose à gr. iij. ad vj.

2. Species Ancepileptica, The powder against the Falling-sickness.

Rx. Of Levigated Cinnabar, Mixture of Mans skull, Amber, Coral, Powders of Castor, Mistle of the Oak, Livers of Frogs, Camphir, of the Narcotick of Vitriol, A. ʒi. make all apace into impalpable powders, then mix them.

It is a most admirable thing against the Falling-sickness, in which I have given it several times with great success. It is safe, you may give it to Children; It kills Worms almost to a Miracle, and is Excellent against Palsies, Convulsions, Apoplexies, Vertigoes, Megrim, and other Diseases of the head. Dose à gr. x. ad ʒss. or ʒij. in the Morning fasting twice or thrice a week.

3. The Mercury of native Cinnabar.

Fill a Crucible full of Cinnabar, over which lay a Plate of Iron with a hole in it, turn it down over another Crucible which is empty, and lute them together; then by the force of a Circular fire, the Quick-silver will fall from the upper Crucible to the lower, as is usual in distilling by descent. Or thus: Dissolve the Cinnabar in Spirit of Salt, mix with as much Sal Gem; cobobate with a very strong fire, till it is very red, distil the solution (separated from its combustible Sulphur which swims on top, and the feces beneath in the Glass still in Sand) and the Menstruum will come forth, the Principles of the Cinnabar remaining; now increase the fire, so will a white Mercury ascend to the sides of the still (the Sulphur and Salt remaining in the bottom) which gather and purify it well.

This Mercury has all the Virtues of the Native, and as many several ways of preparation, which you may see in Cap. 7. It is purified by boyling of it in Spirit of Vinegar, and abstracting the Vinegar; then in Rain-water or May-Dew three or four times till the Mercury be white and pure, after which digest it a month in S. V. rectified till it is red.

4. Sal & Sulphur Cinnabaris.

Salt and Sulphur of Cinnabar.

Rx. The foregoing feces, Elixivate them with boyling Rain-water, which depurate and digest with S. V. abstract the S. V. till a thin skin is at top, then let it coagulate, what remains is the Sulphur, which wash often in hot water, after digest it in S. V. then abstract it.

The Salt cures old and Chronick Diseases, is excellent against the Gout, Kings-Evil, Dropsies, Jaundice, Falling-sickness, Megrim, and other Diseases of the Head. Dose gr. iv.

5. Precipitatum Cinnabaris Diaphoreticum Schroderi, The Diaphoretick Precipitate of Schroder.

Rx. Of the ʒ digested in S. V. at Sect. 3. distil it in a Retort in Sand, into a large Receiver, increasing the fire by degrees; the S. V. being drawn off, increase the fire, and the Spirit of Mercury will ascend, and be like Cryst als sublimata, which in 24 hours will be dissolved into the S. V. abstract the S. V. in B. M. and the spirit of the Mercury will be at the bottom of an Ash colour, Rx. Cinnabar ʒvi, dissolve it in Spirit of Salt, acuated with Sal Gem (as at Sect. 3.) distil the decanted solution (casting away the feces) to an Oyls put on fresh spirit and distil again, which repeat six times; after digest in B.

M.

M. twenty days, and abstract in Sand with a gentle fire, till a white spirit comes forth, then change the Recipient, and take them both with the water, giving fire till the Vessel is red hot: in ℥vi. of this water dissolve of the Salt (at Sect. 4.) ℥ij. circulate it a while in B. M. then impregnate it with the said Sulphur ℥ss. pouring on the said water by degrees, till the salt is joyned with the Sulphur, and becomes one clammy Liquor; to this Liquor ℥ss. of the aforesaid Mercury ℥ij. digest all in an Ashen, in a vessel luted, increasing the fire gradatim for four Months, viz. till it all turn to a red powder, which correct with S. V. and keep it for your use.

This is a Panacea against all Diseases, and may be given in all Cases, and to all Constitutions: It expels the Morbifick matter by Vomit, Stool, or Sweat, according as Nature is disposed to the action; and having taken away what offends, it ceases to work, as having no Enemy to contend withal. It is an Internal Balsam of Life, cures Consumptions, Asthma's, Pleurifies, Gout, Schrophula's, Feavers, Agues, Scurvy, Dropfie, Plagues, and all malignant dangerous, doubtful, and inveterate Diseases, even to a wonder. Dose à gr. i. ad ij.

CAP. X.

Of Recrements of Metals.

THe Recrements of Metals are either Natural or Artificial. The Natural are such as are generated in the Earth, of which five are principal, viz.

1. Cobaltum Cadmia nativa, fossilis, Καδμεία, Cobalt.
2. Sory, Σόρυ, Sory.
3. Chalcitrn, Καλχίτης, Chalcite.
4. Misy, Μίσυ, Misy.
5. Marcasita, Bismuthum, Marcasite or Tin-glass.

The Artificial are such as are separated from the Metals in melting and purging, and these are also five, viz.

1. Cadmia, Climia, Καδμεία, Cadmy.
2. Diphryges, Δίφρυγες, Diphryge.
3. Molybdana, Plumbaga, Μαλύδανα, Plumbage.
4. Lithargyrum, Λιθαργύρες, Litharge.
5. Turia, Spodium, Pompholyx, Nil, nihil album, Bulla, Πομφόλυξ, Tutty.

I. Of Cobalt.

1. The Virides of crude Cobalt.
- It is a Metallick body, called narive Cadmia, digged up out of the Earth; being a Mineral, and black, partaking of Brass and Silver.

It is accounted a Poyson, for being taken inwardly, it kills all creatures: It is so Venomous, that Flies are killed by the taste of it; It is Corrosive and Caustick, inso-much that it ulcerates the Hands and Feet of the Miners.

II. Of Sory.

2. Of Crude Sory.

It is a stony, thick, compact Mineral, and being rubbed, sparkles like Misy: Mathiolus and Dioscorides, was the first among late Physicians who shewed what it was: It is found in the Dukedom of Brumswick.

It is of a burning quality, and only used to make Elchars.

III. Of Calcen.

3. Of Crude Calcen.

It is a Mineral like Brass, brittle, but not stony, made of Sory, but thinner, yet thicker than Misy.

It is of the nature of Sory, but of thinner and more subtiler parts.

IV. Of Misy.

4. Of Crude Misy.

It is a Mineral almost like Gold, which, being broken, glisters; It is bred upon, and of Chalceis, as Verdigrise on Brass, being only the excellence of Chalceis.

It is of the nature of the former, but more subtil and corrosive than Sory or Chalceis: the Egyptian is the best: calcin'd and waish, 'tis good against malignant Ulcers.

V. Of Marcassite.

5 Of crude Marcassite or Bismuth.

It is a Peritoma of Metals, called the Marcassite of Silver, being of a white, hard, and brittle body, separated from Metals newly fixed and perfect, whereas Cadmia is an Excrement cast from them in their first generation.

It is seldom used inwardly, but sometimes externally; being well prepared, it makes an excellent Cosmectic for the Face. It is almost of the nature of Litharge.

6. Magisterium Marcassite, Magistery of Bismuth, or Tin Glass.

Rx. Bismuth $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. beat it into a small powder, put it into a large glass Bell, (within a Chimney, that the infectious Fumes may not poison the Room and the Spectators) put on it Spirit of Nitre, two spoonfuls at a time, so is there presently an effervescence, and stinking Fumes, which when past, put on more Spirit of Nitre, stirring of it together, which continue, till you have used Spirit of Nitre $\mathfrak{z}\text{viij}$. the Ebullition and Fumes being over, decant the Dissolution while it is warm, (from the Bismuth at bottom undissolved) into a Glass or white ware Vessel, where it will congeal into thousands of little white transparent Crystals. Then to the undissolved Bismuth, put new Spirit of Nitre, till all that is pure of it is dissolved, excepting a few black feces: Decant, and Crystallize, as before. Take all the Crystals, and in a Glass-bell, melt them with a gentle heat, and precipitate with cold Sea, or Salt water, so will the Magistery precipitate into a white Mass, which, by little and little, will fall into Powder, which sweeten well, by many lotions, till the water comes away insipid; after which, wash it three or four times, that the least Acrimony may not remain; at last washing, stir it, and put it into a stirring paper, upon which let it dry in the shade, covered.

vered over with another paper, that the dust may not fall on it, then in a glass Viol keep it close stoppt for use.

Where note, 1. That the Spirit of Nitre is put in by degrees, lest it should boil over. 2. That if the least Acrimony should remain, it would wrinkle the skin, which it is designed to smooth. 3. That it be only dried in the Shade; not by the Fire, nor the Sun, for then it would be of a brown blackish colour. 4. That the dissolution be in a broad mouthed Glass or Bell. 5. That if the Powder should be put into red earthen Ware, it would be black, because it would dissolve the Lead of the Vessel. 6. That Aqua Fortis is not used, (although it would dissolve it) because the Vitriol would black the Calx. 7. That the Crystals are white, because that the Bismuth is white as Silver. 8. That they melt by a gentle Fire, for that they were congealed by cold. 9. That this Magistery is only the Calx of Bismuth calcined Philosophically by the Spirit of Nitre, precipitated by Sea-water, and sweetened by manifold washings.

It is a very excellent Cosmetic to make the Face and Hands fair and white (yet not so good as that of Luna at Cap. 2. Sect. 19.) either by rubbing of them with the Powder alone, or applying of it in Pomatum (3i. to 3ij. of the Ointment) which you may prepare with Oil of Almonds, or Acorns, or Beans, or Poppy Seeds, or Ben 3iiij. mixt with white Virgin Wax 3i. It is an excellent desiccative for Ulcers, and cures Scabs, roughness, and other Vices of the Skin.

7. Magisterium Marcasitæ Beguini, the Magistery of Beguinus.

Dissolve the powder of Marcasite in AF (made of Nitre and Salt ana) precipitate it in S.V. then sweeten and dry it.

It has the Virtues of the former.

8. Extractum Marcasitæ Aureæ Clossæi, the Extract of the golden Marcasite of Clossæus.

R. The Marcasite of Gold (called Leucophaea) powder and calcine it, till it will smoke no more, stirring it all the while with an Iron: then distil it by Incendiculum, and draw thence a Tincture by Sand Alkali'd. Lastly, evaporate the Menstruum, till a matter remains like honey.

It opens Obstructions, and is excellent in Agues of all sorts: it purges in gr. vj. which you may make into Pills, with crums of bread.

9. Extractum Marcasitæ nobilis Clossæi, the noble Extract of Clossæus.

R. Of the Marcasite prepared as before 3vj. Cream of Tartar 3lxxij. boil them in an Iron Kettle, with much Water, till it is well tinged; then filter and evaporate, to the thickness of honey, and with S. V. circulate it 40 days.

Clossæus saith, That it purges water strongly, and cures Dropsies to a Miracle.

Where note, 1. That Marcasite infused in Rhenish Wine (3j. to 3v.) purges strongly in Dropsies like Antimony. 2. That an Extract from the flowers, or glass of it (as from the flowers and Glass of Antimony) will do much better.

10 Aqua Marcasite Orsholij, Marcasite water.

Rx. Of the Mineral of Magnesia, viz. Crude Bismuth (not yet toucht with the fire,) distil by a Retort, so have you a white water, which rectifie thrice.

It is reported that this water will draw out the Soul of Gold, and leave the Body white; that it will revive any herb, if the root be stoppt therein: and that if it be acuated with its own Salt (made of the Caput Mort.) it will dissolve Gold Miraculously: I can say little to this, till experience has denied or confirmed it to me.

11. Oleum, Sal & flores Marcasite, Oyl, Salt, and flowers of Marcasite.

Rx. Crude Marcasite, viz. as it comes out of the Mines fix. powder it, and digest it in Sack, three or four days; then decant and put on fresh Sack, digesting again: do thus till you have cast on gal. xv. then mix the decanted Liquors, and put them upon the feces, and in an Alembick, distil to dryness: afterwards, stop the beak of the Alembick, and with a strong fire, the flowers will sublime, and be like silver: these dissolved per deliquium turn to Oyl. Of the distilled Liquors, you may have a spirit by distilling it again, till about fix. or viij. if it remains; this boyled to half, you may set to Crystallize, which you may help by putting into it long little sticks.

Paracelsus commends both the Oyl and Salt exceedingly in Cancerous Ulcers, Fistulae, and other Malignant Diseases: They are excellent against the Itch, exulcerated Struma's, and other corroding, inveterate and filthy Sores.

VI. Of Cadmy.

12. Of Unprepared Cadmy.

It is a thick Body, made of the fuliginous fumes of brass, when it is wrought in the furnace, sticking to the sides thereof, and it is four-fold, viz. 1. Capnites (from smoak) being found in the mouth of the furnace, burnt very thin like ashes, but this differs little from Pompholyx. 2. Ostracites (from being like a shell) found in the lowest part of the furnace. 3. Botrites (from likeness of a Grape) found in the middle of the furnace, it is the best, being thick, heavy, smooth, and a racemous outside like a Grape, which being broken is full of Ashes. 4. Placites (like Crusts) found in the highest part of the furnace. You may also make Cadmy of the Pyrites or Fire Stone, being burnt in a furnace.

Cadmy gently dries and cleanses; it cures moist and putrefying Ulcers, producing the Cicatrize; It also heals Ulcers in the Eyes, binds, and causes Crusts: of the several kinds, Botrites and Placites are best used, where note; they that make Cadmy and Tutty all one, are deceived; but Tutty may be made of Cadmy by Calcination.

VII. Of Diphryges.

13. Of Unprepared Diphryges, It is a Metallick excrement settling to the bottom, when cold water is cast on melted brass in the furnace.

It has the Virtues of Cadmy
A a and

and may be used mixt with Turpentine, or in a Cerot against stubborn Ulcers and old Sores.

VIII. Of Molybdæna.

14. Of Unprepared Plumbage.

It is either natural or artificial: The Natural is Lead Ore, of which we have nothing to say here: The Artificial is a kind of Litharge, which sticks to the bottom of the furnace, in the purification of Silver or Gold with Lead.

It generates flesh and cicatrizes Ulcers, but is not of the nature of Glewing Medicines: It is prepared altogether as Litharge, and has the same Virtues, only it is a little colder.

IX. Of Litharge.

15. Of Unprepared Litharge.

It is an Excrement arising from the refining of Silver or Gold with Lead, it is twofold, either white or yellow, (called Litharge of Silver and Gold) but they only differ in buying: for the yellow is that which is most boyled or burnt, and is indeed only Lead half calcined.

It dries; cools, binds, repels, generates flesh, fills up hollow Ulcers, cleanses, cicatrizes raw places. Inwardly it helps Diarrhæas, Dysenterias, and other Diseases of the Bowels; it cures and consolidates the Intestines being hurt, or exulcerated, it cools the Blood and abates the heat of Urine: Dose ʒss in Venice-Treacle or Mithridate. It may be prepared in all respects as Lead, but the chief preparations now in use are the following.

16. Sal Lithargyri, seu Alumen Saturni, Salt of Litharge or Paracelsus.

It is done with distilled Vinegar, as Salt of Lead, decanting the Solution, filtering and inspissating.

It cures Diarrhæas, Dysenterias, Lienterias, Ulcers in the Guts, &c. cools the Blood and heat of Urine; and has all the Virtues of Saccharum Saturni: Dose ʒss in Mithridate or any Sudorifick Electuary.

17. Magisterium Lithargyri, Magistery of Litharge.

Precipitate the former Solution in distilled Vinegar with Oyl of Tartar.

It has the Virtues of the Salt, but is more stomachical.

18. Oleum Lithargyri. Oyl of Litharge.

Rx. Salt of Litharge, common Salt decripitated, ana, distil them by a Retort, so shall you have a Red Oyl.

It has the Virtues of the Salt, is a great desiccative, and cures sore eyes: the black faeces left in the Retort are good to cure wounds.

19. Tinctura Lithargyri, Tincture of Litharge.

Rx. Salt of Litharge ʒiiij, Spirit of Turpentine ʒviii: digest in bottles, till they are red.

It is an excellent thing to cure Wounds, Ulcers, Fistulas, Cancers, Morpew, Scabs, Tumors, Sores, &c. And to keep them from Accidents, especially if you dissolve in the aforesaid quantity Camphir ʒi.

20. Balsamum Lithargyri, Balsam of Litharge.

Dissolve Salt of Litharge in strong Vinegar; then mix it with Oyl Olive in a Mortar, if you can a Lead en one: Thus may you make Balsam of Saccharum Saturni.

It

It cools Inflammations, cures Burns, Scalds, hot Gouts, and such like.

21. Liquor Lithargyri, Liquor of Litharge.

It is made by dissolving the Salt per deliquium.

It has all the Virtues of the Salt, which see at Sect. 16.

X. Of Tutty.

22. Of Unprepared Tutty.

Tutty, Pompholix, or Spodium, is a thin Volatile Ash, which sticks to the upper part of the Furnace when brass is melted, looking almost like flocks of Wool, and falling down when touched. It is also made of Cadmia, by a calcining of it with a violent fire to Ashes. But that is properly Spodium which is heavy, and falls down to the bottom, called Nil, Nihili Gryseum, or Greek Spodium.

Being washed, it dries without sharpness, and is the best of all drying Medicines; exceeding good in all malignant and cancerous Ulcers, and other old and running Sores which abound with moisture: It makes a good Collyrium, stops fluxes in the Eyes, and heals Pustles and Ulcers therein. Where Note, 1. That because we seldom have the right Pompholix, or Spodium, we substitute Cadmia instead thereof. 2. That the Shops generally sell burnt Ivory for it, being much of the same Virtue.

23. The washing of Tutty.

Put it into a fine Linnenrag, and stir it in clean water, so that the finest part (which is best) mix with the water; continue the stirring till all that is good is washed out: then let it settle, decant the water, and dry the powder.

CAP. XI.

Of S A L T S.

Salts are of several kinds; as Mineral, Vegetable, and Animal, and that either natural or fictitious: We shall here only speak of Natural Mineral Salts; the Artificial may be understood by the same rule: of which the chief are,

1. Sal communis אל, מלח Melich, Common Salt.

2. Sal Gemma, Sal fossile, Indurum
Gemmeum, Salt Gem.

3. Alumen, Rupeum, Glaciale.
 Στυπτηνία , Allum.

4. Sal Armoniacum, Sal solare, Mercuriale, Philosophicum, Armo-niack Salt.

5. Nitrum, Sal Nitrum, Ana- tron, sulphureum, infernale Νιτρων , Salt Niter.

6. Vitriolum; Calcanthum; Alcalcanth, Χάλας, Vitriol.

To which may be added

7. Tartarus, Tartarum, Argal, Tartar or Lees of Wine.

I. Of common SALT.

1. Common Salt Unprepared.

It is the Coagulum of sea-water or of salt fountain-water; but that of the sea is the chief: It is purified by solution, filtration, and coagulation, or Crystallization.

It heats, dries, dissolves, cleanses, digests, attenuates, opens, cuts, purges, is alexipharmick and binding; good against Crudities, Obstructions and weakness of the Stomach, loss of Appetite, Colick and stoppage of Urine: outwardly it is good against creeping and putrid Ulcers, Scabs, Itch, Pestilential Tumors, Bruises, Tooth-ach, Colick, Head-ach, Gout, Pin and Web in the Eyes. Where note, 1. That the Artificial Salt of Vegetables and Animals are subject to the same preparations which common Salt is subject to. 2. That if the Solution and Crystallization be often repeated, this common Salt will at last be sweet.

To Calcine Salt.

It is done 1. By Decrepitation, where it is calcin'd by the fire till it cracks no more. 2. By fusion where it is only melted in a Crucible, by a sufficient fire. 3. By Cementation, where it is mixt with an equal quantity of Quick-lime, calcin'd with a strong fire till they are corrected, after which you may elixivate and coagulate.

Salt is first decrepitated, left being put into any hot Vessel, it should break it: And Basil calcines common Salt thrice with Lime, mixing with it every time as much fresh Quick-Lime, in making of the Tincture of Silver.

3. Extractum Salis, Extract of common Salt.

Dissolve and Crystallize Salt till it be without faeces and sweet, of which take ℥ij. burnt Alom ℥ij. mix and distil by Degrees, till all the Spirits are drawn off, and rectifie it four times, from the Caput Mort. with distilled water draw a Salt, which calcine and purifie with Solutions and coagulations in a Viol to redness (which may be done in an hour or two) to which add the former spirit, digest; so have you a red Tincture, which may be drawn through a Retort.

It is an Excellent Sudorifick, is an Antidote against Plague, Poyson, Feavers simple, putrid, and pestilential; Dropsies, Obstructions of the Stomach, Bowels, Reins, Liver and Spleen: It cleanses the Blood, and resists all sorts of putrefaction, breaks, dissolves, and expels the Stone in both Reins and Bladder, and is an Excellent Remedy against both Rheumatism and Gouts: It cuts tough Flegm and Tartarous matter, lodging in the Ventricle, and restores a lost appetite. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒi.

4. Oleum Salis Commune, Common Oyl of Salt.

Colledge. R. Of French or Spanish Bay Salt as much as you will, dissolve it in water, and filter it: mix with this brine (in a Copper Vessel) fine powder of Tiles or Bricks, double or trebble the weight of the Salt before dissolution, set it upon live Coals, and let the water evaporate away (continually stirring of it,) till it be very dry; then put the powder into a glass Retort, well luted, placed in a furnace with a large receiver, giving a naked fire by degrees to the height, so shall you have in the receiver, Oyl or sharp spirit of Salt; rectifie this liquor in a small Retort in Sand by separating the Flegm, according to Art; then keep it in a Vessel close stopp'd for use.

Salmon.) There are variety of ways of preparing of this Oyl or Spirit, according to opinions of various men. 1. Some instead of powder of tiles or bricks use Potters earth powder, or Bole-Armoniack. 2. Some use Terra Sigillata, which produces a much better Spirit; and some use Sand. 3. The matter is made into paste, lest it should melt; for if it melt no spirit will ascend. 4. That the first distillation yields but a little Spirit, and therefore some boyl the Caput Mortuum in water, and distil as before. 5. That some take burnt Allum p. ij. Salt p. iij. and then distil them, but this way you get only a spirit of Allum not of Salt. 6. Some take common Salt and distil it alone in a Retort, so have you first a four water, secondly a flegm; then the Caput Mortuum being taken out, and sprinkled with water, and distilled again, you have thirdly an acid Spirit, which you may repeat till all the Salt is turned to Spirit and then you may rectifie in B. M. 7. Some to Salt p. ij. take of Clay, Bricks, Sand or Earth but p. iij. the which they make into Balls, and then dry, which are distilled as before in a Retort. 8. Others to

Salt p. j. mix Clay, Sand, Earth, &c. p. v. and (without making of it into Balls) fill a glass Retort with it, luted up to half the neck, then set it in a close Reverberatory, fitting to it a large glass Receiver, then giving fire by degrees, coming as soon as may be to the last degree, which is to be continued 24 h. or till the recipient feels cold, the Retort being violent hot. By this Rule you may extract out of Hij. of Salt near $\frac{3}{4}$ of Oyl or Spirit. 9. That the mixture of Sand, Earth, &c. is to hinder its melting. 10. That you use rather a glass Retort than an Earthen, lest the acid Spirits should pierce it. 11. That the Salt ought not to be decrepitated or separated from its Flegm, nor the matter made red hot in the fire: For the Flegm coming first, helps the acid Oyl or Spirit, and is as a vehicle to it: for (should the fire be never so violent) without Flegm you would attain no acid Spirits, as you may perceive at the 6 Note aforegoing. 12. That you fill your Retort full, lest by reason of the vacuity, the vapours should condense themselves in the same Vessel, which falling back would be so fixed, that no power of fire would be able to raise them again. 13. That the Spirit is made strong and pure by deflegnating of it in a Sand heat. 14. That thus you may draw Spirits of Artificial Salts of Vegetables (the Virtues of which are the same with the Plants from which they are extracted) the which will be acid as Spirit of Salt, and of like o-

Oyl or Spirit of Salt is an Antidote against the Plague and resists all manner of Corruption, both inwardly taken and outwardly applyed. It is a specifick against malign Feavers, whether continual or intermitting; mixt with a little water it whitens the Teeth wonderfully. It is a powerful Diuretick; and the most formidable Enemy that is to the Scurvy. It opens all Obstructions of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Bowels, Reins and Bladder, thereby dissolving the Stone and Gravel, and expelling of it, and curing such Diseases as proceed from thence, as Dropsies, Sourrys, Surfeits, Jaundice, Gouts, &c. It is accounted a specifick to break and dissolve the Stone in the Reins and Bladder: for put a Stone (taken out of a man by cutting, or otherwise voided) to a small quantity of Spirit of Salt, and it will immediately dissolve before your Eyes, although it was never so hard; for this Oyl or Spirit will dissolve Gold, and make it potable, as also Pearls, Coralls and other Gems, &c. being fortified with Ess Venerys it is a perfect Cure for the Rickets. It quenches thirst wonderfully, and consumes by Corrosion without Pain all Corruptions in Ulcers, or other old Sores, Fistula's, &c. mixed with Spirit of Wine (in a due proportion, that it be not too sharp) it cures Wounds in any part at once dressing: mixt with Oyl of Turpentine, Wax or Cammomil, it allays pains of the Gout, discusses Nodes, and cures contracted and withered Members. It has all the Virtues of the Oyls of Sulphur and Vitriol, and may be used as they, and in their stead. Dose a gut. vi. ad xv. or xx. Beware you be not cheated, there are many Counterfeits of it abroad in the Nation: the marks by which you may know the true are these. 1. It is transparent, and almost of a citrine Colour. 2. being new, it is vaporous and seizes the Nose, but without stink, but being old is without smell. 3. that it is of an acid tast. 4. that it neither corrodes nor tinges the Cork stopple of any Colour.

4. Oleum Salis Nitratum, Oyl of Spirit of Salt Nitrated.

R. Salt decripitated, Niter, ana, mixt them with ebrics as much dry Clay, and as before with a naked fire draw a spirit. R. Of this spirit lbj. common Salt melted 3viij. digest till the Salt is dissolved, then distil by a retort, which repeat as often as you please with fresh Salt: rectifie it from the Flegm in a Retort also, so have you a powerful Spirit.

Unzer commends it as a most rare thing in Dropsies, taken inwardly and outwardly to Cure fistulated Wounds. It Cures Cachexys and provokes the Terms.

6. Oleum Salis Rubrum, Red Oyl of Salt.

R. Melted Salt impregnated with Vinegar, mix it with powder of stines and distil by a Retort in Sand, so have you first a yellow Spirit, then a red Oyl.

The Salt is impregnated thus, to the Salt melted add distilled Vinegar, and abstract by Sand, then add fresh Vinegar, and abstract tract again, repeating this work till the Salt is well putrefied and becomes black.

7. Oleum Salis Viride, Green Oyl of Salt of Sennertus.

Quench red hot pieces of Brick-Bats in Salt either melted in a Furnace, or dissolved in a Cellar, of which distil a Spirit by a Retort as before.

Both this and the former have the same Virtues and Dose with Common Oyl of Salt.

8. Antidotum Salis, Sweet Oyl of Salt.

Rx. Of Common Oyl of Salt (at Sect. 4) well deslegmated, spirit of Wine, ana, mix and distil three or four times, so will they inseparably be united and be sweet. Or thus, Digest spirit of Salt with S.V. ana, circulate and cohobate till they are sweet. Or thus, Dissolve melted Salt in distilled rain-water, filter, inspissate, and set it to Crystallize; dissolve the Crystals again, and filter and Crystallize again, repeat this work ten times, viz till they are sweet, then imbibe them with S.V. and with Clay make Balls, which distil as before. Or thus, In the first distillation of the Salt mix with it S.V. Lees of Wine, or Oyl of Tartar, and then distil, so will it be sweet.

It is a rare Preservative against the Plague, resists all putrefaction and fortifies the Stomach: It quenches thirst, is excellent against Dropsies, Jaundice, Gout, Worms; It dissolves Pearl and Coral, and draws out the true Tincture of Gold, and indeed extracts all other Tinctures; it consumes all fleshy Ruptures if you anoint therewith thrice a day, and take it Morning and Evening à gut. vi. ad. xij. It may be mixt with Sugar

Candy, and so taken like an Elettuary. By Uction it helps the Gout, if discreetly used, and cures Wounds in any part at once dressing, and performs all what ever we have said of the Common Oyl of Salt at Sect. 14. Where note, 1. That Oyl of Salt made sweet by three Months digestion per se, will dissolve Gold. 2. That the same mixed with the burning Spirit of Lead, makes another sweet menstruum to perform the same.

Spiritus Salis Philosophicus, Philosophick Spirit of Salt.

Rx. Common Oyl of Salt, quench it in Brick-Bats, then distil, so will you have in the Receiver an acid Spirit.

It has all the Virtues of Oyl of Salt, besides which, it will in your hand dissolve Gold, Pearl and Stones: it drives out all Gravel, breaks the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, and in the Palm of your hand will intirely dissolve it. Dose à gut. vi. ad. xij. or more in any convenient vehicle as water of Persicaria. Where note, that you may dissolve Gold in a Water made of Spirit of May-dew, and calcined Salt digested till it is sweet, which makes it both potable and volatile.

10. Spiritus Salis Diureticus, Diuretick Spirit of Salt of Horslius.

Rx. Decapitated Salt, Vitriol, ana, mix them with Boe or Porters earth into Balls, and distil as before, which free from the flegm by rectifying.

Clessius orders it to be given in Parsly both ad gut. vi. in the morning fasting. Schroder saith, that the Vitriol is not enough to keep the Salt from fluxing.

11. Spiritus Salis Corallæus.

Rx. Salt lbij. powder of Coral lavigated lbj. mix and grind them together upon a Marble, then with Bole or Potters Earth make a mass, and distil with a strong fire into a large receiver, so have you the spirit of Salt with spirit of Coral.

It is excellent against the Stone in both Reins and Bladder, cures and prevents the falling sickness in both Children and elder Persons, resists and expels Melancholy, and is good in Diseases of the Heart, as Trembling, Palpitation, &c. Dose gut. vj. or viij.

12. Spiritus Salis Clostellæ, Spirit of Salt of Clostellæ.

Rx. Hallenian Salt ℥iv. imbibe in it Oyl of Common Salt, to the Consistence of a soft Cataplasme or paste: macerate them in a close Vessel till they are united, and dried, add more, and imbibe and dry, till the salt refuses to incorporate with any more spirit, and you perceive by the Gold Colour and sweet scent, that the time of distillation is at hand; which you may do in a glass Retort well luted, so will you have very white fumes, which being condensed, are to be rectified, which is the Essential spirit of Salt.

Where note, that Hallenian salt comes from Salt Fountain Water in Germany; you may do the feat with salt of any other Fountain, or with rock or stone-salt, or with Common Salt. This spirit is said to draw out the Tincture of Gold, without lacerating the Body of it. It is a perfect remedy against Vomiting in all Diseases. Dose gut. iij. iv. or more, in Broth, Wine, or Syrup.

13. Oleum Salis cum Mel-

le, Oyl of Salt with Honey.

Rx. Purified Bay salt lbvj. add Honey and Vinegar A. q. s. digest and distil by degrees carefully out of a Retort well luted to a large Receiver, so have you flegmatick, sulphurous, and saline spirit: sweet and sour; increase the fire till the Vessel is of a cloudy red heat, (but not clear lest the salt melt:) let it stand so eight days, so have you first cloudy spirits, then in the neck of the Receiver a sublimed earth white or yellow (called the Mercury or sulphur of the Philosophers) joyn the spirit and flowers, and by Balneo Vaporis abstract only an insipid flegm, then set it to Crystallize; do this till no more Crystals will shoot, and that which drops out is acid; then cease, and at the bottom of the Still, you have a vitriolated Oyl of salt.

These Crystals are sweet, but of great Virtue; they open all Obstructions, provoke the Terms, cure the Green-sickness, help pains and heaviness of the Spleen, and dissolve Gold, alone or being long digested with S.V. or joyned with their Oyl, because it exalts and quickens its Properties and Virtues.

14. Crystalli salis dulces, sweet Crystals of Salt.

Put into a large strong tubulated Retort, Common, Spanish, or Bay salt lbij. or iv. to which adjoyn a large Receiver, with water in it; make a gradual fire till the Salt melt, then by the Pipe put in two or three drops of cold water, and stop it straight way, so will plenty of spirits be sent into the receiver: thus do so often till the salt turns to spirit, then separate the flegm, and evaporate the moisture so that it may crystallize,

stallize, which Crystals will be sweet as Sugar, and dissolve per deliquium.

Where note, 1. That Kester orders a Retort with two Pipes, the one to drop in the cold water, the other to blow at with Bellows.

2. Hartman and Agricola say, That if to dried Salt ſſi . you put powder of Coals ſſij . you will have of Spirit or Crystals ſſis . They are an excellent Antidote and Sudorific, expelling the malignity of the Plague, and all pestilential Fevers, Measles, Small-Pox, &c. It satiates and quenches thirst in Dropsies, and yet in those people restores the natural and radical moisture which is spent; it strengthens the Stomach, and fortifies the whole Body against the power of Diseases, curing the Scurvy, and all effects proceeding therefrom. These Crystals are Spirit of Salt coagulated, and may be exalted, to strengthen and restore in Consumptions, if impregnated with Gold, which is done by reverberating of these Crystals 3vi . with Leaf-Gold, or Filings of Gold 3i . in a Crucible covered.

15. Flores Salis, Flowers of Salt.

In distilling the Spirit or Oil, the flowers ascend by the violence of fire (as it is in distilling of amber) sticking to the sides and neck of the Vessel; if you distil Allum with the Salt, and expose the Caput Mortuum a while to the Air, or sprinkle it with water, and then distil again, and so repeat it often, it will afford more Oil and flowers. You may also make flowers, if in rectifying of this Spirit and Oil, you sublime the remainder with a stronger fire.

They attenuate, incise, and loosen gross flegm, open obstructions, and preserve from putrefaction: They quench thirst, and are an Antidote against the Plague. Dose à ſſs . ad ſſj .

II. Of SALGEM, or SALINDI.

16. Of unprepared Sal Gem.

It is a kind of Common Salt digged out of Stone Quarries, bright like Crystal, and therefore called by the name of a Gem.

It has the Virtues of common Salt, but is much better to dissolve Metals. It is excellent against the Colick; and Forestus says, by Experience, it is known to loosen the Belly.

Sal Indi, without doubt, differs from Sal Gem. The Ancients speak something of it, but leave us in the dark as to what it is; but Schroder thinks it to be a fossile Salt, and that Sal Gem may be used instead thereof. As to the preparations of Sal Gem, they are the same both in number and manner with common Salt: but the following (according to Schroder) are most usual.

17. Spiritus Salis Gemmae, Spirit of Salt Gem.

It is made as Spirit of common Salt, and has the same virtues.

18. Liquor seu Balsamus Salis Gemmae, Balsam of Salt Gem.

Rx. Sal Gem, melt it with fire, and dissolve it often in distilled water, filtering and coagulating; reiterate these operations of Liquefaction, Solution, Filtration, and Coagulation, till the Gem is very fine, and being put to a Candle will melt.

It is a great Secret in Ruptures, or broken Bellies, being taken inwardly with Extract of Comfrey & gum.

gut. iij. ad vi. and anointing with it outwardly.

III. Of ALLUM.

18. Of crude, or unprepared Allum.

Allum is five-fold, viz. 1. Rock, or Roch. 2. Plumous. 3. Scissile. 4. Sugary. 5. Alumen catinum. The Roch-Allum is a mineral saltiness of the Earth, of a Saturnian nature, consisting of an acid spirit, and a corrosive earthy salt; it is found either in veins of the earth, or boyled out of mineral waters, or extracted out of Rocks or mineral stones. The Plumous-Allum is the stone Amiantus, which see in its place in cap 14 The Scissile is that Allum which is flakey and long. The Sugary is artificial, made of Roch-Allu. whites of Eggs, and Rose-water. Alumen Catinum, is not properly Allum, but a Salt extracted from the ashes of Kali, or certain Wood-ashes well reverberated, and feces of Wine.

Crude-Allum is of a drying, binding nature; it is good in Dysenteria's, after universal Remedies; and several Empirical Physicians give it inwardly against Feavers. It is good outwardly in Lotions for the Quinsy, Swellings of the Throat, and Tonsils filthiness of the Teeth and Gums, and cedematous Tumors of the Knees and Feet.

19. Crystallus Aluminis, Crystals of Allum.

But Crude-Allum (viz Roch-Allum, for that is intended in this and the following Work) in a large earthen Vessel, that the flegm may evaporate, calcine it red hot, and cast it into Spirit of Vinegar, which will extract the Essence (leaving at bottom a white Earth, which may be washed and kept) filter the Vinegar thus impregnated; and in B.M. abstract to the consistence of Honey, which see in the cold to crystallize.

They are Diaphoretic, and cure all sorts of Agues, chiefly Tertians, given often before the Fit, they are also prevalent against the Scurvy, taken three or four times a Week, and sweating thereupon. Dose à gr. viij. ad x. You may make the ordinary Crystals, by dissolving in hot Rain-water, and evaporating, till a Cream appear at the top; then setting it to Crystallize, which done two or three times, will make them the milder. Libavins dissolves in Urine, and proceeds the same way, but then the Allum cannot be pure, but will be mixt with Salt of Urine.

20. Calcinatio Aluminis, Burnt Allum.

Lay it by the fire upon an earthen or iron Plate, that it may boil, till its flegm and spirit are evaporated, and only a porous soft body remain: this every woman knows.

This serves to take away dead flesh, and to eat off proud flesh and putrefaction in Wounds, Ulcers, and other old Sores.

21. Spiritus Aluminis, Spirit of Allum.

Distil Roch-Allum in a Retort in ash, first with a gentle fire, so have you flegm; then with a stronger, so have you spirit.

It has the Virtues of Spirit of Vitriol or Sulphur, and the same Dose.

22. Spiritus Aluminis edulcoratus. Sweet Spirit of Allum.

It is made sweet, by often rectifying of it with Spirit of Wine.

It is a good Diuretic, dissolves and expels the Stone in both Reins and Bladder. It opens Obstructions of the Spleen; is excellent against Melancholy and the Scurvy, and cools the heat of Feavers. It cures sore Mouths and Throats, and helps all sorts of Inflammations, &c. Dose gut. iiij. or vj. in fragrant Wine. The flegm is good to cleanse Wounds, and heal them.

23. Spiritus Aluminis astringens, Binding Spirit of Allum.

Dissolve fine Rock-Allum in a glass Vessel in pure water, filter and distil in ashes to dryness, with a low Still; dissolve the remainder again, and distil again; which repeat, till all the Allum be come over.

This is a wonderful astringent Liquor, beyond Bole, Essence of Iron, Crocus Martis astringens, or other things of like nature, and therefore of singular good uses in all Fluxes. Dose à gut. iij. ad vj. or x.

24. Alumen Saccharinum, Sugared Allum, or Allum made sweet.

Rx. Rock-Allum, and distil it in a Glass retort, till all the flegm be come off; cohobate upon the Caput Mortuum, and digest 24 hours, then distil again, and distil this Work six or seven times; at last keep the flegm, and dissolve the Caput Mortuum per deliquium; which digest two or three weeks, then evaporate the humidity in sand to dryness, so will the Allum be sweet.

It is strengthening, resists all manner of Poyson, and most Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, chiefly such as come from mineral Vapors in the Mines. It is Anodyne, eases the Toothach, and all manner of pains, chiefly of the side, as Pleurisies, &c. Dose à gr. v. ad x.

IV. Of SAL ARMONIAC.

25. Of unprepared Sal Armoniac.

The Sal Armoniac of the Ancients was a native Salt, which grew in the Lybic Sea, unknown to us: Ours is a compound artificial volatile Salt, boiled from the ashes of Minerals, Vegetables, and Animals, Salt of Soot, common Salt, and Sal Gem. The best come from Venice and Antwerp, being very white and pure.

It is a Sudorific, being given inwardly, excellent in the cure of Feavers, chiefly in the Quartan. It opens Obstructions, provokes Urine and the Terms, resists putrefaction, and rectifies the distemper of the Stomach; you may give gr. x. in any convenient Vehicle: Outwardly it is used in Gangrenes, to consume rotten flesh. It cures the Quinsie in a Gargarism, and is excellent against Scabs, Pimples, Itch, and other breakings out.

26. Aqua Ophthalmica Salis Armoniaci, Eye-water of Salt Armoniac.

Dissolve a little Sal Armoniac in a Lixivium of Quick-Lime, in a brass or copper Basen, letting it stand for a night, or till it has a sapharine colour.

It is of great use among Barbers to cure most Distempers of the Eyes, as the Pin and Web, Pearl, Film, and dimness of Sight. It cures Ulcers of the Eyes, Cancers, and Burns, a few drops being dropt therein; all which it performs according as there is more of the Salt, or stands longer in the Brass:

you

you may mix it with Rose-water.

27. Crystallus salis Armoniaci, Crystals of salt Armoniac.

They are made by purifying and dissolving in water, and then evaporating a little, setting it to crystallize.

These Crystals being only the Salt purified, have the Virtues only of the unprepared Salt.

28. Flores salis Armoniaci, Flowers of salt Armoniac.

R. Sal Armoniac in powder, filings of steel, mix and sublime in Sand, so will the Salt ascend very pure and impregnated with the virtues of the steel: Take of the said sublimed salt, and common salt melted, ana, mix and sublime again, which repeat seven times, always casting away the Caput Mort. and adding an equal quantity of common Salt melted.

Where Note, 1. That some sublime without Steel, only with common Salt, but this with Steel is infinitely better. 2. That the filings of Iron are corroded with the Salt, which causes but few flowers to ascend; but subliming with a Bar or Gad of Iron, all the Salt will ascend, of a yellowish red, almost in imitation of Ens Veneris. These flowers are not only more plentiful, but much more powerful than the Crystals, they are strangely successful in Quartans, and in all other Fevers, putrid, or not; they perfectly remove crudities of the Stomach, and open all obstructions, thereby provoking Urine, and the Terms; this more especially, if given à gr. iiii. ad x. in wormwood wine, and sweating upon it.

29. Liquor seu Oleum salis Armoniaci, Oil of Sal Armoniac.

Dissolve the salt per deliquium in the whites of Eggs boiled hard.

It has all the Virtues of the Crystal at Sect. 27.

30. Spiritus salis Armoniaci, Spirit of Sal Armoniac.

R. Sal Arm. p. j. Asbes p. iiii. distil by an Alembic in sand, so have you a spirit, which rectifie in a long Still. Or thus: Quench red hot Brick-bats in the solution of Sal Arm. in fair water, till such time as all the water is drunk up, then distil in a Retort. Or thus: Mix the Salt with Clay, and make it into Balls, then distil it in a Retort as common Salt. Or thus: Digest flowers of Sal Arm. with a little S. V. rectified in a close Vessel in B. M. till they are dissolved: decant the solution, which distil in a long Glass in B. M. to one half, put on the distilled water again, and encreasing the fire, force over the spirit, which rectifie.

It attenuates, incides, is diaphoretic, diuretic, and resolutive; it opens all manner of Obstructions, cures Pleurifies to a wonder, beyond Blood-letting, and sooner. It is a certain Remedy against Quartans, and powerfully breaks and expels the Stone. It takes away flegm, and other Obstructions of the Breast and Stomach, even when life has been totally despaired of, raising the Sick beyond all expectation; in this case you may mix it à gut. iiii. ad xij. or more. In a small Lixivium of Sal Regale impregnated with juyce of Liquorice, and so also you will find it exceeding good against Coughs, Colds, Wheelings, Asthma's, and all other Diseases of the Breast, Lungs, Reins and Bladder. Outwardly, mixt with equal quantities of S.V. and laid in a Pledget to the Gout, often renewing of it, it gives ease to a Miracle, and so much the more, especially if a little Camphir be dissolved therein; for which you have the Authorities of Sennertus, Hartman, and Tentzelius: See Synop. Med. lib. 3, cap. 70.

31. Spiritus salis Armoniaci Clossæi, Spirit of Salt Armoniack of Clossæus.

Impregnate water with Salt Armoniack as much as it will hold, in which imbibe leaves of brown Paper made into balls; put them into a still and with sand, or a Reverberatory, draw an acid spirit of a Golden colour, which rectifie till it is white or clear.

Where note, 1. That you distil with a gradual fire, lest you burn the Paper, for then the Spirit would be black and stink. 2. That you add not spirit of Mercury, as Quercetan doth in his Panacea of ☿; for so your spirit will be a poysonous Soot of Mercury, which would stop the Throat with Convulsions and kill. 3. That you use a Glas Retort well luted. This is a wonderful piercing Spirit, but it becomes so from the Volatile Sale of Urine; it is Sudorifick, excellent against the Plague, all malign Feavers; Pleurifies, pains and stitches in the side, and cures the Colick. Dose à gut. vj. ad viij. or x. in Canary: It is excellent also against fits of the Mether.

32. Spiritus salis Armoniaci Collegii, The Colledges spirit of Sal Armoniack.

Colledge.) R. Sal Armoniack, Tartar calcin'd with Niter, A. ℥iv. beat them severally, then mix, put them into a large Cucurbit, pouring thereon spring water ℥vj. or viij. then distil in a Sand Furnace, and with a gentle heat, the pure spirit will ascend. This spirit is rectified in a high Cucurbit, and the pure volatile salt is sublimed in the Alembick.

Salmon.) Where note, 1. That Schroder uses Quick-Lime instead of calcin'd Tartar, but the former is better. 2. That the Recipient ought to be luted to the Still, by reason of the Volatility of the Spirit. 3. That with one rectification it will be pure and fly. It is almost a Panacea for most Diseases, chiefly of the head, as Epilepsia's, Apoplexies, Megrimms, Convulsions, Deafness; in the Pleurisie it is a specifick; in Diseases of the Womb, as retention of the Terms, difficulty of Conception, fits of the Mother; it has also all the Virtues of the former; besides which it cures the Rickets, and is an excellent thing against most Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, Dose ad gut. xij.

In Sal Armoniack there is a double Spirit, viz. 1. The Spirit of Urine: 2. The Spirit of common Salt. The first of them is drawn as aforesaid, by Sect. 30. 31. and 32. The other as that of Salt, at Sect. 4. of this Chapter.

33. To fix Sal Armoniack.

Mix it with an equal quantity of Quick-Lime, and perform the operation either in a wind Furnace, or in a strong fire with Bellows, then wash it with water:

It has the Virtues of the Crytals, and may serve to make Liquor of, by Sect. 29. The Salt of Quick-lime is a pure, volatile Salt, from hence is learned, 1. That the joining of two volatile things together, makes one fixed; this is also proved by Vinegar and Quick-lime, the Salts of both which are so volatile, that it is impossible to save either alone by any simple operation; yet by mixing good Vinegar with a strong Lixivium of Quick-lime, you have the two volatile Salts (in large quantity) conjoined in fixed Salt. 2. That with the Salt Armoniac, you also have a Salt of Quick-lime fixed. 3. From the same reason it appears, That if you join together two (the most fixed) things, you make a third neutral, and most volatile, &c. But of these things we may in another place (God assisting) have a more fit opportunity to discourse.

V. Of SAL NITRE.

34. Of unprepared, or simple Salt Nitre.

It is a sulphurous, fat (but bitter) Salt, extracted from a fat Earth.

It is called by the Chymists Cerberus, Salt of Hermes, Baurach, Algali, Salt of Sulphur, Anderonæ, Anatron, Cabalatar, Infernal Salt: Basil calls it the Earthly Serpene; we in England, Salt-Petre. What the Nitre of the Ancients was, is unknown to us: Ours is threefold, 1. Extracted by water out of the Earth. 2. That which sticks to stone Walls. 3. That which grows to Rocks; of all which, the shops sell only the first. It is often adulterated, by being mixed with common Salt, but you may try it by burnings; for being fired upon a red hot tile, or stone, if all fly away, it is pure; if any thing remain, it is common Salt. As to the first qualities of it, they are disputed: some say it is hot, some cold; but, without doubt, the latter is the truest. It resists putrefaction, quenches thirst, allays hunger, cuts tartarous mucilage in the Lungs, and other parts, dissolves congealed Blood, eases all manner of pains, abates the violence of burning Fevers; is excellent in Pleurifies, Peripneumony, Pains in the Side, Stone both in the Reins and Bladder, obstructions of Liver, Spleen, Meseraics, Reins and Bowels. It provokes Urin, allays Heat in Pissing, and is excellent in Coughs and Asthma's; yet it is not altogether so good in weak Stomachs, or where there is a Lask of the Belly. You may give it dissolved in Drink, Wine, or Water, à ʒi. ad ʒij. Outwardly, in a Gargarism, it is good for Inflammations of the Jaws and Tonsils, Quinsies, &c. and other hot Inflammations, being dissolved in Water, and laid on with a Clout.

35. To purifie Salt Nitre.

It is done by Solution, Filtration, and Crystallization, in common water, according to the usual way. Or thus, according to Clessius: Dissolve Nitre lbij. in water lbij. in a brass Kettle over a Fire of Wood, then take it from the Fire, and drop in Wine-vinegar gradatim ʒiiij. or something more; then cover it close with cloaths, and in about a day, the Crystals will shoot.

It has the Virtues of the former, but something a finer Medicin.

36. Lapis seu Sal Prunellæ, Fixed Nitre, or Crystal Mineral.

Colledge.) R. pure and Crystalline Niter ℥ij. put it into a Crucible with Coals round about it, that the Niter may flow like Metal; to which being fused and despumated, put in at times by little and little, flowers of Sulphur ℥ij. the Sulphur being consumed, and the Crucible removed from the fire for a quarter of an hour, pour out the Niter (being liquid like Water) into a Brass Basin, which when it is cold, keep it in a glass close stopp'd for use.

Salmon.) Where Note, 1. That if it be not clear you may cleanse it by solution, filtration, and crystallizing of it in Rose-water. 2. That you may make a large quantity at a time, you may use a large Crucible, which will hold two or three quarts. 3. Put in the Nitre in powder whilst it is cold, filling up the Pot to the brim, because the Nitre being melted, will take up but half the room it did before, being no ways subject to rise and run over. 4. That if Nitre be put into the Pot, being hot, it would certainly break. 5. That Nitre (as all other Salts) only melt by means of their flegm; for Salts being calcin'd, or deflegmated, they cannot be melted, unless they be wet anew, by which means they grow the whiter. 6. That the Brimstone only purifies the Nitre by precipitating to the bottom the fæces. 7. That the Nitre being melted, will not be coagulated upon the Fire into a lump, as will Vitriol or Allum, &c. by which means you may cast it into what form you please, as of Bullets, Medals, &c. 8. That you use pure Nitre, free from common Salt, so will the Crystals be whiter and dryer; otherwise, if you use ordinary or unrefined Nitre, the Air will be apt to dissolve them into water. 9. That if after the Nitre is melted and purified with Brimstone, you set it not cooler, it would break the Pot, were it made of Iron. 10. That though the Brimstone burns the Nitre, yet it inflames not the Nitre, because it is difficultly deflegmated, and so not easie to kindle. 11. That being dissolved in Rose-water, as aforesaid, it ought to be filtred warm through a brown Paper, that it may be fine and white; then the Water evaporated in a Sand heat, till a thin Skin be on the top, after which being cold, the Nitre will shoot into Needles of a sexangular form, white, clear, transparent as Rock Crystal, but brittle as Glass, having a pleasant grateful Acidity, and free from its fixed Salt, which is the true Lapis, or Sal Prunella, which is nothing else but well purified Nitre, fully destitute of its flegm, fixed Salt, and black feces. 12. That it is called Lapis Prunella, or Plumstone, because it is sharp and sour, like wild Prunes, or Plums; yet others think it so called, from a soreness of the Throat, called in Latin Prunella, or the burning Coal, for which this Medicine is an especial Remedy, being used in a Gargarism; but whence the name comes, it is not much material, so long as we know what the thing itself is, and how to use it.

It is an excellent Anodyne, quenches thirst, cures all preternatural Heats, purifies the Blood, fixes Vapors that ascend into the Head, exhilarates the whole Body, dy, helps sharpness of Urine, Dropsies, burning Fevers, and Fits of the Mother. Outwardly, it eases pains in Wounds, the Toothach, and the Gout, given à ℥ij. ad ℥iij. or ʒij. in Water, or other fit Vehicle; it kills Worms, provokes Urine, cleanses the Reins, and helps the Scurvy: Give it three, four, or five times a day. See unprepared Nitre at Sect. 34. being the same with it in virtue, or rather better; if you please you may give it with Sugar, in water, as aforesaid.

37. The Calcination of Nitre.

R. Nitre in powder ℔iij. Quicklime ℔iij. mix, and cemens five or six hours, then extract the salt with hot water, which filterate and inspissate. Or thus: R. Sal Nitre, to which put S.V. or spirit of Sulphur, distil it from the Nitre by degrees, then increase the fire to make it run, which repeat five times, always putting on fresh spirit. Or thus: R. Nitre in powder, make it into paste with whites of Eggs, dry it: then with a strong fire melt it, and pour it out.

Nitre thus prepared is fixed and Anodyne, and has the virtues of the former; it makes Metals easily melt.

38. Crystallus Mineralis Saccharinus, Sugared Crystal Mineral.

R. Crystal Mineral, fine Sugar, ana, dissolve in Rose-water, filter, abstract, and crystallize.

It has the same virtues with Lapis Prunellæ, but pleasanter: It is a secret to stop bleeding in wounds.

39. Nitrum Petlatum, Pearled Nitre.

R. Nitre, dissolved in distilled Vinegar, p.ij. salt of Pearl so dissolved. p.ij. mix and coagulate by evaporation, setting of it in a cool place to evaporate: Thus may you make Nitre corallated.

These have both the same virtues with Lapis Prunellæ, but much exceed it in Consumptions, Rickets, Weaknesses, and Fevers, being a rare Cordial.

40. Nitrum Plumbosum, Nitre with Lead.

It is made as the former, with Lapis Prunellæ, and Sugar of Lead.

Given in a proper Vehicle, it is a Specific in Asthma's: Dose à gr. v. ad viij. If you make the dissolution in Tincture of Roses, Violets, Clove-gilliflowers, in Rose-water, the Crystals will be accordingly tinged.

41. Crystallus salis Nitri Clossæi, Crystals of salt Nitre of Clossæus.

Dissolve Nitre in spirit of Sal. Nitre by digestion, abstract the slegm, add more spirit, digest, distil till it comes forth as sharp, as it went in; then put the Liquor which remains in the Retort in a Celler to fall into little stones, which dissolve in water, and crystallize. These Crystals are called by some, The Fortified Dragon.

Those Crystals purge by Stool, Urine, and Sweat, open all manner of Obstructions, are Anodyne, and digestive. Given in ℥j. in any fit Vehicle.

42. Nitre Chalibiatum, Chalibiated Nitre.

R. Of the pure Salt drawn from the Caput Mortuum of A. F. p. ij. Sal Prunellæ p. i. first melt the Sal Prunellæ in a Crucible, which impregnate with the soul of Iron (liquid, or in powder) till it be red; powder it, and mix it with the aforesaid.

foreſaid ſalt of the Caput Mort. and make a fine powder; put into a glaſs Still, and with a gradual ſand-fire make it melt till it is like water, then cool the glaſs, break it, and take out a red ſtone.

It has not only all the virtues of Sal Prunelle, but is much more excellent. It reſtores loſt Appetite, cures the Cachexia, Fevers, Stone, Catarrhs, Scurvy French-Pox, Conſuſions, Palfies, Impurities of the Blood, opens all Obſtructions, provokes the Terms, gives Sleep, Reſt, and Eaſe by Stool or Sweat, and in ſome by Vomit. Dose ad ʒj.

43. Catharticum Nitri, Purging Nitre.

R. Nitre, beat it in a Crucible, caſting in a live Coal now and then, that it may burn; which repeat till it will flame no more, what remains, diſſolve in ſpirit of Vinegar; filter and coagulate, which repeat thrice with freſh ſpirit of Vinegar: laſtly, diſſolve in S. V. and you ſhall have a Talcous kind of earth of Nitre, which will melt like wax.

It purges ſweetly, and is commonly mixt with other Purges to increaſe their Virtues, as Extract of Rubarb, Senna, &c. Or you may give it ad ʒiſ. in Syrupi de quinque Radicibus: It opens Obſtructions of Liver, Spleen, Meſentery, Womb, Reins, Bladder, and Bowels, and cauſes Livelineſs and Chearfulneſs.

44. Nitrum Vitriolatum, Vitriolated Nitre.

R. Salt extracted from the Caput Mortuum of A. F. (made of Nitre and Vitriol, ana) purifie it by many ſolutions, filterations, and coagulations, till it be white: Powder it, and mix it with a little Nitre, or Lapis Prunellæ, which in a luted Still calcine and melt, which work repeat three or four times; but before the laſt operation, depurate it by ſolution, &c.

It is a ſweet Salt: Mynſicht calls it the duplicate ſecret, which is by great experience proved to be an Antidote againſt Melancholy, Agues, Fevers, Cachexies, Obſtructions of the Urine, Stone, Scurvy, &c. It cauſes Reſt and Sleep. It is certainly a moſt excellent Medicine, and a kind of Panacea: and may be ſafely given to all perſons. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒij. You may exalt its Virtues, if to this Salt p. vij. you add well prepared Calx of Gold, p. j. or Ens Veneris, p. iij.

45. Tinctura Nitri, Tincture of Nitre.

It is made as that of Extract of Salt, at Sect. 4. aforegoing.

It cures Rickets, Conſumptions, Obſtructions of the Lungs, and is a good Peſtoral, Strengthening, and Diaphoretic. Dose ad gr. x. or xij.

46. Flores Salis Nitri, Flowers of Nitre.

R. Nitre, Salt, ana lbj. melt and caſt in live coals: lay another Pot over them with the bottom upwards, which cover with a wet cloth, and the flowers will aſcend, and ſtick in the top of the upper Pot, which, with a Hares-foot or feather, ſweep, and keep for uſe.

They have the Virtues of the ſimple Salt, and Lapis Prunelle, which ſee Sect. 34, 36.

47. Spiritus Nitri, Spirit of Nitre:

R. Pure Nitre lbj. Potters Earth p. v. mix them, with which fill up to the neck a glass Retort, well luted up to its neck, place it in a close Reverberatory Furnace, with a capacious Receiver; give fire by degrees to the highest, for the space of 24 hours, the flegm comes first with white Vapours: then the Spirit in red Vapours, which will make the Receiver as a Rubin.

Where note, 1. That some instead of Potters Earth use other Clay, Bole or Sand. 2. That Kessel takes Niter and Allum, of each a like quantity. 3. It may be drawn in a Tubulated Earthen, or rather Iron Retort, first heated red hot, then casting in the Salt by degrees or at several times, immediately after stopping the Pipe, so that the Spirit may settle in the Receiver, the which they will the easier do if water be put into it first. 4. Or after the last way, you may first melt the Niter, at once in the Retort; then cast in Sulphur at times by the Tube, stopping it at every time, till the Niter is consumed, so will you have Spirit of Niter like butter of Antimony, which dephlegmate and rectifie: the Caput Mort. Yields a fixed Salt of Niter. 5. That the Recipient be well and close luted to the Retort, lest the Vapours should exhale; the which the Operator must not come too near, lest their malignity should hurt his Brain and Nerves, and make him Paralytick. 6. That although the flegm is mixed with the Spirit, yet it hurts it not, because it is in so small a proportion to the Spirit, as that it cannot make it lose any thing of its energy and force. 7. That the purer and finer the Niter is the greater plenty of Spirits will be had. 8. That it is in vain to rectifie Spirit of Niter made the common ways, or without Sulphur, because that it is so volatile, that it ascends conjunctly with the flegm. 9. Because Salt melted yields no Spirit, and Niter being the easiest of any Salt to melt, as being that which helps the fusion of other Bodies; and because Niter being melted is so fix (for want of Sulphur) that it can neither evaporate, nor be inflamed, we therefore put Sand, Clay, &c. in such proportion to hinder its fusion. 10. That it is in colour and form like to Spirit of Salt, vaporious and stinking almost like Aqua fortis; so corrosive and biting, as not to be tasted with the Tongue alone; that it gnaws or rots a Cork stopple, and makes it look yellow. 11. That which is right and good, being dropt on a Brass Farthing will presently Boil, and make the piece stir, and give it a blew colour. 12. That some mix spirits of Niter with water, and sell it for Spirit of Vitriol and Sulphur.

It is not without truth said, That as pure Vitriol is an acid Vomitive, so pure Niter is an acid Aperitive: from whence we infer, That it opens the Bowels, and most other Obstructions, abates the preternatural heat of Feavers, is Sudorifick, Anodyne, Resolutive, Discussive, and Alexipharmick: It cures Pleurifies and all sorts of Feavers, especially such as are malignant, and takes away the unnatural fermentation of Humors. the Spirit of Wine or Water, à ℥j. ad ℥ij. or ℥j. and mixed with a little Oyl of Nutmegs, and a little Civit, and anointed on the Navel. Outwardly it is good in Gargarisms and Lotion, to stop Gangreens, takes away rotten flesh, Warts, heals Cancers and Sores or Ulcers in the Mouth, Legs, and other parts. It dissolves ☿ and other Metals and Minerals, and is often to be preferred before A.F. (because that is of a Malignant Quality) especially in making of fucufes for the face; for those made with Spirit of Niter are clear and delicate, whereas those made with A. F. rather black (by reason of the Vitriol) than whiten it.

48. Aqua-Fortis communis, The common Aqua-Fortis, or dissolvent of Silver.

Colledge.) R. Of Vitriol prepared as for Oyl of Vitriol ℥ij. fine Sals-Peter ℥ij. boyl them together, and put them into a Retort well luted, placed in a Furnace with a large Receiver, with a naked fire, distil by degrees for the space of 24 hours & rectifie the water in a little Retort in Sand.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted 1. That you leave a third part of the Retort empty, lest the Vitriol melted by the Niter, should rise before the distillation of the A.F. 2. The Retort ought to be placed in a little Reverberatory, or circulatory Fire (a great one is not so necessary here) because the Niter is volatile, and having melted the Vitriol, it makes it yield its Spirit without a very violent degree of heat. 3. Continue the first degree of fire till the flegm, which comes in white Vapours, disappears, otherwise by a great heat at first, the Materials would boyl over into the Receiver in their own substance. 4. When the red Vapours fill the Receiver, then increase the fire till the Spirit is drawn off. 5. That though Spirit of Vitriol cannot be drawn from Vitriol undeflegmated, yet A.F. may by reason of the fine Niter, whose opening Sulphur keeps the Vitriol porous and vaporous; but here the Colledge orders deflegmated Vitriol, that the A.F. may be stronger.

6. Geber in libro inventionis adds Allum ℥ss 7. It is known by its yellowness, its stinking smell, its yellowing and corroding the stopple (if Cork) and its green colour, if put upon a Brass Farthing, in two or three drops, making it thereby to stir. It is a malignant Caustick, and the dissolvent of Silver and Copper. Dyers use it to give a penetration and glory to their colours: Some order it to be distilled from Vitriol and Niter, of each equal part; but the former is without doubt the better. It will dissolve Silver or Copper in equal parts; but for a more perfect dissolution it will be good to use more. Out of Niter and Vitriol undeflegmated ℥ij. you may have ℥xvj. of Aqua-fortis.

49. Aqua Regia vel Regis communis, Common Aqua Regia, or the dissolvent of Gold.

R. Aquafortis ℥ij. Common Sals descriptared ℥iv. distil with a strong fire three or four times till all the Salt comes over with the spirit: In every ℥ij. of which, dissolve Sal Armoniack thrice sublimed ℥j. Or thus: R. Spirit of Niter ℥ij. Sal

Armoniac ʒi. digest.

It is a good dissolver of Gold.

50. Aqua Regia Basilij, Basil's dissolvent of Gold.

R. Nitre Sal Armoniac A. lbij. powder of Flints lbij. distil by a Retort red hot with a Pipe: Schroder saith, the ordinary way is by an Iron Pot, on which is placed an earthen Cover like an Alembic with a beak, set it in a naked fire with a large Receiver.

It dissolves Gold, and carries it with it through the Receiver.

51. Aqua Regis Tentzelij, the golden dissolvent of Tentzelius.

R. Nitre lbj. powder of Flints lbij. distil the water from them by a Retort; from the Caput Mort. extract the salt with hot water; with the remaining ashes mix Sal Armoniac lbj. distil by a Retort in a naked fire, so have you Aqua Regia; which distilling in B. M. or ashes in a Glass Alembic, will yet be clearer.

52. Spiritus salis Nitri Bezoardicus, Bezoardic Spirit of Nitre.

R. Rectified spirit of Nitre, Butter of Antimony, ana, distil in a Retort, so have you the Bezoardic Spirit of Nitre; the Caput Mort. serves to make Bezoar Mineral of.

If it be strongly forced, the spirit will be red, and be able not only to dissolve Gold, but also to volatilize it.

VI. OF VITRIOL.

53. Of crude or unprepared Vitriol.

Vitriol is a gross, terrestrial, universal salt, according to the nature of the Mine whence it is dig'd, and is called Calcantimum. It is threefold, viz. 1. Saphyrine, or Sky-coloured, coagulated like Sugar-candy, dry in touching, which is Hungarian or Cyprian. 2. Greenish, being more granulated like common Salt, and unctuous, as the Sweetland Gossarian Vitriol. 3. The white and dry, made like small loaves.

Vitriol may be said to be either native or factitious; the native is taken out of the Earth, either in its own form, or in water, (sub forma Aquæ, primum in quodam fodinarum lacu colligitur quæ postea vasa excepta cito concrevit in Vitriolum. Horst. de re Medica par. 1. lib. 7. cap. 5.) The factitious is made out of Copper, or Iron, severally or conjunctly, among which, the Roman is chief. Of these kinds it will be good to chuse that which has more Copper than Iron in it, which rub'd upon bright Iron, makes it look red, but take heed of that which they commonly make Ink of: the Hungarian is best. All Vitriol is hot, dry, and astringent. It kills Worms, provokes Vomiting, (though Galen saith it stops it) cures the Leprosie, and all external breakings out; you may dissolve it ʒj. in a Pint, or Pint and half of Rhenish Wine, and fogive three or four spoonfuls of it often in a day with ordinary Drink, or with Wine which is better; thus taken it is exceeding good against the Pox, and all Pocky breakings out. See our Med. Dor. lib. 3. cap. 24. Sect. 17. Outwardly it is good as an Erhine, as also to wash such as have the Itch, or any Breakings out. Paracelsus accounts it for the third part of Physick, and saith, that a whole Shop is contained therein.

54. To purifie Vitriol.

It is done by solution, filtration, and a digestion for a month, then evaporation, and crystallization according to the usual way.

It is the more fit to be used in former cases; Or thus, more at large.

55. Gilla, seu Vitriolum Emeticum Paracelsi, Vomiting Vitriol.

Rx. White Vitriol, dissolve it in water, filter and evaporate, till a crust appears at top, place it in a cold place to crystallize, evaporate the water again, and set it to crystallize, which repeat thrice more; then take the Crystals, and dissolve them in Rose-water, filtering and coagulating, which repeat the third time, then dry the Crystals with a gentle heat, and beat them into a white powder.

It is a gentle Vomit, and very good in all Feavers; it cures all Diseases of the Stomach, and Head, Catarrhs, Worms, Plague, Epilepsie, Scurvy, Leprosie. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒj. in Wine or Broth. Where note, that there are four several Gills or Vomiting Vitriols. The 1. is made of blew or Roman Vitriol dissolved and precipitated with Oyl of Tartar, the Sulphur being separated filter the solution and crystallize; this is the strongest and most violent. The 2. is what we have before shewn in the prescript, which is not so desperate. The 3. is made of the Vitriol of Copper or Iron, according to Crollius, having a Stiptick sweetness, being twice or thrice dissolved in Flegm of Alum, and coagulated; this is less violent. The 4th. is the salt of Vitriol made of the Caput Mort. after the Spirit and Oyl is drawn off; this is the most innocent and fit for children: these all cause Vomiting within one quarter of an hour after taking.

56. Vitriolum Emeticum Salæ, the Vomiting Vitriol of Sala.

Rx. Roman Vitriol and dry it in an Earthen pan over a fire, or in the Sun beams to a white powder & dissolve it in Centary water, filter and Crystallize, dry them, and keep them in a glass Vessel close stopped.

Where is to be noted, 1. That any other Vitriol may serve to make it of. 2. That both Clossæus and Beguinus affirms, that Centary Water both facilitates and confirms the Vomiting force. It both Purges and Vomits, given à ʒj. ad ʒss. in any fit Vehicle: and is good in Malign and Pestilential Feavers, and in Agues. Note also this as a general Rule in the Purification of all Vitriol, That after Solution and filtration, you must digest a month or a forty days (which is a Medicinal month) before you can separate the solution from the faces, and still digest till no faces will settle.

57. Coagulum Vitrioli Clossæi, Clossæus his Curd of Vitriol.

Rx. Salt of Vitriol, Tartar calcin'd, ana; dissolve each a part in Rose-water, then filter, joyn and coagulate.

It scarcely vomits, but purges well, given à ʒss. ad ʒj. It has the Virtues of the former, cures Agues and Melancholy.

58. Vitriolum cum nitro, Vitriol with Niter.

Rx. Pure Vitriol, fine Niter, ana; mix, and in a crucible close covered calcine for seven or eight hours: then dissolve by boiling in water, filter and evaporate till a scum arises, lastly, in a cold place set it to crystallize.

It vomits, and has the same Virtues of the Gilla Paracelsi, at Sect. 55. It also cures the Cachexia, Dropsie, Fits of the Mother, Epilepsie, and stoppage of Terms. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒj.

59. Colcothar Vitrioli, Calx of Vitriol.

R. Vitriol, boil it in an earthen Vessel till it is dry, then increase the fire, and calcine it till it is red: Or thus, R. Crystals of Vitriol gently dried in powder, put it into a luted Matraſs with a broad bottom, close stopped, (the Vitriol being stratified over the bottom of the Matraſs only a quarter of an inch thick, otherwise you will lose your Labour) place it in ashes, equal in heat to the Sun-beams, where let it stand till it turns red, which will be in about twenty days.

It is intended to make several other preparations of: in Water it yields a Salt, and in Spirit of Wine, a good Liquor, to stop Bleeding, and cure Wounds.

60. Sulphur Vitrioli Hartmanni, Hartman's Sulphur of Vitriol.

Dissolve Vitriol in hot Water, to which put Oil of Tartar, and the Sulphur will fall, which sweeten by washing, and dry.

It is a good Pectoral, cleanses and heals Ulcers.

61. Sulphur Vitrioli Kessleri, Kessler's Sulphur of Vitriol.

Digest Vitriol in its own flegm to four or five Inches above it, that the torrene part may settle: filter the liquor, and with Oil of Tartar per deliquium, precipitate the Sulphur, decant, sweeten with hot water and dry.

It has the virtues of other Vitriols, and only purges downwards à gr. v. ad x. Where note, That the Sulphur is made purgative by dissolving in the flegm of Vitriol.

62. Sulphur Vitrioli fixum, Fixed Sulphur of Vitriol.

R. Hungarian Vitriol, or Vitriol of Copper lbij.; filings of steel lbj. spirit of wine lbij. mix, and boil them together in sand, at last coagulate: and make the Mass red hot: from which with Spirit extract the Tincture, (in which is the combustible Sulphur, if you evaporate, dulcify and dry, but if you) precipitate with Oil of Vitriol, and edulcorate, then you have the sweet fixed Sulphur of Vitriol.

It is of use to make other Medicines, as Anodynes, Laudanums Flores, &c.

63. Terra Vitrioli, Earth of Vitriol.

Dissolve Vitriol in water, and its Earth will settle.

It is of use for the following prescript.

64. Flores Terra Vitrioli, Flowers of the Earth of Vitriol.

R. Of the former Earth, Sal Armoniac, ana, mix and sublime with a gradual fire till the flames cease: then put to water, and digest in B.M. a day or more, so a fine powder will subside, which edulcorate by many ablutions.

Sala saith, their chief use is in the Cure of Wounds: but experience has consum'd them good against old Sores, Ulcers, Putrid Fistula's, &c. Basil says, that if this Powder be melted, it will be part of it good Copper.

will

65. Flores Sulphuris Vitrioli, Flowers of the Sulphur of Vitriol.

The Flowers are elevated in a sublimatory, the ordinary way.

66. Flores Vitrioli Crudi, Flowers of crude Vitriol.

Crude Vitriol is sublimed also together, in the same manner as Sal Armoniac.

These Flowers are only Vitriol purified by Sublimation, and are good for all the Intentions of crude Vitriol, and much better, being used in the same manner.

67. Lapis Vitrioli, The Vitriolic Stone.

Rx. Colcothar, or Vitriol calcin'd to redness ℥ij. Liebarge, Alum, Bole, A. ℥iiij. put all into a glased vessel, on which put Vinegar two or three Inches over: digest two or three days, then add fine Nitre ℥viij. Sal Armoniac ℥ij. abstract the humidity, what remains, calcine for about half an hour, with a strong fire, then cool and keep it for use.

Where Note, 1. That the Caput Mort. (after the distillation of the Oil) of Vitriol is best for this work. 2. That the Vinegar is added to cause a Fermentation, that the Nitre and Sal Armoniac, may the more easily mix. 3. That the Stone being of a binding quality, the Calcination, at last, is added; to augment that property, and to fix the Stone, that it may the better keep. It is very good to stop bleeding, dry up and heal wounds; and is an excellent Remedy to stop a Gonorrhæa, ℥j. of it being dissolved in Poppy-water ℥viij. (or in stead thereof Smiths water) to make an Injection into the Yard; it is one of the best (but not the very best) of Remedies in that case. It is also good for fluxions of Rheum into the Eyes, being dissolved, as aforesaid, gr. ij. to an ounce of the water.

68. Aqua Styptica, Styptic water.

Rx. Colcothar, or Caput Mort. of Vitriol, Burnt Alum, Sugar-Candy, A. ℥j. fresh Urine of a young Man ℥iiij. Rose or Poppy-water ℥iiij. mix well, stirring it in a Mortar for half an hour, digest and keep it for use close stopp'd, separating it by Inclination as you have occasion for, &c.

It is a very excellent thing to stop all Fluxes of Blood in what part soever: A Bolster dipt in it, and laid upon an Artery opened, holding it with your hand a while, stops the Blood: if it gushes out too fast, redouble the Bolster, and hold your hand upon it for about half an hour: in like manner a Pledget wet therein, and put up the Nostril, stays an Hæmmorrhagy: being taken inwardly à gut. x. ad xx. or xxx. in Poppy-water: It cures spitting of Blood, Bloody Flux, Flux of the Hæmorrhoides, and the Terms.

69. Sal Vitrioli, Salt of Vitriol.

Rx. Colcothar, or Caput Mortuum of blue Vitriol reverberated, or Calcine blue Vitriol, till it is a red or purple Powder, and with fair warm water extract its Salt in 24 hours; boil it a little, let it settle, then decant, filter, and abstract with a gentle fire in a sand heat.

till the Salt be dry at the bottom, of a flesh colour; which powdered will be white.

The Virtues hereof are the same with the Gilla Vitrioli at Sect. 55. but is so very a gentle Emetick that it may be given to Children. Some think that it is rather Cathartick than Emetick. It may be given ʒ. ʒs. ad ʒij. or ʒi. Sala commends it as an excellent thing in Epilepsies and other Diseases of the head; It is good against Pleurifies, Feavers, Plague, Fainting and Sounding fits, illness of the Stomach, Putrefaction of Humors, Obstructions of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Bowels, Reins and Bladder. Snuff up the Nostrils it gently purges the brain by Sneezing. Where note, 1. That after the extraction of the Salt there remains a red Earth, which is good against Diarrhæas, Dysenterias, Fluxes of blood, &c. being a great astringent. 2. That if the Vitriol be not calcin'd of a black purple, you will get no Salt out of it, but only a meer vitriol. 3. That being exposed to the Air for a year or two, it returns into Vitriol again.

70. Tinctura Vitrioli Magistralis, Magisterial Tincture of Vitriol.

Rx. Salt of Vitriol, to which put Spirit of Vitriol two or three Inches above it; digest and distil till the Volatile part exceeds the fixed, and carries it with it, viz. till the Alkalious Salt is volatilized, which sublims; then imbibe it with the Oyl of Vitriol, and digest gradatim, till they are united, and become of a purple colour which in 6 or 7 months will be perfected.

This is that Medicament by which, as some suppose, Gold is brought into its first substance, and is thereby made the most universal Medicine: this Tincture it self is accounted as an Universal Elixir, and powerfully to root out the worst of Diseases, being of a most piercing and appetitive nature: Dose gr. ij.

71. Tinctura Vitrioli Cyprii Clofæi, Tincture of the Vitriol of Copper.

Take Vitriol of Copper, digest it for 60 days or more in a close Vessel with a gradual fire, till many colours appear, then yellow, at last red: to which put SV. ʒ. extract a Tincture, which divide into two equal parts: dry the one, and fix it to a red carb: putrefie the other for a month, and abstract by many cobobations with the rest of the Tinctured SV. then distil, augmenting the fire, till the oyl come forth, which rectifie; Take of the former red earth p. of the Oyl p. j. mix and digest in a luted vessel in Ashes, till they coagulate: add fresh oyl, and coagulate ten days; then fix it with the fourth degree of fire, keep it in flux three days; so you have a red fixed stone, without fumes, which tinctures the chiefeſt Medicine.

This Tincture if mixt with as much Philosophical potable Gold, is an Arcanum against Epilepsies, Convulsions, Palfies and Megrims, Head-ach Apoplexy, Madness, Syncope, Cachexia, Dropſie, Stone, all sorts of Feavers, nonputrid, putrid and pestilential: given in a proper Vehicle à gut. j. ad ij. it doth wonders, cures Diseases by transpiration, strengthens the Womb, provokes Venery, and cures Consumptions.

72. Tinctura seu Manna Vitrioli, Manna of Vitriol.

It is extracted from pure Vitriol, by digestion in spirit of vitriol, alkalinized with its own salt, filtered and coagulated to a yellow powder.

This Tincture has the Virtues of the former, especially if mixt with the said potable Gold; but note, that if you circulate with S. V. an Oyl will be at top: then distil by an Alembick: which work being reiterated with S. V. will be fragrant.

73. Tinctura Crystallorum Vitrioli, Tincture of Crystals of Vitriol.

Take Green Vitriol, distil from it in Ashes, a sufficient quantity of Flegm and spirit, with which from the Caput Mort. extract a green Tincture in a cold place, stirring it often: decant the Tincture, and abstract by distillation to the thickness of honey, then set it to Crystallize: the Crystal circulate with SV. in a glass Vesica luted, distil in sand or ashes by a gradual fire in an Alembick, and cobobate, putting on the spirit of Vitriol: this continue for about 4 days, till after the spirit a red Oyl come forth: Lastly in B.M. abstract the SV. and in sand or ashes the spirit of Vitriol, so have you remaining a red Oyl or Tincture.

Quercetanus commends this, as a most admirable thing against all Diseases which proceed from gross Humors: It is doubtless an excellent Remedy against all sorts of Feavers, and cures the Scorbutic to a wonder. Dose à gr. ad iv. or vi. if you joyn this Tincture with its proper Spirit of Vitriol, and abstract it again, and digest it, it will be sweet, and an effectual Remedy to root out the very worst of Diseases, as Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Palsies, the Megrim, Dropsie, Stone, Gout, &c.

74. Magisterium Vitrioli, The Magistery of Vitriol of Semmerius.

R. Spirit of Vitriol, rectified with the Oyl: with the Flegm draw a Salt from the Caput Mort. which separate from the Salt by distillation, often cobobating and digesting: Take of this Salt p. ij. of the aforesaid spirit and Oyl, p. j. mix and exhale the humidity in B. M. which so long repeat, till the Salt has sucked in its equal weight of Oyl: then digest in a luted glass Marraisi for 8 or 10 days, Lastly Coagulate in Sand or Ashes, which will be done in 16 or 20 days.

It is a great Diuretick, breaks and expels the Stone, opens all manner of Obstructions, chiefly of the Spleen, cools the heat of Feavers, cures the Cachexy, Dropsie, Scurvy, Green-sickness, &c. Dose à gr. iv ad vi.

75. Essentia Sulphuris Vitrioli, Essence of the Sulphur of Vitriol.

H. Precipitate of the Oyl of the Sulphur of Vitriol at Sect. 80. digest in SV. in a hot place in a close Vessel for 8 or 10 days, so the Essence will swim at top like Oyl, which separate from the SV.

This Essence is sweet, and Hartman says of as great Power and Force as the Tincture of Antimony: given with Essence of Balm, and choice Canary, it doth Wonders in the Art of healing: It expels all bad humors by sweat, cures Dropsies, Consumptions and the Stone; It strengthens the Womb, takes a way

away Barrenness, and causes Fruitfulness in both Sexes. Dose à gr. i. ad iv.

76. Extractum Vitrioli Narcoticum, the Narcotic or Anodyne Extract of Vitriol.

Rx. Vitriol in powder, dried white by a gentle heat. ℞s. put it into a very dry Vessel (else you will labour in vain) and with S.V. 3xxx. digest it in a horse dungbil a Month, decant it from the feces without troubling of it; and in B.M. abstract so much of the spirit, till the remainder be a yellow liquor, of the thickness of the Oil, which keep close in a glass.

This is as Anodyne and Narcotic as Opium, but much more safe. It gives ease in all manner of pains, how great and inveterate soever, and that in a moment. It stops all Rheums and Defluxions from the Head, and corrects and thickens malign Vapors, which cause Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Convulsions, the Megrin, Palsie, &c. Dose à gr. vi. ad xij.

77. Pulvis Sympatheticus Digbij. Sir Kenelm Digby his Sympathetical Powder.

Rx. Roman Vitriol (as you buy it, or crystallize) calcine it white by the Sun-beams, by means of a burning glass; beat it into a fine powder, and keep it for use.

It cures all Wounds and Sores, by washing a bloody Cloth in the water in which it is dissolved, keeping (mean season) the part afflicted warm: and the said water in a very gentle and temperate heat.

78. Oleum Vitrioli, Oil of Vitriol.

Colledge: Rx. Hungarian, or the best English Vitriol, as much as you please, melt it in an unglased earthen Vessel, and exhale away all the Humidity, continually stirring of it till it is brought into a yellow Powder: which put into an earthen Retort that may endure the fire, placed in an open Furnace. Give fire by degrees to the height for three days, till the Recipient, which before was full of Fumes, be clear. Rectifie the distilled Liquor, separating the flegm, by a small Retort in sand according to Art, keeping the strong ponderous Oil by itself.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted,
1. That in Distilling, the Flegm comes first, by a very small fire, encrease the fire by degrees, till you come to the highest, which continue, till you perceive black Veins to trickle down the Recipient; which then remove, decant the Flegm, and fit the Receiver again to take the Oil, not luting of it. 2. You may, if you please, instead of an earthen Retort, use a glass one, luted up to half the neck. 3. The Flegm being thus separated in the distilling, what comes after is Spirit and Oil, which you may separate in a Glass Cucurbit, with its head luted to a Receiver with a wet Bladder, drawing off about one third part, which is the Volatile and Sulphurous Spirit of Vitriol, which must be kept in a Viol close stopp'd: what remains at bottom, is the caustic Oil of Vitriol. 4. In the first Operation, you ought not to fill your Retort above two third parts full, lest the vapors being straitned should break all. 5. You ought not to be limited to three days distillation,

but so long till (in distillation the fire being at height) the Receiver feels cold. 6. That the Spirit of Vitriol, is commonly a small part of the true Spirit mixt with much Flegm: and the Oyl of Vitriol is only the true Spirit deflegmated. 7. That no intermedium is mixt with Vitriol as with other Salts, because its own Body is so earthy: so that being deflegmated it cannot melt, and therefore cannot fix and retain its Spirits within its self. 8. That the Roman Vitriol being less unctuous, is less fit for this purpose. 9. That the Spirit of Oyl or Vitriol being put upon Iron, transmutes it in a little time into Copper: so also Spirit of Niter put upon Salt of Tartar makes Salt-Peter. 10. There is another a little differing from this, which you may see in our Dor. Med. Lib. 2. Cap. 3. Sect. 24.

This Oyl comforteth the Stomach wonderfully, abating all inflammations, quenching thirst, and repressing the heat of Feavers: it causeth a good Appetite, and takes away gross and Melancholick Humors from the Stomach; it purifies the Blood and wonderfully resists all Poyson, Plagues and putrefaction; it is a noble Medicament, and may be accounted truly Cordial: It provokes Urine and the Terms, breaks the Stone and expels it, and is an absolute cure for the Scurvy. It makes black Teeth white and clean, and cures any Ulceration in the Mouth, Throat, Uvula, or other parts, (only by touching the Ulcer with the Oyl) for which there is scarce a better Medicine, as well to enlarge the Orifice, remove a Callous, as to correct and prepare it to a good healing (by touching it with Lint dipt therein on the end of a probe) it is a good corrective in all purging Medicines, being comfortable to the whole Body, grateful in taste, powerful, yet safe in operation. It is a most precious thing in the Plague, and all pestilent Feavers, and may be given a gut. vj. ad xx. in any convenient Vehicle, but taken alone it kills. It has all the Virtues of Oyl of Sulphur, which see Chap. 12. Sect. 21. following.

79. Oleum Vitrioli Diaphoreticum, Diaphoretick Oyl of Vitriol.

R. Purified Vitriol, dissolve it in Oyl of Tartar, draw it off: dissolve what remains in Spirit of Salt, which make into a mass with Sugar or Cream of Tartar; Lastly distil by a Retort. Thus with Spirit of salt and Cream of Tartar, you may draw Oyl from Metals whether Crude or Calcined.

It is a great Sudorifick, expels Venom and Poyson; it is sweet, and gently binds. Dose gut. iij.

80. Oleum Sulphuris Vitrioli, Oyl of Sulphur of Vitriol.

R. Sulphur of Vitriol. ℥iv. Salt of Tartar ℥ij. mix and distil by a Retort, at last make a fire of suppression, so have you a red Oyl. If you drop spirit of Vinegar upon this Oyl, you have a pectoral powder, which edulcorate and dry.

Both Oyl and powder open Obstructions of the Lungs, and cure almost all Diseases afflicting those parts, externally it cures Wounds and Ulcers. Dose a gr.

à gr. v. ad x. From this Powder you may make an Essence or Tincture, which see before.

81. Oleum Vitrioli Rubrum, Red Oil of Vitriol.

Rx. Vitriol calcined yellow ℥iij. gross powder of flints ℥vj. make it into a mass with S. V. then distil by a Retort. Or thus, Calcine Vitriol, mix it with as much Licharge of Gold, and distil it. Or thus, Rx. Colcothar ℥ij. Sack ℔s. mix and abstract to driness, then powder and distil in a Retort, so have you first a Flegm, then lute to a large Receiver, and with a strong fire draw a blood-red Oil. Or thus from Turgelius. Rx. Earth of Vitriol dried, put into a Retort, and with a Reverberatory fire force over a piercing blood red Oil.

The first provokes Urine, and cures the Dropsie, yet is more used in Metals, than Physic. The second and third are singularly good against the Gout, and other external pains. The fourth is a Cephalic, and is good against the Megrim, Vertigo, and Epilepsie. They may all be given à gut. vj. ad x. in any proper Vehicle.

82. Ros & Aqua Vitrioli Salæ, Dew and Water of Vitriol.

Rx. Crude Vitriol, and draw the dew from it in B. M. in a low Still: then take it out of the Balneo, and put the Still with the Vitriol in it into sand, making the heat so great, that the water may come.

Sala commends the Dew against Inflammations of the blood, and hot pains of the head, given ℥ij. at a time for several days together. The water is Sudorific, Anodyne, Consolidative, and Diuretic, purges the Reins, and helps to heal internal Ulcers, and this more especially, if you add a few drops of Oil of Tartar to make it sharper.

83. Pblegma Vitrioli acidum Hartmanni, Acid Flegm of Vitriol.

Rx. Roman or blue Vitriol, distil in ashes with an Alembic, cobobating seven times or more, and augment the fire the last time upon the Caput Mortuum; after all, Circulate the water ten days with a moderate heat, so will it be sweet scented.

Harman saith, It is a Secret against Head-achs, and Epilepsies. Dose ℥ij. ad iv.

84. Spiritus Vitrioli Vulnerarius, the Vulnerary of Vitriol.

Rx. Pure rectified Oil of Vitriol (at Sect. 78.) ℥i. S. V. rectified ℔ij. mix and digest.

This is the greatest Secret in Vitriol. It cures most Diseases of the Head, as the Megrim, Epilepsie, Apoplexy, Vertigo, &c. is a wonderful thing in all manner of Sores, Ulcers, Fistula's, Cancers, Scabs, Itch, and the like: and cures green wounds at once dressing. Inwardly it cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Ulcers of the Lungs, Ptfics, Consumptions, Rickets, Plurifies, pains of the side, Stone and Gravel in the Reins and Bladder, Plague, and all sorts of Fevers, whether continual, or intermitting. It opens all Obstructions of the Stomach, Bowels and Kidnies, purifies and sweetens the mass of Blood, cures the Sourvy, French-Pox, Cachexia, Cholick, and other ill habits of the Body. Dose à ℥ij. ad ℥iv. in any proper Vehicle.

85. Spiritus Vitrioli Antepilepticus Basilii, Basilis Antepileptick Spirit of Vitrol.

℞. Verdigrease, dissolve it in hot spirit of Vinegar; extract the Tincture and decant, draw off the humidity. & set it to crystallize. Take those Crystals and distil them in a Retort, till it begins to turn black; so have you a green spirit, which rectified in a glass Retort will be clear.

It is a good Cephalick, cures Megrim, Vertigoes, Epilepsies, Stone and Gravel in both Reins and Bladder. Dose gut. xx. or more in any Specifick Vehicle.

86. Spiritus Vitrioli Antepilepticus Paracelsi, Paracelsus his Antepileptick Spirit.

Draw a Flegm from Hungarian Vitriol and cobocate till the Caput Mort. be wasted, ad SV. rectified, digest two or three days, and distil gradatim, till all the spirits are come over: to the distilled Liquor put Treacle-water with Camphir, distil them together twice or thrice.

It has the Virtues of the former. Dose à gut. x. ad xx. every morning fasting in some specifick water: give it also in the fit.

87. Spiritus Vitrioli Antepilepticus Quercetani, Quercetans Antepileptick Spirit.

℞. Seeds of Hypericon, Peony, Lily convalli, Marigold, Rosemary, Roses, flowers of Hypericon, Ivory rasped, Harts-horn, Mans-skull, Misseltoe of the Oak, A. ʒi. digest all being finely prepared in Flegm of Vitriol ℞vj. in B. M. for a week; then strain and distil, to which put Vitriol ℞ls. distil in B. M. cobobating four or five times: at last, to the distilled Liquor put spirit of Vitriol ʒiiij. and distil again in B. M.

The Title shews the Virtues, Dose gut. xv. or xx. in a proper Vehicle.

88. Spiritus Vitrioli Antepilepticus Hartmanni, Hartmans Antepileptick Spirit.

℞. Hungarian Vitriol ℞iiij. Boys Urine ℞vj. digest in B. M. then distil a double flegm; powder the Caput Mort. and distil in a long earthen Retort with a strong fire at first, so have you an ley spirit, which will coagulate.

The first flegm cures Diseases of the Eyes; the second which is sharper cures the Gout; the third cures Epilepsies in Children, Obstructions, Stone, Gangreens.

89. Spiritus Vitrioli Penoti, Opening Spirit of Vitriol of Penotus.

℞. Hungarian Vitriol calcin'd red ℞iiij. Flints and Tartar calcin'd A. ℞ij. powder and let them maste per deliquium; distil the Oyl with the Caput Mort. in sand by an Alembick, cobobating thrice: then distil it by a Retort in an open fire: This must be done first gently, that the flegm may come forth; then with a stronger fire that the spirit may ascend: from the Caput Mort. extract a salt with water, which digest in a sharp spirit: afterward in B. M. draw off the flegm; what remains make into balls with Clay, and by a Retort in a gradual fire, draw an alkalized spirit.

It opens all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Stomach, Mesentery, Bowels and Reins; cures the Green-sickness, Cachexia, Rickets and Dropsie. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒiiij. in Rhenish Wine, or Perficary water.

90. Spiritus Vitrioli Diaphoretici

in Sala, Sala's Spirit of Vitriol.

R. Common Vitriol ℥iij. Salt of Tartar, Hart's-horn calcin'd, A. ℥ij. digest, then distil by a Retort into a capacious Receiver; to the spirit add an equal quantity of S.V. digest and keep it in a close Glass.

It resists Corruption, cleanses the Blood, cures all Obstructions of the Lungs, Liver, Spleen, Mesentery, and other parts, stoppage of the Terms, Green-sickness, Dropsie, Melancholy, Ulcers internal and external, Scabs, Itch, Fevers, Small-Pox, Measles, Plague. Dose à gut. xx. ad xxx.

91. Spiritus Vitrioli Philosophicus, Philosophic Spirit of Vitriol.

R. The ablutions of Mercurius vitæ, by which it was sweetened; abstract in B. M. till a yellow sharp liquor appears, which is the Philosophical Spirit of Vitriol, rectifie it in a Retort from its terrene matter.

It is a very excellent thing against Fevers, French-Pox, Melancholy, Epilepsie, and all Diseases of the Head. It opens Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Stomach, strengthens the Bowels and inward parts. It draws out the Tincture of Metals, dissolves Coral and Pearl, and acuated with Spirit of Salt, dissolves Gold. Dose à gr. iij. ad viij. in Wine, or other appropriate Liquor.

92. Spiritus Vitrioli cum Melle, Honeyed Spirit of Vitriol.

R. Vitriol calcin'd white in the Sun ℔ij. Honey in the Combs ℔iij. distil them.

It is an Anodyne, and eases all external pains, chiefly the Gout; if the pain is without inflammation, mix it with Wine, and bathe therewith, but if with inflammation, with Vinegar, because that also cools much.

93. Spiritus Vitrioli Tentzelij, Tentzelius his Spirit of Vitriol.

R. Hungarian Vitriol calcin'd white ℔j. Tartar calcin'd black ℔ss. add to them (being in powder) Spirit of Wine, distil in an Alembic with a strong fire, and cobobate it, separate the S.V. from the spirit of Vitriol, rectifying it in Sand.

It has the virtues of the Diaphoretic Spirit, at Sect. 90. foregoing. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒij. in Broth or Sack for three mornings together.

24. Spiritus Vitrioli dulcis, Sweet Spirit of Vitriol of Kessler.

R. Calcin'd Vitriol, and digest it in distilled Vinegar; decant, and add new spirit of Vinegar, this do five or six times, digesting every day; put all these digested Vinegars together, and distil them so often till they are become like spirit of Vitriol; mix this spirit with Clay, and distil in a Retort, so will it be sweet. Or thus: R. Rectified spirit or Oil of Vitriol ℔j. Caput Mort. of Vitriol freed from its salt ℥iij. mix and distil them by a Glass Retort in Sand into a capacious Receiver, and the spirit will be sweet. Or thus: Circulate it with S.V. forty days in a gentle heat, then abstract the spirit of Wine, and the Vitriol will be sweet. Or thus: Mix it with its own flegm, and circulate it. Or thus: Distil the spirit of Vitriol from scales of Iron several times, always adding fresh scales.

It opens Obstructions of the Stomach, Belly and Reins, breaks and expels the Stone, and other Diseases proceeding from Tartar, Cures Catarrhs, and most Diseases of the Lungs. Dose à gut.

xx. ad xxx. in generous Wine.

95. Spiritus Vitrioli Volatilis Paracelsi, Volatile Spirit of Vitriol.

It is made as we have taught in our Dor. Med. lib. 2. cap. 2. Sect. 12. you will have but ℥ss. of spirit out of lbj. of Vitriol.

Paracelsus commends it as a perfect Remedy against the Falling-sickness; and mixed and given with Rain-water, is excellent against the worst of Fevers. Dose gut. xx.

96. Spiritus Vitrioli Volatilis Hartmanni, Hartman's Volatile Spirit.

Rx. Vitriol cleansed and dried, put it into a loricated glass Still, and draw the spirit over nine times with a strong fire, one Alembic exactly fitted to another, (as in the subliming of flowers of Antimony) so will you have a most piercing spirit of Vitriol.

It has the Virtues and Dose of the former, being notable against Epilepsies.

97. Spiritus Vitrioli Volatilis Sennerti, Sennertus his Volatile Spirit.

Rx. Cleanse Vitriol, add spirit of Wine to make a Paste, put it into a Retort, and distil first the S. V. 2. The flegm of Vitriol, and then the spirit, which deslegmate, and draw the flegm with the fixed Oil in sand, and deslegmate in ashes.

For the Virtues, see the former.

98. Spiritus Vitrioli Schröderi, Schröder's Volatile Spirit.

Dissolve Vitriol in water, boil it three or four hours in an Iron Pot, adding to every Pound of dissolved Vitriol, filings of steel ℥ij. cool it, and the Oaker will be in the filings; separate the filings, and add new filings, repeating this three times;

then take the Crystals of Vitriol, and in an earthen Retort, giving fire by degrees, draw first the flegm; 2. the white acid Spirit: then stopping half a day, that the Vessels may cool: Take the remaining Colcothar, and cast it into a glass Retort well luted, with a large Receiver, making a fire of suppression for eight, or twelve days, which is better, (that you may be sure to draw all the Volatile spirits from the Vitriol) so have you true Volatile spirit joined with sweet Oil, which separate.

What the Volatile Spirits are good for, you have heard already: The sweet Oil, Schröder saith, opens Obstructions of both Liver and Spleen, and cures Fevers. Dose ℥j. in Beer, Ale, or Wine. He saith also, that it fixes Mercury, made into a firm white Powder. If you work rightly from lbxij. of Hungarian Vitriol, you will have lbv. of Spirits.

I have more than thirty other singular and experimented processes of Vitriol by me, of excellent use, no ways inferior (many of them much superior) to any thing yet published, which in due time (if the Ingratitude and Unworthiness of this Generation prevent not) may be made publick to the World.

VII. Of TARTAR.

99. Sal Tartari Nitratum, Salt of Tartar with Nitre.

Rx. Tartar white or red, fine Nitre, ana, powder them apart, then mix, which put into a glazed earthen Pan, or a large Crucible, and with a red hot Iron stir all this mass, till the Nitre be wholly consumed, which is known by the ceasing of the flagra-

flagration and burning. Thus the Tartar being thoroughly calcin'd, yields a Salt as white as snow, and the same in weight with the Tartar, by which it appears that Tartar is all Salt.

Here is to be noted, 1. That you chuse good Tartar, for that is all Salt. 2. That your Nitre be fine, and freed from all its fixt Salt, that it may flie away, and leave the Salt of Tartar pure without mixture. 3. That they be both in fine Powder, that the Nitre may pierce the Particles of the Tartar, for which cause sake it is, that we use equal quantities of Nitre and Tartar: For which means also it is the easilier calcin'd. 4. That an earthen glazed Pan will serve well enough, for the Nitre being at liberty hurts not the leading, whereas an unglazed Pan would suddenly break. 5. That if you would have immediately Oil of Tartar, per deliquium, it is but casting of this Salt ℥j. into fair water ℥ij. and it will all dissolve into Liquor. 6. That if you mix with the Salt an equal quantity of Sulphur, and calcine again, you may take away the noisom lixiviate taste of the Salt, by which it will become much more pleasant. It is a famous opener of Obstructions, and Diuretic: It breaks and dissolves the Stone, and all other Tartarous Coagulations in the Body, provokes Urine, and the Terms; and is a prevalent thing against Plurisies, and all Obstructions of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels and Reins, by which it helps Coughs, Asthma's, Consumptions, Cachexia's, Drop-sies, &c. Dose a ʒi. ad ij. in Broth, A'c, Wine, &c. The Oil is cleansing and drying, helps Scabs, Tettars, Freckles, &c.

100. Tinctura Salis Tartari, Tincture of Salt of Tartar.

Colledge.) Take most pure Salt of Tartar ℥ij. melt it in a Crucible, till it gets a greenish Colour: Then, whilst hot, pulverize it, and put it into a Matraass with a long Neck, adding S. V. rectified, so as it may overtop the Salt the breadth of three or four fingers. Digest in a Sand Furnace with a convenient heat, for several days, till the Tincture is extracted.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted, 1. That in the melting, or fusion of the Salt, you ought to make as strong, or stronger heat, than if you were melting Gold, which ought to be continued for 9 or 10 hours: (for which purpose place the Crucible in a Reverberatory upon a Tile) till such time as the Salt is of a red marble Colour. 2. Tartariz'd S. V. is best, viz. such as has been distilled from Salt of Tartar, by which means you may be sure that it is well deflegmated. 3. Stop the Matraass with another to make a double Vessel, luting the Juncture close with a wet Bladder. 4. Let the Sand-heat be at first gradual, increasing the fire, that the S. V. may boil near half a day, that thereby it may assume a red Colour. 5. The Tincture being perfect, decant it, it is fragrant, and must be kept close stop'd. 6. On the remaining Tartar put more S. V. rectified, and proceed, as before, so long as it will yield any Tincture. 7. That though the Calcination of the Salt

till its bluish, is said by some to be enough to make it yield its Tincture, yet that yields but a faint one, nothing near to the deepness, beauty, and excellency of that which is drawn from the melted Salt, as aforesaid, which is of a deep red, like Claret-wine. 8. You must be sure that the S. V. be well rectified; for if there be but the least Phlegm in it, you will never attain the Tincture with it. 9. That this Tincture is nothing but a pure Exaltation and Mixtion of Salt of Tartar with S. V. for if you make a Separation by Distillation, you will have only a colourless Spirit, and at bottom a Salt of Tartar, with its natural whiteness; which shews the colour only proceeds from the excellent mixtion of the body of Salt with the S. V. and not from any Sulphurous Tincture exalted as some have thought. This Tincture is a most powerful aperitive and deopplative, working all its effects powerfully, yet with a world of sweetness and pleasure; it opens all the obstructions in the Head, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Mesentery, Pancreas's, Bowels, Reins, Bladder, Womb, and melaeric Veins. It helps the stagnation of the Blood, and dissolves all the most tenacious Viscosities wheresoever in any part of the Body. It provokes Stools, Urine, and the Terms: breaks, dissolves and expels the Stone, purifies the whole mass of Blood, rectifies the malignity of Humors, cures the Scurvy, Dropsie, and Gout; and takes away all manner of filth, so that no sope can cleanse more. It is excellent against Melancholy, the Green-sickness in Virgins, Rickets, Kings evil, Poyson, Plague, peitilential Fevers, and all Diseases of what kind soever: insomuch that there is scarcely the like general Remedy in the whole Art of Chymistry. Dose a gut x. ad xx. in pure Rhenish Wine or Canary, as the case most requires.

101. Spiritus Tartari Philosophicus, Philosophic Spirit of Tartar.

Rx. Salt of Tartar, which reverberate 24 hours, upon a Refiners Test, (but melt it not) and the Salt will be bluish: add distilled Vinegar three inches above it, digest till the Vinegar is very red, then filter and coagulate: do thus four times with fresh distilled Vinegar: mix these four Sales with rectified S. V. extract a Tincture till it ceases to be coloured: dissolve the Salt remaining in distilled Vinegar, extract the Tincture, with S. V. gather all these Tinctures and distil them in B. M. in a Still with an Alembic and a Funnel, pour in again the S. V. distilled at the Funnel, to the tintured Salt, and cohobate 15 or 16 times, till you see red drops fall: then cease and distil the Liquor gently by a Retort in Sand: so have you the Spirit of Salt of Tartar, cloudy with red drops, and a red powder at bottom.

This Spirit has the virtues of the former Tincture, besides which it cures Quartans, and powerfully provokes the Terms being stopped, at three or four times being taken: Dose gut. iv. or vj. in wine. This Spirit will dissolve Gold.

102. Lapis Infernalis, five Septicus, The Hell-Stone, or Caustic.

Colledge.) Take Tartar calcin'd to whiteness, Quicklime, A. 3ij. Vi-tritol calcined to redness ℥ij. Sal Armoniac ℥i. all of them being beaten, sprinkle with Lye made of fig-tree-wood, or spurge, or sope; strain it often, till all the matter be nearly dissolved: Boil it in a brass vessel, to the consumption of the humidity, that which is left, keep in a glass well stoped for use. Or thus, Take the Lye of which black sope is made, and boil it to a stone in a frying-pan: do not evaporate all the humidity; when it is cold cut it into the form of dice, and keep it in a glass close stoped.

Salmon) It has its Name from its burning property, and may very well supply the place of the silver Caustic; Chap. 2. Sect. 20. of this Book. It is intended to make Issues with, by eating into the skin, (being applied with a defensive) thereby making a way for a Pea.

There are many other Preparations of Tartar, which you may see more at large in lib. i. cap. 8. sect. 37. of this Dispensatory.

C A P. XII.

Of S U L P H U R S.

Mineral Sulphurs are of Five special Kinds, viz.

I. Sulphur, Cibur, Akiboth, Abusal, Θείον, Brimstone.

II. Arsenicum, Auripigmentum, Risgalum, Sandaracha, Ἀρσενικόν, Ἀρσενικόν, Arsenic, or Rats-bane; it is also called Orpiment.

III. Ambragrisea, Ambara, Ambarum, Ἀμβραγρίσση, Amber-grise.

IV. Succinum, Carabe, Elestrum, Glessum, Resina Terræ, Ἡλεκτρὺν, Amber.

V. Bitumen, serum Terræ, Ἀσφαλτὺν, Bitumen. Which last is seven-fold, viz.

1. Asphaltos, Ἀσφαλτὺς, Bitumen, specially so called,

2. Naphtha, Medæ Oleum, Νάφθα, Naphth;

3. Petrolæum, Oleum Petræ, Oleum Saxæum, Oil of Peter, Rock Oil.

4. Terroleum, Oleum Terræ, Oil of the Earth.

5. Carbo Petræ, Carbo Fossilis, Ἀνθράκωξ, Sea-Coal, Newcastle Coal.

6. Gagates, Obsidianus, Ibracius, Jet, some call it Black Amber.

7. Sperma Ceti, Flos Maris, Ambra Subalbida, Ἀλδὸς ἁλὸς, Sperma Ceti.

All which we shall (God willing) treat of in Order.

I. Of SULPHUR.

1. Of Sulphur Vide.

Sulphur is a Resinous farness of the Earth, full of a Vitriolick Acidity, being grey or greenish, inflammable, with a blew and suffocating fume.

It is either natural or Artificial: The natural is dug out of the Earth, solid, flakey, and of a greyish green colour, called Sulphur vive. The Artificial, is made of Sulphur vive, being porous and yellow, or boyled out of Sulphureous Water: The fæces of either of which is the Sulphur caballine or Horse-brimstone, left from the coction of the Artificial, mixed with scales of Iron. Besides these there are other Artificial Sulphurs, drawn out of Copper, Cinnaber and Vitriol, which as it is rarer and dearer, so it is the better. For in Chimnies where Vitriol is commonly boyled, you may find flowers of Sulphur elevated. All Sulphur of Brimstone is hot and dry, aperitive, cutting, disensive, sudorifick, alexipharmick, anodyne and analeptick. It resists putrefaction, restores in Consumptions, cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Ptiticks, spitting Blood, Plagues, Small-Pox, and all sorts of Feavers. It kills Worms, discusses Tumors, and cures the Itch.

2. Flores Sulphuris, Flowers of Sulphur.

Colledge.) Take Sulphur in gross powder lbj. put it into a glass Cucurbit well luted and placed in sand, to which fix a glass Alembick: sublime first with a gentle fire, afterwards with a stronger. The flowers which are elevated into the head, with a Hares-foot sweep together, and gather.

Salmon.) 1. In the old Dispensatory it was ordered to be done in an earthen Still (and that might serve well enough) mixt with equal parts of Colcothar of Vitriol.

2. Some use but half the Quantity of other matter, and that sometimes powder of Bricks, sealed Earth or Bole. 3. The Glass Alembick must not be luted to the Still, that the Flowers may be taken out, and it put on again. 4. When you take off the head, stop the orifice of the Still close, lest the air get in and fire it.

5. If by chance it should fire, you must extinguish it with Ashes or Bran. 6. Put a Receiver to the beak of the Alembick to take the acid Liquor which comes first, then stop it.

7. That this work may be done in a little reverberatory Furnace, the body of the Cucurbit not being above half sunk into it; a great Reverberatory would not be so fit, because the melted Sulphur is easily sublimed.

8. That yellow Sulphur is here used, because it is the purest, separated from its mineral Earth and yields more and fairer Flowers. 9. That Flowers of Sulphur is nothing but Brimstone separated from all its impurities, and converted into an impalpable powder. The Flowers are a good pectoral and aperitive, and more exalted in Virtue than crude Brimstone, having all those Virtues, at Sect. 1. but they ought to be used after general Remedies, for being of so drying a quality, they may prove very unhappy to such as are dried up with Feavers, or other dry Constitutions. Outwardly they are excellent against Scabs, Itch, Tettars and such like. Dose à ℥ss. ad ʒss.

3. Flores Sulphuris Coralium Flowers of Sulphur coralized.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur ʒviij. Coral in powder ℔ij. mix and sublime (by Sect. 2.) so will the Sulphur draw the first part of the Coral.

These Flowers have the Virtues of the former, joyned with the properties of Coral, being a great pectoral, and making a better Ballast for the Lungs.

4. Flores Sulphuris saccharati, sugared flowers of Sulphur.

Take flowers of Sulphur ʒiv. sugar-candy in powder ʒviij. mix and sublime.

These are very excellent in Coughs, Colds, Phthisicks, Asthma's, &c. and as Quercetanus thinks much better than any other. Give à gr. x. ad ℥i.

5. Flores Sulphuris Vitriolati, Flowers of Sulphur vitriolated.

Take yellow Brimstone ℔ij. Salt melted, Vitriol calcined, A. ℔i. powder and sublime, for the first 3 or 4 hours with a gentle fire, so will the flegm come forth; then encrease the fire gradatim with great Coals (but not making it too great for then the flowers will be black,) so great as that the Vessel which holds the sand may be red hot: this work repeat often with Salt and vitriol; so will the flowers be the purer, though less in quantity.

Some instead of calcin'd Vitriol, use the Sulphur of Vitriol: Quercetanus takes Colcothar. These have the Virtues of the simple flowers, besides which they resist putrefaction, are pectoral, Antiebruitick, Alexipharmick Sodo-lick and Analeptick: They are good against the Plague, Consumptions, Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, &c. You may give them with Extract of Elecampane à ℥i. ʒi.

6. Flores Sulphuris albi, White Flowers of Sulphur.

Take of yellow Sulphur ℔ij. fixed Niter or Lapis Prunelle ℔ss. mix and sublime in sand.

These are excellent against Coughs, Colds, itoppages of the Brest and Lungs, Colick, Catarrhs, &c. drying like fire; the dose is the same with the common flowers: They expel Wind in the Stomach and Guts, cure Consumption, and cause expectoration: give them in Canary or the yolk of an Egg.

7. Flores Sulphuris cum Gummi, Flowers of Sulphur with Gums.

Rx. Vitriolated flowers of Sulphur ℔ij. Colcothar, Salt melted, A. ʒxi. Myrrh, Aloes, Frankincense, Mastick, A. ʒvi. Saffron ʒi. being all in powder, mix and sublime with a gentle fire: a few hours being past take out the flowers, and lay on the Alembick again, then sublime twelve hours.

Besides the Virtues of the simple flowers at Sect. 2. these have the Virtues of the Gums, being much better, more drying and greater resisters of Putrefaction. Dose à gr. x. ad ℥i. or more.

8. Lac Sulphuris Quercetani, Quercetanus Milk of Sulphur.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur ʒvi. Sal Regale ʒxxviij. put so much water to the Salt as will dissolve it, and overtop it six inches: put all into a wide mouthed glass in sand, so large that it may not be much above half full: boyl, to dissolve the flowers, stirring them with a wooden Spatula, till the solution is red: filter whilst hot, and with sharp wine, or Spirit of Vinegar, precipitate the milk, which edulcorate with water and dry.

Here is to be noted, 1. That this Magistracy or milk of Sulphur is made by some Authors with flowers of Sulphur, p. j. Common Salt decripitated, p. iv. powdered and well mixt, made into a Pap with distilled Vinegar, and so cast into boyling water, being six times the weight of the Salt; adding a little Roch Allum, and boyling of it till it becomes of a redish colour (which will be in about half an hours time) then let it cool, the milk will precipitate white, which edulcorate as before. 2. That this is only the body of brimstone opened and whitened. 3. That because Brimstone yields its Tincture only in oily Bodies, we here use the Oyl or Tartar: In water it will never dissolve. 4. That common Salt and Vinegar also hasten the Dissolution of the Sulphur: but the first way, or general precept is the better. 6. This is dedicated to the Lungs, and is as powerful in 15 grains, as the simple flowers of Sulphur are in gr. xxx. This Milk is a great dryer, excellent good in moist Ulcers, and better than the flowers to make the Balsam of Sulphur with: It heals all Ulcers of the Lungs, stops Catharrhs, helps Expectoration, and dries up superfluous humors; It cures Coughs, Asthma's, Consumptions, and Cholicke, expels wind out of the Bowels, and is as fire to dry up the Lungs. Dose à gr. xv. ad ʒj. Quercus gives ʒj. for a Purge. Outwardly mixt with Pomatum, it cures Scabs and Itch pleasantly; for the Brimstone has not only a singular whiteness, but has lost all its ill smell and stinking property.

9. Lac Sulphuris Clossæi, Milk of Sulphur of Clossæus.

Take powder of Sulphur p. i. Quick-lime p. ij. boyl them in an Earthen Kettle, in a pretty large quantity of water, till it is red as blood: whilst hot, strain it: then, being cold, precipitate with hot piss; decant the humidity, and sweeten the precipitate by washing it ten or twelve times in hot water.

It dries, binds, strengthens, is good against Plague, Poyson, malignant Fevers, stops all Fluxes of the Belly, Womb or Yard, dries up moist Ulcers. Dose à ʒss. ad ʒss.

13. Balsamum Sulphuris Simplex, Simple Balsam of Sulphur.

It is made (in an hour or less) by taking to one part of flowers of Sulphur four or five times as much good Oyl Olive, Oyl of Ben. or Poppy seeds expressed, and boyling of them in an Earthen Vessel (so big, as that they may but half fill it) till they are perfectly dissolved into a blood red Balsam: let the fire be pretty quick, yet not too quick, and continually stir it all the while it is a making, and till it is cold.

It is excellent in Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, pains of the side, Obstructions of the Spleen, spitting blood, Ulcers of the Lungs, Pulses, Convulsions, Gouta, Struma's, Consumptions, being inwardly and outwardly used. Dose à gut. iv. ad xx.

11. Balsamum Sulphuris Compositum, compound Balsam of Sulphur.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur $\mathfrak{z}\text{vj}$. strong Lixivium of highly calcin'd Salt of Tartar lbij . boyl them so long till the Salt has drawn forth the Tincture of the Sulphur blood red: precipitate with some acid Liquors; which gather, and with Canary, lbij . in which juice of Liguorice $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$. is dissolved, boyl it into a Syrup or Balsam for the Lungs.

This is a transcendent Medicine in all Diseases of the Lungs: It heals Ulcers, stops Coughs, smooths the roughness of the Wind-pipe, helps Asthma's, Consumptions, and all other impediments of the middle Ventricle; in a word, it is an universal Deobstructor, whose Vertues are not here to be enumerated. Dose a spoonful, Morning and Evening.

12. Rubinus Sulphuris, seu Balsamum Sulphuris Terebinbinatum, The Rubin or Balsam of Turpentine.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur Simple or Vitriolated $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$. Spirit of Turpentine $\mathfrak{z}\text{viij}$. digest in a glass body, till the Sulphur is dissolved, and the Spirit be ready: then decant and keep it for use. If you will separate the Spirit, add water and distil; so will the Spirit come forth with the water, and the Balsam remain at the bottom.

It is good in Consumptions, heals Ulcers of the Lungs, Coughs, Asthma's, &c. cures Feavers and the Plague. Dose of it with the dissolvent ad $\mathfrak{d}\text{j}$. but separate a gr. iv . ad viij .

13. Balsamum Vitæ Sulphuris, Balsam of Life of Sulphur.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur lbj . Aloes, Mirrb, Saffron, \mathfrak{A} . $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. powder and digest in Spirit of Turpentine, two inches over: then decant and keep it for use.

It has 'all the Intentions of the former, but much more effectual, and the same Dose.

14. Balsamum Sulphuris Anisatum, Balsam of Sulphur with Aniseeds.

Rx. Flowers of Sulphur $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. Oyl of Aniseeds $\mathfrak{z}\text{vj}$. mix, and in a glass body digest and calculate so long, till the Oyl has perfectly extracted the Tincture of the Sulphur of a glorious red Colour, decant and keep it for use.

Horslius saith, it is a most perfect Balsam, heating, drying, and preserving from putrefaction; in which are all the Virtues of the Natural Balsam, and the greatest Conservative Power. In Catarrhs, Coughs, Asthma's, Pitsick, Plurisie, Cholick, Plague, Fevers, Epidemick Diseases, Epilepsies, French Pox, and in all Apostumations and Putrefactions of the body: It is a wonderful remedy. Dose a gut. ij . ad vj . vel viij in some Specifick Vehicle.

15. Balsamum Sulphuris Rulandi, Rulandus his Balsam of Sulphur.

Rx. Fine Flowers of Sulphur or pure Sulphur in powder $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. Oyl of Rape-seed, or Nuts, or Ben. lbiss . Sack $\mathfrak{z}\text{vj}$. Macerate them ten days in a gentle heat, stirring of them several times: then boyl to the consumption of the Wine, strain, and keep it for use.

It is an excellent Anodyne, a ripener, and digestive in Wounds of the nervous parts; and performs all that the Simple Balsam can do: It eases pains in the Ears, if dropt into them. Where note, that in this and the Rubine of Sulphur, and other Balsams thereof, that the oleaginous matter draws little more than the Tincture of the Sulphur: for when the operation is ended, and the brimstone which falls down to the bottom in the cooling of the Balsam, is taken and weighed, it is nearly as heavy as it was when first put in.

16. Tinctura Sulphuris, Tincture of Sulphur.

Rx. The Rubine (at Sect. 12.) separated from the spirit, to which add S. V. digest in B. M. in a very gentle heat, then decant, and keep it for use.

The Virtues are the same as the Balsam, more pleasing to the Palat and Stomach: Dose gut. iij. or iv. where note, that S. V. well deflegmated, will draw a yellow tincture from crude brimstone.

17. Tinctura Sulphuris Clossæi, Tincture of Sulphur of Clossæus.

Rx. Sulphur ℥iv. Nitre ℔j. powder and mix: and with a spoon, lay it upon a red hot tile: augment the fire till the noise ceases, and it becomes a red Mass: powder it, and with S. V. with Tartar extract a Tincture. Or thus: In a strong solution of Nitre in water ℔iv. boile powder of Sulphur, ℔j. for four and twenty hours, filter the red tincture, and precipitate with Vinegar, in which the Caput Mort. of Vitriol has been boiled; so have you a scarlet coloured powder, from which with S. V. extract a Tincture.

This Tincture opens all Obstructions of the Stomach, Lungs, Liver and Spleen. It cures the Cachexia, Green-sickness, Scurvy, Plague, and all other Fevers. Dose gut. vi.

18. Crystallus Sulphuris, Crystals of Sulphur.

Rx. The Tincture (at Sect. 16.) abstract two third parts of the S. V. then place it in a Celler to crystallize; dissolve the crystals in fresh spirit of sulphur, and coagulate to make them finer.

They have the Virtues of the former Tinctures, and are much more powerful: you may give to gr. iv. in a convenient Vehicle.

19 Essentia Sulphuris, Essence of Sulphur.

Dissolve Sulphur vive in common A. F. and abstract to dryness: edulcorate and reverberate to a deep redness: put this powder into S. V. and extract a Tincture. Digest this Tincture till the Essence of Sulphur separates itself from the S. V. and falls to the bottom.

It heals, dries, dissolves, strengthens, resists Poyson and Putrefaction, and preserves from all sorts of Infection, which is conveyed by the Air. Dose gut. vi. It is good against the Plague, and wonderful Balsamical: It cures all Sores, both old and new, even to admiration. Esteem it a Secret.

23. Ens Primum Sulphuris, The Fumes of Sulphur.

It is made of Sulphur in a cubalated Retort, as Spiritus Stibij at Sect. 99. of c. 8. of this Book. If well drawn, it is as strong to smell to, as is the Spirit of Sal Armoniac: give a little vent in the making, lest you labour in vain.

It is of the same use with the flowers: it is excellent in the Plague, Fevers, Fits of the Mother, Epilepsie, Apoplexy, Palsie, Cholick, Coughs, Cold, and other Obstructions and Diseases of the Lungs: It has also the virtues of the Oil, in the following Section, but not altogether so powerful: Dose a Spoonful.

21. Oleum Sulphuris per Campanum, Oil of Sulphur made by the bell.

Colledge.) It is prepared in a large Bell Still by the burning and consuming of a large quantity of Sulphur, by which a sharp Spirit flying from the kindled Sulphur, beating against the sides of the Still, will turn into Liquor, and flow down like Water or Oil. The fit way and manner of ordering the Still and Brimstone, and other things belonging to this Operation, we leave to the Ingenuity of the Artificer.

Salmon. Here is to be noted, 1. That the Brimstone be put into an earthen Cup having Sand in it, lest being inflamed it should break it. 2. That this be placed upon another earthen Cup, the bottom turned upwards; and these thus disposed be set in the midst of a great earthen Pan, then with a red hot Iron inflame the Sulphur. 3. That these be all covered with a great Glass Bell, or Glass Funnel made on purpose, with a neck as long as that of a bolt head, having a hole at top to give breathing, that the flowers may fly away, by which means you will have a far greater quantity, and more effectual Oil, and in much less time. 4. That it be done in a close moist place, (as a Cellar) and in a moist day. 5. That you leave an empty space between the brims of the bell and the pan, that there may be air enough to keep the brimstone inflamed. 6. That by reason the Bell or Funnel has a hole at top, the more phlegmatic part evaporates, while the acid Spirits not being able to rise so high, condense against the sides of the Glass. 7. That this Spirit is nothing but a Spirit of Vitriol, drawn from a Vitriolic Salt in the Sulphur. 8. That if you please, your Bell or Funnel may have a nose or beak like the head of a cold Still, that the condensed Fumes may drop through the said beak into a Glass Receiver, and not into the large earthen Pan underneath. 9. That from ℥ij. of Sulphur, you will have ℥j. of Spirit.

It has Spirit of Vitriol, and has the same Virtues; it cures all pains of the Gout, and that only by bathing, (mixing of it with water, or S. V.) it strengthens the nerves and muscles, and cures a confirmed Leprosie. It cures Hectics, Consumptions, Asthma's, Shortness of Breath, and Ulcers of the Lungs. It makes the Teeth white, restores radical Moisture, extinguishes all preternatural Heat, purifies the Blood, and renovates the whole Body, expelling Putrefaction, Scabs and Itch. In the French Pox it is excellent, and may serve instead of a Diet. There is nothing more powerful in expelling of Poyson, Plague, and all pestilent and malign Fevers. Dose à gut. vj. ad xvj. or xx. in Broth, Beer, Ale, Wine, or Cordial Julep. Taken alone it kills.

22. Oleum Sulphuris per Retortam, Oil of Sulphur distill'd by Retort.

R. Sulphur in Powder, ℥iv. Spirit of Nitre, or of common Salt and Vitriol compound, so much as may cover it four Inches over: distil by a Retort, in Ashes above and below, so driness. Catchbare fix or seven seven times or more, so will there be left in the Retort above ℥ij. of Oyl, the Spirits added being nothing abated.

It is of the same Nature, Faculty, Virtues and Goodness with the former, without any difference. The Menstruum in this operation seems to be drawn off dry; but there is a caustick Salt, which adheres to the Sulphur, which set in the Air dissolves into Spirit or Oyl; new Spirits increasing every day, which no way differs from that made by the bell.

23. Oleum Sulphuris Classæ, Oyl of Sulphur of Cloffæus.

Rx. Powder of Sulphur ℥iv. dissolve it in Spirit of Turpentine in four and twenty hours, in a Sand heat, decant the red Tincture: add more Spirit, digest again, decant, and cast away the feces. Distill these Tinctures in a Great Retort in Sand, till the Spirit is nearly all drawn off, and red drops appear, then change the Recipient, increase the fire gradatim, so have you purple Oyl which stinks egregiously: at last the Retort being red hot, it will be thick and black. R. tise and separate the Oyl from the remaining Spirit of Turpentine: then digest in a close Glass in B. M. so will all the stink vanish, and you will have an excellent Oyl or Balsam.

It is an excellent Traumatick and Vulnerary; helps Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, Phthisick, Ulcers of the Lungs, Empyema, Catarrhs, Consumptions, Plague, Cholick, stoppage of Urine, Pains of the Sides and Spleen, Fits of the Mother, &c. give gut.

℥ij. or iv. in Syrup of Coral, or Liquorice.

24. Oleum Sulphuris Rubrum, Red Oyl of Sulphur.

Rx. Sulphur vivi ℔ij. Quick-lime ℔ij. mix and force the Oyl through a Retort.

It is intended for the cure of old Sores, Putrefied Ulcers, Fistula's, &c. and is of excellent use (in a convenient mixture to ripen and break Pestilential and Venereal Buboes.

25. Oleum Balsami Sulphuris, Oyl of the Balsam of Sulphur.

Rx. Of the Rubin of Sulphur (see sect 12.) ℥ij. Decrepitated Salt ℥. iij. mix, and force the Oyl through a Retort.

It is only a purified Balsam of Sulphur, but more powerful and pleasant than the Rubine, having the same Virtues. Dose a gut. iij. ad vj.

26. Oleum Sulphuris Aureum, Golden Oyl of Sulphur.

Rx. Sulphur when melted and cast into water ℔ij. pumex stone in powder ℔ss. mix and distil all by a Retort with a gentle fire only above, and on the sides; at last increase the fire, and you have an Oyl yellow like Gold.

It opens all Obstructions of the Breast and Lungs, cures Cachexia's, Green-sickness, and is a good preservative in Pestilential times. Dose a gut. iij. ad vj.

27. Aqua Sulphuris Acida, Elegm of Sulphur.

It is made in the subliming of the flower of Sulphur.

It has the Virtues of the Spirit, but is much weaker.

28. Spirium Sulphuris Vulnerarium, rius, Vulnerary Spirit of Sulphur.

R. Pure Oyl of Sulphur. ℥j. rectified SV. ℔ij. mix and digest to sweetness.

It cures Coughs, Asthma's, Ulcers of the Lungs, Spitting blood, and all external wounds (being first cleansed with SV.) at once dressing: It also eases most external pains by bathing. Dose inwardly, in any convenient Liquor one Spoonful.

29. Sal Sulphuris, Salt of Sulphur.

It is made of Caput Mort. of the Bell Spirit reverberated white after the usual way.

This Salt is but little in quantity, being generally given to kill worms.

30. Sal Nitratum Sulphuris, seu Sal Antifebrile, Nitrated Salt of Sulphur.

R. Flowers of Sulphur ℥iv. pure fine Niter ℥viij. powder them very fine apart, then mix: fire this mixture by degrees in an earthen Cup set in a stone Pan, in which is Spirit of Wine lib. j. over which place a Bell, as in the distillation of Oyl of Sulphur per campanum: take the faces of the calcin'd brimstone, reduce them to powder, and with the flowers mingle them with the Spirit of Urine impregnated with the Spirits of Niter and Sulphur, digest all twelve hours in the said stone pot viz. till they are dissolved; filter the solution, and abstract in a short necked bolt head, in a Circular fire, till a white scum arises: then abate the fire, and evaporate gently till it be of a milkie colour, and cease making a noise or boiling; but beware that by the too much boiling you break not the Vessel. Lastly, whilst hot put this matter into a stone pan or white ware dish, and cooling, it will congeal like Crystal, white as Alabaſter, and brittle as Glass.

Where note, 1. That in the first flagration, the Cups which hold the powder, will infallibly break, because not defended from the Violence of the Niter: before the next flagration, put the ashes of the former (in powder) into a new earthen Cup, and that will keep the next Cup from breaking, then put a Spoonful of the matter into the Cup, and fire it, observing all the circumstances of the operation, continuing thus to fire it by Spoonfuls, till all the Sulphur and Niter is consumed. 2. That the Vapours ascending, turn partly into Spirit, partly into Flowers: of which, part stick to the sides of the Bell, part to the sides of the pan, and part from a thin Skin upon the Spirit of Urine. 3. That upon every new flagration you break the thin Skin upon the Spirit of Urine, that the Spirit may be impregnated with the following Spirits of Niter and Sulphur. 4. Let the Matres or bolt head be so big, as that your Spirits and dissolution may not fill it above three quarters full, lest they should boyl over or break the Glass. 5. That by this way, in the Calx of the brimstone, there is but few faces, and much fixed Salt. 6. That the Spirit of Urine, not only preserves the other Spirits from being lost, but also augments the Virtues of our Medicine. 7. That this Medicine is nothing but brimstone Calcin'd with Niter, and impregnated nated with the Spirits of Nitre and Sulphur:

It is an excellent Diuretic, and a great cooler: It purifies the blood, resists corruption, cures all sorts of Fevers, whether continual or intermitting, expels Gravel out of the Reins and Bladder, cures Gonorrhæa's, Whites, &c. The Dose is from ℥ss. ad ℥ss. in Syrup, Water, or any convenient Vehicle, purgative Bolus, &c.

31. Hedychrum Sulphuris, the Perfume of Sulphur.

Dissolve Sulphur in Oil of Flints, Crystal or Sand, by boiling, coagulate the Solution into a red mass, put thereupon Spirit of Urine, and digest till the Spirit is tinged: pour it off, and put on more, till all the Tincture is extracted: put all the Tinctures together, and evaporate the Spirit of Urine in B. M. and there will remain a blood red liquor at bottom; upon which put S.V. and you shall extract a very pure Tincture, smelling like Garlick: digest it a month, and it will smell like Balm; digest it a while longer, and it will smell like Musk or Ambergrise.

Besides, being a great Perfume, it is an excellent Cordial, Sudorific, and Antifebrile. For the Oil of Flints, see my Polygrap. lib. 3. cap. 20. sect. 57.

32. Sal Polycbrestum, Salt of many virtues.

℞. Sulphur, Nitro, ana, powder each a part, and mix them: put it into a large Crucible heated red hot beforehand by a spoonful at a time: when the Flame is over, cast in more, continuing thus till you have done; after which keep the Crucible and matter in it in a red hot heat for four or five hours: then cast it into a brass Basin heated very hot by the fire, where let it cool. Being cold powder it, and dissolve in Spring water, filterate, and abstract to dryness.

It is a pure Salt, and of great virtues: It purges watery humors by stool, and sometimes by urine: It opens all Obstructions, cures continual Fevers and Agues, chiefly Tertians: It is given ad ʒss. ad ʒij. in a pint or quart of water, to be drunk in a morning like mineral Waters: some will venture to give it ad ʒvj. in a pint or quart of Water, but then it purges strongly: It is best given with some mixture which may correct it.

II. Of ARS N I C

33. Of cruds or unprepared Arsenic or Rats-bane.

It is a Mineral coagulated juice, or fat made of combustible Sulphur, and corrosive Salts, being Natural or Artificial: the Natural is either Yellow or Red: The Yellow is called Auripigmentum and Orpiment: The Red is called Risgalum, Realgal, and Sandaracha: The Artificial is White, and is made of the Yellow, sublimed with Salt, of each equal Quantities; and this is that which is properly called Arsenic; which being pure, hard, heavy and white, like Milk or Crystal, is good. Unprepared, it is one of the greatest Poysons, and a perfect Enemy to the Balsam of Life, causing Heat, Thirst, Torment, Corrosion, Vomiting, Palpitation, Cold Sweats, intolerable burning Pains, Convulsions, and Death.

death. Outwardly, it is used in A-mulets and Cauteries with good success: it eats away proud and dead flesh, takes off hair; and the powder of it laid upon Corns, with a defensive of Diapalma about it, eats them to the roots without any pain: But for my part, I do not much like it. Inwardly, it cannot be taken till it is made sweet, and the Malignant Sulphur separated by Sublimation, Fixation, and Liquefaction. The White is most used in Physick, being milder than the other, by reason of the Salt, which is added in preparing of it; the Yellow is seldom used, and the Red very seldom, or least of all. If any be poisoned by taking of Arsnick, the only remedy is by taking immediately a pretty strong Lixivium of Sal Regale, or Tartar; for this Salt being dissolved, not only sheaths by its unctuous quality the Acrimony of the Arsnick, but also by its alkalious property, blunts the sharp points of the Cores of the Acid, and as it were fights with it, till it has mastered it, and fixt it in its own property: for, Volatile things conjoynd, make one fixed, for by striving to enter into each others property, they create a Coagulum or fixt matter, which is an unactive or dead thing, (for all fixt things are dead things, or at least, the life is bound up in them and cannot act; Volatile things can only be said to be living :) Thus the Volatile Salts of Tartar, joyned to the Volatile Salt of the Arsnick, fixes it, and so destroys its operation; That the Salt of Tartar is Volatile, we can easily prove, and give a demonstration not to be refused; which although it is against the general received opinion, we are not afraid to affirm, and may (in due season) give a publick manifestation of it to the World. From hence it appears also that Salt of Tartar is an Alexipharmick or Counter-Poyson: for where two opposite Volatiles meet, if the one be a Poyson, the other must be an Antidote, and that which is the stronger carries the day. But to return to our purpose: in case of Poyson, give the Lixivium strong, and often, or in good quantity, that the Patient may vomit strongly, which they do by virtue of their Urinous taste of the Tartar. This Medicine may be of force, although the Arsnick has been taken above half an hour: all other Poysons whatsoever, Vegetable, Mineral or Animal, it conquers almost in a minute of an hour.

34. Spiritus & Butyrum Arsenici, Spirit and Butter of Arsnick.

Rx. Arsnick ℥ss. & sublimat ℥ss. distil by a Retort, as in making butter of Antimony: so have you,
1. a thin Spirit, always fuming.
2. a thick Liquor or Butter, which you may either precipitate, or melt per deliquium.

The thin Spirit is a Dissolvent of Iron: and Cloßeus saith, the Butter is an excellent thing against ulcerated Cancers, being mixt with an equal quantity of Opium (to take away the sense of pain) and applied with proper Defensatives. But here is to be noted, 1. That some take equal parts of Arsnick and Sublimat. 2. That the Retort be of Glass. 3. That when the but-butter is come off, if you remove the Receiver, and put to another filled with water, increasing the fire, the Mercury will fall into the water drop by drop. 4. That the butter of Arsnick is a very strong Caustick, and makes an Escar sooner than that of Antimony.

35. Regulus Arsenici, Metal of Arsnick.

R. Of Arsnick ℥xij. Niter, Tartar, Calcin'd by a fire Coal ℥ix. filings of Irons, ℥vi. Charcoal in powder ℥iss. melt all together, in a Crucible; then shake it well, that the Regulus may fall: it is finer and purer than that of Antimony. Or thus:

R. Arsnick ℔j. Salt of Tartar ℔ss. powder each, mix, and incorporate in soft Soap ℔j. put it into a Crucible, cover it with a cover that has a hole through it, put it into a wind furnace, and with a gradual fire melt it, then put it into an Iron Cone, very hot and greased, which knock hard against the ground that the Regulus may settle.

This Regulus is not so corrosive as Arsnick it self; and some suppose that being sublimed to flowers (after putrefaction with Salts and spirit of Vinegar) that Quick-silver will therewith incorporate.

36. Arsenicum fixum, Fixed Arsnick.

R. White Arsnick, or Orpiment sublimed; fine Sal Niter, ana. Or thus: R. Orpiment, p. j. Niter, p. ij. Or thus: R. Arsnick, Niter, Tartar, ana: mix, and cast them by spoonfuls into a Crucible, stirring with a Spatula till it leaves boiling (but beware of the fumes) when all is in, increase the fire for five or six hours, or (as some) a day: then separate the Salts with hot water and sweeten, so have you a white fixed powder of Arsnick.

Where note, 1. That Muller calcines it thrice with as much Niter, sweetning every time with water. 2. This may be better done between two luted Crucibles, with a hole in the uppermost, to let out the Smoak. 3. That the same way you may take in fixing of Cadmia, Realgar of Silver, &c. 4. That being put in a Cellar, you may make Oyl of it per deliquium. Of this is prepared the Sudorifick of fixt Orpiment, and the Anodyne Oyl.

37. Arsenicum Sudorificum, Sudorifick Arsenick.

Imbibe the former powder with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, three times; then dissolve it in Sv. that the Salt may be extracted and separated, and there remain only a white fixed powder.

Both Quercetan and Muller says, that if you give of this powder gr. iij. iv. or v. at a time with Venice Treacle (or Mithredate) that it will sweat powerfully.

38. Oleum Arsenici Anodynum, Anodyne Oyl of Arsenick.

It is made of the fixed Arsenick (at Sect. 36.) being melted per deliquium, either alone, or as Baski advises, being mixt with Salt of Tartar. Paracelsus mixes the Oyl per deliquium, melted alone, with a double quantity of Oyl of Myrrh.

It is an excellent thing against all poysoned Wounds Ulcers and Cankers, Pocky boyls, sores and breakings out, Kings-Evil sores, bitings of Mad-Dogs, Fistula's in the Fundament and elsewhere, being dissolved in Plantane, Rose, or Poppy water, and then the affected place washed therewith.

39. Causticus Arsenici, the Caustic of Arsenic.

Rx. Arsenic, Nitre, ana, ℥ij. Sulphur ℥ss. powder apart, mix and calcine, as we taught at Sect. 36. then being cold, powder it, (but dulcorate it not) then calcine it again in a Crucible covered, with a great fire, for the space of two hours: then cool it, break it into bits, and keep it in a glass close stop.

It is to be used as other Caustics.

40. Auripigmentum Sublimatum, Sublimated Orpiment.

Rx. Orpiment, Salt decrepitated, Colcothar, filings of Iron, ana, mix and sublime them by degrees: mix the sublimate with new Salt, Colcothar, and Iron, and sublimes as before, which let be often repeated.

This being sublimed is white Arsenic, and is used to make the Regulus of

41. Arsenicum Dulce, Sweet Arsenic, of Quercetan.

Rx. White Arsenic, sublime it alone: then put it into a Crucible, calcine and melt it for about two hours or till one third part of the matter is evaporated, for so it is freed from its blackness: then take it out of the Crucible, mix it with scales of brass, and sublime, which repeat twice or thrice, (so will it be freed from its grosser venom): lastly sublime it two or three times with decrepitated Salt from a Matraass in a sand Furnace, and a gradual fire, increasing of it to the third degree: when all is sublimed, cool, and break the Vessel, gathering what which sticks at the top of the Matraass, and casting away that which remains at the bottom.

It is said to be an Antitoxe against Poyson, and to expel it; even such Poysons, as other Antidotes cannot: Quercetan orders it to be given in infusion à gr. v. ad viij. you may know the goodness of it, by its being mixt with Metals, and whitening of them: if the whiteness remains after melting it is good, otherwise the sublimate is not perfect; as for crude Arsenic it makes them black, and infects them with a poysonous Soot or Tincture. If you dissolve the sublimate per deliquium, you have an Oil which takes away proud flesh, and cleanses old Ulcers.

42. Sublimatum Arsenici Diaphoreticum, Sweating sublimate of Arsenic.

Rx. Arsenic, sublime thrice in sand per se, always casting away the fine Volatile Powder which sticks in the Still, (which is the malign part) then take the crystal part, and mix it with an equal quantity of flowers of Sulphur, sublime again, so have you the Diaphoretic Rubine of Arsenic.

It is reported to be an excellent Remedy for Diseases of Breast and Lungs obstructed with gross or thick humors: It is sudorific, and expels venomous Diseases by Sweat. Dose à gr. v. ad viij. outwardly, it cures all old Sores, corroding Ulcers, Fistula's, Kings-evil Sores, &c. with much celerity.

III. OF AMBERGRISE.

43. Of crude or unprepared Ambergrise.

It is a marine Sulphur, found at the Sea-shore, chiefly in the Indies, which breaks from Fountains and Caverns of the Sea:

It is either natural or factitious. The natural, which is best, is grey, sweet and smooth, pricked with a needle it sweats out fatness, softens in the heat, and when moist appears black. The factitious or adulterate is a Cheat, being black or whitish, made of a little mixture of Musk and Civet with Storax, Laudanum, and wood of Aloes, and may easily be known by the scent. It is hot and dry, an excellent Corroborative; it is discutient, resolute, alexipharmic, and analeptic; it strengthens the heart and brain, revives and recreates the spirits natural, vital, and animal: Its sweet Sulphur is an excellent Perfume; it is a good preservative against the Plague, and preserves the Spirits from infection; Dose à gr. j. ad iiii.

44. Essentia Ambragrisea, Essence of Ambergrise.

Rx. Ambergrise ʒij. Musk ʒj. Civet gr. iv. mix and make all into a powder: put into a small Matrafs; to which put of highly rectified S. V. ʒviij. seal up the Vessel Hermetically, and digest in Horse-dung, or a very gentle sand heat for 40 days, so will the perfume be almost quite dissolved, and tinge the S. V. of a red Colour, almost like a Rubine: then break the neck of the Matrafs, and whilst hot, decant the Essence, (for being cold it thickens) and keep it in a glass close stopp'd with a glass stopple. The feces at bottom may be reserved for sweet powders.

Ambergrise alone has scarcely any smell; but being dissolved, is most odiferous. This Essence is much stronger than the simple Ambergrise, and may be given à gut. vj. ad xij. in any convenient Vehicle. One drop of the Essence perfumes for ever what it touches that can imbibe it.

45. Essentia Ambragrisea Schroderi, Schroder's Essence of Ambergrise.

Rx. Ambergrise p. j. Oil of sweet Almonds p. ij. make a paste; digest it some days: then press out the Oil, to which add S. V. distil in sand, so will the Essence of Ambergrise with the S. V. leaving the Oil at bottom; lastly, abstract the S. V. to the thickness of Oil. See our Polygraphices, Lib. 4. Cap. 46. Sect. 4.

Where note, 1. If you add the S. V. first, and then press out, you will get more of the Essence of the Amber. 2. You may wash the feces with S. V. rectified two or three times, and press them again as often, which you may put to the expressed Oil. 3. You ought to distil in a glass Retort. This Essence has the virtues of the former, and may be given ad gut. iv.

46. Essentia Ambragrisea composita, Compound Essence of Ambergrise.

Rx. Ambergrise ʒij. Musk gr. xvj. Civet, Sugar-candy, ana gr. viij. powder them, mix and add spirit of Roses that will burn, dry, then moisten again, and do this several times, lastly dry it, beat it in powder, and keep it.

It has the virtues of the former, strengthens all the parts of the body, causes fruitfulness, and helps Conception. Dose à gr. ij. ad iv. in Wine.

47. Ambra Moscata Mynsichti, Mynsicht's Ambergrise with Musk.

Rx. Pure Ambergrise ʒj. Musk ʒj. brown Sugar-sandy ʒss. powder and and moisten with burning spirit of Roses in all respects as the former.

There is no difference between this and the former, but only in the Civet. It warms and dries: Horsius in Pharm. lib. 17. saith it comforts and strengthens the brain, and gives relief in all its affects; eases the headach, takes away defluxions from the eyes, comforts cold and aged People, given in Wine λ gr. iv. ad viij.

48. Odoriferum Crollum, The Pomander of Crolius.

R. Cloves, Mace, Cinnamon or sweet Cassia Ligna, A. \mathfrak{z} ij. Musk \mathfrak{z} ss. Civet. Tragacanth dried, A. \mathfrak{z} ij Gum, Arabick \mathfrak{z} j. make a Mucilage of the Gums with Rose or Orange flower water, with which mix the other things being in powder, joyned with Occident Civet, or Paracelsus h \bar{u} Carbo, then form the mass into little balls. Or thus: R. Storax calamite \mathfrak{z} ij. Mastick, Olibanum, Gum Sandarach A. \mathfrak{z} ss. Costus, Spicknard, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Xylaloes \mathfrak{z} iv. Musk gr. x. Ambergrise gr. vj. with Turpentine, make it into Balls. Or thus, R. Labdanum \mathfrak{z} ij. Storax Calamite \mathfrak{z} ss. Xylaloes, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Mace, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Coriander, Cloves, A. \mathfrak{z} ij. Benjamin, Mastick, Olibanum. A. \mathfrak{z} ij. Musk \mathfrak{z} j. Ambergrise \mathfrak{z} ss. make a mass.

These are Excellent Perfumes: by their scent they refresh the heart wonderfully, are good against the Apoplexy, Epilepsie, Plague, suffocation of the Womb. Carbo, or Occident Civet of Paracelsus is Mans Dung digested per se, till it is divested of its stinking fume, and becomes sweet. See Hartman or Crolius. There are other variety of excellent Pomanders, which you may see at large in our Polygraphices, Lib. 4 Cap. 51. Sect. 1, 2, 3, 4.

IV. Of AMBER.

49. Of Crude or unprepared Amber.

It is a well-digested Sulphurous Juyce or Rosin of the Earth, cast into the Sea, and there concreted. It is called Succinum, Karabe, Electrum, Giessum, and Ambra Citrina: before it is hardened, several things, as Flies, Ants, and the like, stick to it, and are there buried. There are several sorts of Amber as white, yellow, pale and black spotted: The shops know but two sorts, the white and the yellow: The white, is best, being the more digested, and pure, burning sweet: Then the yellow, which is clear, and sweetest when in powder: you may make it white thus. R. Yellow Amber \mathfrak{z} ss. put it into a strong earthen Still, to which put Sal Gem, Bay Salt, or Common Salt \mathfrak{z} ss. with rain water enough to dissolve it, and something more, fit to a blind head at the top, but lute it not; let it boyl a while, putting in more water if it wants, then let it stand 20 days in a gentle heat, or till it is white. Amber whether white or yellow, is hot and dry, Binding, Cephalick, Cardiack, Hysterick and Analeptick: It stops Catarrhs, cures Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Lethargies, Megrim, the suffocation and inflammation of the Womb, stops all Fluxes both of Blood and Seed, the Gonorrhæa and Whites, Dose λ \mathfrak{z} j. ad \mathfrak{z} j. Some wear it as an Amulet against the Quinsey, Catarrh and Plague.

50. Succinum præparatum, prepared Amber.

It is done by Levigating it with water.

The Vertues are the same with the former. Quercetan burns S.V. of it 3 or 4 times.

51. Spiritus Succini, Spirit of Amber.

It is drawn in the distillation of the Oyl (as we shall teach Lib. 4. Cap. 3.) first you have a flegm, then a Spirit and Oyl, which separate thus: Put the Spirit and Oyl into a Glass Alembick, to which put some hot water, fit to it a Receiver, luting well the juncture, first make a small fire, which increase by degrees, so will the water and Spirit ascend, carrying with them a little white Oyl: continue the fire till no more Spirit arises, the thick Oyl remaining at bottom: the Spirit you may part from the white Oyl, which swims on the top, by a separating Funnel: The water and Spirit yet remain mixed, which you must separate by evaporation of about half, or two thirds of the moisture; what remains is the Spirit of Amber.

Here is to be noted. 1. That Spirit of Amber is only the dissolution of its Essential Salt. 2. That this Salt is Acid, and therefore it ascends not with the flegm in the Evaporation. 3. That two thirds of the humidity being evaporated, the remainder being set in a cool place, that acid Salt will Crystallize. 4. That therefore it is best to preserve the Spirit with the Flegm, without evaporation, the Crystals not being so easie to be preserved, The Spirit is a great opener of Obstructions, cures the Scurvy, Green-sickness, Jaundice, Stoppage of Urine, Ulcers in the neck of the Bladder, &c. Dose à gut. x. ad xxx. in Wine. The white Oyl cures Hysterical Fits, Palsie, Convulsions, Apoplexy and Falling-sickness. Dose à gut. ij. ad vj. in Wine or Broth.

52. Olum Succini Album, White Oyl of Amber.

R. Amber levigated, mix it with elixirated Asses of Tartar, then distil with so gentle a fire, as that one drop will scarcely fall in a quarter of an hour: continue the distillation, till the drops turn yellow; then remove the Receiver, so have you a subtil Spirit, and most piercing white Oyl, which separate as before.

Both Spirit and Oyl have the Vertues of the former. But here is to be noted, that putting to a new Receiver, and continuing the distillation, you may have a thick yellow Oyl, which you may rectifie, by putting it with Vinegar upon the Caput Mortuum, and distill again, so will you have first an Oyl clear like water; then a yellow Oyl. A Retort of Glass will be best in this case.

53. Magisterium Succini, Magistery or Præcipitate of Amber.

R. Amber levigated, dissolve it in S. V. then decant and abstract in B. M. or præcipitate with water. Or thus: R. Powder of Amber, a little parched or dried, dissolve it in Spirit of Vinegar, decant and præcipitate with Spirit of Sulphur.

These Magisteries are the pure and resinous part, separated from the more impure and terrene; and therefore have not only the Virtures of Amber simply considered, but all those virtues stronger, and more highly exalted: where note that Paracelsus circulates the powder of Amber with S.V. digests in Ashes for a week; then abtracts and cohobates, till an Oil appears at the bottom.

54. Diaphoreticum Succini, The sweating precipitate of Amber.

R. Lævigated Amber, to which put Spirit of Vinegar four Inches above it; digest and burn in Sand for three or four days, till it is red, adding new Spirit as it evaporates, then filterate and abstract thrice; then precipitate with Spirit of Vetroli, or Juice of Citrons.

It sweats powerfully, is eminent against the Measles, Small-Pox, Spotted Fever, Plague, Pleurisie, palpitation of the Heart, sounding Fits, and other malign Diseases. Dose à gr. vi. ad xij.

V. Of BITUMEN.

Bitumen is properly Oil, or Fat of the Earth embodied, and is (as we have before declared) sevenfold: viz. 1. Asphaltum. 2. Naphtha. 3. Petroleum. 4. Terroleum. 5. Carbo Petreæ. 6. Gagates. 7. Sperma Ceti.

55. Of Asphaltos, or Bitumen, properly so called.

It is either Native or Factitious: The Native is of the nature of Sulphur, being the Fat or Resin of the Earth, black as Pitch, and hard: It discusses, contracts, glutinates, and binds: being drunk, it dissolves clotted blood, and provokes the Terms: outwardly it helps Scabs, Itch, Tetters, Leprosies, Spots in the Eyes, and Gout. It mollifies and warms the Nerves, and glews them together if cut. The Jewish, which shines like Purple, is heavy, and of a strong smell, is the best; then the Babylonian: the black is naught. The Factitious is adulterated with Pitch, and called Pisaspphaltos, which see Lib. 1. Chap. 8. Sect. 53. used by the Shops instead of the true. You may make an Oil of Bitumen, as of Amber.

56. The Vertues and Use of Naphtha.

It is liquid, and burns violently, being the straining of the Babylonian Bitumen, white in colour, and of an exceeding strong scent; but there is some which is black also. It has all the virtues of Asphaltos, and much more powerful to the intention, as being the more pure part thereof. It helps Fits, being only smelled to, applied, or suffumigated: Drunk with Wine or Castor it provokes the Terms, cures old Coughs, and Shortness of Breath, helps the Bittings of Serpents, the Sciatica, Gout, and pains in the Sides, mixt with Barley Meal, Wax and Nitre, and applied: laid to the Temples, it is good against the Lethargy; and anointed, it helps the Palsie. It extenuates, penetrates, digests, dries, defends from Inflammations, discusses and glutinates. But because it is scarce to be gotten, Petroleum is used by the Shops instead thereof.

57. The Vertues and Use of Petroleum.

Petroleum, Oleum Petreæ, or Rock Oil, is a Liquamen, or Fat flowing from Rocks and Stones. It is hot and dry, digests, dissolves, solves, is Cephalick, Arthritick, Anodyne, and of thin parts. It comforts and strengthens the Nerves and Brain, consolidates Wounds, and heals them. The Spirit thereof helps Ulcerated Kibes and Chilblains, being applied with Spirit of Wine. It is extraordinary good against Convulsions, Palsies, Numbness, and Fits of the Mother. That which is found in Italy is White and Red: that in Sicily swims upon Springs: The Babylonian is said to burn in its Fountain. You may distill it in a Retort, to have you a Spirit, and in the bottom of the Retort a Colophony, which is excellent for the Cure of Wounds.

58. Terroleum, Oleum Terra, Oyl of the Earth.

Oyl of the Earth is two-fold, viz. either Red or Black; The Red comes from the East-Indies, and is clear, strong-scented like Petroleum, but sweeter and more pleasant: it is hot and dry, consumes all cold matter in any part of the body; it cures Convulsions, Palsies, Epilepsies, pains of the Sides and Spleen, Reins, Bladder, Womb and Joynts: It is excellent against the Gout, and running Gout, being Cephalick, Hyterick, Arthritick, Anodyne and Vulnerary: use it both outwardly and inwardly. The black comes from the West-Indies and Barbadoes, and is called Pisselæon Indicum or Barbadoes Tarr. See it Lib. 1. Cap. 8. Sect. 54.

59. Carbo Petra, Lithanbrax, Sea-Coal, or Newcastle Coal.

Sea-Coal, is a fossile Bitumen,

Black, Terrene, Stony and friable, being the chief fuel in England and Germany. You may distill it as Amber, so shall you have a Spirit and Oyl, which being rectified, is no ways inferior to that of Amber: It heals Wounds, softens Tumors and Nodes, cures Epilepsies, Apoplexies, the Megrim, Palsie, Convulsions, Colick, griping of the Guts, fits of the Mother, Pains and Obstructions of the Spleen, Gout and running Gout: it softens, discutifies, is Anodyne, and Hyterick. Dose à gut. iv. ad viij. vel xij.

60. Gagates, Obsidianus, or Jet.

It is a kind of Bitumen, black, hard, sulphurous and stony, smells like Asphaltos, and burns like Pitch, having a black smoak, called by some black Amber; but that it is not, for Amber is smooth, Jet is rough. It takes the name of Gagates from the River Gaga in Silicia, where of old it was only found, but now it is found in Germany also. It is Emollient, Discutient, Cephalick, Hyterick and Arthritick, being taken in powder ad ʒj. for seven days together. It cures the Colick, as Schroder says. Heated red hot, and quenched in Wine, it helps the Cardiack Passion: Isidore saith, it is kindled by water, and quenched by Oyl. Al-drovandus saith, being worn, it helps the Night-mare. The powder of it given in Wine is Diuretick, and causeth Delivery: it helps the Dropsie and Liver obstructed. You may make an Oyl from it, as from Amber (but only the fire must be stronger,) which being rectified with water cures Madnels, the Falling-sickness, Palsie, Convulsions, Gout, and Suffocation of the Womb. Dose gut. ʒj. or x.

61. Sperma Ceti, flos salis, flos Mariæ, Sperma Ceti.

What it is, Authors can scarcely determine; however it is gathered from the Sea, upon which it flotes like froth. Some, as Vale-rius Cordus, affirm it to be the seed of a Whale, and give great reasons for the same. Sebroder says it is false, because it is found in places where Whales are never taken: Some call it αλδς αὐδς, flos salis, of Dioscorides, but that is an Error, for the Sal Veterum, or Salt of the Ancients, was of a red or Saffron colour, salt taste, and liquid; Whereas this of ours is purely white, absolutely fresh, and of a fat solid body, not fluid, if it be good; if it be rancid, yellowish, or unsavory, it is naught: there is a Counterfeit sort which is dissolved in water, whereas the true, Wackerus saith, non nisi oleo resolvitur. But what it is, or whether Authors agree or no, is no great matter to us, whilst we know what we aim at and intend, and truly understand the Virtues of the same. This of ours is excellent against Cacoetick Ulcers, Phagedæns, running Sores of the Ears, defects of the Eyes: it resolves, moistens and is Anodyne, being much used by some to dissolve congealed blood within, coming from falls, bruises, and the like. It eases Pains of the Bowels in Children, and the Colick, is Pectoral, and is oft given in Coughs, Phthisick, Asthma's, and tartarous Diseases of the Lungs. Some use it outwardly to anoint the marks of the Small-Pox, to fill them with flesh. Dose inwardly, ʒj. ad ʒij. It is best given mixt with Oyl of sweet Almonds new drawn, and white Sugar.

C A P. XIII.

OF S T O N E S.

WE divide all Stones into two Classes or Orders: viz. 1. Into more precious or Gems. 2. Into less precious or Common. The Gems are these: 1. The Jasper. 2. The Sapphir. 3. The Calcedony. 4. The Emerald. 5. The Sardonyx. 6. The Sardius or

Cornelion. 7. The Chrysolite. 8. The Beryl. 9. The Topas. 10. The Chrysophrasus. 11. The Jacinth. 12. The Amethyst. 13. The Ruby or Carbuncle. 14. The Granate. 15. The Diamond. 16. The Pearl. 17. The Ligure. 18. The Agate. 19. The

The Cryſtal. 20. The Onyx. 21. Coral. 22. The Heliotrope. 23. Bezoar. 24. The Opal. All the other are common; the which (because we deſign an Alphabetical Method) we ſhall treat of jointly, as they ſhall fall in the ſame Order. The Gems (all except the two laſt) are ſpecially denoted in Scripture. See Exod. 28. 9. & 39. 10, 11, 12, 13. Job 28. 6, 16, 17, 18, 19. Ezek. 28. 13. Rev. 18. 12. & 21. 11, 19, 20, 21.

1. Achates, Cerauates, Hamachates, Paſſachates, Sardachates; Ἀχάτης, the Agate. It is of ſeveral kinds; as the black, Coral-like Indian, and that of Crete. Mylius ſaith, That the Powder of it, drunk or applied, helps the bitings of Serpents and Spiders, refreſhes the heart, ſtrengthens the body, and cauſeth a good Colour: It is good alſo againſt the ſtinging of Scorpions, and reſiſteth the venom of peſſidental Poiſon.

2. Adamas, the Diamond. It is the moſt precious of all Stones. There are ſeveral kinds of it, of which three are principal, viz.

1. The Indian, being almoſt like to Cryſtal for Colour and Clearneſs; ſome of them are to be found of the bigneſs of a Filbert, or Haſlenut. 2. The Arabian, which is like to the other, but ſomething leſs. 3. Cenchros, which is about the bigneſs of Millet-feed. The Diamond is the hardeſt of all Gems: It is never given inwardly, but only worn as in Rings, &c. So it's ſaid to take away Fears, Melancholy, and to ſtrengthen the heart.

3. Alabaſtrites, Alabaſtrum, Ἀλαβερίτης, Alabaſter: our Mo-derns call this the Onyx, but 'tis certain 'tis not the Onyx of the Ancients. It is a kind of Marble, indigeſted and ſoft: If it is ſo ſoft as to be cut, it is called Gypſum. The Powder of it drunk, helps heart-burnings; and applied Plafter-wiſe, is diſcutient: eſpecially calcin'd, and made into a Plafter with Pitch and Roſin, ſo it abates Pains, ſoftens hard Swellings, and becomes digeſtive: It is only uſed in Alabaſter Ointment. It is brought out of India and Egypt.

4. Alectorias, Alectoris, Ἀλεκτριάς, Cocks Gizard Stone. The bearing of it is ſaid to provoke Venery.

5. Amethyſtus, Gemma Veneris, Ἀμέθυστος, the Amethyſt, it is of an attractive Nature. The beſt are thoſe of a purple Colour, ſhining and ſparkling. It cauſeth quietneſs by way of Amulet, and ſo it's ſaid to make fruitful. It is brought from India, Arabia, Armenia, and Egypt.

6. Amiantus, Alumen Plumofum, Ἀσβεſτος λίθος ἀμύαντος, the Amianth, or plumous Allum. It differs not from Allum in form, but it wants the taſte of Allum, nor will it burn like Allum. This Stone is only uſed as an Ingredient in the Citron Quintment; but it's ſaid to cure Scabs. Being diſſolved in S. V. and Sugar, and ſo taken inwardly, it cures the Whites and Terms in Women. It alſo cures ſcald Heads, and ſore Legs, being of a drying quality.

7. Arenofus Lapis, Tophus, the Sand Stone. Aldrovandus ſaith, It is very dry, and ſticks to the tongue like Bole, or Armenian Earth, and may be used instead thereof; for which cause, as Eraſtus ſaith, it was much used in Germany. It is excellent againſt Fractures made into a Plafter with Oil of Roſes, Myrtles, or Maſtic, with a little Wax, taking the Powder alſo inwardly to 3j. morning and evening in any convenient Liquor, for a few days.

8. Armenius Lapis, Αἰθῶν 'Απὸ μὲν, The Armenian Stone.

It is found in Silver Mines in Armenia (from whence it takes its name, but it is now found in Germany; it is full of Spots, Green, Sky-coloured, and blackiſh like the Lapis Lazuli, with golden Spots and Veins, differing from Lapis Lazuli but only in ripeneſs, ſave Lapis Lazuli is found in golden Mines, this only in Silver. That which is Sky-coloured is beſt. It gently dries, cleaſes and aſtringes, with a little Acrimony: being taken inwardly, Mylius ſaith, it purges Melancholy both upwards and downwards, without danger: It cures Madneſs, Melancholy, Apoplexies, Conuulſions, Epilepſies, and Megrim; if it be waſh'd 14 or 16 times in water, it only purges downwards, Doſe à ʒij. ad ʒiv. Outwardly, it is a Pſolorbron for the Eye-lids, and is often used in Ophthalmic Medicines. Quercetanus makes a Magiſtery, by firſt calcining of the Stone with the flowers of Brimſtone, then diſſolves it in a ſtrong alkaliſed Vinegar: but it is better only waſhed or diſſolved in S. V. for Acids deſtroy its purging quality.

9. Aëtius, Lapis Aquilæ, 'Αετίνης, The Eagle Stone. It is al-

moſt like to the Bezoar Stone, having another Stone that rattles within it: It is either Oriental or Occidental, and is alſo three-fold: The Oriental is the firſt ſort, which is rough, of divers Colours, commonly black, having within it another Stone called Collimus, being much about the bigneſs of a Damafen. The Occidental, which are the ſecond and third ſorts, are found in Germany: the one kind of them has Clay or Marle within it, being ſmooth, and of an Aſh-colour: the other kind has Earth within it; both ſorts are often found as big as a Goole Egg. It is called the Eagle Stone, becauſe found in the Eagles Neſt, of which there are two kinds, viz. a Male and a Female, without which they bring not forth: Dioſcorides ſaith, that bound to the Left Arm, they help the ſlippi- neſs of the Womb, and cauſes a retention of the Seed, thereby preventing Miſcarriage. But Schroder adviſes to remove it immediately after, leſt it draw the Womb after it.

10. Berillum, Βήρυλλος Βιέλλος, The Berril. It is either Common or Golden. It fortifies and enlivens Nature, helps againſt moiſture of the Eyes, belchings, ſhortneſs of breath, and obſtructions of the Liver, being inſuſed in water, and the water drunk, waſhing alſo the part afflicted with it. The beſt are thoſe of a Sea-green Colour; then thoſe of a Golden.

11. Borax, Chryſocolle, Auri Gluten, Χρυσοκόλλα, Borace. It is either Natural or Faſtitious. The Natural cleaſes Ulcers, hin-hinders proud flesh and makes lean, by gently washing the body, by its biting quality: It is a gentle Emetick: and if taken in too great a quantity may prove mortal, so Weckerus. But Fallopins saith, that ʒj. may be given at a time, in any decoction pro re nata, to women which cannot be delivered, for which it is a most present remedy, whether the child be alive or dead. The Facitious is either Simple or Compound. The simple is made of Boys Urine and Niter mixed and coagulated. The Compound according to Schroder is thus made: R. Salt of Tartar, Sal Armoniack, Niter, A. ʒj. Common Salt, Gum Arabick, A. ʒj. Mastick, Roch-Allum, A. ʒss. powder all a part, mix, dissolve all in Boys Urine, filter and coagulate, by boiling to a Salt.

It has the Virtues of the former.

13. Bezoar, Bezaar, Bolzaar, Begaar, Bezard. The Bezoar Stone. Rulandus says, that gr. vi. given with other Sudorificks, help the Hungarian Disease. You may give gr. xiv. in the Plague and Poyson. Arnoldus saith it may be given to ʒj. and he is certainly in the right. It is a potent thing against putrid Feavers (except in their declination.) The Oriental is the most Sudorifick; the Occidental most loosens the belly. The Oriental taken in a mean, is a prevalent thing against Consumptions, cures Vertigoes, Epilepsies, the Megrim, &c. given in a specifick Vehicle. It mightily strengthens the heart, revives and recreates the Spirits, and restores decayed nature: and therefore it is given against sounding fits, in the very paroxysm in Rose or Angelica water, and so also it cures the Palpitation of the heart, although of many years standing. It is also given with great success in the Measles and Small-Pox, to bring them out; see more of it in Lib. 2. Cap. Sect. 14. of this Dispensatory.

14. Calaminaris lapis, Catbimia, Climsa, Cadmia Lapidosa, Calaminare. It is a yellow Stone not hard, which when burning, gives a Yellow fume; found in Metallick Mines: Of this Coppermiths make Brass, as we have shewed in our Polygraphices, Lib. 3. Cap. 29. Sect. 10. This Stone dries, cleanses, binds, cicatrizes and incarnates; fills Ulcers with flesh; and made into powder, and sprinkled upon gald places in Children, dries and heals them suddenly. Clossius makes a Magistery of it thus: R. Strong Spirit of Oyl or Salt ʒx. Lapis Calcinatus in powder ʒj. mix and dissolve, precipitate with Oyl of Tartar, and sweeten by often washing of it in hot water. It is both Emetick and Cathartick, working more gently, than any prepared Antimony. An Eye Water. R. Renisso Wine ʒiiss. Lapis Calaminaris ʒiij. all in one piece: heat it red hot, and quench it in the Wine, which repeat for seven or eight times: then decant the Liquor, filterate and keep it in a glass close stopp for use. It is the most certain Remedy for sore, running, and Rheumatick Eyes, that is yet known: I have known it do wonders in that case when all other things have failed.

15. Calcarius, Ἀσπὺς, Limestone and Quicklime. The Limestone is of a grey Colour, almost like Marble, which by burning is made into Quicklime. Quicklime is of a fiery biting, burning, and caustic property; being washed, it dries without biting, and therefore dries up moist and running Sores and Ulcers, whether Venereal, or other. Schroder tells you of a Salt which you may make of Lime by a Lixivium, yet he must be a wise Man that can do it by the Lixivium alone; but by the affusion of Vinegar, you may have a complicated Salt in large quantity.

The Lixivium is excellent to wash Kings-Evil Sores, and other Ulcers which are hard to heal; taken inwardly, it gives ease in the Colic, and dries up moist humors in the Dropsie: of it you may make an Ophthalmic Water. Spirit of Quicklime. R. Levigated Quicklime, imbibe it with alkalized, or perfectly deslegmative S. V. which abstract again in B. M. and cohobate 8 or 10 times, that the Lime may be very fiery; of which take ℥x. Salt of Tartar ℥j. of the Caput Mort. of Tartar first burnt ℥ix. mix, and in a luted Retort, so large as it may not be quite half full, distil into two Receivers; the one very large, into which put S. V. rectified, to receive the Spirit; the other lesser to receive the Flegm: let the first Receiver be joined with a Canal, brought from the neck of the other Receiver; place the latter so that the flegm may fall directly into it: then kindle the fire, so have you first a flegm, then with a stronger Fire a white Spirit, which goes through the Canal into the other Receiver; which Spirit is joined with S. V. and is hard to be separated, unless by small rectification with a very gentle Fire, or by burning the S. V. off, that the Spirit of Lime may remain at the bottom.

This Spirit is a wonderful Deobstructor; cures the Cachexia in old persons, the Green-sickness in Virgins, the Rickets in Children; and is a great Arcanum and Specific for breaking, dissolving, and expelling the Stone and Tartarous Matter from any part of the Body: It is Anodyne, and an excellent thing in the Gout, dissolves Pearls, Crabs-eyes; Coral, Crystal; and other hard Stones, extracts Tinctures: and, as Basil saith, fixes the Volatile Spirits of Minerals: Where note, 1. That except you at first impregnate the Lime with SV. highly rectified, you will only have a Flegm, which will flow into the least Receiver. 2. That the white Spirit being condensed in the Spirit of Wine, will be yellow; but by a rectification upon Ashes with a gentle heat, it will be clear.

16. Chalcedonius, Charcedonius, Χαλκεδόν, the Chalcedony. It is both male and female, and is commended (only used as an Amulet) against hoarseness and loss of voice. The Males are the best, as shining more bright, and having as it were bright and shining Stars within them.

17. Chrysolithus, Χρυσόλιθος, the Chrysolite. Our modern Jewellers call it a Topaz, but it is an Error. It's a Gem of a golden Colour, and is either Oriental or Occidental: the Oriental is the best, which being laid together with Gold, makes it look like Silver. The signature of it demonstrates it to be of a Solar Nature, from whence it is thought to take away Fears and Melancholy, unquiet and fearful Dreams, and the Falling-sickness, worn as an Amulet, in a Locket or Ring. The Occidental is found in Bohemia.

with

18. Chrysophrasus, χρυσόφρασις, the Chrysophrase. It is of a fiery gold-like colour, and is of 2 kinds, viz. the Prasoides, and Chrysopteron. It is an Amulet against Swooning Fits, and weakness of the Eyes; and is reported to be of a pale colour in the day, but glorious by night.

19. Cos, Corticula, Acone, Lapis naxos, Ἀκόν νάξια, the Whetstone. It is either dry or oleary: the dry or common taken in Powder with Vinegar, consumes the Spleen; and, as Dioscorides saith, cures the Falling-sickness. Wecker saith, that which comes off from it by whetting, is Styptic, helps the falling off the hair, cures baldness; and being drunk, keeps down the breasts of Women or Virgins. The Powder of the oleary Whetstone is of a cleansing virtue, cures the Alopecia, and is used by Smiths, Barbers, &c. to sharpen their Tools withal.

20. Crystallus, κρύσταλλον, Crystal. It is a Stone found in India, Scythia, Spain, Germany and Asia; more transparent than clear Glass. It is the softest of all Gems; that which is most pure and transparent is best. It binds, and therefore is given in fine Powder in austere Wine against the Diarrhæa, Dysenteria, Lienteria, Celiac Colic, Whites and Reds: It encreases Milk in Nurses, breaks the Stone both in Reins and Bladder, and helps the Gout. Matthiolus saith, that the Powder of it taken ʒij. or ʒi. at a time, in Oil of Sweet Almonds, cures those that have drunk Quicksilver, the which Bostius also confirms. 1. Pulvis Crystalli, Powder of Crystal. It is made by beating of it small in a Mortar, then levigating of it upon a Marble: Or thus, Heat it by degrees red hot, and then cast it into cold water, so will it in a trice be brought into a very subtil Powder. The Virtues are as aforesaid. 2. Sals Crystalli, Salt of Crystal. R. Most transparent Crystal, calcine it alone in a Crucible in a great Reverberatory Furnace, for 12 hours; then take it out, and when cold, reduce it to impalpable Powder in an iron Mortar, to which put as much Nitre purify'd, and in Powder, put them into a Crucible covered with a Tile, in the same Furnace, and like fire, for about two days; take it out, and being cold, reduce it to powder, and cast it by spoonfuls into a Kettle of boiling water, letting it boil till half the water is consumed: then filter, whilst hot, through a brown paper; and over a good fire evaporate the humidity, so have you a Powder as white as Snow, which you must continually stir with an Iron Spatula, for fear it should melt, till it is thoroughly dry. Where note, 1. That we calcine a second time with Nitre, the better to open the body of the Crystal. 2. That the Nitre be pure and free from all its fixed Salt. 3. That the Nitre assimilates a part of the body of Crystal, into its own likeness, for otherwise the Crystal would be nothing but a Calx or Quicklime, containing only its Virginal Earth, having in itself no Alkalious hours Salt at all, as we hinted before, at Sect. 13. In opposition to the opinion of Schroder. 4. That Crystal being only a transparent Glass, and Glass only a less transparent Crystal; cannot be melted and purified but by the Salt of other Vegetables and Minerals; so that after the fusion and Vitification of the matter, all the Salt is separated, so that there is not the least part of a grain in either Glass or Crystal. 5. Some calcine the Crystal first with Tartar, then with Salt: others first with Salt, then with Sulphur: some do it with double quantity of Beech Charcoal, then with Salt of Tartar: other, as Crollius, calcine first with Sulphur, then Niter, but Quercetanus uses Salt of Tartar. 6. If after elixivation, any of the Calx remain, calcine again, so often till all the substance (the Fæces being cast away) be dissolved. 7. Some elixivate in Nettle water, impregnated with its own Salt: some in Radish water, some in Rest harrow, some in Parsly water; others in Persicary water: Schroder in distilled Vinegar with Turpentine, which is indeed as good as any thing, and it may do well enough without the Turpentine, See our Polygraph. Lib. Cap. 69. Sect. 7. This is a very strong Medicine, and powerful Diuretick, inasmuch that Hartman advises that it should not be given much, nor too often. It breaks and dissolves the Stone, in the Reins and Bladder, expels Gravel, provokes Urine, cures Dropsies and dries up Gonorrhæas. Dose à gr. vj. ad xvj. Thus may you make Salts of Fragments of precious Stones, as Rubies, Topaz's, Emeralds, Diamonds, Sapphires, Corals, Pearls, &c. 3. Magisterium Crystalli, Magistery of Crystal. R. Calx of Crystal dissolved in any of the aforementioned waters, and precipitate with common Salt, which wash and dry. It has the Virtues of the former. 4. Oleum seu Liquor Crystalli per deliquium. It is made of the Salt, dissolved in the Cellar. Dose à gut. xv. ad xx. 5. Elixir Crystalli. R. Pure Salt of Crystal: Digest in Horse-dung, or B. M. with S. V. or Nerole, or Persicary water, or S. V. distilled with them; then distil by a Retort, so will part of the Salt ascend: put on fresh menstruum so often till all the Salt arises with it. This Boerhaave calls Volatilization of the Salt of Crystal. 6. Cremor Crystalli, Horstii. R. Crystal in powder; fine Tartar Sale A. ʒij. calcine in a glassed Crucible with a cover, having a hole in it, in a potters Furnace; then cast it into Nettle water, and it will be dissolved into a bright green water, what remains at the bottom cast away, adding a little common Salt purified and powdered. It is an excellent thing against the Dropisie, Stone, Gravel, Obstructions of Urine, &c. being sweetned and given à gr. x. ad ʒj. either alone, or with Cream of Tartar. 7. Essentia Crystalli Kessleri, Kellers Essence of Crystal. Calcine Crystal alone, quenching of it in distilled Vinegar; then calcine it with Niter 12 hours, to thin Calx ʒiv. put distilled Vinegar, ʒxx. digest 3 or 4 days in B. M. abstract to dryness, dissolve the Salt per deliquium: the white Oyl which is from the Niter, cast away; the red take and digest 3 or 4 days with Wine, then decant from from the feces, and keep it for use. It has the former Virtues: Kesler gives it in Wine thrice a day.

21. Corallum, Corallum, Κοράλλιον, λιόδονδρον. Coral. There are several sorts of Coral, as the red, (which is the male) the pale (which is the female) the yellow, green, black, ash-coloured, &c. of all which the red is the best, and that we only use. The Virtues of it, see in Lib. 1. Cap. 4. Sect. 179. of this Dispensatory. The Dose of which in crude Powder is ʒi. ad ʒi. but as to the several preparations thereof, as also of Pearl and Talk, see them added at the end of this Chapter.

22. Geodes, Lapis Geodes, Λιθόγεωδης, The Geodate. It is drying and binding; steeped in water, it helps the Inflammations of the Eyes. It is of the nature or kind of the Eagle-Stone, and so in like manner preserves the Conception, and accelerates the Birth. It is found, as Wecker saith, in Saxonia, and Misna.

23. Granatum, The Granate. It is a shining transparent Gem, of a yellow red, almost like fire, or Minium. being a kind of Hyacinth, and is either Oriental, or Occidental: the first are brought to us out of Ethiopia, the other from Spain and Silesia. The Oriental are the best, but the Shops have none but the Occidental: and therefore you must be contented with them or none. Being prepared, they dry, corroborate, resist Poyson, take away Melancholy, cure palpitation of the Heart, stop spitting of Blood, open Obstructions, break, dissolve, and expel the Stone, &c.

24. Gypsum, Gessum, Giespin,

Γύψος, Plaster. It is used by Fullers, instead of Fullers Earth: it dries, is emplaistic, and applied with the white of an Egg, stops Bleeding: if calcin'd, it dries more, but it is less glutinous.

25. Heliotropium, the Heliotrope. It is a Solar Stone, and a kind of Jasper, being of a green colour, with red spots upon it, esteemed by some for a sort of Blood-stone. It resists Poyson, and stops bleeding in any part: The other Virtues are the same with the Jasper. Some take this for the true Blood-stone, not the following.

26. Hematites, Scedenigi, Λιθόαιματίνης. The Blood-Stone. It is found in Iron Mines in Germany and Bohemia, of a black, yellowish, or iron colour: The best is brittle, very black and even, free from Filth, and of a Cinnabar-like colour. It cools, dries, astringes, glutinates, and therefore helps Ulcers of the Eyes and Lungs; is good against the Gout, Fluxes of the Womb and Belly; spitting Blood and bleeding at Nose. Dose inwardly ʒ gr. xx. ad ʒi. or ʒiij. Dioscorides saith, That mixt with Womens Milk, it helps bleed Eyes and Suffusions. It is to be reduced into a most subtil Powder by Levigation with Plantane Water. If you distil it by a Retort, it yields a Spirit, in Scent, Taste and Virtues like that of Vitriol. Some wear it bound to the Arm, to stop bleeding at Nose. If you drop a Solution of Sal Armoniac into the Oil, a Sudorific Powder of a pleasant gold colour will precipitate.

27. Hybernicus Lapis, Lapis Hyberniæ, bernia, Irish Slat. It comes from Ireland; but I have found much growing in England. It is often used against Bruises, in place of Sperma Ceti, and is said to be very effectual against Quartan Agues. Dose à \mathfrak{ij} . ad \mathfrak{ij} . in Posset-Drink, or Broth.

28. Hyacinth, Lapis Hyacinthinus, Ἰακινθῶς, the Jacinth. It is a transparent Gem of a yellow red, or flame-like colour, and is either Oriental or Occidental. The Oriental almost like natural Minium are the best: the Occidental found by the River Isera in the Confines of Silesia, of a Saffron or transparent Amber-like colour, are the worse. It strengthens the heart much, and is a present Remedy against Poyson, Plague, and Pestilential Infection: For which it is both taken inwardly, and worn as an Amulet upon the heart. It is also a Specific against the Cramp and Convulsion, causes rest, and stops Fluxes of Blood. If any one be infected with the Plague which wears it, it straightway loseth its Colour: So also in fair weather it is clear, in foul weather dull. Salt, or Magistery of Jacinths. R. Jacinth not broken, Sulphur vive, ana, calcine in a strong Crucible covered with a Tile, in a Circular Fire, till all the Sulphur is consumed; then wash it well, and Calcine it again in a Circular Fire, with as much Nitre, till it be a red Mass like Metal: afterwards edulcorate it in hot Water till the Nitre is not perceived by the taste. Dry and powder it, and with Vinegar distilled with Turpentine; dissolve all the Powder, except a few faces at bottom, then filter the Solution, and either abstract to dryness, so have you a Sweet Salt; or precipitate with Oil of Tartar, so have you a Magistery. Dose à gr. x. ad \mathfrak{ij} . in the said cases. Hartman.

29. Jaspe, Ἰάσπις, ὀλίαν, Jabulum, the Jasper. It is green, brought out of India, Persia, Cyprus, Phrygia, &c. But there are several that are Sky-coloured, White and Red, &c. It is used as an Amulet against Phantasms and Witchcraft, as Galen, Rucus, and Myline affirm. Tied to the Thigh of a Woman in Labour, it facilitates the Birth. Aldrovandus saith, worn on the Breast, it helps the Epilepsie, Pain of the Stomach and Colick. It is of the nature of the Blood-Stone; for it not only stops bleeding at Nose, and other Fluxes of Blood, but also Flux of the Terms.

30. Judaicus Lapis, Tecolintbos, Phenicitos, Syrinchus, Ἰουδαίος, Jews-Stone. It comes from Judea and Silesia, being a little round Stone, almost like an Olive, tender and brittle, with Fleaks the long way, at equal distances, as if it was done by a Turner. It is said to be both Male and Female; of which some of the Males are as long as one's little Finger. It is a Specific against the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, and the Stoppage of Urine. Salt or Magistery of Jew-Stone; Calcine it with Sulphur, dissolve it in Vinegar, distilled with Honey, or Spirit of Salt, filter, and abstract, so have you a Salt; or precipitate with Oil of Tartar, and edulcorate, so have you a Magistery. Dose ad gr. x. or \mathfrak{xij} . for the aforesaid Intentions: The levigated Powder of the Stone, and is good for the same purpose.

31. Lazuli Lapis, Cyanus, Ceruleus, Stellans, Azuris, Kuvye & Al-00, the Azure Stone. It is found in Gold, Silver, and Copper Mines, being a Stone like a Sapphir, or the Flowers of Cyanus, or blue Bottle, furnished with golden Veins or Flames, and is something harder than the Armenian Stone. It is of two sorts, Oriental, or Occidental: The Oriental is fixed, so as that it endures the Fire without changing Colour: The Occidental found in Germany is not fixed: The Virtues are the same with the Armenian Stone, only this is weaker in operation. It chiefly purges Melancholy, opens obstructions of the Spleen, cures Vapors in the Head, Vertigo's, Megrims, Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Quartan Agues, Palles Fits of the Mother, and other Diseases arising from Melancholy; you may give of the fine or levigated Powder à ʒij. ad ʒj. or more: some wear it about the Neck, as an Amulet against Frights in Children, and to prevent Abortion; but it ought to be removed at the time of Delivery, lest it hinder the Birth. Of this Stone is made that glorious colour call'd Ultramarine: first see our Poligraphicos, Lib. 3. Cap. 30. Sect. 13. Of the Armenian Stone is made Azure. 1. The washing of Lapis Lazuli. Let the levigated Powder be washed often in Rose-water, that it may be divested of Acrimony and Burning. It has the Virtues aforesaid. 2. Magistery of Lapis Lazuli. Either put the crude Powder into Spirit of Salt: Or, as Quercetan advises, first calcine it with Sulphur, then dissolve in Spirit of Vinegar: and lastly, precipitate with Oil of Tartar. It is excellent against burning Fevers: Dose ʒi. 3. Elixir of Lapis Lazuli. Dissolve the Stone calcined in Aq. Vit. or S. V.

It is a wonderful thing (according to the Opinion of Fioravantis) in the Cure of Malignant Fevers, and the worst of Ulcers: It cures also Melancholy, and is an especial Remedy against the Gout. Dose a Spoonful. 4. Salt, or Crystals of Lapis Lazuli. Rx. The Stone calcin'd white, grind it on a Marble; boil it in distilled Vinegar for seven or eight hours: decant, and put it into an unglazed earthen Pot, long and narrow at mouth, stop it close with Wax, set it in a cold Cellar, and in few days the downy Crystals or Salt will sweat abroad, which gather, letting it stand still for more. It has the aforesaid Virtues, is purging, and an excellent thing to quicken other Purges with. 5. Essence of Lapis Lazuli. Calcine Lapis Lazuli, by extinguishing of it ten times in S. V. then powder and wash it with Angelica Water, and digest it in S. V. for forty days; abstract, and the Essence will be at bottom. Hartman gives it à gr. x. ad xx. But Experience tells us, it may be given to ʒs. It cures Melancholy, Madness and Mange, and also Fevers, chiefly Quartans.

32. Ligurius, the Ligure. It is a kind of Jacinth; having its Virtues.

32. Lynx Lapis, Lyncurius, Belemites, Dactylus Idæus, λυσκουριον, The Lynx-Stone. It receives its name either from its Matter, or its Form. It is called the Lynx-Stone from its Matter, because it is said to be generated of a Lynx's Urine: Belemites, from its likeness to an Arrow; and Dactylus Idæus, from its in resemblance to the Idæan date, or that which grows upon Mount Ida. It is a shining Stone almost like Amber, and is found in Germany, Pomerania, Helvetia, Borussia, &c. It is an excellent Lithontrip-tic and Vulnerary; it cures the Pleurisie and Night-Mare, and pre- vails against Witchcraft. Dose in- wardly in Powder à gr. xx. ad 3j. Cæsius saith, it cures the jaundice, and pain of the Reins. Dioscorides saith, drunk in water, it strengthens the Stomach, and helps the Flux of the Belly. Scroder saith, if it be old it stinks, nor can it be taken away by burning.

34. Lapis Humanus, Λιθ. Στ. Stone from a Man. It is found both in the Reins and Bladder. It opens Obstructions, breaks, dis- solves, and expels the Stone, and is good against Tartar in any part of the Body. See lib. 2. cap. 1. sect. 8. of this Dispensatory.

35. Magnes Nauticus, Lapis Sideritis, Heracleus, Herculeus, Λιθ. Μαγνήτις, The Magnet or Loadstone. It is of a Metallic or Iron matter, found in Germa- ny, Norway, England and Italy, about Iron Mines. Cæsius saith, It is of an attractive Force, in- so much as that we see it draws Iron, and other Loadstones to it. Mylius saith, it cures the Drop- sic, by exhausting the humidi- ty, the Powder thereof being drunk: so also it loosens the Bel- ly, and, as some think, being ta- ken in a small quantity, preserves Youth. Galen affirms, it has the Virtues of the Hematis or Blood- stone, especially in stopping of Blood; and therefore (as Diof- corides saith) some boil it, and sell it for the same. Scroder saith, that being calcin'd, it purges thick and melancholic humors. The Calx made into a Plaster with Wax, is said to be of extra- ordinary Force against the Gout. If the Stone is weak, it is repaired by cementing it with Lime at a gentle Fire, and then quenching of it in the Solution or Oil of Mars. That which is of the Col- our of Iron is best. It is an In- gredient in the Weapon Salve, and Aldrovandrus saith, it helps Gonorrhæa's in Women. Kircherus saith, it is wholly of the nature of Iron, and taken in Mulse, opens Obstructions of the Spleen, and helps the Dropsie. Worn about the Neck it helps Convulsions, and pain of the Nerves: held in the hand, it is said to accelerate the Birth. It ought to be kept hanged up, that it may have its natural Position, and is to be fed with filing of Steel wrap- ped up in a purple Cloth, to pre- serve it.

36. Marcastea, Lapis Molarij, Mill-stone. Hippocrates and Al- drovandrus say, it is used to cause Conception: powdred, and mixt with Rosin, and applied, it dries up milk in Womens breasts, and is used against hard Cherades. Paulus substituteth it instead of the Fire- Stone.

37. Margarita, Perla, Unio, Lapis Erythraeus, μαργαρίτης, Pearl. See our Polygraphices. Lib. 4. Cap. 36. Sect. 6. and Cap. 37. Sect. 14. They are either Oriental, or Oc- cidental; found in Sea Shell- Fish; the first near the Persian, or Indian Ocean; the latter upon the Coast of Scotland, Silesia, and athos other Western parts of the world, but they are nothing near so good as the Oriental. Those which are great and perforated, are thought ripier and better, than those which are not; Aldrovandus saith, they are cold and dry, consume Moisture, strengthen and comfort the heart, revive the Spirits, and refresh all the principal parts. In Collyriums they cleanse the Eyes of filth, take off films, and strengthen the Optick nerves. Ruesus saith, they cure Melancholy, help those which are subject to Cardiack Passions, and defend against all Pestilential diseases. They are good against the Liente-ria and flux of the belly, proceeding from the slipperiness of the Intestines, by reason of which the food passes undigested. Mylius says, they help the trembling of the heart, giddiness of the head, and are good against soundings. They are put into Manus Christi against faintings: The same Mylius affirms, that they stop fluxes of blood and the Terms, cure Fevers, cleanse the teeth, and make them white. Paracelsus saith, they are an Excellent Cordial, strengthen the Balsam of Life and resist Poyson, Putrefaction and the Plague. Schoder saith, they are so famous that men in the greatest Agonies are refreshed thereby. From my own experience this I can affirm, that they are one of the best of Remedies against all sorts of Fevers, chiefly violent burning and Pestilential Fevers, cure heart-burning beyond other Medicines, and are the chief of all cordial Medicaments; they are prepared several ways, (which you may see at the end of this Chapter) but the crude powder is in my opinion much beyond the Salt or Magistrary.

38. Marmor, Maquap ☉, Marble. There are several kinds thereof, as the White, Black, Green, Led, &c. Alabaster, is one of the kinds thereof: See it Sect. 3. aforegoing; so also are Opbites and Porphyrites. Galen saith, that Marble taken inwardly breaks the Stone: heated and laid to the sides and belly, it eases the Colick, pain of the sides and Pleurisie; and so also laid to the feet a little before the fit it cures Quartans.

39. Nephriticus Lapis, Aith ☉, The Nephritic Stone. It is green, sometimes of a whitish green, or yellowish, or sky-coloured with green; or of a pale green, mixed with yellow, blue or black; found in Spain, both old and new, and also in Bohemia: Schroder saith, that there are pieces so big, as that they make Pots thereof, but it cannot be exactly polished, because the Superficies always sweats with Fat, as if anointed with Oil. Mylius saith, it expels the Stone and Gravel, being tied to the Arm. Schroder commends it against the pain of the Stomach and Reins, but especially against the Stone; and to expel Gravel, the which it cures, being tied to the Arm or Hip, or worn in Bracelets about the Neck. Tied to the Thigh, it facilitates Delivery.

40. Onyx, Onyx ☉, The Onyx Stone. It is a precious Gem, having the colour of the Nail of a Man's hand, So says Hieronymus.
Onyx

Onyx Gemma est, unguem humanum referens, eaque polita & Nitens. It was better known to the Ancients than to us. Modern Physicians call the Alabaster by the name of Onyx, but that is an Error. This Stone worn as an Amulet strengthens and fortifies the heart, and represseth Phantasms: It provokes Lust, and puts away Melancholy.

41. Opalus. The Opal. It is a precious Stone of divers Colours, wherein appears the fiery shining of the Carbuncle: The purple Colour of the Amethyst, and the beautiful Green of the Emerald, all very strongly and curiously mixt with incredible light or shining; insomuch that Horstius saith, Nihil inter Gemmas pulchrius esse potest, no Gem is more glorious. It has all the Virtues of the Ruby, Amethyst and Smaragdus: There is a false Opal, called Pseudopalum, and Oculum Cati, or the Cats-Eye; and by Isidore, Ophthalmicus, The Eye-stone, but it is less glorious than the true Opal. Panthera est alius Lapis, ex Opalorum genere qui à pardalis, seu Pantheræ animalis variegato colore nominatur, for so says Macer.

Pantheram patet esse feram diversicolorem.

It is reported to have as many Virtues as it has Colours, but what they are, Authours are something silent in.

42. Ophites Serpentinus, The Ophite; a kind of very hard Marble, of a dark green, having spots like a Serpent, from whence it is denominated. It is eminently good against Head-aches, and stinging of Serpents, being bound to the part afflicted: Dioscorides saith, that those Ophites or Serpentine with Lines cure the Head-ach, Lethargy, and Small-Pox.

43. Ostiacolla, Ossifragus, Ostreæ, Osteolithos, Holostem, Sabulosus, The Bone-binder. It is a Stone almost like a Bone, white or ash-coloured, and sometimes resembling Coral, found in Silesia, Saxonia, and the Palatinæ. Schroder saith, it speedily glews broken Bones together, producing a matter fit for a Callus, and so hastning the Consolidation; the lævigated powder is inwardly given à ʒi. ad ʒij. and outwardly used in Pustules and Plaisters. Aldrovandus, saith, it ought to be mixt with Oyntment of Crows-bill Roots, or with red Wine. It dries, and binds without sharpness, and resists Plague and Poyson.

44. Phrygius, Lapis Phrygiæ, Lith. ὀφρύς, The Phrygian Stone. It causes crusts after the manner of fire, yet mixed with Wax it helps burnings. Dioscorides saith, it both astringes and purges: and Galen says, it dries much, and is profitable against putrid Ulcers, wash it as Cadmia.

45. Porphyrites, The Porphyry Stone or Red Marble. Taken inwardly it breaks and expels the Stone: The Virtues are the same with the Ophite, which see Sect. 42. aforegoing.

46. Pumex, Lapis Bibulum, Kromels, The Pumice Stone. It is a white, light, dry, spongy, porous Stone;

Stone, full of holes, easily broken, and free from Sand, found chiefly in Germany. It cools, dries, cleanses Ulcers, incarnates and skins. Schroder saith, the Powder or Calx is us'd in Eye-Medicines, Dentifrices, and Sternutatories. Theophrastus says, being taken inwardly, it hinders Drunkenness, unless a very great quantity of Drink be taken after it: you may burn it thrice, quenching it every time in Wine, then wash it in fair water, and dry it. But Boetius calcines thrice without quenching, and then reduces it to Powder.

47. Pyrites, Lapis Luminis, Lapis Aërius, Αἰθῆρ Πνεύματος, the Stone. It is two-fold, viz. either of a Golden or Silver Colour: both heat, dry, discuss Humors, and soften hard Swellings. Dioscorides saith, it clears the Eye-sight. Aldrogandus saith, that mixed with the Gum of the Pine-Tree, it dissipates Swellings, and helps Fellons, and with Vinegar takes away Morpew, Lentils, and moistness of the Skin. Taken inwardly, it stops Womens Fluxes; and, as Cardan saith, lessens the Spleen. Zenardus saith, it serves to strike Fire with. It is found in Persia, Cyprus, and Goslaria. That is the best which is of the colour of Brass.

48. Rubinus, Carbunculus, Pyropus, Apyropus, Ἀπυρραῖος, the Ruby or Carbuncle. It is either White or Red. The White are unripe; for that is their primary colour; then, as they grow to perfection, they grow to a Rose Red, then Red like Blood or Gum-lake: The best come from Zeilan, and the River Pegu; the worse and lesser are found in Calicut, Bisnagar, Coria, and Cambia, being found in the same Mines with the Sapphire. It is a most transparent red Gem, and so hard as not to be toucht with a File. The best are the hardest and coldest (which you may perceive by your mouth and tongue) and such (as Isidore saith) shine in the dark. Mylius saith, that being drunk, it restrains Lust, preserves the Body, removes ill Cogitations, strengthens the vital Spirits, and makes a Man lively and chearful. Schroder saith, that it resists Poyson, and preserves from the Plague. It is worn also as an Amulet for all the purposes aforesaid; and so, if a Man be in any danger, it changes its colour, and becomes dim; but being past, it recovers it again. Pliny (lib. 37. cap. 7.) saith, it is a Gem shining with a light-like Fire, resembling a Flame.

49. Samius Lapis, Lapis Insule Samos, Αἰθῆρ Σάμου, the Samos Stone. Dioscorides saith, it is cold and astringent: being drunk, it helps them which cannot digest their Food, but vomit it up again: applied as the Eagle Stone, it both preserves Conception, and accelerates the Birth: mixt with Milk, it helps Ulcers, and Fluxions of the Eyes. It is good also against Melancholy, the Vertigo, Falling-Sickness, and Stoppage of Urine. The best is hard and white, which, as Isidore saith, is good to polish Gold with.

50. Sapphirus, Sapphir, Gemma Gemmarum, Σάπφειρος, the Sapphire.

It is either Oriental, or Occidental, and of each there are Male and Female. The Oriental are found in Zilan, Calcut B. Snagar, Canaor, and Pegu, in which last place are the best. The Occidental are found in Silesia and Bohemia. It is a glorious, clear transparent Blue, or Sky-coloured Stone, these are the Males. The Females are white and unripe, so they want colour. The most transparent and deep coloured, are easily divested of that Beauty, by a little heat of the Fire. It is cold and dry, astringent, glutinative, Ophthalmic, Cordial, Alexipharmic, and Analeptic. Dioscorides and Matthiolus say, it is good taken inwardly against inward exulcerations; takes away Excrescencies, Haws or Pustles in the Eye, and glews together the broken Tunicles thereof. Mylius saith, it comforts and strengthens the Body; cures Diseases of the Skin, causes a good Colour, and resists Melancholy and Witchcraft. Applied to the Pulses, it cures Agues. Schroder says, it cools Inflammations, and dries up Rheums in the Eyes, used in Collyries, or applied with washed Butter. It is prevalent against all Fluxes of the Belly, the Disentery, Liver-Flux, Hæmorrhoids, &c. It stops spitting of Blood, taken in Poppy-Water; strengthens the Heart, revives the Spirits, resists Plague, Poyson, and malignant Fevers. The Stone laid whole to the Forehead, stays the bleeding at Nose. You may dissolve it in Juice of Lemons, or Spirit of Vinegar, and so use it: drunk in Wine, it helps against the stinging of Scorpions. You may also beat it into Powder, and levigate it with Rose-Water. 1. Salt of Sapphirs. Calcine the Stone with its double weight of Sulphur, sweeten with distilled water, and dry it: macerate it in S. V. dry again, what remains at bottom calcine again, and distil it so often with S. V. till it melts in Wine like Snow: abstract the S. V. so have you the Salt. 2. Oil or Liqueur of Sapphirs. It is made of the former Salt per deliquium, set in a moist Cellar. 3. Essence of Sapphirs. Dissolve the Stone (being twice calcined) in Oil of Vitriol, which abstract, and with S. V. extract the Essence or Tincture. The Salt, Oil and Essence, have all the aforesaid Vertues: of the Salt you may give à gr. iij. ad viij. of the Oil and Essence à gut viij. ad xvi. or xx. in any convenient Vehicle.

51. Sardonix, Lapis Sardonicus, Σαρδύρις, the Sardonix. It is brought out of the Indies, and from Arabia. It is of many Colours; some resemble the Rainbow; some are white, some blackish, and some cloudy. Horstius saith, Sardonix tanquam utriusque (speaking of the Onyx and Sardius) particeps hujus & illius habet colorem, hoc est, veluti unguem hominis carnibus impositum, & utrinque transveridum refert. Mylius saith, it resists Venery, and makes Chaste, yet makes Chearful, taking away the heaviness of the mind. It has the Vertues of both the Sardius and Onyx, of the natures of both which it participates; you may use it in an Amulet about the Neck, or wear it in a Ring.

52. Sardius, Sarda, Corneolus, Cornerina, Σαρδις, the Cornelian Stone. Alcafer saith, it is the Original of the Amethyst, which which opinion of his is very probable, the Sardius being an unripe Stone; he saith, it cures Tumors and Wounds made by Iron, cheers the heart, and causeth Joy. Aldrovand saith, the Powder of it whitens the Teeth; and some have proved it good against an Hæmorrhage. Schroder saith, the Powder of it taken inwardly, stops all Fluxes, and is a Specific in stopping of Blood: used as the Eagle Stone, it prevents Miscarriage. It is of various colours, some are red, others like flesh, or bloody water; some a little bloody, others of a yellowish red. The Babylonish, and those found in Sardinia, are the best: the Indian and Arabian are good, so those in Silesia.

53. Schistus, Ischistus Isidori, Al-θ 9505, the Cleaving Stone. It is certainly a kind of Talck, and admits of the same preparations; but Dioscorides says, it is of the nature of the Blood-Stone; yet not altogether so effectual: with Womens Milk it fills up hollow Ulcers, and is reported to be good against the Piles: Aldrovand saith, it is good against Ruptures, and defects of the Eyes. It is brought to us out of Germany.

45. Silex, Lapis, Talicens & Vivus, Χάλιξ, the Flint. It is a Stone harder than Marble: Some are black, some cloudy, some white, and some I have seen with a thick, white, crusty outside, which when broken, have been as transparent as Crystal. Flints are hot and dry, discussive, digestive, and resolute: they open Obstructions, and dissolve the Stone, and Tartarous Mucilage in the Lungs, or other parts. Outwardly they are used to cleanse the Teeth. There are several preparations of them, of which the Calcination, Salt, Oil, Tincture, and Cream; or Crystals, are the chief. 1. To calcine Flints. Heat them red hot leisurely, then quench them in fair water, which so often repeat, till they fall into a fine Calx. 2. Salt of Flints. R. Calx of Flints aforesaid, and extract the Salt thereof with Vinegar, or distilled Vinegar, as Quercetan advises. It powerfully dissolves and expels the Stone. Dose à gr. vj. ad xv. or xx. 3. Oil or Liqueur of Flints. It is made of the Salt per deliquium. Or thus (as we have taught in our Polygraphices, Lib. 3. Cap. 29. Sect. 57.) R. Of pure Salt of Tartar in Powder 3xx. small Sand, Flints, Pebbles or Crystal, in fine Powder 3v. mix them, and put as much of this as will fill an Egg-shell into a Crucible, set it into a Furnace, and make it red hot, and presently there will come over a thick and white Spirit: take out the Crucible whilst it is hot, (that which is in it being like transparent Glass) keep it as much as may be from the Air, beat it into Powder whilst warm, and lay it in a moist place, to dissolve into a thick fat Oil. It has all the Virtues of the Salt, and is given in the same Dose. This Oil precipitates Metals, and make the Calx thereof heavy. It is of a Golden Nature, and extracts Colours and Tinctures from all Minerals. It is fixed in all Fires, makes fine Crystals and Borax, and matures imperfect Metals into Gold. 4. Cream, or Crystals of Flints. It is made of the Liqueur of Flints last described, by keeping of it a long time in a Cellar, that the Crystals may shoot at the bottom very clear and transparent, while the Oil ascends and swims at the top. They have the Virtues of the Salt, and may be given to 3's. or more, being much pleasanter; they will easily dissolve in water.

5 Tincture of Flints. R. Of the matter (of which our latter Oyl of Flints is made) being powder'd whilst it was warm, put upon it the high st rectified S. V. (else you will do nothing) that it may cover it four Inches high, with which extract the Tincture, as you do that of Salt of Tartar: decant it, from which, if you please, you may abstract or distil, two thirds of the S. V. It has all the Virtues of the Tincture of Salt of Tartar, which see in its place. But some think that these preparations of Flints are not safe, and that their use may breed Stones where there is none; because if you mix the Oil of Flints with equal parts of any other Corrosive Acid, they immediately coagulate into a Stone: But this opinion is built upon a Sandy Foundation; not Truth, as in some other place we may have leisure to explicate.

55. Smaragdus, Prasinus, Zamarat, Zoisel, &c. the Emerald. It is a clear transparent Gem, of a very beautiful and glorious Green colour, and is either Oriental or Occidental. The Oriental are the harder, more beautiful and precious: found in Scythia, Egypt, and Cyprus. The Occidental are worse, being had in Peru, and several parts of Euripe. The Levigated powder of it being drunk is a Specifick against all Fluxes whatsoever, especially the Dysentery, proceeding of sharp, corrosive humours, or from some Venemous matter taken in, as Poyson, and such like. It is also good against bitings of Serpents, Mad-dogs, &c. it is an Antidote against the Plague, and all malign and pestilential Fevers. Mylius saith, it strengthens the Memory, and is good against the Vertigo and Epilepsie. Isidore saith, it has the greenest colour of all things; which is so constant and firm that it is not changed by the Shade, Light or Sun. Dose of it inwardly a gr. vi. ad x. It is also used as an Amulet to all the aforesaid intentions, chiefly the Epilepsie. Applied to the Belly it prevents Abortion; but to the Hip, it accelerates the Birth: held in the Mouth, it stops bleeding at Nose, &c. Sal & Tinctura Smaragd. R. The levigated powder to which put spirit of Urine (with some flgm in it) acuated with its own Salt, or instead thereof distil water of Persicary or Poppy acuated with the said Salt of Urine; digest to extract the colour, then abstract the spirit by distillation, so have you in the bottom an extract or gray Salt, from which (without sweetening of it) with S. V. you may extract a Tincture of a wonderful delicate Green, which abstract to a due consistence. It is the greatest Specifick yet known in curing the bloody Flux, and all other Fluxes whatsoever, of which Hartman hath given a sufficient commendation. It helps also Diseases of the Head and Heart; 'tis good against fainting, panting of the Heart, Melancholy, swoounding Fits, Megrim, Vertigo tigo and Frenzy. Dose à gr. vj. ad x. or xij.

56. Smyris, Σμυρίς λίθος, Smyris (a Stone which Glaiers use to cut Glaz with instead of a Diamond.) It is a Stone found in the earth of Samos. Dioscorides saith it is used in Plaisters to consume and eat, as also in Denticies to dry up the moisture of the Gums. Matthiolus saith, the powder of it serves to polish Gems withal, and all sorts of Arms. Galen saith, it is absterfive.

57. Specularis, Selenites, Alumen, Scaiole, The Specular Stone. It is found in Muscovia, Spain, Saxony, Turing, and Misia, is clear and bright like Crystal, and flakey. It is generally white, but sometimes of divers colours: as black, dun or honey coloured. Casius saith, that the crude powder is excellent against the Bloody Flux drunk in aultere Wine; burnt, it is like Gypsum, and choaks such as take it. The said powder is good against the Epilepsie, Hæmorrhoids, pissing a Bed, Fistula's, &c. It is chiefly used (as Schroder saith) to whiten Womens Faces, and to take away wrinkles.

58. Spongites, lapis Spongiæ, Cystolichis, λίθος εν τοῖς σπόγγις, The Sponge Stone. Schroder saith, it is good to break the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, and dissolves Tumors of the Kings-evil, being mixt with Sal Gem and Tartar, and drunk in a mans own Urine every morning fasting.

59. Talcum, Phengites, Stella Terre, Talk or Talc. It is brought from Muscovia and Venice: and is almost like the Specular Stone, but thinner, scaly, greenish, resisting the fire and fixed: That which is greenish is best. Its chief use is, for a fucus for the Face, being well prepared: of which in our Poligraphices, Lib. 4. Cap. 37. Sect. 1. & 5. you may see some excellent preparations.

60. Topasis, Τοπάσις, the Topaz. It is a Stone found in Zeilan and Arabia, a kind of Ruby, of which there are two several sorts, viz. The Prasoids and Chrysoper, Aldrovandus saith, they are of a Solar Nature, strengthen the Vital Spirits, chears the Heart, resists Melancholy, and stop Fluxes of Blood. Alcasor saith, that the Topaz is excellent against Madnes, but it varies its Virtues, according to the variation of the Moon. It stops the Bleeding of wounds immediately if applied. Mylius saith, it is good against the Dropsie and Tabes. Paracelsus saith, it shines in the Night; and Strabo saith, it is of such excellent splendor, that in the day-time it can scarcely be looked upon, exceeding, as Bercherius saith, all Jewels in brightness, and as Pliny saith, all Jewels in bigness: you may take the Levigated powder, inwardly à gr. viij. ad xvj. or you may make a Salt and Tincture as of Emeralds; or wear it outwardly as an Amulet to all the intentions aforesaid.

61. Turchis, The Turkey Stone. It is of a dark Sky-colour, and sometimes greenish withal, or greenish blew. Mylius saith, it revives the Spirits, refreshes the Heart, and strengthens the Eye-sight. If the bearer of it be not well, it changes colour and looks dim. Ruellius saith, saith it is a great friend to the eye-sight, comforting of it.

62. Unicornu fossile, Cornu fossile: Ebur fossile, Ceretites lapu, The Unicorn Stone. It is a Stone of the colour, smoothness and form of a Horn, found in Germany, Moravia, Silesia and Saxony. It has been often found so great and thick, as could never be produced from an Animal; sometimes soft, sometimes hard, but always stony (yet softer within than without) brittle, close, without pores, sticking to the Tongue, and of a pleasant scent. It is dry and binding, good against Fluxes of the belly, Gonorrhæa, Whites, Hæmorrhage. Piles, Fainting, Sounding and the Falling-sickness. It cicatrizes Ulcers, and in Collyries helps Rheumatick Eyes. Aldrovand saith, that the powder given ad ʒi. or ʒiv. in Wine, expels Poyson, is Cardiack, provokes Sweat, and drives the Malignity outward. Some say, it has the Virtues of the Earth of Lemnos.

Certain Preparations of CORAL, PEARL and TALCK.

I. Of CORAL.

63. Prepared Coral.

It is done by beating in an Iron Mortar, then levigating of the powder on a Marble, adding a little Rose-water, till it becomes impalpable, and then making it up into little balls.

The Vertues you may see, Lib. 1. Cap. 4. Sect. 179: of this Dispensatory. Dose ʒi. ad ʒi.

64. To Calcine Corals.

It is done either by Fire or by Corrosion: that by fire is either Gentle, Violent or resin-dry.

The Gentle, is done by a Reverberating fire of the second Degree, lest the colour should exhale. The Violent, is done by a Reverberating fire, first Gentle, and then gradually increasing the heat, till the whole body of the Coral is become spongy and light, which it will be in about three days. The Resin-dry thus: heat the Coral red hot, quench it often in distilled Vinegar to dissolve it, then filter and abstract, so have you Salt of Coral, to be dissolved per deliquium. The Corrosive Calcination is either by Niter or Sulphur. That by Niter is thus. R. Coral, Niter powdered apart, ana. mix and Calcine either in a Crucible or Tubulated Retort, first heat red hot, having also a Receiver fixed to it: cast the matter in gradatim, presently stopping the Tube; and when all the matter is cast in, stop it quite up, Calcining with a Constant fire for a Day and Night, with this Hartman made a Tin-cture. That by Sulphur thus. R. Coral, Niter powdered apart, ana. Calcine with a circular fire for about two hours: Then cast all red hot into distilled Vinegar, (ʒi. of the matter to ʒij. of Vinegar.) stop the Vessel, digest 20 days and extract.

65. To dissolve Corals.

They are dissolved by distilling Vinegar, juice of Barberries, Melons, Citrons, Spirit of May-dew acuated with its own Salt, Tears of the Birch-tree, Spirit of Honey, Viterick, Sulphur, and S.V. acuated with the same, Flegm of Lead, burning Spirit of Coral; and fair water also, if the Coral be Calcined with Sulphur:

The

The precipitation is done with Oyl of Tartar, Vitriol or Sulphur, the edulcoration with fair water.

66. Corallium Vitriolatum, Vitriolated Coral.

R. Lævigated Coral, Spirit of Vitriol. A. ℥ij. Rose-water ℥vj. mix them in a Crucible, and let them boyl for a season: when the ebullition ceases, digest a few hours in B.M. then decant the inspid water, so have you a harsh white Calx, without sharpness.

The simple lævigated powder much exceeds this in Virtue, and far more excellently destroys acidities.

67. Sal Coralliorum, Salt of Coral.

Dissolve red Coral in Spirit of Vinegar, or juyce of Barberries and Lemons, or sharp Spirit of Guaiacum, Spirit of Vitriol or Spirit of Salt, or S.V. acuated with Spirit of Vitriol, or Salt, digest a while, then filter and abstract.

Here is to be noted, 1. That if you, use the Solution without separation of the Menstruum, it ought to be circulated a while, to lose its Acrimony. 2. Some take juyce of Lemons purified ℥ij. Liquor of the Birch-tree, gathered in April ℥xij. mix and boyl to the consumption of ℥x. to the remainder and juyce of Lemons ℥ijs. distill often and rectifie: in this Hartman dissolves Coral, Pearl, &c. and gives the Solution. 3. Paracelsus first calcines gently in a Reverberatory with Niter, ana, then dissolves by digestion in S.V. after abstracts the S.V. and dissolves the Salt per deliquium. It cures Heart-burnings, Faintings, Soundings, Feavers, and all malign Distempers;

Dose à gr. x. ad xx. or xxx. See the rest of the Virtues, Lib. 1. Cap. 4. Sect. 179. Note, some dissolve with Spirit of Sulphur.

68. Sal Coralliorum dulce, sweet Salt of Coral.

Calcine it in a Potters Furnace for two days till it is white; Dissolve in distilled Vinegar, in a warm place for 8 or 10 days, so have you a red solution: abstract with a gentle fire to dryness, then dissolve often in May-dew, filter and coagulate to dryness, which digest a Month in hot ashes till it is sweet.

It has the Virtues of the former Salt. Where note, that if the distilled Vinegar be three times cohobated upon the Herb Kal, it will be less biting, yet strong enough to make the dissolution.

69. Liquor Coralliorum, Liquor of Corals.

It is made of the Salt per deliquium, in July or August, for then it melts best. Or thus. R. Coral in powder ℥ij. Lapis prunella ℥ijs. calcine them three hours, then beat it and melt per deliquium: Or thus: Digest the solution of Coral 20 days, or till it turn red, then add distilled Vinegar, and purge the Salt by many solutions and coagulations; lastly circulate with S.V. till it comes to an Oyl.

This has all the Virtues of Coral, besides which it is powerful against the Stone. Dose à gr. v. ad gr. xij. or xv.

70. Magisterium Coralliorum, Magistery of Coral.

Dissolve lævigated Coral in Spirit of Radicate Vinegar, that it may overtop it the breadth of three or four fingers; digest in ashes, then decant the solution, putting on more Vinegar, till the residue is dissolved, filter and with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, precipitate, so will a white powder fall to the bottom, which sweeten by washing with Cordial waters and dry.

Here is to be noted, 1. That some use Spirit of Sulphur to make the dissolution, because it dissolves in less quantity, for less charge, in less time, and performs the work better. 2. That the difference between the Salt and Magistery is this: The Salt is the Calx of Coral impregnated with some of the acid Spirits of the Menstruum, incorporated in it by Crystallization. The Magistery is the said Calx freed from the said acids by washing: hence it is that the Salt is a little acid, the Magistery insipid. The Magistery of Coral is reported to have the Vertues of Coral; but simple levigated Coral is an hundred times before it. For the Vertue of Coral is to destroy acids and unnatural ferments (which are the cause of most Diseases:) if once its alkalious matter be satisfied, and weakened by an external agent, before it comes within the Body, Reason tells us it will be impossible for it to act at all within; a thing can be but full, and being full 'twill hold no more: Therefore I advise rather to the crude levigated powder. Note, That Radicate Vinegar is that which is distilled with Bay-salt in sand.

71. Flores Coralliorum, Flowers of Coral.

Dissolve Coral in distilled Vinegar and digest it 40 days then abstract the Menstruum, and with a stronger fire force up the flowers: they are also made by sublimation with Sal Armoniack, which wash and sweeten.

They are nothing but Coral purged, and have the same Vertues with the levigated powder.

72. Oleum Coralliorum cum Succino, Oyl of Coral with Amber.

R. Red Coral levigated ℥ij. Amber ℥ij. mix them and distil in a Retort: so will the Amber draw the Tincture of Coral like Blood, leaving in the bottom a white powder.

It is an excellent thing against all Diseases of the Head; as the Megrim, Vertigo, Falling-sickness, Apoplexy, Convulsion, &c. given à gr. iv. ad viij.

73. Spiritus & Oleum Coralliorum, Spirit and Oyl of Coral.

R. Salt of Coral purified by distilled Vinegar, and impregnated with distilled Vinegar till it will hold no more: Digest this impregnated Salt 20 days in B. M. then distil by a Retort in a close Reverberatory, or dry both, to evaporate the flegm, then in a large Receiver take the white spirits by themselves, continuing the fire, till the rest of the spirits come forth, blood red like Oyl, separate the spirit by a Retort from the Oyl which will remain in the bottom blood red. When the spirit of Vinegar is abstracted as sharp as it went on, it is fully impregnated.

It is a burning Spirit, and compound of Vinegar and Coral, serving to extract the Tincture of Coral with, as we shall hereafter teach.

74. Spiritus Coralliorum Compositus, Compound Spirit of Coral.

Rx. Salt or Magistery of Coral ℥vj. Terra Sigillata ℔ij. imbibe them with the aforesaid Oyl of Coral, enough to make them into a paste, of which make Balls: dry, and distil by a Retort as you do Spirit of Salt; then rectify it.

It cures the Scurvy, Stone, and Gout, and opens all manner of Obstructions.

75. Syrupus Coralliorum, Syrup of Coral.

Dissolve powder of red Coral of depurated juyce of Barberries or Lemons 4 or 5 Inches above it; then take off this solution (which is the Essence of Coral) p. ij. white Sugar, or Sugar-candy p. j. mix and boyl to a just thickness.

The Syrup cools and recreates the Spirits, powerfully restoring in Consumptions, and Hectick Feavers; it stops Fluxes of all sorts, as the Bloody-Flux, Whites, Terms, Gonorrhœa, spitting of Blood, &c. It also rectifies Dilempers of the Head, cures Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Convulsions, &c. Dose a Spoonful Morning and Evening. But here is to be noted. 1. That some make the solution in sharp Spirit of Juniper or Guaiacum. 2. That the dissolution ought to be made in a Glas close stoppt in the heat of a Bath. 3. That if any of the Coral remains undissolved, you ought still to put on fresh juyce. 4. That Quercetani (after the Sugar is mixt with the Solution) perfects the Syrup by Evaporation in B.M. (for 12 hours) till it is thick as Glew, lest the dissolved Coral should be separated from the Menstruum. 5. That after this manner you may make Syrup of other precious Stones.

76. Syrupus Coralliorum Mayher- ni, Dr. Mayherns Syrup of Coral.

Rx. Levigated powder of red Coral ℥viij. depurated juyce of Lemons ℥xxiv. Vinegar of Oak ℥xij. digest in B.M. ten days, stirring it thrice a day, then filter: Rx. Of this Solution ℥xxx. depurated juyce of Barberries ℥x. Tincture of Roses ℥viij. Sugar ℔ij. mix and boyl them gently to a Syrup, infusing therein whilst boyling yellow Sander ℥s. Wood of Aloes ℥ij. Ambergrise ℥ss. Musk gr. xij. tyed up in a fine thin rag.

It restores excellently in Consumptions, cures the Diarrhœa, Dysenteria, Lienteria, &c. and has all the Virtues of Coral and of the former Syrup. Dose ℥j. Morning and Evening.

77. Essentia Coralliorum, Essence of Corals.

Rx. The pure Salt or Magistery of Coral, Volatilize it by digestion in S.V. and distil (as we shall hereafter teach) then abstract the S.V. in a gentle B.M. so have you the Essence of Coral, which if you so please, drive through a Retort in Sand.

Here is to be noted. 1. That if you impregnate S.V. with Camphir (℥ss. to two quarts) it will the better carry the Essence of Coral through the Alembick. 2. That some dissolve and digest first with Spirit of Vinegar, abstracting and dissolving again; then with distilled Rain-water newly fallen; and lastly with S.V. 3. That Salts of Stones are Volatilized by many dissolutions, coagulations, and digestions in Horse-dung with Spirit of Wine, or other Spirit for fourteen or 20 days, and distilling often by a Retort; for after every Putrefaction some of the Salt ascends with the Menstruum. It has all the Virtues of Coral, but here they are much more exalted. Dose à gut. vi. ad xvi.

78. Magisterium e Corallis Quercetani, Quercetans Magistery of Coral.

Dissolve it in Spirit of Salt of Niter, or Spirit of Niter, and put to it distilled water: precipitate with Oyl of Sulphur, edulcorate and dry.

Where note, f. That some do it with A.F. of Salt and Allum. 2. That thus you may make Magisteries of Pearls, Bones, Harts-horns, Hoofs, Shells, &c. 3. Some do it in Magick Spirit. 4. Spirit of May-dew, or distilled Vinegar, then precipitate with Oyl of Sulphur per campanam. Lastly, digest with S.V. and abstract: so is there a Butter like Magistery, which will melt in the Mouth. All these Magisteries have the Virtues of that at Sect. 70. a. foresaid.

79. Tinctura Coralliorum Hartmanni, Hartmans Tincture of Corals.

R. Red Coral Lavigated, put to it the burning Spirit of Coral at Sect. 73. aforegoing: digest till it extracts a most red Tincture; if you free it from the Menstruum, and digest with S.V. by Cohobation, you have the Volatile Tincture of Coral of a sweet taste and fragrant smell. Or thus, according to the same Hartman. R. Calcined Coral, cast into S.V. highly rectified, or Spirit of May-dew, and in a short time there will be a Tincture, (the faeces remaining without any Virtue) coagulate it, and it will be very red, and a little sweet.

These Tinctures, (especially the latter) are so strong and powerful, that they take away all Impurities from the Blood whatsoever, are great Cordials, and of wonderful Virtue against all Diseases proceeding of Putrefaction, being used for some days: Schröder saith, that being used it is impossible that any impurity should remain in the Blood. Dose à gut. iij. to x. I have given gut. xij.

80. Tinctura Coralliorum Clofsei, Tincture of Corals of Clofsæus.

R. The Solution of Coral in Oyl of Salt, abstract the Oyl with a strong fire to separate the Spirits from the Calx: put to it Spirit of Vinegar of young Oaks cut in March, so will it extract a Tincture of a Hyacinth colour: abstract the Vinegar, and circulate with S.V. Digest and decant the Tinctured S.V. from the faeces, then filter and abstract the S.V. to the half: so have you a strong Tincture, yet but in small quantity.

It has the Virtues of Coral, and of the former Tincture: especially of great force against Convulsions and the Falling-sickness. Dose ʒss alone.

81. Tincturina e Coralliis cum Spiritu mellis, Tincture of Coral with Spirit of Honey.

R. Calx of Coral made with Niter, put to it Spirit of Hmey digest, decant the Tincture, and abstract in B.M. till a thick water remain at bottom, sweeten it, and with S.V. extract the true Tincture of Coral.

This is Hartman's Tincture and has the same Virtues with those at Sect. 79. Dose à gr. iv. ad xij.

82. Tinctura Coralliorum Composita, Tincture of Gold Compound.

Calcine Coral with Salt of Tartar, from whence extract the Tincture with S.V. as you extract the Tincture of Salt of Tartar.

It opens all Obstructions, breaks, dissolves and expels the Stone, and cleanses the body of all impurities. Dose à gut. iv. or xvj. in Canary.

83. Tinctura Coralliorum Agricola, Tincture of Coral of Agricola.

R. Calcine Coral, to which put the slegm and sharp Spirit of Lead: digest in a close glass Vessel, till the Menstruum is red: abstract in Balneo Vaporis; then digest in S.V. and force it through a glass Retort, so have you a blood red Essence of Coral: lastly, abstract the S.V. to a due consistence.

It is a good Cordial and Cephalick, good against most Diseases of the Head, Stomach and Heart: it nourishes the natural Balsam, cures the Falling-sickness and Convulsions, and is said to be given to children against Frights. Dose à gr. iij. ad vj.

84. Tinctura Coralliorum Fabri, Fabers Tincture of Corals.

R. Coral in powder, mix it with Sal Armoniac, and sublime, then extract the Tincture with S.V.

It has the Virtues of the Compound Tincture, a, Sect. 2. afore going. Dose ʒi. or more.

85. Tinctura Coralliorum Maxij,

Maxy his Tincture of Corals.

R. Rectified Spirit of Canary, Spirit of Vuriol rectified, ana, digest and distil in an Alembick in Sand, first with a gentle fire then with a stronger, that they may ascend and pass together, reiterate this thrice then Circulate for forty days, so have you a pleasant Spirit of a sweet scent and taste: in this Menstruum digest Salt of Coral, till the Tincture is extracted, decant, filter, and abstract.

The Old Man told me it was a most noble Tincture, and inferior to none, containing all the Virtues of Coral exalted. Dose gr. xij.

86. Tinctura Coralliorum cum oleo Citriorum, Tincture of Coral by Oyl of Citrons.

Digest powder of Red-Coral in Oyl of Citrons, All it extracts the Tincture: draw off the Oyl, and with rectified Spirit of Wine or the former Menstruum extract again.

It is given to cleanse the Blood of all Impurities.

87. Tinctura à Corallijs Basilii, Basils Tincture of Coral.

R. Salt of Coral made with Spirit of Salt edulcorated ʒviij. Sulphur ʒis. mix and calcine gently till the Brimstone is consumed: then beat the Calx with a little Camphir, fire it again, and edulcorate: Lastly, with S.V. extract the Tincture, and abstract gently to the thicknes of Oyl.

Besides the Virtues of Coral, it cures Madnes and Melancholy, and wonderfully purifies the blood. Dose ad gut. xij.

88. Tinctura Coralliorum Quercetani, Tincture of Coral from Quercetan.

Make

Make a Spirit of May-dew and Manna or Honey-dews, in which digest Coral calcin'd with a gentle fire in a luted Vessel, so that the Menstruum may be eight Inches above the Calx; abstrakt the Menstruum, and the Tincture will be at bottom. Or thus: R. The Magistery of Coral, digest it in a luted Vessel in Sand or Ashes in S. V. rectified, separate and boyl it to a Tincture.

89. Acetum Coralliorum, Vinegar of Coral.

It is drawn in a luted Retort from powder of Coral, first with a gentle fire, then with a stronger.

With it you may draw a very excellent Tincture of Coral, either Calcin'd, or Crude.

90. Tinctura Coralliorum ex Cera, Tincture of Corals made with Wax.

Cast into melted white Wax the best red Coral beaten into bits, so as the Wax may overtop it two Inches; keep them over the fire (that the Wax may be melted) for two days or more, so will the Salt extract the red Tincture leaving the Coral white, which take out; and put in other red Coral to the same Wax, digesting as before; so will the Wax be redder: then cool it, and cut it into small bits, which digest in S. V. so much as to cover it three Inches high; let it stand till the S. V. is tinged, and the Wax becomes whiter: filter the Liquor, to separate it from the Wax: to the filtered Tincture, add crebbles quantity of Water, so to weaken the S. V. that it may let fall what Wax might be dissolved in it: then filter again, and abstrakt three quarters of the humidity, so will the pure Tincture remain red as blood.

It is an exceeding great Cordial, revives the Spirits and takes away Melancholy, expelling Noxious humours by transpiration and Urine: it cures Diseases of the Head, helps Apoplexies, Convulsions and Pestilential Fevers. Dose à gut. x. ad xx.

OF PEARL.

91. Prepared Pearl.

Colledge.) Beat them in a Steel or Iron Mortar, and Levigate them on a Marble, with a little Rose-water, till they are in a fine powder, then make them into balls.

Salmon.) It has only the Virtues of Crude Pearls.

92. Sal Perlarum, Salt of Pearls.

It is wholly made as that of Coral at Sect. 67. by dissolving in Spirit of Vinegar juice of Lemons or Barberries, &c. filtrating and inspissating.

Paracelsus saith, that Pearls have a wonderful Operation, not from Art but Nature. This Salt is a great Cordial, good against all Malignant Feavers, Small-Pox, Measles, Obstructions of the Spleen, Melancholy Vomiting, Consumptions, &c. Dose à gr. x. ad ʒj.

93. Sal, seu Magisterium Perlarum Riverij; Salt or Magistery of Pearls of Riverius.

R. Levigated Pearl, make it into a paste with juice of Citrons or Oranges; after a few days, dissolve it in Spirit of Vinegar; decant the Vinegar, and mix it with one third of Rain-water; distill in Sand, first with a soft fire, then with a stronger; put the distilled water upon the Caput Mort. Then dissolve again and filter; Lastly, evaporate gently; so have you the Salt or Magistery of Pearl.

It has all the Virtues of Pearl, besides which it is said to be a great preservative from the Gout, Dose ʒi.

94. Magisterium Perlarum & Coralliorum Commune, The Common Magistery of Pearl and Coral.

Colledge.) R. Pearl and Coral as much as you will, Lavigate it into very subtile powder, to which put such a quantity of Radicate Vinegar, that it may over-top it the breadth of three or four fingers, digest it in Ashes, till it is dissolved, then pour off the Liquor, and put in fresh till the residue be dissolved, filter it, and put a little Liquor of Tartar to it, so will a white powder fall to the bottom of the Glass, which being separated from what is dissolved, is to be washed, first with Spring-water, then with Buttn or Borrage-water.

Salmon.) Though the Colledge advises to make the dissolvent of Vinegar, yet we know by experience that Juicy of Lemons or Spirit of Sulphur, dissolves them much better and easier: and lbj. of Spirit of Sulphur will dissolve more than lbxij. of distilled Vinegar; besides it is much more Cordial and Pectoral. 2. That though some advise to the Spirits of Niter, Vitriol or Salt; yet they are too corrosive for this Operation, by reason the Magistery would be difficultly sweetned; the same understand of Oyl of Tartar per deliquium: besides Spirit of Vitriol would black the Magistery, and Oyl of Tartar would make it rough in feeling. 3. That being precipitated with an Acid, you need not put your self to the charge of Oyl of Tartar, fair water is sufficient to weaken the Menstruum, to let the precipitate fall. 4. That if you dissolve with Spirit of Sulphur, the water of the first sweetning will have the smell of Ambergrise, for Pearls opened by that Spirit have such a smell. 5. What Radicate Vinegar is you may see, lib. 1. cap. 9. sect. 1. and sect. 70. of this Chapter at the latter end of it. 6. That you may make a Butter like Magistery as you do of Coral at sect. 78. This Magistery of Pearl, is a great Cordial, good against all manner of Malignant Fevers, as Measles, Small-Pox, Plague, and other Pestilential Distempers; it eases pains of the Spleen, cures Consumptions, Palpitation of the Heart, Vomiting, want of Appetite, and heat-burnings, proceeding from sharp and acid matter lodging in the Ventricle. Dose ʒi. ad ʒj. Outwardly some use it as a Facum for the Face mixt with Pomatum. See our Polygraph. lib. 4. cap. 36. sect. 6.

95. Liquor Perlarum, Liquor of Pearls.

It is made per deliquium, as that of Coral.

The Virtues are the same with the Salt and Magistery.

96. Flores Perlarum, Flowers of Pearl.

They are made as those of Coral: Hart-

Hartman sublimes after Solution in Spirit of Saturn.

They have the Virtues of the Levigated Powder.

97. Arcanum Perlarum, A Secret of Pearls.

From the Levigated Powder of Pearls extract a deep Tincture with rectified Spirit of Guajacum: the powder remaining calcine gently, and extract from it again two or three times with fresh Spirit of Guajacum. Calcine it again stronger, and extract once more: Put the Tinctures together, and abstract in B.M. till the outsides look of divers colours and the flegm is evaporated, so have you remaining the Arcanum of Pearl, joyned with the Spirit Guajacum, which are somewhat difficult to separate.

It is a great Cordial and Restorative, it cleanses the Blood, and is good against the Poyson of the French-Pox. Dose à gut. viij. ad xvj. This Arcanum dissolved in Bawm or Angelica water, turns of a red colour and delicate taste. See our Polygraphices, Lib. 4. Cap. 37. Sect. 14.

98. Spiritus Margaritarum, Spirit of Pearl.

It is made of the Salt or Magistery with Terra Sigillata, as you make Spirit of Coral.

It is a great secret and Anodyne against all manner of pains, especially those of the Gout. Dose ad ʒi.

99. Tinctura Perlarum Libavii, Tincture of Pearls of Libavii.

Dissolve Pearl in Spirit of Salt, decant, and abstract, to the thickness of a Cataplasim; wash it with Bawm water, circulate it for six weeks with S.V. then abstract in a gentle B.M.

It is Cardiack, Alexipharmick, Analeptick, and Anodyne Dose ʒss. 100. Essentia Perlarum, Essence of Pearl.

Dissolve Pearl in Spirit of Vinegar, and make a Sale, which purifie by many Solutions (in Spirit of Vinegar) and Coagulations, casting away the feces, till the Sale is clean without feces: then dissolve in May-dew, or Rain-water, and abstract by distillation so often, till the Sale is sweetened: then digest it in a close Vessel ten days in B.M. putting rectified S.V. two Inches over it: so will it ascend like an Oyl, to the top, which take off carefully, adding fresh S.V. which repeat so oft as any Oyl will arise, viz. till nearly all the Salt is turned to Oyl: Circulate this Oyl with fresh S.V. for ten days, then in a gentle B.M. separate the Spirit, keeping the Oyl or Essence for use.

This Oyl is inferiour to no Cordial, it strengthens the Heart, fortifies nature, revives all the Spirits, Natural, Vital and Animal, and creates all the natural powers: it is Anodyne and Analeptick, restoring in Consumptions: outwardly it's one of the rarest Cosmetics yet known in the World; if the Skin be clean, and if it be well laid on, it will lye about thirty days, nor in that space of time need it be renewed. Dose à gr. viij. ad gr. xvj.

III. OF TALCK.

101. To make Talk into a fine powder.

Rx. Venice Talck ʒvj. powder it grossly grossly between your fingers: put to it of River Pebbles (about the bigness of horse beans) lb. j. put all into a white leather bag (made of Calves Skin, the grain side inward) gathered at both ends, shake it continually together (as Pin-makers do when they whiten their Pins) for about an hour or two, then take it out and searce it, putting what would not go through the Sieve into the bag again, and shaking it as before, then searcing again, & repeating this work, till all the Talk be reduced to a most impalpable powder.

By this way it will be both finer and whiter than it can be by beating in a Mortar, or long calcination in a violent fire. It is the purest of any Fucus, and may be applied to the Skin without Pomatum; for it sticks to the Pores and penetrates them, by reason of its fineness and oleaginous quality.

102. To calcine Talck.

There are various ways of doing this, of which the following are chief: 1. Thus, Heat it red fire-hot often, quenching it in water till it falls into a most impalpable powder. 2. Or thus, R. fine powder of Talck lbj. Sulphur calcin'd with equal parts of common Salt: lay them stratum super stratum, and cement in a close Crucible red hot for half a day: then take it out and edulcorate. 3. Or thus, cast the powder of Talck into melted Silver or Copper for some hours. 4. Or thus, R. powder of Talck (beaten in a hot Mortar till it shines no more) and with equal parts of the Coals of the Tile-tree, calcine it in a Porters Furnace for three days. 5. Or thus, R. powder of Talck p. j. Salt. p. ij. calcine four days: grind the Calx, wash, and dry: then put it into a Rag, wrap it in Clay, and in a heap of Crude Tartar calcine it for fifteen days: Grind, and dissolve in S.V. Lastly, coagulate. 6. Or thus, R. powder of Talck, beaten in an Iron Mortar, put it into a strong Pot having a cover, which place in a Glass Furnace, and in the strongest flames for three or four days, or till the Calx be white. 7. Or thus, R. Talck beaten thin, heat it red hot, and quench it in Oyl of Sulphur, twelve or more times, till it is white as Snow; sweeten with Rain-water and dry it: then make it into balls with whites of Eggs, bury it in Quick-lime in a Crucible, and calcine three days in a Glass house, or Porters Furnace, till it is purely white. 8. Or thus, by a moist Calcination. R. Talck beaten thin, put to it Spirit of Vinegar from Spanish Wine; digest it in the Sun, or in Horse-dung for forty days, adding every day new distilled Vinegar, till the Menstruum is mucilaginous.

103. Liquor Talci Clossæ, Li- quor of Talck.

R. Powder of Talck (made by Sect. 101. or by rubbing it with Pumex Stones, or beating it in a hot Mortar, or filling it with a Goldsmiths smoothing file) ℥viij. Salt of Tartar ℥xvi. mix and calcine twelve hours in a wind furnace, set in a Celler to melt, separating that which melts from that which melts not: that which melts, not mix with four times its weight of Sal Niter, and calcine again with a strong fire, so the Talck will be melted into a clear white Mass, which will per deliquium turn to a clammy Liquor.

This exceedingly whitens, and beautifies the Skin, and takes away Spots and Freckles from the Face, but you must not leave the Liquor long on, but wash it off with decoction of Wheat-Bran, lest it should corrode the Skin. See Polygraph. lib. 4. cap. 37. sect. 1.

104. Oleum Talci Compositum, Compound Oil of Talc.

R. White Tartar ℥xx. Talc, Salt, A. ℥x. mix and calcine in a Potter's Furnace very well; then grinding the matter upon a Marble, set it to melt per deliquium for 20 or 30 days, so have you a precious Oil.

It has the Virtues of the former, and being rubbed upon the Skin softly with a linen Cloth, the Skin being first duly cleansed, takes away all kind of Spots, and makes the Skin soft and delicate.

105. Oleum Talci Hartmanni, the Cosmétique of Hartman.

R. Talc calcined by Spirit of Vinegar, and brought to a Mucilage, (by Sect. 102.) distil it by a luted Retort, and large Recipient, on a naked Fire; so have you first Spirit of Vinegar, then a white Oil, which separate.

Wash the Skin first with the Vinegar, then anoint with the Oil: It is reported, that if the Face be well cleansed, the Oil will stay on a month.

106. Cremor Talci Cossæi, Cream of Talc.

To Powder of Talc, put Spirit of Vinegar, boil it at a soft Fire, in a wide-mouthed Glass, till a fat froth rises, which take off with a Spoon: boil till the Vinegar (which is mixed with the Cream) is evaporated, then dissolve the Cream with slegm of common Salt, or mix it with Potmatum.

It takes away Spots, Freckles,

Sun-burning, and Tawniness, and very much whitens the Skin.

107. Arcanum Talci cum Camphora, the Secret of Talc with Camphir.

R. Powder of Talc ℥i. Oil of Camphir ℥ij. digest till the Oil is white.

It is a noble Fucus for Womens Faces.

108. Oleum Talci per deliquium, Oil of Talc per deliquium.

R. Talc twice calcined, extract with Spirit of Vinegar, filter and coagulate; then sweeten, and set it in a Cellar to dissolve: which you may circulate with S.V. and abstract by Cohobation.

It takes away Spots, Marks, and discolouring of the Skin, and smooths it.

109. Tinctura Talci, Tincture of Talc.

Digest Powder of Talc in Philosophic Spirit of Vitriol (at Sect. 91. of Cap. 11.) in Horse-dung for four Months, so the Talc will be dissolved, and send an Oil to the top: to this put S.V. digest and abstract by many Cohobations, till it passes through the Alembic. Or thus: Extract calcined Talc with Spirit of Salt which is green; decant, abstract, and cohobate so long till a red Tincture will come over the helm.

It is an Antidote against Poyson, Plague, and all sorts of malignant Fevers: it is both a Remedy and Preservative: Dose à gr. iv. ad vi. or viij. every day. Agricola and Schroder says, that red Talc is best to make this Tincture of.

110. Magisterium Talci, Magistery of Talc.

Digest powder of Talk in Spirit of Vinegar four days: cast it upon melted Lead, calcining it, till it is brittle: then dissolve in Spirit of Vinegar, and abstract the spirit: dissolve again in distilled water, (which repeat often) separating it from the feces: lastly, precipitate with spirit of Vitriol, edulcorate and dry it.

It has the Virtues of the Oyl at Sect. 108.

CAP. XIV.

Of EARTHS and WATERS.

1. A Lana terra, Tripolis, Tripoli, Exhabemus, Alanian Earth.

It is yellow, and a kind of Oxar used to mix with Salts to distill Spirits and keep the matter from flying. Aldrovandus saith, It is used instead of Lapis Samius, by Goldsmiths, to cleanse their Gold and Silver.

2. Ampelitis Terra, Pharmacitis, Ἰν ἀμπελίνης, Ampelite Earth. It digests, mollifies, and helps malignant Ulcers, as Aldrovandus saith. Galen saith, It is used to prevent Worms. Celsus saith, It dissipates and refrigerates. The best is black, equally shining, and easily dissolved in Liquor.

3. Arena, Sabulum, Ἑάμμο, Ἄμμο, Sand. Galen saith, That of the Sea shore is absterfiv, and helps the Dropsie being covered therewith; it is cold and dissolving tumors by repulsion.

4. Boles Armenus, Bolus Armena, Ὁ Orientalis Gleba, Bole Armeniack. It is so called because it comes from Armenia; but it is also found in Germany. Schroder saith, It is a pale red Earth, impregnated chiefly with Iron Vapours. It is very dry, astringent, and strengthening; good to stop Fluxes, thicken humors, resist Putrefaction, expel Poison: and therefore is excellent against the Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Flux of the Terms, Catarrhs, Spitting Blood, Bleeding at Nose, and Wounds, &c. often used outwardly in strengthening Cataplasms, and binding Powders. The best is that which is free from Sand, clear and smooth; being tasted, sticks to the Tongue, melts in the Mouth like Butter, and when moistned does bubble. Galen saith, It helps putrefying Ulcers of the Mouth, Ulcers in the Tabes, and Pestilential Diseases, drunk in Wine.

5. Cimolia, Terra Saponaria, Creta Cimolia, Smedis, Ἰν νεφελία, Fullers Earth; It is cleansing and discutient, and refrigerates, digests, and works according to the nature of the things with which it is mixed. Applied with Oxycrate, it is very good against Burns and Scalds. Dioscorides saith, that both the white and purplish help Swellings behind the Ears, and other knots, tumors in the Testicles, and other Swellings; as also St. Anthony's Fire. The best is the cold and fat, which is good against the Gout, Achores, and falling off of the Hair.

6. Creta, Terra Cretica, Κρήνη, Chalk. It is dry, absterfive, emplastick, binding, anodyne, and good against Heart-burnings. Outwardly it dries up Wounds and Ulcers. Aldrovand saith, it is a little binding and alexipharmic; used in Milk, it kills Worms in Children. It is called Creta, from the Island Candy, but there is much of it in many other parts; it is a noble earth, hard and white.

7. Eretria Terra, Creta Eretria, Ἐρετρίας Τῆς, Earth of Eretria. It is almost of the nature of the Samia, but more binding than Lemni; some wash it once or twice to make it more gentle; others calcine it, that it may be more subtil, sharp, and digesting, after which if it be washed, it is much more effectual to fill and cicatrize Wounds. The best is that of an Ash-colour, the other is white. Dioscorides saith, it cools, binds, and gently mollifies, fills hollow Ulcers, and conglutinates Wounds. Hippocrates says, that applied moist to the Breast in an Empyema, it shews the place of Section, by drying there first.

8. Japonica Terra, Terra Japonica, Catachu, Japonian Earth. Schroder saith, it is an outlandish

Earth, of a purple colour, with white Spots as if mouldy; very sharp in taste, melts in chewing, leaving a sweetness behind it. It is drying, and held in the mouth; it dries up Catarrhs, and strengthens the Head.

9. Lutum, Argilla, Terra Figulina, Ἀργίλλος, Clay. Avicenna saith, that all sorts hereof are cold, drying, binding and absterfive, good against Ulcers, of thin parts, sharp and discutient: If washed, they lose their Acrimony, but dry more, and are therefore better to incarnate and cicatrize. Applied to the Temples with Vinegar, they stop bleeding at Nose (so also Bole) and ease Pains.

10. Marga, Creta Fossilia, Μάρμα, Marle. It is a kind of fat, or marrow of the Earth: it dries, binds, and heals; and, as Schroder says, resolves Tartar, and coagulates Blood, given inwardly. Gesner saith, there is a sort which is called Lac Luna, is very good to dry up Ulcers, and stop a Hæmorrhage: taken inwardly in any Liquor to ʒi. it increases Milk in Nurses.

11. Oebra, Sal Vitruvii, Ὀχρῆς, Oker; it is a yellow hard Earth, good against Bruises, and to discuss hard Tumors, used in a Cataplasm; it also dries, binds, discusses, and represseth Excrescencies. Dioscorides saith, it breaks the Tophæ, or Nodes of the Joints. Fallopian saith, it is deterfive, and that which is taken out of Brass, or Copper Mines, is Caustic: There is a factitious sort (made of Lead) used by Painters.

12. Prigitis, Suffocativa Terra, Ἡ ἀνιγίς, Black Earth. It is sharp, atringent, cleansing and cooling, like in virtue to Fullers Earth, but weaker.

13. Rubrica, Sinapis, Miltos, Magra, Μίχ[θ], Rubric, or Red Oker. Schroder saith, it dries and binds, and is chiefly used in drying, and vulnerary Plasters. Taken inwardly, Dioscorides saith, it binds the Belly, taken in an Egg or a Clyster: the best is without Stones, heavy, thick, and of one colour: It is used by Painters and Carpenters to make red Lines with. Hippocrates saith, it is good against Burnings; and, according to signature, helps the Liver, as appears by the colour.

14. Selenusia Terra, Creta Selenusia, Ἡ σεληνουσία, Selenuntine Earth. It is cleansing, and used by some as a Cosmetic to help Vices of the Skin. The best is white, shining and crumbling; it gently dries, and is therefore good against Ulcers. Aldrovand saith, it is Alexipharmic, and not inferior to Terra Lemnia.

15. Terra Chios, Ἡ Χία, Earth of Chios: It cleanses the Skin, and takes away wrinkles, causing of it to shine. Galen saith, it has the virtues of Terra Samia, and is used in Baths to cleanse. The best is white, or of an ash-colour, and is found in the Isle of Chios in the Aegean Sea.

16. Terra Lemnia, Sigallum Lemnium, Ἐσφραγίς, Milton Lemnia, Λευμία, Ἡ, Earth of Lemnos. Dioscorides saith, it is drying, and alexipharmic, being an Antidote against Poyson, and venomous Wounds. It stops Fluxes, and cures the Dyfentery, so also given in a Clyster. Aldrovand saith, it is good against pestilential Fevers; wash in Wine, it conglutinates green wounds, and stops spitting of blood and vomiting. Galen saith, injected with juice of Plantane, it helps putrid Ulcers.

17. Terra Melia, Terra Melitenfis, Melina, Ἡ μνλία, Earth of Melos. Dioscorides saith, it is aluminous and cleansing. It gently dries, and causes a good colour: It helps the Leprosie, and takes away Freckles: some say, it is as good against Fevers, Fluxes, and Worms, as Earth of Lemnos. The best is that which is fresh, soft, brittle, clean, and easie, to dissolve in Water; Painters use it to preserve their Colours; and Chyrurgions to put into their green Plasters: It is called sealed Earth of St. Paul.

18. Terra Samia, Stella Samia, Syropicon, Collyrion Cassij, Ἡ σαρμία, Earth of Samos. It is cold, astringent, and repêrussive, more spirituous than that of Lemnia, most used against spitting of Blood, Dyfenteries, and Womens Fluxes. The best is the white, light, soft, juicy, and brittle: with juice of Plantane it cures Ulcers with Inflammation, the Paroides and Cæliac. With Oil of Roses, it helps hot Phlegmons, Bubo's, Running Gouts, and mitigates Pain, as also the inflammation of the Testicles. Drunk, it helps the Biting of Serpents, and other venomous Beasts, and is an Antidote against Poyson.

19. Terra Strimengfis, Earth of Striga. It is called the Marrow or Auxungia of Gold, because it is impregnated with the Sulphur of Gold: There is another sort called Ligniconsis, white, red or ash-coloured, this is called the Auxungia of Silver because it is impregnated with the Sulphur of Silver. The first of these is good in Diseases of the Heart: The latter in Diseases of the Liver, that being best which is ash-coloured: They both have the Virtues of Terra Sigillata.

20. Terra Sigillata, Silestaca, Sphragis, Terminachum, Sealed Earth. There are several sorts of Sealed Earth, as the Terra Lemnia, Samia, Melia, Strigenfis, and the Turkiss, which is properly so called, and that which is intended here, viz. That from Constantinople, which is of an ash-colour, and indeed the best of all Earths which are known to us; though that of Lemnos which is red, is often used for the true. The best Earth is known, 1. By the sticking to the Tongue. 2. If cast into Water, it rises up in Bubbles. Terra Sigillata is drying, binding, sudorific and alexipharmick, resisting Plague, Poyson, Putrefaction, and all kinds of Malignity and Venom. It is chiefly used against the Plague, malignant Fevers, Diarrhaea, Dysenteria, and bitings of Venomous Beasts: It powerfully dissolves congealed Blood, and provokes Sweat: Experience has confirmed it oftentimes to cure the Falling-sickness, given \dot{a} ʒi. ad ii. and some suppose it a good Remedy against Philtres. Outwardly, it cures the bitings of Venomous Beasts, and cleanses malignant Wounds. From Sealed Earth, you have. 1. A Magistery. 2. A simple Spirit. 3. A Compound Spirit. 4. An Oyl.

21. Magistery of Sealed Earth.

Dissolve it in Spirit of Salt, and precipitate with Oyl of Tartar, so have you a precipitate of the colour of the Earth, and having the same Virtues. Dose \dot{a} gr. x. ad xxx.

22. Spirit of Terra Sigillata Simple.

Distil it alone in a Retort, with a bare fire, into a large Receiver, so have you first a Elegg, then a little white Spirit, pleasant in taste and smell, the Earth remaining at bottom in its own shape,

1. Where Note, 1. That it needs no rectifying, but is used with the Flegm ad ʒss. 2. That if you first macerate the Earth in Rain water, and then distil the Spirit, and impregnate it with its own Salt, it is called the Alkalinized Spirit, or Balsam of Earth: to which if you joyn the Flowers which ascend by a strong heat, being distilled alone, it will yet be better. It has all the Virtues of the Earth, but exceeds it in strength, is Anodyne, eases pains of the Gout, cures Scabs, and dissolves Gold.

23. Spirit of Terra Sigillata Compound.

Steep the Earth in Water and distil it in a Retort gently, a little to open the Body; then add Spirit of Wine, digest and distil again.

It has the Virtues of the former. Dose ad gut. xx.

24. Oyl of Terra Sigillata.

Macerate the Earth with distilled Rain Water, and digest 40 days in a warm place, so will the Oyl be separated and swim on the top: separate the Water by a Glass-funnel: to the Oyl put six times as much S.V. and you will have an Oyl of a Gold-like like colour, swimming on the Spirit: take the white matter, left at bottom like a Pearl, and with Rain water extract the Sale, which put to the Oyl; circulate it a while; then distil in a Glass Retort in Sand, so have you the Oyl or Essence of Earth.

It is a specifick against Poyson, Plague, malignant Fevers, Small-Pox, Stone, &c. Dose gut. vj. in some convenient Liquor.

Of WATERS.

There are several sorts of Water, of which 1. Fountain. 2. Well. 3. River. 4. Rain. 5. Snow. 6. Dew. 7. And Mineral Waters are chief.

25. Of Fountain or Spring Water.

That is the best and purest which springs from the East, and goes towards the West, which runs from Mountains, is pure, thin, light, and clear as Crystal, being hotter in Winter and colder in Summer. This warmed with a Toast, is often given to sick People.

26. Of Well Water.

It is not so good as the former, but something more crude and heavy; yet if it rises from a good Spring it may be used instead of the other.

27. Of River Water.

If it lyes towards the Sun, and has a good Stream is purer than Well Water; for although it may be at present thicker, yet after a little settling it becomes much more fine.

28. Of Rain Water.

It exceeds all the former Waters, and ought to be preferred for Physick; some say, that the Rain which comes from the South or East, is the best, because more ripened and digested by the Sea.

29. Of Snow Water.

It is like to rain, but much more piercing, and therefore Schroder says, provokes Sweat, being more impregnated with Salt than any other, from its condensation with cold.

It is good against Burnings and Scaldings, taking the fire out and healing them; also Zacutus tells us of a desperate Tooth-ach which was cured therewith: that is best which is gathered whilst the Sun is in Capricorn.

30. Of Dew, or May Dew.

It exceeds all Waters for thinness, purity, clarity, penetration and volatility, as having in it a more volatile, sharp and excellent Salt: May Dew is best.

31. Of Mineral Waters.

Mineral Waters are either Spaws or Baths: both which are Fountain Waters, impregnated with Mineral Essences.

This Mineral substance is of divers sorts, as Earthy, Bituminous, Sulphurous, Saline, Vitriolick and Metallick, &c. The Virtues of which are to be gathered from the Simplicity or Complex nature of the matter or matters constituting, so some Spaw Waters vomit, others purge, some provoke urine, others sweat: some Baths also are hot, others cold, &c.

32. Spirit of Rain, or May Dew.

Re. A large quantity of Snow Water, Rain, or May Dew, distil in B. M. in a glass Still, taking only the Spiritual part. Or thus: Filter, digest and purifie for 40 days in a close Vessel, that the faces may settle, then distill as before.

33. Salt of Rain, or May-dew.

Take a Barrel of Water, let it exhale a while (filterating it if need be) then evaporate to dryness: The faces which are full of Salt. Elixivate by many solutions, so shall you have a pure Salt.

34. Essence of Rain or May-dew.

Impregnate the former Spirit with the Salt, circulating of them for 40 days in a luted Glass Vessel: This is alcalized Spirit of Rain, or Dew, &c.

35. Philosophical Tartar of Clostræus.

Rx. Dew or Rain Water, put it into a Vessel, so as it may fill it half full, seal it up Hermetically, put it into a Stove or hot Bath, or other place equivalent, that by the power of the gentle and constant heat, there may be shining Atoms at the bottom of the Vessel (which are a white Earth) separate them from the Azure water above them, and keep them for use.

36. Fabers burning Spirit of Rain Water.

Rx. The former Tartar, imbibe it with a tenth part of other Rain Water, digest till it grows thick: repeat this ten times, till you have a matter thick like Honey; from which by a fire of Ashes, draw a sharp Spirit; then by a fire in Sand, a fiery Spirit: rectifie both; and cohobate often upon the Caput Mort. which remains, digesting always between each cohobation: what at last is left, calcine in a reverberating fire, till it be white, out of which draw a Salt: which joyn with the former Liquors, digest and coagulate in B.M. sublime into a Crystal Salt; put these Crystals into a Glass Vessel Hermetically sealed, digesting in a close Furnace for a whole Month.

This has been taken by some for an Universal Medicine: But the difficulty in making will hardly countervail the cost: It is a Pectoral, and good in all Diseases of the Lungs.

Ff 4 ma-

magis Composita, Spirit and Water of Wormwood, the greater Composition.

Colledge.) Take of Marsh and common Wormwood, ana lbj. Sage, Mint, Bawm, A. Mij. Roots of Galanga, Ginger, Calamus Aromaticus, Elecampane A. Zij. Liquorice 3j Raisins stoned Zij. sweet Fennel-seeds, Anniseeds, A. Zij. Cinnamon, Cloves, Nutmegs, ana Zij. Cardamoms, Cubebs, A. 3j. let those things be cut which are to be cut, those bruised which are to be bruised, and let them be steeped in eight gallons of Canary Sack for twenty four hours; then distil in B. M. adding two ounces of the best Sugar to every pint of Water: The first pint call Spirit of Wormwood, the greater Composition.

Salmon.) It has the virtues of the former; besides which, it cheers the Heart, comforts the Brain, abates Melancholy, and relieves languishing Nature. Dose of the Spirit Zij. of the water à 3iv. ad 3j. in Bawm-water, or alone.

3. Spiritus & Aqua Angelica magis Composita, Spirit and Water of Angelica; the greater Composition.

Colledge.) R. Roots of Angelica 3viij. Leaves of Cardus Benedictus 3vj. Bawm, Sage, ana 3iv. Seeds of Angelica 3vi. sweet Fennel seeds 3ix. let the Herbs and Seeds being dried, be grossly bruised, to which add of the Species Aromaticum Rosatum, and Diamoschu dulce, A. 3iss: macerate them two days in eight gallons of Canary, and distil them according to Art with a gentle Fire. To every pint of Liquor distilled add 3ij. of Sugar dissolved in Rose-water. Let the three first pints be called Spirit, the remainder by the name of water.

Salmon.) In the former Dispensatory it was Leaves of Angelica and Carduus, A. 3vj. that is all the Alteration. This was intended to fortifie the Heart, and resist the Infection of the Plague, and other malign Diseases. It cheers the Spirits, and is a good Preservative against Epidemical Distempers. The Dose of the Spirit is 3ss. of the water ab 3j. ad ij. in Spanish wine, or Rosemary water in the morning fasting, or a little before eating.

4. Spiritus Lavendulae Compositus Martia, Spirit of Lavender Compound.

Colledge.) R. Flowers of Lavender gal. i. rectified S. V. gal. iij. close the Vessel, and digest them in the Sun six days, and distil them by an Alembic with its Refrigeratory. R. Flowers of Sage, Rosemary, Betony, ana M. j. flowers of Borrage, B. gioss, Lillies of the Valley, Cowslips A. M. j. let the flowers, being newly gathered, and in a fit time, be macerated in gal. j. of S. V. rectified, and mixed with the foregoing spirit of Lavender flowers, adding the Leaves of Bawm, Featherfew, of the Orange-tree fresh gathered; flowers of Stachys, Orange-tree, Bayberries, ana 3j. give all a sufficient digestion, and distil again; after which add the outward part of the citron-peel, peony-seeds hunked, ana 3vj. Cinnamon, Mace; Nutmegs, Cardamoms, Cubebs, yellow Saunders A. 3ss. Wood of Aloes 3j. digest twenty four hours; then strain and filter, and add to it prepared Pearls 3ij. Ambergris, Musk, Saffron, ana ʒi. Red Roses dried, red Sanders, A. ℥ss. yellow Sanders, Citron peels dryed, ana ℥ij: let the Species, being tyed up in a chin rag, be hung in the said Spirit.

Salmon.) This is a troublesome Medicament to be made, nor can it be done in a short time. 1. The flowers are to be put into the S.V. when they are in their prime; those which are in flower first, in the first place, and that Infusion kept, till the other things are ripe and fit to be put in, in order. 2. That in every Distillation, the Feces be drawn dry, because the S.V. is deflegmated. 3. That instead of Orange-tree leaves fresh, you may use Rosemary. 4. That by sufficient Digestion, is intended 24 hours, that being time long enough, for such high rectified Spirits, to extract the powers and virtues of any ordinary Vegetable, especially its flowers and leaves. 5. That in the old Dispensatory, the last Digestion was to be six Weeks long, but in this to be but a Day and a Night, which Emendation is good and time long enough for the aforesaid Reason. The intention of this Medicament is against the Falling sickness, and all cold Distempers of the Head, Womb, Stomach and Nerves; as the Apoplexy, Palsy, Convulsions, Megrims, Vertigo, loss of Memory, dimness of Sight, Melancholy, swooning Fits, and Barrenness in Women. You may give it in Canary, or Syrup of the Juice of Black cherries, or in Florence Wine. Country people may take it in Milk or fair Water sweetened with Sugar. Its an excellent but costly Medicine. Dose to a Child à ℥j. ad 3j. to a Man à 3j. ad iv. in the morning fasting. Note, That in the former there were Jujubes ℥ss: which in this are omitted.

5. Spiritus Castorei, Spirit of Castor.

Take of fresh Castor ℥iv. fresh Lavender Flowers ℥j. Flowers of Sage, Rosemary, ana ℥ss. Cinnamon ℥vi. Mace, Cloves, ana 3ij. Spirit of Wine rectified ℔vi. digest them in a Pbial, only to the third part full, in warm ashes for two days, being close stopp'd with a Cork and Bladder; then distil in B.M. and keep the Spirit in a Glass, with a Glass stopper for use.

Salmon.) This was intended against all cold Distempers of the Head, Brain, Womb and Nerves, as the Epilepsie, Apoplexie, Convulsions, Paltie, Lethargie, and dulness of the Senses, mixed with Oyl of Amber and Oyl of Ben, of each a like Quantity, it helps Deafness, and thick hearing; it is a potent resist of Poison, and good against all Pestilential Distempers. It prevails against Fits of the Mother, and causes speedy Delivery to Women in Travel, bringing away both Birth and After-birth. Dose à 3ss. ad ij. in Perficary Water.

6. Aqua Parasitides Composita, Water of Butter-burs compound.

Colledge.) R. Of fresh Roots of the Butter-bur bruised ℔ss. Roots of Angelica, Master-wort, A. ℔ss. infuse them in ℔x. of strong Ale, then distil them in B.M. till the change of the rest shows that the strength or spirit is come over.

Salmon.) It is prevalent against the Plague, Poison, and all pestilential Diseases; It is Pectoral.

Ce-

Cephalical, Hyfterick, and Traumatick: good in the Suffocation of the Womb, and passion of the Heart. Warming the Stomach, chearing and reviving the Spirits, and defending against any Infection; as a Preservative, it may be taken in a Morning in Bawm water sweetned with Syrup of Vinegar to ℥i. in extremity give it to ℥ij. or more in good Canary; and so it is good against Palsies.

7. Aqua Raphani Composita, Radish water Compound.

Colledge.) Take of the leaves of both sorts of Scurvy-grass green, and cleansed, ana ℔vj. bruse them, and express the juice, to which add juice of Brook-lime, Water-cresses, ana ℔s. of the best white Wine ℔viij. Lemons with their Peel, N^o xij. fresh Bryony-roots ℔iv. Horse-Radish-roots ℔ij. Roots of Aron ℥ss. Winters Cinnamon, Nutmegs ana. ℥iv. digest them all together for three days, then distill them in B.M.

Salmon.) In this there is added Roots of Aron ℥ss. for which there is left out of Winters Cinnamon ℥iv. for in their former it was ℥viij. An alteration, I think to the worse: It is a water composed only of Volatile things, and without doubt destined for the cure of the Scurvy, against which it is prevalent; it is a great Diuretic, and Lithontriptic, breaking and bringing away the Stone both in the Reins and Bladder; is good against the Green-sickness; provokes the Terms, and cleanses the Womb. Dose ℥i. or more Morning and Evening in Rhenish wine, or Pericary water.

8. Aqua Pœniæ Composita, Penny water Compound.

Colledge.) R. Fresh flowers of Lillies of the Valley ℔j. infuse them in gal. iv. of Canary. R. Flowers of the Lino tree ℔ss. of Peony ℥iv. steep them together for two days, then distill in Balneo Mariæ to dryness: In the distilled Liquor infuse again male Peony-roots, gathered in a good time ℥ijss. white Dittany, long Birth-wort, and ℥ss. Leaves of Mistero of the Oak, Rue, ana Mij. Peony-seeds husked ℥x. Rue seeds ℥ijss. Castorium ℥ij. Cubebs, Mace and ℥ij. Cinamon ℥iss. squills prepared ℥ij. Rosemary flowers P.vj. Arabian Seechus, Lavender A. P. iv. Flowers of Betony, Clove-gilliflowers, Comflops A. P. viij. juice of black Cherries ℔iv. distill all in a glass body till they are dry.

Salmon.) This is the Aqua Antiepileptica Langii, described also by Erasius, but with some difference: It also differs from that in their old Dispensatory, by the putting in of the Lino-tree flowers, instead of the Lilly Convally flowers. It was at first design'd against the Falling-sickness, as the title of Langius imports, in which Disease it is an excellent thing; It is powerful against Convulsions, and Palsies, being a great strengthener of the Head, Brain and Nerves; it comforts the Heart, clears the sight, and helps a bad Memory coming from cold and moisture of the Brain. Dose ℥i. or ℥ijss. morning and evening in Rosemary, Sage, or black Cherry water.

9. Aqua Epidemica, The London Plague-water.

Colledge.) R. Roots of Angelica, Master-wort, Butter-bur, Penny. A. ℔ss.

lbs. Roots of Spignell, Vipers grass, Virginian Snake Root, A. ʒij. leaves of Rue, Rosemary, Bawm, Carduus Benedictus, Scordium, Marigolds, with the flowers, Dragons, Goats-Rue, Mint, A. M. iv. To which being made fit, put spring Water, gal. iv. S. V. rectified gal. ij. And in a close Vessel with the heat of a Bath let them be digested two days. Then distil in B. M. gal. iv. in which hang Saffron ʒss. eyed up in a rag; to every pound of this distilled Water put of the best Sugar ʒss. then strain it through Hippocrates his sieve.

Salmon.) The Title shews the Virtues, for which it is a very excellent thing, as also against all Malign Diseases; as Measles, Small-Pox, Spotted-Feaver, and the like; the Dose is from ʒj. to ʒij. in Angelica, or Sage Water, sweetned with Syrup of Vinegar or Clove-gilliflowers. But whereas the Colledge prescribes Spring Water, the Apothecary would do much better, if he took in place thereof so much Canary or Rhenish wine; and then the rectified S. V. is needless; for what need is there of the dephlegmating of that, to which you must put immediately new phlegmatick bodies? This is plainly Penelope telam texere.

II. Aqua Bezoartica Langij, the Bezoartick Water (without Bezoar.)

Colledge.) Rx. Leaves and Roots of Celandine Miijs. Rue Mj. Scordium Mij. Ditany of Crete, Carduus Benedictus A. Mjss. Roots of Zedoary, Angelica, A. ʒij. the outward peels of Citrons and Lemons A. ʒv. Clove-gilliflowers ʒss. Red roses, Century flowers the less, ana ʒij. Let those things be cut which are to be cut, and all steeped three days in the best S. V. and Mallaga Wine ana lbjss. Vinegar of Clove-gilliflowers, juce of Lemons, ana lbj. Let them be distilled by B. M. in a Glass Vessel, then to the distilled Liquor add Cinnamon ʒij. Cloves ʒiss. Venice Treacle ʒij. Camphir ʒij. Troches of Vipers ʒss. Mace ʒij. Wood of Aloes ʒj. yellow sanders ʒiss. Seeds of Carduus Benedictus ʒj. Kernels of Citrons ʒij. digest all for two days: then distil in B. M. with a very gentle fire, and repeat the distillation twice or thrice: After half is distilled off, the remainder strain through a Linnen cloth, and abstract to the thicknes of honey, calling it the Bezoartick Extract.

Salmon.) This is much altered from what it was in their old Dispensatory. 1. The Scordium here is but M. ij. which was in that M. iv. and in the old, the Citron and Lemon-peels was A. ʒvj. the Cloves ʒij. the Troches of Vipers ʒij. the Wood of Aloes ʒj. 2. The old had but one distillation, after the Maceration of all the ingredients, this has two. This Water is Sudorifick, Alexipharmick and Antisebittick, powerful against all Pestilential Diseases, resists Melancholy, cheers the Spirits, and comforts such as are in Consumptions. Dose à ʒij. ad ʒiv. in Scordium Water, in the Morning fasting, or in any Fainting, or Swooning in time of the Fit. The Extract participates of the same Virtues; of which you may give ʒj. at a time.

12. Aqua & Spiritus Lumbricorum

rum Magisterialis, Magisterial Water, and Spirit of Earth-worms.

Colledge.) Take of Earth worms well cleansed lbij. Snails with shells on their backs gal. ij. beat them in a Mortar, and put them into a convenient Vessel; adding stinging Nettles, Roots and all, M. vj. wild Angelica M. iv. Brank Urfine M. vij. Agrimony, Betony, A. M. iij. Rue Mj. common Wormwood Mij. Rosemary flowers Oun. vi. Deck roots Oun. x. Sorrel roots Oun. v. Turmeric, inner Bark of the Barbary Tree, A. Oun. iv. fennigreek seed Oun. ij. Cloves Oun. ij. hart's-torn, ivory both in gross powder, A. Oun. iv. saffron Oun. iij. small S. V gal. iij. macerate altogether 24 hours, then distil by B. M. in a glass body; let the first lbiv. be set by for Spirit; the remainder for water.

Salmon.) It is to be noted, 1. That though you take Snails with shells, you are not to use the shells in this work. 2. That the Powers of Vegetables, (much less of Animals) are not to be drawn with small Spirit of Wine; rectified is much better, and so much the more necessary here, by reason the digestion is to be but 24 hours. 3. That the distillation had much better be performed apart, viz. the Animals to be distilled apart, and the Vegetables apart; and then the Spirits to be joined, and drawn over in a third distillation; That salt not so mingled seed, was the dictate of the Holy Spirit; Things Heterogeneous cannot join, Homogeneous may; the Difference is resolved by the several distillations, which every Operator will easily find.

This intention of this Water was against Consumptions, for which it is very excellent, opening all Obstructions of the internal Viscera, whereby the nutriment is hinder'd to be conveyed to its respective parts. It is good against the Jaundice, obstructions of the gall, hectic Fevers, and moist Diseases of the head and brain. Dose of the Spirit ℥ij. in Sage water: of the water ℥j.

13. Aqua Gentiana Composita, Gentian Water Compound.

Colledge.) R. Gentian Roots sliced ℥iss. leaves and flowers of Centaury the less. A. ℥iv. White-wine xij. macerate 8 days, distil in B. M.

This Water was intended to strengthen the Stomach, help digestion, and to be a preservative in pestilential Seasons. It is excellent against the Rickets, helps Stitches in the Side, provokes the terms, expels both birth and after-birth, and is good against the Jaundice, given two spoonfuls at a time in Syrup of Cicory with Rhubarb.

14. Aqua Gilberti, Dr. Gilbert's Water.

Col. R. Scabious Leaves, Burnet, Dragons, Bawm, Angelica, Pimpernel with purple flowers, Tormentil with the Roots, A. M. ij. let all of them, being well gathered, and prepared, be infused in Canary Gal. iv. Draw off in B. M. Gal. iij. to which add of the cordial flowers A. ℥iij. Clovegill flowers ℥vj. Saffron ℥iss. Roots of Turmeric ℥ij. Galanga, Seeds of Basil A. ℥j. Citron peels dried ℥j. Seeds of Citrons, Carduus, Cloves, A. ℥v. Hart's-horn rasped ℥iv. digest them twenty four hours, and distil in B. M. hanging before hand in the neck of the Alembic, Pearls prepared ℥iss. red Coral prepared, Crabs Eyes, white Amber, A. ℥ij. Crabs claws in fine powder ʒvi. Oriental Bezoar, Ambergriſe A. ʒij. Laſtly add white Sugar-candy ʒxij. diſſolve in Red Reſe-warrr ʒvi. mix with Spirit, or water of Cinamon ʒiv.

Salmon.) This is a lamentable Hodge-podge of altogether, things of ſuch different natures and kinds, which by the higheſt of the preſcribed operations can never be united. 1. There is a conſequence of Vegetables, Minerals and Animal, through the Mineral part of which, the Spirits is only to paſs, but what Virtue the Spirit of Water draws therefrom; I muſt confeſs my ſelf Ignorant, and really believe all that Labour and Coſt loſt. 2. What in this is ordered only to be hung in the neck of the Alembick, in their old Diſpenſatory, was to be ſteep'd ſix weeks in the Sun, in a Veſſel cloſe ſtopp'd, which if it be any thing material, is much the better way: 'tis a good Cordial for the Conſumptive, it cheers the Heart, revives the Spirits, and helps the dulneſs of the Brain. Doſe ʒj. 'tis too dear for ordinary perſons.

15. Aqua Cordialis frigida Saxoniae, Hercules Saxonia his cooling Cordial Water.

Colledge.) Take of the juce of Borrage, Bugloſs, Bawm, Biſſort, Tormentil, Scordium, Vervain, ſcarp-pointed Dock, Sorrel, Goats Rue, Chervil, blew bottle both ſorts, Roses, Marigolds, Lemons, Citrons A. ʒvi. Burnet, Cink-foil, A. ʒij. White wine Vinegar lbj. purſlane ſeed, flowers of water Lillyes A. ʒij. flowers of Borrage, Bugloſs, Viols, Clove-gilliflowers, A. ʒj. Diarrion Sanealon ʒvi. lee all of them being rightly prepared be digeſted three days, then diſtilled in a glaſs body in B. M. to the diſtilled Liquors, add Pearls in powder ʒij. mix them well and keep them for uſe.

Salmon.) This is the ſame with that in the old Diſpenſatory, except, 1. They have left out the Earth of Lemnos, Sileſia, and Samos, A. ʒſ. 2. The Pearls was there ordered to be prepared with juce of Citrons. 3. They have left out the Citron, and Carduus ſeeds A. ʒj. It is an excellent Water, good for ſuch as have hot Stomachs, and intended by the Author thereof (an Italian Phyſician) to cool the heat of burning Feavers, though never ſo violent and malignant. You may give ʒj. or ij. or more at a time, and is indeed a good Vehiculum to convey other hot Medicaments in.

16. Aqua Theriacalis, Treacle water.

Colledge.) R. Of the juce green Wall-nuts lb.v. juce of Rue lb.ij. Carduus, Marrigolds, Bawm A. lb.ij. freſh roots of Butter-bur lb.ſſ. Roots of Burdock, lb. j. of Angeſica, of Maſterwort A. lb.ſſ. Leaves of Scordium M. vj. Old Venice Treacle, Michridate, A. ʒviij. Generous Canary lbij. ſcarp Wine Vinegar lb.vj. juce of Lemons depurated lb.ij. digeſt two days in Balneo, in a cloſe Veſſel, then diſtil: from what remains may be prepared a Theriacal extract.

Salmon.) In their former Diſpenſatory, they ordered the diſtillation to be in Sand: In this the way of diſtilling is left out: but if you would have it pleaſant to the Palet, you muſt diſtil it in B. M. elle the empyruma will be ſo great, that it will be unſufferable, and ſpoil whatever it is mixt with. It is deſigned for an

An-

• Antidote against the Plague, a Counter-poyson, and a Cordial in Malignant and Burning Feavers, &c. having most of the Virtues of Venice Treacle. Dose ab ʒss. ad ʒiʒ. in any convenient mixture.

17. Aqua Bryonia Composita, Bryony-water compound.

Colledge.) Take juyce of Bryony roots lbiii. Leaves of Rue, Mugwort, A. lbij. of Savin M.ij. Featherfew, Nsp. Pennyroyal, A. M.ij. Basil, Dittany of Crete. A. M.ʒss. fresh Orange Peels ʒiiij. Myrrh ʒij. Castor ʒj. Canary lbxij. digest them four days in a fit Vessel, then distil in B.M. about the middle of the distillation, strain it out, and by inspissation make an Hysterical extract.

Salmon.) This was intended to hasten and facilitate the Birth, bring away the After-birth, and cleanse the Womb of impurities, for which it is a very excellent Medicine; and by the same reason, it may be good against the fits of the Mother: It provokes the Terms, and is good against the Green-sickness: Dose from one spoonful to two in the Morning fasting. It is dangerous for women with child.

18. Aqua Imperialis, Imperial water.

Colledge.) Take dried Citron-peels, Orange-peels, Nutmegs, Cloves, Cinamon, A. ʒij. Roots of Cyperrus, Florentine Orrice, Calamus Aromaticus A. ʒj. Zedoary, Galanga, Ginger A. ʒss. tops of Lavender, Rosemary, A. M.ij. leaves of Bays, Marjoram, Baum, Mint, Sage, Thyme, A. M.ij. fresh Worts Roses, Damask Roses, A. M.ʒss. Rose water lbiv. white wine lbviij. bruise those things which are to be bruised: digest all 24 hours; then distil them in B.M. according to Art.

Salmon.) This water was designed to strengthen, and comfort all the Spirits, Natural, Vital and Animal, and is excellent against faintings and swoonings; is a counter-poyson, and Antidote against the Plague and Feavers; tis supposed to restore such as are in Consumptions, strengthen the Heart, Stomach and Brain, and resist all cold Diseases thereof. Dose a spoonful in Aqua Cordialis Saxonice.

19. Aqua Mirabilis, The Wonderful or Admirable Water.

Colledge.) Take of Cloves Galanga, Cubebs, Mace, Cardamoms, Nutmeg, Ginger. A. ʒj. juyce of Celandine lbʒss. Spirit of Wine lbj. White wine lbij. Infuse them 24 hours, and draw off in B.M. two pound.

Salmon.) The Spices are only to be grossly bruised, not beaten into a powder: and then, if you macerate them a Week, 'twill be so much the better. It is a Cephalick, Pectoral, Stomack, Cardiac, Hysterick, Carminative, Anodyne, and Analeptick: of great force against the Colick, pains in the Side and Stomach, coldness of the Ventricle, Coughs, Asthma's and most Diseases of the Head and Brain: It comforts the Heart, revives the Spirits, helps swooning Fits, provokes the Terms, is a Counter-poyson, an Antidote against the Plague, Pestilence, all Malignant Feavers, and Pestilential Distempers. It is said to preserve from the Apoplexy, and restore Speech lost. Dose a ʒiiij. ad ʒj. in Rosemary water.

20. Aqua Doctore Stephani, Doctor Stephen's Water.

Colledge.) Take of Cinamon, Ginger, Galanga, Cloves, Nutmeg, Grains of Paradice, Anniseeds, Fennelseeds, Carraways, A. ʒi, Leaves of Thyme, Mother of Thyme, Mint, Sage, Penny-royal, Pellitory of the wall, Rosemary, Red roses, flowers of Camomill, of Origany, of Lavender. A. Mj. steep them in Gascoigne Wine lbxiij. for a whole day: then let them be distilled in B.M. S.A.

Salmon.) This Water was intended for Women in Labour, and has the Virtues of Aqua Brionie, Composita, at Sect. 17. foregoing. It is Cordial, strengthens the Heart, resists Poyson, expels Wind, and comforts the Head and Brain. Dose ab ʒi. ad ʒiiij. This (as also the next following) was in their old old Dispensatory, but left out in their new old one: and now added again in this their new Dispensatory.

21. Aqua Cœlestis, seu Aqua Vitæ Mathematica, Heavenly Water.

Colledge.) R. Of the best Cinamon ʒi. Ginger ʒʒ. of all the Sanders A. ʒvi. Cloves, Galanga, Nutmegs, A. ʒiiij. Mace, Cubebs, A. ʒi. both sorts of Cardamoms, A. ʒiiij. Zedoary ʒls. seeds of Pepper-wore ʒiiij. of Anise, sweet fennelseed, wild Carrots, Basil, A. ʒiij. Root of Angelica, Avena, Liquorice, Valerian the less, Calamus aromaticus, leaves of Clary, Thyme, Calamint, Penny-royal, Mint, Mother of Thyme, Marjoram, A. ʒiij. Red roses, flowers of Sage, Rosemary of Betony, of Stochas, of Bugloss, of Borrage A. ʒiij. Citron peel ʒiiij. bruise those things which are to be bruised, and infuse them 15 days in the best S.V. lbxiij. in a glass Vessel well closed: then let them be distilled in B.M. according to Art. To the distilled Water add the Spices Diambra, Aromaticum Rosatum, Diamoschu dulce, Diamargariton frigidum, Diarrhodon Abbatii, Electuarium de Gemmis, A. ʒiiij. Yellow Sanders bruised ʒiij. Musk, Ambergrise, (tyed up in a fine rag) A. ʒi. clear julep of Roses lbj. let them all be soaked well together, that the Julep may be well mixed with the Water, then put them up into a Vessel closed with Wax and Parchment till it grows clear, which then keep for use.

Salmon.) This is a tedious long Recipe, invented by Matthiolus, without any thing of Reason or Rule. And the Colledge has made it longer, for they have added the Calamint, Penny-royal, Mint, and Mother of Thyme, and made some other little alterations not worth mentioning. It has all the Virtues of the Aqua Mirabilis at Sect. 19. and may very well be used instead thereof: but 'tis scarcely so strong: and therefore may safely be given in the same Dose and in the same manner. It resists Poyson, is a preservative against the Plague, and restores in Consumptions.

22. Aqua Terebinthinata, Turpentine Water of Quercetan.

Colledge.) Take roots of Florientine Orrice, leaves of Mint dried, Dittany, A. ʒi. seeds in powder of Agnus Castus, Rue, Lettice, A. ʒvi. Venice Turpentine ʒiv. White wine lbiiij. Digest all 24 hours in B.M. then distill them according to Art.

Salmon.) The intention of this was without doubt to stop a Gonorrhæa, and repress the heat of Lust, but 'twill be best to do it after after due purging and cleansing: However the common white Potion made of only Turpentine opened with the yolk of an Egg, and dissolved in fair Water is much better, speedier and safer: Of this Water of the Colledges prescription you may give ℥ij. iij. or more at a time, twice or thrice, a day, this is a new thing added.

23. Aqua prothieracis, a water serving instead of Treacle water.

Colledge.) Rx. Of Scordium, Scabious, Cardus Benedictus, Goats-Rue A. M. ij. fresh Citron and Orange Peels, A Oun.ij. Seeds of Citrons, Cardus, Hartwort, Treacle, Mustard, A. Oun. j. Flowers of Marigolds, of Rosemary, A. M. .j. let them be cut which are to be cut, and those be bruised grossly which are to be bruised, then steep them in pure white Wine ℔v. mix with Cardus water ℔ij. in a glass Vessel close stopped, and set it in the Sun for a fortnight, or in a Stove for some days, often shaking it, distil in B. M. so as the first two pounds may be kept by themselves for use: and what follows after by it self. Then lastly, to every pound add of Julep Alexandria Oun. j. and of Cinnamon water a spoonful.

Salmon. It has all the Virtues of Treacle water, at Sect. 16. and may serve as an Universal vehiculum, to convey any kind of Medicine in: It strengthens and comforts the Heart, resists Poyson, helps swooning fits, and is prevalent against the Plague.

24. Aqua Caponis, Capon water.

Colledge.) Rx. A Capon, the Guts being picked out, and cut in pieces;

the fat being taken away, boyl it in a sufficient quantity of Spring-water in a close Vessel: then take of this Broth ℔iij. Borage and Violet water, A. ℔ss. white Wine ℔j. red Roses ℥ij. flowers of Violets, Borage, Bugloss, A. ℥j. Pieces of Bread, bot out of the Oven ℔s. Cinnamon bruised ℥ss. let all be distilled in a Glass Alembick according to Art.

Salmon. What Virtues ℥j. of those Cordial Flowers can add to ℔vij. of the composition, is scarcely to me known: The Apothecary instead of taking of those quantities assigned by the Colledge, would do better to take of red Roses, Violets, Borage and Bugloss flowers ana, ℥ss. so that there would then be about ℥j. allowed to ℔j. of distilled water; which is in truth little enough. The intention of this water, was for such as are in Consumptions, and lye lingering of Hecticks, and Marasmos: though really the Essence of a Capon truly prepared is meerly and a thousand times better. You may take ℥vj. of this water at a time, Morning, Noon, and Night, and never fear hurting your self.

25. Aqua Limacum Magisterialis, Magisterial Water of Snails.

Colledge.) Rx. Juice of Ground-Ivy, of Coltsfoot, of Scabious, of spotted Lungwort, ana ℔ss. Juice of Purslane, Plantane, Cappadocian Oak, Pauls betony ana ℔j. Hogs blood, white Wine, A. ℔iv. Garden Snails cut, ℔ij. Powder of Liqueurice ℥ij. Roots of Elecampane ℥ss. Florentine Orrice ℥ss. Cotton Seeds ℥ss. of the greater cold Seeds, Anniseeds, ana ℥vj. Saffron ℥j.

31. Red Roses, P. vi. of Violets and Borrage, A. P. iv. steep them three days warm, then distil in a Glass Body in B. M.

Salmon.) If by Ambrosia, they mean Cappadocian Oke, I fear the Juice of it will be a thing hard to get. 2. It should be known whether there ought to be taken of each of the greater cold Seeds zvi. or only zvi. of all together. 3. What ʒi. of Saffron signifies to about lbxx. of Liquor, it being but gr. iii. to one whole pound. 4. In this the eight Tobacco Leaves are left out, &c. It is intended against Consumptions, and Ulcers of the Lungs: when you use it, mix it with a strong thick Syrup of Liquorice, A. ʒi. and take it morning, noon, and night, with a Liquorice stick, taking time to let it go down: it is very good against Coughs.

26. Aqua Scordii Composita, Scordium Water Compound.

Colledge.) Take clarified Juice of Goats Rue, Sorrel, Scordium, Citrons, A. lbj. London Treacle, ʒii. digest three days, then distil in a glass Body in B. M.

Salmon.) 1. This Recipe is made much worse than it was in their old Dispensatory: for there was ordered lbss. of London Treacle, in this but ʒii. 2. Whether the Juices in clarifying may not lose much of their Spirit, and volatile Salt? 3. What need is there of the clarifying of them, whose pure parts will only be drawn off in a Glass-Still, unless to make double work. It is an excellent thing against the Scurvy and Green-sickness in Virgins, if two Spoonfuls of it be taken morning, noon and night, either alone, or in a Glass of Rhenish Wine. It is also prevalent against pestilential and malignant Diseases.

27. Aqua Mariæ, the Ladies Water.

Colledge.) R. Sugar-Candy lbj. Canary Wine ʒvi. Rose water ʒiv. boil them well into a Syrup, to which add Aqua Cœlestis, lb. ii. Ambergrise, Musk, ana gr. xviii. Saffron gr. xv. Tincture of ʒii. of yellow Sanders, extracted in Aqua Cœlestis, make a clear water.

Salmon.) In the old Dispensatory, there was Imperial Water ordered, where now there is Aqua Cœlestis; the former was full as good, and I am sure much cheaper. It is excellent against fainting and swooning Fits, Plague, Poyson, and most cold Diseases of the Head, Brain, and Stomach; but it is nought for Women troubled with Fits, because of the Musk and Ambergrise. It is a good Stomachical, stops Vomiting, and helps against Nauseousness. Dose one full spoonful in the morning fasting, and at night going to Bed.

28. Aqua Papaveris Composita, Poppy Water Compound.

Colledge.) Take Flowers of Red or Corn Poppies: sprinkle them with White wine lb. ii: then distil them in a glass Body in B. M. Catch the distilled Water upon fresh Flowers; and do it the third time, to every pound of which put Nutmegs sliced N° ii. white Sugar ʒii.

Salmon.) In their old Dispensatory, they ordered a Pupil of the fresh Flowers to be added with the Nutmegs and Sugar, and then to be set in the Sun to give it a pleasant sharpness, which was good for thereby the Water did not only become more grateful to the Stomach, and more excellent in Operation, but far more glorious in colour, which else would be colourless: this water was designed against Surfeits, Conghs, Colds, Catarrhs, defluxions of Rheum, for which it is a very excellent thing: It is excellent against pains and stitches in the sides, and prevalent against the Pleurisy, being Anodyne and causing rest: See Poppies. Lib. 1. Cap. 5. Sect. 51.

G g then

29. Aqua Juglandum Composita, Walnut Water compound of Platerus.

Colledge.) Take of Green Walnuts lbss. Radish Roots, lbj. green Leaves of Asarabacca, ʒvj. Radish Seeds, ʒvj. all being bruised, let them be steeped in white Wine Vinegar, lbm, for three days, and then draw off in a Glass Still. in B. M.

Salmon.) In their old Dispensatory it was to be drawn off in a Leaden Still; in this, in a Glass. 'Tis a Vomit, and designed against Agues, Green-sickness, Flegm in the Ventricle, and Obstructions of both Liver and Spleen; give two spoonfuls at a time.

30. Ulsuebachs five Aqua Vita Hibernus popularis, Irish Aqua Vitæ. Colledge.) Take strong Aqua Vita, lbxxiv. in which macerate Liquorice, lbj. Raisins of the Sun stoned, lbs. Cloves, ʒss. Mace, Ginger, A. ʒij. strain in, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It is a good Pectoral, and Stonick; It heats and warms a cold Stomach, strengthens the digestive faculty, and expels Wind. Dose three or four spoonfuls.

31. Aqua Bezoartica Matthioli, Matthioli his Bezoartick Water.

Colledge.) R. Of Matthioli his great Antidote, Syrup of Citron peels, A. lbj. S. V. five times distill ʒ. lbj. put all these into a Glass, which is much too large for them, stop it close that the Spirit may not evaporate, shake them well together, and let it stand a Month, shaking it twice a Week (for the Electuary will settle) then pour off the clear Water into another Glass to be kept for use, stopping it close with Wax and Parchment, that the Spirit may not evaporate.

Salmon.) It is an excellent Pectoral, a great Cordial and Cephalick, good against the Apoplexie, Epilepsy, Convulsions, Megrims, Vertigo, Lethargy, and other Diseases of the Head. It is singular against Heckick Fevers, Consumptions, and other decays of Nature, cures the biting of mad Dogs, expels Poyson, and the venom of Serpents, and restores lost Speech. Matthioli his Lait, you may give of it ʒss. at it a time alone, or in generous Wine.

32. Aqua Cinnamon, Cinnamon Water.

Colledge.) R. Bruised Cinnamon

lib.ij. Spanish Wine lb.xij. steep the Cinamon in the Wine 24 hours, then distil in an Alembick: draw off lb.ij. of strong Water (of the small as much as you think sufficient) sweeten it with Sugar, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of Cinamon, to which I refer you.

Colledge.) R. Of the bruised Cinamon lb.j. put it into a Glass bed; pouring upon it Rose-water lb.iiij. Spanish Wine lb.ij. stop the Still close, and place it in a warm Bath 24 hours: then put on the Still head, lute it well, and distil S. A.

Salmon.) If instead of Rose-water lb.iiij. you take all Spanish Wine, it will be so much the better: and indeed Matthiolus orders as much Wine of Crete, which if made according to his Prescript, comforts and strengthens all the principal Parts, as Brain, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Lungs, Spleen, Nerves, and Sight, resists Poyson, and helps the bitings of Serpents: It opens Obstructions, Attenuates, and is excellent against all cold Diseases: See Cinamon, the Virtues of which it retains. The Dose is two Spoonfulls in the Morning fasting.

34. Aqua Cinnamomi per infusionem. Cinamon water by infusion.

Colledge.) Take Cinamon bruised ℞. Spirit of Wine lb.iiij. infuse them together four days in a large Glass close stopp'd with Cork and a Bladder, shaking the Glass twice a day, dissolve half a pound of white Sugar Candy in a Quart of Rosewater: then mix both these Liquors together, and put therein gr. iij. of Musk, and ℞. of Ambergris eyed up in a Linnen rag, and hang so the top of the Glass.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of the former, and more fit for hot Constitutions. Dose two Spoonfulls.

35. Aqua Melissophylli, magis composita. Baum water the greater composition.

Colledge.) Take Baum lb. j. Thyme Pennyroyal, ana ℥ij. Cinamon ℥i. Cardamoms the less ℥i. Grains of Paradise ℥ss. sweet Fennel Seeds ℥i. Nutmegs, Ginger, A. ℥i. Galanga ℥ij. Calamus Aromaticus, Cyprus, ana ℥iss. Distill in Spanish Wine lb. viij. mix with strong Ale for 24 hours; then distil by an Alembick: keeping the first lb.ij. by themselves.

Salmon.) This was intended for a Carminative and Antidote against Poyson, comforting Nature, and restoring lost and decayed Strength: It quickens the Senses; resists the force of Pestilential Distempers, comforts the Brain, clears the Eye-sight, and repairs the weakness of the Memory: It is excellent for cold Stomachs. Dose ℥ss.

36. Rosa Solis, Water of Ros-Solis.

V. recti-fied the breadth of four fingers above it, fit to the former another little Mat-rass; lute them well together with slices of Paper and Paste: and put them into a Sand-Furnace, to dissolve with a gentle heat; so will the S. V. be clear and transparent as before, and the Camphir have a much more pleasant smell.

Salmon.) It is a most excellent Anodyne, easing pains in any part of the Body. It eases pains in both Teeth and Ears, by putting a few drops into the Mouth or Ears, and applying a little Cotton to the part, dipt therein.

There are several other useful Spirits, all which, with their Preparations, Virtues and Uses, you may see in our Doron Medicum, Lib. 3. Cap. 2.

C H A P.

C A P. III.

Of O Y L S distilled.

I. Oyls out of Herbs add Flowers.

1. Oleum Absinthij, Oyl of Wormwood.

Colledge.) R. Of dried Wormwood lbj. Spring-water ℥xxx. digest them 24 hours, and distil them in a great Alembick, with its refrigerator, or a Copper one, with a worm running through cold Water: So have you Water and Oyl, which you mix part with a Funnel or separating Glass, as they call it, the separated Water may serve for a new distillation: Let two or three of the first Pints of Water be kept for the Physicians use; the which you may do, pro quantitate, in all other chymical Oyls drawn with Water.

Salmon.) Chymical Oyls are high exalted Spirits, filled with an Essential Salt; and by reason they are quick and penetrating ought to be given warily, and in small Dose, never alone but mixed with some other convenient Medicine, because they have a vehement heat and burning. They always retain the Virtues of the Simples, from whence they are drawn, as being much more pure and sublime, freed from most part of their terrestreity: The way to take them is to drop the intended quantity upon a piece of refin'd, or loaf sugar, letting it soak into it, and then to dissolve the Sugar in Wine, or some Cordial water proper to the Distemper, for the Oyl being incorporated with the Sugar, will the better mix with the designed Vehicle. The Oyl of Wormwood is a great strengthner of the Stomach and Liver, stops Vomiting, causes a good Appetite and Digestion, expels Hypochondriack Melancholy, causes a good Colour in the Face, expels Wind, provokes Urine and the Terms, cures the Crochexy and Green-sickness, and dries up Hydropical Humors. Dose a gut. iij. ad x.

Colledge.) After the same manner are prepared the Oyls of the Leaves of Hyssop, Marjoram, Mint, Garden cresses, Organy, Pennyroyal, Rosemary, Rue, Savin, Sage, Savory, Thyme, &c. Of the flowers of Cammomil, Lavender, and of all other Herbs and Flowers which are hæc.

II. Oyls out of dried Barks or Peels.

2. Oleum ex Coricibus Aurantium, Oyl of Orange Peels.

Colledge.) It is prepared as aforesaid, if the Peels be dry; but it is better prepared of them being green and full of juice, separated from the internal white part, bruised, and with a sufficient quantity of simple distilled Water; so will the Oyl be drawn easier, and greater plenty, and full as good for Physicians use: So are distilled the

Peels

Peels of Citrons and Limons.

Salmon.) It wonderfully recreates and revives the Animal Spirits, comforts the Brain, strengthens the Memory, and cures most Diseases of the Head, (as dulness, drowsiness, heaviness, Lethargy, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, convulsion, megrim, &c.) It comforts the Heart, and warms a cold Stomach, causing digestion. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. ij. ad viij.

3. Oleum, seu Pinguedo Rosarum, vulgo Spiritus Rosarum, Oil, Fat, or Spirit of Roses.

Colledge.) Re as many fresh Namask Roses as you will, steep them 24 hours in a sufficient quantity of warm water: press them out, and repeat the infusion certain times, till the liquor is sufficiently strong, which distil in an Alembick with its Refrigeratory, or Copper with its Worm: separate the Spirit from the Water, and keep the Water for another infusion, you may also do the same being pickled with Salt (as taught Ch. 2. Sect. 9. out of this Book.) And in the same manner you may draw Oleum, seu Spiritus Rosarum rubrum, Oyl or Spirit of red Roses.

Salmon.) It is a great Cephalick and Cordial; It cheats and recreates the animal and vital Spirits, quickens the Senses, and revives the Heart, exhilarates the mind, expells Melancholy, is wonderful against all fainting and swooning fits; and in a word, performs whatever any Cordial can do. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. ii. ad vi.

III. Oyl out of Seeds.

4. Oleum ex semine Anethi, Oil of Dill Seed.

Colledge.) Re of Dill-seed bruised lbij. Fountain-water lbxxx. digest them 24 hours; then distill in a Copper still or an Alembick, with its refrigeratory, separate the Oyl from the Water with a Funnel, and keep the Water for another distillation.

Salmon.) It is a powerful expeller of Wind, a strengthner of the Stomach, causes a good digestion; and helps vomiting. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. ij. ad vi. vel x.

Colledge.) After the same manner are prepared,

5. Oleum ex semine Anise, Oyl of Aniseeds.

Salmon.) It is a most excellent Pectoral, curing most Diseases of the Breast and Lungs, as Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, rawness, windiness of the Stomach, Phthisick, and indeed all Diseases proceeding of Cold and Wind; It is often given with good success in Vertigo's, Megrim's, and other Diseases of the Head. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. iv ad viij.

6. Oleum Carui, Oyl of Carraways.

Salmon.) It is a wonderful strengthener of the Stomach, and is proved to be a specific in the Chollick, and Obstructions of the Reins. It provokes Urine, breaks and expels the Stone in both Reins and Bladder. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. iv. ad x. See our Doron Medicum, Lib. 2. Cap. 3. Sect. 4. where its virtues are more at large set down.

7. Oleum ex semine Cymini, Oyl of Cummin Seed.

Salmon.) It is a singular good Carminative, helps Obstructions and pains of the Spleen, Reins and Bladder, Obstructions of Urine, Stone and Wind-Chollick. Dose $\dot{\alpha}$ gut. iij. ad viij.

H h

8. Oleum

8. Oleum ex semine Dauci, Oyl of wild Carrot-seed.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of that of Carraway-seed, besides which it is of excellent force to provoke the Terms, and, in Women in labour, to bring away both Birth and after-Birth; It increases Seed, and provokes Lust. Dose à gut. iv. ad x.

9. Oleum ex semine Faniculi, Oyl of Fennel-seed.

Salmon.) It is a good Cephalick and Hysterick, prevalent against all cold affects of both Head and Womb: Nurses would do well to take it, for it encreases Milk, and thereby helps such Children as are troubled with Gripes: It is good against Lethargies, Palsies, Numbness, want of Motion, cold and weakness of the Stomach, Cholick, &c. It strengthens the Nerves, and dropt into the Ears helps Deafness; as indeed most of those Carminative Oyls made of Seeds do. Dose à gut. iv. ad xij. or more.

10. Oleum ex semine Petroseline, Oyl of Parsly-seeds, or rather Stone-Parsly.

Salmon.) It is one of the most powerful things, yet known in the Vegetable Kingdom, against Gravel and Stone in both Reins and Bladder. Dose à gut. iv. ad xij.

11. Oleum ex semine Saxifragie, Oyl of Saxifrage Seed.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of the former, and the same Dose: all these Oyls may be given in Arsmart water, which is a specifick for Diseases of the Reins.

Colledge.) After the same manner also are prepared.

IV. Oyls from Aromaticks, as,

12. Oleum Cinamomi, Oyl of Cinnamon.

Salmon.) Or you may do it after the Method which we have taught in Our Doyon Medicum Lib. 2. Cap. 3. Sect. 1. This Oyl pierceth even the flesh and bones being hot and dry, and is good against all cold and moist diseases afflicting the Head, Heart and other principal parts; insomuch that if one lay speechless and almost breathless it would presently recover him: It helps all Diseases which comes from cold and flegm, it digests, makes thin, provokes the Terms, and brings away both Birth and After-birth; it helps Coughs and Asthmas, and stops defluxions from the Head and Brain: It is one of the greatest Vegetable Cordials; it perfectly cures Consumptions, beyond any other thing yet known, comforting Nature, reviving of the Heart, and cheering all the Spirits Natural, Vital and Animal: It is an Enemy to Plague, Poyson, all malign Feavers and bitings of Venomous Beasts. Dose à gut. ij. ad x. In any convenient liquor: some give it in Cordial waters, some in Broth, some in Milk, some in Canary wine: lbj. of Cinnamon yields but Zij or Zijss. of Oyl.

13. Oleum Caryophyllorum, Oyl of Cloves.

Salmon.) It made as Oyl of Cinnamon: It is an excellent Cephalick, Stomack, Cardiac, Splenetic, and Hysterick; It cures Vertigoes, Megrims, Epilepsies, Palsies and Convulsions; it strengthens, warms a cold and moist Brain, is good against the Apo-

Apoplexy, fortifies the Heart and Liver, opens the Spleen, revives all the Spirits, and expels Melancholy: It cures the Cholick, pains of the Spleen and Womb, and is good against the Dropfy and yellow Jaundice. Dose a gut. ii. ad x.

14. Oleum Nucis Myristica, Oyl of Nutmegs.

Salmon.) It is certainly a most excellent Specifick against all Diseases of the Head and Womb, especially such as proceed from cold and moisture: as Apoplexies, Epilepsies, Lethargies, Coma's, Carus, Dulness, Drowsiness, Megrims, and the like. It gives ease in the Cholick, strengthens the Heart, Stomach, Liver and Womb; and is prevalent against fainting of the Heart, and swooning: It abates tumors of the Spleen and pain of the Stomach by outward unctions, being mingled with a little Oyl of Aniseeds or Ben, to abate its fiery force; and so anointing the Temples, it eases pains of the Head, helps in the Strangury and Disury, provokes the Terms, and hastens the Birth, given in a fit Vehicle: Dose a gut. ii. ad vi. viii. or x.

15. Oleum Macis, Oyl of Mace.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of Oyl of Nutmegs, and to be used in the same manner.

It is Specifick against Diseases of the Brain and Nerves, cures Palsies, Epilepsies, Convulsions, and has all the Virtues of Oleum Santalinum, & Agallochi.

VII. Oyls from Gummy Woods.

22. Oleum Guajacæ, Oyl of Guajacum or the Pock-wood.

Colledge.) Take Wood of Guajacum in gross powder, as much as you please, put it into a Retort and distil in Sand: the Oyl that first comes out, because it is thinner and sweeter keep by its self, which by rectifying with much water, will yet be sweeter: putting first of all the Water or acid Spirit separated before hand in the distillation: which also (with the most gentle heat of a Bath) may be rectified from its flegm. The same things are to be observed in the distillation of the Oyl of Box, Oak, and other solid woods; as also Oyl of Tartar, with its last Spirit, which may better be distilled out of Crystals of Tartar in the same manner.

Salmon.) 1. You ought to take a Stone Retort. (a Glass one is not necessary, because the Spirit is not sharp enough to corrode) and lute it every where, up to half its neck, least it break. 2. You must lute to it a very large Receiver, least it break by violence of the vapors. 3. You must give the fire by degrees, till it comes to a fit heat, which is when the Receiver is so hot, as you can only endure to lay your hand upon it a pretty while, which distillation let last twenty hours or more, viz. till the Receiver grows cold, which is a sign that the distillation is ended. 4. The Spirit comes first alone in the form of white Vapors, then the Oyl with the rest of the Spirits, which falls to the bottom in a brown blackish Liquor. 5. That pieces are better than the gross Powder, because they yield most Oyl, as comprehending more matter in less room: and by reason they will not swell nor run over, you may fill your Retort with them. 6. The Heart of the Wood which is black, yields more Oyl, then that which is nearer the bark which is yellowish. 7. Guajacum yields a large quantity of Spirit and Oyl, because it is full of Salt, Sulphur, and Mercury. 8. The Oyl is black and fetid, because distilled in a naked fire, and heavy, because full of Salt. 9. You may separate the Oyl from the Spirit thus: wet a piece of brown Paper with Spirit of Guajacum or water upon a Glass Funnel, into which put the Oyl and Spirit: so will the Spirit in-tircly

tirely filterate, and leave the Oyl in the Paper: put the end of the funnel into another Glass, and then break a hole in the bottom of the Paper, and the Oyl will fall perfectly out, if your brown Paper was first well wetted. 10. Out of Guajacum, lbj. you will have of Spirit 3x. of Oyl 3jss. and there will be left of Caput Mort. or Coals about 3iv. which you may calcine and make a Salt of. 11. The Spirit is purged from its flegm and staidness, by rectifying of it in a stone-Cucurbit, with a Glass-head in a Sand-furnace, the insipid flegm comes first, which cast away, then the acid Spirit. 12. You may make an Extract, by evaporating the Oyl to the thickness of an Extract: or by drawing the Tincture with S.V. and evaporating of it to the same consistency.

The Spirit is wonderfully drying, good against old Sores, Ulcers, and Burnings: It is of greater force taken inwardly a gut.vj. ad x. or xij. in any convenient Vehicle, than a large quantity of Guajacum, for it penetrates more and has a greater activity. The Oyl has the same Virtues with the Spirits but more powerful: Dose ij. iij. or iv. drops in Cinnamon-water: It cures the Cholick; and outwardly cures Gangreens, old Ulcers, and rotten Bones: The Extract has the same power; is wonderfully sudorifick, generally given in form of a Pill in all Venereal Diseases.

23. Oleum Buxi, Oyl of Box. Salmon.) It is drawn as the former; where note, that Box yields more Spirit than Guajacum, but less Oyl, because it has less Salt, and is lighter; for lbiv. of the Wood will yield near lbij. of the Spirit, and but 3j of Oyl. Both Spirit and Oyl have the same Virtues with those of Guajacum; but this Oyl is particularly good against Ulcers and Contusions, as also pain and rottenness of the Teeth: It is given in the same Dose.

24. Oleum de Quercu, Oyl of Oak. Salmon.) Modern Professors have found the Spirit and Oyl hereof, to be as fully effectual against the French Disease, as those of Guajacum.

25. Oleum Frazini, Oyl of Ash.

Salmon.) It yields Oyl and Spirit much like in quantity to Box; the Bark yields but little Spirit and no Oyl at all. The Spirit is a most excellent thing against Deafness, and tingling of the Ears, and noises thereof; because it resolves the matter (whether wind or humors) lodged in the Meatus auditorius, and in the first concavity of the Ear: The Oyl is excellent against the rotting of the Bones; it helps pain of the Teeth, and opens Obstructions of the Spleen and Kidnies by anointing.

26. Oleum d Caryophyllis fatidum, stinking Oyl of Cloves.

R Cloves (whose Tincture has been extracted with Spirit of Wine, for they are never the worse for this work) put them into a Glass-Retort well luted, and distil as in Guajacum, so have you a Flegm, and a black caustick, stinking Oyl:

H h 3 one

one pound of Cloves will yield about ʒviij. of Flegm, and ʒii. of Oyl.

Salmon.) Cloves yield much Oyl because they have much of Sulphur and Salt in them, and by reason of the Salt, it is sharp and Caustick. It is biting and very excellent for Pocky Pustles and sores, and all sorts of putrid and venomous Ulcers; it cures Gangreens and exfoliates rotten Bones. The acid Water cures Tettars and Ring-worms. After this manner you may draw a stinking Oyl of Juniper-berries, after they have yielded their Aromatick Oyl.

VIII. Oyls of Berries.

27. Oleum Baccarum Juniperi, Oyl of Juniper-berries.

Colledg.) R of the fresh Berries ʒbj. bruise them and put them into a wooden Vessel with fountain water, ʒlxxxiv. Sharp Leaven, ʒbj. keep them in a Cellar three Months stopping the Vessel close, then distil them in an Alembick with a sufficient quantity of simple water: after the Oyl is separated, keep the water for another distillation. In the same manner is made Oyl of Bay-berries, Ivy-berries, &c. Or you may draw Oyl from the aforementioned Berries bruised, and steeped 24. hours in warm water, adding to every pound of Berries, six pounds of Water, and then distilling by a Vesica, or Alembick, as before.

Salmon.) This Oyl is a specifick against the Stone in the Reins and pains of the Yard: It expels Wind out of the Body, Urine, Gravel, and the Terms; it roots out all Feavers, Jaundice, Dropsy, Gout and Cholick; it cures the Gonorrhæa, and all pains of the Reins; it opens all Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Gall and Lungs; and cures Ulcers, and scirrhus Tumors in those places; it helps all Diseases of the Head, as Vertigo's, Megrims, Convulsions, Falling-sickness, dead Palsies, and Numbness; it provokes Sweat, and expels both Plague and Poyson: Dose ʒ gut. iv. ad x. Where note, 1. That this Oyl (as also most other Aromatick and Balsamick Oyls) is now generally drawn with Spirit of Turpentine, three or four times rectified from its red Oyl, to the end that being incorporated with the Essence of Juniper, it might augment the quantity; but that is a cheat. 2. That this Aromatick Oyl of Juniper (as of all other Aromatick Oyls) is nothing but the subtillest part of its volatile Salt, Sulphur and Mercury, from whence it receives its taste, smell, and colour or Tincture; though the Salt and Sulphur are predominant, of which the Sulphur is chief, because it swims upon its flegm; which otherwise, was it full of Salt, would sink to the bottom, as Oyl of Cinnamon, &c.

28. Oleum Baccarum Lauri, Oyl of Bay-berries.

Salmon.) It is made as the former: It is prevalent against the Megrim, and all cold affects of the Joints and Nerves; it helps the Carus, Lethargy and Vertigo; and is good against all sorts of Agues, Quotidian, Tertian & Quartan, being anointed on the Back-bone, a little before the Fit: taken inwardly $\text{ʒ gut. iii. ad$

vj. vel viii. It is a specifick against the Cholick, Stone in the Reins, and other affects of the Bowels.

29. Oleum ex baccis Hedera, Oyl of Ivy berries.

Salmon.) It is made as Oyl of Juniper, given chiefly in Feavers, Stone, and Stoppage of the Terms, being a counter-Poyson, and an Antidote against the Plague and all Pestilential Diseases. Dose $\frac{1}{2}$ gut. ii. ad vj.

IX. Oyls out of Gummies.

30. Oleum Terebinthinae, Oyl of Turpentine.

Colledge.) Take of Venice Turpentine, as much as you please, put it into an Alembick, or a Copper Vesica with its refrigeratory, with four times its weight of fair water, putting under it a convenient fire; so shall you have a thin and white Oyl, like water, and in the bottom of the Vessel will remain the Colophony. This clear Oyl may be drawn more commodiously, and freer from danger of burning, in a glass Still with its head, in BM.

Salmon.) 1. You must not fill the Vessel with Turpentine above one eighth part; and then fill it but half full of water, lest the Turpentine should boyl over, and run in Substance into the Receiver. 2. In distilling you have Flegm, Spirit and Oyl; but the Flegm will sink to the bottom, and the Oyl and Spirit will swim at top. 3. You may separate the Flegm by a Funnel, and keep the Spirit and Oyl incorporated together. Or, 4. You may separate the Spirit and Oyl thus, fill a glass Retort luted to the neck, half full of your matter, set it on a round, in a little Circulatory fire; and distill till you have three parts of Spirit, and that in the bottom of the Retort looks like a thick red Oyl. Rectify this Spirit again in another Retort by the same sort of fire, so as to distil three quarts and a halt in Spirit and the rest be in the form of a thick red Oyl: rectifie the Spirit again, doing thus so long as any Oyl will remain after the extraction of the Spirit: so shall you have the Spirit pure, divested of its Oyl, and without smell, yet retaining its force and acrimony.

5. At Provence, (where the greatest number and quantity of Essences are made) it is the only thing used in the Extraction of the Essences, and oleaginous properties of all Aromatick Woods, Barks, Leaves, Flowers, Berries, Seed, &c. Because being naturally of an unctious Body, and having been robbed of a great quantity of its homogeneous Oyl, it is hungry, and therefore is easily impregnated with the Oily essence of the said Aromaticks: so likewise being void of smell, it greedily sucks their Balsamick odour by mere infusion in it, which then is distilled in a Vesica, as is Spirit of Wine, so that the Essences which are commonly sold, are not drawn from the Drugs alone; but are only the Spirit of Turpentine impregnated with the Sulphur of Aromaticks. 6. There is another way of drawing the Spirit and Oyl which we have taught in the first Book of this Dispensatory, and in our Doson Medicum. Lib. 2. Cap. 3. Sect. 9. The Spirit is a powerful Diuretick and Stone-breaker; it opens all Obstructions of the Reins, and Passages of the Seed; and takes away pain and soreness proceeding of cold. It dissolves all Gums better than Spirit of Wine, and that without any additional heat, and therefore is said to be used in making of the best Varnish. It dissolves with a small heat Brimstone, and makes of it an excellent Blood-red Balsam, and extracts from crude Antimony a blood-red Tincture, &c. The red Oyl is a most excellent Anodyne; and because it has lost all its acrimony and sharpness, cures wounds of the nervous parts to a wonder, which Falopius saith, it will do in 24 hours.

31. Oleum Myrrhe, Oyl of Myrrh.

Colledge.) R^x of Myrrh bruised, Bay-salt, A. ℥vj. dissolve them in spring water, ℔lx. and distil in a Copper Still or an Alembick according to Art.

Salmon.) There is another way, which we have taught in our Doron Medicum, Lib. 2. Cap. 2. Sect. 10. Or you may do it thus, fill a Glass Retort, well luted half full of Myrrh broken into pieces, place it in the Furnace of a circular Fire: fix to it a large Glass Receiver, and give Fire Gradatim, so will abundance of white Vapors arise, which in the Receiver will be an Oyl and Flegm, which separate by a Glass Funnel. Where note: 1. Because it is a resinous dry Gum, there is the less need of mixing of it with Sand, 2. That the Retort be but half filled, because the Myrrh will swell, and so may run over in substance. 3. That Myrrh having much Salt and Sulphur yields much heavy Oyl, viz. out of ℔bj. of Myrrh ℥vij. or viij. of Oyl. and ℥v. or vj of Flegm. 4. That the work will be done in about 5 or 6 hours. This Oyl is wonderfully detesive, and causes Wounds to mature, mixt with Unguentum Egyptiacum. It stops Gangreens, and being smelt to; it helps the suffocation of the Womb. That which is distilled by the Colledges Order, is of good use to keep Wounds from putrefaction, cures Pleurisies, and the Cholick, Fluxes, Feavers, and Agues, and cures deafness if dropt into the Ears.

32. Oleum Myrrhe per deliquium, Liquor of Myrrh.

Colledge.) Boil Hens Eggs till they are hard, cut them through the middle of the length: take out the Yolks, and fill the Cavities half full of beaten Myrrh, put them together again, and bind them gently with a thread, place them between two dishes in a moist place, a Grate being put between, so will the Liquor of the Myrrh distill down into the lower dish.

Salmon.) It is a good Pectoral given gut. xxx. at a time fasting, in juyce of Liquorice, dissolved in Canary: given in Essence of Bramble-berries not ripe, it stops the whites in Women. Outwardly it is a Cosmetick; makes the face fair and youthful. Culpepper was much mistaken to think this and the former to be both one, and to have the same Virtues.

33. Oleum Cere, Oyl of Wax.

Colledge.) Take of yellow Wax melted, ℔i. mix it with Powder of Tiles, ℔ij. put them into a Retort, and and draw out the Oyl in sand, which rectifie with a great quantity of water. Or add to the new distilled Oyl, a double quantity of new Wax, cut into small bits, and distil again by a Retort with a gentle fire in sand.

Salmon.) It is to be noted

1. That you had better take five parts of powder of Tiles or Bricks to one of Wax, which you are to make into little Balls. 2. That you use a glass Retort well luted, because the Oyl would Penetrate an earthen or stone one. 3. That you give fire by Degrees. 4. That being hot, the flegm comes first in white vapours, and then the Oyl in the same form, which is condensed into a red stinking Oyl, and being cold, congeals into Butter as yellow as gold. 5. That the operation will be done in about 5 or 6 hours. 6. That lbj. of Wax will yield 3xiv. of Oyl, and not 3j. of Flegm. 7. That being divers times rectified, it will be white and clear as whites of Eggs, and nothing near so stinking.

This precious Oyl is excellent against suffocation of the Womb: it heals all green Wounds instantly, as also burnings and scaldings, although with Oyl, and that in few days, by anointing with it, and laying a cloth thereon, wet in the same. So also it cures baldness, it is excellent in old Ulcers, and wonderfully eases pains of the Gout and Sciatica: It helps chops in the Hands, or in Womens Nibbles; it asswages all swellings, and helps Breasts that are swollen and ulcerated. Mixed with Oyl Olive and anointed (with a Truss) cures Ruptures: inwardly gut. xx, or xxx.

mixt with white Sugar and drunk with Rhenish Wine, provokes Urine and the Terms, helps fits, stitches and pains in the Loins.

Colledge.) After the same manner is drawn Oyl of Fats, Gums, and Rosias, which cannot be beaten into powder; as, 34. Oleum Ammoniaci, Oyl of Gum Ammoniac.

Salmon.) It is good against fits, opens obstructions of the Spleen, attenuates, dissolves, and is prevalent against the Gout, outwardly and inwardly used. Dose ad gut. vj.

35. Oleum Carana, Oyl of Carana.

Salmon.) It is powerful in the dissolution of Tumors, stops cold distillations, eases pains in the Nerves and Joynts, and cures green Wounds, chiefly of the Muscles.

36. Oleum Opopanacis, Oyl of Opopanax.

Salmon.) It is emollient and digestive, and has all the Virtues of the former.

37. Oleum Sagapeni, Oyl of Sagapenum.

Salmon.) It is good against Palxies, Cholick and Agues, and all cold Diseases of the Stomach, Nerves, Joynts and Spleen: it provokes the Terms, and brings away both Birth and after-birth.

38. Oleum Styracis Liquidæ, Oyl of Liquid Storax.

Salmon.) It is emollient, and digestive, and an excellent thing to heal Wounds.

39. Oleum Tacamahacæ, Oyl of Tacamahac.

Salmon.) It is a specifick to soften Tumors and Nodes, give ease ease in the Gout, and to cure Wounds in the Nerves and Joynts; it strengthens the Womb, and is Anodyne.

40. Oleum Lateritium Philosopherum, Oyl of Bricks.

Colledge.) Take Bricks broken in pieces, as big as Beans or Pigeons Eggs, beat them red hot, and quench them in old Oyl, letting them ly till they be cold; take them out, beat them into fine powder, and distill them in a Retort, with a convenient Receiver, in an open fire by degrees; the Oyl dropping from thence, keep in a gas close stopped.

Salmon.) This ought to be done as oyl of Wax; and if you please you may put the Oyl ℥ij , to powdered Bricks ℔v . if there is less of the Brick, the Retort will break. 2. Give fire gradatim till the flegm is come over wholly, which you may know when the matter makes no more noise in the Retort, then encrease the heat and make a fire of suppression, by covering the Retort with live Coals; so will you have a red and black Oyl. 3. If then there comes fumes, the fire is too strong, and ought to be lessened. 4. The work will be done in about five hours. 5. That ℥ij . of Oyl will give of distilled Oyl, about ℥iv . which separate from the flegm, as we have already taught. 6. That this Oyl being rectified in a glass Retort in a sand fire, it will be yellowish and less fetid. It is reported to be a specifick in the Gout and Sciatica, and all Diseases of the Nerves and Joynts proceeding of cold. It is very penetrating and resolving, and a great Anodyne in pains proceeding of cold humors. It mollifies hard swellings; helps the dolor of the Spleen and Reins, and is excellent against Cramps, Palsies, and numbness.

41. Oleum Succini, Oyl of Amber.

Colledge.) ℞ of yellow Amber p. j. burnt Flints, or powder of Tiles, p. ij. mix them, put them into a Retort, and let them be distilled in sand, the white and clear Oyl, which comes first, keep by it self, then distill on, till all come out, keep both Oyls severally, and rectify them with water. The salt of Amber, which sticks to the Retort gather, and being purged, by solution, filtration and coagulation, according to Art, keep it for use.

Salmon.) You may otherwise distill it with Spirit of Wine, which is the better way, being less stinking, and more penetrative: Thus, ℞ yellow Amber in gross powder ℥iv . put it into a glass Retort well luted; to which put S. V. ℥viii . so as the Retort be not above half full; put the Retort on a round hollow earthen pan in the circulary Furnace, to which fit a large glass Receiver, without luting to the Retort, least the vapours of the spirit of wine should break it, increase the fire gradatim, and at last give a fire of suppression; that you may drive out the Oyl with the spirit of wine, which continue till no more clouds appear in the Receiver, for that is a token that all the Oyl is come over; so will you have S. V. impregnated with red Tincture of Amber ℥viii . and of the black Oyl ℥ii . which separate by a Funnel. Here is to be noted, 1. That Amber may be distilled alone, but its Oyl will stink the more.

2. That

2. That S.V. will extract a red Tincture from the Oyl, having the same Virtues with the former which was distilled. 3. That out of lbj. of Amber, you may draw Oyl xxiiij.

The Oyl is bitter and fætid, excellent against Fits of the Mother, the Epilepsy, Convulsion, Pally, Lameness, Numbness, Wounds of the Nerves, &c. It is a certain specifick for the cure of the Piles: I have successfully used it, without ever failing. It cures Deafness and pains of the Spleen, mixt with equal parts of Lard: I recovered a Child which had lost the Use of all its Limbs, and that only by anointing. It is also prevalent against the Gout and Sciatica: Dose inwardly à gut. iij. ad xij. or xvj. It strengthens the Brain and Senses, fortifies the Body, revives the Spirits, and causes speedy delivery to Women in Travel: It is excellent against Fevers and Agues, Plague and Poyson, the Vertigo, Megrim, Catarrhs, Jaundice, Cholick, Lethargy, dimness of Sight.

The Ambred Spirit of Wine, has all the same Virtues, but not altogether so powerful; yet a specifick against Fits of the Mother and Falling-sickness.

Colledge.) In the same manner is distilled,

42. Oleum ex Gogate, Oyl of Jet.

Salmon.) Though the Colledge orders Jet to be distilled as Amber, yet it is not the best way: for being of a dry substance, it does not swell, and therefore needs no powder of Tiles: you may do it thus, Put pieces of Jet, lbiv. into a Glass Retort well luted, filling it to the Neck, and placed on an earthen Pan as before: lute well to the Neck, a large Receiver: give a gradual fire, then a great circular fire, then a fire of suppression: so in the Receiver you will have many white Vapours, which will dissolve into Spirit and Oyl: and in about 12 hours you may finish the distillation: where note, 1. That Jet lbj. yields Oyl xiij. and Spirit xx. which separate by a Funnel. 2. That the Oyl of Jet sinks to the bottom, by reason it is full of Salt. It has all the Virtues of Oyl of Amber, and to be used in the same manner, but stinks worse: The Spirit also, has the same nature, but more weak.

Colledge.) Also the Oyls of Gums and Rosins, which may be reduced into powder, as of Benjamin, Mastich, Frankincense, &c.

43. Aqua Tartarea, Water and Oyl of Tartar.

Colledge.) R Vitriol calcin'd to whiteness lbij. white Tartar lbj. powder and mix them, then distil by a Retort: the water, separated from the Oyl, rectify.

Salmon.) This is an Addition in the new Dispensatory, which was not in their old. The rectified water, mixt with a sufficient quantity of Rose water, and dropt into the Eyes, cures most Distempers happening to them. Taken inwardly in Rhenish Wine it opens Obstructions, and cures the Green-sickness, &c. It is a natural kind of Liquor.

Oyls

Oyls added by the Author.

44. Oleum Odontalgicum, Oil against the Tooth ach.

R of the strongest Oyl of Sulphur, Oyl of Guaiacum, Oyl of Box, Tincture of Cloves, Tincture of Opium, SV. camphorized, A. mix them, and you will have an oily red Liquor, which keep in a Glass close stopd.

Salmon.) It is a Specifick against the Tooth-ach, destroying that sharp humor which falls on the Teeth, apply it to them in a Pellet of Cotton as big as a Pea dipt therein: or put it in the hollownes, and presently the Rheum will fall away in abundance, and the pain will cease.

45. Oleum de Spica, Oyl of Spike or Lavender.

R the greater Spike, or broad white leaved Lavender, macerate it in Rhemish Wine, then distil by an Alembick: so have you Spirit and Oyl, which separate.

Salmon.) It is seldom used by it self, but mixt with other Toppick Medicines, as Emplastrum Vigonis: for the Virtues see the Herb. Lib. I. Cap. 4.

46. Oleum Otalgicum Mynsichti, Mynsichts Oyl against Deafness.

R Roots of black Hellebor \mathfrak{z} ss. Pulp of Coloquintida \mathfrak{z} ij. choice Sena, Bayleaves, A. \mathfrak{z} ij. live Hglice, Oyl of Musk, Cloves, A. \mathfrak{z} iss. leaves of Rosemary, Mouse-ear, Marjoram, davin, A. \mathfrak{M} . ss. boyl all in Canary Wine, strain, and take of the straining \mathfrak{z} ij. Oyl of bitter Almonds, \mathfrak{z} ij. of Juniper-berries, of Niter, A. \mathfrak{z} iiij. Oyl of Ants, \mathfrak{z} iss. boyl them again to the consumption of the humidity, and keep the Oyl for use.

Salmon.) This Oyl dropt into the Ear, and it stopd with a little Cotton dipt therein is an excellent thing against thickness of hearing, noise in the Ears and Deafness.

47. Oleum Carminativum, Oyl breaking Wind.

R of the distilled Oyl of Cummin seed \mathfrak{z} ss. of Fennel, Annis, Caraway, A. \mathfrak{z} ij. of Dill, of Orange-peels, of Camomil, A. \mathfrak{z} ss. mix and keep them for use.

Salmon.) This is a true Anodyne and expeller of Wind, prevalent against all Diseases of both Head and Womb, arising from cold and ventosity; it is an exceeding good Pectoral, easing pains of the Ventricle, Liver and Spleen, Reins and Bladder: it cures the Cholick almost in a moment, and takes away the Hypochondriack Melancholy. Dose \mathfrak{a} gut. iiii. \mathfrak{a} vj. in any proper Vehicle: you may use it as well outwardly as inwardly.

48. Oleum Nephriticum Mynsichti, The Stone-breaking Oil of Mynsicht.

R rectified Oyls of Amber, of Turpentine, and Juniper-berries, A. \mathfrak{z} iiij. Leaven of Housebold-bread, common Salt, white Tartar, A. \mathfrak{z} j. waters of Ground-Ivy, of Stone-Parshy, of Rest-Harrow, A. \mathfrak{z} iiij. mix them: digest ten days, then distil in an Alembick: separate the Oyl, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It is a very powerful Remedy to break and expel the Stone, both in the Reins and Bladder: It gives ease in the most intollerable pains of the Cholick; it strengthens the Womb, and facilitates Delivery, given in Vervain Water, or Rhenish-Wine: It cures most affects of the Head and Nerves, as Convulsions, Lethargy, &c. given in Tile-flower water; so also it cures Agues, anointing withal down the Back-bone. Dose in the Morning \dot{a} gut. iij. ad vi.

most

49. Oleum Sabine crocinum Mynsichti, Mynsicht's Oyl of Savin.

Rx distilled Oyl of Savin \mathfrak{z} iii. Oriental Saffron \mathfrak{z} iii. rectified spirit of Mugwort, Centory the less, and Cinnamon, A. \mathfrak{z} j. digest ten days, abstract the Spirit, and separate the Oyl for use.

Salmon.) The intention hereof is to provoke the Terms, which is very good for you may give morning and evening (after due preparations of the Body) \dot{a} gut. iij. ad vi. in Rhenish Wine, or some appropriate decoction.

50. Oleum Lignorum Mynsichti, Oyl of the Aromatick Woods.

Rx the Rasplings of Lignum Santalum \mathfrak{lb} iij. of Sassafras and Rhodium, A. \mathfrak{lb} ss. mix and distil according to Art: so have you Spirit and Oyl, which separate, rectify them at several times, keeping them for use.

Salmon.) The Spirit is Diaphoretick, and expels Poyson and Venom, especially of the French Disease by Sweat, and all other malignities lodging in the Body: Dose \dot{a} \mathfrak{z} ss. ad \mathfrak{z} j. The Oyl is a Specifick in a Gonorrhæa, and Venereal Contagion, being given in a proper Vehicle, \dot{a} gut. v. ad viij. outwardly it cures pocky Ulcers, Pustles and Scabs, only by anointing.

51. Oleum Balsami Mynsichti, Mynsicht's Oyl of Balsam.

Rx of the distilled Oyls of Hypericon, of Bay-berries, and of Juniper-berries, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Oyl of Peter, \mathfrak{z} ss. Oyls of Rhodium and Spick, A. \mathfrak{z} ij. Oyl of the seeds of Angelica and Anise, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Cypress Turpentine, \mathfrak{lb} ss. Oyl of Olives \mathfrak{lb} i. mix them and make a rubicund Balsam.

Salmon.) It heats, opens, dissolves, attenuates, and penetrates; it is exceeding good against all cold affects in any part of the Body: It wonderfully dissipates Wind; and helps the Palsy, and other Diseases of the Nerves. It cures noise and pains in the Ears, and Deafness. It takes away the violence of Fevers and Agues, and cures them being anointed along the Spina dorsa: It resists Putrefaction and the Plague. It provokes Sweat, is good against Convulsions, the Cholick, Dropsy, Fits of the Mother, weakness of the Stomach, Coagulations of the Blood, and the Stone. Dose \dot{a} \mathfrak{z} j. ad \mathfrak{z} j. It is used both internally and externally against all manner of pains.

52. Oleum Balsami, Petri de Ebano, Peter de Ebano his Oyl of Balsam.

Musk \mathfrak{z} ss. Turpentine the weight of them all: being bruised and beaten, let them be mixt, and distilled in B.M,

Sal-

Salmon.) This Artificial Balsam has all the Virtues of the former, and of the Natural Balm, and by Chyrurgians is often used in place thereof. It is of great use in curing Wounds, for it warms, glutinates and dries. It cures the Palsy and all the Vices of the Nerves: helps the Palpitation and Trembling of the Heart; as also Swooning fits: It cures Feavers anointed on the back before the fit, and so also restores such as are in a Hestick. It takes away Sadness and Melancholy, helps the Falling sickness, and Suffocation of the Womb, and preserves dead Bodies from Putrefaction. Dose à gut. vj. ad xv. or xx. In stead of the Gum Arabick you would do better to add Cinnamon. There are several other Descriptions hereof, which you may see in Fuchs and Evoimus. X. Oyls distilled by Expression.

53. Oleum Formicarum Myrsinichti, Oyl of Ants.

℞ live Ants, seeds of Rocket, ana, bruise and mix so as to make a paste; put it into a glass, stop it close, and set it in the Sun, or in Balneo, for a month, then draw forth the Oyl by Expression, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) This is excellent against the Palsie, Convulsion and numbness of any Member or Limb, by anointing the Part: It also stirs up Lust by anointing the Pubes, Yard, and places adjacent. It provokes Urine, and eases pains of the Spleen.

54. Oleum Amygdalarum dulcium, Oyl of Sweet Almonds.

Colledge.) ℞ Ol sweet Almonds fresh and good, as many as you please, blanch them, beat them in a stone Mortar, and squeeze forth the Oyl in a press without heat.

Salmon.) If it be done without heat, you will have but a little Oyl: you will do well to do it in a double Vessel, and being so heat, to press them.

55. Oleum Amygdalarum amarum, Oyl of bitter Almonds.

Colledge.) It is made in the same manner as Oyl of sweet Almonds, but that you need not blanch them, nor have such a care of the heat in pressing out the Oyl.

Salmon.) For their Virtues, see Lib. I. Cap. 6. You must blanch them, else you will have but little Oyl.

56. Oleum Avellanarum, Oyl of Hazle-nuts.

Colledge.) It is made of the Kernels, cleaned, bruised, heated, and pressed like Oyl of sweet Almonds.

Salmon.) Put the bruised Kernels into a Glass stopped so close that no Water may get in, and then put the Glass into Balneo to heat. It is a good Pectoral, and has all the Virtues of Oyl of sweet Almonds. It is good against the Gout, and the shrinking of the Sinews.

57. Oleum Balaninum, vel de Been, Oyl of Ben.

Colledge.) In the same manner is made Oyl of Ben.

Salmon.) It is a most excellent Oyl, and the best of all made by expression (which are not Aromatick) It is without Scent, nor does it ever grow rank (so great a Spirit of Life it contains) and therefore it is used by Perfumers to imbody all Aromatick Odours which have oleaginous Bodies, because

cause it best preserves them : and in Physick it is an excellent Pectoral, and much superior in Virtue to Oyl of sweet Almonds, in all which cases it may be used.

58. Oleum Nucis Moschata Expressum, Oyl of Nutmegs by Expression.

Salmon.) It is made as the former. It is excellent against all affects of the Head and Nerves, helping their pain and hardness : It is powerful against the Phthisick, and all cold Distempers of the Womb : It is good against the Stone, shortness of Breath, stinking Breath, pain and Obstruction of the Spleen. It heats, cuts, makes thin, digests and heals ; it comforts all the parts of Mans Body inward and outward, revives and cherishes the Spirits Natural, Vital, and Animal : it resists Poyson, Plague, all manner of Pestilential infection : It softens hardness, and eases pain in any part, but chiefly in the Head (the signature of which it bears.) It is good against the Epilepsy, Palsy, Convulsion, Vertigo, Megrim, Apoplexy, Lethargy, and other Diseases of Cold ; It is good against shrunk sinews, eases and cures the Piles, expels wind, and opens Obstructions : in all the aforesaid cases take it inwardly, and anoint outwardly the part affected. Dose ʒss.

59. Oleum Macis, Oyl of Mace.

Salmon.) It is made as the former, and has the same Virtues : see the Chymical Oyls, in Sect. 14 and 15 foregoing.

60. Oleum Carynum, Oyl of Walnuts.

Colledge.) It is prepared in like manner.

Salmon.) It is Pectoral, expels Wind, eases the Cholick, heals Burnings, Scaldings and pricks of the Nerves, and for want of Oyl of Ben. may be substituted in place thereof.

61. Oleum Chrysomelinum, Oyl of Apricock Kernels.

Colledge.) It is prepared in Expression of Apricock Kernels : so also Oyls of the Kernels of Cherry-stones, Peaches, Pine-nuts Pistick nuts, Prunes, The seeds of Oranges, Hemp, bastard Saffron, Citrons, Gourds, Citruls, Dwarf-Elder, Henbane, Lettice, Flax, Melons, Poppy, Parsly, Radishes, Rapes, Racinum Sesami, Mustard-seed, Grapestones, &c.

Salmon.) It is of force to give ease in the Cholick, and break the Stone : for Virtues of the others, see the Simples : but they are now out of use.

62. Oleum Laurinum, Oyl of Bays.

Colledge.) Be of Bayberries ripe and fresh gathered, bruise them, and boyl them in water, then press them in a press : the expressed faeces bruise again, put them into boyling water, and expresse as before : lastly, take away the Oyl which swims on the top of the water, according to Art : It quickly grows ranc.

Salmon.) It heats, softens, opens, discusses, its carminative and anodyne. It cures all cold Distempers in any part of the Body ; whether they proceed of flegm or wind ; for the Cholick, take a few drops in any proper Vehicle : It is good against most Diseases of the Brain, Nerves. Joynts, Loyns, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys neys, Womb: It opens the pores, and helps the shaking Fits of Agues, anointed on the Back-bone: In the Cholick you may also give it in a Clyster. Dose inwardly \dot{a} gut. x. ad xxx.

63. Oleum Olivarum Commune, common Oyl of Olives.

Colledge.) It is expressed from the fleshy pulp of ripe Olives, not from the Stones.

64. Oleum Omphacinum, five Omotribes, Oyl of unripe Olives.

Colledge.) It is made of the pulp of unripe Olives.

Salmon.) The Virtues of these two, see in their proper places among the Simples.

65. Oxyrrhodinum, Oyl of Roses with Vinegar.

Colledge.) It is made of four parts of Oyl of Roses and one of Vinegar.

Salmon.) It is commonly made of three parts of Oyl of Roses, and one of Vinegar. It is used to ease pain being applyed to the Head, Fore-head, and Neck. You may also mix Vinegar with Oyls of Poppies, Myrtles, Violets, Lillies, &c. for the same intention.

66. Oleum ex Vitellis Ovarum, Oyl of the Yolks of Eggs.

Colledge.) Re the Yolks of Hens-Eggs newly laid, boyled till they are hard, as many as you please: break them with your Hands, or in a Mortar with a Pestle: put them into an Earthen Vessel well glazed, heating them cautiously, and stirring them (least they should burn) so long till they grow red and will yield their Oyl: being hot, put them into a linnen bag, sprinkle them with Aromatick Wine, and press out the Oyl according to Art.

Salmon.) Or you may make it thus: boyl the Eggs in their Shells till they be hard: then take the Yolks and put them in to a Frying-pan, over a flaming fire, break all the Yolks with a Iron Spatula, and continue stirring them, till they are all reduced to a black Oyl, with a few black and burnt Faeces; put out the Oyl and keep it for use: If you would have it clear you may rectify it in a glass Retort in a Sand fire, so will it congeal like butter, and be yellow as Gold; but rectified in a naked fire, it will not be so yellow: Or, you may digest it in a bolt head for a Month over a gentle fire, or in a Sand Furnace, or in a Horf-dung-hill, so will the Faeces settle, and the pure Oyl will swim at top perfectly clear. The Oyl thus made is better and more penetrating than that of the Colledges prescription. It is an excellent anodyne Balsam: it cleanses, aglutinates and dries: & therefore cures green Wounds, burnings and Scaldings, in an instant as it were: It heals the Chops in Womens Nibles; is good against Ruptures, Fistula's and malignant Ulcers. It cures Baldness, is a good Cosmetick and takes away Tettars, Ring-worms, Morpew and Scab.

There are several other Oyls of singular use, mentioned in our Doron Medicum, Lib. 2. Cap. 3. Which see in their places.

CHAP. IV.

Of BALSAMS distilled.

1. Balsamum Apoplecticum Horstii, Apoplectick Balsam of Horstius.

℞ of the Oyls of Nutmegs, ℥i. of white Amber rectified, ℥ss. of Roses (commonly called Adeps Rosarum) of Cinnamon, A. ℥i. of Lavender, of Marjoram, A. gr. xv. of Benjamin, of Rue, A. ℥ss. of Cloves, of Citrons, A. gr. iv. mix all well together, then add Ambergrise ℥ss. Oriental Civer, Div. choice Musk, ℥i. mix all according to Art, to the just consistence of a Balsam.

Salmon.) The Oyl of Nutmegs is that made by expression, all the rest are Chymical. Horstius saith, That in the whole Republick of Medicine, there is scarcely found an Apoplectick Balsam more illustrious for Fame, more noble for Virtue, more worthy for Honour, more ready for Help, and more fragrant for Smell than this: It cheers and comforts all the Spirits, natural, vital and animal, by anointing the extremities of the Nostrils and the Palles: It cures Convulsions, Palsies, Numbness, and other Diseases proceeding of cold.

2. Balsamus Apoplecticus Mynsichti, Apoplectick Balsam of Mynsicht.

℞ Oyl of Nutmegs by expression, ℥ii. of the Chymical Oyls of Amber, of Lillies of the Vally, of Cloves, of Lavender, of Marjoram, A. ℥ss. Oyl of Cinnamon, ℥i. black Amber, Musk, A. ℥ss. Civer, ℥i. ss. Ambergrise ℥j. mix them according to Art.

Salmon.) It has all the Virtues of the former. Dose of both inwardly is a gr. iij. ad vj.

3. Balsamus Philosophorum, The Balsam of the Philosophers.

℞ Oyl of Philosophers, of St. Johnswort, A. ℥ss. Chymical Oyls of Galbanum, Amber, of Juniperwood, of Juniper-berries, A. ℥i. Canary-wine ℥x. mix all: extinguish in it red hot pieces of Bricks, till it is all sucked up: then distil as you distil Oyl of Philosophers, which rectify according to Art.

Salmon.) This Balsam was had in great estimation at Paris, and there sold at a great price: It is an Antidote against the Plague, all malign Feavers: the Gout, Stone, Apoplexia, it dissolves coagulated Blood, stops Bleeding at Nose, Gangreens, is excellent against Palsies, Cholic, pains of the side and Spleen. Outwardly it consolidates Wounds, and eases external pains. Dose a gut. iij. ad vj. in Spanish or Rhenish-Wine.

4. Balsamus Catholicus Steinbergij, Universal Balsam of Steinberg.

Be Sulphur, ℞s. Otibanum, Myrrh, Mastick, Gum Animæ, Terra sigillata, Benjamin, Aloes Epatica, Succotrina, Galbanum, A. ʒj. Saffron ʒj. mix and add Bole Armoniack ʒxxxiv. sublime. Then take of these flowers ʒii. to which put Oyl of Juniper-berries, Spirit of Turpentine, A. ʒii. Oyls of Caraways, Anise-seeds, Camomil, Cloves, A. ʒj. Oyl of Cinamon, ʒls. Jar of Roses ʒls. mix and digest twenty four hours, then distil and separate a rubicund Oyl.

Salmon.) It has all the Virtues of the former, and much exceeding it in every respect. It expels Wind, and eases the Cholick to a wonder. Dose ʒ ʒss. ad ʒi.

5. Balsamus Polychrestus Mynsichtii, Mynsicht's Balsam of many Virtues.

Take Oyl Olive, ℞j. Oyls of Hypericon, of Bays, A. ℞j. Chymical Oyls of white Amber, of Juniper-berries, Oyl of Peter, A. ʒiv. Chymical Oyls of Orange-peels, of Rosemary, of Nutmegs, of Spike, of Cammomil, of Cummin-seeds, A. ʒj. mix them, and add rectified S.V. (in which for ten days there was first infused and dissolved Maader, Brazil, flowers of Centory the less, Comfrey, Roses, Violets, Radix, Contrayerva, Mumia, Frankincense, Mastick, Benjamin, Storax, Calamita,) ℞i. cypress Turpentine ℞ss. Balsam of Sulphur made with Oyl of Anise-seeds ʒvi. mix again, and digest in the Sun, or a gentle heat, shaking it several times a day for 20 days; afterwards distil in B.M. with a very gentle fire till the S.V. is abstracted; and in the bottom will remain a red Balsam.

Salmon.) This is a most excellent Balsam, as well for external as internal use: It is of thin substance and penetrating quality. It comforts all the Members, heats, attenuates, opens, discusses, and dries. It is very good against all Defluxions from the Head, is prevalent against the Apoplexia, Epilepsy, Vertigo, Megrim, and loss of Memory, if the coronal Sutures, Nostrils, Temples, Crown and hinder part of the Head be anointed therewith. In noise of the Ears, Deafness, &c. it is used with happy success. All pains proceeding of Cold afflicting the Brain, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Womb, Nerves, and Joints, it miraculously cures: It is very profitable against Hypochondriack Melancholy, all hard and Scirrhus Tumours, Palsies, Convulsions, the Sciatica, shrinking of the Sinews, and the Gout. It cleanses the Lungs of viscous flegm, it strengthens the Stomach by Uction, and helps shortness of Breath. It disperses and expels Wind, and is a great Arcanum against the Cholick by anointing the Bowels, and taking of it inwardly: So also it is a Sudorifick, and dissolves congealed Blood. Taken in Rhenish-Wine, or Water of Persicaria or Parsly, and anointed on the Reins, it drives forth the Stone, and cleanses the Urinary passages of filth. It provokes vokes Lust, and helps the Suffocation of the Womb, brings down the Terms, and expels the fetus. It is powerful against Quartans, and all other Feavers, taken a little before the Fit, and also anointed on the Back-bone. It preserves from putrefaction, and all infection of the Plague. Dose \mathfrak{z} ij. ad \mathfrak{z} j. in a Specifick Vehicle.

6. Balsamus Mnemonicus Sennerii, Balsam for the loss of Memory.

Salmon.) It is good against all cold Diseases of the Ventricule, expels Wind and other noxious humors; It is good against Vomiting, and strengthens the Stomach: and is a Specifick against the Cholick, Palsy, and Cramp, used outwardly and taken inwardly: à gut. iv. ad x.

25. Balsamum Uterinum Horstij, The Womb Balsam of Horstius.

℞ Fresh May-Butter ℥j. Oyl of Tin, of yellow Amber, and of Turpentine, A. ℥ss. Gum Tacamahacca, Assa Fœtida, Galbanum, inspissate Juice of Savin, A. ℥j. Castor, ℥ss. Deers Suet ℥j. mix and make a Balsam.

Salmon.) The Navel being anointed with it, keeps the Womb in its right place, and cures all manner of pains thereof: anointed upon the Jugulars and Nostrils, it cures fits of the Mother.

26. Balsamum Podagricum Horstij, The Gout-Balsam of Horstius.

Take Juices of Housleek, of Rosemary, of Gourds, of Tobacco, of Hembane, of Ground-pipe, of Vervain, A. ℥vi. Vitriol calcined to be yellow, white Tartar, Salt calcined ana ℥iij. Grease of a wild Cat, of a Goose, of a Fox, Marrow of a Deer, $\mathcal{A} \mathfrak{z}$ js. Chymical Oyls of Turpentine, of Bricks, of Juniper, of Soap, $\mathcal{A} \mathfrak{z}$ j. Oyls of Lead, of Spicknard, $\mathcal{A} \mathfrak{z}$ vii. Gum Ammoniacum, Opopanax, Sagenum, Mastich, Olibanum; natural Mummy, $\mathcal{A} \mathfrak{z}$ js. mix, and digest in a gentle heat; increase the fire to the abstraction of the aquosity of the juyces.

Salmon.) The Title shews the Virtues, for which it is a wonderful Remedy, being anointed upon the parts afflicted; moreover it is an excellent Anodyne in all manner of pains, in any part of the Body, all which, it safely, quickly and easily removes. It also penetrates and resolves hard Nodes, and Tartarous Concrections, proceeding from Gouts, Cramps, or any other cause.

27. Balsamum Sacrum, seu Oleum Myrrhe compositum; The Holy Balsam (so called) or Compound Balsam of Myrrh.

\mathcal{R} Choice Myrrh, \mathfrak{z} vii: Mastich \mathfrak{z} ix. Aloes Eparica \mathfrak{z} xviii. Common Salt \mathfrak{z} ij. bruise and mix all together in a Mortar, and distill in a glass Retort with a gentle fire, taking great care in the distillation: so have you first a Water, then an Oyl.

Salmon.) Horstius saith, That this Oyl exceeds in value, the most precious Gem: anointed upon the Stomachs and Bellies of Children, it kills their Worms, and although almost eaten up, saves them from Death. It is also prevalent against Plague, poyson, Convulsions, and all Pestilential Distempers.

CHAP. V.

OF QUINTESSENCES.

1. Quintessentia Apij Fabrij. The Quintessence of Parsly of Faber.

\mathcal{R} Parsly roots gathered in their Prime, cleanse and bruise them, expressing from them all their juyce; put it into a Vial, in a close place to ferment; then distill it with a gentle fire, that the Spirit may ascend, which rectify from its Flegm: cohobate often, and digest this Spirit upon the Magma, or Caput Mort. that it may extract its Volatile Salt: Lastly, from the sad Magmat, or whole Root dried (being calcined) extract its alkalious Salt, which being pure conjoin (by digestion) with the former impregnated Spirit, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) This Arcanum gently purges Flegm, Choller and watery Humors, by reason of the Conjunction of the Spirit with its Essential and Elementary Salts: it dissolves internal tumors of the Liver and Spleen, and of the other Viscera: It is diuretick, provokes Urine, and purges purges the Reins and Bladder, breaking, dissolving and expelling the Stone, beyond any ordinary Medicine. Dose à ʒj. ad ʒij. in the morning fasting; in Broth, Syrup or some purgative Extract.

2. Quintessentia Agarici Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Agarick.

Take Agarick in fine powder, put to it the Quintessence of Roses (in Lib. 1. Cap. 5. Sect. 59.) or some other purgative Spirit: digest in a glass close stopp'd in a gentle heat for 40 days: after decant the Spirit, and filter it, keeping it in a close glass: To the Magma remaining add new Spirit, digesting 8 or 10 days as aforesaid, then decant, filter, and put it to the former Spirit: put to the Magma again, the best S.V. rectified, distill with a most gentle fire, seven times cobobating, separating the Flegm in every distillation, till the Volatile Salt ascends with the S.V. which Salt joyn with the former Spirit before distilled: The Magma now remaining, dry and calcine to very white ashes, from which extract the Elementary Salt, purifying of it by many solutions, filterations, coagulations, and calcinations, till the Salt is white as Snow, and limpid as Crystal, which add to the aforesaid Spirit and Volatile Salt, digesting them in a gentle heat for 40 days. Then distill till the remaining Magma, has the consistence of new Honey, upon which cobobate the Spirit now drawn off, repeating the distillation and cobobation, three times as before, after digest the Spirit and Magma together for 3 or 4 days, then filter, to free it from all terrestrity; lastly, distil it in a glass body, with a very gentle fire & that nothing but the Spirit of Roses may ascend) continue the distillation till the Magma is of the thicknes of Honey, which take, and keep it in a glass close stop'd for use. The Spirit you may save for another like operation, of Agarick, Sena, Scammony, &c. Over the Quintessence you may put Oyl of Cinnamon ad Saponem conciliationem.

Salmon.) This has all the Virtues of Agarick exalted; it purges Choller and thick Flegm, expels all putrid Humors from the Body; strengthens the Brain and all the Senses, purifying the whole mass of Blood, and comforting the Nerves; it is Cephalick, Pectoral and Diuretick, it is a very familiar Medicine, and has a conformity with all the parts of the Body: It settles and relieves the Brain, is good against the Headach, Apoplexia, Falling-sickness, Carus, Vertigo, Madnes, and all cold affects of the Brain: It provokes Urine and the Terms, and gives a general relief to the whole Body oppressed with unnatural matter. Dole à ʒj. ad ii. in the morning fasting: to Infants à ʒj. ad ii.

3. Quintessentia Anisi Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Anise.

It is made of the juyce of the green leaves and seeds fermented, as we have taught at Sect. 1. of this Chapter, concerning the Quintessence of Parsly.

Salmon.) It is good against a stinking breath and mouth, cleanses putrid Gums and Teeth, provokes Urine, expels Wind, comforts the Bowels, helps in the Chollick, is good against the bitings of Venomous Beasts, stops the the Whites, and increases milk in Womens Breasts. Dose ℥j. in any convenient Vehicle.

4. Quintessentia Antimonij Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Antimony.

℞ Antimony, reduce it into impalpable powder; Calcine it. 1. With equal parts of Niter, till it is blood-red; 2. With equal parts of Niter and Sulphur till it is white: after the detonation is over, put it into a bolt head with a long neck, and close it well: put it into a reverberatory Furnace for a month, till the Antimony is of a blood red colour: then take it out, put it into another glass body, upon which put S. V. perfectly dephlegmated: digest in a warm B. M. for 8. days, till the Spirit is tinged: decant, add new Spirit, digest as before, and repeat this work till the S. V. by those several effusions, has extracted the whole Tincture of the Antimony; which is then to be reverberated again, to redness, and dissolved in Spirit of Vinegar. Evaporate the Vinegar, and dissolve the remainder often times in Rose-water (having had many rectifications) till there be no feces in the solution, but be clear and splendid like to a Rubine; which you shall join with the former Tinctures extracted with S. V. ℞ all these Tinctures, put them into a glass Retort in B. M. causing all to ascend that will: then remove the Retort, and put it into ashes, so shall you have a most precious red Oyl, which rectifie 3 or 4 times, and join with its proper Salt, freed from all impurity; circulate twenty days and keep it for use. Multa alia possent dici de Antimonio, sed ea tanta sunt quanta nemo mortalium excogitare potest, est enim flos totius terræ, & metallorum semen in eo.

Salmon.) This Medicine purges not, but strengthens and restores by its Balsamick sweetness: It purifies the whole Mass of Blood from all mucous and serous humors: it cures the Leprosy, and is a special Arcanum against that Disease: it repairs the whole man, and purifies the radical moisture; It cures all sorts of Feavers, continual and intermitting, whether Quotidian, Tertian or Quartan, and expels all foreign matter, either through the pores of the skin, or by the emunctories. It eases all pains caused of cold or heat, immediately, being but outwardly applied warm: It is a perfect cure for the Gout and Sciatica, takes away nodes, dissolves tumors, and absolutely eases all pains of the Joynts whatsoever. It quickens all the senses, augments the natural heat, comforts the Spirits, cheers the Heart, generates subtil and pure Blood, strengthens all the Principal Members, recreates the Mind, and makes a cheerful Countenance. It is a true Balsam for all sorts of Wounds, curing speedily and safely: It cures all sorts of Ulcers; is a kind of specifick against the Cancer and Scrophula, which it heals in a short time: Lastly, it cures all affects of the Womb, as fits of the Mother, Barrenness, Coldness and Slipperiness of the Womb, Ulcers thereof, &c. cleanses it of evil Humors, and strengthens it. Hoc (meaning this Work) idem & simile Oleum, & Tinctura eadem, & sal possunt extrahi ex floribus Antimonij nii fixati, & reverberati, donec colorentur, & deinde procedendo ut superius dictum est, at difficiliori negotio.

5. Quinta essentia Argenti vivi Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Mercury.

Be pure Corrosive sublimate, put it into a bolt-head with a long Neck, to which put spirit of salt (rectified from its stegm) so much as may cover it the breadth of four fingers or more, stop it close, and digest in B.M. forty days: decant the solution, and put it into a Glass-retort: to the Magia in the bottom of the solution, put new spirit of salt, and digest till all is dissolved, mix this with the former, and distil them with a gentle heat, till all the spirit of salt is drawn off; at last augment the fire by degrees till a white Oyl of Mercury ascends; to the faces remaining add the former Oyl of salt to dissolve them, then distil the solution as before, till all the Mercury ascends in a white Oyl, and only black faces remain in the retort, which calcine with a violent fire, till they are white, from which extract a fixed or elementary salt, which purify and add it to the former Oyl seven times rectified and distilled; being conjoyned, put the Quintessence into a Glass-vessel, and keep it close stoppt for use.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted, that except the solution of the Mercury in the Spirit of Salt be first purified in the Alchool of the S.V. the aforesaid Operation will not succeed. It purges all humors, and helps their stagnation in any part of the Body, without any trouble or sickness: It is a preserver of Life, and of the radical moisture. It cures Catarrhs, Jaundice and French-Pox. Dose a gut. iv. ad viij.

6. Quinta essentia Aristolochie rotundae, Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of round Birthwort.

Be the jayce of round Birthwort, and Comfrey (i. e. of the whole Plants) mix them, and compleat the Quintessence, as we directed in that of Parsly, Salmon.) It is powerful in curing all simple Wounds in twenty four hours space and less, even to a Miracle, although deep and complex: It generates Flesh, consolidates broken Bones, strengthens relaxed Nerves, and suddenly restores the pristine Health. All internal Wounds also, whether in the Bowels or elsewhere, it wonderfully heals, dissolves coagulated Blood, cures the Pthick, Ulcers of the Reins and Bladder, and other the like internal Maladies. Dose a 3j ad ij. outwardly it may be mixt with proper Oynments, Oyl, or Malago-wine, and so applied warm; among which Balsam of Hypericon, Oyls of Wax, Frankincense, and Turpentine are chief to make it the chiefest Wound Balsam.

7. Quinta essentia Arsenici Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Ratsbane.

Be Crysal Arsnick, Niter A.q.s. ponder them, mix and distil a Spirit in a Glass-retort in Ashes; having a receiver strongly luted to it. Then break the retort, take out the Caput Mort, ponder it, and put on it the spirit, and distil again; this do four times, or till the Arsnick with the Niter are thoroughly calcined; which then take and put upon

upon a strong Tile, and give it the strongest fire for one whole day; this Calx dissolve in distilled rain water, free it from all its terrestreity, filter, and evaporate to dryness: Calcine again with a most strong fire, so long til there be no faeces in the solution, but the Calx is wholly dissolved into a clear and limpid water, which evaporate to dryness, to this Salt add the afore distilled Spirit (being first seven times rectified) which put into a glass Matraß with a long neck in a warm B.M. till the Salt and Spirit are perfectly united: then at last, put the matter into a glass Alembick, and by B.M. separate the aqueous humidity, so shall you have in the bottom the Butter like Quintessence of Arsnick, of wonderful Virtues which keep in a glass close stop.

Salmon.) Although the simple Salt is a kind of Treacle, and an Antidote against Poyson and Contagion, yet being joyned with its Spirit, is not to be taken inwardly by any means. Outwardly applied, it is good against the bitings of mad-Dogs, or any other Venomous Beasts; It cures Cancers and that without pain, extinguishing and mortifying the malign matter. All Fistula's and cavernous Ulcers it heals, by burning and consuming the calous and cadaverous flesh. It also cures Herpes, Scabs, Lentils, Spots, Freckles, Scurf, Morpew, and other affects of the skin; but you must be cautious in the using of it, first touch the parts therewith, then wash it off with fair water, at last anoint with a Lixivium of Salt of Tartar: you may mix this Quintessence with Unguents.

8. Quintessentia auripigmenti Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Orpiment.

Take Calx of Orpiment, calcin'd as aforesaid with Niter, free it from the Salts by many lotions; reverberate it for a month in a glass close stopped, till it is red: then dissolve it in rectified Spirit of Salt in a warm B.M. digesting till the spirit is tinged: decant, put on new spirit, digest and repeat this work till all the Calx is dissolved, put all these solutions into a glass Retort, distill in ashes with a gentle heat, so have you first the spirit of Salt: then at last augment the fire, and putting to it a new Receiver, force over the Quintessence of a most sublime colour, which rectify seven times, and keep in a glass close stop for use.

Salmon.) This Medicine certainly expels all manner of poyson and venom, of what kind of quality soever, is prevalent against the Plague, and (if Faber says true) exceeds Aurum Potabile in preserving Youth, and the Humidum Radicale. It cures all poysoned Wounds, malign Ulcers, and Pestilential Feavers. Dose in Broth $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. ad $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. in the morning upon a fasting stomach, outwardly it is applied warm with a little Cotton. Mirum est quod e summo Veneno, fiat Summa Theriaca.

9. Quinta essentia Brassicae marinae Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Sea Colworts.

It is made of the juce of Soldanella, as you make the Quintessence of Parsly. In which operation note, that the Volatile salt will ascend, and stick like Snow to the sides of the Vessel, and head of the Stillatory; as in other operations of this kind.

Salmon.)

Salmon.) This Arcanum purges all noxious humors, and the stagnation of any matter in the first Region. It cures all Feavers, continual or intermitting, stops all sorts of Fluxes, and the Whites in Women. It is a powerful thing against the Gout, proceeding from what cause soever; recreates the Nerves, restores Strength lost, revives the Spirits natural, vital, and animal; purifies the Blood, helps all sorts of cold Tumors & a Scirrhus only by external unction. It takes away Scabs, Itch, Pimples, Freckles, Spots, & Morpew, by continual washing the parts affected. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒj. in Broth, or some magisterial Syrup, in the Morning fasting, twice or thrice a Week.

10. Quintessentia Cancrorum Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Crabs.

Recipe. Fish (i.e. all the inside) of Crabs, put into a Glass-still, and distil with a gentle fire, rectify the Water seven times: The Caput Mort. calcine to whiteness, from which with the Water of Rest-barrow, Gromwel, or Saxifrage, extract a pure and white Salt, freed from all earthyness, which join with the aforesaid Water, and keep it for use.

S. lmon.) It miraculously breaks and expels the Stone from the Reins and Bladder, cures the Disfury and Strangury, and mixed with Spirit of Turpentine, cures the difficulty of Pissing, so that the affects are thought by some to be Magical. It dispels the darkness of the sight, and takes away Clouds and Catraacts, being drop into the corners of the Eye thrice a day. Outwardly applied it cures Cancers, if they be first mortified with the Arcanum of Arsenick (at sect. 7. aforesaid going.) But this Medicine will be much more powerful, if you extract the volatile Salt with S.V. rectified by many digestions and cobobations, &c. upon the Magma, before calcination: for then it acquires the highest power and force in resolving the Stone, and all tartarous coagulations.

12. Quinta essentia Carranna Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Caranna.

Dissolve the Gum in S.V. rectified in B.M. digesting fifteen days: then distil, first with a gentle fire, so have you first a piercing Spirit, after a yellow Oyl, then a red Oyl, which Oyls rectify three or four times. From the Caput Mort. (being calcin'd) extract a Salt, which purify by many solutions, coagulations and calcinations, and mix it with the former Oyls, which unite by digestion in B.M. then keep it in a Glass for use.

Salmon.) It is an Arcanum against the Gout, eases all manner of pains proceeding of cold whether in the Nerves, Tendons or Muscles: It dissolves all sorts of cold hard and scirrhus Tumors. In the Cholick, nothing is more powerful: it cures all inveterate Ulcers: The Megrim and pains in the Head, it cures in a Moment. Dose à gut. viij. ad xij. or xiv. in syrup of Poppies. Outwardly apply it, mixt with some proper Unguent, or dip Lint into it, and lay it upon the place.

13. Quinta Essentia Caryophyllorum, Fabers Quintessence of Cloves,

Take Cloves, distil from them an Oyl, as we have already taught; Upon the Faces put Spirit of Cloves and distil, cobobating six or seven times: lastly calcine the Caput Mort. and extract with water a pure Salt, mix these and unite them by digestion. Or thus, Be the Oyl, put to it the distilled water of Cinnamon or Cloves, digest then distil in a glass Still in B. M. till the Oyl is coagulated, by virtue of the Spirit of the Volatile Salt, and the water becomes insipid, with this conjoin the aforesaid Elementary Salt, which digest and keep for use. Thus are made the Quintessences of Nutmegs, Mace, Cinnamon, Cassia ligna, Pepper, Jamaica Pepper, Ginger, and of all other dry Seeds and Roots.

Salmon.) It comforts the Heart, Liver, Spleen, and Bowels, augments the Vital Spirit, eases all manner of pains of the Teeth, being as it were Ultimum refugium, and as it were miraculously cures all sorts of Ulcers. Inwardly it is taken in Broth, Wine, or some proper distilled water, a gut. vi. ad xii. Outwardly it is mixt with Lint, and applied per se, or with proper Ointments and so used.

14. Quinta Essentia Centipedum Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Sows, or Hogs-lice.

Be A great many Hog-lice, Salt decapitated, q. s. put all into a glass Still, and with a very strong fire distil, so that with their water the spirit of Salt may come over; this distilled Liquor, rectify seven times or more, then reserve it: The Caput Mort. Calcine, and with aqua Aristolochiæ extract the Salt, which so often purify, till it melts in a gentle heat, like wax: this Salt digest in the best rectified S. V. (such as is free from all Flegm) circulating and purifying of it; then forcing of it with a strong fire, till it ascend with the S. V. this Salt conjoin with the afore reserved Liquor, and keep the same for use.

Salmon.) Given inwardly with Cinnamon or Perficary water, it breaks, dissolves and expels the Stone, cures Cancers, Scrophula's, and Scirrhus Tumors, purifying the whole mass of Blood, cures the Leprosy, Dropsy, jaundice, stoppage of Urine, the Rickets, and most Diseases proceeding from obstructions, it provokes the Terms, and causes all stubborn and rebellious Ulcers to heal; which also by external application with the Spirit of Turpentine are soon purified, conglutinated and dried. Dose a ℥ss. ad 3℥s.

16 Quinta essentia Centaureæ majoris & minoris Fabri, Faber's Quintessence of the greater and an lesser Centory.

It is made as that of Parsly at Sect. 1. where note, that from the flowers of both, with S. V. and Vinegar of Sulphur, is extracted a Tincture, which purges gently, and without molestation or troubling the Stomach, all watery humors: this, if joyned with the Quintessence, makes the Medicine more precious.

Salmon.) It purges all noxious and superabundant humors, is a kind of Catholicon, expelling whatsoever is inimical to humane nature, it strengthens the Stomach, helps digestion, and causes a good appetite, hunting out all stagnant matter in what part of the

the Body soever. It preserves the Health, kills Worms, eases all sorts of pain, cures the Dropsy, Podagra, Chyragra, Gonogra, and all other the like dolours. Dose à ʒi. ad ʒii. or more in broth or Wine, upon a fasting Stomach.

16. Quintessentia Cornu Cervi Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Harts-horn.

To rasped Harts-horn put spirit of Salt, so much as may over-top it the breadth of four fingers, dissolve in a bolt-head, and circulate in B. M. for a month, then distil with a gentle fire, in ashes to dryness, (but take heed of burning) The faces remaining calcine to whiteness, and with Carduus water extract a Salt, which being purified, joyn with the aforesaid distilled spirit, which digest, and keep in a glass close stoppt for use.

Salmon.) This is one of the greatest Arcanums for all sorts of Venom and Poyson. It cures the Quartan, biting of venomous Beasts, and the Leprosy: It retards old age, preserves the humidum radicale, it recreates all the Spirits, Natural, Vital, and Animal, dissolves all tartarous Matter wheresoever in the Body, breaks and expels the Stone; and is one of the greatest Antidotes against the Plague and all Pestilential Diseases yet known, both as to a preservative and cure. Dose ad ʒi.

17. Quinta essentia Chelidonii Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Celandine.

It is made of juyce of Celandine, as is that of Parsly.

Salmon.) It cures all affects of the Eyes, the Jaundice, Feavers, Pains of the Teeth, and conglu-tinates Wounds and Ulcers: Dose ʒi.

18. Quinta essentia Cinnamomi Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Cinnamon.

Take pure Oyl of Cinnamon, put it upon fresh Cinnamon, gently bruised and moistned with a little Cinnamon-water: put all into a Retort, and distil in a boyling B. M. till all the Oyl is come over: from the Caput Mort. calcin'd extract a pure Salt, which joyn with the aforesaid Oyl, digest and keep it for use.

Salmon.) This is a wonderful Medicament, it provokes the Terms, brings away the Birth, cheers the Heart, comforts the Spirits, cures all Coughs and Colds, strengthens the Stomach beyond all other things in the world; recreates the Head, gives Virgins a good colour, and resists the infection of the Plague; in a word, it has all the virtues of Cinnamon, and of the Oyl exalted, which you may see lib. 1. cap. 2. sect. 7. and at sect. 12. ca. 3. of this Book. Dose à gut. iii. ad vi.

19. Quinta essentia Colocynthidos Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Coloquintida.

It is made of the expressed juyce fermented (taken when the Apples are ripe) according to the General Rule.

Salmon.) It is a great Arcanum in easing and curing the pain of the Teeth, it dries up Catarrhs, and in purging of Choler and Flegm has no equal. In a Sciatica, if it be rubbed in, it wonderfully eases the Pain, changing the nature of the Disease, and curing of it: In Quotidians and Quartans it is wonderfully efficacious: It cures the Palsy, comforts the Heart, Liver Liver and Ventricle, kills Worms and heals the Corrosion of the Bowels. Dose à ʒss. ad ʒj.

20. Quinta Essentia Cucumeris Agrestis Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Wild Cucumbers.

It is made of the fermented juice of the ripe Fruit, and fixed salt of the whole plant, as you make the Quintessence of Parsly.

Salmon.) It purges crude, serous and watery humors, cleanses the Blood, is excellent in the cure of the Dropsy, the Quarran, Green-sickness, Leprosy, Catarrhs, Diseases of the Lungs, Tettars, Ring-worms, Tumors and pains in the Ears. It cures the Gout, and all manner of Arthritick pains, certainly and safely. Dose ad ʒj. outwardly anoint with it.

21. Quinta Essentia Ebuli Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Dwarf-Elder.

It is made of the Juice of the Berries fermented gathered in their prime, and the Salt of the whole Herb, as we have taught before.

Salmon.) Against the Dropsy, Gout, and Quarran, there is scarcely the like Remedy in Nature, and in the curing of them it is rather miraculous than natural. It purifies the Blood, and eases all sorts of pains, taken inwardly in the morning fasting à ʒj. ad ʒiij. or more, and outwardly applying of it.

22. Quinta Essentia Halicacabi Fabri, Quintessence of Winter Cherries.

Rx Juice of the Cherries, digest and ferment in a bolt-head, and thereof make the Quintessence, by joyning with the burning spirit rectified, the essential salt of the juice, and fixed Salt made from the whole Herb.

Salmon.) It purges and cleanses the Reins, breaks and dissolves the Stone, cures the Disury, Strangury, yellow and black Jaundice: Dose a gut. xx. ad xxx.

23. Quinta Essentia Hellebori Fabri, Quintessence of Hellebor.

Take black Hellebor leaves and roots a large quantity, gathered in October: beat them in a marble Mortar, and express the Juice, which reserve; the Faces calcine well, and extract their elementary Salt: The juice divide into two parts, the one part put into a Bolt head, and digest it with a very gentle fire for fifteen days: which pass, distil what can be distilled in B.M. put the distilled liquor upon the Faces, and then filter, what remains express out with a Press; set these (being mixed) to evaporate some part of their humidity, setting the rest in a cold place to Crystallize, which wash, dry and keep. The other half of the divided juice, ferment and extract the spirit as we have taught at Sect. I. Of this Chapter, collaborating several times: in this pure spirit dissolve the afore reserved Crystals, and distil seven times; to this distilled liquor put the first pure elementary Salt, put all into a glass Vessel, adding a little Adeps Rosarum, impregnated with a few grains of Musk and Ambergrise, stop it close, digest forty days, shaking it 2 or 3 times a day, then keep it for use.

Salmon.) This is a Specifick in the cure of Melancholy, Frenzy, and Madnes; It is prevalent against Catarrhs, Vertigo's, Apoplexies, Epilepsies, the Megrims, and other Vices of the Head, if taken once, twice, or four times a month, ʒj at a time in broth.

24. Quinta essentia carnis humane Fabri, Quintessence of man's flesh.

Be of man's flesh killed by a violent Death, (the Sun being in ♈) ℥iiij. put to it S. V. rectified from all its flegm, so much as may overtop it the breadth of 4 fingers, digest it in a glass Vessel close stopd, for 4 or 5 days; then take it out, and in a glass Platter or Bason, sprinkle the flesh often with spirit of Salt depurated from all its flegm: cover the Platter or Bason, and set it in the shade where no dust may come, the flesh will imbibe or suck in a large quantity of the spirit of Salt, which remaining in the Plaster, let dry in the shade.

Hæc Caro sic condita summum est humanæ naturæ solatium, & vitæ suæ propugnaculum. Fabri Myrothecij Spagyrici, lib. I. cap. II.

Be of this flesh thus preserved ℥j. reduce it into powder, put upon it the best rectified S. V. digest and circulate for 15 days, till the S. V. is tinged of the colour of Blood: decant the Tincture into a circulatory glass Vessel, and luting all the joynts well, circulate for eight or ten days with a very gentle fire, till it lets fall all its faces: decant again into another glass Vessel, which keep close stopd: put all the faces together, viz. of the first infusion, and last digestion, and in a boyling B. M. draw off the humidity, which joyn with the former Tincture: The said faces burn and calcine to whiteness, with a Violent fire, from which with water of Carduus or flowers of the Tilletree, or Lilly Convally, extract a Salt, which purify by many solutions, filtrations, coagulations, and calcinations: and joyn it with the former Tinctures: from this Tincture, by the heat of a gentle Balneo, abstract some of the humidity, till it becomes of the thickness of new Honey, which for its worth may be preserved in a Vessel of Gold.

Salmon.) It preserves Health, and expels all Diseases whatsoever; having so many great Virtues, that should we enumerate them, would seem an Hyperbole of the Highest degree. However, we affirm it is accommodated to all Diseases whether internal or external, producing a long and healthful life: Dose every Morning fasting gr. iij, iv, or v. in Broth or generous Wine.

25. Quinta essentia Urinæ hominis, Fabri, Quintessence of Mans Urine.

Be the Urine of a young man (♏ and ♐ being in ♋) in a large quantity, or to ℥xxx. put to it S. V. (to facilitate the putrefaction) put all into a glass Vessel, close stopd to putrify in Horse-dung for a month, viz. till the whole Urine waxes black: then distil with a very gentle fire, to separate the S. V. which you may know by the streaks distilling in the head of the Alembick, when those streaks cease, change the Receiver, and gather the flegm till the fumes appear white in the head of the Alembick which keep in a glass close stopd. The faces calcine with a very strong fire, till they are white, from which with flegm of Wine, extract a Salt, which so often calcine, dissolve, filter, and coagulate till it is very white and pure: conjoyn this Salt with the former Liquor, to which add of S. V. rectified from all flegm ℥i. digest and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It breaks, dissolves, and expels the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, healing Ulcers of those parts: It cures all sorts of Ulcers and Wounds whether internal or external: mixt with Spirit of Turpentine it helps the Strangury and Disury, and takes away the difficulty of making water: mixt with a grain or two of Camphir, it quickly heals a violent and virulent Gonorrhœa. It resists all Putrefaction, kills Worms: and preserves from putrid Feavers: Against the Plague it is one of the greatest of Antidotes: outwardly, applyed warm with Ictur, it maturates Tumors and eases pain. Dose (in a morning fasting) $\frac{1}{2}$ gr. \times ad xii. in Cinnamon water, walking after it.

26. Quinta essentia Hirundinum Fabri, Quintessence of Swallows.

V. to the consistence of Honey in an Alembick with a gentle fire, which so often repeat till the Magma, left in the Alembick after distillation, be without feces in its dissolution, which reserve. From other Jalap extract an Oil per descensum, which rectify from its Empyruma, by mixing of it with Vitriol calcined to redness. From the Caput Mort. calcined, extract a Salt; all these three conjoin together, digest, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It is an excellent thing in Madness, Phrenzy, Melancholy, the Palsy, and other affects of the Head. It expels flegm, and all watery humours out of the whole Body. You may give it to the quantity of Jj. or ii. in thin Broth or distilled Water, in the Morning fasting, with observation as in other purges.

28. Quintessentia Carnis Lupi Fabri, Quintessence of Wolfs Flesh.

Be wolfs flesh newly killed lb. Mineral Arsenick lbj. Aron Roots dried ℥iij. Soot ℥iij. Lime water, ℥viij.

Hvj. bruise those things which are to be bruised, and cut those things which are to be cut, mix and put all into a Glass Vessel close stopp'd to putrife in Horse-dung for one whole Month: then, in a gentle Balneo, draw out all the humidity you can: after put the Alembick into Ashes, and distill with a very strong fire to dryness: the distilled Water rectify 3 or 4 times; the faeces calcine to whiteness, out of which extract a Salt with Aron Water, and purify it till it is white as snow, and emits no faeces: dissolve in the aforesaid rectified water, digest in a warm place for 20 days: then in a gentle B.M. abstract all the humidity you can, what remains in the bottom keep in a Glass Vessel close stopp'd for use.

Salmon.) It cures Cancers, and the Disease called the Wolf, as also Noli me tangere, powerfully mortifying and healing. It is also excellent against Scrofulous Ulcers, Phagedens, and all other malign Tumors; only by being used externally, or by being mixed with Oyl of sweet Almonds, Oyl of Mandrakes, or Oyl of Eggs; or the like Medicament easing pain.

29. Quinta essentia Nucis Moschata Fabri, Quintessence of Nutmegs.

Re Oyl of Nutmegs by expression, mix it with the best rectified S. V. digest them in a warm B. M. for 15 days: then distil in a boyling B. M. all that can be forced over, so have you the S. V. and an Oily spirit of Nutmegs, (like Oyl or spirit of Turpentine) having a most fragrant Odour, which always swims on top the S. V. & not being miscible and thicker than it. The Magma and thick Oyl at bottom of the Alembick together with the faeces from which the Oyl was expressed, distil per descensum; the liquor now distilled mix with the newly expressed Oyl, digest both in a warm B. M. for 15 days; then distil by a boyling B. M. as much as you can make to ascend; which 3 times cohobate and digest upon the remaining Magma, or so long till the Essential Salt ascends with the spirit white as snow; and of a most fragrant Odour, which with a very gentle heat you may melt. All the Magma's residing from every distillation and expression; are to be mixt together, and in an Alembick ad descensum, to be distilled, till they are burned to Ashes; this Oyl per descensum mix with a little Vitriol, and distil by a Retort to free it from the scent of burning & from the Ashes of the Caput Mort. extract the Elementary Salt, which depurate: The Oyls per descensum mix with the Essential and Elementary Salts, and unite them by a warm Balneo, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It virtuously and effectually cures all Diseases of the Head and Brain, as the Head-ach, Megrim, Vertigo, Frenzy, Madness, Epilepsy, Convulsion, Apoplexy, Carus and Lethargy: It is effectual against Catarrhs, is excellent against Consumptions, cures Ulcers of the Lungs, comforts and fortifies the Heart, helps fainting and swooning Fits, strengthens the Stomach, revives the Spirits, Natural, Vital, and Animal, in so much that there are not many Medicaments equal to it in the whole republick of Medicine. Faber saith, it makes a sweet Breath, sharpens the sight, strengthens the Liver, resolves the Spleen, provokes Urine, stops the Whites, expels wind, helps coldness of the Womb, causes fruitfulness, strengthens the Nerves and Joynts, eases pains proceeding of cold, provokes Lust, takes away Freckles and Spots of the Skin, and causes a good colour in the Face. Dose \dot{a} gut. viii. ad xii. or xiv. in Broth or Canary Wine; outwardly you may anoint the parts, grieved with it, either alone, or mixed with some proper Balsam:

Re Myrrb lbj. powder it and wash it in S. V. put to it Spirit of Turpentine lbj. digest in B. M. for sixteen days, distil with a gentle fire, to separate the Spirit of Turpentine: put it on again, and digest four days: distil again with a gentle fire to separate the Spirit of Turpentine: which done, change the Receiver, and continue the distillation till nothing more will ascend: the remaining Magma calcine with a very strong fire, from which extract a Salt, which purifie, and put to the aforesaid Oyl; to which add the Tincture of the flowers of Hypericon, and flowers of Mullen, extracted with the aforesaid spirit of Turpentine, and digested with pure Myrrb; digest altogether, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) If this Quintessence be mixed with the Quintessence of round Birthwort and Comfrey, you have a most perfect and absolute Balsam for the Cure of Wounds and Ulcers, whether new or old, simple or composed. It cures the Dysenteria, and other Fluxes of the Bowels, as also the Whites in Women, if mixed with Crocus or Oyl of Mars, in which case, nothing is more powerful: It also stops Catarrhs, temperates the sharpness of humors, heals Ulcers of the Intestines (given either by the Mouth or in Clysters) and is as great a preservative against the Plague and all Epidemical Diseases, as any thing yet known. Dose \dot{a} ℥j. ad ii. in any convenient Vehicle. Outwardly anoint with it, and apply it with Lint. After the same manner you may make the Quintessence of Mastich, Olibanum, and Frankincense.

31. Quinta essentia Melissophylli, Fabri, Quintessence of Bawm.

It is made of the fermented juce as that of Parsly; save. 1. Because of the dryness of the Bawm, you may add a little S. V. rectified to help the fermentation. 2. That from the collected Magma's you may distill an Oyl by a Retort, or per descensum, which ought to be rectified and united with the Spirit, Essential and Elemental Salts of the Bawm.

Salmon.) It quickens all the internal Senses, sharpens the Memory, Purges the Brain of moist humors, revives the Spirits, chiefly the Animal, strengthens the Stomach, cheers the Heart, exhilarates the Mind, expels Melancholy, causes Concoction and excites the natural Heat. It is good against faintings and swoonings, fits of the Mother, Paralytick, and Apopleck Diseases: it fortifies the Brain, and takes away fancies and vain imaginations tions whether from Atra bilis or exustaputusa. It is an Adjuvant to all the faculties of the whole man, prolonging life, preserving health, retarding Old Age, and resisting all things whatsoever, which are inimical to the lives of mortals. It is a powerful Antidote against Poyson, Plague, malign Feavers and all Pestilential Diseases. Dose à ʒj. ad ij. fasting, in Cinnamon-water, i spirit of Wine, or Treacle water.

32. Quinta Essentia Menthae, Fabri, Quintessence of Mint.

It is made of the fermented juyce of Mint gathered in July, as is that of Bawm, but without the addition of SV. where note, that the Magma plentifully abounds with Essential salt, which you may cause to ascend by many cobobations & distillations of rectified SV. The Oyl of Mint you may either make as you do adeps rosarum or oyl of Juniper berries, or else per descensum, which you must rectify by mixing of it with a little Vitriol calcin'd to redness, & then distil it in a Retort 3 or 4 times till it is freed from its empyruma: In this Oyl you may digest fresh Mint in a gentle heat, and in a Vessel close stop'd for a week; after which, press out the Oyl strongly with a press, & in the expressed Oyl put more Mint, digesting and expressing as before, reiterating this work 4 or 5 times, viz. till the Oyl has acquired the most fragrant odour of the Mint: To this Oyl thus rectified and impregnated put the aforesaid Spirit and Essential Salt, as also the Elementary Salt made from the calcined facer, which unite, by digestion for eight or ten days, in B.M. then keep it in a glass close stop'd for use.

Salmon. It is a wonderful and stupendious thing in stopping violent Vomiting, and taking away loathing of the Stomach. It strengthens the Ventricle, and cleanses it from all noxious matter. It kills Worms, eases pains of the Head arising from Disaffects of the Stomach: it cures the bitings of mad Dogs (the wound being bathed therewith, and lint dipt therein applied) is prevalent against the Plague, malign Feavers and other Pestilential Distempers: It softens and discusses all hard and scirrhus Tumors, ripens Phlegmons; and pestilent Bubo's, potently resists Poyson, & is one of the greatest of Pectorals. Dose à gut. x. ad xx. in Cinnamon or Mint-water, outwardly applying it to the place affected.

33. Quinta Essentia Myrobalanorum, Fabri, Quintessence of Myrobalans.

Re Myrobalans, put them into an Alembick ad delcensum proprium, and distil with a most violent fire, so have you Water and Oyl, which separate: the Oyl rectify (cum Vitriolo ad rubedinem calcinato) in a Retort, till it is freed from its empyruma: from the Ashes well calcined extract a Salt, which joyn with the Oyl. Take new Myrobalans, reduce them into fine powder, which put into a Vial, to which add water (separated from the Extract of Sena, Rhubarb and Agarick) so much as may over-top the breadth of 4 fingers: stop the Vial close; and digest in ashes with a gentle heat for a month, then decant and filter, after distil with a very gentle fire, till almost all the infused water is ascended, and a Magma remain in the bottom of the thicknes of Honey, to which add (the Glass body being cold) so much distilled Water as will dissolve it; digest again 3 days in a gentle heat, decant and filter, distilling again till the Magma is of the thicknes of Honey; cobobate the distilled Water, and digest 4 days, filter and distil again, leaving the Magma of the consistence of Honey, which operation repeat four times or more, till the Magma becomes clear, to which add the former Oyl and Salt, with a few drops of the Oyls of Cinnamon and Cloves, mix well, digest and keep it for use.

Salmon.) This is a wonderful Arcanum to keep back old Age, causing a good colour in the face, a sweet Breath, a merry Heart, and a sound Body: It cures the Hemorrhoids, reprefes Choller, comforts the Eye-sight, taking away redness, inflammations, defluxions and the Films (used as a Collyrium:) It cures all Ulcers whether old or new, absterges humors, strengthens the Intellect and Senses, revives the Spirits, is prevalent against Feavers, trembling of the Limbs, Inappetite, weakness of the Stomach and Vomiting. It purges Choller, Flegm, and watery Humors. It may be given either in Broth, Rhenish-Wine, or Syrup proper to the Disease; to Infants $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. ad iv . to Men $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. ad $\mathfrak{z}\text{i}$. in the Morning fasting.

34. Quinta essentia Papaveris & Hyocyami Fabri, Fabers Quintessence of Poppies and Henbane.

It is made of the Juice fermented of Poppies and Henbane, mixing with it a sixth part of the S.V. to help the fermentation (because of the coldness of these Juices which hinder it) but in all other respects exactly as that of Mine.

Salmon.) It is a true Nepenthe, most excellent in the most acute Diseases: It cures the Cholick, Pleurisy, Stone and Gout, Ubenihil est in rerum natura praestantius: stops all sorts of defluxions, fluxes and Catarrhs, causes rest and quietness: is excellent against Frenzy and Madness: In all effusions of Blood, as at the Nostrils, the Terms in Women, and recent Wounds, Ultimum est & tutissimum refugium. In a word, it has all the Virtues of the most excellent Laudanum. Dose \mathfrak{a} gr. iv . ad vj . in Broth, Spanish-Wine or Cinnamon-Water.

35. Quinta essentia Pepli Fabri, Quintessence of Spurge.

It is made of the fermented juice, as we have taught in other Sections.

Salmon.) It is a great Arcanum in the cure of the Gout, Dropsy, Quartan, and the Palsy (whether of one Member only, or of the whole Body:) It mollifies all cold, hard, scirrhus Tumors (by anointing with it) and purges out all flegmatick and watery Humors. Dose \mathfrak{a} $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. ad ij . in strong Bodies, in Broth or proper Syrup.

36. Quinta essentia Rhubarbari Fabri, Quintessence of Rhubarb.

It is made of the powder of Rhubarb, altogether in the same manner as that of Fallap, excepting only that whereas there is prescribed S.V. here is to be used in place thereof water of May-dew, the reason of which is, because that Rhubarb is not so resinous, and therefore a more aqueous body may pierce and extract it : to which add some grains of Scammony dissolved in spirit of Vitriol.

Salmon.) It is an excellent and innocent Medicine, wonderfully opens Obstructions, purifies the Blood, clears the Skin of Leprosy, Morpew, Scurf, Freckles, Spots, &c. cures all continual Feavers of what kind soever, removes the Obstruction of the Spleen : cures the yellow Jaundice and Dropsy, kills Worms in Children, yet with very much safety ; dissolves tartarous coagulations, cures the Bloody Flux, and all other Fluxes of the Belly, stops the Whites. And used both internally and externally, it is excellent against Ruptures, asswages tumors, and eases pain. Dose ʒ 3j. ad ij.

37. Quinta essentia Smaragdi, Fabri, Quintessence of Emeralds.

Rx Emeralds in powder, calcine it with an equal quantity of Niter and Sulphur, which 3 or 4 times repeat with the same proportion of the Salt and Brimstone : wash the Calx in spring water so long till it has lost all its Acrimony, dry it ; calcine again for 4 days, with a very strong fire (yet taking heed that it melts not or turns to Glas.) This Calx dissolve often in new spirit of Vinegar : digest these solutions for 15 days in a warm B.M. in a bolt-head close stopp'd : after evaporate the Vinegar. The Salt which remains in the bottom depurate by many solutions in alcoholized S.V. casting away the faces in every solution, and filtering till the Salt is very pure, and will melt with a gentle heat like Butter or Wax : then put to it a double weight of the spirit of salt rectified from all flegm, and half the weight of the spirit of Salt, of the powder of Emeralds now calcined : put all together in a glass body, closing the mouth of it, and digest till the Spirit of Salt is green like an Emerald : decant the Tincture and put on new spirit of Salt, so long till it be no more tinged : mix all the Tinctures together, and distil with a very gentle heat, till there remains in the bottom of the Retort the Essence of Emeralds, green and thick like Honey, which keep in a Glas close stopp'd for use.

Salmon.) The very looking upon this Medicine comforts the Eye-sight, much more especially if taken inwardly. It sharpens all the Senses, revives the Spirits, chiefly the animal ; strengthens the Brain, resisting most disaffections thereof, as the Epilepsy and Lethargy, which it safely and perfectly cures : It evacuates all serous and watery humors out of the Head, and by its ætherial Spirits dissolves vapours : It helps against Melancholy, and takes away Demoni- cal illusions, Phantasms, and Melancholy Dreams. It cures all intermitting and putrid Feavers, chiefly such as come from Bile, and that by insensible transpiration and Urine. It is powerful against Frenzy and Madness, cures all Fluxes of the Bowels, as the Diarrhea, Dysenteria, Lysteria, the Hepatic Flux, and Flux of the Terms. All Ulcers whether phagedenick, fistulous, or cancerous, it mundifies, heals and cicatrizes ; as also the bitings of mad Dogs, Serpents, or any other Venomous Creature. Fabrr also saith, it is the greatest of Remedies against the Leprosy, and miraculously depurates the Blood from all its vices and corruption. Dose \dot{a} ʒi. ad ij in Broth, the Yolk of an Egg, Imperial-water, Treacle-water, Cinnamon-water, Canary, or other Vehicle proper to the Disease.

38. Quinta essentia Sambuci, Fabri, Quintessence of Elder.

It is made of the fermented juyce of the Leaves and Flowers, as that of Parsly or Mint.

Salmon. It attracts by its Mag-netick quality, all Flegmatick & watery Humors and expels them; comforts and cherishes the natural heat, wonderfully retards Old Age, cures all intermitting Feavers, chiefly the Quoridian and Quartan, as also the Gout in the Hands and Knees, The Dropsy, Leprosy and Scurvy, Suffocation of the Womb, weakness of the Sight, and difficulty of Hearing. Dose \dot{a} ʒi. ad ij . in a morning fasting, for three days: and intermitting a week, beginning again.

39. Quintessentia sanguinis humani, Fabri, Quintessence of Mans Blood.

By the Blood of a Young man (\odot being in \odot or II or III) in large quantity, set it in the shadow in a glass Vessel, covering of it, that no dust may fall into it: let it stand till it coagulates, casting away the watery humors: of this Blood take ʒv . mix it immediately with ʒv . rectified from all Flegm ʒix . put all into a very strong Glass, shaking of them violently, that they may be well mixt: Then put them into a Bile-head, stop it close, digest it in LM . or warm Asbes for 5. or 6 days;

till the Spirit is exceedingly tinged, and the blood thoroughly dissolved: (but beware in this digestion, that you exceed not the natural heat, lest the Blood be more coagulated;) then distil in a glass Still, with a very gentle fire so have you first the S.V. when you see white drops begin to distil, change the Receiver, and by degrees augment the fire, till nothing more will distil over. Then augment the fire again, that a Salt whiter than Snow may ascend to the head of the Alembick. This Salt take, and joyn with the afore-distilled liquor (not with the S.V.) The feces remaining, calcine to whiteness, and extract a Salt with some pure distilled water, or Flegm of Wine: this Salt calcine again, then dissolve, filter and coagulate, repeating it so often till the Salt is very pure, after which re-verberate in a Vial hermetically sealed, for 15 days or more till it acquires a red colour, which then dissolve in the aforesaid separated S.V. the clear tinged S.V. decant, put it into an Alembick, and with a very gentle fire distil to dryness, or till the Magma is Oyle: to this put the aforesaid liquor joined with its essential Salt: being first 7 times distilled: All being conjoynd, circulate with a very gentle fire (in a glass Still with a head) for 8 days, separating all that may be of the watery matter, keeping the remainder as the greatest of Arcanums.

Salmon. It is the greatest of all natural Balsams, curing all Wounds and Ulcers of what kinds soever, whether inward or outward: it prevails against the force of Pestilential airs, preserving them which take it from infection. It cures the Leprosy, Palsy, all affects of the Nerves, the Gout in the feet, knees, hands, or elsewhere; He ticks Feavers, the Phthisick, Catarrhs, Coughs, Quartans and Melancholy, it sharpens the intellect and all the senses, Preserves Youth, retards Old Age, and keeps back gray hairs. Potabile, purifies the whole mass of Blood, repairs such as are in Consumptions, and renovates in Old Age. It takes away all Scabs, Itch, and other putrid and filthy matter adhering to the outward parts of the Body. It cures the Gout, and eases the pain only by Unction. It is Pectoral, Anodyne, Balsamick and Analeptick, it engrhens the Nerves and Muscles, and helps the shrinking of the Sinews. It takes away Deafness, noise and pain in the ears, dries up watery humors & Catarrhs, and helps the Dropsy Tympanites. Dose à ʒss. ad j. fasting, in Broth or the like.

in.

44. Quinta essentia salis Nitre, Fabri, Quintessence of Salt Peter. Be the finest Salt-Peter, common salt decruiated and brought to the highest whiteness, A. put them into a Retort, and distil with a very strong fire) the joints being close stopp'd with the best lute) a subtil red spirit; this spirit takes (when the Vessels are thoroughly cold) and cohabate upon the Caput mort. repeating this Rectification 7 times, till it is freed from all its flegm: from the Caput Mort. extract a salt which depurate to a perfect whiteness, edulcorate, and then calcine to redness, which then unite with the former spirit.

Salmon) It is to be noted, That the whole secret of making the Quintessence of Salts, lies in their putrefaction, which is done by being dissolved in their own acid Spirits, conjoined with a Vegetable Spirit. It renovates the whole mass of Blood, & depurates it in few days; it hinders gray hairs, quickens all the senses whether internal or external, takes away Scabs, and all cutaneous affections, Nodes, cold, hard and scirrhous Tumors proceeding from Melancholy, and other tenacious humors, resolving and discussing them only by unction. It breaks and expells the Stone in the Reins and Bladder, and is a great Secret in curing the Gout, and easing all manner of Arthritick pains, strengthening the Nerves and Muscles, and stirring up the natural heat. Dose à ʒj. ad ij. in Broth or some proper water, in the morning fasting.

45. Quinta essentia Turpethis, Fabri, Quintessence of Turbith.

It's made as that of Gallap, or Rhabarb, which see in their proper places, Salmon.) It is a powerful Arcanum in casting forth all Flegmatick, serous or watery humors. It purges gently by Stool, and cleanses the Ventricle of all Superfluous excrements: It expels flegm out of the Breast and Stomach, helps Coughs and difficulty of breathing. It cures the Dropsy, Jaundice, Elephantiasis, Scurvy, Gout and French Pox, and other Diseases proceeding from burnt Choler, Melancholy and venomous humors. Is also a Specifick against all sorts of Feavers, chiefly the Quotidian and Quartan, all Chronick Diseases, and such as proceed from redundancy of flegm. Dose à ʒss. ad j. in broth or proper syrup.

46. Quinta essentia in Vetriloli, Fabri, Quintessence of Copper.

Take Vitrol depurated from all its stib, dry it with a very gentle fire in a Copper vessel, stirring it with an Iron spatula, till it becomes a white powder: put this powder into a Retort well luted, filling it somewhat more than half full, distil it with a fire of the third degree, as you distil Oyl of Vitriol, augmenting at last the fire to the highest, so have you a spirit, which reserve in a Retort close stopp till you have a large quantity thereof, which by many repeated distillations you may obtain: but before every distillation dissolve the Magma in pure water, which being clear and limpid filter till it is free from all earthy matter which will not dissolve: then evaporate this solution, reduce the remainder to powder, and distil as aforesaid, with fire, of the highest degree, repeating this operation so often, till the Magma becomes by degrees blew, and begins to look white, and the faces settle not, but swim on the top of the solution. Put all these spirits together, putrify by a gentle digestion in a warm B. M. in a glass Retort for 40 days: then distil it in a boiling B. M. to dryness, or as much as you can get over: what will not ascend, distil by Ashes, and rectify it 7 times by mixing of it with the faces taken from the primary distillations, which conjoin with the former white salt, which deparate together. Put it into a glass Retort, dissolve, then abstract the humidity of the dissolvent by evaporation of distillation, till the salt acquires a red colour, which then joyn with its rectified spirit, that it may be dissolved; and the spirit extract the Tincture and make it Volatile: At last mix all these with the Alchool of the S. V. to putrify, then depurate till the mixture is of a glorious red colour, which conjoyed to a little of its pure red Salt, digest with a very gentle fire, then fix and coagulate, so have you the Quintessence of Vitriol, the chiefest of all Arcanums, and a Medicine Universally accommodated to the cure of all Diseases.

Salmon.) It is the most powerful of all Cephalicks, Cardiacks, Peccatorals, and Hepaticks (superat sublunaria Medicamenta omnia, & si hominem mori non oporteret edicto divino, in perpetuas aeternitates posse trahere vitam hoc arcano affirmarem, saith Faber.) It is a great Antidote against all manner of Poyson and Venom, whether Animal, Vegetable, or Mineral: It is a Preservative against the Plague, and pestilential Feavers, or malign Diseases. Dose ʒj.

47. Quinta essentia Ungulae Alcis, Fabri, Quintessence of Elks-hoofs.

Be Elks-hoofs of the left hinder feet rasped, put them into a bolt-head and put upon them Oyls of Cinamon and Cloves, A. so much as may cover the raspings the breadth of two fingers, close the mouth of the glass hermetically, digest it in an Athanor, till such time as the Raspings are dissolved into a kind of Mucilage: then distill in Ashes with a very gentle fire, so long till no more will ascend (but beware that you burn not the Magma, this done, take the Magma out, and calcine it in an open fire, from which extract a salt with water of the flowers of the Tile-tree or Peony water, which (being pure) conjoyn with the afore-distilled Oyl, adding in most subtil powder of the best Ambergrise ʒj. digest, circulate, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) Faber advises the Oyls to be digested first with equal parts of the flowers of the Tile-tree and Peony for a Month, and then distilled three or four times that they may acquire the highest tenuity. This Quintessence sence is doubtless one of the most stupendous Medicines yet known for the cure of the Epilepsy, Apoplexy, Lethargy, Convulsion Fits; Vertigo Scromia, Forgetfulness; and such like affects of the Brain: as also the Suffocation of the Womb. Dose à ʒs ad ʒj.

48. Quinta essentia Viperae, Fabri, Quintessence of Vipers.

Re Vipers (their Heads, Tails; Bowels, and Skin being cast away) cut them into small parts; which put into a bolt-head, with spirit of Salt, so much as to over-top them the breadth of four fingers (☉ being in ♀ & in II) digest in the Sun or B.M. for 15 days, after which distil all that may be of the humidity, which rectifie several times to free it from its empyruma, and reserve it. The feces calcine to whiteness, from which extract a Salt, which purify by many solutions, filterations, coagulations; and calcinations, til it is purely white, and will melt like wax with a gentle fire. This salt conjoin with the former distilled liquor, which circulate till they become inseparable; at last in a gentle B. M. separate what may be of the aqueous humidity, keeping the other for use.

Salmon.) It is a most powerful Cordial, preserving the Life and natural Powers from decay, it preserves Youth, renovates in Old Age, purifies the whole mass of Blood, freeing it and the other humors, from all foreign, venomous, or inimical matter. It is excellent against the Plague and all Pestilential Diseases, preserving from as well as curing the Contagion: It strengthens the Brain, Heart, Stomach, and Liver; cures the Bitings of Mad-Dogs, Serpents or of any other Poysonous Creature, as also Pestilient Bubo's; Carbuncles, Serpigo; Scabs, and Leprosy. It is also an approved Specifick in the cure of the French Pox, although in the highest degree. Use it outwardly to the part affected; and take it inwardly every Morning ad ʒj.

49. Quinta essentia Vermium retreßium Fabri, Quintessence of Earthworms.

Re Earthworms; suffocate them in spirit of Vitriol, then distil from the Caput Mortuum calcined extract a Salt, which purify, and conjoin with the afore distilled Liquor.

Salmon.) It kills Worms, cures Fistula's, Ulcers, Scabs, Green-Wounds, and is prevalent against the Scurvy, outwardly anointed, and taken inwardly ad ʒs: in Broth, or other proper Liquor: It is also found by experience to be a Specifick in curing of the Rickets.

50. Quinta essentia Virtutum Salmoniana, The Quintessence of Virtues.

Take of the Juices of Angelica; Bawm, Mint, Sage, Rosemary, Lavender, Timi, Hyssop, Hypericon, Marjoram, Featherfew, Wormwood, Camomil, Penny-royal, Saxifrage, Parsly, Fennel, Rue, Celandine, Liquorice, Juniper-berries, Elder-berries, black Cherries, Peony Roses, red or corn Poppies, and ferment the Juices together, and make the Quintessence according to the afore-said Rules.

Salmon.) It is a Medicine of Universal tendency, and given

with

with great success against all Diseases. It is Cephalick, Pectoral, Cardiack, Splenetick, Nephritick, Alexipharmick, Carmine, Analeptick, Anodyne, Traumatick, Diuretick and Hysterick: Where note, you may exalt its Virtues, if you add thereto Oyl of Cinnamon, Quintessences of Cloves, Mace, and Nutmegs, ana $\text{p}^{\text{r}}.$ and circulate them for ten days. Dose $\text{à} \text{ʒj. ad} \text{ʒj.}$ every morning fasting in generous Canary.

CHAP. VI. Of ELIXIRS.

1. Elixir Proprietatis Paracelsi, Palacellus his Elixir of Property.

Colledge.) R of choice Myrrh, of the best Aloes, Saffron, $\text{A.} \text{ʒij.}$ being powdered, put to them rectified S. V. and spirit of Sulphur, A. a sufficient quantity; or so much as it may overtop the matter three or four fingers breadth: Digest four days to the extracting of the Tincture, which decant: To the remaining matter put new S. V. digesting and decanting, as before, at last abstract by distillation some part of the S. V.

Salmon.) If this Medicine be made as the Colledge have prescribed, 'twill scarcely be worth a Rush: for, 1. If you put in the Saffron with the Myrrh and the Aloes, the Spirits will be so immediately full of the Gums, that they will not extract the tenth part of its Tincture. 2. That, if the Ingredients be put into the Spirits before they have been digested together almost to a sweetness, they will rather corrode and fret the Gums than dissolve them, and spoil the glory of the Saffron. 3. The learned Horstius advises to digest eight days, which is better. 4. He advises to mix the last digested Spirit with so much Clay or Bole, as may form it into Balls, which being dried, ought to be distilled in a Retort with its Receiver, having the first tinged Spirit in it, being beforehand digested in Sand, and distilled with a strong Fire, so have you a beautiful red Liqueur which keep for use. 5. Some (and they very Learned Men too) advise rather to take Tartarized Spirit of Wine than the aforelaid Sulphurated Spirit, because all alkalious Essences are much the greater and better openers of Obstructions and dissolvers of Coagulums. How to tartarize Spirit of Wine we have taught, lib. 1. cap. 9. sect. 19. Of this Dispensatory. See how to make it with Tartarized S. V. in our Doron Medicum, lib. 2. cap. 6. This is an excellent Medicine, of hot and thin thin parts, opens all sorts of Obstructions, comforts all the Senses and parts of the Body, revives the Spirits, cheers the Heart, and makes the Sick pleasant and light som; it is Cephalick, Pectoral, Cardiac, Splenetick, Duerick, Sudorifick, Antisebrtick, Alexipharmick, Analeptick and Anodyne. It comforts the Stomach, stops Catarrhs, and cures Hecticks. Dose \dot{a} gut. xvj. ad \mathcal{Z} ss. in a glass of generous Wine. This Elixir is an addition in their new Dispensatory.

Ambergrise, Musk, ana ℥ss: let them stand in digestion for eight days, after distil by an Alembick, to ℔vij. of which put Cassia Ligna ℥ii. Coarsctio Alkermes (or the juyce) ℥i. Saffron ℥ss. digest till the Tincture is perfect; then with Syrup of Sugar Candy, q. s. sweeten it, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) In my Opinion the Musk and Ambergrise had better be put into the Distilled Water in the last digestion, but every one may make it which way they please. It is of an incomparable odour; it exhilarates the Heart, revives the Spirits, comforts the Brain and Stomach, augments natural heat, helps concoction, expels Wind, eases the Cholick, takes away Cold, opens Obstructions of the Lungs, Liver and Spleen, preserves Health, and as Mynsicht saith, Vitam prolongat, prolongs Life. Dose from one spoonful to two.

There are several other Tinctures, All which you may see at large in our Doron Medicum lib. 2. cap. 7.

CHAP. VIII.

Of EXTRACTS.

I. Extractorum Consuetudo, The General Rule of making Extracts.

Colledge.) Extracts may be prepared from almost all Physical matter, whether simple, as Herbs, Flowers, Seed, &c. or Compound, as Species, Pills, &c. Or from any Medicament, which will communicate a Tincture by Menstruum. Therefore take of any Medicine cut, or bruised, or otherwise prepared, as the infusion requires; put to it S.V. what you please, or some distilled water, as the Physician shall prescribe, a sufficient quantity: let it stand in infusion in the heat of a Bath, or other gentle heat, for two days, more or less, according as the thickness or thinness of the matter requires, till the liquor is sufficiently impregnated with the Tincture of the Medicament. Then separate the tinged liquor by inclination: put on more new Menstruum, which being infused as before, separate again: this so often repeat, till the matter will afford no more Tincture: put all these tinged liquors together, filter them through brown paper; and then by the heat of a Bath evaporate the humidity, till the matter in the bottom of the Vessel be brought to the consistence of Honey, which keep for use. To which (the Physician prescribing) you may add of its own proper, and other convenient Salt (for example sake Zls. or Zil. to every Ounce of Extract) that it may keep moist the longer.

Salmon.) You may make Extracts as well of Minerals and Animals as of Vegetables, and according to the difference of the matter, such must be the difference of the Menstruum, agreeable to the intention. The most famous Menstrua are, 1. Spirit of Wine. 2. Quercetan's Tartarized Aqua Vita. 3. Basil's Temperate Water. 4. Quercetan's Philosophical Vinegar; Besides the Spirits of Honey, Mead, Turpentine, Beer, Ale, Whey, May-dew, Vinegar and Distilled Rain. 1. Spirit of Wine is called the Catholick Menstruum, which you may either use alone, or acuated, as we have before taught: it is not very good to be used in the extraction of purgers, by reason of its Sulphurous property, which is not proper for the extraction of Salts, in which the purging Faculty remains: for by experience we know, that the Cathartick Virtue, has the not been touched by S.V. but has been after drawn out by another Menstruum: this is clear, if you please but to make up any Dose of purging Pills or Troches of the strongest Catharicks yet known; ten times the quantity shall not work at all, no not in the most facile Body: whereas otherwise the tenth part might probably give twenty Stools. 2. Quercetan's Tartarized Aqua Vitæ is used by him in the extractions of all Vegetables, but the preparations of it he has plainly set down no where; Some think it to be Aqua Vitæ of Hydromel Tartarized, because he saith, that from Artificial Malmsey, viz. Hydromel, there is made a rare Aqua Vitæ, better than of Wine, to extract Essences. The reason is, because Hydromel partakes of both a Vegetable and Animal nature. How to Tartarize S.V. we have taught, lib. 1. cap. 9. sect. 19. and 20. and after the same manner you may Tartarize Aqua Vitæ of Hydromel. 3. Basil's Temperate water, which what it is, Authors are somewhat dubious in; Some think it to be that at lib. 1. cap. 9. sect. 24. of this Book. Others this following; Take the best rectified S.V. cobobate it twelve times upon Common Salt, till it carry the Essence of the Salt with it: this done, add to it an equal quantity of spirit of Salt rectified, then digest them Or thus, according to Tenzelius. Take S.V. rectified, put upon it Phyllosophical Salt of Tartar (which is the pure Salt drawn out of Vine Asbes) so much as may cover it the breadth of four fingers: digest in a Bolt-head in B.M. with a gentle heat, then distil it. 4. Quercetan's Phyllosophick Vinegar, concerning which he has lett us in a Cloud, so that he is scarcely to be understood. He saith, it is made of the acid liquor of Dew, or Cælestial Manna, by digestions and Phyllosophical fermentations. In another place he saith, It is made of an aerial animal humidity, and a watery Mercurial sharpness, joyned with a Terrestrial Vegetable, by a convenient proportion and fermentation. This Libavius thinks to be May Dew and Manna; Others think it made of Honey & Salts A. lb. j. Vinegar lb. ij. mixed, digested, distilled and often rectified. But all this is certainly error. It is truly a Vinegar made of Hydromel, Wine and Salt of Tartar, for he saith, that Honey is made by Bees; which are fed with Heavenly Dew or Manna, and he prefers Vinegar made of Hydromel and Wine before all other Vinegars; by the Earthly Vegetable, he means Tartar of Wine, that being the most noble of all things of that kind. Thus much concerning Mens-truums, now understand that while the Menstruum remains unseparated from the matter extracted, the Medicine is called a Tincture, after separation an Extract. As to the more particular or general way of making Extracts, with all Observables necessary, we shall have an opportunity more fit in the sixth Book of this present Work.

Extracts added by the Author.

2. Extractum Uterinum Mynsichti, Mynsicht's Extract for the Womb.

℞ Berries of Elder, and Dwarf-Elder, A. ℥iv. Roots of Peony, red Mugwort, white Dittany, Bryony, A. ℥ii. Mistleoe of the Oak, Amos, Penny-royal, Bawm, Cassia Ligna, A. ℥i. Saffron, Castor, A. ℥ss. mix, and with S. V. make a Tincture, extracting again the S. V. till an Extract remains; then add Hogsblood dried in an Oven, and prepared with an Hysterick water ℥ss. B. zoarcticum and Magisterium Jovis, Magisteries of Mother of Pearl and Coral, A. ℥iss. Chymical Oyls of Cloves, Angelica, white Amber, and of Oranges, A. ℥i. mix them and keep the Extract for use.

Salmon.) It cures suffocation of the Womb, and most other Diseases with which it is affected, even when most desperate. Dose à gr. x. ad ℥ss. in Aqua Bryoniae Composita.

3. Extractum Agarici, ex August. Extract of Agarick.

It is made of the powder of Agarick, digested in S. V. filtered and abstracted.

Salmon.) It gently purges thick and rough slegm from the Ventricle and Mesentery, Liver, Spleen and Lungs; and has all the Virtues of Agarick. Dose ℥ss.

4 Extractum Aloes, Aug. Extract of Aloes.

It is made of the powder digested in S. V. or some distilled water, then decanted and abstracted to a just consistency of an Extract.

Salmon.) It has all the Virtues of Aloes, purifies and strengthens the Stomach, takes away Crudities, resists putrefaction, and kills Worms. Dose ℥ss. The chief simple Extracts now in use are of Wormwood, Wood of Aloes, Angelica, Calamus Aromaticus, Copivs, Carduus, Centory, Saffron, Wild Cucumers, white Dittany, Elecampane, Esula, Euphorbium, Galbanum, Gentian, Guaiacum, black Hellebor, Hierapicra, Lignovice, Mechoacan, Jallap, Bawm, Myrrh, Opium, Opopanax, Peony, Rhubarb, Sagapenum, Scammony, Sena, Turbith and Zedoary, the Virtues of which you may see among the Simples.

5. Extractum Agarici Compositum, Schlegelij, Extract of Agarick Compound.

℞ pure Agarick ℔ss. Rhubarb ℥iii. Aniseeds, Ginger, Mace, A. ℥iss. all bring in powder, make an Extract with S. V. rectified.

Salmon.) It purges Choler and Flegm excellently and gently, expels Wind, and is prevalent against the Cholick and Stone, Dose à gr. xx. ad ℥ii.

6. Extractum Diacarthami, Andernaci, Extract of Carthamus.

℞ Pulp of Carthamus Seeds ℥iv. white Turbith, leaves of Sena, A. ℥iss. Diagradum ℥v. Rhubarb ℥i. Agarick trochiscated ℥vi. Manna ℥iiss. Cheb Myrobalans ℥iii. Polypodium ℥ii. Ginger ℥ii. make an Extract with S. V. (in which the Species Diambre ℥i. were first macerated for 8. days) first digest the powdered matter for fourteen days, then dissolve the Manna in it, after express the tinged Spirit, in a bagg,

M m with which a press; lastly, evaporate to the consistency of Honey.

Salmon.) It purges serose and watery humors, cleanses the Head, Ventricle and other Viscera, from evil and noxious juices, evacuating the vicious matter: it is either given alone in the form of Pills, or in a Bolus; It takes away Choler and Melancholy, and by great experience we know it to open all manner of Obstructions. Dose from ℥j. to ℥ij.

7. Extractum Chologogum Quercetani, an Extract purging Choler.

℞ Rhubarb ℥vj. Sena ℥iv. Diagredium ℥j. Spicknard, yellow Saunders, Cinnamon, A. ℥ss. Troches of Barberries ℥ii. depurated juice of Damask Roses, q. s. mix and digest in a gentle B. M. then strain, and abstract to the consistence of an Extract, to which add of the Extract of Aloes (at Sect. 4.) an equal quantity.

Salmon.) It is scarcely possible to make the Extract according to the Recipe, for Diagredium being a resinous body, will not dissolve in juice of Roses. But you may do it thus: Make an Extract of all the Species (the Diagredium, Cinnamon and Troches excepted) to the Extract add Rosin of Scammony in fine powder, ℥vii. Oyl of Cinnamon gut x. or xij. Gallia Moschata. gr. viij. juice of ripe Barberries depurated, or the Conserve thereof ℥ij. Extract of Aloes the weight of the whole Composition; mix them well, digest with a little S. V. and keep it for use. It purges and expels all manner of Flegmatick, Cholerick and watery humors, cures the Scurvy, Dropsy, jaundice and Gout, and is of force against all manner of old and inveterate Head-achs, Hypochondriach. Melancholy and Quartans. Dose a gr. xx. ad ℥ss.

8 Extractum Diacitri, - Hieronymi Reusneri, Extract of juice Citrons.

℞ Juice of Citrons, white Sugar A. ℥ss. boyl them in an earthen Vessel to the thickness of a Syrup; afterwards take of the best Scammony ℥ii. Mecboacan, Turbith, A. ℥j. Rhubarb, ℥ss. Galanga ℥ss. of all which, make an Extract with S. V. which mix with the afore said Syrup; adding at last Oyls of Cinnamon gut. viij. of Cloves and Nutmegs, A. gut. vi.

Salmon.) It purges Watery and Cholerick humors in the Cachexia, Dropsy, yellow jaundice, and Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen: It is also happily given in all sorts of Feavers. Dose ad ℥ii. or more in strong bodies.

9. Extractum Hologogum Andernaci, The Universal Extract of Andernacus.

℞ Coloquintida ℥vj. white Turbith ℥vj. Agarick ℥iv. black Helbor ℥iii. Sena, Cistnary, A. ℥v. Diagredium ℥v. Rhubarb ℥vii. S. V. ℥ss. Cinnamon water ℥ss. the particulars being fitted, make a Tincture in 14 days: to which put the Tincture of the Species Diambræ, ℥j. drawn with S. V. digest, decant, and evaporate to the consistence of an Extract.

Salmon.) It is a general Medicine, purging strongly and universally all humors, as Choler, Flegm, Water and Melancholy, even from the remote parts of the Body. Yet in continual Feavers; and other acute Diseases, ses, with all persons 'tis scarcely secure. Dose \dot{a} gr. x. \dot{a} \dot{d} j. or \dot{z} ss.

10. Extractum Diapœonias Mindereri, Extract of Peony Compound.

Take Roots and Seeds of Peony cleaned from filth and hulls, \dot{z} ss. Masterwort, Elecampane, Zedoary, A. \dot{z} ii. white dittany, Calamus Aromaticus, Citron peels dried, Dandelion seeds, A. \dot{z} ss. seeds of Parsly, Nutmegs, Roots of Doronicum, Castoreum A. \dot{z} i. Species Diambra incompleat \dot{z} ii. dried leaves of Rue, Bawm, A. M. ss. Flowers of Lillies Convals P. ii. Viscus Quercini \dot{z} ss. Elks hoof \dot{z} ii. S. V. rectified a sufficient quantity (or as Zwelfer has it \dot{f} j.) stop it close, and set it in digestion for a day or two, after distil in B. M. till all the Spirit is drawn off, cohobating again, then draw it off and reserve it: to the remaining Magma, put new S. V. digesting and decanting, which so often repeat till the Tincture is manifestly drawn out. These last Extractions, filterate with a gentle fire in B. M. abstract to a just consistency: to this Extract put the afore-served Spirit, digest with a very gentle heat till the whole is dissolved (except a few scæces) which separate; so have you at last a compleat Cephalick and Hysterick Essence, which you may edulcorate with Syrup of Cinnamon, and aromatize with some proper distilled Oyl.

Salmon.) It is a most incomparable Cephalick and Hysterick, cures the Epilepsie, Convulsion, Palsy, Megrim, Vertigo, Headach, fits of the Mother, Whites, Cholick, expels Wind, eases pain, comforts the Heart, revives the Spirits, and is good against Ma-lign and Pestilential Diseases. Dose \dot{a} \dot{d} j. \dot{a} ii.

11. Extractum Melanagogum Quercetani, An Extract purging Melancholy.

Species Laticians Galeni \dot{z} ii. the juices of Fennitory and Pearmain, well prepared, and Whey, of each a sufficient quantity, mix and make an Extract according to Art.

Salmon.) If you would have the Resinous part of the Turbith, you must do it with S. V. otherwise, it is true, you may do it according to the prescript. It purges Melancholy, salt and adust humors, cures plore, the Scab, Leprosy, Morphea, Tetters, Ringworms, Elephantiasis, Itch and other Vices of the skin. Dose \dot{a} \dot{d} j. \dot{a} \dot{z} ss.

12. Extractum Panchymagogon ex Aug. An Extract purging all humors.

Be Species Diambra \dot{z} ss. extract a Tincture by Digesting 14 days in B. M. in S. V. \dot{f} v. decant, and to the decanted liquor add Scammony \dot{z} ss. Rhubarb, Seeds of Dandelion, A. \dot{z} iii. Colocynthis \dot{z} v. Agarick \dot{z} i. white Turbith, Hermodacts, A. \dot{z} ss. black Hellebor \dot{z} j. Sena \dot{z} j. digest in a warm B. M. for ten days; after strain and express: in the expressed liquor dissolve of the best Aloes \dot{z} ss. express again, then digest in a warm B. M. for 2 days, and evaporate to the consistency of an Extract.

Salmon.) In making of this you will do well to observe what we said in making the Extractum Diacarthami, at Sect. 6. It purges all humors, and that from the very extream parts, cures the Dropsy, Scurvy, Jaundice, Vertigo, Megrism, Head-ach, Scabs, Itch, and other Chronick Distempers. Dose ʒ gr. xx. ad xxx.

13. Extractum Phlegmagogum, Quercetani, An Extract purging Flegm.

Take Agarick trochiscated ʒiv : Hermoadast, Turbitb, Sena, Pulp of Carthamus Seeds, A. ʒlii. Roots of Esula prepared ʒj. Troches Alhandal ʒss. Sal Gem, Mace, A ʒiss. Species Aromaticum Rosarum ʒii. Cinnamon water, q.s. make an Extract according to Art.

Salmon.) This purges Flegm very safely and excellently; is good against the Dropsy, Jaundice, Kings Evil, Gout, Epilepsy, and all Diseases proceeding of Flegm: you may give from ʒls. to ʒii. The same which we have said in the holagogue Extract may be understood here.

14. Extractum Castorei Zwolferi, Extract of Castor.

Be fresh Castor freed from skins and fat ʒiv. or more, put to it burning spirit of black Cherries, digest 24 hours, then abstract by distillation to dryness, the abstracted spirit reserve, to the Magma put S. V. (repeating it several times) and extract a Tincture, which filterate, and in a gentle B. M. in a glass body, abstract to the thickness of Honey: then take it out, and in a glass platter, let it dry, at last put to it the afore-reserved spirit, to which add the Saccharine Essence of Oranges ʒss. mix well, and keep it for use.

Salmon.) It prevails against all affects of the Brain, as the Apoplexy, Epilepsy and Lethargy: It expels the Small Pox and Measles, and is very powerful against the disaffections of the Womb, as Suffocation, Weakness and Pain: Dose ad ʒss. or more.

15. Extractum Antisebrile Zwolferi, An Extract against Feavers.

Be China Bark, or the Jesuites Bark ʒii. Calamus Aromaticus ʒj. Roots of Gentian, Flowers of the lesser Centory, A. ʒii. with S. V. make an Extract.

Salmon.) It is a specifick against all sorts of Feavers, whether continual or intermitting, especially Tertians and Quartans, given either in the Fit, or an hour or two before it. Dose ab ʒj. ad ʒss. or ʒii.

Agrimony ʒiss. Seeds of Parsly, Burdock, Cresses, Dwarf-Elder, Nettles, Treacle, Mustard, A. ʒj. cut and bruise them, and by many affusions of S. V. extract the Tincture, put all these Extractions into a glass Alembick, abstracting the Spirit all to about ʒss. the Resin in the remaining Tincture carefully separate and gently dry, which beat into a small powder with a few sweet Almonds, or dissolve again in new rectified S. V. abstract the remaining Magma to a consistency. Be of the depurated juices of Bryony, of our Flower-de-luce, A. ʒx. juices of Wood.

Wood-bine and Herb Mercury, A. ℥viii. mix them with the former Extract, and digest in a double Vessel, over a gentle fire; then lastly, add the aforementioned Rosin, either in powder or dissolved in S.V. Rosin of Scammony powdered with sweet Almonds ℥ii. Extract of Cambogia, ℥ls.

Salmon.) It powerfully, yet sweetly purges all watery humors, expels Flegm out of the Bowels, cures all sorts of Dropsies, and the Jaundice, opens Obstructions, cures the Green-sickness, Rickets and Cachexia, and provokes Urine and the Terms. Dose à ℥ss. ad ℥j. alone or in any convenient Vehicle.

17. Extractum Magistrale minus, the lesser Magistral Extract.

℞ Rhubarb ℥ij. Fallap ℥iiij. Hermodactils, black Hellebor roots, white Turbith, A. ℥ij. Sena leaves ℥iiij. seeds of Dwarf-Elder ℥ss. cut and bruise them, and by many affusions of S.V. (till the whole cathartic virtue is drawn forth) compleat a Tincture, which filter into a glass Gourd, or Bolt-head, and abstract in B.M. till there remains about ℥bj. and make an Extract as we taught in the former.

Salmon.) It is an Universal Purger, forcing out all Excrementitious Humors: It may be used in all cases where there is need of a Purger; for it works safely and pleasantly, expelling flegm and choller, but chiefly Melancholy. Dose à gr. xx. ad ℥ij.

18. Extractum Magistrale majus Zwelferi, The greater Magistral Extract.

Take Rhubarb ℥j. Agarick ℥ij.

Fallap ℥iiij. Turbith ℥ij. Colocynthis ℥ss. black Hellebor ℥ij. Sena ℥iv. seeds of Dane-wort, choise Scammony, A. ℥i. with S.V. make an Extract, as we have before taught, to which add Extract of Aloes ℥vj.

Salmon.) This Extract because of its bitterness ought to be given in the form of Pills. It universally purges all sorts of humors, wheresoever distributed in any part of the body: It is a good Medicine against the Kings Evil, the Scurvy, Gout, Dropsy, Jaundice and French-Pox. Dose a gr. x. ad xx. or more.

19. Extractum Magistrale Lenitivum Zwelferi, The Lenitive Magistral Extract.

℞ Rhubarb ℥iiij. Rhabarbari ℥iiij. Myrobalans yellow and Chebs, A. ℥vj. red Roses, red Sanders, A. ℥ss. roots of Sorrel and wild Cichory, A. ℥vi. fresh Orange Peels ℥j. with S.V. often assused, make an Extract.

Salmon.) It is an excellent Laxative, good against most affects of the Liver, Spleen, Mesentery and Womb: It opens obstructions, cleanses, and stops the Whites. Dose à ℥j. ad ℥ss.

20. Extractum Antepilepticum Zwelferi, An Extract against the Falling-sickness.

℞ Peony roots, roots of Darnicum, A. ℥ij. Zedoary ℥i. Wood of Mistecoe of the Oak ℥ss. Lignum Aloes, Lignum Rhodium, yellow Sanders, A. ℥i. Saffron ℥ss. flowers of Cowslips, Peony, Tile-tree, A. ℥vj. seeds of Peony ℥j. seeds of the greater Burdock ℥ss. of Citrons, ℥vi. white Amber ℥j. Orange peels, rushing of Elks hoofs, A. ℥ss. of Mans skull ℥j. cut and bruise them grossly, upon which put S.V. rectified ℔ss. that they may be a little moistned: digest for two or three days, then by B.M. distil about ℥ij. of the fragrant spirit which reserve: to the Magma put more S.V. rectified, and extract a Tincture by many assaying, which strain, and abstract in B.M. till the remainder is about the quantity of ℔ij of which and the afore reserved spirit make an Extract, as we have taught at Sect. 16. adding Oyl of Nutmegs by expression ℥ss. distilled Oyls of Cinnamon, Lignum Rhod. A. ℥j. Oyls of Lavender, Coriander and Amber, A. ℔ss. first mix with white sugar, Magisteries of Mother of Pearl, and stones of Carps head prepared with spirit of Venus.

M m 3 raspinge

Salmon.) It is a powerful Remedy against affects of the Brain, as the Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Vertigo, and Megrim: In Convulsions, Palsies, and the like; in all Hysterick affects, as Suffocation of the Womb, and other complex Diseases thereof. Dose à ℥j. ad ℥ss. If you mix it with equal parts of Extract of Castoreum, it will be more powerful:

21. Extractum Antipestilentielle Zwelferi, An Extract against the Plague.

Take Roots of Zedoary, Contrayerva, A. ℥ij. Angelica, Masterwort, Devils-bit A. ℥ss. leaves of Scordium ℥ij. Rue ℥j. Juniper-berries ℥ij. Orange-peels ℥j. Citron-peels ℥ij (the whites cut off) Saffron ℥vj. seeds of Citrons ℥j of Brooklime, of N. ver. A. ℥vj. Red Myrrh ℥ij. white Amber ℥ss. S.V. rectified ℥vij. digest a day or two, then draw off in B.M. about ℥ij or iv. making an extract with fresh S.V. of the Magma, (as is before taught) to which extract add the aforesaid ℥ij. or iv. of spirit together with the distilled Oyls of Rue and Juniper-berries, A. ℥ss. of Cinnamon, of Citron peels, A. ℥j. of Nutmegs by expression ℥j. being first mixed with fine sugar ℥ij.

Salmon.) It is very powerful against the Plague, malign Fevers, and all Pestilential Diseases, expelling the Venom and Poyson by Sweat, and defending the Heart against all manner of infection. It is an Antidote against Poyson, takes away Vapours, expels Wind, strengthens the Heart, and revives the Spirits. Dose ℥ss.

22. Extractum Bezoardicum, Quercetani, The Bezoardick extract.

Salmon.) The intention of this is for the Composition of Quercetans Laudanum, having all the Virtues of the former. Dose à ℥j ad ℥ij.

23. Extractum Opij Anodynum, The Anodyn Extract.

Take Thebian Opium ℥j. dissolve in a gentle heat in Cinnamon-water distilled with wine ℔ss. decant the clear, filter it through paper, and with Salt of Tartar ℥j. (cast in by degrees) make a precipitation: being settled two days and digested filter again, to which add

Sal-

Sal Armoniack sublimed with Steel ʒii. Extract of Saffron ʒss. Essence of Orange and Citron peels, A. ʒss. mix and in a glass body digest in a gentle heat for three days, then filter again and keep it for use.

Pharm. Seg. Clal. 7. pag. 563.

Salmon.) I have often made this Medicament, and I find by experience. 1. That less than ʒiiss. of Opium to lbj of the dissolvent will be too little, so that to lbjss. of Cinnamon water you must put of Opium ʒii ʒij. 2. That the Salt of Tartar ought to be dissolved into Oyl and then assused, &c. This Essence is an excellent Anodyne and Antifebrile, being one of the greatest secrets of that kind; it is a most excellent thing against Tertian & Quartan Fevers given two hours or more before the Fit, 3 or 4 times together; and it is so certain in the cure of them, that it has never been known to fail. It cures the Tooth-ach, and all other pains whatsoever to a wonder: It is Sudorifick and expels all Pestilential and Malign Diseases by Sweat. It cures Epilepsies whether in old or young. Convulsions, Cramps, and Palsies; as also Pleurisies, and all Pains and Stitches of the Sides. It cures the Cholick, Dysentery, flux of the Whites & fits of the Mother, though never so extream: in violent pains of the Stone and Gout there is scarcely its equal. Dose à ʒi. ad ii or iii. in any convenient Vehicle.

24. Extractum Satyrii Compositum, Extract of Satyrion Compound.

ʒj of the simple Extract of Satyrion lb. ss. salt of Pearl ʒss. Oyl of Nutmegs distilled, Oyls of Aniseeds and Cinnamon, A. ʒss. mix them.

Salmon.) It cures Impotency in the Act of Generation; and takes away Barrenness, whether in Men or Women. Dose à gut. xx. ad xxx.

25. Extractum Chalybeatum, The Steeleed Extract.

Take Steel prepared ʒiii. Roots of Orris ʒi. Wild Bugloss, Sw-bread, Eryngus, Betony, Ginger, A. ʒss. leaves of Cetrach, Harts-tongue, Betony, Rue, Germander, Ground-pine, Agrimony, Calamint, A. gr. xv. Indian Spicknard, Saffron, Sweet Castor, seeds of Saxifrage and Fennel, Savin, A. ʒss. Mistletoe of the Oak, Cinnamon, seeds of Amos, Cardamoms, Cummin steeped in Wine, Coriander, Agnus Castus, Melanthium, Parsly, Purslane, Siler Montane, A. ʒi. Galangal, Cloves, Mace, Wood of Aloes, Zedoary, Doronicum, Gentian, A. ʒi. cut and bruise them grossly and with S.V. make an Extract according to Art.

CHAP. IX.

OF MAGISTERIES.

1. Magisterium, seu Sulphur Vitrioli Anodynum, The Anodyne Magistery, or Sulphur of Vitriol.

Take Vitriol of Mars, or the best Hungarian Vitriol ℔j. dissolve it in a sufficient quantity of Spring-water, which filter: then take filings of pure Iron or Steel, and often moisten or sprinkle them with the aforesaid Vitriol water, as often drying them with a very gentle heat, repeating this so long, till the filings are reduced to a rubicund Mass, which beat into a subtil powder, upon which assuse Spirit of Vinegar, so much as may overtop it the breadth of 3 fingers, in a great and large glass. Digest with a sufficient intense heat, till the Vinegar is tinged, which, whilst warm, decant; and assuse more fresh Spirit, which repeat so often till the new assused Vinegar will be no more tinged red: Mix these solutions or Tinctures together, and with Oleum Tartari per deliquium precipitate the yellow Sulphur of Vitriol, from which decant the supernating liquor, and edulcorate with many assusions of fair water warmed, till there be found no taste either of Vinegar or Vitriol to remain, which then dry, put it into a bolt-head, seal it up hermetically, and in sand, calcine it to redness, which which will be done in a short time : so have you the Anodine Sulphur of Vitriol.

Salmon.) If you would have the Sulphur inflamable, you must instead of common Vitriol, take the Vitriol of Mars prepared according to Art, and use it as aforesaid upon the filings of Steel, not precipitating with Oleum Tartari, but evaporating in B. M. So also the Sulphur may be made inflamable with Spirit of Vitriol, viz. by help of the dark and fætid matter remaining, being sublimated either by it self or with Salt; From this Magistery or Sulphur with S. V. and Salt of Tartar, or with the Spirit of Venus, is prepared a noble Medicament and Essence, of so great Virtues that they exceed the Sphear of my Commendations: performing all and more than any preparation of Opium can do and with far greater safety. Its a perfect cure for the Falling sickness, Vertigo and Madness, Hypochondriack Melancholy Gout and other chronical and radicated Diseases. Dose à gr. vj. ad x. or xii.

2. Magisterium Granorum Kermes, Magistery of the Grains of Kermes.

Be of the Grains or berries of Kermes ℥iij : boyl them whole in a sufficient quantity of Spring-water, which repeat several times; drop into these decoctions some drops of Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, till the water is wholly imbued of a red colour: strain it and by degrees drop in Allum water (i. e. Spring-water in which Allum is dissolved) so will the whole substance of the Grains be precipitated to a glorious red, especially if often and alternately you drop in the Oyl of Tartar and Alum water: Lastly, decant the humidity, and calcinate with fair water, till there be no footsteps of the Tartar or Alum left.

Salmon.) This is used instead of the juyce, or when the juyce cannot be got, having all the Virtues thereof, which you may see at large lib. x. cap. 9. sect. 7. aforesgoing.

3. Magisterium Aluminis, Magistery of Alum.

Be pure Alum as much as you will, put to it so much water as will dissolve it, filter, and in a glass Retort in sand distill to dryness, which so often cohobate till all the Alum ascends (except a few feces) lastly, in a glass Alembick in B. M. with a very gentle heat, abstract the humidity.

Salmon.) It is a famous Styp-tick, stops the immoderate Flux of the Hæmorrhoids, and the bleeding at nose, and of Wounds; not being inferiour to the Essentia ferri, or any other thing whatsoever.

4. Magisterium seu fecula Radicis Aranis; Fæcula of Aron-Root.

Take Aron Root, cut and bruise them, and with a press express the juyce strongly: set it in a cold place that it may stand to settle: so will a white powder like starch precipitate to the bottom, from which pour the water, and the precipitate dry in the shade for use.

Salmon.) It opens Obstructions of the Bowels, and dissolves hard and Tartarous humors: you may in composition with other things give à gr. vi. ad xii. It provokes the Terms strongly, if given (after ter due purging,) 3 or 4 times before their due time of flowing.

5. Magisterium, seu Facula Bryonia, Præcipitate or settlings of Bryony.

It is made of the Roots of Bryony, as the former.

Salmon.) It purges watery humors, expels Flegm, cures the Dropsy and Jaundice, provokes the Terms strongly; and forces away the Birth, dead or alive. Dose à gr. vi. ad xvi.

6. Magisterium, seu Gerfa seu Cerussa Serpentaria, Fat of Dragons.

It is made of the Roots, as is that of Aron.

Salmon.) It is hotter and stronger than that of Aron, and therefore ought to be given in a less proportion; what the Virtues are you may see lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 58. for they are the same with those of the Root, only thus prepared, it is more mild.

7. Magisterium seu Facula Iridis, Meal of Orrice or flower-de-luce.

It is prepared from the Roots, as is that of Aron, at sect. 4.

Salmon.) It is good against Coughs, Asthma's, stinking Breaths, Terms stop't, expels Wind and Water, cures Dropsies, Cramps, Convulsions, Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen: Outwardly, it cures Itch, Scabs, Kings Evil sores, and is Cosmetick. Give it in Rhenish Wine ad \mathfrak{z} ss. or more: you may mix it with some purging Extract.

8. Magisterium, seu Facula Raphani, Flower of Radishes.

It is made according to the general Rule aforesaid.

Salmon.) It is a great Pectoral, Splenetic and Nephritic: It cures Coughs, Asthma's and Ulcers of the Lungs, causes expectoration of Tartarous flegm, opens obstruction of the Spleen, provokes Urine and the Terms, breaks and expels the Stone, and forces away the after-Birth. Dose à \mathfrak{z} ss. ad j.

9. Magisterium Squillarum, Magistery of the Sea-Onion.

Quercetan advises to take the Heart of the Onion, i.e. all within the hard Rind or Peel cut and bruise it well; after digest a while in B.M. then strain and dry.

Salmon.) It has all the Virtues of the Root, which see lib. 1. cap. 1. sect. 126.

10. Magisterium seu Facula Ononidis, settlings of Rest-Harrow.

Re Roots of Rest-harrow, boyl them three or four hours in water: clarify the decoction, and inspissate a little; so will its Tartar fall to the bottom.

Salmon.) It is a Specifick in opening Obstructions, curing the Jaundice, Stone and Gravel, and provoking Urine. Dose to \mathfrak{z} i. it also consumes the fleshy Rupture.

CHAP. X.

Of SALTS Artificial.

1. Salium conficiendorum Modus, The way of making Salts Artificial.

Colledge.) Salt Volatile or Essential. Take of any Plant while it is fresh and full of juce, a sufficient quantity, bruise it in a wooden or Stone Mortar: then a great quantity of fair water being added, boyl to the consumption of the half part; strain, pressing it out strongly, and after boyl it to the thickness of new Honey: put it into a glass or glazed Vessel, and set it in a cold place, for the space of eight days at least; and a Crystal Salt will concreate like Sal Gem, which (the liquor being decanted) gather, wash with some proper water, and dry it for use. Thus is made Salt of Wormwood, Carduus, Mugwort, and other bitter Herbs, but of other Herbs with much difficulty.

N n will

2. Salt Fixed or Elemental.

The manner of preparation consists in 4 things, Calcination, Solution, Filtration and Coagulation: First, burn the matter you would make Salt of, into white ashes, but with Caution, lest by too hasty burning they should melt into glass: from the ashes with pure water extract a Saltness, and make a Lixivium, which filter, which in a glass Vessel boyl with a gentle fire, that the water may exhale and the Salt be left: which Solution, Filtration and Coagulation so often repeat till it is freed from all impurity, and is made very white. Thus are prepared Salts of Plants, and parts of living Creatures: amongst which these excel; Salt of Wormwood, Time, Rosemary, Centory the less, Mugwort, Carduus, Masterwort, Parsly, Rest-harrow, Ash, Dwarf-Elder, Box, Camomil, Hypericon, Succory, Celandine, Scurvy-grass, Betony, Maudlin, Baum, Cetrach, &c.

SALMON'S Comment:

As to the Essential Salts, if you pour the juyce a little inspissated upon fresh herbs, then digest, concoct, and strain as before, you will have a larger quantity of Salt: Woods, Bones, Horns, Blood, &c. will yield also a Volatile Salt, but not without distillation, and in the same manner the Salts of Vegetables will ascend too. As for fixt Salts which are made by incineration, they are calcined and melted to make them white, but then they must be given in a greater Dose; the lixiviate taste is taken away by calcining the ashes with Sulphur, and then making the Lixivium, by which means the Salt is freed from its urinous taste; which Salt if distilled as common Salt, yields a very piercing Spirit. Salts made of Stones, Metals, Shells, &c. by dissolution in sharp Spirits are improperly so called, and may be dissolved in a Cellular per deliquium.

Essential Salt of Wormwood fortifies the Stomach, helps digestion, and is good in the cure of the Scurvy.

Essential Salt of Carduus cures Feavers of all sorts, and is prevalent against the Plague and Small-Pox.

Essential Salt of Mugwort is excellent to strengthen the Womb, help Conception, and cure fits of the Mother.

Fixed Salt of Wormwood cures Surfeits, Dropxies, Jaundice, and weakness of the Stomack.

Salt of Time provokes Urine, opens Obstructions, cures fits of the Mother, and Diseases of the Head.

Salt of Rosemary cures the Epilepsy, Convulsion, Palsy, Lethargy, Apoplexy.

Salt of Centory the less cures the Dropsy, Jaundice, Obstructions, Scurvy and Gout.

Salt of Mugwort provokes the

Terms

Terms, and brings away both Birth and After-Birth.

Salt of Carduus Ben. cures Poyson, Plague, Quarrens, Head-achs, Vertigo's.

Salt of Master-wort provokes the Terms, and brings away both Birth and after-Birth.

Salt of Parsly provokes Urine and the Terms, breaks and expels the Stone and Gravel.

Salt of Rest-harrow breaks and expels the Stone in both Reins and Bladder.

Salt of Ash cures the Jaundice, Dropsy and Itch. See our Doron Medicum, Lib. 2. Cap. 10. Sect. 4.

Salt of Dwarf-Elder cures the Dropsy, Gout, Agues, Quinsseys, Asthma's, and kills Worms.

Salt of Box cures Epilepsies, Palsies, kills Worms, and eases pains of the Teeth.

Salt of Camomil expels the Terms and dead Child, cures the Cholick, Stone and Agues.

Salt of Hypericon is Traumatick and Vulnerary, breaks and expels the Stone.

Salt of Succory is vulnerary, cools and strengthens the Liver and Stomach.

Salt of Celandine opens Obstructions of the Liver and Spleen, cures the Jaundice and clears the Eye-sight.

Salt of Scurvygrass is an excellent thing against the Cachexia, Dropsy and Scurvy.

Salt of Betony comforts the Head and Brain, cures Epilepsies, Convulsions and Palsies.

Salt of Maudlin is Traumatick, Vulnerary, Stomatick, Uterine and Nephritick.

Salt of Barm is Cordial, purifies the Blood, and restores in Hecticks and Consumptions.

Salt of Cetrach opens Obstructions of Liver and Spleen, and cures Melancholy. In a word, all Salts whatsoever are Uterine, Nephritick and Diuretick, provoking Urine and the Terms, breaking and expelling the Stone, opening Obstructions, and resisting the Scurvy.

lime and Sal Regale by cementing the Sal Regale with the Quicklime, and boylng them in fair water to make a Lixivium, filterating and coagulating by evaporation: of which salt prepare a large quantity: 2. Let pure Spanish or Hungarian Quick-silver be beaten with the Alkali, in a stone Mortar a little warmed, so long till none of the ☿ can be seen, which put immediately into a Glass Retort, with a Receiver well luted to it, and distil with a naked fire, which operation so often repeat, till the ☿ becomes very liquid, and appears truly spiritual. 3. This spiritual ☿ dis-til thrice in a tubulated Retort, closely joined in the joints with Lutum Sapientiae, to two other Vessels or Retorts with Necks at both ends, the latter of which let be well luted to a large Receiver, the ☿ let be cast into the Retort by the Tube, at several times, which Tube ought to arise above the furnace, and after the injection of the ☿ every time to be close stopp'd, which then

then will pass with its aquosity into its Receiver, till it is all turned into water. 4. Put this Mercurial water into a bolt-head, so large as it may fill about an eighth part of it, which for some Months place and digest in Horse-dung, till all the water is converted into froth: the putrefaction still continue, till the froth vanishes, and the liquor in the bottom of the Vessel be again clear; at last rectify it once or twice by a Retort in sand, and keep it carefully for use.

Salmon.) Whether this be the Alkabeſt of Paracelsus with which he did such Wonders, and which Helmont so Praises, even to the Skies, is very doubtful: for as that Alkabeſt was destinated to the preparation of all sorts of Medicines, extraction of all sorts of Tinctures and Essences, whether out of Minerals, Vegetables or Animals; so also it was reported to cure effectually all Diseases, and to root out the Seminations of every Malady, and to do Miracles above any other Medicine, except the Philosophers Stone. He that desires to know more hereof may fetch it out of the most Learned Helmont, where he may indeed receive a very great deal of satisfaction.

CHAP. XII.

Of WINES Physical.

1. Vinum Absinthites, Worm-wood Wine.

Colledge.) Take dried worm-wood, M. j: wine, Gal. j. put it in to a Vessel and stop it close, letting it remain in Infusion.

Salmon.) The Wine here to be used ought to be Rhenish Wine or Canary: The intention of this Wine is to warm and strengthen the Stomach, cause Appetite, prevent the Dropsy and Cachexia. It expels Wind, helps the Cholick, and kills Worms. The best way of taking of these wines, is to drink a draught of them every morning fasting. Where note,

That these Wines retain the Virtues of the Simples of which they are made, but are far better and fitter for cold Bodies and weak Stomachs than the crude Simples themselves are.

Colledge.) In the same manner are prepared.

2. Vinum Antbosatum, Wine of Rosemary-flowers.

Salmon.) It comforts and strengthens the Head, Stomach, and Heart; is good against Epilepsies, Megrimis, Vertigoes, Apoplexies, Fainting and Swooning Fits, Sickness and Illness of the Stomach.

3. Vinum Euphragiatum, Wine of Eye-bright.

Salmon.) It is very good to clear and strengthen the Head and Eye-sight.

4. Vinum Cerasorum Nigrorum, Wine of Black Cherries.

Colledge.) Rx Juyce of black-Cherries Gal. j. keep it in a Vessel close stoppt till it begins to ferment: then strain and adding an ounce of sugar to every pound, let it pass through Hippocrates his sieve, and keep it in a Vessel close stoppt for use.

Salmon.) Fermentation is the breaking of the Natural band of corruption and Heterogenity, that those things that are not brought under one power and life may be separated; and it is helpt several ways. 1. By external and actual heat. 2. By Potential heat, viz. of Salt of Tartar, Sugar, Honey, Yeast, Leaven, &c. These things containing in themselves (in little room) an inward spirit and life in a large measure, which is the Potential and invisible fire, by which other bodys with whom they are united are actuated, and the band of Corruption burst, broken or destroyed, whereby the Spiritual part or life arises and gets dominion; and without which, because the said life is hid, or as it were chained and fettered, the whole Mass seems to be a dead thing, and the product of Putrefaction. Hence the necessity of Fermentation appears; after which the gross and putrid juyce becomes a pure Wine, repleat with an incorruptible Spirit, standing then in an active operative and living nature, whereas it lay before only in the passive property and deadness. This black Cherry Wine is good against Epilepsies, Apoplexies, Convulsions, dead Palsies, and all other Diseases of the Head: give a little draught at a time. If you mix it with a little Spirit or Tincture of Castoreum, 'twill be so much the better, and then becomes very powerful against fits of the Mother: take it in the morning fasting.

Take from one to 3 or 4 spoonfuls in a morning fasting, and walking a while after it.

7. Acetum Theriacale Norimberg, Treacle Vinegar.

Colledge.) R Celandine-roots ℥iiss. roots of Angelica, Masterwort, Gentian, Bistort, Valerian, Burnet, white Dittany, Elecampane, Zedoary, A. ℥j. roots of Plantane, ℥jss. leaves of Mouse-ear, Sage, Scabious, Scordium, Dittany of Creet, Carduus, A. M. ss. peels and seeds of Citrons. ana ℥iss. Bole ℥j. Saffron ℥iii. Harts-tongue ℥j ss. of these let the Harts-tongue, Saffron, Dittany and Bole be tyed up in a rag, and steeped in the things before mentioned in Vinegar ℔v. for some days, in a glass Vessel close stopp'd, and in a temperate heat: then strain, after adding of the best Treacle, ℥vi. shake them often together, and keep them for use.

Salmon.) This is taken from the Augustan Dispensatory, with some little alterations viz. they have left out Juniper-berries ℥ii. Walnuts ℥ii: yellow Sanders ℥ss. and added in room thereof leaves of Mouse-Ear, Sage, Scabious, A. M. ss. Bole ℥j. Saffron ℥iii. Moreover in the composition of this Medicine, if you take distilled Vinegar instead of simple Vinegar, you will do much the better, for that has a greater power in extracting and drawing out the Virtues of the Simples: simple undistilled Vinegar presently corrupts, but the Spirit of Vinegar (and Medicines made with it) always remains pure and uncorruptible, the which (even to the Apothecary) is a sufficient and full recompence for his labour and charge. This note you may observe in making of all sorts of Medicinal Vinegars: Treacle Vinegar is excellent against malign Diseases, and putrefaction of humors: It provokes Sweat, and dissipates pestilential contagion, and preserving the Heart and Spirits or Vital Powers from infection: Take it inwardly from 2 spoonfuls to 4 or more; outwardly bath both the regions of the Heart and Arteries therewith.

8. Acetum Theriacale, Treacle Vinegar.

Colledge) Add to the Magmate of Aqua Theriacalis (at Sect. 16. Cap. 1. of this Book, clove-Gilliflowers ℥ii. Lavender-flowers ℥iss. upon which affuse Rose and Elder-flower Vinegar, A. ℔iv. digest in Horse-dung, for 8 days, then strain through Hippocrates his sieve.

Salmon.) It has all the Virtues of the former, and of Treacle-water; only observe, that Vinegars are much more useful and advantageous in violent hot and burning Diseases. Use it as the former, and in the same Dose.

VINEGARS added by the Author.

Colledge.) Take leaves of Scelopendrium M. iij. roots of Polypody of the Oak, of both sorts of Bugloss, Bark of Caper Roots, of Tamarisk A. ℥ij. Hops, Dodder, Maidenhair, Bawm, ana M. ii. Spring-water ℥viij. digest and boyl in B. M. strain, to ℥v. of which add white sugar ℥vss. make a Syrup in B. M. according to Art.

Salmon.) It is a general opener of Obstructions of the Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Mesentery and Reins, takes away Melancholy, and perfectly cures the Rickets in children. Dose ℥ij. or more in a morning fasting.

52. Syrupus de Stachade, Syrup of Stachas.

Colledge.) Be flowers of Stachas ℥iv. Rosemary Flowers ℥ss. leaves of time, Calamint, Organy, ana ℥ss. Sage, Betony, ana ℥ss. seeds of Rue, Peony, Fennel, ana ℥iij. digest a day or two in B. M. in a sufficient quantity of Spring-water, strain, press out, and clarify; to lb. v. of which add white sugar lb. vi. make a Syrup in B. M. according to Art, which perfume with some drops of Oyl of Cinamon.

Salmon.) This Medicine is wonderfully composed, for here is ʒss. of Sage, Betony, and flowers of Rosemary, to almost lb. xj. of the composition, which is about a grain to a Dose; but considering the gross Body is cast away, it is scarcely the tenth part of a Grain; the which is indeed of wonderful consideration, and yet the proportions of the Seeds are less. In the Old Book the quantity of the water is limited, viz. to just lbx. which should that rule be observ'd here, the Medicament would have little enough of the Virtues of some of the Ingredients: as for the Perfuming of it, this much excels the former. It is Cephalick, Cardiack and Arthritick, powerful against Epilepsies, Convulsions, Palsies, Megrims, cold and moist distempers of the Head, Brain and Womb, Barrenness, &c. Dose ab ʒii. ad iij. or more.

53. Syrupus de Symphyto, Syrup of Comfrey.

Colledge.) Take roots and tops of Comfrey the greater and lesser, A. M. iij. red Roses, leaves of Betony, Plantane, Burnet, Knot-Grass, Scabious, Colts-foot, A. M. ii. press out the juyce (they all being green and bruised) boyl, scum and strain it, adding its weight in sugar, make a Syrup S. A.

Salmon.) It is intended against spitting of Blood, and internal wounds and bruises of the Breast, pissing Blood, fluxes of the Terms, and the Whites in Women, and is excellent against Ruptures. Dose ʒii. morning and evening.

54. Syrupus Violarum, Syrup of Violets.

Colledge.) Take fresh flowers of Violets lb. j. fair water boyling hot lb. ij. stop them close up in a new glazed earthen Pot for a day, then strain by pressing: In the strained liquor lb. ii. dissolve white Sugar lb. iv. by the heat of a Bath; and taking away the scum, make it into a Syrup according to Art, without boyling.

Salmon.) It cools, moistens, and allays the heat of Feavers, quenches Thirst, cheers the Heart, comforts the Stomach and resists putrefaction. Dose ʒii. or iij.

55. Syrupus de succo Violarum, Syrup of the juyce of Violets.

Colledge.) It is prepared with the expressed juyce, with double weight of Sugar at least, as the former in Balneo without boyling.

Salmon.) It has all the former Virtues, but much more powerful.

56. Julepum Violarum, Julep of Violets.

Colledge.) It is made of the water of Violet Flowers and Sugar, observing the proportion as in Julep of Roses.

Salmon.) The Virtues are the same as in the two former.

Maiden-hair, wall-Rue, Ceterach, Liquorice, Winter Cherries, Dodder, A. ʒvj. boyl all in spring-water lb. xii. to the Consumption of lb. iv. strain, and and with white Sugar lb.vj. boyl ; adding towards the end Rhubarb ʒvj. Spicknard ʒvj. bound up in a thin and slack Rag ; which is first to be macerated in the boyling decoction, and often crushed or squeezed so make it into a Syrup S.A.

Salmon.) It is a pretty thing to purge Flegm and Choller with, cool and cleanse the Liver and Bowels, suppress Melancholy, provoke Urine, and strengthen the Stomach. Dose ʒij. or iiij. or you may mix ʒj. or more with some purging Decoction : for my part, I scarcely think the latter part of the Recipe sense : for the Rhubarb and Nard must be put in after the Sugar, towards the end of the boyling, and yet be macerated at first in the boyling Decoction, &c. Let them that can expound it. Culpeper also was mistaken in the Translation.

58. Syrupus de Epithymo, Syrup of Epithymum.

Colledge.) Take of Epithymum ʒxx. Citron and Indian Myrobalsans, A. ʒxv. Emblick and Bellerick Myrobalsans, Roots of Polypody, Liquorice, Agarick, Leaves of Time, Calamint, Bugloss, Stachas, A. ʒvj. Salmon.) It gently purges flegm and choller, and represses the force and violence of cholerick and burning Feavers. Dose ʒij. or iiij. or more.

60. Syrupus de Pomis Purgans, Syrup of Apples purging.

Colledge.) Take juyce of sweet smelling Apples lb.ij. jayces of Borrage and Bugloss, A. lb.iss. leaves of Sena cleansed ʒij. Aniseeds ʒla. Saffron ʒj. the Sena and Aniseed digest in the clarified jayces for twenty four hours, then after two or three Ebullitions strain, to which add white Sugar lb.ij. and (the Saffron being tyed up in a Rag, and often crushed in the boyling,) make a Syrup S.A.

Salmon.) It is an excellent purge for Children, it cools, cleanses and expels tartarous humours out of the Body : it works excellently, and never leaves a binding quality behind it. Dose ʒij. or more.

61. Syrupus de pomis Magistralis, Syrup of Apples Magistral.

Colledge.) Take juyce and water of sweet scented Apples, A. lb.iss. juyce and water of Borrage and Bugloss A. ʒix. Sena, lb.iss. seeds of Anise and sweet Fennel, A. ʒij. Epithymum of Crete ʒij. Agarick, Rhubarb, A. ʒis. Ginger, Mac, A. ʒiv. Cinnamon ʒij. Saffron ʒis.

3fs. Infuse the Rhubarb and Cinnamon apart by themselves in white wine, juce of Apples, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. All the rest (the Saffron excepted) must be steeped in the waters above mentioned, putting in the next day the juices; which boyl together with a gentle fire, scum, and strain through Hippocrates his sleeve, & with white Sugar lb. iv . boyl it into a Syrup, crushing the Saffron in it, being tyed up in a linnen rag, the infusion of the Rhubarb being added towards the latter end, giving after it a gentle ebullition, that it may be conserved under the form of the Syrup.

Salmon.) It purges pleasantly Choler and Melancholy, and is profitable for most Diseases arising from them; as frenzy, madness, fullness, &c. Dose from $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. to ijj . in a draught of decoction of Epithymum.

62. Syrupus de Rhubarbaro, Syrup of Rhubarb.

Colledge.) \mathfrak{R} Rhubarb, Sena, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ijss}$. Violet-flowers M. j . Cinnamon $\mathfrak{z}\text{fs}$. Ginger $\mathfrak{z}\text{fs}$. waters of Betony, Cichory, Bugloss, A. lb. fs . mix and digest warm a whole night, strain early in the morning, and with fine sugar lb. ij . make a Syrup by boyling, adding at last Syrup of Roses solutive $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$.

Salmon.) It gently cleanses the Stomach and Bowels of Choler and Melancholy, allays the heat of Inflammations, stops hot Rheums and Fluxes, by leaving a binding quality behind it. Dose $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. or ijj . in clarified whey or simple Decoction of Sena.

63. Syrupus Rosaceus solutivus, Syrup of Roses solutive.

Colledge.) \mathfrak{R} spring-water boyling hot lb. iv . Damask-Rose leaves fresh, as many as the water will contain: digest in a vessel close stopt 12 hours; then press them out, and put in fresh Rose-leaves as many as before, the water being warmed a new: repeat this again 3 or 4 times, encreasing the quantity of the Roses as the liquor encreases, which will be almost by a third part every time: Take of this Liquor p. vi . white sugar p. iv . make a Syrup in B. M. S. A.

Salmon.) It is designed to purge Choller, which it does gently and pleasantly, being given in clarify'd Whey $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. or more at a time. It cools and loosens the Belly, and expels flegm out of the Ventricle.

64. Syrupus de succo Rosarum Syrup of the juce of Roses.

Colledge.) It is prepared without maceration, only with the juce of Damask Roses pressed out and clarified, with an equal proportion of Sugar, as above.

Salmon.) The virtues are the same with the former, but this is more powerful.

65. Syrupus Rosaceus solutivus cum Agarico, Syrup of Roses solutive with Agarick.

Colledge.) Take Agarick cut thin $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$. Ginger sliced $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. Sal Gem $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$. Polypody grossly bruised $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. sprinkle them with white wine: digest two days over warm Ashes in infusion of Damask Roses lb. fs . express, and with Sugar lb. j . boyl them into Syrup S. A.

Salmon.) It cleanses the Stomach and Liver of Choler, provokes Urine, strengthens the Stomach and stays vomiting. Dose from $\mathfrak{z}\text{fs}$. to $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. If you would have the Syrup more effectual, you had best to take Agarick $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. and boyl it into a Syrup with Sugar lb.ij. lest you loose the force of the Agarick by boyling.

66. Syrupus Rosaceus solutivus cum Helleboro Monatani, Syrup of Roses solutive with Hellebor.

Rubarb ℥ij. being prepared, extract with the afore-destilled water, by a double or treble Infusion, Coction and Expression, which with the afore clarified liquor and fine sugar Candy lb. v. make a Syrup in B.M. according to Art.

Salmon.) This differs much from that in their former Book, both in the Proportions and way of making; of the two this is the better, but tis a troublesome thing to make: It is designed as a Purge against Melancholy, Obstructions of the Spleen, Frensy and Madnes: Dose ℥j. at a time or more in Whey or Bograge water ℥iv. It ought to be taken in a small Doze and often.

67. Syrupus Rosaceus solutivus cum Sena, Syrup of Roses solutive with Sena.

Where note, 1. If the Horns or Bones be too hard; acuate the water with Spirits of Vitriol, Sulphur of Vinegar, &c. 2. In the end you may perfume it with Ambergrise, Musk, &c. Infused in Rose-water. 3. You may add Pouders or Extracts, and so make compound Jellys either to alter or purge. 4. That Gellies are so called being made of Bones, Horns, Leather, Flesh, &c. but if of Fruits, they lose that name, and are called Quid-dony or Marmalade. 5. That after this manner are prepared Jellies of Quinces, Apples, Currans, Cherries, Harts-horn, Mans Skull, with other Bones, &c.

38. To prepare Juyces.

1. Of Flowers, & such as are fresh, put them into an Alembick, pressing them down, putrify in Horse-dung, till they are a Mucilage, then expresse the juyce, which clarify with the white of an Egg, and gently inspissate to the thickness of Honey: Thus are made the Juyces (called by some Essences) of the flowers of Borrage, Bugloss, Peony, Mullein, Violets, Clove-gilliflowers, Marigolds, Rosemary, Corn-Poppies, Sage, &c. 2. Of Fruits. & juicy Fruits, boyl and strain them before hand, then strain by a sieve, inspissating the liquid to the consistency of Honey. 3. Of Roots and Woods, Decoct in Water, then strain and abstract; but this is rather an Extract than a Juyce. 4. From Herbs, first beat, then expresse: lastly clarify and inspissate.

Here is to be Nored, 1. That if Flowers are not very juicy, you must add Water to them in putrefaction. 2. That if you pour the juyce upon fresh Flowers, you will have more juyce. 3. That the Juyces of Fruits have another Name, viz. Rob or Sapa, as Rob of Barberries. 4. That juyces which are liquid and kept by themselves are few, because none (except fermented Juyces as Wine, Perry, Sider, &c.) will keep unless preserved with Sugar or Honey, and then they are called Syrups. 5. That Herbs which are less juicy must be steeped or insolated (the cold in Water the hot in Wine) being before hand bruised, and after their steeping to be well beaten, then their juyce to be expressed and clarified, &c. 6. If it be preserved liquid per se, it must be put into a Glass, then covered an Inch thick with Oyl, and lastly, the Glass close stopt with a Cork and Bladder.

CHAP. XVIII.

of LOHOCHS.

1. Lohoch de Caulibut, Lohoch of Coleworts from Gordonus.

Colledge.) Take Juices of red Coleworts lbj. Saffron ℥ij. white sugar, the best Honey, A. lb ss. wash the saffron with a little part of the Juice: the other part of the Juice boyl with the sugar and hony (adding towards the end, the Diluted Saffron) to a just consistence, so as to make a Lohoch according to Art.

Salmon.) It is good against Coughs, Asthma's, Hoarseness, and loss of Voice, Catarrhs and Obstructions of the Breast and Lungs; it is good to strengthen the Liver and Spleen, the Rickets Consumptions and other Diseases proceeding from inward and unknown stoppages: Dose ℥ij. or more.

2. Lohoch de Farsara, Lohoch of Colts-foot.

Colledge.) Take Roots of Colts foot cleansed ℥viii. Roots of Marsh Mallows cleansed ℥iv. boyl them in a sufficient quantity of fountain water, extracting the pulp through a pulping sieve: dissolve this again in the Decoction, and let it boyl a little twice over, then take it from the fire, and straight way add White sugar lbj. Honey of Raisons ℥xiv Juice of Liguorice ℥iiss. fix them together stoutly with a wooden Pestle: in the mean season sprinkle in Saffron, Cloves, A. ℥j. Cinnamon, Mace, A. ℥iij. make them into a Lohoch, S. A.

Salmon.) 1. In making hereof, you had better take the expressed juice of the Leaves and roots of Colts foot; and by adding the Honey make a Lohoch. 2. Here is a whole Scruple of Saffron and Cloves to about lbvi. or vii. of the Medicament, which is about a whole quarter of a grain to an ounce: You may put at least 20 times as much in, viz. about ℥vij. and not fear any danger. It is good against Coughs, roughness of the Throat and Wind-Pipe, Catarrhs and Consumptions, &c. to which purpose 'twill be more effectual if you add powder of Elecampane Roots, juice of Liguorice, A. ℥i. less, especially of the Liguorice will be too little.

3. Lohoch de Papavere, Lohoch of Poppies from Mesue.

Colledge.) Take White Poppy seed ℥xxv. sweet Almonds blanched with Rose-water ℥j. Pine nuts cleansed, Gum Arabick and Tragacanth, A. ℥vi. juice of Liguorice ℥j. white starch ℥ij. seeds of Purslane, Lettice, A. ℥ss. seeds of Quinces ℥ij. Saffron ℥i. White sugar candy ℥iv. Syrup of Poppies Com-

Compound lbij. Macerate the Gums in 4 times their quantity of the syrup of Poppies, till they grow soft, then pass them through a pulping sieve: The Almonds, Pine-nuts, and Poppy-seeds, bruise well in a Marble Mortar, and mix with the syrup, sugar, juice of Liquorice, and softned Gums, beating them well in a Mortar for a good while: Lastly, add the seeds of Purslane, Lettice and Quinces hulled, as also the Starch and Crocus in powder passing them through a sieve, and reducing the Mass into the form of a Lohoch, S. A.

Salmon.) It is a good thing against thin distillations, Rheums, Catarrhs, Salt and sharp Humors, Coughs, Asthma's, Pleurifies, Watchings, Quinsies, burning Feavers. Dose ʒiv. about an hour after Dinner: or, if to sleep, an hour after Supper.

4. Lohoch de Passulæ, Lohoch of Raisons, ex Aug.

Colledge.) Take Roots of the Male Peony, of Liquorice, A. ʒss. Leaves of Bawm, Hyssop, Harts-tongue, A. M. ss. boyl in spring-water, and expresse forcibly, and adding Raisons, stoned and bruised lbj. boyl again, and through a linnen cloth, strain by expressing; then by mixing therewith white sugar lbj. make a Lohoch, according to Art.

Salmon.) It is good against Coughs, Consumptions, Convulsions and the Falling-sickness.

5. Lohoch de Pino Meluæ, Lohoch of Pine-nuts.

Colledge.) Take Pine-nuts fresh and cleansed ʒxv. sweet Almonds blanched, Hasle-nuts gently roasted, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Arabick, Powder of Liquorice, and juice thereof, white Starch, Maidenhair, Or-rice, A. ʒii. Pulp of yellow Dates ʒij. Bitter Almonds ʒss. Honey of Raisons, white sugar, A. ʒiv. Oyl of sweet Almonds (to be added in time of using it if need require) ʒss. of the best Honey ʒss: Dissolve the Gums in a fourfold quantity of Maiden-hair-water: then strain through a hair sieve, and with lbij. the best Honey mix at a gentle fire, stirring of it a good while with a wooden Ruddle: afterwards sprinkle in the Orrice root, Maiden hair, Liquorice, sugar and starch, being in fine powders: then the Dates, Pine Nuts, Almonds, and Hasle Nuts, (which let be cut small, and levigated a part in a Marble Mortar) mix all well. Lastly, both the Gums mixed with the Honey of Raisons (in which the juice of Liquorice was first dissolved) let be added, the Vessel being taken off from the fire, stirring them a while till they are perfectly mixed, and make a Lohoch according to Art; adding fresh or sweet Oyl, the Medicine being presently to be used.

Salmon.) 1. This is taken almost word for word out of the Augustan Dispensatory, save that this is made in half the Quantity, and instead of fresh Butter, there is ordered but half the half quantity of Oyl of sweet Almonds. 2. Here is two whole drams of white Starch to above lb. iv. of the Composition, which is nearly about a quarter of a grain to a Dose. 3. The Colledge in transcribing this Recipe, forgot themselves doubtless (for otherwise the Prescript is nonsense, and an impossibility) for Whereas they halved the Ingredients in their Dispensation and so ordered but Honey ℥iiss: they forgot to have it in the Preparation, and then ordered Honey ℥ij. (viz. the full quantity of Honey for the double quantity of the Medicine in the Augustan Dispensatory.) 4. The Medicine must have Honey ℥iij. in the Preparation, and yet when all is done you must put into it but ℥iiss, which is such a riddle that neither I nor several very able Apothecaries, with whom I have conversed about it, are able to unfold. 5. What is meant by a four-fold Quantity of Maiden-hair Water, Whether they mean four Thimbles full or four Hogheads, or what? The Augustan Dispensatory says ℥iiij. for the Double quantity, which is lb. iiss. for the half. 6. When all this is done (considering the Trouble) the Medicament is scarcely worth a rush, there being many ordinary things and far more easily prepared, much beyond it. But O! the wits of men! It has some of the Virtues of the Lohoch of Poppies (at sect. 3.) but that a thousand times transcends this.

6. Lohoch de Portulaca, ex Aug. Lohoch of Purslane, Colledge.) ℞ Juice of Purslane strained lb. ii: Troches of Terra Lemnia ℥ii. Troches of Amber, Gum Arabick, Sanguis Draconis A. ℥j. Blood-stone, wooll of a hare roasted, A. ℥ii. white Sugar lb. j. mix and make a Lohoch, S. A.

Salmon.) This Medicine binds and consolidates much. It is good against spitting, inward bruises, the frettings of any of the Vessels, the overflowing of the Terms, and Ruptures. Dole $\frac{1}{2}$ ℥j. ad ii. liij.

or more, according to Age and strength.

7. Lohoch & Pulmone Vulpis. Mes. sue, Lohoch of Fox Lungs.

Colledge.) ℞ Fox Lungs rightly prepared, Juice of Liquorice, Maiden-hair, seeds of Anise, Fennel, A. p. j. sugar boiled into a syrup with Colts-foot and Scabions water, p. xv. to this syrup, add the former things in very fine powder, stirring them about strongly, to make a Lohoch, S. A.

Salmon.) The Augustan Dispensatory orders fifteen times the weight of pure fine Sugar: But Mesue the Author hereof sixteen ounces of Honey, which is better: It cures the Phthisick, Consumption, Ulcers of the Lungs, &c. But here is to be noted Extract of Fox Lungs is much before the Powder.

8. Lohoch sanans Mesue, The Healing Lohoch of Mesue.

Colledge.) Take leaves of Garden Hyssop, Calamint, ℥ss: Fijubes, Sebestens, all stoned, A. No. xxx. Raisons stoned, fat figs, new Dates, A. ℥ii. seeds of Line, and samugreek, A. ℥v. Maiden-hair M. j. seeds of Anise and Fennel, Orrice roots ext, Liquorice bruised, Cinnamon, A. ℥ss. boyl all according to Art in fair water lb. iv. to the half: with sugar Penidi lb. ii. Gum Tragacanth and Arabick dissolved in the former Decoction, A. ℥iiij. boyl it into a syrup. Afterwards cut into little bits and bruise. Pine-nuts cleansed $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. sweet Almonds blanshed, Liquorice, starch, A. ℥iiij. Orrice roots ℥ii. sprinkle these into the syrup when it is off from the fire, and stir it about swiftly with a wooden Pestel till it look white.

Sal.

Salmon.) It is a Mucilaginous, unpleasant Medicament, and the same with that in their old Book called Loboc sanum & expertum, except only that here is but half an Ounce of the Anise, Fennel, Orrice, Liquorice and Cinnamon, which ought to be an Ounce of each. It has the Virtues of Loboch & Pino at sect. 5. and may be used instead thereof.

9. Loboch Scilliticum Mesue; Lohoch of Squils.

Colledge.) R of a Squill baked in Paste Ziii. Roots of Orrice Zii. Hyssop, Horehound, A. Zj. Saffron, Myrrb, A. Zss. Honey Ziiss. after the Squil is baked, bruise it in a stone Mortar, which mix with the Honey, and boyl it a little, then sprinkle in the rest of the things, being made into a fine powder, and make a Lohoch, S. A.

Salmon.) It is something Emetick, prevalent against affects of the Breast and Lungs, old Coughs, difficulty of Breathing, Illness of Stomach, Loathing of Meat, Indigestion and want of Appetite, purging thick and tough slegm lodging in those parts. Dose Zj.

10. Loboch & succo scilla Galeni, Lohoch of the juyce of Squils.

Colledge.) Take juyce of Squils and Honey, both of them clarified, ana lb. ij. boyl them together according to Art, to the thickness of Honey.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of Vinegar and Oxyssel of Squils, which see in their places, but this (because there is no Vinegar in it) is much better for Asthmatical People, and such as are troubled with difficulty of Breathing.

Lohochs added by the Author.

11. Loboch ad spatum sanguinis, A Lohoch for spitting of Blood.

R Conserve or blood of Comfrey, old Conserve of Roses, A. Zss. Preserved Quinces Zj. Troches of Terra Sigillata Zii. syrup of Myrtles q. s. make a Lohoch.

Salmon.) Besides what the Title specifies, it stops Fluxes, is good to stay the Whites and Terms in Women, to consolidate Ruptures, and heal Ulcers in the Lungs.

12. Loboch Rosatum Mynsichti, Lohoch of Roses.

R Conserve of red Roses tinged with spirit of Sulphur Ziv. Lohoch of Colts-foot prepared with sugar Zii. species diarrhodon Abbatis Zj. Lac sulphuris Zss. fine Bole, juyce of Liquorice, A. Zii. Saffron Zj. flowers of Benjamin, Cardamoms the less, Mace, A. Zss. Balsam of sulphur anisated Zj. Adeps Rosarum gr. iv. mix, and with some Pectoral syrup make a Lohoch.

Salmon.) It is excellent against violent Coughs, Catarrhs, difficulty of Breathing, exulcerations of the Breast and Lungs, spitting of Blood, &c. Dose the quantity of a Nutmeg.

13. Loboch seu Diacodion Crocatum Mynsichti, Mynsicht's Lohoch with Saffron.

Take

Rx white poppy heads with the seeds Nº xxij, Pulp of Carobs, Liquorice sliced A. ʒij. seeds of Marsh Mallows, Quinces of Cotton, Myrtie-berries A. ʒss. Figs, Dates, Sebestens, A. Nº xj: Flowers of red Hollyhocks, of Violets of Napweed, A. ʒij. boyl all in a sufficient quantity of Spring-water, strain and to lb. ij. of the strained Liguor, add Sugar Candy, rolate Penids, A. lb. ss. make a thick syrup, adding towards the end syrup of the juce of Corn-p ppy flowers, syrup of Junibes, A. ʒij. Extract of saffron ʒss.

Salmon.) It is good to stop all sorts of distillations (whether hot, thin, sharp, or salt) proceeding from the Head falling upon the Throat and Aspera Arteria; In continual Coughs and Watching it is a Secret: It digests, makes thick, glutinates, expectorates, quenches thirst, cools inflammations, corroborates the Spirits, eases the most acute pains, as the Chollick, Stone, Pleurisy, Gout, &c. It cures burning Feavers, all Fluxes of the Bowels, and stops the Terms and Whites in Women. Dose à ʒi, ad ij, iii, or iv.

14 Lohoch Passulatum Quercetani, Quercetan's Lohoch of Raisons.

Take Roots of Colts-foot, Liquorice, A. ʒj: Elecampane ʒss. Leaves of Scabious, Bawm, Hyssop, A. Mj flowers of Colts-foot, Violets, Bugloss, Water Lillies A. P. ij: Aniseeds ʒvj: boyl them in simple Hydromel, then strain: To lb. iv. of which, add Raisons stoned lb. ss.: Junibes, Sebestens, A. ʒij: boyl to the consumption of the half, then press out the liquor, adding sugar Candy, Penids, A. ʒiv: boyl again to the consistency of Honey, to which put flowers of sulphur ʒss: mix them.

Salmon.) It has the Virtues of Lohoch & Passulis at Sect. 4. but much more effectual, being a good Pectoral, and prevalent against most Diseases of the Lungs.

15. Lohoch ex Aliis, Our Lohoch of Garlick.

Rx Juyce of Garlick, lb. j. Juyces of Hyssop, Poppy flowers, Liquorice A. ʒiv: mix and clarify them; then with pure Honey lb. j. powder of Elecampane ʒvj. of Cloves, Nutmegs and Cinnamon, A. ʒj. make a Lohoch.

Salmon.) It cures Coughs, Colds, Phthisicks, Asthma's, Catarrhs, Watchings, Ulcers in the Lungs, Cholick, Pleurisy, Disentery, Lientery, Gouts, violent burning Feavers, Plague and all Malign and Pestilential Distempers, more especially, if you add so many drops of Spirit of Vitriol or Sulphur, as may give it a grateful acidity.

16. Lohoch ex Cassia, Lohoch of Cassia from Schroder.

Rx Decoction (made of equal parts of Mallows, Mercury, Pellitory, Violets, Beets, Wormwood) lb. iv. Cassia, clarified Honey A. lb. iv & boyl them into a Lohoch.

Salmon.) It is an excellent Laxative, cools and cleanses the Reins, and Bowels: Note, that instead of Wormwood, you had better take Wood Sorrel.

17. Lohoch de Ribes, Lohoch of English Currans.

Take Pulp of Currans ʒiv: Sugar Candy, waters of Scabious, Fennel, Colts-foot, A. ʒij. make a Lohoch.

Salmon.) It was invented for sharpness of Coughs and Catarrhs a Pectoral, to take away the Dose ʒij.

CHAP. XIX.

Of PRESERVES.

1. Condita Radicum, Preserved Roots.

Colledge.) Take of Eringo roots, as many as you please, cleanse them without and within, taking the Pith out: steep them one or two days in fair Water, shifting the Water sometimes, after dry them with a cloth: then take their equal weight in white sugar, and as much Rose-water as will make it into a syrup, which being almost boyled, put in the Roots, and let them boyl till the superfluous moisture be consumed, the remainder being in the just body of a Syrup. Not much unlike to this are preserved the Roots of Acorus, Angelica, Borrag, Bugloss, Succory, Elecampane, Burnet, Satyrion, Cicors, Comfrey, Ginger, Zedoary.

Salmon.) Here is to be noted; 1. That the Roots to be Candied, ought to be soft, and not too thick, that the Liquor may pierce them, otherwise they must be sliced thin. 2. That they ought to be pleasant, because they are to be Eaten: if they be unpleasant they must be steep'd in cold water, two, three, four, five, six or seven days, casting away the water every day: or else boyled in Water till the bitterness is gone, and the Root becomes soft. 3. Instead of Water you may sometimes steep them in a Lixivium of Salt of Tartar, and then sweeten them with fair water. 4. You may Aromatize them by adding Spices. 5. They are preserved either with Clarified Sugar, Honey or Pickle, as every one likes best.

2. Condita Caulium, Preserved Stalks.

Colledge.) Take Stalks of Articoaks, not too ripe, as many as you will; of which take (contrary to what we spoke in Roots) only the Pith, and preserve them with their equal weight in sugar, boyling them as before, till they are condited, according to Art: so also are prepared the Stalks of Angelica, Burdock, Lettice, &c. before they be too ripe.

Salmon.) If they be hard they must be softened by steeping, and slicing, &c. observing (in like case) the notes before going.

3. Condita Corticum, Preserved Barks.

Colledge.) Take fresh Orange peels, as many as you please, take away the exterior Yellowness: steep them in water for the space of 3 days at least, often renewing the water, then cast them into the sugar boyled as before, and preserve them.

them. In like manner are preserved the Peels of Citrons and Limons.

(Salmon.) But here is to be Noted, that those Barks which are soft and not bitter need no Infusion before hand at all.

4. Conditia florum, Preserved flowers.

Colledge.) Rx flowers of Citrons, as many as you please, and with sugar preserve them so as they may keep: so must you do with the flowers of Oranges, Borrage, Primroses, &c.

(Salmon.) Here is to be Noted, 1. That Flowers are Candied by pouring on them Syrup of Sugar highly boyled. 2. Some are Candied whole, as flowers of Citrons, Oranges, Roses, Cowslips, &c. 3. Some are Candied by covering them stratum super stratum, with fine loaf Sugar. 4. Some Flowers, as Capers, are Preserved with Pickle. 5. Some anoint the Flowers with Glair of Eggs, sprinkle them with White Sugar, and set them in the Sun to dry, so will they be kept whole and well coloured.

5. Conditia Mala seu fructuum, Preserved Apples or Fruits.

Colledge.) Take Apricocks, as many as you will, take away the outward Skin and the Stone, and mix them with the equal weight of fine white sugar, then after four hours, take them out, and boyl the sugar without any other liquor, then put them in again and boyl them as they ought, according to Art. The manner of preserving other Fruits are the same, or at least not much unlike it, as whole Barberries, Cherries, Cornels, Quinces, Peaches, Apples, all the sorts of Myrobalans, Hassle-nuts, Wall-nuts, Nutmegs, Raisons, Pepper brought green from India, Garden and wild Plums, Pears, Grapes.

(Salmon.) 1. Some take soft Fruits as Cherries, Barberries, Currans, Peaches, and add half a part of Syrup of Sugar or Honey, and boyl till the moisture is gone, otherwise they will mould. 2. The harder sort, as Citrons, Quinces, &c. are first to be softened, and the bitter to be made pleasant. 3. Limons and Olives, as also Cowcumbers, French Beans, &c. are preserved with Pickle. 4. Nuts ought to be Green, and before the Shell is hard, then to be pierced with a Bodkin, steep ten days in cold Water, boyled soft, dried, Aromatized with Cinnamon (by sticking it in them), and then boyl again with Sugar and Water, of each an equal part.

6. Conditia Pulparum, Preserved Pulps.

Colledge.) Pulps also are preserved, as of Barberries, Cassia Fistula, Citrons, Hips, Quinces, Sloes, &c. Take Barberries, as many as you please, boyl them in a sufficient quantity of Spring water, till they are tender, then having pulped them through a sieve, that they may be free from the stones, in an earthen glazed Vessel boyl again with a gentle fire, stirring often for fear of burning, till the watery part is consumed, afterwards take of this Pulp ℞ which mix with sugar ℞ and boyl it to a just consistency.

(Salmon.) This is nothing but Rob or Quidony boyled up yet higher.

7. Muria Condire, To preserve with Pickle.

Colledge.) Broom-buds; or flowers are also preserved, but with Brine and Vinegar; and among fruits, Capers, Olives, &c. Lastly, among the barks, Cinnamon; amongst flowers; Roses and Marigolds: Amongst fruits, Almonds, Cloves, Pine-nuts, Pistick-nuts, &c. are said to be preserved: so also seeds and young shoots or twigs. But with this difference; they are incrusted with dry sugar, and are more properly called Confects than Preserves.

Salmon.) The best way of Pickling is thus: First make Brine by boyling with it Bay-salt so strong that it will bear up an Egg; Into this Brine warm put the Fruits you would Pickle, where let them remain four and twenty hours: then decant the Brine; and take out the Fruit; and put it into a sufficient quantity of white Wine Vinegar well boyled, putting in the Fruit whilst it is boyling hot: in this Vinegar, keep the pickled Fruit; adding to every Gallon, Ginger sliced 3j. Cloves slit 3j. Pepper; Dill and Fennel-seeds bruised and tyed up in a rag, A 3ss. Where Note; you ought to shift the Vinegar, every two months adding fresh, keeping the Vessel all the while close stopp'd up, Or thus, After a week or ten days, draw off the Vinegar and boyl it again; and then put in the Cow-cumbers again boyling hot, as before; repeat this work once or twice more, and they will be very green, and keep well all the year, being kept close stopp'd or covered. Thus are pickled Capers, Broom-buds, Sampite, Tops of Pur-slane, Limons, Olives, Cowcum-bers, French or Kidney beans, &c.

8: The making of Conserves.

Colledge.) Leaves of Wormwood, Sorrel, Wood-sorrel; flowers of Oranges, Betony, Borrage, Bugloss, Marigolds; the tops of Carduus; flowers of Centory the less, German-der, Succory; leaves of Sourvy-grass; flowers of Comfrey, Bawm, Hips: Roots of Elecampain; leaves and flowers of Ey-bright: Tops of Funstory, Goats Rae, flowers of Broom not quite open; of Hyssop, Lavender, white Lillies, Lillies of the Valley, Marjoram, Mallows, the Tops of Bawm; leaves of Mint, flowers of water-Lillies, Corn Poppies, Peony, Peaches, Comslips, Roses white, Damask, red, and of the Canker Bryar, Rosemary; leaves of Rue; flowers of Tile-tree, Colts-foot, Violets. From all these are made Conserves with a triple quantity of white Sugar: yet it is to be noted, that they must not be all mixed alike: for some of them must be first cut, beaten and gently boyled: some neither cut, beaten, nor boyled: And some admit, or except against but one of them: Which every Artist in the Operation may easily find out by this only premonition, and so avoid Error.

Salmon.) This is the last way and manner of Preserving; which, because the Colledge has delivered somewhat promiscuously, we shall a little explain. 1. Roots are first to be boyled, then stamp'd or strained through a sieve and then conserved. 2. Herbs and flowers being green; are done; being first cut small, and beaten up with Sugar to a Conserve: but some lay them stratum super stratum sun or lay upon lay, and so set them in the Sun, but that is rather the first way of preserving: Others beat them into a Conserve with Syrup of Sugar. 3. Fruits are always to be pulped through a Sieve. 4. In moist and mucilaginous things use a double Proportion of Sugar: in dry things a treble Proportion with a little Rhenish Wine or Sack. 5. The general Rule is to beat it in a Stone Mortar with a wooden Pestle, adding the Sugar as you beat.

Conserve added by the Author

9. Conserve Hederae Terrestris Composita, ex Aug. Conserve of Ground Ivy Compound.

Rx Leaves of Ground Ivy, of Rue, ana ℥ss. of Radishes ℥j. Roots of Angelica, Lovage, A. ℥vj. White Sugar lbj. ℥ivis: cut, bruise and make a Conserve: adding, if need require, juice of Limons enough to make it of a just thickness.

Salmon.) It is designed as an Antidote against the Plague, and all malign and burning Feavers: It provokes sweat, and defends the Heart. Dose ℥j. or more, several times a day.

10. Conserve Cephalica, a Conserve for the Head.

Rx Rosemary-flowers ℥vj. Mace, Nutmegs, A. ℥iv. seeds of white Poppies ℥ii. Saffron ℥j. white Sugar lbij. bruise all, and with juice of Limons or Citrons make a Conserve S. A.

Salmon.) It is a remedy against most cold and moist Diseases of the Head and Brain; as the Epilepsy, Apoplexy, Palsy, Vertigo, Lethargy, Megrim, Head-ach, &c. It warms and comforts the Stomach, revives the Heart, cheers the Spirits, strengthens the whole Body, and restores in Consumptions.

CHAP. XX.

Of SUGARS.

1. Diacodium solidum, sive Tabulatum, or Lozenges of Poppies.

Colledge.) Take white Poppy Heads mealy ripe, and newly gathered N^oxx. steep them in spring-water warmed lbij. the next day boyl till the Virtue is out. Lastly, strain out the Liquor, and with a sufficient quantity of fine sugar boyl again S. A. so as it may be made up into Lozenges.

Salmon.) It thickens and stops

Catarrhs, helps Coughs, Roughness and Soreness of the Wind-pipe, causes rest and Sleep, and eases all sorts of pains. You may carry them in your Pocket, and eat them as you see occasion.

2. Saccharum Tabulatum simplex & Perlatum, Lozenges of Sugar Simple and Pearled.

Colledge.) The first is made by casting the Sugar out upon a Marble, after a sufficient boiling in half its weight of Damask Rose-water.

but

But the latter, by adding to every pound of the former, towards the latter part of the Coction, Pearls prepared and bruised \mathfrak{z} ls. with leaves of Gold N° viii. vel x.

Salmon.) The first has only the Virtues of Sugar: The latter of Pearls joyned to the Sugar: It cools and comforts the Heart and Spirits; takes away the heat of burning Feavers, refreshes all the powers of Nature, and restores in Consumptions. Dose \mathfrak{z} ls or more.

3. Saccharum Tabularum Compositum, Lozenges of Sugar Compound.

Colledge.) \mathfrak{R} Choice Rhubarb \mathfrak{z} iv. Agarick Trochiscated, Coraline, Harts-horn burnt, Dittany of Crete, Wormseed, Purslane and sorrel seeds, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Cinnamon, Zedoary, Cloves, A. \mathfrak{z} ls. white sugar beaten fine \mathfrak{z} ij. dissolve in Wormwood water \mathfrak{z} iv. Wormwood Wine \mathfrak{z} j. Cinnamon water a spoonful: with the forenamed powders make it into Lozenges according to Art.

Salmon.) It Comforts and warms a cold and weak Stomach, expels wind, kills worms (for which as some think the Medicine was designed, cleanses the Bowels, and causes a good Appetite. Dose \mathfrak{z} ij in a morning fasting.

4. Saccharum Penidium, Sugar Penids.

Colledge.) They are prepared of sugar dissolved by a gentle fire in Early water, and the whites of Eggs diligently beaten together, and clarified twice by boyling: then strain it through a Cloth, and boyl it gently again till it rises up in great bubbles, and being chewed, sticks not to your Teeth; then pour it upon a Marble anointed with Oyl of Almonds (letting first the Bubbles sink after it is removed from the fire) bring back the out, sides of it to the middle, till it looks like Larch Resin: after that, your hands being rubbed with white starch, you may draw it into threads, either short or long, thick or thin; and as it best likes you, let it be hardened in what form you please.

Salmon.) These Penids have all the Virtues of Sugar, and serves to the same intentions, being a good Pectoral and eater of Coughs.

Nota. Concerning Confects or Sugars, the Industrious Student is to note these things: 1. That Confects of Lozenges are things made hard with Sugar or Sugarcandy. 2. That they are either made of the things themselves whole, or of their powders, or of their juices. 3. Roots,

S s 4 Tops

Tops of Herbs, Barks, Flowers, Fruits, Peels, Nuts, Kernels, Seeds, &c. are thus confected: R the things to be made into Comfits, put them into a Brass Basin, letting Sugar melted or dissolved, drop thereon, continually moving and shaking them over a fire that the moisture may be consumed, and the Sugar cleave, and at length cover it over with a Crust.

4. Some Seeds of an unpleasant Taste must be first steeped in Vinegar before they are confected. 5. The courser sort of Confects are first covered with white Starch, and after with Sugar. 6. The way to make Confects crusted with Sugar-Candy is like that of Candying, only it differs in the thickness of the Liquor.

A.

This is the great Secret with which we cured several hundreds of the Plague in the last great Visitation in London, Anno 1665. and to the best of our remembrance not one person died thereof to whom we gave it: several persons are now living who had Plague spots came out upon them, others being at the same time dead in the room; and one Will. Taylor (who can yet testify it) expected to be the next after his mother and two sisters which lay dead by him of the Plague, being full of spots, like to them upon the dead persons, yet upon the taking hereof recovered, and bore the spots upon him for near six months after, to the view of several people, which as a sufficient testimony of the worth of this Medicament, we could not but communicate to the world. It is an Antidote against all manner of Poyson and infectious Diseases, destroys the very essence of Venoms, gives rest and ease, and takes away all manner of pain in any part of the Body: Therefore in Head-achs, Megrimms, Vertigo's, Falling-sickness, Convulsions, Palsies, Gour, Sciatika's, Pleurisies, Obstructions of the Spleen, Cholick, Wind, the Whites, and over-flowing of the Terms in Women, in all Loosenesses, or Fluxes, as the Dysenteria, Lienteria, Hæmorrhoidal purgation, in all malign Feavers, as the Meazels, small Pox, and spotted Feavers, as also in Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, spitting of blood or matter, obstructions of the Lungs and inward bruises we commend it as a Jewel. It revives the Spiritus, cheers the Heart, recreates the natural powers, and restores in Consumptions. Dose for prevention ʒj in a glass of Rhenish Wine or Sack in a morning fasting: but for Cure ʒss or more, the Patient being in their naked bed, and sweating upon it, giving between whiles a little of the Confectio Alhermes of our prescription, at sect. 2. foregoing.

Bladder and Joynts. Dose 2 Dj. ad 3j.

23. Pilula Rudij, Pills or Extract of Rudius.

Colledg.) Take Coloquintida

3vj. Agarick, Scamony, roots of black Hellebor, Turbith, A. 3ss. Aloes Succorrina 3j. Cinnamon, Mace, Cloves, ana ʒiij. lee the Coloquintida (being cleansed from the seeds) be cut small; the Agarick sliced thin; the Hellebor, Turbith and Aromaticks, grossly bruised: upon which assue the best S. V. a sufficient quantity, so much as may overtop all the breadth of six fingers: digest four days in a gentle heat, after strain and press out the Liqueur strongly, in which dissolve the Scamony and Aloes (first well cleansed) Then put all into a Glass Alembick, that the humidity being separated (by distillation) the thick matter (like Honey) may remain, of which make a Mass.

Salmon.) This is a good way of making these Pills; for now the body of the menstruum not being clogged with the Gums (till the last) is able to extract the powers of all the other things, which by the other way it could not. The Colledge has left out the Diarrhodon abbatis 3ss. and put in its place the aforesaid Aromaticks. These Pills are a Panchymagogon, or General Purger of all humors hot and cold, thick and thin; being indeed a very excellent Medicament inferiour to no Pills in the Book, working with a world of safety and gentleness, and having all the Virtues of Pilula Aggregativa Aurea, Cochia, scitida, &c. but whether they be in all cases so effectual, as those other Pills which are more Material, I question much. If you mix these with Pil. Aggregativa Cochle, or the like, they will work more to the purpose, and better then the Extract alone. They are usually given with Mercurius Dulcis, or sweet white precipitate against the French Pox. Dose 2 Dj. ad ʒiij. but in some Bodies one large Pill of gr. xii. or xiii. will work very well.

34. Pilula Ruffi five Communes, Ruffus his Pills or Common Pills.

Mace, Cloves, Cinnamon, Epithymum, ana, ʒss. digest in a glass Vessel close stopd in B. M. for four whole days, then press them out: in which dissolve Aloes prepared ʒiv. and with a gentle Fire reduce it to its just thicknes: then being a little cooled add species Letificantis, species Dialaccæ, ana, ʒj. Salt of Wormwood and Afo, A. ʒii. Essence of Saffron ʒii. Oyl of Aniseeds a few drops, make a maß of Pills.

Salmon.) This is exactly from Quercetan, save in the Copying of it over they over-look't [of all the sorts of Myrobolans, ana $\frac{3}{4}$ ls.] to be put into the first Decoction, which is a gross error and mistake; for they ought to be put into the Medicine. Moreover Quercetan adds Sometimes the Essence of Aloes and Scammony, Extract of Rhubarb, A. $\frac{3}{4}$ ls. Extract of Sena $\frac{3}{4}$ ls. Troches Albandal $\frac{3}{4}$ ls: and then he calls them Polycresta. tract with spirit of Wine.

Salmon.) These are those An-gelical Pills that Schroder (in his Pharm. l. 2. c. 77. sub calce) says he was forbidden to publish consisting of but two Vegetable Ingredients, being the same to much renowned through all Europe by the name of the Frankfort Pills, and kept for a long time as a great secret. And the Learned and Industrious Horstius says, that a Renowned Physician of Frankfort did protest to him upon Oath, that the latter of the foregoing prescriptions was the true and genuine Recipe of the Angelical Pills, so much both admired and desired by the world. As to their Virtues they are Infinitely safer and pleasanter then Aloes alone, being void of that sharpness, yet retaining all their Sanative Virtues. They cleanse the Stomach and Bowels from corrupt humors, open Obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Intestines, cleansing them from all their filth; They strengthen the Stomach, and all the Inward parts, yea the whole body, preserving the entire man in health. Dose à ʒi ad ʒss just at going to Supper: they work not till neer noon the next day:

you may take \mathfrak{zj} . at a time for twenty or thirty days together.

If you add either the Golden precipitate, Hercules Bovij, or Aurum Vitæ (in lib. 3. cap. 7. Sect. 36, 37, 38, & 39. aforegoing) Ziiij : These Pills will be superiour to any Cathartick yet known.

96. Pilule-familias nostræ, Our FAMILY Pills.

Take Extract of fine Aloes Zviij : Resinous Scammony Ziiij : Resin of Jallap, Extract of Colocynthis, Cambogia, Extractum Benedictum, ana Zii : Tartar Vitriolate, Elaterium, Extract of Saffron, Cloves, Mace, Nutmegs, Castoreum, ana Zi : Arcanum Corallinum Ziiij : all being in fine powder (except the Extracts) mix them all together; and with a strong Decoction of Colocynthis, q. s. make a mass of Pills.

Their Virtues. They effectually cure the Scurvy, Dropsy, Gout, Consumption and Scabs; gently purge by stool, Flegm, Choller, Melancholly and Watery humors; cleanse and sweeten the Blood, rectify the Distemperature of the Head, Stomack, Liver, Spleen, Womb and Joynts; quickens the Senses, clear the Sight,

Sight, add a good Colour to the Face, and make the Body able to withstand Diseases. They being composed of the greatest Purities produce the same effects in Mans Body, being of a friendly quality, and performing their Operations as Nature her self requires: for they sometimes purge gently, sometimes work by Sweat, and sometimes by Uriue, and sometimes by all these ways, as Nature her self is disposed to the Action. They are not bound to any particular way of Operation, but that which may best serve Natures ends in the restoring of Health, performing all their Operations with great Safety, Speed and Ease (without griping or making sick, unless the Stomach be very foul) being fitted for all persons of what Age, Sex, and Constitution soever. If there be but little Corruption in the Body, they bring forth but little, if much, they bring forth much; and in persons perfectly well, they will scarcely work at all, because in such they have no Enemy to meet with. They will work no longer than there is Diseasey matter to work on; Thus they seem to make Diseases melt away insensibly. With these Pills we have cured some hundreds of the afore named Diseases, viz. The Scurvy, although of many years standing, when it was accompanied with pains in the Head, Nose. Shoulders, Leggs, Bones, with other pains all over the whole Body, dulness, and heaviness, with reddish blewish spots and breakings out in the Skin, weakness in the Back and Loyns, illness of the Stomach, loss of Appetite, Loosness and Soreness of the Teeth, Throat and Mouth, with a general feebleness and faintness over the whole Body. They cure the Dropsy and Gout beyond Expectation, taking away the water in the one, and the pain in the other, in the greatest of extremities, some of which have been given over as incurable, and others that have gone above a dozen years upon Crutches, without the Disease ever returning again to this day, though now it is many years since. They cure Consumptions, not so much by adding matter, as taking away the Obstructions which hinder the Nutriment from going to its respective parts. And they cure Scabs of what kind so ever, bringing them to a speedy healing, by purging away the evil humors which feed them. In all these cases they carry off the Disease the right way, (answering all the ends and Intentions of purging Physick) by taking them four, five, or six times a Month, and sometimes oftner, as need requires: In so much that in some hundreds of Families, on most occasions they are their only Physick (and from hence they came to be called FAMILY Pills) for as they are safe in Operation so are they certain (as far as a Medicine may be) in the end proposed, since no person troubled with any of the aforementioned Diseases (if curable) has failed of cure, who has continued (without delaying of time, or taking of other Physick) the use of these Pills according to our Directions. They that take these Pills need not go under long, dangerous, and chargeable courses of Physick, suffer by bad Medicines, and be driven, time after time, from one Physician to another. The way of taking them, is by swallowing them down alone, or in the pap of an Apple, Honey, or in a stewed Prune, or in a little Syrup, Beer, Ale, Wine or Broth, or you may bruise them, and mix them with a little Syrup or a stewed Prune, as aforesaid, and so take them early in the morning, or late at night going to bed, without observation of any other order, only taking heed of cold. From 2 years old to 3 or 4, you may give one Pill: from 4 years old to 10, you may give 2 or 3 Pills: from 10 to 16, you may give 3 or 4 Pills: and from 16 years of Age, to 60 and upwards, you may safely give 5 or 6 Pills. You may begin with a little Dose first, and so increase it as you find the Body of the Patient is in strength.

There are other Pills, which with all their Compositions, Preparations, Virtues, Uses and Doses, you may see in Our Doron Medicum, lib. 20. cap. 23.

CHAP. XXIV.

OF TROCHES.

T^{rochisci de Absinthio,} Troches of Worm-wood.

Salmon.) They open Obstructions, and strengthen the Stomach and Liver, easing pains thereof, and are good against old and stubborn Agues, the yellow Jaundice, Indigestion and want of Appetite. Dose à 3j. ad ij. they scarcely Purge, or but very gently.

2. Agaricus Trochiscatus, Agarick Trochiscated.

Colledge.) Take Agarick white and light (sliced thin, poudred and sifted) ℥iij. macerate it in a sufficient quantity of white-wine in which Ginger ℥ii. has been infused, make it into Troches.

Salmon.) But what must coagulate the Powder? you had best do it either with a little Tragacanth, white Starch or Oxymel, moreover you must chuse a serene clear, cold and dry time to make them in, for then they will be white, otherwise pale: for the Virtues hereof see Agarick, lib. I. cap. 4. sect. 15.

3. Trochisci albi Rhasis, White Troches of Rhasis.

Colledge.) Take Ceruse (washed in Rose-water) ℥x. Sarcocol ℥iij. white starch ℥ii. Gum Arabick and Tragacanth, A. ℥j. Camphir ℥ss. either with Rose-water or Womens Milk, make them into Troches according to Art.

Salmon.) They are made both with and without Opium: when they are used for extream pains, Joubertus thinks Opium ought to be added. These Troches are good against many affects of the Eyes, parts inflamed, pain and heat of Urine, soreness and ulceration of the Yard; for they ease pain, cool inflammations, de-terge, stop Fluxions, dry, heal and strengthen: you must use them thus, Take a dram or two of these Troches, powder them, then mix with Rose-water (if for the Eyes) or Poppy-water (if for other intentions) which drop into the Eyes, if sore or inflamed; or inject into the Yard with a Syringe as need requires.

4. Trochisci Alexiterij, Troches resisting or expelling Poyson.

Colledge.) Take Zedoary, powder of Crabs-claws, A. ℥ss. outward peel of Citrons preserved dry, Angelica seeds, A. ℥j. Bole Armoniack ℥ss. Crystalline Sugar; the treble weight of all: make them into a fine powder, and with a sufficient quantity of the Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth in distilled Treacle-water make a paste, of which form Troches.

Salmon.) Their Title shews their Virtues; They strengthen and fortifie the Heart, cheer the Spirits, revive such as are Dull and Melancholy, causing liveliness, chearfulness and gladness: they resist the power of all contagious, infectious and malign Diseases, and are excellent in the Measles, Small Pox and Plague, both to Preserve and Cure. You may eat them four or five times a day.

5. Trochisci Alhandal, Troches of Coloquintida.

Colledge.) Be pulp of Coloquintida (white and light, freed from the seeds, cut small, and rubbed with an Ounce of Oyl of Roses, then after two days beaten into powder) ℥x. Gum Arabick, Tragacanth and Bdellium, A. ℥vj. steep the Gums for three or four days in Rose-water q. s. or so much as will well dissolve them: then with the aforesaid Pulp, and part of the Mucilage make Troches, which dry in the shadow: beat them up again into powder, and with the rest of the mucilage, make them up again, which dry and keep for use.

Salmon.) Albandal is the Arabian name for Coloquintida: The Virtues you may see at large, lib. I. cap. 6. sect. 28. foregoing.

6. Trochisci Aliptæ Moschatæ, The Chyrurgians Troches Musk.

Salmon.) The Title shews their use, being excellent for Children; and if you add the Perfumes, they will be good to sweeten a stinking Breath.

9. Trochisci Bechici nigri, Black Troches for Coughs.

Colledge.) Take Juice of Liquorice, white Sugar, A. $\text{℥}x$. Tragacanth, sweet Almonds blanched, A. $\text{℥}vj$. with a sufficient quantity of the Mucilage of Quince-seeds made in Rose-water, form Troches according to Art.

Salmon.) Either the Colledge is much mistaken in transcribing of this Composition; or else their Predecessors or they, have been in a very great Error: for in the old Book the juyce of Liquorice and white Sugar was but \mathfrak{zj} . in this it is $\mathfrak{3x}$. how shall we find where the fault is? These Troches are to be held in the mouth till they melt, against Coughs, Colds, Hoarsness, Asthma's, and want of Voice; they may be carried about one, in ones Pocket, without hurting them, to be used as occasion requires. They are excellent against spitting of Blood. The oftener they are taken, the more good they will do.

Salmon.) They were invented to stop Fluxes of Blood in any part, and to cool Inflammations, having all the Virtues of Laudanum, but not altogether so powerful; yet in stanching of Blood I think them the better Medicine: for the Bloody flux or spitting of Blood take them in Pou-Z z 4 de.

der to ʒss. or more every Morning in a Glass of Alicant, or mixt with Conserve of Roses: for Bleeding at Nose, Flux of the Terms, or Pissing Blood, dissolve them in Poppy-water, or inject with a Syringe. They are excellent in a Gonorrhœa (after due evacuations) strengthen all the internal parts, kill Worms, cause a sweet Breath, are good against malign and pestilential Diseases, and the bitings of venomous Creatures, For their other Virtues see Labdanum aforesaid, and Troches of Sanders.

30. Sief de Thure, Eye Troches of Frankincense.

Colledge.) R. Frankincense, Lapis Calaminaris, Pompholigos, A. ʒx, Ceruse ʒv. Gum Arabick, Opium, A. ʒvi. with fair water, or mucilage of Fenugreek-seed, make Balls, which dry and keep for use.

Salmon) Sief is an Arabian name, and generally given by them to all Medicines appropriated to the Eyes. This Medicine is excellent for bleared, sore, rheumatick, hot, red and inflamed Eyes, &c. Let the Patient scrape a quantity of it into a fine rag, and tie it up in a Nodule, then dip it into white Rose-water (or Poppy-water which is better) and therewith pat, wash or bathe the Eyes; or you may mingle half a dram of it in powder with the white of an Egg, beaten with a little Rose-water, and so spread it upon rags, or fine heards of flax, and lay it over the Patients Eyes when he lies down to sleep.

31. Trochisci d. Violis solutivi, Troches of Violets.

Colledge.) Take Violet flowers moderately dried ʒvi. Turbith ʒss.

Salmon.) They purge Choler, Flegm and watery humors from the Head, Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, Womb and Joynts. They kill Worms in Children, expel Wind, give ease in the Chollick, cure the Cachexy, Green-sickness, Scurvy, Dropsy, Jaundice, Gout, Kings-Evil, &c. and are very profitable for such as have the Lues Venerea. They have no ill Taste, & therefore may be given to Children to eat, especially such as have great Bellies: They are fit for such persons as can take no other Physick, and may be carried about in Journeys, not being subject to spoiling as Syrups, Eleaguaries, Pills, &c. are. Dose to Children ʒi. to stronger Persons and Rusticks à ʒss. ad ʒj.

32. Trochisci de Vipera ad Theriacam, Troches of Vipers for Treacle.

Colledge. Take of the flesh of Vipers (the Skin, Entrails, Head, Fat and Tail being taken away, boiled in water with Dill and a little salt) ʒviij. white Bread twice Baked, Grated and Sifted ʒii. make them into little Troches, your hands being anointed with Opobalsamum or Oyl of Nutmegs by expression; dry them on a sieve, turning the bottom upwards in an open place, often turning them till they are well dried, then put them into a Glass or Stone Pot glazed and well stopped. They will keep a year, yet 'tis much better to be made use of for Treacle not long after their making.

and

Salmon.) This is an ill way of making of Troches of Vipers: for by this boiling a great part of their volatile Spirit and Salt is lost: Your better way will be, having skind them, to dry them with their Hearts, Livers, and Bones, then being thoroughly dried to cut them into bits, and in a great Brass or Iron Mortar to beat them into powder, which being searfed, may with the Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth in Alicant or Tent be made up into little Troches. Being thus made, they are quickn'd and ennobled with their own volatile Salt, by which their virtues are convey'd through all the pores of Mans Body, even to the most remote parts. They are intended as an ingredient for Treacle, but they are singular in curing Consumptions, Hæticks, Pthificks, wastings and decays of Nature, Barrenness, Plague, Poyson, bitings of Vipers, or any other venomous Creature. They cure Scabs, Itch, Bitches, Boils, Tetters, Erysipela's, Morpew, Scurf, and in particular the Leprosy, and Elephantiasis; for the constant use of them for some time changes the natural state, & as it were renovates, or renews the whole Man to a wonder. They are Sudorifick in operation, yet sweat not (unless given in a large Dose) but cure Diseases insensibly: Dose à ʒi. ad ʒi. They quicken the sight, cause a good color, are pectoral; and as some

(with great confidence affirm) perfectly cure the French Pox.

It is exceeding good against Diseases of the Head, Brain, Stomach, and Nerves, expels Wind, gives ease in the Cholick, helps pain at the Stomach and indigestion; ease the Strangury, anointed on the Share; and strengthens the Liver, Spleen, Reins and Womb, having all the Virtues also of the Oyl of Exceter.

54. Oleum Nardinum, Nard Oyl, or Oyl of Spicknard.

Colledge.) R of Spicknard ʒiii. fresh Marjoram ʒii. Xyloaloes, Calamus Aromaticus, fresh Elecampane, Cyperus, Bayberries, Indian leaf or Mace, Schananth, Cardamoms, A. ʒjls. bruise them all grossly, and steep them in water and wine, A. ʒxiv. with Oyl of Sesamin or Oyl of Olives lbvls. for one day, then in a double Vessel with gentle boyling consume the Wine and water, and perfect the Oyl S.A.

Salmon.) The Virtues are the same with the former, and with the simple Oyl of Nard aforegoing.

55. Oleum Nicodemi, Nicodemus his Oyl.

Colledge.) Take seeds or tops of Hypericon, old Turpentine, A lbj. Licarge ʒvj. Aloes Hepatica, Tutia of Alexandria, A. ʒiii. Saffron

3j. the best white Wine ℥iv. old Oyl ℥ii: The fourth part of the Wine being consumed by gentle boyling in a B. M. or otherwise in Sand, or in the Sun in the Dog days; after ten days strain it, and keep the Oyl apart from the Wine.

Salmon.) Both Wine and Oyl are very drying, and therefore excellent to heal Scabs, Itch, small Pox, Measles, running Sores, and Ulcers, &c. Where note, that though both dry, yet the Wine cleanses most, the Oyl heals most; therefore first wash with the Wine, then anoint with the Oyl.

Oleum Nicotiane, Oyl of Tobacco.

Salmon.) 'Twas before among the simple Oyls, almost word for word; I wonder a whole Colledge should be so forgetful;
or did they mistake a simple Oyl for a Compound.

56. Balsamum Polychrestum, Balsam of many Virtues.

Colledge.) Take S. V. Ibiis.
Sarsaparilla (white and mealy and cut) ℥v. infuse them in a glass Vessel till the S. V. becomes of a golden colour; strain and add Gum Guaiaacum
℥viii. dissolve it in the aforesaid Tincture with a gentle heat by much stirring of it; lastly, add Indian Balsam, or Balsam of Peru a Spoonful, mix them and make a Balsam.

Salmon.) It is a great Alexipharmick, and is a singular cure for the Scurvy and French Pox, most Diseases of the Head, Breast, Lungs, Womb, and Joynts; heals inward Bruises, cures a stinking Breath, resists Putrefaction, and helps pains of the Gout. Dose inwardly a ℥ii, ad iv. in the morning fasting, and at night going to bed. In the French Pox it would be good to take it and sweat upon it: you may also anoint it upon Pocky Sores, Boils and Scabs, and apply it to genty places. It heals green Wounds to a wonder: taken after due purgation, and at a fitting time, it powerfully provokes the Terms.

Oleum Populneum, Oyl of the Poplar.

Salmon.) This was also once before almost word for word among the simple Oyls: the Col-ledge certainly is troubled with short memories, thus often to write Tautologies.

Balsamum Vulnerarium, A wound Balsam.

Salmon.) You may find it word for word with its Virtues in Cap. 3.
Secl. 18. following.

57. Oleum Vulpinum; Oyl of Foxes.

Colledge.) Take a fat Fox, and of a middle Age (if you can get such a one) caught by hunting about Autumn, kill him; the skin and bowels being taken away, the flesh cut in pieces, and the bones broken, boyl him (scumming it diligently) in white wine & spring water, A. ℥vi.
till half be consumed, with sea salt ℥iii. Tops of Dill, Tyme, and Chamepyte, A. M. j. after straining and pressing out, boyl it again with old Oyl ℥iv. flowers of Sage and Rosemary, A. M. j. the water being consumed strain it again strongly, and separate with a funnel the aquosity from the Oyl, which keep for use.

Salmon.) It is a healing, comforting, strengthening, and emollient Oyl, invented to ease the Gout, and pains of the Joynts.

stiffness, numbness or aches in the Sinews, and to restore wasted or withered Members. It gives ease also to pains in the Reins and Back, and is excellent in Convulsion, Cramps and Palsies.

58. Oleum Piperis, Oyl of Pepper.

Colledge.) Take long, black, and white Pepper, A. ℥iij. Myrobalans, Chrys, Bellerick, Enblich, and Indian, A. ℥v. Roots of Smallage and Fennel, A. ℥iijss. Sagapenum, Opopanax, Ammuniacum, white Henbane, A. ℥iijss. Turbith ℥ij. Ginger ℥iij. the branches of green Time and green Rue, A. M. j. infuse them S. A. in a sufficient quantity of Aqua Vitæ; Oyl of Wall-flowers ℔ii. then boil to the consumption of the Aqua Vitæ.

Salmon.) It is an exceeding hot Oyl, good against all cold Diseases of the Head, Brain, Nerves, Womb and Joynts, as Tremblings, Convulsions, Cramps, Palsies, dead Palsies, Gouts, Sciatica's, obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, and Reins: It eases inveterate Head-achs and Mègrim, helps Vertigo's, strengthens and warms the Stomach, eases pains thereof, and causes a good digestion. In Clysters it expels Wind, and gives ease in the Cholick, and, as some say, breaks the Stone.

OYLS added by the Author.

59. Oleum Resolutivum, ex A. ℥iijss. A Resolutive Oyl.

Take Roots of Wild Cucumers, of Bryony, of Althæa, A. ℔iiij. Oyl of Olive ℔x. digest them in the Sun for a month, then boyl and strain out by pressing.

Salmon.) It is emollient, resolutive, digestive and opening: it discuties Tumors, and takes away contumacious pains proceeding of cold, wind and ill humors.

60. Oleum Febrifugum, The Febrifuge Oyl.

Take Oyls of Water Lillies a year old, of Earthworms, of Roses, of Hypericon, of Almonds, A. ℥j. live Scorpions Nº ix. (taken, if possible at the Sun's entrance into Cancer or Scorpio) set them in the Sun ten days: then add Venice Treacle ℥ss. and insolate them 14 days longer.

Salmon.) The Virtues are the same with the simple Oyl of Scorpions; but its chief use is to make the Febrifuge Plaster. Anointed down the Back-bone, it is good against the Palsy, Convulsion, Cramps, Lameness, and Numbness of the Limbs.

61. Oleum ad Vermes Prevotij, Prevotius his Oyl to kill Worms.

℞ Wormwood, Carduus, Scordium, Tobacco, A. M. j. roots of Sow-bread, ℥ss. Coloquintida ℥ij. Osl, Vinegar, A. ℔j. boyl to the consumption of the Vinegar; then add Myrrh in powder ℥j. mix; and boyl to the dissolution of the Myrrh.

Salmon.) The Title shews the Virtues, anoint it upon the Stomach and Belly.

62. Oleum Purgans, A Purging Oyl.

℞ Ricinus of America and the Vulgar, A. ℥iijss. seeds of small Spurge, of Dwarf-Elder cleansed, A. ℥ss. Rhubarb ℥j. yellow Sanders ℥ss. beat them to a Paste, and make an Oyl by expression, to six parts of which add of the former one part.

Sal-

Salmon.) It must not be given alone, because it inflames too much: two or three drops may be made up with crums of Bread into two or three Pills, and so taken; or six or eight drops may be given in fat broth: It purges upwards and downwards strongly all flegmarick and watery Humors, and helps such as have the Dropfie.

63. Oleum contra Venena Prevoti. An Oyl against Poylon.

Rx Oyl *℥*iiii. Rhenish Wine *℥*lss. roots of Gentian, Tormentil, Masterwort, Swallow-wort, Angelica, *A. ℥*i. Tops of Hypericon, Rue, Tobacco, A. M. j. Berries of Juniper and Bays, *A. ℥*ss. digest four days, then boyl to the consumption of the humidity, press out the Oyl, and add to it Scordium M. j. Aloes, Myrrh, Saffron, *A. ℥*iii. boyl again to the dissolution of the Gums, then strain and keep it for use.

Salmon.) Anoint therewith the Regions of the Heart and Stomach, as also the Pulses; you may also give it in Clysters, after other evacuations by Vomiting.

64. Oleum Antipestilential Bonacurfi. An Oyl against the Plague.

Take flowers of Hypericon *℥*j. roots of Tormentil, Carline, round Birthwort, Centory the great, *A. ℥*vj. the Skull is broken to the Dura or Pia Mater : but lay not the Lint on too moist, but squeeze it ; for one drop falling on the Membranes will make the Patients Dye Mad. It also cures all sorts of Witch-craft if the Patient is anointed with it outwardly, and takes it inwardly ʒiij. at a time for some days together.

There are other Oyls, which with their Preparations, Virtues, and Uses ; you may see in Our Doron Medicum, lib. 3. cap. 2.

CHAP. III.

Of B A L S A M S.

1. Balsamum Vulnerarium, A Wound Balsam.

℞ Venice Turpentine ʒiiss. Oyl of Hypericon ʒi. distilled Oyl of Wax ʒij. Gum Elemi (dissolved by its self) so much as may make the Balsam of a just thicknes.

Salmon.) It is a wonderful thing in curing of all Green Wounds and Bruises, which several have found it do at one application.

2. Balsamum Vulnerarium Zwelferi, Zwelfers Wound Balsam.

℞ the yellow Oyl of Turpentine (viz. that which is distilled by a Retort, after the spirit is drawn off) ʒbi. Pouders of Gum Anime, Elemi, Mastich, Olibanum, Myrrh, Tey, A. ʒvi. Balsam of Peru ʒj. Juicy of Poplar, ʒiiss. Inspissate Juices of Hypericon and Tarrow, A. ʒiiss. digest in a gentle heat in a glass close stopped till all the ingredients are dissolved, or for the greater part : then whilst hot, strain and keep it for use ; adding if you please a little Camphir in powder.

Salmon.) It is a most excellent thing in all Wounds new or old, although among the Nerves, Tendons and Muscles : it is good against Palsies, Convulsions and Numbness ; and strengthens weak and feeble Limbs, and eases pain.

3. Balsamum Vulnerarium Martiale, A Martial or Chalybeat Wound Balsam.

℞ of the Oyl of Turpentine (aforesaid) Odoriferous Oyl of Fir, A. ʒvi. Buds of the Poplar ʒiv. digest 2 days in a gentle heat and in a high glass close stopped, then strain out by expressing ; put it into a bolt head or glass Alembick, and add fine filings of steel ʒiij. or iv.

upon which instil by drops of the best spirit of Niter, or instead thereof spirit of Vitriol ℥ij. or more, so that the time of dropping it in, may be about the space of 12 hours, stirring the filings all the while with a wooden spatula, so will they be dissolved, and communicate their Essence and rubicund colour to the affused Oyl: digest all together in a large glass, and well closed, for the space of 2 days, then separate the rubicund Oyl or Balsam, which is like Blood (from the filings) and keep it for use.

Salmon.) This Balsam is not only applicable to outward Wounds; but to inward also, and may be given à ℥i. ad ʒls. It cures beyond most other Wound Balsams, being free from any corrosive property, for the Acid Spirits shew their form only in the filings (not in the Balsam) &c by the solution of the said filings are sweetened and transmuted into another ens or property.

4. Balsamum Vulnerarium ex Sulphure, A Vulnerary Balsam from Sulphur.

℞ flowers of Sulphur, or fine yellow Sulphur ʒvi. melt it in a glazed earthen pot over a gentle fire (but taking heed that it flame not) to which put pure Salt of Tartar ʒlii. or iv. being well mixed with a spatula, take it from the fire, so have you the Hepar Sulphuris: reduce it to powder, and put it into a little Alembick, upon which affuse the Yellow Oyl of Turpentine (aforesaid) Oyl of Tur newly distilled, A. ʒiv. or more: digest in a gentle heat without bayling, so have you red Balsamick Tincture of Sulphur, red like Blood, which separate by decanting or straining it, and keep it in a glass close stopp'd, both for external and internal use.

Salmon.) It doubtless exceeds the common Balsam of Sulphur, and is applicable to all Wounds and Ulcers, both Outward and Inward: Inwardly it stops spitting of Blood, and heals Ulcers of the Lungs, Coughs, Asthma's, and other Diseases there: Dose à ℥i. ad ʒls. in Tent or generous Canary.

5. Balsamum Stomachicum Regium, The Royal Stomach Balsam. ℞ oyl of Nutmegs expressed ʒiiss. Pouders of Mastich, Tacamahac, Gum Anime, A. ʒls. melt all these in a gentle heat, then begin, and add distilled Oyls of Mint, Marjoram, Cloves, A. ʒj. Oyls of Cinnamon, Wormwood, Calamus Aromaticus, Caraway, A. ʒls. being a little cooled, mix also therewith Balsam of Peru ʒvj. Extract of Saffron ʒiss. finish the Balsam by digesting two or three hours in a gentle heat.

Salmon.) It is of both external and internal use, strengthens the Stomach and Fortifies the Head, Brain, Heart and Vital Faculties, and in a word the whole body: it being anointed therewith: it comforts the Nerves, is good against Palsies, Cramps, Convulsions and Numbness, cures the Head-Ach and Megrims, Unction, and takes away Noise, Pain and Deafness in the Ears. Inwardly you may take à gut. vi. ad xij.

Salmon.) The Virtues are the same with Oyl of Mandrakes, and to be used in the same manner, only this is much more drying, and therefore better for Wounds which are near cured, because it takes away that sharp itching humor.

30. Unguentum Tutia, Oyntment of Tutia.

Colledge.) Take Tutia prepared ℥ii. Lapis Calaminaris twice or thrice burnt, and quencht in Plantane-water ℥i. Lavigate them, and with Oyntment of Roses lb. iss. make an Oyntment according to Art.

Salmon.) It is intended against sore, inflamed, smarting, hot and rheumatick Eyes: and is best to be mixed with an equal quantity of Diapompholigos, and to be laid or anointed on the Eye-lids and corners of the Eyes, in the day time, and spread upon two linnen cloths, and laid over the Eyes at night going to bed, washing it off the next morning with white Rose-water; thus used, it will have a powerful effect.

31. Valentie Scabiosa, The Oyntment or Power of Scabious.

Colledge.) Take juice of green Scabious, pressed out with a press, and strained through a Cloth: Hogs grease cleansed, ana, as much as you please. Let them be beaten with a Pestel in a Stone Mortar (not ground) putting in the juyce by degrees; for the more commodious mixture and Tincture: after let them in the Sun in a convenient Vessel, so as the juyce may overtop the grease: 9 days being passed, casting off the thin and discoloured juyces beat it in a Mortar as before, then insolate it again five days; which being elapsed, beat it again, adding fresh juyce of Scabious by degrees: Insolate it again in its own Vessel for 15 days, freeing it as before from its Aquosus humidity. In like manner repeat it again for other 15 days, with fresh juyce: which reiterate 5 times: at last beat it diligently, and in a glass or glazed Vessel keep it for use.

Salmon.) After this manner you may have the Power of any Herb whatsoever. It was invented by one John Arderne of Newark upon Trent (a famous and experienced Chyrurgion) about 300 years ago, who flourished Anno 1370. in the Reign of Edward the Third, King of England. This Oyntment is an excellent thing against Scabs, Itch, Mange, Carbuncles, Bubo's, Plague Sores (which it cures in three or four days, if mixt with a little Camphir). Morphew, Freckles, Tettars, Ring-worms, white Films and Pearls growing over the Eyes, Wounds, Ulcers, (Venereal or not) Tumors, Boyls, Puskes and the like. Salmon.) They have added here the Turpentine and Daucus seed: Applied to the Belly it kills Worms, helps Cold and Wind, and provokes the Terms, helps Fits of the Mother, and cleanses a Woman after Labour; laid to the Regions of the Liver and Spleen, it opens their Obstructions and eases Pains there; laid to the Back-bone and Wrists, it lessens the fits of Agues.

2. Ceraum Oesypum Mejsa, Cerecloth Oesypus.

Colledge.) Take Oesypus ℥ss. Oyl of Camomil and Orrice, ana ℥ss. yellow Wax ℥iij. Rosin ℥ss. Mastick, Ammoniacum, Turpentine, ana ℥j. Spicknard ℥iij. Saffron ℥ss. Storax Calamita ℥ss. the Mastick Spick, Saffron and Storax pulverize apart and commix them; the Ammoniacum dissolve in Vinegar, strain, and boyl to the thickness of Honey; the Wax and the Rosin melt in the Oyl; then being removed a little from the fire, mix the Oesypus, afterwards the Ammoniacum and Turpentine together; lastly, add the ponders, that the Cerecloth may be of a fit consistency.

Salmon.) It is impossible to make this into a Cerecloth with these Ingredients, unless you make it very soft. In their old Book there was Wax two pound, Rosin one pound, which although it was too great a proportion, making the Compositum too hard; yet I am sure this is too little: 'tis much that a whole Colledge could find no Medium between such great extremities: you may take of the Wax zviij. of the Rosin ziv. It is emollient, discutient and anodyne, it dissipates hard tumors of the Liver, Spleen, Womb, Nerves, Joints, and other parts of the Body; it ripens crude Aposthumes, and softens even stony tumors, &c.

An Appendix concerning DROPACES.

13. Dropax simplex, A simple Dropace.

R Pitch ℥ij. Oyl ℥ij. melt them together.

Salmon.) It is Anodyne, Attractive, draws and heals Wounds. A Dropace belongs to Cerecloth; it is made of Pitch mixt with Oyl and other things; first melt the Pitch, then add the Oyl, afterwards with other things you intend, the chief materials of which are Pepper, Pellitory of Spain, Rosemary, Euphorbium, Salt-Peter, Sal Gem, Aron-roots, roots of Master-wort, round Birth-wort, Castor, Bitumen, Sulphur, Common-Salt, Vine-ashes, Salt of Tarrar, &c.

14. Dropax Stomachicus, A Dropace for the Stomach.

Take Pitch ℥ij. Oyl of Quince or Maſtich ℥ss. melt and make a Dropace for the Stomach.

Salmon.) It strengthens and fortifies the Stomach, stays Vomiting, eases pains thereof, and causes digestion.

15. Dropax confortans, A strengthening Dropace.

Take Pitch, Wax, Resin, A. ℥iiij. Sal Gem ℥ss. Bitumen ℥j. Sulphur vive ℥ss. Castor, Storax liquida, A. ℥j. Pepper, Euphorbium, Fecula of Aron, A. ℥ij. Cantharides, Bees, A. ℥ss. mix and make a Dropace.

Salmon.) It draws, attracts, makes the skin red, helps the stagnation of the Blood, cures Lameness, Numbness, Witheredness of the Limbs, and Atrophies of parts: shave the hair, then apply the Dropace hot, letting it lye a while, pull it off before it is cold, then heat it again and apply it, so continuing till the part looks very red: I have known it successfully used to stop Catarrhs.

CHAP. VI. Of EEMPLASTERS.

1. Emplastrum album coctum, five de Cerussa, Emplaster of Ceruse.

Colledge.) R Oyl of Roses Omphacine lb. ij. Ceruse lb. jss. white wax ℥iv. levigate the Ceruse upon a Porphyre, put it into a brass or copper skillet or kettle, add the Oyl by degrees, boyle them with a gentle fire, continually stirring of it till it begins begins to swell: then whilst it is yet hot put in the wax, cut small, by little and little that it may melt, make an Emplaster according to Art.

Salmon.) It is an excellent drying and healing Emplaster, good to waste away the milk in womens Breasts, dry up moist sores and ulcers, heals scabs, burnings, scaldings, ease pains, &c..

2. Emplastrum ex Ammoniaco, Emplaster of Ammoniacum.

Colledge.) Take Ammoniacum, wheat-bran well sifted, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. Ointment of Althea, Emplaster of Melilot compound, powder of Bryony roots and Orrice, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. Ducks, Geese and Hens fat, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{liij}$. Bdelium, Galbanum, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. Pine-Rosin, yellow wax; A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{v}$. Oyl of Orrice, Turpentine, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. Boyl the Fats and Oyl with the mucilage of Line and Fenugreek seed, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{liij}$. to the consumption of the mucilage, strain it, and add the Rosin, wax, Turpentine, Ointment of Althea and Melilot Emplaster: when it begins to grow cold, put in the Ammoniacum dissolved in Vinegar, then the Bdelium in powder, and make an Emplaster according to Art.

Salmon.) 'Tis said to be of so softening a faculty that it is able to dissolve hard stony knobs which grow upon the joynts of the Fingers, Toes, and other parts: laid to the Breast, Liver or Spleen, it eases their pains, opens their obstructions, and takes away the hardness thereof: See the Cerrot of Ammoniacum in Cap. 5. Sect. 4. foregoing: it was a secret of Forestus.

3. Emplastrum de buccis Lauri, Emplaster of Bay-berries, Colledge.) Take of Bay berries husked $\mathfrak{z}\text{ij}$. Frankincense, Mastich, Myrrh, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. Cyperus, Costus, yellow wax, Turpentine, Oyl of Bays A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{j}$. Honey not clarified, but only gently warmed $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$. let the Cyperus, Costus and Barberies be made together into a fine powder, and mixed with the warmed Honey; then add the Frankincense, Mastich and Myrrh beaten by themselves: lastly, put to them the Oyl of Bays, Turpentine and wax melted together, and make an Emplaster S.A.

Salmon.) It is anodyne, eases pain in any parts coming of cold or wind, it expels wind, helps the Cholick, strengthens the Stomach, causes digestion, and eases any pain or grief in the Head, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Womb, Bowels or Reins.

4. Emplastrum Barbarum Magnum, The great barbarous Emplaster.

Colledge.) R. dry Pitch lbvii . yellow wax lbvj . $\mathfrak{z}\text{vii}$. Pine Rosin lbv . $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$. Bitumen Judaicum, or Mummy lbiv . Oyl lbss . Verdigrise, Litharge, Ceruse, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{liij}$. Frankincense lbss . Roach Alum not burnt $\mathfrak{z}\text{iv}$. Opopanax, Scalls of Brass, Galbanum, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{xij}$. Aloes, Opium, Myrrh, A. $\mathfrak{z}\text{ss}$. Turpentine, lbij . juyce of Mandrakes, or else dryd bark of the roots $\mathfrak{z}\text{vj}$. Vinegar lbv . boyl the Litharge, Ceruse and Oyl to the thickness of Honey; mix with them the pitch melted and incorporated with the Bitumen in powder. Then add the other things, and boyl them according to Art, till the Vinegar is consum'd, adding towards the end Turpentine.

Salmon.) It was invented against the bitings of barbarous creatures whether men or beasts; but whether it has its name from thence, or the Foolishness of its Composition, I know not: There being of the Myrrh, Aloes and Opium but ℥ss to about 28 lb of the Composition, which is but ℥j. to lbvii. and ℥j thereof is but $\frac{1}{7}$ part of the whole mass, or in other numbers, 5 grains to 3365. and of the Opopanax, scales of Brass, and Galbanum, but 5 grains to 722 of the rest; with what Artifice it was composed I leave the wise to judge. At first I thought strange of the name, but upon consideration I found it was proper enough for such Barbarous and foolish poportions.

5. Emplastrum de Betonica, Emplaster of Betony.

Colledge.) Be green Betony, Burnet, Agrimony, Sage, Penny-royal, Tarrow, Centory the less, Comfrey, Clary, A. ℥vj. Frankincense, Diastib. b. Orrice, round Birthwort, A. ℥vj. white Wax, Turpentine, A. ℥viij. Pine Rosin ℥vj. Gum Elemi, Oyl of Fir, A. ℥j. white Wine lb. iij. digst the Herbs bruised well in a Mortar a whole week in white wine stirring and boyling them: Brain and press out the wine, and with a gentle fire boyl to the consumption of the third part, then add the Oyl of Fir, after, the Wax melted, then the Rosins and Gums, after them the Turpentine. These being a little boyled, removed from the fire, and leisurely cooled, put in the powders of the Orrice and Birthwort roots, stirring them assiduously, that the Plaster may be made S.A.

Salmon.) It is a good Cephalick Emplaster for curing Wounds in the Head, consolidating and uniting broken Bones in what part of the Body soever: It digests, attracts, draws out Splinters of Bones out of the Flesh, cleanses the filth even of deep Ulcers, breeds flesh, heals, dries and restores: It eases pains also in any part, chiefly in the Head, and has a special property against the Gout, and Dis-eases of the Joynts.

6. Emplastrum Cæsariæ, Cæsars Emplaster.

Colledge.) Be red Roses ℥lss. Bistort roots, Cypress Nuts, all the Sanders, Mint, Coriander Seeds, A. ℥iij. Mastich ℥ss. Hypocistis, Aca-cia, Dragons Blood, Sealed Earth, fine Bole, red Coral, A. ℥ij. Turpen-tine washed in Plantane water ℥iv. Oyl of Roses ℥iij. white Wax lbj. Pine Rosin ℥xx. Pitch ℥vj. juices of Plantane, Houseleek, Orpim, A. ℥j. To the Wax, Rosin and Pitch, being melted together, put the Turpentine and Oyl: then the Hypocistis and Aca-cia dissolved in the said juices, and lastly the powders, that an Em-plaster may be made S.A.

Salmon.) It strengthens, cools, dries and binds; applied to the Crown of the head being shaved, it is good against a Consump-tion, and stops Catarrhs: applied to the back, it strengthens it much, and removes pains thence; ap-plied to the Belly, it is said to stop a looseness. It is also very good to strengthen week and luxated joynts, and confirm fee-ble Limbs.

7. Emplastrum Catagmaticum, An Emplaster for broken bones.

Colledge.) Take Oyl of Roses ℥iv. Licharge of Gold ℥iij. boyl them to the consistence of an Em-plaster, being removed from the fire fire, cast in yellow Wax lbj. Turpentine ℥iij. Oyl of Mastich ℥ij. Ship-Pitch ℥iss. Colophony ℥vj. being mixed and melted together, keep them by themselves. Take roots of Comfrey, of Althea, wood of Mistletoe of the Oak; Plantane-leaves, Groundpine, Hypericon, A. M. j. make a mucilage in equal parts of red Wine and Smiths-water, which boyle to lbjss. to which add mucilage of Quince Seeds made in Tripe-water ℥iij. Pouders of Balaustians, red Roses, Myreles, A. ℥ss. Mummy, Seeds of Hypericon A. ℥vj. fine Bole, fine flowers, A. ℥iss. powder of Dragons-Blood ℥ij. juyce of Acacia (dissolved in decoction of Birch-wort) ℥ss. boyl them with a gentle fire, (continually stirring them) to the thicknes of a Cataplasma. Then add the above mixt Emplaster, as also pouders of Mastich, Myrrh, A. ℥iss. Amber prepared ℥vj. boyl it a little, and by continual stirring it make an Emplaster S.A.

Salmon.) This is their Caragmaticum the second, but so much altered in the form of making, that it does not seem at first sight to be the same thing. They have also left out Tutstan ℥vi. & put in less Oyl of Mastich than in the former by ℥ij. less of Litharge by ℥j. less of Pitch ℥viiijs. but have put in more of the powder of Mastich by ℥vj. and of the Wax by ℥viii. This was intended to heal broken bones by cherishing the natural heat, and causing a speedy Calous to grow. It is drying and binding, and stops the Flux of humors to such parts; also in Ruptures of the Bowels it exceeds ad Herniam and in all other cases where binding, strengthening and conglutinating is required, you will find it a singular good thing.

8. Emplastrum Cephalicum, An Emplaster for the Head.

Colledge.) R fine Rosin ℥ij. black Pitch ℥j. Labdanum, Turpentine, Bean and Orobun-meal, Pigeons dung, A. ℥ss. Myrrh, Mastich, A. ℥iss. Gum of Juniper, Nutmeg, A. ℥ij. dissolve the Myrrh with the Labdanum in a warm Mortar, and adding the rest, make an Emplaster according to Art. If you will have it stronger, put in pouders of Euphorbium, Pyrethrum, black Pepper, A. ℥ij.

Salmon.) It is invented to strengthen the Head and Brain, ease pains thereof, dry up moisture, stop Catarrhs and Rhumes which fall into the Nose, Eyes and Teeth, and comfort the internal senses. It is applied to the Crown (being shaved) and Temples.

9. Emplastrum de Cicuta cum Ammoniaco, Emplaster of Hemlock with Ammoniacum.

Colledge.) R juyce of Hemlock ℥iv. Vinegar of Squills, Gum Ammoniacum, A. ℥viii. dissolve the Gums in the Juyce and Vinegar by due infusion, then strain, and reduce it to the consistence of an Emplaster.

Salmon.) It was invented to ease pains chiefly of the Spleen, and of the Gout; my experience has confirmed it, and such as shall use it upon my word, may one day have cause to return me thanks for this commendation.

10. Emplastrum de Cinnabari, Emplaster of Cinnabar.

Col-

Colledge.) Take Cinnabar \mathfrak{z} iss. Euphorbium, Auripigment, A. \mathfrak{z} ijss. powder them very fine and mix them with Galbanum strained, Burgundy Pitch, A. \mathfrak{z} ijss. Emplaster of Mucilage \mathfrak{z} ijj. Unguentum Egyptiacum \mathfrak{z} iss. make an Emplaster S.A.

Salmon.) It is a dangerous Emplaster, burns violently: used chiefly in Venereal Ulcers and Pustels: I shall advise no Body to it, there are better Medicines.

11. Emplastrum d Creta, Emplaster of Chalk.

Colledge.) R \mathfrak{c} Ceruse \mathfrak{z} iv. Chalk \mathfrak{z} iss. Hogs Grease \mathfrak{z} i. mix and make an Emplaster S.A.

Salmon.) It is a great dryer and cooler, and may be used in Scabs, Burns, Scalds, and to skin Sores.

12. Emplastrum d crusta Panis, An Emplaster of a Crust of Bread.

Colledge.) Take Mastick, Minc, Myrrh, Nutmegs, A. \mathfrak{z} ss. Cloves \mathfrak{z} ij. red Roses in powder \mathfrak{z} i. a crust of bread toasted and boyled in Rose Vinegar to the thickness of a Pulvis, \mathfrak{z} ijj. clear Turpentine, \mathfrak{z} ij. Scorax Calamita (dissolved in Turpentine) \mathfrak{z} ss. Oyl of Mastick, Labdanum, new yellow Wax, A. \mathfrak{z} ss. make an Emplaster S.A.

Salmon.) Here is Spodium, red Coral, Sanders white yellow and red, A. \mathfrak{z} j. Oyl of Quinces \mathfrak{z} iss. Labdanum \mathfrak{z} iv. Barly meal \mathfrak{z} v. all left out: for which they have put in the Myrrh, Nutmegs, Cloves, red Roses, Turpentine and Wax, by which means they have totally altered the nature of the Medicine, which was before cooling, drying and binding; but now it is hot and strengthening, and is excellent good against pains, and all cold Diseases of the Head, Stomach, Womb, Nerves and Joynts: it causes Concoction, and stops Vomiting.

13. Emplastrum d Cymino, Emplaster of Cummin Seed.

Colledge.) Take Cummin seed, Bay-berries, yellow Wax, A. lb. j. Pine Resin lb. ij. Common Resin lb. iij. Oyl of Dill lbs. mix and make an Emplaster.

Salmon.) This was formerly called Diapalma, because they ordered it to be stirred with a Spatula made of Palm-wood: now they call it Diacalciteos, and yet there is no Calcites in it, a Plaguy cunning trick. It is cooling, drying and binding, good to heal bruises, sores and ulcers, to dry and skin them, it heals green Wounds, and applied to pain-

Pained and weak parts it eases and strengthens them : Nurses commonly apply it to their Breasts, to dry up the Milk in them.

15. Diachylon simplex, Emplaster of Mucilages simple.

Colledge.) Take Mucilage of Linseed, Fenugreek seed, Althæa roots, A. lbj. Old clear Oyl lbij. Litharge of Gold lbiss. That you may have the said quantity of the Mucilages, Take Seeds of Fenugreek and Flax, Althæa roots, A. Zij. fair water lbvj. Let the Litharge be beaten to a very small powder, and well beaten or stirred with the Oyl: after boyl with a gentle fire, continually stirring it with a spatula, till it grows thick, and has the consistence of Honey. Then being removed from the fire, let it cool a little ; Lastly, add the Mucilages, mix them well, and boyl with a gentle fire to the Consumption of the Aquosity, make an Emplaster S.A.

The Wax and Pitch being melted in the Oyl, add the Labdanum and Turpentine, then the Storax: they all being put in and the mixture a little cooled, mix the powders, (adding at the end the Aipta and Gallia Moschata dissolved in Aromatick Wine) and with a Spatula diligently stirring and mixing them, make an Emplaster according to Art.

Salmon.) Here is Frankincense and Mastich A. ʒj. to about lb. xii. of the Composition, which is but gr. v. to 5760, or in lesser numbers gr. j. to 1152. It was invented to strengthen the Womb, and cure fits of the Mother, being applied upon the Navel, or a little below it: applied to the Head, it stops a Catarrh, strengthens, warms, and dries a cold and moist Brain; fortifies the Stomach being applied to it, causes digestion, and stays Vomiting: It stops a Looseness and all sorts of Fluxes of the Bowels, comforts the Nerves and Joynts, is Anodyne, cleansing, incarnating and healing: In so much that it has cured very desperate Wounds, and that in two or three days time.

31. Emplastrum de Janua, five de Betonica Simplicius, Emplaster of Betony more simple.

Colledge.) Take Juices of Betony, of Plantane, and of Parsly, ana lb. i. Wax, Ship Pitch, Rosin, Turpentine, A. lss: In the Juices not clarified boyl the Wax cut small, continually stirring of them; then put in the Pitch and Rosin, boyling again to the consumption of the remaining humidity: Lastly, strain; and dissolve the Turpentine therein, stirring it accurately with a wooden Spatula, make an Emplaster S. A.

Salmon.) It is an excellent thing to cure pains of the Head, and all sorts of Green Wounds: having indeed all the Virtues of the former, at sect. 5.

32. Emplastrum de Mastiche, Emplaster of Mastich.

Colledge.) Take Mastich ʒiii. fine Bole (washed in red wine) ʒiss. Red Roses ʒvj. shavings of Ivory, Myrtle-berries, ana ʒss. Turpentine, Colophony, Tacamahacca, Labdanum, ana ʒii. Yellow Wax lss. Oyl of Myrtles ʒiv: let the things which are to be poudered be beaten by themselves: then melt the Wax in the Oyl, to which (being taken from the fire) add the Turpentine: after that the Bole, the Roses and Ivory in fine powder, at length the Mastich being exquisitely rubbed: all being in a Mortar a little hot, by an industrious stirring of them, make an Emplaster S. A.

Salmon.) It is a Cephalick and Stomatick Emplaster, stops Catarrhs, and Vomiting, strengthens and and warms the Brain and Stomach, helps Digestion, stays Fluxes of the Bowels, and prevents Abortion: 'Tis a good thing to draw, cleanse and heal a green wound; and to be applied to cold Diseases of Nerves, pains, and weakness, as also to Fractures and Dislocations; Swellings and dolorous Tumors.

33. Emplaſtr. de Meliloto ſimplex, Emplaſtrum of Melilot ſimple.

Colledge.) R pure Roſin ℥viii. yellow Wax ℔iv. Sheeps ſuet ℔ii. To theſe being melted add green Melilot cut ſmall ℔v. make an Emplaſter S. A.

Salmon.) It ripens Tumours, breaks and cures them; it draws, cleanſes and heals Wounds admirably in any part of the Body: only be cautious of applying it too long to Wounds of the Legs, becauſe they are depending parts and may cauſe a flux of humors not eaſily to be diverted.

34. Emplaſtrum de Melito compoſitum, Emplaſter of Melilot compound.

Colledge.) R flowers of Melilot ℥vj. flowers of Camomil, Fanugreek ſeed, Bay-berries huſked, Althea roots, Tops of Wormwood and Marjoram, A. ℥iii. ſeeds of Paſſy, Biſhops weed and Carduus; roots of Orrice, Cyperus and Spicknard, Caſſia Ligna, ana ℥iſs. Ammoniacum ℥x. Storax Calamita, Bdellium, A. ℥v. Turpentine ℥iſs. Pulp of ſae Figs N^o xii. Goats Suet, Roſin, ana ℥iſs. Wax ℥vj. Oyls of ſweet Marjoram, and of Spicknard, ana ℥iii. Let the roots, ſeeds, herbs and flowers be beaten up in their Order, then the Caſſia and Storax, but by themſelves, mix them alſtogether.

In the mean ſeaſon macerate the Bdellium and Ammoniacum in Vinegar. Extract their Mucilages of the Althea roots and ſeeds of Fennugreek in decoction of Melilot and Camomil: to them being ſtrained add the figs bruised, digeſted in ſome of the ſame Decoction, and pulping them. In theſe thus prepared, melt the wax over a ſoft fire, then put in the Suet; preſently after the Roſin in powder: to which all being melted and removed from the fire, add whiſt luke warm the Gums (dissolved in Vinegar, ſtrained and boyled to the thickneſs of Honey) mixed with the Turpentine; after put in the powders: laſtly, when all are well mingled, heat them a good while in a moderately hot Mortar with a Peſtle, adding in the Interim the Oyls of Nard and Marjoram, make an Emplaſter S. A.

Salmon.) A learned but long Diſcourſe. The Colledge here talks almoſt like an Apothecary, as the vulgar Phraſe is, but not half ſo well; for my part, I think it beſt to leave every one to their own Trade, and not to aſt Phormio's part without Hannibal's Soul, this is to out-do the Collier that gets beyond his Laſt. But now I have no time nor place to deſcant in. But to the Buſineſs in hand: In their old Book, there was Ammoniacum (dissolved in Hemlock Vinegar) ℥iii. here it is but ℥j. and a quarter: There it was Melilot plaſter ſimple, ℔j. and an half; here it is all wanting. In truth, that in the old Book was much the better Medicine, but ſomebody muſt be meddling; and truly, I believe, the alterations were only made, not that that they might say, They did something, but that the World might not say, They did nothing. It is made after the old manner, it is maturative, emollient, and anodyne, draws, cleanses, and heals, strengthens the Stomach, Liver, Spleen and Bowels, discusses wind and Tumours, helps hypochondriack Melancholy, vomiting, indigestion, and the Rickets.

35. Emplastrum de Minio Compositum, Emplaster of red Lead compound.

Colledge.) R Oyl of Roses ℥i℥ss. Oyl of Myrtles, Unguentum Populeum, ana ℥iv : Hens grease ℥ii : Hogs grease ℥vii. Litharge of Gold and Silver, ana ℥vi : Ceruse ℥ix : boyl them at a gentle fire, continually stirring them (adding now and then, a small quantity of the best Vinegar, lest it should grow black) make it to the consistency of a stiff Emplaster, to which add sheep and calves suet, A. ℥℥ss. Turpentine and Minium, ana ℥iv : yllow wax a little, boyl them again a little, and make an Emplaster, according to the rule of Art.

Salmon.) It is exceeding drying and healing, cures wounds and Ulcers speedily; and is as good a thing against all manner of old aches, pains, sprains, weaknesses and disaffects of the Back, Nerves and Joynts; as also the Gout and Sciatica, as any thing now generally used. Here is added Hens and Hogs grease, and Oyl of Myrtles in stead of Mastich.

36. Emplastrum de Minio Simplicius, Emplaster of Red Lead simple.

Colledge.) R Red Lead ℥ix. Oyl of Roses ℥i℥ss. white wine Vinegar ℥vi. boyl it to the perfect body of an Emplaster. It is also prepared without Vinegar, thus : Take red Lead ℥i. Oyl of Roses ℥i℥ss. Wax ℥℥ss. make an Emplaster S. A. But the Wax may very well be omitted.

Salmon.) In making of this Emplaster the first way, you ought to boyl it till it is black, and of a consistency not too stiff, for then it will not stick; that this may be done, you must put in almost three times the quantity of Oyl, viz. at least ℥xxiv. then first boyl the Minium and Vinegar a little together, then put in the Oyl by degrees, but be careful of the fire, lest it run over : boyl it till it is black, the Vinegar consumed, and the Emplaster be of a good consistence, not too stiff. Made the latter way, the Emplaster will be naught, and without any of the Intentions for which it is designed, besides 'twill be so stiff and brittle that 'twill no wayes stick, but be totally useless : The Vinegar is put in to open the body of the Minium, that it may emit its anodyne or narcotick Virtue lodging in its Saccharum, which without that Acid would be kept shut up, and so the Emplaster be never the better for that Ingredient, where indeed is the chief Virtue. It dries and heals wonderfully, has all the Virtues of the former, discusses tumors and coagulated humors; It mollifies, expels, and is anodyne : it is so excellent a thing against all manner of pains, bruises, and old Aches, the weakness of the Back, and Sinews, Sprains of the Joynts, Gouts, Old Sciatica's, and other inveterate pains coming of cold, that it has scarcely any equal? esteem it as a Jewel.

wife discusses them, eases pain in any part of the Body, chiefly in the Spleen, dissolves nodes and hard tubercles in the flesh, matures, cleanses, heals, dries, skins Ulcers; and confirms weak and feeble members. It is an excellent thing for Wounds in the Head.

41. Emplastrum Oxycroceum, An Emplaster of Vinegar and Saffron.

Colledge.) Take Saffron ℥iiss : Ship pitch, Colophony, yellow Wax, ana ℥iv : Turpentine, Galbanum, Ammoniacum, Myrrh, Olibanum, Mastich; A. ℥i ℥iiiss : to the melted Wax and the Pitch (cleansed from its filth and strained) then the Colophony: these being melted, removed from the fire, and a little cooled, mix with the Galbanum and Ammoniacum (dissolved by themselves in Vinegar, strained and boyled to a consumption of the Vinegar, then mingled with the Turpentine:) after sprinkle in the Frankincense, Mastich and Myrrh, made into a very fine powder; Lastly, the Saffron very subtilly powdered; and by stirring them all well together, make an Emplaster S. A.

Salmon.) It is good against bruises, weakness, coldness, numbness, old aches, pains, stiffness, or other diseases of the Limbs, Nerves and Joynts: It cures Tumors, either discussing them, or bringing them to suppuration: It softens, and eases pain beyond most other Medicines: It cleanses, draws, heals, dries, and skins Wounds, old Sores, Ulcers, broken bones, fractures, dislocations, and the like miraculously; helping the weakness and distemperature of the sinews thence arising: It is prevalent against cold swellings, and pain and weakness of the Back, being applied.

42. Emplastrum de Rana, A Plaster of Frogs.

Colledge.) ℞ live Frogs, $\text{N}^{\circ} \text{vj}$: Earth-worms (washed in whitewine) ℥iiss : Oyl of Camomil, Dill, Spicknard (or broad leaved Lavender extracted by distillation) and of Lillies, A. ℥ii : Oyl of Bays ℥iss : Oyl of Saffron ℥j : Hogs grease, Calves suet, ana ℔j : Vipers fat ℥iiss : Euphorbium ℥v : Frankincense ℥x : juyces of Elicampane Roots, and Dwarf Elder Roots, A. ℥ii : Scenanth, Stachas, Motherwort with the flowers, A. M. ℥i : sweet scented Wine ℔ii : Litharge of Gold ℔j : clear Turpentine ℥ii : yellow Wax ℥iv : Liquid Storax ℥iss : Quicksilver ℥iv : boyl the Frogs, worms, herbs and juyces together, with the Oyls of Camomil, Dill, Lillies, Lard, Fat; and Wine ℔iss : strain, and add the Wax cut small, and the remaining Wine ℔ss : boyl again to the consumption of all the Wine, and till it will not stick to your fingers: then add the Oyl of Saffron, Bays, Spick, and Vipers Fat: after them the powders of Frankincense and Euphorbium: Lastly, the Mass being almost cold add the Quicksilver well mixt with the Storax and Turpentine; which by assiduous stirring with a spatula incorporate well together.

Salmon.) Here is only a small matter of Litharge added more than in the old Recipe, viz, but ℥ix : and Turpentine ℥j less: As to the quantity of Mercury 'tis too little by half at least: the Apothecary may well put in ℥ix : which is but ℥iss to one pound of the Composition (the whole

Libri 5^{ti} FINIS.

The General Practise of Chymistry.

Liber Sextus.

CHAP. I. OF PRINCIPLES.

Xημια ἢ Χυμια (α Χω fun- do to melt) The Art of CHYMISTRY, call'd also in Greek Πάρεσσις Εργασια, seu Medicina Spagyrica, is that which teacheth to draw out the very essence and life of things by the force of fire, bringing forth Tinctures by extracting; Spirit and Oyls by distilling; flowers by Subliming; and Salt by Calcining. Doron Medic. lib. 3. cap. 1.

Or, more briefly thus: It is that which teaches to separate the purities of all things whatsoever (in the Mineral, Vegetable, or Animal Kingdoms) from their Impurities and to exalt those purities, to their highest vital Energies.

2. The Principles of Chymistry are considered either Essentially or Accidentally.

3. The Essential or Constitutive principles are chiefly three, viz. Body, Spirit, Life.

We call those Essential which are only understood in a Supernatural natural Condition: for there are bodies supernatural as well as natural, so also spirits and life; in so much that those which do appear are only the Icon or product of those more divine Principles, not seen but by a Philosophick eye or mind.

4. The Body is a Principle fitted for the reception of the Spirit; without which it would be inactive or dead; and in this sense it is the Containing Principle.

5. The Spirit is the formal Principle of every thing, being the Source of Actions, and of the Vital or Living principle.

6. The Life is fire, or heat, which actuates and invigorates the former two, and without which they would be a mass of Deadness, insensibility and inanity.

This life proceeds from God the Author thereof, who is a perfect Act, Power, Fire, Life, placed in and through all his Creatures, in whom they all subsist, have being, life and motion, not tyed strictly to any particular Form, Act, or Intention, but in the largest and most comprehensive sense piercing through and comprehending all things, even where it is least seen. These things in the Creation are so closely united, that before separation, they are difficult to be distinguished: yet the true Philosopher may easily make a demonstration from external matters: suppose the flame of a Candle, There is 1. The Body of the flame which is Light. 2. There is the spirit which informs it, and gives it motion. 3. There is the most inward Life, Fire or Heat, which makes the Spirit, and the Body also move, and preserves it in that form and Agitation; which third and last Principle, as it is most inward so is most difficult to be discern'd, unless by an inward and spiritual Eye: The perfect union of these make them appear to be truly and indeed but one, according to the Nature of the Divine Triade, and is as it were a Demonstration of the same. These things may seem strange to such as are unacquainted with the Powers of things, inward Principles, and unseen seeds of the production of visible Agents. But he that will not believe may keep his Opinion; his apprehending or non-apprehending is not much material as to the matter of Physick the Knowledge or Ignorance thereof may be without loss of Health: It being in this as in many other Controversies (whether Philosophick or Divine) not destructive to the Fundamental Principles of the Science discoursed of, & therefore need not be so violently maintained (in opposition to the Laws both of God and Man) to the Destruction of mutual Friendship and Society. Hitherto of the Essential Principles; the Accidental follow.

7. The Accidental Principles are the product of the Essential, by which they are produced into external Form and Act.

8. These have also answerable to the former, a Body, Spirit and Life, but natural, as opposed to supernatural not artificial.

9. The Body is the matter or the Atoms which forms the external F f f 4. Appearance,

Appearance, and comprehensive bounds of the Spirit and Life.

10. The Spirit is the band of Union which ties or glews those particles together, and which also becomes the habitation of Life.

11. The life is the internal power, Virtue and Efficacy spread by means of the Spirit, through every individual Atom of the Body, whereby the three become one Compound, compleat and intire thing perfectly united.

12. These Principles spread themselves under several species or kinds, viz. Mineral, Vegetable and Animal.

In all which the Spirit and Life are apparent according to their kind. In Animals, Life is manifest from Sense and Motion, and by consequence the Spirit which is the Organ or Habitation of the Life: In the Vegetable, the Spirit is apparent from the manifest growth of things, the which would be impossible if not actuated with Life; Growth being nothing but a motion of Extention, whereby the Life enlarges its dominion. In the Mineral, the Body gives demonstration of the other two, since that the particles or Atoms of the Body would not be glew'd or held together, but only by virtue of the Spirit which invisibly (like water penetrates the most indivisible Atoms of the same body, nor could the Spirit glew or joyn (as we have before proved) unless repleat with life, so that it is apparent, that under all Forms Spirit and Life have their habitacula, to the com-pleating of that which the Designer of all things first intended.

13. These Three Principles are called by Chymists, Salt, Sulphur and Mercury; the Salt being answerable to the Corporeal or Earthy body; the Sulphur to the Spirit; and the Mercury to the internal Life and Efficacy.

Later Chymists would make five Principles, but they are deceived: for their Flegm, and Caput Mort. or Terra Damnata, are no real and distinct Principles from the former; as we are going to prove. In the Terrene part, the Salt is (as it were) invisible, and cannot be brought outward, or to the external view, but by the force of fire, which is done by Calcination and Elxiviation, what remains is accounted an unprofitable Earth: 'tis true, and so it is, and so once was the former pure Salt: the same Methods and Means which made the one pure, will make the other so too: 'twas the Fire which made the first Salt to be Alcalious; and the Fire will make that latter unprofitable earth so too, if it has but its due time and proportion of heat in Calcination: In burning of a Timber-Log, the out-side is first brought to Ashes, then the inside or heart of it; the fire acts by degrees; the heart of it might as soon have been burnt as the out-side, had it been but as soon comprehended by the fire: so is it in all other things: and that Terra damnata after due and manifold Calcinations according to Art will every Atom of it turn to Salt, where then is the fifth Principle? If any object, That this is a long and tedious Work: We Answer, 'Tis only proposed to make a Demonstration, we desire no Body by such an Herculean Labour to make the whole body a fine and pure mass: 'Tis most Prudence to gather the ripest fruit, and that which is easiest to come by: we never intend to reduce tedious Demonstration to daily practise, but only to accommodate them to the Confirmation of Principles: a word is enough to the wise. And what is the Flegm but the natural Vehiculum of the Spirit and Life: for let it but corrupt, and suffer a sufficient Putrefaction; you may (except a few fæces) reduce it all to a pure transparent and burning Spirit repleat with Life and Efficacy; a confirmation of which you may have in the Exaltation of Rain-Water and Dew, to an high burning Spirit: and as for the fæces, they are by the former Assertions all in the Capacity to be reduced to Salt: where now are the five Principles? They are all comprehended in the Three, and the Three in One, so that Death (which was the putrefaction and Corruption) is now swallowed up of Life.

14. The Mercury or Life, is the first of the Chymical Principles being a subtil piercing light, heat and fire; and that which causes all bodies to Wax and Grow more or less, according as it more or less abounds in them: This by the Chymical Art is never separated from the Spirit, because the Spirit is the Organ and Habitation of it; this Life being only Fire, Efficacy and Power.

15. The Sulphur or Spirit, is the Second of the Chymical Principles; being quick, odoriferous, and inflamable, by reason it is imbodyed in the finest, purest and most subtil or Only part of the Body, as its Organ and habitation.

This is that which by Virtue of Life gives motion, sense and duration to all external things according as they are repleat with it: those which have least of it have only a density of Body, as Metals and Stones: those which have more, have a sensible Growth, as Vegetables: those which have most of it have both Extension or Motion, and Sense, as Animals.

16. The Salt or Body is the third and last of the Chymical Principles, being incombustible, incorruptible, and volatile (which we grant is contrary to the Opinions of former Philosophers) and that very thing through which the spirit and life have their several manifestations.

If there be any Bodys (suppose Gold and Silver) out of which all these Principles cannot be drawn, let not the Artist think, that it is because they are not therein contained, No: 'tis because that God has so firmly united them against the possibility of our separation, &c. Thus much in short of Principles.

CHAP. II. OF PREPARATIONS.

1. THE Forms of the Preparations of Medicines are two fold, viz. Galenical or Chymical.

And of these, each have their several Modes or Ways of doing the things designed; from which Modes or Ways arise various Forms of Medicines, which are either fluid, soft only; or solid, according to the constitution of the matter of which it is made, and the intention of the Physician.

2. The Galenick Forms of Internal Medicaments are chiefly these, viz. 1. Infusions. 2. Decoctions. 3. Emulsions. 4. Syrups. 5. Julebs. 6. Lohochs. 7. Quid-donies. 8. Preserves. 9. Con-serves. 10. Sugars. 11. Pouders. 12. Electuaries. 13. Pills. 14. Troches.

But because we will not reiterate in vain what we have already sufficiently said in other places, both in this present Work, and others, we shall here refer to those directions where you may find a large and ample satisfaction. See Our Doron Medicam lib. 1. cap. 15. and lib. 4. cap. 11. 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20. of this Dispensatory.

3. The Galenick Forms of External Medicaments, are chiefly these, viz. 1. Lotions. 2. Oyls. 3. Balsams. 4. Oynments. 5. Cerecloths. 6. Emplasters. 7. Cataplasms. 8. Clysters.

The way of making which you may see in Our Doron lib. 2. cap. 16. and in this Our Dispensatory lib. 5. cap. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

4. The chief Forms of Chymical

Medicaments are these, viz. 1. Waters distilled. 2. Spirits. 3. Oyls distilled. 4. Balsams distilled. 5. Quintessences. 6. Elixirs. 7. Tinctures. 8. Extracts. 9. Magisteries. 10. Salts. 11. Liquors. 12. Wines. 13. Vinegars. 14. Essences. 15. Flowers. 16. Glass.

Of these, several Examples may be seen in the preceding fourth Book of this Dispensatory, & some General Rules for the same in our said Doron Medicam lib. 1. c. 25. But because those examples are too narrow to express all cases; and those general Rules in our said Doron, too brief, to make every thing plain to Vulgar capacities: We will (through the Divine Assistance) once for all in this present Discourse make every thing so plain, that he which runs may read: But that all things may be done in order, (because that those Chymical Forms cannot so well be Apprehended & Understood without a precedent knowledge of the Various Operations of Chymistry) we shall first explicate the Chymical Process according to the Method of the best Operators whether English or Foreign, and after having laid down all those things in Order, as the nature of the Work requires: We shall then uncover those other seeming Intricacies which by the preceding Vail have hitherto lain in obscurity, which under the Title of FORMS Chymical you may see more at large.

The chief Forms of Chymical Medicaments are these, viz. 1. Waters distilled. 2. Spirits. 3. Oyls distilled. 4. Balsams distilled. 5. Quintessences. 6. Elixirs. 7. Tinctures. 8. Extracts. 9. Magisteries. 10. Salts. 11. Liquors. 12. Wines. 13. Vinegars. 14. Essences. 15. Flowers. 16. Glass.

5. The MATTER for preparation of Medicines is either Natural or Artificial, or Medicines themselves.

This comprehends the whole Product of Nature, all things from the Universal to the Particular, Mineral, Vegetable, and Animal.

6. The TIME of the preparation ought to sympathise with the native production of the thing to be prepared; which is in respect of Qualities manifest or occult.

7. As to the Manifest Qualities, That time is to be chosen in which they naturally flourish: wherein you are to chuse a hot and moist season for Dissolution, Digestion and Fermentation; a cold time for Coagulation: A moist time for Distillation and Melting: A dry time for Exsiccation and Calcining.

8. As to the Occult Qualities, The preparation is to be begun, when the Planet governing the thing is strong and vigorous, in his House or Exaltation, and in good Aspect of Sol or Luna, Jupiter, or Venus, or all of them.

9. The PLACE of Preparation must be the Laboratory, which must be hot, cold, moist, dry, airy, close, &c. according as the nature of the matter to be prepared requires.

10. The INSTRUMENTS of Preparation, must also cohere therewith, some respect the Form, some the Matter, some the Office.

The Form is divers, as the manner of the operation requires; some for Reduction, some for Dissolution, Digestion, Fermentation, Separation, Precipitation, Filtration, Extraction, Distillation, Calcination, Reverberation, Sublimation, and several other Operations as they fall in course, The Matter of which they are made, is Linnen, Woollen, Leather, Wood, Earth, Stone, Metal, Glass; Glass is the most solid of all things; Stone and Earth next: Metals are also solid, but they are apt to be pierced by sharp and acid things, and to communicate their Qualities to them; therefore we make choice of the Vessel or Instrument of preparation, from the nature of the things to be prepared. Of all ordinary Metals Tin is the best, for which cause Copper Vessels are cover'd therewith, that they may not offend with their Vitriol or Verdigrise, such things as being distilled are spiritual. Their Office is only in respect to what they serve, viz. either for Operation or Preservation.

11. The MANNER of Preparation is either Natural or Artificial, The Natural consists either in 1. the taking away of something, 2. Or in the addition of something. 3. Or in the changing of something, 4. Or in all of them.

As in the preparation of Essences, by addition of wine or some fit Menstruum. The taking away of parts unnecessary or corrupt, as the Wings, Legs, &c. from Cantharides; what is worm-eaten or rotten from Roots, Fruits, &c. The meliorating or ripening of things by digestion, wherein the crudity is changed into ripeness, acerbity and bitterness into sweetness and the like: So Oyl of Vitriol by digestion is made sweet, where without either addition or diminution it is only changed in its taste and flavour, &c.

12. The Artificial Manner of Preparation consists in Lotion, Purgation, Infusion, Humectation, Maceration, Dissolution, Clarification, Emulsion, Colatation, Extraction, Solution, Digestion, Fermentation, Trituration, Pulverisation, Confection, Rapping, Filing, Coction, Calcification, Burning, Friction, Roasting, Melting, Putrification, Insolation, Extinction, Refrigeration, Despumation, Exsiccation, Inspissation, Induration, Sear-sing, Mixtion, Distillation, Exhalation, Exaltation, Circulation, Cohobation, Rectification, Sublimation and Preservation.

All which Chymists more Methodically comprehended under these seven Heads, viz. Calcination, Digestion, Fermentation, Distillation, Circulation, Sublimation, and Fixation. Ex Quercetano.

13. DURATION of Preparations is according to their Form.

They ought not to be kept beyond the time of their duration, for their strength vanishes with time according as they are more or less solid. Hence.

14. Some Preparations immediately corrupt, as Clysters, Cataplasms, Decoctions, Infusions, in water, Emulsions, Julaps, Rouls.

15. Some last a month, as Aromatick Powders, Oyls expressed out of nuts, Pessaries, Suppositories. But Oyl of Ben will hardly ever corrupt.

16. Some last half a year, as Powders not Aromatick flowers of Herbs. But Saffron and flowers of Schenanth will keep seven years.

17. Some last a year, as Barks, Roots, Herbs, Fruits, Cerots, Conservees, Preservees, Electuaries, Lo-bochs, Morsels, Vinegars, simple distilled waters, Oyls expressed from cold Seeds and Fruits, Robs, Juices, Liquid, simple Syrups, external Oyls.

18. Some last a year and half, as Emplastres and Oynments.

19. Some last two years, as Seeds, Gums, Candies, Fœcula's, Juices, Inspissate, Lotions, Wines, Compound Syrups, Pills, Troches.

20. Some last three years, as Roots of Birthwort, Bryony, Jallop, Gentian, Hellebor, Rhubarb, Rosins; Aromatick Balsams, Confects, Flowers, Sublimed Magisteries, Oyls expressed from Spices, external Balsams.

21. Some last many years; as Woods, Quintessences, Elixirs, Extracts, Oyl of Ben, hot distilled waters, Spirits, Salts, Tinctures liquid and in powders, Oyls and Balsams distilled, Magisteries, Lixiviums.

22. The CONSERVATION of Preparation 'tis according to their Duration.

1. Salts, Vinegars, Balsams distilled, Oyls distilled, Aromatick Species and Spirits, are kept in Glasses with narrow mouths, and Glass stoppers. 2. Waters distilled, Oyls infused or decocted, liquid Juices, Tinctures may be kept in Glasses with narrow mouths and Corks. 3. External and Aromatick Balsams, Candies, Pills (first wrapt in Bladders) Unguents may be kept in Tin or Pewter Boxes. 4. Liquid Gums, Conservees, Preservees, Extracts, Fœcula's, Inspissate Juices, Syrups, Linniments, Oynments, may be kept in Gally-pots. 5. Roots, Herbs, Gums, Rosins, Seeds, Fruits, Mineral neral Earths, Bones, and other parts of Animals dried, Confects, Rouls, Troches, Cerates may be kept in wooden boxes. 6. Lastly, Emplasters and Cerates may be kept in Bladders.

23. The DOSES of Preparations are to be regulated, 1. from the strength of the Medicaments: 2. The Age, Sex and Constitution of the Patient. 3. The nature and quality of the Disease.

Which because we would not seem to write one thing twice over, you may see in General Terms in Our Doron Medic. lib. 1. cap. 18.

24. The APPLICATION of Preparations is either General or Special.

25. The General Application of Forms for Internal use.

1. Apozems, Waters, Emulsions, Infusions, Decoctions, Wines, Liquors, Juleps and other Potions are to be drunk. 2. Robs, Lohochs, Syrups, soft Electuaries are to be licked in, or held in the mouth to dissolve. 3. Boles, Candies, Conerves, Confects, Marchpanes, Marmalades, Mixtures, hard Electuaries, Rouls, Trages are to be eaten or chewed. 4. Pills, Troches, Pouders are to be swallowed.

26. The General Application of Forms External.

1. Dentrifices, Gargles, Liniments, Masticatories, Fumes, are applied to the mouth. 2. Waters, Collyrium's, Unguents, Cataplasms, are applied to the Eyes: 3. Errhines, Nasals, Scents, Fumes to the Nose. 4. Waters, Juyces, Decoctions, Infusions, Tinctures, Oyls distilled and infused, Balsams distilled, Unguents, Cataplasms, Fumes, to the Ears. 5. Injections, Clysters, Pessaries, Unctions, Oyls to the Womb. 6. Clysters, Suppositories, Unguents, Balsams, to the Fundament. 7. Injections, Washes, Clysters, Wax-Candles to the Yard.

27. The special applications, is to be learnt out of the prescription of each particular Medicament, of which you may see each in their respective places.

28. The USE of each preparation, is drawn from their respective Natures and Qualities, the chief of which follow in an Alphabetical Order.

Such things therefore are Astringent or Styptic, which are cold, acid, close the mouths of the Vessels, thicken and bind.

Alexipharmick, which resist Contagion, Infection and Poyson, strengthen the Heart and Spirits.

Anodyne, which ease all manner of pains in any part.

Apertient, which open Obstructions, and are opposite to Astringents.

Apophlegmatism, which are hot and draw Rheum by Chewing or Gargling.

Arthritic, which are good against the Gout, strengthen the Joynts, and ease pains there.

Attenuating, which make thin are hot in 3°. Salt biting, nitrous, cut and dissolve.

Attractive, which draw matter or humors to any part designed.

Bechick, which are good against Coughs, Colds, Asthma's, and help tickling Rhumes.

Cardiack, which comfort and strength, strengthen the Heart, revive the Spirits and help faintings.

Carminative, which discufs and expel Wind, and give ease in the Cholick.

Castragmatick, which are good to Consolidate broken Bones, and strengthen Luxations.

Catherick, which are used to eat away dead flesh, as Alum burnt.

Cathartick, which purge chiefly downwards, any humors or all humors.

Cantick which are used to make Issues with.

Cephalick, which comfort the Head and Brain, dry up Catarrhs, &c.

Cholagogs, which purge Cholera, whether upwards or downwards.

Cicatrizing, which by drying and astringing, skin Sores and heal.

Confortant, which comfort and strengthen.

Corroborat, which strengthen the Heart, fortify the Body, or any of its parts.

Corrosive, which corrode, and eat, or take away proud Flesh.

Ditergent, which purge, purify and cleanse.

Diaphoretick, which provoke sweat, the same in nature with Sudorificks.

Discentient, which repel, discufs or resolve any matter, wind, water or humors.

Diuretick, which provoke Urine, and purge by the Reins and Bladder.

Eccoprotick, which loosen the Belly, and carry out only the Excrements.

Emetick, which purge, chiefly by vomiting.

Emmenagogueick, which provoke the Terms or Courses in Women.

Emollient, which melt, soften and mollify hardness in any part.

Emplastick, which without acrimony, dry, fill the pores, and stick to any thing.

Emphratick, which by their oyliness and clamminess, stop the pores.

Epatick, which comfort and strengthen the Liver.

Epsolotick, which heal Sores, bring up Flesh and Cicatrize:

Errhine, which draw Flegm and Water, not from the Ventricle of the Brain, but from the Meninges to the Nostrils without sneezing.

Expectorate, which cause the spitting up of Flegm.

Exergent, which are of a drying thin substance, Niterous and Bitter, taking away clamminess.

Glutinous, which are Emplastick, and soder or glew together.

Humect, which moisten and takes away hardness and dryness.

Hydragogs, which purge watery humors, chiefly by Stool.

Hypnotick, which cause sleep, rest and ease.

Hysterick, which cure Diseases of the Womb.

Incidit, which cut, attenuate and make matter or humors thin.

Incrassant, which make thin humors thick.

Indurant, which coagulate, consolidate geal or harden, being generally cold in 3^o.

Lenitive, which soften and loosen.

Laxative, which gently relax and purge, chiefly the Bowels.

Lithontriptick, which break and expel Stone and Gravel from the Reins and Bladder.

Maturative, which ripen, digest and cause matter in Wounds or Tumors.

Melanagogs, which purge Atta-bilis or Melancholy, and a disaffected Spleen.

Nephritick, which are appropriate to Diseases of the Reins or Kidnies.

Narcotick, which ease pain by stupefaction of the Senses.

Obstraining, which bind, astringe, make thick, and stop the mouths of the Vessels.

Ophthalmick, which cure Diseases of the Eyes.

Otagick, which are appropriated to Diseases of the Ears.

Odontalgick, which cure pains of the Teeth, and other Distempers there.

Paregorick, which ease pain by warming; loosning, softning and discussing.

Philtrum's, which are designed to cause Love.

Phlegmagogs, which purge Flegm, chiefly downwards.

Phlosotrons, which take off Hair, called also Depilatories.

Polychrest, which have manifold, or almost general Virtues.

Psarmick, which bring forth humors from the head and brain by sneezing.

Purgig, which evacuate humors or matter by Vomit, or by Stool;

Putrefactive, which cause putrefaction and corruption.

Pyrotick, which burn, they are threefold, 1. Cathartick, 2. Septick. 3. Caustick.

Pectoral, such as are dedicated to the Stomach and Breast, curing Diseases thereof.

Pulmonick, which are appropriated to the Lungs, against Asthma's, Wheefings, &c.

Rarifying, which make rare and thin, open the Pores by sweating.

Refrigerative, which comfort and refresh by a cooling property, and cool inflammations.

Repellers, which drive back the humors or matter to some other place.

Resolving, which discuss or take away the matter by insensible Transpiration.

Sarcotick, which cleanse Wounds and Ulcers without biting, and breed Flesh.

Septick, which are used to draw Blisters with.

Somniferous, which are Hypnotick, and provoke Sleep.

Sternutatory, which are Psarmick, and purge the Head and Brain by Sneezing.

Stomatick, which are appropriated to the Stomach to warm, strengthen and comfort it.

Stupelative, which are Narcotick, and take away the sense of pain.

Traumatick, which being taken inwardly, help the healing of Wounds and Ulcers.

Vesicatory, the mildest sort of Pyroticks, which only raise Blisters in the skarf skin.

Vulnerary, which are external healers of Wounds and Ulcers.

CHAP. III. OF INSTRUMENTS.

THE Instruments of Chymistry are either Principal or less Principal: the Principal are also twofold, viz. either Primary or Secondary: the Primary are the Chymical Vessels; the Secondary are the Furnaces and Fires.

Of the Chymical Vessels.

1. Of the Balneum Mariæ, or Bath of Water.

It is made of a Kettle or Cauldron of Brass, having an ordinary form, and fitted for this purpose, with a brim of about an Inch and half broad, to catch hold of the brim of the Furnace: which must have a Cover fitted exactly to it, having five round holes, whereof the middlemost must be the biggest, and fit to retain the bottom of a Glass Cucurbit with its Head: the other four holes are less, and for other less Vessels or Dishes of Earth, in which Extracts and Salts may be dried. Or thus, To distil in Balneo Mariæ is to distil in a Bath of Water, or in a double Vessel, wherein you place the Glass Body: which holds the matter to be distilled in a convenient Vessel of Water: Some (while the water is cold, and for fear of breaking) put a wisp of Straw under it to keep it from the bottom, then make the water boyl, that the Spirits may ascend, and at last take out the Glass, the water being first cold, lest the Glass should break.

2. Of the Balneum Vaporis.

The Balneum Vaporis is only a contrivance to hang the said Glass Bodies, over the Vapors or Fumes of the boyling water in the aforesaid Cauldron; for which every man has his own proper Invention: The best way is to have a vaulted cover, at top of which, the Glass body may hang.

3. Of the Vesica, copper body, or Alembick.

It serves to distill Spirit of Wine, Aqua Vitæ, Balsams, Waters, Spirits, and Aromatick Perfumes: It is made of Copper, not Tinned within, and some what round bottomed, as is usual for Coppers; the Metal is about the thickness of a shilling, eighteen Inches in height, and twelve Inches in Diameter; being towards the top a little concave, from the middle of which arises a neck four Inches high, and three Inches in Diameter below, and four above, or thereabouts: on the one side of the top arises a little Pipe two Inches high; and half an Inch wide, by which with a tunnel you may put in again the first Spirit, which comes a little muddy, and are so made by the filth adhering to the Alembick.

4. Of the Cover of the Vesica, or Moors-head.

It is made of Brass, having the Neck six Inches deep, and three Inches large at top and bottom; but four Inches in the middle: because within it must be fastened several Sponges with cross sticks

sticks under and over; to keep them from falling into the Vefica, and from rising up into the Head, their use being to draw to themselves the most Spirituous part of the matter to be distilled; and hinder the Flegm, which towards the middle and end of the Operation rises with the Spirits, from going into the Receiver. This Neck terminates in a round Globe-like body, which for its form, being like a human Skull, is called the Moors Head, from the middle of one side of which runs a Pipe, twelve Inches in length, and one in Diameter, which goes through a little Cauldron sawdred round the Moors head, of such a capacity to contain about six quarts or more of water, which is put in cold in the operation; thereby to condense the spirituous Vapours (in the Moors-head) into Liquor, this is called the refrigeratory: on one side at bottom thereof is a little Brass Cock affixed, to empty the water when it grows too hot, that more cold may be put in.

5. Of the Hoghead and Worm.

The Pipe coming from the Moors head must be joyned to another Pipe of Brass six foot long, and an Inch Diameter, diminishing by little and little towards the end, which Pipe must go through two Hogs-heads situated close one by another, so that the Pipe entering almost at the top of the nearest, may run down slanting, so as to come out at the last Hoop of the farthest: the holes through which this Pipe runs must be luted strongly, then the Hogs-heads must be filled with cold water, all which is used as a second refrigeratory to condense the Vapours or Spirits in their passage, that a large distillation may be made in a small time. Some instead of such a long Pipe, use only a Leaden Worm running through one Hoghead of cold water; fixed, as aforesaid, to the Pipe coming from the Moors head at the one end, the other coming through the Hoghead at the lower end thereof; and luted at the holes, as the former.

6. Of the open Alembick.

It consists of two parts, 1. A Body or Cucurbit, 2. Its Head. The Body may be of Copper, Brass, Earth-glassed, Stone, or Glass, almost in form of a Gourd. The Head may be of the same matter with the Body, and sometimes of Lead or Pewter, whose top rises to a Point, being at bottom broad, and fit for the Body. In the lower part of the Head, it has a Channel inwards, to receive the falling Vapours, which ascend to the upper-part of the Head: from this Channel runs a Pipe six Inches long, which conveys the distilled matter into the Receiver. The use of this Instrument is to rectifie in Sand, Waters, Spirits, and Oyls, whether from Minerals, Vegetables, or Animals: Where note, That before you put the Cucurbit into this Sand, you must lute two or three slices of white Paper upon the neck of the Body that the Head may fit the faster on it: upon the first luted Paper, tye round about the Body a small Pack-thread with a loose Knot; then with more Paper lute together its Body and Head, so may you, when the Operation is ended, easily undo the Vessels, by drawing the Pack-thread; and so tearing the Papers.

7. Of the Blind Alembick:

It is made of a Gourd, and its Head sealed Hermetically to it, of the bigness of a Goose-Egg; In the Top of the Head there is a little Hole, big enough to take in the end of a Funnel, by which the matter is put into the Alembick: In the lower part of the Head there is a Nose or Beak by which the Liquors do distill. It serves to rectifie all Acid Spirits whether of Minerals, Vegetables, or Animals; without any loss of their substance, the hole in the top being carefully stopp'd with a glass stopple, or cork and wax.

8. Of Retorts made of Stone and Glass.

It is a capacious Body, almost in fashion of a Bladder in the Belly thereof, with a long Neck, and bending; which near the belly is four, six, or eight Inches Diameter, as the Retort is in Magnitude, but from thence grows less and less till it is of a fit thickness: Its use is to distill ordinarily in a naked and circular fire the Spirits and acid or ferid Oyls of Metals, Minerals, Salts, Sulphurs, Vegetables and Animals. If glass Retorts be used in strong fires, they are generally luted.

9. Of Earthen and Iron Retorts.

They are, like the other, in Form, save the Neck near the Belly is not above three Inches Diameter, and two Inches in its extremity. Its use is to distill the Spirits and stinking Oyls of Wood, Barks, Roots, Berries and Gum.

10. Of a Matraß or Bolt-head.

It is a Glass Body of various sizes: Its Belly is round like a Ball; and its Neck from half a foot long to two foot or more, according as the occasion requires: Its use is to digest in, extract Tinctures, sublime Mercury, and for many other purposes.

11. Of the Pellican or Circulatory.

The Pellicans are two blind Alembicks; whose Beaks are reciprocally inserted into the Bodies of one another, in the top they have a hole for the same purpose, which the Heads of blind Alembicks have; their use is chiefly for the Circulation of Spirits, Oyls, Essences, Elixirs and Quintessences of Minerals, Vegetables and Animals.

12. Of the Recipient or Receiver made of Glass.

It is a Matraß, Gourd or Cucurbit of any bigness, whose neck must be broken off so near the Belly, that the extremity of the Neck of the Retort may enter a sufficient way into it; Its use is to receive the matter distilled. You may break off the Neck by heating it very hot by degrees where you would have it break, and then dropping cold water on it, so will it fall off by a small knock; you may also do it with Iron Rings fired for it, being heat red hot, and put upon it.

14. Of Stone and Earthen Receivers.

They have the same form with the former, save they have a wider wider Neck to receive the Neck of the Retort. They are seldom used but in drawing the fetid Oyls and Spirits of Woods, Roots, Gums, Horns, &c.

15. Of double Vessels in form of a Matraß.

It is a Matraß or a Bolt-head with a long Neck, into which is inserted the Neck of another Matraß of nearly the same Magnitude, save the Neck, which must be a little less, and also shorter, going but half way into the first Matraß, the Insertion or Junction must be luted with three or four pieces of Paper, so that nothing may evaporate: Its use is for digestions of divers kinds of Infusions, and extracting of Tinctures by a sand heat, also to circulate Spirits in, being very closely luted.

16. Of double Vessels, in form of a Cucurbit.

It is a Cucurbit of Glass or Earth, upon whose mouth you place a Cup or Capula (almost in form of a Cupping-glass) with its mouth downwards: it having a little brim by which it is suspended upon the top of the Cucurbit: these two Vessels thus placed must be close luted together, with strong paste made of flower or starch. Its use is to extract by Infusion the Tinctures of all Aromatick Vegetables, which here is done without loss of Spirit.

17. Of Crucibles or melting Pots.

They are made of the same earth as white Ware, being of different forms and sizes; the lesser are very narrow at bottom almost round, but triangular on the top: the greater are narrower also below, waxing greater till they come to the top, round having a finis or cavity, for the more easie pouring any thing out: Its use is to melt and calcine Metals, Minerals, Salts, Sulphurs; and Stone, as also to burn the parts of all sorts of Vegetables, Sulphurs, and Animals in.

18. Of the Camion or Hand Crucible.

It is a Pot almost in form of the largest sort of Crucibles, having a handle to it, made of Porters Earth and Sand, that it may hold out very strongly in the fire, which Pots made of ordinary Earth will not: of these some are glazed or leaded, and some are not. Those which are glazed serve for abstractions, evaporations and exsiccatations: those which are unglazed are for the same intentions with other Crucibles; viz. to melt and Calcine in, especially large quantities of things, which the other cannot hold.

19. Of Alindes, or Pots without bottoms.

They are Pots (generally made of Earth) having no bottoms: whose Bodies are almost in the form of Retorts with straight Necks; joyned together, and placed one within another, serving chiefly for Sublimations.

20. Of the Tubulated Retort.

It is a Retort (generally made of Earth) in the form of the ordinary earthen Retorts, save this has on the Top of its body a Tube or Pipe from six Inches to a Foot or more in length, serving to convey matter into its body.

body. Its chief use is to make the Spiritus Stibi (in lib. 3. cap. 3. sect. 99.) The Ens Primum Sulphuris (in lib. 3. cap. 12. sect. 20.) The Liquor Alkabeſti (in lib. 4. cap. 11. sect. 3.) and ſome few other things.

21. Of the great Glaſs Bell.

It is a Glaſs Veſſel almoſt in the form of thoſe which Gardiners uſe to cover their Melons withal. Its uſe is to draw Spirit and Oyl of Sulphur, Sal Armoniack, Antimony, Iron, &c. by covering it with an earthen pan: And if it be turned with its mouth upwards, it will ſerve for Lotions or waſhings, Præcipitations, Abſtractions, and Exſiccations, &c.

22. Of the ſeparating Funnel.

It is made of Glaſs, with a long Neck and very narrow, to the end that when Waters and Oyls are put into it (the end being firſt cloſe ſtopt) to ſeparate, after that the water is perfectly ſetled to the bottom, the Funnel being unſtopt it may run leaſurely out without diſturbſing the Oyl, and then with your finger you may both readily and eaſily ſtop the Oriſſice, to let the remaining Liquor or Oyl run into another Vial: But how this may be better done, we have already taught in this Our Dispensatory, lib. 4. cap. 3. ſect. 20.

23. Of ordinary Glaſs Funnels.

Their uſe is the ſame with ordinary Tin Funnels; but they have ſeveral other intentions to which Tin, or ſuch as are made of Metals cannot ſerve, viz. when you have occaſion to uſe them with Corroſive Spirits and Oyl: they are of uſe in the Blind A-lembeck, the Neck being ſo long as to reach within the Body of it, and being lined with a Capula of brown Paper, it is of uſe for the filtration of Water, Spirits, Tinctures, Infuſions, Lixiviums, &c.

24. Of Separators, Strainers, and Filters.

Of the firſt ſort are all Sieves, Siercers & Strainers, whether of Hair, Linnen or Woollen; of the ſecond ſort are all Linnen, Woollen and Hair Cornures or Bags, called by ſome Manica Hippocratis, Hippocrates his Sleeve: of the laſt ſort are all thoſe Cornures made of brown Paper and put into a glaſs Funnel, even to ſeparate impalpable Atoms: their uſe is to make ſeparation between the ſubtil and the groſs; and to cleanſe Alchools from filth and impurities. This is called Filtration.

25. Of earthen Diſhes and white Ware.

Here are intended ſuch as are flat and broad bottomed, or ſuch as are in form of Platters or Balons, being either glaſed or unglazed; the red glaſed ones ſerve to evaporate or boyl in a naked fire, Decoctions, Infuſions, Syrups, Extraction, Oyls, Balſams, &c. White Ware Diſhes ſerve for cold Diſſolutions, Præcipitations, gentle Evaporations, and Crystallizations, &c. Unglaſed ones ſerve to evaporate either in a Bathe or Sand heat; Salts, Vitriols, Crystals, &c. and to waſh ſalt things in.

26. Of the various ſorts of Iron Rings.

They are made perfectly round of an indifferen thickness, having a long Iron handle adjoined to them, of as various Diameters as there are Magnitudes in Glasses, viz. all sorts and sizes, from half an Inch over to 18 Inches or more: Their use is to cut Glasses in pieces in any part or place, as the occasion requires; which to perform you must do thus: Take a Ring of equal Diameter to that part of the Glass where you would have it cut, heat it red fire hot, then put the Glass into the Ring so as the Ring may fit close about it, so will the Glass wax very hot, which with two or three little knocks or a little cold water dropt on it, will easily break in the place where the Ring is scituate.

27. Hitherto of the Principal and Primary Instruments of Chymistry, the less Principal follow, which because they are various and manifold according to their several uses and intentions, and too tedious here to be all described, we shall only give you the Names of six of the most noted, leaving your curiosity to the search and view of the Laboratory for the rest, viz.

1. Ashes. 2. Boxes. 3. Bags. 4. Buller Moulds. 5. Brick Moulds.

6. Bellows. 7. A Cauldron. 8. A Cup Glass. 9. Corks. 10. A frying Pan. 11. Fireshovel. 12. A Funnel of Tin. 13. A File. 14. A Glass Mortar. 15. A Glass Pestle. 16. Gléw. 17. Gally Pots. 18. Hippocras Bag. 19. A hair Sieve. 20. Iron Kettle. 21. Iron Pestle. 22. Iron Mortar large. 23. Iron Mortar small. 24. An Iron Pot. 25. An Iron Rod. 26. An Iron Ladle. 27. Kettle of Brass. 28. A Marble Pestle. 29. A Marble Mortar. 30. A Marble grinding stone. 31. A Muller. 32. A Phial. 33. A Press. 34. A Pyramid of Iron. 35. A plate of White Ware. 36. Packthread. 37. Paper white. 38. Paper brown. 39. A Rasp. 40. Rags of Linnen. 41. Spoon. 42. Strainers. 43. A Sack. 44. Spatula's of Iron. 45. Spatula's of Wood. 46. Scales great. 47. Scales small. 48. Starch. 49. Sand. 50. A stone Jugg. 51. Sheers. 52. Tongs. 53. A Table. 54. A Tile stone. 55. Tiles. 56. A Trevel. 57. Vials. 58. A wooden Pestle. 59. Weights. 60. White ware Basins, &c. of these we make no particular Discourse, their form and use being obvious to every Practiser.

CHAP. IV. Of Furnaces.

Furnaces are manifold, according to the variety of Chymical Operations, but their form and use is much better understood by Practical application than all the specious and tedious Theories in the world; for which cause sake we shall fall abruptly upon the matter, and, in as few words as may be, give you the general sense of the design, leaving the more exquisite intelligence thereof to the performance of an Actual Survey.

The first Furnace is for a Balneum Mariæ or Vaporous Bath.

It is thus made; lay a round of Bricks, of so large a Compass as may be answerable to the magnitude of the Copper you intend to hang in it, leaving a void space about six Inches broad for the Ash-hole, then lay another round of Bricks upon which place your grate: upon this lay two rounds more, leaving before an empty space for the fire-door over the Ash-hole: then lay four other rounds of Bricks leaving in the Uppermost of them three little gaps or holes about an Inch wide to let in the Air, viz: one before, one behind, and one opposite to the receiver: Upon this upper lay of Bricks you must hang the Cauldron (at sect. 1. cap. 3.) by its brim, which must be equally situated and suspended on the brims of the Furnace, leaving between it and the sides of the Furnace round the space of an Inch, that the fire may play about it and equal heat the Vessel, and the matter therein contained.

2. The second Furnace is small for the heat of Ashes or Sand.

Make upon the floor with Tiles, an Oval containing a foot in Length and eight Inches in Breadth, (which cement with the following Plaster) raise this Foundation of Tiles two Inches high, (leaving a space for the Ash hole, then add one lay of Bricks, upon which place your Iron Barrs or Grate; laying a broad Iron barr (two Inches broad or more) upon the Ash-hole space. Upon this, place small Tiles, cementing them together so as they may make the Furnace of a square form outwardly, yet retaining its Oval Figure within) upon this place two lays of Bricks, for a convenient space for the fire-room, which ought to be somewhat higher than it is broad: Then build up with little Tiles and Mortar, the outside square to the height of your Bricks, so continuing as you build up your Furnace. Upon the top of the fire-room lay an Iron Barr, over which lay another round of Bricks, leaving a gap in the back of the Furnace (of two Inches Breadth) over against the fire room, to give the fire Air: This Circle must be two Inches wider in the Circumference than the last, smoothing with mortar the inside thereof, that the fire may be carried the better upwards: then place on this last round a square Iron plate, half a quarter of an Inch thick, all of one peice, raising the sides of the Furnace over the plate, two, four or six Inches, more or less, as your occasion is, to hold your Sand or Ashes. Where Note, that Sand gives the greater heat, Ashes the less: and wetting them with a little water you may moderate the heat of either.

3. The Great Sand Furnace.

Those which have many digestions in Hand, and vast quantities of things to be distilled or done requiring a Sand heat, must have a larger Furnace than the former, which may be built as follows. The breadth of the Furnace may be twenty four inches, the length three, four, five or six foot, more or less, according to occasion: let the fire-room be at one end, the vent for the smoak at the other (going up some chimney.) Or thus, making the fire-room room at one end, a division may be made in the middle of the Furnace long-ways (which may also help to bear up the Iron plate) so that the heat going along on the hither side of the Furnace, it may go round the same, and return again on the back side of the same, the which it will be necessitated to do, by reason of the said longitudinal division, and there to go up a flew made for that purpose. By this means you will have several degrees of heat: The Fire-room may be a Tower built like the former, but much higher and larger; upon the top of which you may fix an iron pot or kettle to hold sand, which will be the hottest part of the Furnace: towards the Upper part of the fire room on the side may be a pretty large hole, for the flame and heat to pass through, which may heat the great Sand-Furnace, which going round the said Sand-furnace, as aforesaid, go's up the aforementioned flew, made for that purpose. This great Sand Furnace may be solid, or fill'd up with Earth, and then pav'd with Brick) till it comes to the lower part of the hole, coming out of the Fire-place in the Tower, where the first and greatest Sand-heat is Upon which placing the middle longitudinal Division, which may be made and raised about 7 or 8 Inches, upon which laying plates of Iron, build the Furnace 2 rounds higher: and then plaster over the said Iron-plates or backs smoothly with loom or clay, which being thoroughly dry, you may fill it three quarters full of sifted Sand or Ashes. The Fire-room you may shut either with an Iron-door or a Fire-stone.

4. The Furnace with a naked and Circulatory Fire.

First lay a round of Bricks, (whose capacity may be something larger than your brals Vesica) leaving a space for the Ash-hole, which must be about six Inches high: upon these two lays place an Iron Grate: then lay an Intire round of Bricks, upon which put two other lays (leaving space for a fire-hole, just over the Ash-hole) then place one perfect round of Bricks, over which lay two Iron Barrs, to hold up the bottom of the Vesica, or Stillatory: here is made the height of the Fire-room, which must be as high again as the Ash-hole. From hence raise the Furnace till you have brought it as high as the Neck of the Vesica, (which you may know by placing the Vesica upon the Barrs) finishing of it without any Chink or Gutter, on any side.

5. The open Furnace for Decoctions, &c.

It must have its place for Cinders, its Grate, its Hearth, its Barrs of Iron, place for the Vessel, its Doors and Registers, to which may be fitted a hollow round Cover and a place for a Reverberatory Fire. Let it be square, two foot four Inches High, $2\frac{2}{3}$ Feet broad: and the inward square a foot every way: let the place for the Cinders be eight Inches high, upon which lay a Grate (or square Iron Barr, flatted at each ends upon their Angles) It must have a Door also about the breadth of a Brick, and as High as the Cinders place, in the Front of the Furnace: from hence build the Furnace round about, leaving a Door for the Hearth, as large as that underneath, (and directly over it) viz. about six or seven Inches high; about this Height leave 2 holes opposite one to another, in the middle of the sides of the Furnace, and so large as a stick of an Inch diameter or more may go through; and let them be made quite through, that they may receive an Iron barr, if need be to hold up a Vessel: above these holes raise the Furnace four or five Inches, which is sufficient for all manner of Decoctions.

6. The Furnace for Distillations with a naked fire, or in sand, as you please; serving also for other uses.

But if you design it for Distillations which require a Reverberating fire, continue the Furnace till it's raised 1½ Foot above the Grate, so that there may be about eight Inches for the height of the Hearth, and the rest to contain the Vessel. The interiour angles of the Furnace must be filled up with good Lute (that the inside of the Furnace may be a Cirle) but you must leave in the same Angles, Registers (that is, holes wide enough to put your Fingers through) which must be hollowed towards the Hearth to let in the Air to feed the fire; and to govern it, they must also have their stopples made of fire-stone, to stop them when you would abate the force of the fire. The Hearth place ought to contract it self towards the bottom, to be about seven Inches diameter: upon one side of the Furnace make a hollow Notch, that the neck of the Retort may ly in it, which then you may cover

(with a fit Cupulo or Capitulum, (which you may cause a Potice to make all of one piece, having a hole in the middle which will serve as well as the four Registers) the bottom whereof must rest upon the inner Brims of the superiour part of the Furnace.

The Furnace thus fitted may serve for meltings and calcinations, if you make two or three doors to the Cinder-hole, by which the fire will be enlivened and invigorated.

7. Ordinary Reverberatory Furnace.

It must be large enough to hold a great Retort for the distillation of the Acid Spirits and other things. Let the sides of it be two Bricks breadth, the better to retain the Heat: let the Ash-hole be a Foot high, opening (if possible) on that side the Air comes: the fire Room about eight or nine Inches high, cross which lay two Iron bars of 1½ Inch square which serve to hold up the Retort: from hence raise it about a Foot higher to cover the Retort: fit to it a Reverberatory, Cupulo, or Capitulum having a hole in the middle (as aforesaid) of about two Inches Diameter, to which fit a Stopple as for a Register. Of this fashion you may have several Furnaces, but of different Sizes. These Furnaces by affixing a movable Copper to them, may serve to distil in Balneo, or in Sand, by putting in an earthen Vessel filled with Sand.

8. The Furnace with a naked fire and small reverberatory.

Consider the bigness of your Retort, and make the Furnace so big, that there may be an Inch Inch round betwixt it and the Retort; lay four or five rounds of Bricks in the said proportion, leaving an empty space for the Ash-hole and Fire-room (which in this Furnace are not to be separated (by a Grate) for the Air coming in at the Ash-hole would make the fire in the Grate burn too violently, which is not needful for the uses to which it is put:) Then add a compleat round of Bricks, upon which place two Iron Barrs, Whereon you may put the cover of a Pipkin (the Convex side turned downwards) whose Concavity is to be filled with Sand, to hold up the bottom of the Retort. Then with several rounds of Bricks raise the Furnace to the height of the Retort, leaving a space or notch for the neck of the Retort to lie in (which afterwards with lute must be clos'd, to hinder the flame from passing that way:) to whose Beak you must fit a Recipient, luting the Juncture close that nothing may evaporate: Lastly, you must have a Reverberatory or capulo (as aforesaid) fitted to it to cover it, that the rising flame may from thence reverberate upon the Retort. This furnace is of use to distil the flegm, Spirit, and scetid Oyls of Berries, Woods, Barks, Roots, Gums in an earthen or luted Glass Retort.

It is in all things like the former, save that this has a Grate for the fire Room, that the fire receiving advantage by the Air of the Ash-hole may burn the more violently. This is to distil the Acid and Corrosive Spirits and Oyls of Metals, and Minerals; for which Reason you must fix to the Retorts very large Recipients, upheld by some Stool, Standard or such like thing, having under it a linnen, flax, or some other soft matter, that it may rest the more surely thereon. Now you may either make a Capulo, as aforesaid, of one intire piece; or you may otherwise effect your design thus: Lay five rounds of moveable Bricks one upon another (without Mortar or Lute) so as your Bounds ascending, diminish in a Pyramidal form, till you come to the top or closure, leaving therein a small hole to give the fire the more air, the which you may stop at pleasure, and as you may see occasion with Stone, Brick, or Iron, the which if you do it with the last, you will find a pleasant and rare Crocus ♂ astringens, sticking to the superficies of the Iron, of the purest red.

10. A Wind Furnace for speedy Calcining and Melting.

Rear a Quadrangle whose sides shall be about 20 Inches long; let the Wall on each side be four Inches thick, and leave an aperture or opening on the middle of each side of the building, viz. 4 spaces for 4 doors: then build up with Brick all the forefronts or sides of the Furnace, for about 2 foot high, leaving in every Corner of the Furnace as you build a Register or stopping hole, beginning at the bottom about the 5th Inch in height, and ascending upwards towards the Corner opposite, which ought to be strengthened with a Pipe of Iron above a quarter of an Inch thick, and three Foot long, about four Inches wide at the bottom, and so growing taper to the top top, which should be about an Inch wide, and fixed in the Furnace as you raise it : The Furnace being raised two Foot high, fix your Bars of Iron or Brass, as aforesaid, and continue Building above it (without leaving any new door) till it is about 10 Inches higher (for a hearth-room to place the matter to be calcin'd or melted) The inward corners of the hearth-room, fill up with Lute mixed with Brick, that the capacity thereof may be Circular, and towards the bottom of the hearth grow a little taper till it come to the door, as aforesaid : To the top hereof fit a Cupulo, as is before directed, letting the substance of its sides be near two Inches thick, and a hole on the top, to which fit straight Pipes of Brass or Iron, about three foot in length, and half an Inch thick : put these the one upon the other, and the lowermost over the hole of the Cupulo : so will a fire kindle in this Furnace, give a violent heat, and be able to calcine or melt, in a very short time, any Metal or Mineral whatsoever.

11. The Furnace called an Athanor, or dull Henery.

It is much used, and variously built, both in respect of Magnitude and shape: the design of which is to heat with the same fire and with little trouble, several Furnaces at once, which is done by means of a Tower which is furnished with a Grate, a Cinder place, a Door and Openings necessary for the imparting of heat : the fire being kindled upon the Grate, the Tower is filled with Charcoal, and covered on the top, by which means it kindles by degrees, and burns by degrees with equal heat for 24 hours, thereby imparting at the same time (by means of the Openings made upon the sides of the hearth of the Tower) an equal heat to all those adjacent furnaces. These Athanors are generally placed in the middle of the Laboratory. The Tower may be made square, but 'tis usually round, to the end that it may impart its heat to the greater number of Furnaces. This Tower has but one Canal, with its Cinder place, its Door, a Grate and Door for the hearth ; and plates of Iron fit to stop the breathing holes of the Tower, when you would hinder it from communicating of it to a Furnace that has no need thereof.

12. A Furnace to distil per descensum.

Make a Furnace round or square, four Inches thick in the Walls, and 20 Inches or more in Diameter. In the lower part of it, let it have a door, ten or eleven Inches high, and eight Inches broad, which shut with a strong plate of Iron. Over the middle of the Furnace lay a Plate of Iron four or five inches broad, and $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick, having a round hole in the middle three inches Diameter : by the sides of this broad Bar, lay other square Bars, and make a Grate as in other Furnaces, but let the Bars be much closer ; raise the Wall, a foot above this Grate ; then fit an earthen glazed Vessel fel like a Cucurbit with a straight Neck, into which put the Wood, Roots, Barks or other matter to be distilled: cover the Orifice hereof with a capsula of Silver, or Copper Tinn'd over, which capsula let be made very full of small holes, and so disposed as to surround the mouth of the Cucurbit, the Neck whereof put through the hole in the afore-said broad Bar, which joyn to a Receiver of Earth glazed, or Glass underneath; then kindle round about it a fire, at first very gentle, then increase it by degrees, till it covers all the Cucurbit (if the matter to be distilled is solid) after a sufficient continuance of the fire, in the Receiver below you shall find the matter distilled.

13. A Reverberatory Furnace, having a Balneum and Sand heat.

It is made with a Cinder-place, door in the middle of the Front, a Grate six inches from the ground, the Fire-room nine Inches high above the Grate, with an opening or two (according to the bigness of the Furnace) in the side-wall, big enough to put in the neck of a Retort or Vesica, which opening must be continued to the top: Raise the Walls equally a foot above the opening, and fill the inward Angles with Lute and Brick, as afore-said. Then provide a flat capsula to cover it, which let rest upon the inner brims of the Wall: this capsula must have brims sufficiently raised, if for a Sand heat six Inches; if for a Balneum twelve or fourteen Inches above the Basis thereof, by which, with the reverberating heat you may distil Waters, Spirits, &c. The Retort to be used within the Furnace must be placed upon a Trever, raised about five inches from the Grate or Iron Bars fixed therein before hand for that purpose. Lastly, with lute and pieces of Brick stop up the apertures or openings of the Furnace, where the Neck of the Retorts come out; then kindle the fire, and fill all the void space with Coals from the Grate to the top; and take heed that the fire have no vent but through the Cinder-hole, and the hole or Pipe in the middle of the capsula or Cover, that it may operate with the greater vigour: Fit a Recipient to the neck of the Retort, and so leave it to its self till the Distillation is finished. But in my opinion, it is better to have a door in the fire-room, made of Iron, and casting in the Coals that way, to shut it close afterwards, and so continually to attend it during the time of the Distillation.

14. A moveable Furnace with a little Circulatory fire.

It is made only of one round of Bricks, close set together without Lute or Mortar; in the middle of which place a Vessel, made of Lute, Salt-cellar fashion, upon which place a Bolt-head, about two Inches less in its Diameter than the Diameter of the Furnace, into which space put your Coals ready kindled. This serves chiefly for Evaporations

15. A moveable Furnace with a great Circulatory fire.

It is made of two equal rounds of Bricks, so plastered with Lute, that there may be a little distance between them that the air entering may make the fire lively: in this you may place the Vessel or Stillatory as in the former. It is of use to sublime Salt (drawn from Metals and Minerals) in a luted Bolt-head.

16. A moveable Furnace with a Circular fire, and fire of Suppression.

Lay upon the ground a flat round foot made of Lute and Plaster, or two Bricks, upon which put your Crucible; then raise divers rounds of Bricks, without Lute till they come to be 2 or three Inches above the Crucible (making a space of 2 or 3 Inches also between the Furnace and the Vessel within it) fill the Furnace thus fitted up to the top with kindled Coals, with which also you may cover the Pot all over, from whence it is called a fire of Suppression. It is of use to Calcine all sorts of Vegetables, Animals and Minerals, and to melt Metals with. If you make a Chink or Notch in the side thereof, it will serve for Distillation of all sorts of Waters, Spirits, and Oyls, made of Gums, Wax, &c.

17. A moveable Wind Furnace.

Be a Hoghead, knock out the one end thereof, and cut in the other a hole as wide as a Peck bottom; set this Hoghead upon two stones or Timber-logs, of about a foot in height, cover the Head where the hole is with our Lute, up on which lay a Grate, covering it again with Our Lute and Plaster together, upon this erect a moveable Furnace (such a one as the former) with our Bricks, and having a fire of Suppression, but without a Notch on the side, fit it on one side; with a Door-hole (which stop with a Fire-stone) and on the top with a Cupule and Pipe, to shall you find the air to ascend from under the Hoghead with such violence, that it will melt even the hardest Bodies, as Metals, Minerals, Glass, Stones, &c.

18. The Structures of Furnaces are very various, according to the nature of the operation and ingenuity of the Artist, who ought to know how to invent new, if occasion requires; as to imitate and use those which are already invented. The matter of which Furnaces are built is also various, according to the magnitude, place and use; Furnaces in Glass-houses are built of thick strong stones able to resist fire for a long time; and of the same stone we also make several Furnaces both fixe and moveable, being first cut out and fitted for the same, straight and square on the outside, and circular within, conformable to the intention of a Furnace. We use also Bricks made and moulded in the same fashion; you may also make portable Furnaces, in all respects like the fixe, which may be cut, shaped, jointed and fitted to the intention, having their Ash-hole, Grates, Hearths, Doors, Registers, Cupules, &c. all which may be taken down, and pieced from piece, and carried wheresoever a man pleases.

CHAP. V. Of L U T E S.

Lutes are manifold according to the uses to which they are put.

1. Mortar to build Furnaces with fire stones.

It is only made of Quick Lime, with a proportionable quantity of Sand.

1. Mortar or Lute to build Furnaces with Brick.

R^e fat Earth, such as Bakers use for building their Ovens with p. iij. River Sand, Horse-dung, A. p. j. mix, and with salt water make Mortar: you may strengthen it with dross of Iron, Glasse, &c. beaten to powder.

3. Lute for coating Retorts with, whether of Glasse or Earth.

Take Potters Earth, white or yellow Sand, Horse-dung, of each a like quantity not weight, with water make Lute. First, work them with your feet upon the ground, then work them with your hands in little pieces, till the Ingredients are well incorporated; Some instead of Sand use the Caput Mortuum of Vitriol. The use of this Lute, besides that of coating Retorts, serves to the making of Bricks, the cementing of them, or building of Furnaces, filling up the Cracks of the Furnaces; making of little flat Rounds to set Retorts on, and to stop the Cracks in any Vessel.

4. Lutum Sapientia for closing the Mouths and Necks of Vessels.

R^e Quick Lime and Glair of Eggs, make it into Paste, which immediately apply, because it quickly dries. Where note, that some first slake it with Milk.

5. Another Lute for Coating of Glasse Retorts.

R^e Sand, Dross of Iron, Potters Earth in Pouder, A. lbv. Horse-dung cut small, lbj. Salt, Glasse beaten into pouder, A. ʒiv. mix, and with water make a Lute; with this you may also stop up the Juncture of the Neck of the Retort with the Receiver.

6. A strong Lute to make Vessels of, and build Furnaces with.

R^e Potters Earth, Potsherds, A. p. ij. (beaten into fine powder) River Sand p. j. mix and with water make a Lute. This Lute will also serve to cover Retorts with.

7. Another Lute to the same purpose.

R^e Potters Earth dried lbvj. Potsherds, Caput Mortuum of Aqua fortis, Horse-dung dried, A. lbij. Bricks, dross of Iron, Glasse, A. lbj. beat what ought to be beaten into fine powder, mix it with Horse-dung & with Butter lbj. and water make a Lute.

8. Another strong Lute for the same use.

R^e Potters Earth lbiv. Bricks lbij. Quick Lime lbj. being in fine powder make them into a Lute with an equal quantity of Ox blood and Salt water.

9. Lute to joyn the Helm of the Alembick with the Cucurbit.

You may make it of white Starch boyled in water, or of Grew Glew dissolved in water, which spread upon Paper, and apply to the Juncture; but if the matter is very Spirituous, apply a Bladder moistned in water, for it is very strong when it is dry. But if the Spirits are corrosive, so that they may endanger the former Lute, by eating of it, use this following: R Lime, white Starch, A. ʒi. Potters Earth in powder ʒss. with Glair of Eggs make a Paste; you may also use Fish Glew dissolved in S. V. and mix with fine Flax, and so applied; or you may apply the Glew with a piece of Bladder.

10. A Strong Lute to Coat Retorts with, which will hold without the Retort break.

R fine Potters earth, fine Bole, Potters sterds, all in fine powder, mix them with Quick Lime slak'd with a little Milk, and with Glair of Eggs, Bulls blood and Butter beaten together, so much as will bind them, make a soft Lute, to Coat Retorts with, which you may put on three or four times, lay upon lay.

11. Lute to make Crucibles of.

R Potters Earth dried, Roach Alum, a kind of Talk called Schistifus, or fire-stone, of each a like quantity; powder them fine, make them into a Body with Milk, then form that Paste into Crucibles, and bake them in a Potters Furnace.

12. A Lute to stop Bottles with, so that no vapours may get out.

Dissolve Fish Glew in S. V. to a Mucilage, which mix with flowers of Sulphur, Mastich finely poudred, and Quick Lime, quenched in Milk to a Plaster: this being laid within the Neck of the Bottle, and upon the Mouth thereof, and dried, will be so firm that the most subtil thing cannot pierce it; Or thus: R Minum fine Bole, Venetian Ceruse, Gum Sandrach, all in fine powder, make them into a Paste with Linseed Oyl.

13. A Lute for Cracks of Vessels which will endure the fire.

R Minum in fine powder ʒi. Fat of Herrings ʒi. mix, spread it upon fine Linnen, and apply it to the defect.

14. Of the Hermetic Dute or Seal.

It is the nipping of the winging together of the Mouths of Glass Vessels, which hold a matter, all whole Parts you would preserve; let it be done in a Glass having a long Neck, narrow, and strong withall, able to endure almost melting. Take an Earthen Pot able to resist the force of the fire, make a hole in the bottom thereof, big enough to receive the Neck of the glass you would close up; then make a soft fire in the Pot to warm the Glass by degrees, encrease the fire, till the Glass is near melting; then take it forth, and immediately with a pair of Tonges red hog nip and wing it so that all the parts may stick together, and be exactly closed, so that no vapour can penetrate in.

15. Of Artificial Furnaces for the Chymical Furnaces.

They are all of a bigness, evenness and proportion to the end that all our Furnaces may be the better, and more easily built. They are formed in a Mold made of hard Wood, about twelve Inches long, six Inches broad and three Inches thick. The outsides Convex, the Insides Concave, each being fragments or portions of a Circle; the outward being eight Inches in Circumference, the inward six Inches, the breadth and length each of them three Inches. Fill the mould with Lute (at Sect. 3.)

and with a wooden Knife or Rule make even and smooth the Superficies, after which knock it out; rub the Mould with Sand, and in like manner make another, &c. These Bricks dry thoroughly in the shade and reserve them or otherwise burn them in a Pottery Furnace, according as their several uses require.

16. The way and manner of Luting Vessels.

Take our aforesaid Lute (at Sect. 3.) or any other fit for the purpose, and make it more soft than for Bricks or other uses, which lay upon the Vessel you would lute, about the thickness of a half Crown.

This Lute is sometimes layed but half way on Matresses or Bolt-heads; sometimes they are luted up to the neck; so also Retorts, except only a little space which ought to be left near the neck, to see into them in the time of their operation:
the Vessel being luted, let it dry at leisure in the shade, and as near as you can every ways equally. Where note, That some make their Lute thinner, and spread it very thin upon the Vessel to be luted, laying it on three or four several times, drying of it every time, for the greater security of their design.

CHAP. VI. OF FIRES.

Chymical heat or fire we shall consider in a five-fold respect,
viz. as to its Nature or Kinds;
Its degrees, the way or manner of using it; the matter of the fire;
and the Government thereof.

1. Heat is either Natural or Artificial. Natural is that of the Sun; Artificial is either that of Horse-dung or of Fire.

2. That of the Sun is used for Digestion or Calcination: the first is done by Insolation, the second by Reflexion, or Concentration of Beams by Glasses.

3. The Artificial of Horse-dung is used for digestion and putrefac-tion, and it is done either by burying the Vessel in a Horse-dung-hill; or by making a hole in the ground, & placing in that hole, a large course of Horse-dung a foot or more thick, with a course of Lime half a foot thick, and then another of dung, upon which fixing the Glass or Vessel, you must lay round it Lime and Horse-dung mixt together, and press it very hard down, upon which every other day sprinkle water, till it ceases to be hot;

then taking the Vessel out, put
it

it into new, and continue this work till your limitation of time is ended.

4. The Artificial heat of fire is 1. of a Lamp or Candle : 2. of burning Coals : 3. of Flame.

5. The degrees of fire are fourfold. The first degree is gentle and only warms : which two or three lighted Coals will very well perform. The second degree is stronger, and only scalds, this is done by a fire somewhat greater. The third degree is vehement, and only boils, this is done by a strong fire. The fourth degree is most strong or violent, and this is that which fuses, calcines, destroys or consumes bodies to ashes and vitrifies.

In every of these degrees, there are also other degrees of strength and action, which are not so easily declared as found by practice and experience, all these the ingenious Artist may observe by himself. A Pot may boyl, and it may boyl and rise up; and by a greater heat it may boyl to run over. So in the fourth degree of fire one heat Melts, another Calcines, another Vitrifies or makes Glass. The industrious Schroder saith, The first degree is commonly measured by Balneum Mariæ. The second degree by the heat of Ashes. The third degree by the heat of Sand. The fourth degree by a bare or naked fire. Not that it is simply necessary to use these several degrees, these several ways; for many of the degrees may be acted by one and the same way. In B. M. you may have the first and second degree of heat, by Ashes and Sand you may have the first, second and third degrees. In a naked fire, you may have them all.

6. The way and manner of using fire, whether Lamps, Coals or Flame, is 1. By Balneum Roris, or Vapor in the Dew-Bath. 2. By Balneum Mariæ, or Mariæ. The hot-water Bath, wherein the Vessel is put, having the Medicine to be prepared. 3. By Ashes. 4. By Sand. 5. By a naked fire of Burning Wood or Coals, having no Medium.

This last way of fire is either 1. Circulatory, when coals of fire are round about the Vessel. 2. Reverberatory, when the Flames goes round by reflection or beating back. 3. A fire of Suppression, when the fire is below, round about, and on the top.

7. The matter of the fire, is either Coals, wood or Oyl. The Coals ought to be of good Wood (chiefly of Beech) dry, round and of a middle size: not of Oak, if possible, because they fly and may endanger the Glasses: Wood should be hard, dry and in pieces. Oyl is only used in the Lamp Furnaces which serves to digest and distil with an equal and moderate heat, without any necessity of attending upon it.

8. The Government of the Fire is to be limited from the nature of the Operation about which it is used. In the sublimation of Mercury ductis, you use only a small heat, during the whole Operation. In other works where you use even the highest degree of fire, you must give a gentle heat at first, for fear of breaking your Glasses; then increase the heat by little and little, till it comes to the highest Degree; which is to be continued either for a little season, as in the distillation of the Oyl of Bricks, or for several hours; as in the Distillation of the black Oyl of Vitriol, &c. Moreover, you are to consider what it is that augments or diminishes the fire, whether it be the air, or fuel, or both, and accordingly to increase or lessen the same, as the ration of your Operation requires.

CHAP. VII. of DISSOLUTION.

1. Dissolution, is the reducing or resolving of Bodys out of Forms more concrete and gross, into other forms more simple and subtile. Or it is the Division and Separation of the various substances, composing a mixt body.

Hence it appears that Dissolution is taken in a two-fold sense, 1. In the Destruction of its primary form, retaining all its parts together. 2. In the destruction of the same form, with separation of its parts.

2. Dissolution is considered, 1. In respect of the matter to be Dissolved. 2. In the manner of Dissolving.

3. The matter to be dissolved is either Simple or Compound.

4. The Simple is either Mineral, Vegetable or Animal.

5. The Compound, in a Complex Body, made of some one or more, or all of those three: which are chiefly the Preparations and Compositions of the Shops.

6. Dissolution of simple Bodies, is either by Menstruum, Amalgamation or Liquefaction.

7. Dissolution by Menstruum is the subtilizing of Gross Bodies, with fit Watery, Spirituous or Oily Substances.

Thus Silver, Mercury and

Copper are dissolved in A. R. Gold in A. R. Iron in Water by help of Tartar: Lead and Tin in Vinegar: Resinous Gums in S. V. or in Vinegar: Watery Gums in Wine, Water, or some juyce: Salts in water: Bones, Horns, Hoofs, Hair, in Spirit of Salts: Sulphurs in Oyl, &c.

8. Dissolution by Amalgamation is the subtilizing of Mineral bodies by a mixture of crude Mercury or Quick-silver.

And this Dissolution is used about all Metals except Iron.

9. Dissolution by Liquefaction is the making of gross Bodies thin or fluid by the force of heat.

This is according to the matter to be dissolved, wherein you may use all the degrees of that beforementioned: Those things most subject to this kind of dissolution are all sorts of Fat, Grease or Oyl; all sorts of Rosins and Gellies; all sorts of Metals, Stones and Glass; all sorts of Salts, Sugars and Honeys.

10. Compound Bodies admit of some one or more, or all those aforesaid ways of Dissolution, according to the matter of the Composition.

Thus Electuaries, Confects, Pouders, Extracts; Syrups, Honeys, Lohochs, Pills, Trochiscare dissolved in some liquid Body, to make them potable; Gummy matters in Spirit of Wine, Wax, Cerots, Emplasters in Oyl, &c.

Hitherto of the first kind of Dissolution; the other which relates to the Division of the parts, you may search out in the Chapter of Separation.

CHAP. VIII. OF CALCINATION.

1 Calcination is the making of a matter friable, or bringing it into a Lime.

2. It is either Actual, by the force of Fire, or Potential, by Corrosion.

3. Calcination by the force of Fire, is either Incineration, or Reverberation.

4. Incineration is the burning a matter to Ashes, either with live Coals, or by the help of Niter, as in the making of the niterated Salt of Tartar.

5. Reverberation is the bringing of a matter to a Calx or Lime by the heat of a reverberated Flame.

By this kind of Calcination many Metals, Salts and Stones are calcined: It opens and separates the substances of mixt bodies by a reflexive Flame, and consumes the Corrosive Spirits of Niter, Salt and Vitriol.

6. Potential Calcination which is done by Corrosion, is either by Immersion, Amalgamation, Cementation, Fumigation or Illinition.

7. Calcination by Immersion, is done by putting the filings of Metals, or, powders of Stones, &c. into Corrosive Spirits and Oyl's.

We need give no Examples hereof if you have but recourse to Lib. 3. Cap. 1. Sect. 3. Cap. 2.

Sect. 5. Cap. 3. Sect. 5. Cap. 4. Sect. 5. Cap. 5. Sect. 7. Cap. 6. Sect. 2. and Cap. 7. Sect. 19. foregoing.

8. By Amalgamation, which is done by a mixture of Quick-silver (a sufficient quantity) with the filings of the Metal to be calcined, when the Quick-silver has swallowed up the Metal, evaporate it by a gentle heat; and the Calx of the Metal will remain at bottom.

Examples hereof, see Lib. 3. Cap. 1. Sect. 4. and Cap. 2. Sect. 4.

9. By Cementation, which is done by firing a cementing Powder upon thin plates of the Metal to be calcined, and so laying the Cement and the Metal stratum superstratum, till the Vessel is full; which is afterwards covered over, and luted exceeding close, and then put into a gradual circular Fire, for some hours, till the Calcination is perfect.

This is generally done, where perfect Metals are mixt with imperfect, for by this kind of Calcination, the perfect Metals, as Gold and Silver become freed from the Imperfect, which by this kind of Operation are utterly destroyed. In this case 'twill be good to continue the Calcination, till the perfect Metals are melted.

10. By Fumigation, which is done by the Fumes of Mercury, Lead, Vinegar, AF or Spirit of Niter. Thus, Put Mercury into a Calcining Vessel, with a narrow mouth, put it to the fire, that the fumes may exhale; In the Orifice thereof put the Metal to be calcined, in thin plates, so will it be made brittle or fryable by the Mercury that pierceth and goes through it.

Tin and Lead are thus Calcined by the Vapors of Vinegar, or other Corrosive Liquors:

Lead thus Calcined by the vapors of Vinegar is converted into a white Lime, which is the true Cerule or white Lead.

11. By Illinitio, or anointing, which is done by anointing plates of Metal with the Solution of Sal Niter, Sal Armoniack, Sal Gem, or Common Salr.

It is chiefly used upon Copper and Iron; yet other Metals are subject to like Operations, consideration being had to the matter you anoint with.

CHAP. IX. Of DIGESTION.

1. Digestion is the maceration or steeping of fit Bodys in proper Liquors, for a certain time.

2. In Digestion there is considered, 1. The Matter. 2. The Digestive. 3. Manner. 4. The Time. 5. The End.

3. The matter to be digested is all things, Mineral, Vegetable and Animal.

4. The Digestive is some proper Liquor or Menstruum.

This is to be chosen according to the nature of the thing to be digested, and the end or intention of the Digestion: some things are to be digested in Water, some in Wine; some in Spirit of Wine; some in Vinegar; some in a Lixivium of Salts; some in a Lixivium of Quicklime, some in Hydromel, and some in Beer, &c. In this case let the Liquor or Menstruum have some homogeneity with the matter to be digested, or with its principal parts. It is best to digest Aqueous matters in an Aqueous Menstruum; Spirituous in a Spirituous Menstruum, as Spirit of Wine, Aqua Vitæ; Saline in a Lixivate Menstruum, as Ley of Quicklime, Oyl of Tartar: but if you expect extraction, then digest Saline and Gummy Bodys in Waters; Resinous, in Spirits; Sulphurous, in Oyls, &c. If you intend Dissolution you must chose such Menstruums as have power either to resolve bodys into their first Principles, or at least to divide their parts.

5. The manner of Digesting is taken from the kinds, which is either without fire, or with fire.

6. Digestion without fire is used only about such things whose Bodys or their parts will be dissolved, divided, or yield their Texture without heat; at least without any other ther heat than that of the Mensstruum.

Thus Salts and Gums; resolve in Waters; Resinous Bodys and Tinctures in S. V. without any actual heat, &c.

7. Digestion with fire is used about such things whose Bodys are too hard or fast bound to be unloosed without the help of Actual heat joyned with the Mensstruum, which is either of the Sun-beams, Horse-dung, B. M. Ashes or Sand.

So Herbs, Roots, Barks, Woods, some parts of Animals, &c. are always digested with an Actual heat, according to degrees, that when their Distillations, Extractions or Dissolutions are performed, they may be the more easily or perfectly done.

8. The Time of Digestion is taken from the Nature of the Body, the Digestive, and the end or intention of the Digestion.

Things of hard, or rough Bodys, and hard to be resolved or extracted are digested a long time, although in a strong Digestive, but longer, in a weak: Things porous, soft and easy of Extraction require a short time of digestion, although in a weak digestive; but a shorter if in a strong: Scorpions are digested whole a long time in Oyl of bitter Almonds, because they communicate their Virtues by little and little. Roses are beaten with Salt, and digested cold in a Cellar 8, 10, or 12 Months together. They are also digested a long time in Oyl to make Un-guentum Rosarum. Poppy Heads are digested in Water, but a very little while before they are made into Syrup: calcin'd Lead, Minium, Ceruse or Litharge are a long time digested in Spirit of Vinegar, either for Dissolution, Magistery or Salt.

9. The end and intention of Digestion, is either for Maturation, Impregnation, Tincture, Extraction, Separation, Dissolution, or Circulation.

It is then only intended for Maturation, when it is intended for Distillation: Impregnation when the Liquor is only to be decanted: Tincture when the Colour is respected: Extraction, when the Digestive is to be separated by evaporation: Separation, when you intend precipitation: and Dissolution when the Body is capable of such an Operation by means of such a digestive. So filings of Steel are digested in Spirit of Vitriol, to make Vitriol of Mars. Spirit of Wine, and Spirit of Vitriol of each equal weight are mingled together, and digested in an Iron Vessel, to the end that they may incorporate into a whitish Substance called the Salt of Mars.

10. Circulation is an Intention of Digestion wherein Liquors impregnated with the Virtues and Substances of Medicaments (or have the Medicaments themselves infusing in them) in a fir Vessel made of Glass, and all of one piece, (as a Pellican, single or double,) or a Vesica well lured to a blind head, &c. are put to Circulate.

This may be done, either by the heat of the Sun, or of Horse-dung, or in Ashes or Sand, or by a Lamp of fire; wherein the heat heat must be equal and continued for some days, weeks, or months, &c. as your matter requires. By means of this Circulation the most subtil and spirituous matter ascends to the top of the Vessel, and not finding any passage, falls down again to the matter at the bottom of the Vessel where it was raised; thus continuing to ascend and descend, it makes a kind of Circulation, whereby there is a more perfect extraction, separation, and exaltation of the spirituous parts.

CHAP. X. Of FERMENTATION.

1. Fermentation is a certain manifestation of life, fitting it for a resurrection, and without which it would remain captivated within the Bonds or Chains of Death. Or, it is the breaking of the Bond of Corruption and Putrefaction by the power of Life, assisted by a Homogeneous Matter, or Principle already freed.

2. It is caused from the Contest of two contrary Principles or Matters.

That is, which are opposite either in nature or form: so Life and Death, Purity and Impurity, Corruption and Incorruption, are opposite in nature, Acid, and Alkali, in form, &c. here also it is observable, That that Principle or Matter which is greater in power, retains the dominion; hence it is that some things cannot ferment without additions and helps, because the corruptible and dead part much exceeds the life or pure part in power, &c. but in other things where the life and pure part transcends or exceeds the contrary; after a certain time, it creates a struggling as it were in the Womb, and by means of its own efficacy frees it self from that which subjugated it; the former is artificial, this natural.

3. The matter to be fermented contains in it all the natural principles.

That is, Salt, Sulphur, and Mercury, crude and indigested; if any one was wanting the other could not be, because each two subsist, and are upheld by the third: As in an Equilateral Triangle, if you take away the legs or shanks constituting any Angle, you leave not two Angles behind, but only a right Line, which not only makes a nullity of the Triangle in general, but of the two remaining Angles in particular, there being nothing of a Figure left behind.

4. Before Fermentation the Matters being distilled can yield no Spirit but a Flegm and serid Oyl, according to the nature of the thing distilled.

This is apparent from all sorts of Juices, and Worts, of which Ale is made : the first although the juice of the Grape will yield nothing but Flegm, and a Caput Mort; the other a Flegm and stinking Oyl, but let them be but first fermented, then they will yield first their inflammable Spirit, & after that their Flegm. From hence appears, 1. The necessity of fermentation. 2. That crude Juices, Herbs and Plants (Aromaticks excepted whose odour shews a previous natural Ferment) can loose none of their Spirits by boyling, whatever some have affirmed to the contrary. Yea, without it, its impossible they should loose their spirituous & volatile parts in the least measure, since there is a power stronger than theirs which holds them.

5. After Fermentation, the matter is resolved or broken, made thin and ripe, whereby its Spirituous and Volatile parts are made subje& to fly.

The reason appears from the contrariety of confusion of parts fermentable they being not yet brought under one power, or subjugated to life and parity, and being dissolved, tis apparent they are altered by force of a stronger faculty, and so brought & exalted to a more spirituous disposition, standing in a living active property.

6. The Matter to be fermented is chiefly all liquid substances.

This is true whether they be Acids or Alkalies; Acids suffer fermentation by Alkalies; Alkalies by Acids; yet thicker Bodies are said to be fermented, as Syrups, Electuaries, Dough;

but in these there can be no separation by reason of the grossness of their Bodies.

7. The matter fermenting, or causing the ferment is either the internal Spirit, or external Agent already freed, or both.

Where the Spirit is powerful and much transcends, it will cause a fermentation alone, as in juice of Grapes: in other cases where the Spirit is overpowered there is required an external Agent: As Leaven or Yest to Dough; Yest to Juices, Wort, Infusions, Decoctions, and Tinctures: Sugar, Honey, and Alkalies, as Salt of Tartar to Vinegar and other Acids: Vinegar, Cream of Tartar, Tartar Vitriolate, &c. to Alkalies; together with an external heat. See Lib. 4. Cap. 12. Sect 4. of this Dispensatory.

8. The way and manner of the Fermentation, is done by mixing the ferment with the Liquor, being a little warm, and in a wooden Vessel shaking them well together, and then setting them in a warm place, or insulating them.

9. The End or Intention of fermentation is twofold. 1. To take away the Crudity, and greatest part of the terrestrial impurities. 2. In case of Distillation, that the Volatile and spiritual parts may be raised.

10. The measure of the fermentation is from the Odour and clearness of the Liquor fermenting.

If it be too violent and long, it may cause a dissipation and evaporation of the Spirit (which ought to be kept) from whence follows sowness and deadness.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI. Of EXTRACTION.

1. Extraction is the drawing forth the Spirit, Life, Essence, Power or Energetick Properties of things, actually making a separation of the pure and fine parts from the impure and gross.

2. The way and manner of doing it is threefold. 1. By Expression or Straining. 2. By Potential Heat. 3. By Actual Heat.

3. By Expression, Oyls are extracted out of Seeds, and Juices out of Herbs and Fruits, &c.

4. Extraction by Potential Heat is done by Menstruum,

Menstruum is the Medium of this kind of Extraction, and it is various as is the quality of the matter to be extracted: Some things require Sulphurous Menstruums, such are spirits of wine, Hydromel, Aqua Vita, strong waters, Some require Acid Menstruums, such are Spirits of Vinegar, Honey, Sugar, Vitriol, Sulphur, Aqua fortis, Aqua regia, &c. Some requiring Alkalifate Menstruums, such are Oyl of Tartar per deliquium, Lixivium of Quick Lime, Pot-ashes, the Ashes of other Vegetables, &c. Some require Oleaginous Menstruums, as Oyl Olive, Oyl of Turpentine, Oyl of Aniseeds, &c. Lastly, some require Aqueous Menstruums, such are Beer, Ale, Wines, simple distilled Waters, May-Dew, Rain, and Fountain Water, &c. Now what those several and individual Matters are which require those particular and singular Menstruums, we hope that he that has read thus far through all the many and various Examples of the Praxis, delivered in the foregoing Books of this Dispensatory, cannot well be ignorant.

5. This kind of Extraction is performed by Digestion and Filtration,

What that is we have already declared in Chap. 9. foregoing: what Filtration is, see Ch. 12. following.

6. The intention of this kind of Extraction is either for Decoction, Infusion, Tincture, or Extract: or else for a farther separation which is performed by distillation or sublimation.

7. The last kind of Extraction is performed by Distillation, Sublimation and Calcination aforementioned, of which in their places we sufficiently treat.

By the first is extracted Waters, Spirits, Oyls, and Volatile Salts. By the second Flowers: By the last Alkalious Salts, of which we have largely spoken in Chap. 8.

CAP.

CHAP. XII. Of SEPARATION.

1. Separation is the segregating or parting of Heterogeneous, mixed or confused things one from another.

2. This is done either in Bodies imperfectly and unequally mixt, or in Bodys more perfectly and equally mixt.

3. In such things as are imperfectly mixt, as Faces with clear or thin Liquors, or Oyl with water, the Separation is performed; 1. By decanting or straining. 2. By a Tritorium. 3. By Gossipum. 4. By Paper or Filtration. 5. By Glass.

4. Such Heterogeneous things whose grosser Matters settle, may be separated by Decantation or pouring off after sufficient settling; otherwise, if the gross or Heterogeneous matter swims, it is separated through a Cloth or Sieve.

5. Oyl and water are separated by the Tritorium or separating Funnel, having a narrow Orifice in the bottom, which is stopped, then the mixt Liquor is put in, and set by its self for a while till the water settles, which by opening the stopped Orifice runs leisurely out, so stopping the Orifice again, the Oyl is left remaining.

6. By Gossipum, or Wooll: A Glass with a narrow mouth being filled with Water and Oyl to the top, and so left standing till the Oyl swims, and another Glass by it but lower than it, then put the Cotton or Wooll between, so that the one end may touch the Oyl, the other end may hang into the lower Glass; by this means the Oyl will go through the Wooll to the lower

Glass, leaving the Water behind:

7. By Paper, which is commonly called Filtration; the Paper being turned into a Pyramid or Cornute, is put into a glass Funnel, through which the thin Liquor passes, leaving either Oyl or Sediment behind. See Cap. 3. sect. 24.

8. By beaten Glass, placed below in a Glass Funnel, through which Glass the Liquor by degrees distils, leaving its filth behind: this is chiefly used in corrosive Spirits, such as are Niter, Salt, Vitriol, Sulphur, &c. being filled with any kind of filth or grossness, &c. For should they pass through Cloth, Cotton, Paper, &c. they would corrode, eat, and burn it, and thereby become more filthy.

9. Hitherto of the Separation of Bodies imperfectly mixt: Bodies more perfectly mixt are separated either by Præcipitation, or Distillation.

10. Præcipitation follows Dissolution, and it is an Aét causing the dissolvent to let fall the matter dissolved to the bottom.

This is done by means of some Medium. 1. Resinous substances extracted by S. V. are præcipitated, by water, that weakening the dissolvent, whereby it lets the Resin fall; or you may do it by a gentle evaporation. 2. Vitriolated Dissolutions are præcipitated by Tartar and Alkalies. 3. Metals dissolved in AÉ. or Spirit of Niter, are præcipitated with Sea-water and Alkalious Lixiv-ums,

ums. 4. Sublimed Mercury dissolved in water of Sal Armoniack is præcipitated with white Salt of Tartar. 5. Pearls and Corals dissolved in A. Spirit of Niter, Sugar Honey, Vinegar, or Limons, &c. are præcipitated, either with a great quantity of water, or Oyl of Tartar. 6. Flowers of Sulphur dissolved with Salt of Tartar is præcipitated with an Acid, as, Spirits of Niter, Vinegar or Vitriol, or Alum dissolved in water. 7. Bismuth dissolved in Spirit of Niter is præcipitated with Sea-water, &c. Of this in the foregoing Dispensatory you have multitudes of Examples: Of Distillation we shall speak in the next Chapter.

CHAP. XIII. Of DISTILLATION.

I. Distillation is the Attenuation and Ascension of the subtil or more liquid parts of any body in Vapors, by means of Heat, which cooling aloft, descend or distil by drops into a Receiver.

Or, It is the Separation of the more thin or subtil parts, from the more thick or gross; by the force of heat or fire.

2. It is considered in a threefold sense, viz. 1. In respect of the Vessel.

2. In respect of the Heat. 3. In respect of the manner of Operation.

3. In respect of the Vessels, it is done either in an Alembick, Retort, or a Vesica.

The Alembick may either be of Copper or Glass: The Retort may be either of Earth, Iron or Glass. The Vesica is generally Copper: That done in an Alembick is an upright way of Distillation, wherein the Vapors raised are converted into Liquor in the Head of a superior Vessel, through whose Neck it falls into a Receiver placed below it; this is used for the more Volatile matters. That by a Retort is an Oblique or Side-long Distillation, used for the distilling of the more ponderous Spirits, Oyls and Volatile Salts, which will not so conveniently ascend by an upright Distillation: The Vesica is indifferently used for the Distillation of Waters, and Oyls in large Qualities.

4. In respect of the heat, it is done either by Balneum Vaporis, Balneum Mariæ, Ashes, Sand, or a naked fire, &c.

That which acts by Dew or Bath is for the Distillation of the most subtil Spirits of Vegetables: that by Sand or Ashes for the more weighty Oyls and Volatile Salts of Wood, Gums, and parts of Animals; that by a naked fire is for the Distillation of the hardest Bodies as Bones, Metals, Stones, and Minerals, &c. But this is generally to be considered, That the Artist is not absolutely bound to these Limitations of Distillation, because (as we have said once before in the degrees of fire) fire) in a Bath you may have a dewy heat: in ashes you may have the heats of the Bath and Dew. In Sand, you may have the heat of Sand, and the heats of the three former; and in a naked fire you may have all sorts of heat; but in these cases, it requires discretion, and an experienced Artist to regulate the fire to its exact degree, or just proportion of heat, which each in their own particular Modes and Vessels cannot easily be mistaken.

5. In respect of the manner of doing it, it is either done by ascension or descension.

Of Distilling by Ascension we have spoken before, which is always used in things where the excellency of the Scent or Odour is respected; for such things as are distilled by descension stink abominably.

6. Distillation by descension, is either immediate, or after Calcination.

7. Immediate distillation by descension is used about thick and gross Bodies, chiefly Roots, Barks, Woods, &c.

The manner of doing this we have taught before in the Constitution of the Furnace for that purpose: but its now not much used: The Reason is, because whatever may be done this way, may be done the other also with advantage.

8. Distillation by descension after Calcination, is that which is called per deliquium.

It is chiefly used for the making of Salts into Oyls.

9. To Distillation belongs Cohobation and Rectification,

10. Cohobation is a pouring back again the Liqueur distilled upon the Caput Mortuum or Substance whence it was drawn, to the end it may be distilled off again.

The Intention hereof is to open and dissolve the parts of mixt Bodies, that thereby they may yield the full of their more pure Substance: This work often repeated is a kind of Circulation.

11. Rectification is the Separation (by Distillation) of the most Spirituous and Volatile part of any Body: chiefly liquid, leaving the flegm, watery part, or Colophony behind. Or, It is the Purification and Exaltation of the most pure parts; by means of a separation from the impure.

The manner of doing this remains to be considered.

22. Spirits are rectified by distilling them over again with a gentle fire, observing to remove the Receiver when the taste or smell or both begins to change.

In Aromatics the pure Spirits ascend first and leave the flegm behind them: In Acids, the flegm ascends first leaving the exalted Spirits behind, which ought also to be drawn over into a new Receiver, that they may appear clear and transparent: This Rectification is so often to be repeated, till the matter intended, has attained its utmost purity.

13. Oyls are rectified by drawing off their thin æthereal parts, leaving their Colophony, Rosin, or Balsam behind.

All these things are to be done with a gentle fire, least you have a mixture of impurity with the purity.

CHAP. XIV. of SUBLIMATION.

1. IT is the lifting up and attenuating of the Subtil and Volatile parts of dry Bodies, by means of heat causing them to stick to the upper parts of the Vessel used in this work.

Or, It is a Separation of the thin, fine, and volatile part of dry Bodies from their gross and impure, by means of a gradual heat.

2. In Vegetables and Animals, the matter to be sublimed is their Volatile Salt, which generally ascends with the Spirit and Oyl.

How particularly Gums, as Benjamin, Storax, &c. are sublimed: See in their proper places.

3. Minerals are sublimed either per se, or by help of a Medium.

The matter so sublimed is called Flowers; of these there are plenty of Examples through the several Books foregoing of this Dispensatory.

4. The Medium used in Sublimation is generally taken from Sales. Some things are so fixed that they will not ascend without the mixture of Volatile Salts; as of Sal Armoniack, and such like. Again, some are so Volatile (as Mercury) that they will not sublime without the mixture of fixt Salts, as of Bay-Salt, Vitriol, and such like.

5. The way and manner of Sublimation, is something various, according to the matter to be sublimed, of which for a clear understanding of the thing, Take the sublimation of the flowers of Sulphur (in lib. 3. cap. 11. sect. 2.) of Antimony (in lib. 3. cap. 8. sect. 75.) and of Mercury (in lib. 3. cap. 7. sect. 44) for Examples.

6. The end of Sublimation is either to separate purity from impurity, and volatile parts from fixed parts; or for an intention of Fixation,

So Sulphur is sublimed that it may be cleansed & made more pure and fine: Sal Armoniack is sublimed to separate the Volatile Salt from the fixed Salt: and Mercury is often sublimed for a purpose of Fixation, of which in the ensuing Chapter we shall speak more fully.

CHAP. XV. of FIXATION.

1. Fixation is the confirming and fixing of the Volatile properties of things, or the coagulations of fluctuating forms.

2. The first is done, either 1. By an equal conjunction of differing things having an homogeneous property with the thing to be fixed; or

2. By

2. By vastly over-powering it with another thing of an opposite quality, or 3. By manifold sublimations.

Thus Volatiles joyned with Volatiles cause fixed things: as in the mixing Quick-lime and Vinegar together, you have a vast quantity of fixed Salts, out of two Volatile Salts, which in their own natures are so fugitive as not to be attained the common way per se. So also Volatile things being mixed in small proportion with vastly the excess of a fixed thing become fixed: But because the life of fixed things is made passive by the matter fixing, and nothing but Active things have force to penetrate, move, change, and destroy contrary properties, it ought rather to be the care of a Physician to avoid all fixed things, and to preserve the Volatile properties, because such only have power to act: for although many fixt things are not hurtful, as to their Essence, by reason they are as it were dead, at leastwise dead as to Action (for 'tis true the life cannot dye, yet it may seem as dead being void of action, from being overpowered with a dead matter or Principles, besides which nothing else can be said to be fixt:) yet being void of any good which they can do, may so far hurt, as they are either hinderers of better things, or causers of Obstructions by the quantity of their matter.

3 The coagulation of fluctuating forms is considered either in Congelation, Crystalization, or Inspissation.

4. Congelation happens only to such things which, being liquified by heat are stiffened or made solid by cold.

Such are all sorts of Fats, Butters, Rosins, Gellies both of flesh and fruits, Oyls of Nutmegs and Aniseeds by expression, with several things of like nature.

5. Crystallization, is a kind of Congelation, making liquid things like Crystal.

This belongs chiefly to all sorts of Salts, to which you may add Tartar and Sugar.

6. It is done by dissolving the matter to be crystalized in warm water, then evaporating away a good quantity of the said water, and setting the remainder in a cool place, as a Cellar, &c. to shoot into Crystals.

Where note, 1. When the Crystals cease to shoot, pour off the Liquor which is not Crystalized by inclination, then take the Crystals out, dry them, and keep them for use. 2. Put the Liquor into the Vessel again, and evaporating a good quantity of it away, as before, set the Vessel in a cool place, as aforesaid to Crystalize, which work so often repeat, till no more Crystals will be produced. 3. This may be done in Tartar, Sugar, Niter, Vitriol, Essential and Elementary Salts, and to several Minerals dissolved by corrosives.

7. Inspissation is the Evaporating of the humid part of liquid Bodies, dys, either to the Consistence of Honey, or to dryness..

Herein you ought to be regulated by the Advice of the Physitian. The chief things subject to this operation are expressed Juyces, and Extracts.

CAP. XVI. Of FORMS Chymical.

THe simple forms of Chymical Medicines are in number twelve, viz. 1. Waters. 2. Spirits. 3. Oyls. 4. Balsams. 5. Quintessence. 6. Elixirs. 7. Tinctures. 8. Extracts. 9. Magisteries. 10. Salts. 11. Liquors. and 12. Flowers. The general Precepts or ways of making them, we now come to declare in Order.

1. Of making distilled WATERS.

1. Simple waters from fresh herbs and flowers are distilled by the Colledges prescription in lib. 1. cap. 16. at the end of Sect. 21. But it will be much better to bruise them, and by adding Tartar, Common Salt, Leven or Yest to digest them, adding to them Spring-water, and fermenting them, then distilling in an Alembick with a Refrigeratory or Worm, till the change of the tast shews the Virtues to be drawn off separating the oyl, if any be, from the Water. 2. Waters from Juyces, ought to be distilled in B. M. that burning may be avoided. 3. Waters from dried Herbs. Cut and infuse them in hot water, then distill in B. M. but being digested beforehand with Tartar & Leven the water will be the better, and so much the more noble if the distilled water is cohobated and distilled over again, Where note, That Waters from tender Herbs and Flowers, whose strength easily vanishes, and from cold Plants are distilled in B. M. But from Spices and hot things, whose strength lyes deeper, it is best to distill them being dried, and by a Vesica, so have you the more noble waters and Oyls. 4. Waters from Fruits or their Juyces, are distilled as Waters from other Juyces. 5. Waters from Seeds. Beat them grossly, infuse them in water, then distill by a Vesica. 6. Waters from Roots. Shave or rasp them, or bruise them, steep in water, and distill by a Vesica. 7. Waters from Woods. They are distilled as the former. 8. Waters from Spices. Take the Spices, bruise them grossly; steep in proper Liquor, as Wine, Hydromel, Beer, Water, &c. then distill in a Vesica, so have you Water and Oyl which separate if need be. 9. Waters from whole Animals. Take whole Animals, as Snails, Worms, Puppy-dogs, Frog-spawn, cut them small and bruise them, then distill in B. M. or rather to avoid an ill scent in Balneo Vaporis. 10. Waters from Marrows and Brains of Animals. They are distilled in the same manner, adding some some Cephalick water as of Lilly Convally, Peony, &c. 11. Waters from Blood. They are distilled in B. M. But they are best drawn at a bare fire, and with a glass still. 12. Waters from Horns. They are made of young Horns by a Retort or low Gourd from B. M. or Balneum Vaporis, either per se, or by the addition of a little Wine. 13. Waters from Dung. They are made either by B. M. or by Ashes, so have you Water first, then Oyl.

2. Of making Spirits.

1. The more Volatile Spirits are distilled in an Alembick with a gentle fire, viz. in Balneo Vaporis, B. M. or in Ashes: The more fixed Spirits are drawn by a Retort with a stronger fire. 2. Spirits from Herbs and Flowers. Bruise them, pickle them with Bay-Salt in an earthen Vessel, by mixing the Salt dried therewith, then press them down, close the Vessel, and set it in a Cellar for two or three months, till they have a sharp or wine-like scent, afterwards distill by B. M. or a Vesica, to dryness; cohobate, and distill again, then rectify. 3. Spirits from Juices. Bruise and press out the juce; if they be not juicy, sprinkle hot water thereon, then express: sleep this juce with fresh Herbs, repeat again, and with fresh Herbs repeat the Digestion till you have Juce enough: this Juce ferment, which you may forward by adding common Salt, Tartar, Yest, Lees of Beer or Wine, Leven dissolved in Water, or Sugar, &c. and then distill as before. Hence the difference between Waters and Spirits plainly appears: Waters are made without fermentation, Spirits with; for the ways of distilling both are one and the same. The reason of fermentation we have largely expressed under that Title; for, by means thereof things do the more readily exhale their Spirit; and it is best done in Wooden Vessels. 4. Spirits from Fruits. Take their Juyces, ferment them till they become Wine, then distil them as before: If they be dry and not very juicy, as the Hawthorn-berries, you may bruise them, add warm Water, then press out the juyce, and so ferment it. Thus is made the Burning Spirits of Grapes, Apples, Pears, Plums, Medlars, Quinces; Juniper-berries, English Currans, &c. 5. Spirits from Fruits which have a Pulp, as Black Cherries, Straw-berries, Elder-berries, Goose-berries, &c. Take their Pulp (freed from the stones) put to them warm water to make them thin, then ferment them with Yest or Leven, or digest them fourteen days with Salt, after which distill. 6. Spirits from hot Seeds, and Spices. Bruise and macerate them with Wine, Hydromel, Beer, Water, &c. ferment, and distill: so have you a great deal of Water mixt with Spirit, which by rectifying you may separate. 7. Spirits from cold Seeds and Corn. These ought first to be mauld, after made into Beer, then distilled; so have you in like manner a great deal of Water mixt with Spirit, which by rectification is to be separated. These Spirits thus taken from from Leaves, Flowers, Fruits, Seeds, and Spices, are said to be the more Volatile: those taken from Roots, Barks, Woods, Mistletoes, the less Volatile. 8. Spirits from Roots, Woods, Barks, &c. They are distilled forth, with the Oyl, as we shall hereafter teach, which being separated and rectified upon Colcothar, or Sea-salt, with its proper Ashes you have (after an insipid Flegm) a sharp Spirit. 9. Spirits from Animals, or their parts, as of Horns, Bones, Hoofs, Flesh, Blood, Urine, &c. They are made as we shall teach in Oyls; which is a sharp piercing Spirit, rectified from a Liquor, separated from the Oyl, being drawn with it in Distillation. 10. Spirits from Minerals. Dissolve the Mineral in some Acid, then ChrySTALLize, or turn it into Vitriol, from which draw a Spirit, as you draw Spirit of Vitriol: But as to their particular ways of preparation, See in their proper places. Some are of Opinion that if Spirits be digested with high rectified Oyls, that the Oyl will be sucked up by the Spirit, become united therewith, and pass under the denomination of a Spirit also.

3. Of making distilled Oyls.

1. Oyls from Herbs and Flowers. Take Herbs or Flowers green or dry (but the dry afford the most Oyl) bruise them, and digest them fourteen days in Water, let them purify; for the helping of which, you may add Salt or crude Tartar, then distill by a Vesica, making a great Fire at first. 2. Oyls from Seeds. Take Seeds (as of Anice) lbj. bruise them grossly, affuse on them hot water, then add a handful of Salt, or crude Tartar ℥ij. digest 8 or 9 days, then distill with a Vesica and a gentle fire. 3. Oyls from Fruits, as Juniper-berries, Bay-berries, &c. Bruise them, digest with Water and Salt, or crude Tartar, and distill as in Seeds. 4. Oyls from Roots. Take Roots dried, and gathered before budding forth) beat, digest in Water with Salt, or Tartar, then Distill: Cohobate the distilled Water digest and distill again: separate the Oyl from the Water, and in that water digest new Roots, &c. 5. Oyls from Peels, as of Oranges, Lemons, Citrons, &c. They are drawn from the Peels (not dry) altogether in the same manner as from Roots. 6. Oyls from Woods and Mistletoes. Fill an Earthen Retort with dry Chips, Lute it well and distil leisurely (for otherwise the strength of the Spirit may cast off the receiver) into a large Recipient, adding fire by degrees: so have you first a clear Liquor: continue the fire, and about four hours after, you will have a cloudy Liquor: then increase the fire till the bottom of the Retort is red hot, so will there ascend a black stinking Oyl, which separate from the Liquor and rectify. Thus may you make Oyl of Guaiacum, Oak, Ash, Box, Haffe, Xyloaloes, Sassafras, Ebony, Juniper, Sanders, Mistletoes, Snake-weed, &c. Where note, that some Distill these things by descent, but because cause it makes a thicker and more fixid Oyl we use it not. 7. Oyls from Aromatick Woods, as Sassafras, Rhodium, yellow Sanders, Agallochum, Cypress, Cedar, Cassia Lignea, Sec. R. Chips or Rasplings thereof, digest in Water; then distill by a Vesica, continue distilling some days, at last the Oyl will come forth very Subtil and Volatile. You may rectify them, distilling by a Cucurbit or Vesica with much water: but if they be heavy 'twill be best to mix them with Sand, and distill by a Retort. 8. Oyls from Spices. Bruise the Spices grossly (for Pouders yield less Oyl) digest seven days in the Menstruum you intend, adding Niter, Tartar or Salt then distill in a Vesica, so have you the Water and Oyl, which separate as we have before taught. The weighty Oyls (as Oyl of Cinnamon) may be separated from the Water by letting them settle fourteen or sixteen days in a cold Cellar, after they are Distilled, so will the Oyl be at the bottom. 9. Oyls from Rosins. Add to them Water, and distill by Vesica, so have you a Water and an Oyl (swimming upon it, this Oyl is called Spirit: Continue the Distillation, and by degrees it will be yellow, then change the Receiver, and take this yellow Oyl by its self, Distilling till no more appears, this is called Oyl. The matter remaining is called Colophony, rake it out, and distill it in a Retort, so have you a thick, red Oyl; this is called Balsam. Where note, all these Oyls may be Distilled at once by a Retort, by mixing Sand with the melted Rosins (to prevent in some measure burning) and increasing the fire by degrees, changing the Receiver as the matter Distilled changes: but doubtless the former way is better; for this way, do the best, they will a little stink. 10. Oyls from Gum-Rosins. Put them mix with Sand, Flints in Powder or Salts into a Glas Retort with a large Belly, so as to fill about a third part of it: distill by Sand into a Receiver, (filled partly with water) first with a gentle fire, so have you an Oyl: then with a greater fire, so have you a Balsam, which you may rectify, destilling it from much water, upon Ashes, or from Brickbats, as you make Oyl of Bricks. 11. Oyls from Gums and Rosiny Extracts of Woods: They are drawn altogether as from Rosins. 12. Oyls from Horns, Hoofs and Bones. They are distilled by a Luted Retort, so have you an Oyl, a sharp Spirit mixt with Flegm; and a Volatile Salt. 13. Oyls from Fats, Sutt, Grease, Butter, Wax, Marrow, Brains, and such like, are distilled in a Glas Retort, by Ashes or a Sand heat, adding to the things distilled, a half, third or fourth part of powder of Bricks, Salt, Sand or Ashes, (to make the Oyl ascend the better) according as the matter to be Distilled is in thickness. 14. Oyl from Blood. Take warm Blood, digest it three or four days in B.M. in a close Vessel, then distill it by an high and large Earthen Retort, till only a light, spongy, black earth remains, so have you a liquor mixt with a small quantity of stinking Oyl

Oyl, which by Filtration you may separate: the Liquor will pass through, and the Oyl will remain: this Liquor by Distillation yields a Spirit and Volatile Salt sticking to the Still.

4. Of Making distilled Balsams.

They are made in all respects as the Oyls aforesaid: It remains that we shew the difference between them: Some Authors call them Oyls only, which are drawn from Simples: those Balsams, which are extracted out of Compounds; But this can be no true difference, for Oyls may as well be Compound as Simple, and Balsams as well Simple as Compound: The true difference lyes only in the consistence and thickness of the Bodies: Hence it appears, that the Oyls are the more thin, pure and volatile parts, and those which (of any Oily Substance rise) first in Distillation: Balsams are those which ascend (next after the pure thin Oyl is drawn off) of a thicker Body, deeper Colour, and by means of a stronger fire; and are oftentimes also made in rectification of Oyls, when drawing off the thin part, the thick Balsamick is left at the bottom: but they are properly Balsams which (the thin being drawn off in a Vesica) are after drawn off from the Colophony by a Retort.

5. Of making Quintessences.

Quintessences are made by a Conjunction of all the Principles, or pure parts, viz. Spirit, Oyl and Salt, being extracted apart and united by manifold digestions: of which, since there are plenty of Examples already delivered in Lib. 4. Cap. 5. foregoing, as well Vegetable and Mineral as Animal, we shall here desist, referring you thither.

6. Of making Elixirs.

An Elixir in a true sense is a fortified Quintessence, for it ought to be an union of the three Principles, Salt, Sulphur and Mercury, together with the Essence of the thing you design: but as it is now received, it is a spirituous Liquor of great power, made by Infusion and Digestion, of which the Elixir Proprietatis is an Eminent Example: But various Elixirs have various ways of Preparation, of which, the most that can be said is this, That an Elixir is an Extraction by means of a Spirituous Menstruum, impregnated with Oyl and Salt; which if it be made of the Spirit of the same thing, fortified with its own Oyl and Salt, is by so much the more powerful: for according to the Opinion of some very Learned Men (that as every like draws its like, so every Principle draws its part. So by infusion of Rosemary in Spirit of Rosemary, impregnated with the Oyl and Salt of Rosemary, you shall have at last Elixir of Rosemary. If the Elixir be made of Minerals, the body of the Mineral must be so open'd before hand that it may yield up its Essence, to the Menstruum (made of the three Principles of the same Mineral) in which it is digested.

7. Of making Tinctures.

Tinctures are either Liquid or Solid. 1. The Liquid, are only ly Extractions by means of a Menstruum, the Menstruum remaining. They are extracted out of such things chiefly as are either glorious for colour, delicious for taste, or fragrant and odoriferous for smell. They are made by digestion of the matter in a proper Menstruum for some time, either with or without Heat. 2. Tinctures of Herbs and Flowers. Infuse them in proper Water, or Spirit of their own kind, warm, or in S. V. adding some drops of Oyl of Vitriol or Sulphur: digest 5, 10, or 20, days, then decant. 3. Tinctures of Fruits. Take Rob of the Fruit, and with its own Spirit or S. V. extract a Tincture. Or, you may extract a Tincture from the dried Fruit, as aforesaid, or with some Distilled Water. After these forms are made the Tinctures of Cherries, Straw-berries, Elder and Dwarf Elder-berries, Bramble berries, Mulberries, &c. 4. Tinctures out of Barks, Peels and Woods. Bruise them and digest 20 days either in their own Spirit, or Spirit of Wine. 5. Tinctures of Minerals. They are severally prepared, according to their kind, of which see in their place. 6. Solid Tinctures. They are powders remaining without combustion from liquid Tinctures, the Menstruum being drawn off: These are usually from Minerals: yet Cochinele is a solid Tincture of it self without preparation, so is Guitta Gamba.

3. Of making Extracts.

1. The General way of making Extracts, is already declared at large, lib. 4. cap. 8. sect. 1. Some particular Observations follow.

2. Extracts of Herbs and Flowers. Take them green and bruise them, draw a water gently from them in B. M. to driness, powder the fæces grossly, and with the Distilled Water make an Extract. Or thus; Take dried Herbs, Buds or Flowers, cut them and add S. V. rectified: digest a week, then strain; digest again, then decant it from the fæces or filter (not clarify with the whites of Eggs, which is to be observed in all resinous Extracts) lastly, draw off the Spirit in B. M. till the Extract is of the thickness of Honey. But the Extracts of Flowers are chiefly drawn from their juyces inspissated; which is done as we have taught lib. 4. cap. 17. sect. 38.

3. Extracts of Seeds, are made with S. V. or some other burning Spirit. 4. Extracts of Fruits. They are seldom made of the Fruits themselves unless dried, but of their juyces or Rob, with S. V. or their own burning Spirit.

5. Extracts from Roots. They are either made of dried Roots with Spirit of Wine, or their own inflammable Spirit: or else from their juyces being baked or boyled, strained and inspissated. Quercitan in Bezoardick Extracts, uses the inflammable Spirit of Juniper-berries. 6. Extracts from Woods and their Barks. They are either Viscous or Resinous. A viscous Extract is only a waterish inspissate Juice, which will dissolve in water again. It is drawn out by Decoction, boyling the chips or raspings of Wood in water, then straining ing, clarifying and inspissating. The resinous Extract is drawn with rectified S. V. or other inflammable Spirits, as also with strong Wines, Hydromel, &c. Thus, Take Rasplings of Guajacum, digest them in S. V. in a close Glass in Balneo Vaporis, for 15 or 20 days, till the Menstruum is red and grows thicker, strain and abstract to the thickness of Honey. This put into cold water will congeal like Aloes or a red Resin. You may draw these Extracts also with Distilled waters, sharpened with juice of Limons or Oyl of Sulphur; as also with Vinegar, Spirit of Vinegar, and such like. Schroder saith, That Spring water alone will make an Extract from Rosins by long boyling: Extracts thus drawn with S. V. and precipitated with water are called Magisteries, as those of sallap, Scammony, &c. 7. Of Extracts from Spices. R Cloves or Cinnamon grossly beaten, Zij. Distilled water, ℥xii. Spirit of Wine, ℥iv. digest in a glass Vessel close stopped, strain and clarify by digestion: then in B. M. raw off the first Spirit, the rest of the Humidity evaporate to a t consistency, adding after the said first Spirit drawn off in B. M. thus may you Extract Ginger, alamus, Cassia Ligneæ, Cardamoms, Jamaica Pepper, Cubebs, &c. 8. Extracts from Rosins. It is one with S. V. but 'tis a vain end of work, for they (if pure,) are wholly an Extract: if they be impure, you may do it to cleanse them. 9. Extracts from gums. They are made by separating the Viscous from the Resinous parts, thus: Dissolve them with a gentle heat in water, then clarify or strain: let it settle some days that the Resinous part may fall, then decant the liquor (from the Rosin) and clarify it with the White of an Egg, or strain it; Lastly, inspissate in Balneo Vaporis, so have you a Viscous Extract; The remaining substance, dried by a gentle heat, becomes a Rosin. 10. Extracts from Flesh. Digest pieces of Flesh some days in S. V. impregnated with the Essence of Myrrh, wash and dry them. Then make an Extract with S. V. Aqua Vitæ, or some other inflammable Spirit, and inspissate to a due consistence. 11. Extracts from Dung. They are best made of the dry Dung with S. V. because it corrects the stink. 12. Extracts from Galls. They are made in the same manner (from the Gall inspissated) with S. V. 13. Extracts from Bones. Take two or three fresh Skulls, powder them grossly, Digest with Aqua Vitæ, S. V. Spirit of Juniper, of Sage, or of sweet Marjoram, for a month in a Vessel well luted, then strain, so will you have a Blood red Oily or Resinous Liquor; to the faces put new Menstruum, digest 7 days, and strain it: put the Liquors together, and abstract the Spirit in an Alembick, till an Extract remains of the thickness of new Honey. 14. Extracts from Horns. They are made of the fresh Horns, (whether old or new) with S. V. Spirit of Juniper, or Aqua Vitæ made sharp with Spirit of Sulphur.

9. Of making Magisteries.

1. Take the matter, beat it gross.

grossly or bruise it, and putting to a convenient Menstruum Sulphurous, as S. V. Alcalious or Acid, either to dissolve or extract it; then precipitate with some other Matter or Liquor of a contrary nature cast in, which may weaken the strength of the Extracter or Dissolvent, and decanting the Menstruum, take the powder at bottom, wash, dry, and keep it for use. 2. Magisteries of Vegetables. Cut or bruise them, and with a strong Lixivium of Common Salt or Salt of Tartar in Rain-water make an Extraction: after some days decant and precipitate with Alum-water, in which Gold is dissolved. Thus may you make Magisteries of Vegetables both Alterative and Purging, as Magistery of Rhubarb, which is said to work in half a dram. 3. Magisteries of Oily Bodies, Rosins and Resinous Bodies, such as Cinnamon, Turbith, Jalap, &c. They are drawn by S. V. rectified and precipitated with Alum-water or Common-water. 4. Magisteries of Bones, Horns, Shells, Pearls, Amber, Stones, &c. They are dissolved with Acids or some Mineral Spirit, and precipitated with Alkalies or fair Water in large quantity. 5. Magisteries of Minerals. They are first pondred fine, then dissolved with Spirit of Vinegar per se, or sharpened with Spirits of Niter, Vitriol, Sulphur or Salt; lastly, precipitated with Oyl of Tartar per deliquium: sometimes by Spirit of Niter, Vitriol, or Salt-water, according to the Heterogeneity of the Dissolvent: by the first the precipitate will be of a brown, dun, Orange-tawny colour, but by the latter, white.

10. Of making Salts.

This is discoursed at large, Lib. 4. cap. 10. Sect. 1. where note, that Alcalious Salts are much preserved from melting in the Air by being Calcined with Sulphur.

11. Of making Liquors.

Liquors are a kind of Humidity made per deliquium, or Salts dissolved and impregnated with the Powers and Virtues of their own Original matter or others. Thus, Take Salt of Rosemary, melt per deliquium, or make Lixivium with Rosemary, or Rain-water, in which digest bruised Rosemary, Bawn, Sage, or Lavender for 20 days, then decant, and keep it for use. Be a strong Lixivium of Salt of Tartar, in which digest bruised Cinnamon, Nutmegs, Cloves, Mace, &c. for 40 days, then decant and keep it for use. Where note, that Liquors are not to be taken alone but mixed 2ss. or more a time, according to their strength, with a glass of Wine or Hydromel.

12. Of making Flowers.

They are the pure parts of Bodies, and are made by Sublimation: The chief are Mineral, viz. of Sulphur, Antimony, Cinnabar, Cinnabar of Antimony, Arsnick, Orpiment, Mercury corrosive and sweet, Sal Armoniack, Bismuth, &c. There are also Flowers of Benjamin and other Gums: all which see in their places.

An Appendix concerning the BLOODS of Vegetables.

13. Of making the Blood of Vegetables.

1. Extract the juyce out of juicy Roots, digest it in a Glass with Bread of Wheat and Rye, and Wine, or Spirit of Wine, till it is red; decant it from the faeces, and distil from it a white water, so will you have the Blood at bottom like a red juyce. Thus is made the Blood of Henbane roots, used in all Laudanums and Anodynes, as also the Blood of Esula or Spurge, the Blood of Satyrion and other Roots. 2. Sanguis Symphyti, the Blood of Comfrey. R Roots of Comfrey the greater and lesser well cleansed: beat them well in a Marble Mortar with a Wooden Pestle, till they become a Pulp: R of this Pulp *℞*iv. Crums of Rye and Wheat Bread, A. ℞j. mix them well together, sprinkle them with White Vine, and put them into a Bolt-head, stopping of it well with Cork and Spanish Wax, so that nothing may transpire: Place this Matrass in warm Horse-dung, or in Balneo vaporoso, till the matter is changed into a rubicund or Bloody Chyle; then force it strongly out with a Press, put the expressed Blood into Balneo Vaporis, that by this second digestion it may acquire a greater redness, and some faeces may settle, which separate, continuing this digestion and depuration, till the Blood becomes absolutely clear, and of a most perfect red. From this with an Alembick and the heat of a vaporous Bath, separate a thin and clear liquor, so have you remaining in the bottom, the Blood of Comfrey, of a very glorious colour. This is a most excellent thing against Ruptures, spitting Blood, all internal Wounds and Ulcers: It cures Consumptions, and has very strange and miraculous effects. Dose ℞j. in the morning, dissolved in Comfrey water or Alicant, or other proper liquor, and continuing of it for sixty days at least.

We have here finisht this our Dispensatory, a work so long looked for, so much desired; May the Heavenly Powers dispense their Benediction, that it may prove successful for the Good of others.

Now unto the Sacred Spring of all Mercies, and Original Fountain of Endless Goodness, who beholds the Upright in Heart, and reveals his Secrets to as many as fear him, to the Infinite and Eternal Being, the immutable Word who is Everlasting Burning; whose Purpose is Unalterable, whose Power is Invincible, whose Dominion is without End, and whose Compassions fail not: To the High and to the Lofly One who inhabits Eternity, and dwells in the Light; and to the Immaculate Lamb, who sits upon the Throne, the only wise God our Saviour, be Glory, Majesty, Dominion and Power, now and for ever Amen.

The INDEX.

IT is to be Noted, that the chief and most usual names of Simple things that they are called by in the Latin Tongue, stands first in an Alphabetical Order through the whole Work, and may be found in that same Order through every Classis, those in this Index are pretermitted: what this Table exhibits are the English names, with those other, or secondary Latin names, following the said Chief or Primary, which because many of them may be as significant, and used by manifold Authors, and being impossible to be set down in a succinct Method in the Discourse it self, are here collected, and digested: if therefore any thing be proposed to be found by the English name, this Index exhibits it at first sight: but if by the Latin name, if upon search of the Index you find it not here you may certainly find it in the Alphabetical Order of its Classis. Where observe (a) directs to the first Column, (b) to the second, the number to the Page.
